The School.

The school was opened on March 1st, 1898, as a day-school only. The attendance having increased, the available space was found insufficient, and it was decided in 1900 to erect a special building which should accommodate boarders. This was accordingly done, and the present building was ready for occupation in September, 1901. That this step was justified is shown by the increase in attendance, from about 30 girls in 1901, to upwards of 80 in 1904.

The Building.

The school stands at the corner of Nelson and Jervis Streets, in the highest and healthiest position of the west-end of the town, commanding a beautiful view of English Bay and the Mountains.

Adjoining the house are a large gravelled playground and lawn, with tennis court.

The school was planned with special regard to ventilation and sanitation; the rooms and corridors are large and lofty, and visitors are invariably impressed by their brightness and airiness. The house is heated throughout by hot air and lighted by electricity.

The bedrooms are divided by curtains into cubicles, thus ensuring privacy. On the top story is a large room, which is available for drill, and for recreation on wet days. This is considered by the children to be a great boon.

Course of Instruction.

Girls are admitted to the Lower School at the age of six. The course, during morning only, includes Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, French, Class-Singing, Clay-Modelling and Drill. Geography, History, Botany, a little Grammar and Plain Sewing are added when they pass into the Middle School.

In the Middle School a second language may be begun.

Religious knowledge forms part of the general course; classes in Scripture are held throughout the school by the Rev. C. C. Owen, B.A., Rector of Christ Church. By their parents' desire girls are taken to classes in preparation for confirmation.

In the Upper School pupils are prepared for the McGill Matriculation Examination in Latin, French, English, Elementary Mathematics, Arithmetic and Physiography.

The girls are expected to play before mistresses and girls at least once a term; besides this, social evenings are arranged, when they have opportunities to attain increased confidence in playing before an audience.

At the end of the Summer Term, parents are invited to an entertainment given entirely by the girls.

Parents are urgently requested to second the efforts of the mistresses to enforce discipline and to promote a high standard of work, by not allowing any irregularity, except in case of sickness. Irregularity invariably involves loss of interest and lack of progress.

While it is felt that a system of prize-giving has many drawbacks, prizes are given to those who gain a full number of ordermarks, and to those who make perfect attendance during the halfyear.

A bronze medal will be presented annually by the Alliance Française, to be awarded to the girl who obtains the highest percentage of marks in French examinations, written and oral.

General Remarks.

It has always been the aim of the staff to maintain a standard of proficiency and discipline, which should compare favourably with that of the best schools in England and in Eastern Canada. The preservation of a healthy tone among the girls is an object of special solicitude. Great attention is paid to manners and deportment, as well as to general health. The girls are regularly drilled and taught gymnastics by an instructress trained in Sweden.

Games are encouraged and supervised by a mistress. A sports club has been organized with a subscription of 25 cents a term. Basket-ball is played out of doors during summer and autumn, and tennis during the summer months.

On alternate Saturdays, if fine, an excursion or picnic is always arranged for the boarders.

Boarders are taken as often as possible to concerts, lectures, etc., and occasionally to the theatre to see suitable plays.
