THE LORDS' GREAT ISSUE NOT TAFFIFF REFORM

Election Manifestos So Far Issued Make Abuse of Upper House the Principal Theme.

GREAT DEMONSTRATION IN FAVOR OF BUDGET

LONDON, Dec. 5.—If, as has been stated, the Conservative leaders planned to force tariff reform to the issue in the election campaign, and, so far as possible, thrust the question of the lords' veto into the background, their plan has already miscarried. The campaign is being waged with a bitterness not seen in British politics in many years, but it is exclusively upon the question of the lords' veto that the election manifestos issued up to the present by the Liberal, Radical, Labor and Socialist parties have been directed. The attack upon the lords is, in fact, the whole religious body of the campaign. The Liberal, Radical and Socialist, appears to be against the lords' pretensions. The Archbishop of Canterbury's abstention from voting in the division in the House of Lords, and the Archbishop of York's frank denunciation of Lord Lansdowne's resolution undoubtedly had a great effect.

Following on the manifesto issued by the National Council of Free Churches, which declared that the action of the House of Lords was "unjust, unchristian, unparliamentary, and unrepresentative," the Church Times, the most influential and widely circulated church paper, together with the Christian World, and the other organs of the Methodist, Baptist and Catholic sections, declare for the commons in the struggle against the lords.

Whereas the Tariff Reform, in the meantime neither Mr. Balfour nor any other Conservative leader has advanced any defined scheme for tariff reform or any other definite indication of how the Conservatives propose to find the money to reduce the rejected budget proposals, The Conservative Morning Post, an editorial, warns the party that the coming contest will be a critical and severe one, and that if the tariff reform cause is to triumph, its adherents must display tactical ability, as well as courage and vigor. It will be the height of folly, says the Post, to allow the ground selected by the Liberals, but the Liberals must remember that tariff reform is the only possible alternative to the rejected budget.

The Post's warning is timely for the Unionist speakers, and newspapers are actively engaged in showing abuse upon their opponents' tactics.

Tax Collections.

An official notice has been issued that death duties may be paid either on the budget or pro-budget scale, subject to rectification when the new parliament has settled the matter. It is reported that a number of persons are preparing to protest against the deductions of the income tax from the duties, which is being done, according to The Liberal Daily News, through the customhouse through refusals to pay duties on tea, tobacco and spirits.

USING VIOLENT LANGUAGE

Members of Parliament Talk of Strangling and Drowning Peers.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(Ass'd Press).—The whole of Great Britain is immersed in the political campaign. The country is divided into two great camps, composed of those who support the lords' action in refusing to consent to the budget and those who contend that the House of Commons must have absolute control of the finances of the nation. There were, of course, many other issues, such as tariff reform versus free trade, but these are being pushed into the background by the conflict between the two houses.

While the local organizations are busy selecting candidates, the leaders of the great parties are carrying on a general campaign. The Radicals, who had long foreseen the fate of their franchise bill, are not allowing the grass to grow under their feet.

In London Saturday afternoon, one of their organizations, the National Democratic League, held a protest against the action of the lords, one of the most notable demonstrations ever seen in the metropolis. Fully 20,000 persons, mostly the laboring and artisan classes, gathered in Trafalgar Square, and cheered the Radical speakers, who condemned in unmeasured terms the members of the upper chamber.

Suffragists Interfere.

The early divergent note here, as elsewhere, came from the suffragists, who after a term of comparative quiet again started to indulge in attempts to break up the Radical meetings. The Trafalgar Square crowd, however, was too great for their efforts to have any effect. They were more successful at Southampton, where by climbing to a roof and shouting thru the skylights they succeeded in interrupting Winston Spencer Churchill's meeting, and at Bath, where, aided by roughs, they created a diversion by attempting to storm a meeting, which Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, was addressing.

Followed by the Leith police, who charged the crowd with batons, the women got their revenge by hurling bricks thru the windows of the public buildings. Secretary Grey, whose speech was not interrupted to any extent, spoke strongly for the reformation of the upper chamber.

Churchill's Argument.

Mr. Churchill was able to conclude his speech, and, undaunted by this experience, held a meeting at Liverpool in the evening, in continuation of his

NEW EVIDENCE FOUND

MAY SAVE STEFOFF

Section Foreman Will Swear to Alibi for Man Under Sentence of Death.

New evidence has been found which it is expected will influence the minister of justice to grant a new trial to Pavlo Steffoff, who is in jail awaiting execution for the murder of Van Simoff, his countryman. The date fixed for the execution is Dec. 23.

William Amos, who for the past three years has been working among the Macedonian residents of the city, and by reason of his "knowledge of the Macedonian language, has been appointed the spiritual adviser of the condemned man, told The World last night that he had located a Canadian Northern section foreman, William Irving, who is prepared to swear that on the morning of the murder of Simoff, the condemned man applied to him for work at the Rosedale section at 7.30 or thereabouts. Simoff did not leave the roundhouse where he worked till 7 o'clock and could not have reached his home till nearly 8 o'clock, so that it would have been impossible for Steffoff to have killed him and got to the Rosedale section of the railway by 8 o'clock.

Mr. Amos firmly believes in the innocence of the condemned man, and will make every effort to secure a new trial for him. With J. M. Godfrey, Steffoff's counsel, he will go to Ottawa to lay the new evidence before the minister of justice, in the event of the application for a stated case, pending at Osgoode Hall, being refused. The new evidence was not laid before the court of appeal, Mr. Godfrey stated last night, because that court does not hear new evidence. Irving was reluctant to come forward, and it was Mr. Amos who sought him out.

WHY MR. WATSON WROTE PETIC INSULT

Admits That It Was to Avenge Miss Violet Asquith's Imagined Insults of the Dead Premier.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Having arrived in New York, Wm. Watson, the English poet, admits for the first time that—as most people suspected—the "heroine" of his recent much-discussed poem "The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue," is an Asquith. The poet himself says that the poem was physically inspired by Mrs. Margot Asquith, wife of the British premier, and mentally by her step-daughter, Miss Violet Asquith. The latter it is

"Who slights the worthiest in the land, sneers at the just, condemns the brave, and blackens goodness in its grave."

Poet's Own Story.

Mr. Watson says his narrative was written on June 29 last. It begins:

"Last Friday week I happened to meet Mrs. Asquith and her step-daughter, Miss Violet Asquith, at Stafford House. Miss Asquith asked me to come to tea at 10 Downing-street on the following Tuesday. I came. She is, as all her friends know, an extremely clever girl, remarkably well educated, brilliant, and her talk was interesting—surprising in some respects. When I arrived at the house Mrs. Asquith apparently was not there.

"Miss Violet Asquith took me downstairs to a sort of little library of her own, looking on the garden, where I had tea. I suppose we talked for more than an hour; anyhow quite an hour on a variety of subjects.

"While I was there a man crossed the garden. I said: 'Is that one of the secretaries?'

Miss Asquith said: 'Yes, that is Nash. That is the man who used to write C. B.'s speeches for him.' C. B. was the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Mr. Asquith's predecessor as prime minister.

"I suppose I looked rather surprised. She said: 'Yes, and you know he appeared to think if my father became prime minister that the same sort of services would still be expected of him.'

Incident is Related.

"I laughed, of course, and, altho I was much surprised at such a reference to Mr. Asquith's predecessor in the premiership I preserved the politest demeanor possible and said: 'Well, with all respect to Mr. Nash, I suppose even this British public of ours would easily detect the difference between Mr. Asquith and Mr. Nash.'

"She said: 'Yes, no doubt they would, but I would like to tell you this. Shortly after my father became

RY. EMPLOYEES ARE RESTLESS

Engineers' Head Says the Time Is Ripe for a Movement Similar to That of 1902.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—(Special).—Opposing elements in the nation wide wage dispute between the railroads of the United States and their 1,000,000 employees cautiously centred their efforts yesterday for the supreme trial demands and negotiations which will determine whether the industrial life of the nation is to be paralyzed by a general railroad strike.

From the various sections of the country came messages bearing in the written lines of hope that there will be no strike, but nevertheless indicating that the situation is one of unrest and potentially grave. The Erdman arbitration act, designed especially to cope with railroad disputes, loomed in the foreground as a chief bulwark of optimism.

It is, however, regarded as only a moral force for peace, as it carries no power of injunction or mandatory phrase to enforce the findings under its provisions.

Warren S. Stone, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, speaking at Cleveland, O., yesterday, on the railroad situation, said:

"There is a spirit of unrest among the railway-employees throughout the United States. The time is ripe for another movement similar to that of 1902. A general strike is not improbable."

With an intensity of expression in inverse ratio to the stand taken by the employees, the railroad heads stated yesterday that they could not afford to increase wages at the present time.

They pleaded that the transportation lines as well as the country at large are recovering from a period of hard times. They said the improvement in business conditions should not be disturbed.

The officials of the roads said that if they stood ready to submit the entire wage dispute to impartial arbitration.

Eastern Switchmen May Strike.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 4.—Frank T. Hawley, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America, has authorized the statement that a conference will be held on Monday or Tuesday in Chicago between a board of managers of the railroads and a committee of the Switchmen's Union, representing those employed on all roads west of Buffalo, N.Y., but not including the northwestern, at which time the switchmen will make a demand for the same concessions as those granted the switchmen of the northwest now on strike.

Demand Ten Per Cent. Raise.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A demand of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on all the thirty-two eastern railroads, affecting 100,000 trainmen, for an advance in wages of 10 per cent., will be made at the end of this week, it was announced yesterday. Representatives of the grand lodge of the trainmen will be in New York on Tuesday or Wednesday to hold conferences with representatives of the various divisions.

SIR CHAS. TUPPER AND THE NAVAL SCHEME

In a Long Letter to R. L. Borden, Ex-Premier Tells Why He Endorses Government's Plan.

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—(Special).—The following letter has been addressed by Sir Charles Tupper, who is in England, to R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition, in which he discusses the question of the Canadian navy:

"My dear Mr. Borden.—I have read with much interest the communication to the Canadian correspondent of The Times on naval defence in to-day's issue of that paper. I regard that issue as more important than any party issue and am glad to see that you are resolved to maintain the patriotic attitude that the Conservative party assumed last year.

"A few years ago, when Canada was struggling to open up for British settlement the great granary of the world, a few enthusiasts raised the question of a Canadian contribution to the imperial navy. I joined issue with them and was sustained by the press and public opinion. It was admitted that Canada was not only no burden to the mother country, but without her harbors and coal mines on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts England would require a larger navy.

"The progress of Canada, Australia and New Zealand under imperial management and since it was relinquished, and it will be seen to whom the present impotence is due.

Results of An Evil Hour.

"In an evil hour for the British Empire Oberlin was allowed to sweep away the protection policy which had made England mistress of the manufactures of the world and placed all her commerce in the position of foreignness.

"The confederation of Canada, which has resulted in such gigantic progress, was the work of Canadians, and regarded by many English statesmen as a prelude to getting rid of responsibility. Regarding as I do British life, property and liberty more than any other form of government, I have devoted more than half a century to unceasing efforts to preserve the confederation of Canada and the crown.

"When Great Britain was involved in the struggle in the Transvaal I led the van in urging the Canadian Government to send aid. But I did not believe then, and I do not believe now, that I should be without representation. The demand which will soon be made by some that Canada should contribute to the imperial navy in proportion to the population of the country is a demand of common sense, which pledged Parliament to proceed vigorously with the construction of the Canadian navy and to support England in every emergency, and all that in my opinion is required, is to hold the government of the day bound to carry out that honest policy.

What Would Have Happened.

"When I remember that in the general election of 1891 the friends of British institutions, after a desperate struggle, which cost that great and patriotic statesman, Sir John A. Macdonald, his life, only secured a majority of about 25, I have no hesitation in saying that had the principle of a contribution to the imperial navy, according to our population, then been in operation that majority of 25 would have been in favor of continental free trade and the adoption of the tariff of the United States against Britain.

"Who can question the accuracy of that opinion, who remembers that in 1896 my government was fiercely denounced in Quebec by Liberal candidates and Liberal newspapers, on account of the militia expenditure, when they declared that an expenditure of $3,000,000 to buy rifles for the militia, was a danger to the country and that the military program of the government was 'righteous'?"

Of Vital Importance.

"I do not forget that all parties in the United States agree in the desire to obtain possession of Canada. Under existing circumstances it is of immense importance to have Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his party committed to the policy which secured the unanimous consent of the house of commons on a question of such vital importance and a great responsibility will rest upon those who disturb that compact.

"I cannot understand the demand for Dreadnoughts in the face of the fact that the admiralty and British Government have determined that it was not the best mode of maintaining the security of the empire and arranged with Canada and Australia (the latter of whom had offered one or two Dreadnoughts) for the construction of local navies to keep open the trade routes in case of war.

"All difficulty as to the question of autonomy is now removed, as it is fully recognized that the great outlying portions of the empire are sister states, and that means are adopted to secure uniformity in the naval forces of the empire, in the design and construction of the ships, and the training of the officers and men. They are also to be interchangeable, and thus secure uniformity in every respect, so as to act as effective units with the British navy.

A Great Responsibility.

"Of course, the government of the day will be held accountable for carrying out the policy thus agreed upon in a thoroughly effective manner, but I cannot avoid thinking that a fearful responsibility will rest upon those who disturb or destroy the compact entered into on this vitally important question. Yours faithfully,

"Charles Tupper."

KING IN DISGUISE WORKS AS A NAVY

Gustave, to Find Out Truth of Labor Troubles, Spends a Day Working as a Stevedore.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 5.—King Gustave on Saturday inaugurated a new departure in his government's policy as a stevedore, he spent most of the day carrying sacks of coal from a lighter.

In an interview, after it was all over, the king said that this was only the beginning. He intended to mix with all classes of laborers, so that he might ascertain their opinions and wishes.

Already, he added, he had obtained many valuable hints from the men with whom he worked.

The determination of King Gustave by learn of the conditions of the workmen by taking part in their labor resulted from the desire to secure a business life of the country by a general strike. King Gustave intervened last August in an endeavor to secure a compromise, but without avail.

The strike continued for months and involved thousands of men, the employers' association paying $40,000 daily to support its weaker members, while the labor unions and other workingmen's associations exhausted their entire funds to keep the strikers from starving.

Eventually arbitration was undertaken by the Swedish Government to settle the dispute, and in the interim many of the workmen returned to their tasks, altho the number of unemployed remained very great. King Gustave, the queen and other members of the royal family, as well as the cabinet ministers, contributed to a general fund, which was raised by subscription for the purpose of providing loans to the working classes. Homesteads have already been apportioned among the unemployed, but conditions remained such as to cause his majesty and his government grave anxiety.

The king found difficulty in ascertaining the real facts, and during the past week or two has made arrangements to join the workmen and laborers at their work, and in such a guise that they would not recognize him.

SUICIDES BESIDE DEAD CHUM

After Identifying Body of Wreck Victim in Undertaker's Morgue.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 5.—(Special).—An unusual tragedy happened in an undertaker's morgue to-day. A well-dressed Japanese, speaking good English, named Harumoto, called and asked to see the unidentified victims of last Sunday's accident at Kilo, when twenty Japanese laborers were killed.

Harumoto evidently recognized one of the dead, and asked to see the effects of the dead, which were produced, including a loaded revolver. Without a word, his face turned to grief, the man picked up his head and fled. He was followed by a man in his month freed, and died instantly beside his dead comrade.

Both farms are elaborately improved, with expensive buildings, fish ponds, and a fine wooded area. Mr. Harris claims that his only $100,000 acre will be crossed by a railway track, and the company has offered to buy both farms outright was flatly denied by Mr. Harris last evening.

After a terrific struggle with the tempest, the Stanley, Capt. Arsenault, was driven ashore at North Arm, Bay of Islands, where she is fact breaking up. For hours her crew were forced to cling to the hull, at the mercy of wind and wave, the tremendous seas making it impossible to launch a boat.

YOUNG MEN OF CANADA PRAISE PSYCHINE

The Thirty years' successful record of Dr. Slocum's PSYCHINE in Canadian homes has been due alone to its great merits.

The following are a few of the many thousands of testimonials that are continually being received

Mr. Thomas Wylie (Box 384), Galt, says: "It was the luckiest day of my life when I struck PSYCHINE, for I truly believe I shouldn't be alive now but for that."

Mrs. M. E. Harron, of Newton, Ont., writes: "I must say our son would have been in a consumptive's grave long ago had it not been for PSYCHINE. He was taken down with La Grippe and a severe cold. His whole system was weak, including his lungs, which were seriously affected, as is always the case after La Grippe."

George Pratt of Clarkson, Ont., says: "Four years ago my son Wilbert was run down, thin and emaciated, that we thought he was going into a decline. He was altogether in a terribly bad shape. His condition caused us the gravest anxiety. Fortunately I procured PSYCHINE for him, and this soon gave him a new lease of life. It is really remarkable how rapidly this splendid medicine brought about the change. It affected a speedy cure, and he was soon able to work again on the farm."

Mr. G. D. Colwell, of Walkerville, Ont., was stricken down with La Grippe in 1906 and it left him in very bad condition. He says: "I was all run down and bordering on Consumption. I could not sleep at nights, had awful sweats, and coughed nearly the whole time. This is how I was when I began to take PSYCHINE, in a low nervous state, but from the first bottle I began to improve. It did marvels for me and brought me back to health in no time, making a new man of me. It fortifies the body against the attacks of La Grippe, and is a sure preventative. I always take PSYCHINE if I feel 'cold' coming on, and it puts me right in no time."

Thomas P. Macdonald, a prominent singer of Toeswater, says: "Six years ago I became a victim to La Grippe and had it in its worst form. The attack was unusually severe, and I was utterly prostrated, weak, and run down entirely. My voice also completely gave out, and my lungs 'seemed' to be seriously affected. People who knew me thought I was not long for this world."

"One day I saw in the paper what PSYCHINE had done for others and thought I would give it a trial, so I sent for a sample bottle. This gave me such immediate relief, and helped me so, that I determined to keep on with it at all costs, and in spite of what the doctor had said. In an incredibly short space of time I was completely restored, and my voice was soon in grand shape again. They used to tell me that a breath of wind would blow me away. I had got so thin, but PSYCHINE built me up in no time. I am a pretty solid specimen of humanity to-day, having gained in weight and put on flesh all the time."

In the great majority of cases, with reasonable exceptions, disease, especially throat and lung trouble, is contracted either through carelessness or needless exposure. Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, Catarrh are serious, but more so when we remember that they are preliminary stages of more serious troubles, and should be promptly and effectively checked in their earliest stages. PSYCHINE, that wonderful remedy long known to the people of all nations, and which cures all throat, lung and stomach troubles is what you need. Weariness and Disease cannot exist where PSYCHINE is used. It is the Greatest of All Tonics and gives vim and energy to the spiritless and listless. Varsity 26 Parkdale 6 ... Football ... Fight Articles ... Secret Clause ... Bowling ... West Beats Gebhardt

Note and Comment

The feature of the real, genuine, final Varsity football was the weather. Saturday was fine overhead, with an early autumn temperature, the sun shining brightly, and the ground dry underneath.

Again the Rugby blarney were all at sea. It looked before us like another rout for the second time, but the two weeks' rest had worked wonders for the players, and they had pruned wonderfully by watching the students' practice on the training ground, the outside kick, the week before, went for naught against Parkdale. Twice the students tried it in the first quarter.

There was about as much fumbling as Tigers and Rough Riders displayed in their game against the wind. The Parkdale backs made ridiculous errors in handling the ball, the Kilbuck pulled off some nice catches over his head the last quarter.

So ludicrous were the attempts at catching that the well-known cricketers, Lord Hawke and Stair Dick Lauder, who took glimpses of the game from the clubhouse balcony, were forced to declare that those hands would never do in the slips.

Varsity earned the first try by a straight run round the end. Then Parkdale rallied by the grossest mistake of the college champions' quarter and back, and next the flowery suburbanites were the offenders, when Moore nudged Bissett's long low and accurate pass, and the student dribbled over for Thompson's try.

The blue and white only led by one at the interval, and this placed Varsity seven ahead, and while the score was close the first half, Parkdale never looked serious as winners.

It was not till after Kilbuck's booted straight to the left half-back in the third quarter, giving the Varsity wonder a chance for his first sensational run of the day, that the crowd ceased being "good old Lawson."

The fact of the matter was that Lawson had wrenched his side near the close of the Ottawa game, and his instructors were to take it easy. However, the student cut loose towards the close with a hot or long, snaking, untidied run, and finished with his hurricane burst over half the field just before the final whistle.

It was the same Toronto crowd that like to see the favorite's best. When Parkdale pulled up with a lucky try, everybody but the cheerer and the student bleacher, and yells and oohs from the blue and grey reverberated thru the dismantled trees of fragrant Rosedale.

Call outpanted Kilbuck about fifteen yards on the average, the latter slowing up nearly as brilliantly as the press notes warranted, but he had a bad day with his passes.

Varsity played a sort of haphazard game the first half, and it was not till after Harry Griffiths' lecture at intermission that the men from St. Pauline's school ran to the nod of John Newton, then the Cap. showed his fine work, and it was all over but the cheering. Newton, like Pounds and Dixon, played a safe game throughout.

It was Parkdale's line work and splendid following up and tackling that kept it even till the rest, and had their crispness passes panned out, the canoe team would surely have led at some stage, and nothing short of a miracle would have given them victory. Bissett's long passes were paradoxically spoiled by their speed, inasmuch as the half-back always muffed the ball, a long lunge would have worked better likely.

The game was entirely free from roughness. Three Parkdale men were penalized for accidental tripping and offside interference, the game being contested by the most friendly spirit. The Ontario champions are to be complimented on their display against first holders of the Earl Grey Cup, the best Rugby team, probably, the country ever produced.

Their team was closer than Ottawa's, and if the Parkdale paddlers are not the second best in Canada to-day, we'd like to know what.

Free Show by Tigers and Rough Riders

The Hamilton Tigers and Ottawa Rough Riders are to meet in New York next Saturday in a public park, viz., Van Cortlandt. The New York Sunday Herald said:

It is the game of football as played by the colleges of the United States to be reformatted. In the last season thirty-three young men have been killed while playing the "American Rugby" game and 219 seriously injured. Some colleges have abolished football, others are considering seriously the question of changes in the rules that will do away with mass plays and the opportunities they give for slugging and rough work.

With the idea of showing the American people a game that its supporters say is faster, cleaner, safer and more interesting than the game played by colleges here, The Herald has invited two of the most famous teams of Canada to give an exposition of "Canadian Rugby" in New York City and has invited the captains, coaches and faculties of the American colleges and universities to be present and see how the game is played. The general public is cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission fee.

Van Cortlandt Park parade grounds are situated at the entrance end of the Broadway division of the subway—242-street. The field is one of the largest public playgrounds in America. It has been used for manoeuvres of the National Guard and polo games. A natural sloping bank toward the field forms a good vantage ground for spectators, while there is ample room along the side boards of the polo field to park automobiles.

Parade Commissioner Berry has promised that on the day of the Hamilton-Ottawa game benches will be provided for those invited from the American colleges.

BOXING BOUTS DECIDED Hockey War in East Between 2 Leagues Canadian-National

A fair crowd turned out to witness the I.C.A.C. boxing at Mutual-street rink on Saturday night, and they were rewarded with six exciting bouts. The opening event was between F. Judge (I.C.A.C.) and H. Pettit (West End). The boys met the week before, and Pettit was the winner after an extra round, again losing to Judge. The first round was fairly even, but Judge took the lead in the second. In the third, Pettit had the advantage in the third, and an extra round was ordered. Pettit lost his head in this round and Judge had no difficulty in outscoring him.

The 12-round bout between Roffe (B.U.) and Christie (I.C.A.C.) was a rather close start to finish. The first round was fairly even, but Christie had the better of the second, and Roffe was the winner in the third. Christie was received with much hisses, groans and cheers.

Leonard (Philadelphia) and Hillier Lang (I.C.A.C.) repeated their performance of the week previous, but Leonard showed up a little stronger. Lang was the aggressor and chased his man around the ring. Leonard covered up successfully, and occasionally let out a left jab. Lang had all the better of the second, and also the third, although Leonard was landed several hard right and left hooks.

Peters took Barrett's place in the 12-round class against Tucker. They met on Saturday night, and Peters was aggressive and fought back gamely, the West End boy had it on him all the way and won the bout.

The Philadelphia crowd had nothing to say against the decision in McEwan's case of Saturday night, when he was given his man all the time, and also Casey came back strong, and put his man thru the ropes in the third.

Dixon was the cleaner boxer and won the bout. The referee gave the decision to Crawford. Crawford is expected to have hurt his hand and did not meet Day.

Three Boston Boxers. It was given out at the Boston Athletic Association last week that the three boxers—M. J. Kelly, J. J. Lundy, who came to the Ontario championships, were imposters. They displayed little ability and were easily beaten. The imposters evidently coming over for the trip. They presented the cards of these men and the Ontario Rowing Club that conducted the tournament, or the Athletic Union, which sanctioned the event. The Ontario district of the A.A.U. is investigating the affair.

Parkdale Gun Club. The first regular weekly shoot of the Parkdale Gun Club of the season was held on Saturday on their grounds at the Humber. Also this was the first shoot in which the members were allowed to bring their own traps. The traps were set by Dunk and Fenton leading, the latter having at least one "straight" (3) to his credit.

Weather conditions were ideal, grounds and traps in splendid condition, resulting in a most enjoyable afternoon's sport for those who attended. A series of shoots for the winter is being prepared and it is expected that this season will be one of the most successful and enjoyable in the club's history. Visitors are always welcomed.

Balm Beach Opening Shoot. The Balm Beach Gun Club held their opening shoot of the season on Saturday. The day was fine and some good scores were made. C. D. Ten Eyck winning the silver spoon. Scores: Ten Eyck 23, McMillan 22, McGaw 21, Craig 20, Booth 20, J. G. Shaw 19, J. A. Shaw 19, Davidson 17, Herons 17, Harris 14.

The Toronto World

FOUNDED 1827. A Morning Newspaper Published Every Day in the Year. WORLD BUILDING, TORONTO.

TELEPHONE CALLS. Main 538-Private Exchange Connecting all Departments.

BE FAIR TO EAST END. It is not a genuine belief in the equity of expropriating city property benefited by general improvements that leads The Evening Telegram to suggest the postponement of the Bloor-street viaduct until legislation can be obtained for the purpose.

The whole city, and the county also, contributed to the erection of the city hall at the head of Bay-street, a structure that has increased the value of Bay-street property enormously.

The World has clamored for legislation to enable property benefited by further improvements to be expropriated in advance, but the city hall administrations have refused to take the question up.

But the citizens generally will recognize the subterfuge by which the construction of the Bloor-street viaduct is to be delayed at this juncture.

The east end is willing to pay its share in taxation, and if legislation can be secured the individuals who might benefit, as The Evening Telegram has benefited in Bay-street, will give up their property for the common good.

ASSESSMENTS ALREADY JUSTIFIED. Full justification has already been afforded the assessment department, the court of revision and the judges sitting on appeals in connection with the Yonge-street assessment cases.

corner of Richmond-street, much nearer Queen than the valuable territory near King, changed hands at the rate of $5000 a foot. The assessment is nowhere near this figure, so that the assessment department has been far from extortionate.

It is not so long since $70 an acre was considered a fair price for land near Toronto. With land at $70 a square foot Toronto evidently has some more profitable occupations than farming.

TUBES AND STREET RAILWAY EXPROPRIATION.

In order to argue against tubes the opponents of that servicable plan are now willing to declare that expropriation of the Street Railway is the only effective way to deal with the transportation problem.

We heartily agree, and we hope the opponents of tubes will at once combine to secure the necessary legislation for this purpose.

Or perhaps, Mr. William Mackenzie, if he really wishes to have a conference with the city, will submit in writing his willingness to negotiate the terms on which the expropriation may be arbitrated.

Meanwhile, Controller Hocken's tube report looks as tho it would facilitate the discussion, just as it has brought about a case for consideration as well as the railway company.

Those who oppose the tube system are not really in hearty favor of expropriation. Tubes will do more to hasten expropriation than anything else that can be suggested, and The World, which favors expropriation, favors tubes, because good in themselves, they lead to something better still.

NIAGARA POWER AND CITY NEEDS.

It is announced that the Toronto Railway Company and its electric allies are preparing to fight the hydro-electric power commission. People who have not been aware of this for some years past will be startled by the Little Eva special despatch on Saturday to this effect.

The Electrical Development Company's plant having broken down at Niagara Falls, and standing in need of extensive repairs, and the steam-plant in Toronto having been requisitioned to help it out, while stoppages of traffic and manufacturing power are all too frequent in the city, the announce-the light and vigor of the British principle that the commons hold the power of the purse and lodged that power in the house of representatives. It is the senate that has gradually gathered to itself the money power of the country. The American cities in illustration the senate's dictation to the house of the terms of the recent tariff bill.

As the years pass Canadians will. The World believes, become ever more convinced that their constitution, combining as it does the federal and parliamentary systems, is in all its essential features superior to the constitution of the United States.

EATON'S DAILY STORE NEWS

It's a Great Christmas for Handbags. Never before has there been so great a demand for dainty Hand Bags and other leather goods. Never before have we met it with such a splendid line of every grade in stock.

Never before has there been so great a demand for dainty Hand Bags and other leather goods. Never before have we met it with such a splendid line of every grade in stock.

ONE THAT GIVES SPECIAL VALUE has a 10-inch frame, and is 8 inches deep. The frame has the new wide mouth, too. The seal grain leather goes unbroken round the bottom.

ANOTHER SIMILAR BAG has a German silver frame, giving a pleasant contrast to the black of the body. The lining is moire. There is a distinct flare in the shape, and the bottom, as in most bags of the flaring styles, is broken.

A THIRD, that is made for us especially, is of seal grain leather and leather lined, 12 inches long, and is splendid value. $2.00.

MUSIC CASES are needed by some one in almost every family. At $2.75 we have a very strong case that can be used either as a sheet music or book carrier.

Other Music Rolls and Cases up to $4.50.

Don't overlook this leather goods suggestion; there's as great opportunity of making a happy selection here as in any other line, and our values are immense. All goods packed in gift boxes if requested.

Toronto's political organizations can learn a great deal, in the way of showing courtesy and respect to public speakers, from the local Pollack laborers, who organized themselves into a Liberal-Conservative Club in the Labor Temple Saturday night under the patronage of Hon. J. J. Foy, A. Claude Macdonnell, M.P., and Edmund Bristol, M.P. Upon the entrance of the attorney-general every Pole rose and stood with bowed head until Mr. Foy took his seat on the platform. The same reverence was observed as each speaker was announced, and at the conclusion of the ceremonies, they all rose again and clapped their hands vigorously as Interpreter A. Adolph extended Mr. Foy's thanks and appreciation to Mr. Foy for the privilege of naming their club after him. About 100 were present, and regrets were uttered on behalf of 74 others for inability to attend on account of the shift they were doing at the Canada Foundry. Besides Messrs. Foy, Macdonnell and Bristol, Controller Hooker and Thomas Hook, President of Ward Three Conservatives, were also present and spoke. NO ONE TO BLAME Verdict of Coroner's Jury in B. C. Electric Catastrophe. VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 5. (Special.)—The coroner's jury in the accident at Lakeview Station on the B.C. Electric Railway, in which 45 persons lost their lives three weeks ago, last night returned a verdict freeing the crew of the freight train from all blame. It was the lumber lode car from the freight train that ran away down the grade and crashed into the passenger coach. The jury suggested that freight cars should be controlled by air-brakes, and that automatic brakes on the operation of steam railways, as laid down by the railway commission, should be adopted by the B.C. WHY MR. WATSON WROTE POETIC INSULT Continued From Page 1. prime minister he was going down to Scotland. (I forget whether it was she or her mother or both who was with him) and Nash was seeing him off at the station and just as the train was about to start, some one behind Mr. Nash bowed to a respectful manner and handed over to my father a little scroll of paper neatly tied up and said in rather a subdued manner, "Please accept this of some use to you." My father put it aside at the time and forgot it then, some time after he said: "Perhaps we had better look at this and see what it is." So he opened it and found that it was a speech prepared for him by Mr. Nash. "I said: 'Your father must have been frightfully annoyed, surely?' " "He said: 'Well, what troubled him most about it was this, that he wanted to make it quite clear to Nash that this sort of thing was no longer necessary, but he said it would be difficult to say it in a way that would not hurt his feelings.' " Questions Author of Phrases. "So far Miss Asquith, I do not remember the exact links between that part of the conversation and what I said about record, but presently she said: "Do you know, I often have wondered whether some of those phrases of C. B.'s that caught on so much were his own, or whether they were that sort of nonsense really came from 'C. B.' or from Nash." "As a matter of fact it did not occur to me just at the moment that the phrase 'methods of barbarism' was used by C. B. before he was a prime minister, but I do not think Mr. Nash was one of his secretaries. Later on I said: 'You know I expected that your father would make the Bishop of Hertford Archbishop of York.' She said: 'Yes, and I suppose the Bishop of Hertford thought so, too; but don't you think that most of the bishops, and so forth, are not got by trying to bring pressure to bear. They are not got by jobbery, you know.' " "Marry James About Austin. "I, of course, acquiesced in the face of her evidently superior knowledge, and did not carry the subject any further, but I think I should like to mention an amusing story, and cleverly put together; but it contained one little demonstrable lie. It was spiteful and unnecessary to repeat here, but it led up to a remark of her's which I thought was not quite felicitous as addressed to me. "If you think that when he is gone the laurelship should be abolished." "I said, with some emphasis, 'O, yes, indeed, I think it is a grotesque anachronism, and I think the sooner you abolish it the better even for the dignity of literature itself.' So I think she did not get much change out of me on that subject. "We talked about various other matters and I was glad when she spoke of literary subjects only because her intelligence and acuteness are certainly very considerable. She finally asked me to write some verse of my own in which I should repeat the name of one of my own lyrics and apologized for being unable at the moment to call to mind anything which had not yet been published. "At last Mrs. Asquith came in and took us up to the drawing room. Mrs. Asquith, who seemed to be in a highly tremulous state, said to me, 'I have intervals of listening to me until I looked at my watch and found to my surprise that it was a quarter o seven. I took my departure. "Improvises a Quatrain. "I walked from Downing-street to the Devonshire club. Along the way I improvised a quatrain 'To the memory of the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman,' which ran thus: 'This was an honest man who spoke the truth, The hated truth, whether men heard or no. He stood for honor, justice, courage, truth, He is gone—and they, too, go. "I wrote to Miss Asquith in the club, reiterating my apology for not having been able to write in her book anything previously unpublished, and saying that on my return from 10 Downing-street I had improvised a little tribute to the memory of the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. "That great hearted man, I said, 'whose mere phrase, 'Methods of barbarism,' did so much to shake the drugged conscience of England.' I added, 'I shall be delighted to write it in your book if you ever care to give me the opportunity.' "I thought I had flung the most unfortunate insult at this family by this offer." Watson says, but to his surprise he received a letter from Mrs. Asquith in which she said her daughter would welcome the contribution to her album. THE BUDGET CAMPAIGN Continued From Page 1. Lancashire campaign. He ridiculed the idea that the old age pensions and the navy could be paid for by the revenue of tariff reform, and referred to Mr. Balfour's offer to assist cotton growing in the empire as very odd, in view of the fact that the Unionists when in power, also asked to do something in this direction, took no action. In the course of his speech Mr. Churchill said: "We are face to face with a period when parties necessarily are grouped on violent lines, when brute force and class hatred, instead of forbearance and public spirit, are becoming the characteristics of British political life." Lewis Harcourt compared the present issues with those of the time of Cromwell and the French revolution. Sir Edward Grey, in his address at Leith, said that he was glad that the house of lords was barred from retirement, and that there would be no opportunity for repentance. The Liberal party, Lord Lyveden, described the lords as rebels against the crown. "Wild" Speeches. The speeches by men like the foreign secretary, who has hitherto been regarded as representing the staidest Whiggism, and Lewis Harcourt, whose immaculate satire has earned for him the reputation of "dandy" of the house of commons, indicate the nature of the political fight, which has now begun, and is reflected in the speeches of the demonstrators in Trafalgar Square as published in the Sunday papers. The Trafalgar Square speeches were quite equal to the wildest utterances of any socialist demonstrators in that historic spot. Dr. Clifford, the veteran leader of the free church, hoped that the peers would be drowned in the Red Sea, as were Pharaoh. "Going to Strangle Them." William P. Byles, member of the house of commons from Salford, North, said: "We have got the lords by the throat and are going to strangle them. If the men of England have the same spirit as they had three hundred years ago they will be ready for civil war. The favorite emblem of the demonstrators was a turban carved to represent an imbecile face stuck on a pole and surmounted by a coronet, with the words beneath: 'The first born.' "The crowds made a hostile demonstration before the Constitutional Club and ended at a quiet squabble in the distance. They then made for the Lansdowne house, which was guarded by the police, and broke up quietly. "Cad of the Cabinet." The Observer, which thrust has been the protagonist of the rejection of the budget by the house of lords, and whose violent articles on the reform have earned the writer, J. L. Garvin, the title of the "wild man of the Conservatives," prints several letters to the editor, and in one of them it is unmeasured and practically unprintable terms. The Observer devotes its leader this morning to an attack upon the Chancellor Lloyd George, whom it calls "the cad of the cabinet." It says that the other front rank politicians fight with their fists, but Lloyd George fights with his nails. "These are merely samples, which are given to you by the author of the reform before the Budget was introduced, and afford a fair indication of the fight which is now going on. "A Notable Demonstration. The Conservative Sunday Times, describing the scenes in Trafalgar Square, says that there is no use attempting to belittle the demonstration. The fifty speakers included a dozen of the members of the house of commons. The size of the gathering, which was arranged at short notice, was surprising. It was unmistakably the most notable and most effective demonstration in recent years. The turban emblem was tossed about by the mob and torn to pieces, and it looked like a head on a pike in the twilight. The National Council of Free Churches has issued a manifesto calling attention to the action of the house of lords, which, it declares, "makes reforms supported by non-conformists impossible" and calling on the people to support the candidates who are favorable to the "emanipation of education from sectarian control." Unionists' Nominations. The Unionists are nominating a candidate in every constituency in England and Scotland, and with the exception of the seats held by the speaker, the Right Hon. James William Lowther and Joseph Chamberlain, who represent Birmingham West, either the Liberals or the Laborites will nominate a man to oppose them. The Liberals have decided not to contest Mr. Chamberlain's seat on account of his illness. The Vote of Liberal Peers. On being analyzed the vote of the house of lords on the budget reveals the interesting fact that of the 75 peers who voted for the second reading of the bill, 36 had been created by recommendation of either Gladstone, Rosebery or Campbell-Bannerman, all Liberal members. Of the 250 who voted against the second reading of the measure, 20 were newly created peers.

When the value of this vast FARMING COUNTRY, at the entrance to which is NEW LISKEARD, is known and appreciated, as it will be very shortly, these town lots which are now offering will be worth much more than is now asked for them.

This FARMING COUNTRY must soon come into its own by reason of the IMMENSE POPULATION that the north country will soon have INTERESTED IN MINING.

NEW LISKEARD will be the CENTRE OF DISTRIBUTION for this Farming Country.

In a few days a plan will be published showing the excellent locations I have to offer.

Public Amusements

Grace Van Studdford

So much has been said and written about Grace Van Studdford and her new opera, "The Golden Butterfly," that an entertainment of extraordinary merit may be confidently anticipated. We are to have the entire production, which means scenery, costumes and electrical effects which characterized the opening performance in New York. The success that it has already received has passed the highest expectations of the managers. It has attracted more attention and comment than any other comic opera that has been produced in this country during the last 20 years. It was written by Americans, and each member of the company is an American educated singer. There is something about Miss Van Studdford and "The Golden Butterfly," which seems to be attractive to the public, even before it is presented. The success that it has secured on sale all seats have been sold within a few hours; this fact may be taken as the strongest indication of the attractiveness of the production. The organization is made up of 15 selected singers and dancers, a special New York orchestra. The engagement at the Princess Theatre is for the week.

"In the Bishop's Carriage"

Channing Pollock's dramatization of "In the Bishop's Carriage" from the novel of William Mitchell, will be presented at the Grand this week. The story is a study in criminology and deals with the reclaiming of a thief, a young girl, whose sense of right and wrong had been warped by her early association with criminals during a period when she was an inmate of the home of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Mr. Pollock is decidedly original in his dialog and construction of situations. His characters are real, living, breathing human beings. He paints a vivid picture and calls a spade a spade. Miss Stephanie Longfellow will play the part of Nancy Oakes, the reclaimed thief, and will have a number of opportunities to show her ability. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

Today at Shea's Theatre

As a headline act at Shea's Theatre, Manager Shea has placed the Eight Killers, a troupe of risky acrobats that have been the sensation of two continents. The special feature on this week's big bill will be Clayton White and Marie Stuart, in George V. Hobart's best comedy, "Cherie," which is full of bright lines and clever situations. Another welcome feature act is that of Belle Blanche, the incomparable mimic who has not appeared here in several seasons.

"Billy"

"Billy," a farce-comedy, will be at the Royal Alexandra Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with a special New York matinee on Tuesday. During the rest of the week Bertha Galland will play in "The Return of Eve." The story of "Billy" is built up of the things that happen after Billy Harland sees four teeth in a football game. The predicament he gets into promises to be amusing.

Majestic Music Hall

An all-star vaudeville bill is promised by the Majestic Music Hall this week. With Holt Wakfield, in song reciting, accompanied by himself on the piano, and Wilfred Clarke & Co. are the headliners. Miss Wakfield will sing both classic and popular songs. Wilfred Clarke is appearing in a playlet entitled "What Will Happen Next?"

and some trick bicyclists will endeavor to amuse.

"The Cracker Jacks"

The Cracker Jacks, Bob Manchester's popular burlesque organization, will be the attraction at the Gayety Theatre this week. This season the company consists of 25 members, including the beautiful Baby Leon, petite Lillian Vedder, La Belle Marie, Billy Hart and his Joy Riders, Frank Harcourt, Paulie Kiddie and Lee, the French Quaker maidens, the wonderful European novelty, the Pips-sopffs, and the usual quota of pretty girls, who can dance and sing as well as add beauty to the entire entertainment. The performance begins with a special concert to be the most pretentious opening piece ever introduced by a burlesque company.

"Kitty Grey" Next Week

Miss Grayce M. Goodwin, a member of the chorus in Charles Frohman's big musical comedy, "Kitty Grey," which will be the offering at the Princess all next week, won her position through a newspaper beauty contest in Boston. Charles Frohman offered to engage the girl securing the largest number of votes. Miss Goodwin received more than 100,000. She was placed in a satisfactory position in a department store.

Seats for Lauder

The scale of prices for the Harry Lauder week at Massey Hall Dec. 20 has been fixed on the popular basis of 25 cents to $2 for the orchestra. The scale is 25 cents for the seats for the afternoons. This scale has been arranged on the recommendation of the trustees of Massey Music Hall, and will doubtless be much appreciated by the general public, to every member of which was Bobby Burns of the concert stage appeals. The sale of seats will begin on Wednesday next week.

Great Season for Sousa

The magnificent tours of Sousa and his next closest men, including his appearance at Massey Hall to-morrow afternoon and evening, when the great band will be accompanied by the Misses Frances and Grace Hoyt, soprano and mezzo-soprano, in their classical duets, and Miss Florence Hardeman, violinist, and Herbert Clarke, cornetist, as assisting artists.

Municipal Campaign

Controller Hocken has already reason to congratulate himself on the effectiveness of the tube scheme as a weapon against the street railway. Only a few days ago, the company, thru Manager Fleming, expressed a willingness to extend lines into the new territory on certain conditions, something never offered before by the railway, while now the company is seeking a conference. Next to expropriation, the railway fears competition and, being now face to face with the latter situation, it is doing the worrying instead of the city, which is a reversal of the usual order of things.

The tube referendum should carry by a sweeping majority, similar to that given by the citizens three years ago on the question of cheap power. There will be plenty of time next year to figure out details of financing before offering the money bill. The present duty is to carry the referendum. Even the Telegram, which is haunted by fears as to whether the undertaking would pay, has come out in favor of the simple proposition carrying over a popular vote because of the power over the railway which the city would secure. Defeat would mean a reverse for the principles of public ownership and would immensely increase the company's confidence in its ability to treat

The public as it likes. Toronto can't afford to show a reactionary spirit any more than in dealing with the electric ring of which, the railway is a part.

The civic authorities are not worrying over the statement credited to General Manager Leonard of the C. P. R. that the Esplanade viaduct will never be built. It has been known all along that the scheme was as popular with the railway as rain is to the farmer at having time. Fortunately the decision doesn't rest with Mr. Leonard or any other railway official. The railway commission has given its order, and if it is sustained by the supreme court and privy council, the viaduct must be built. It is quite ready to take chances of disfigurement from "a big stone wall across her face."

The outlook for large majorities for both the tube railway and Bloor-street viaduct undertakings grows more promising from day to day. While the World believed at the outset of the campaign that the public feeling was highly favorable, the expressions of opinion on all sides are particularly encouraging. The verdict of the great body of solid, business men, who are sincerely desirous of promoting the general welfare of the city, strongly supports the project.

"You can place me on record as being strongly in favor of the viaduct," said J. H. Lumbers of the James Lumbers Co., Ltd., favored the speedy construction of the viaduct which he said would materially help the advancement of the city.

"The tube," he added, "will prove of immense service to the community, in solving the quick transportation question."

George Anderson of Anderson and McBeth, was also another supporter of the proposition. "Not the slightest doubt," he said, "that the city needs it. I think the viaduct will be a great boon to Toronto."

Ald. Church is making a reputation as a whirlwind campaigner in his candidature for the board of control. He is bound to secure a large vote in the eastern wards, where he is especially well-known, and it will be surprising if he doesn't show marked strength in the west also, according to shrewd observers.

Ald. Church has been one of the most aggressive public rights advocates, and is deserving of general support.

If the West End Christian Temperance Society had any intention of raising the "sole estate" issue in the city council with the day of polling only a few weeks away, a decidedly awkward time, it is not to be attained. So legislation an authority on temperance Spence explains that the city council has no power to shorten the hours for the sale of liquor in hotels, as the "vested" title society for the senior Ontario Government shoudlers that responsibility.

COBALT—Mining Stocks Unsettled and Nervous at Week End—COBALT

No Appreciation Expected Till Confidence is Restored

Speculation is Narrow and Leaves Much Room for Improvement—Irregularity the Immediate Outlook.

World Office, Saturday Evening, Dec. 4.

The Cobalt mining securities of late have been not at all prolific of sensational developments of any character.

Speculation has continued generally in a narrow rut, while some depreciation in values has followed a realizing movement in certain sections of the market.

It must be said that the outstanding feature of this market, as have figured in so many instances, has been a steady rather than a weak one.

The one dominant influence to which may be attributed the easy tone which marks dealings at the present time is the general lack of confidence and the consequent falling off in public speculation.

This has been engendered by the recent actions of some of the more prominent stocks, and it is safe to say that a considerable amount of time will have elapsed before the Cobalts can occupy any material place in the affections of the speculative public.

If it were not for the tremendous speculative chances, mining stocks would have a very poor following, and it is because of these possibilities that the mining stocks markets are so heavily patronized. Consequently if confidence is lessened and the buying power thereby reduced, the market will have a very poor opportunity of recording any appreciation in the values of its listed issues, and a period of uneventful stagnation and general weakness must be looked for.

Few bullish facts have arisen during the immediate past, while those of a deterrent nature have been not at all limited. The natural result of a succession of such influences as the several dividend reductions which have been made, the bear drives on La Rose and Crown Reserve and other factors of like ilk has been anything but favorable to the market as a whole.

It cannot be said that Cobalt is in a satisfactory position as far as the value of its stocks are concerned. Trading bears a clear imprint of forced selling on an unwilling market, and it is only natural that the dominant influence in such instances should be an inclination to sell. Taking the securities right from the list, it must be said that a move or less heavy tone, and a period of uneventful stagnation and general weakness must be looked for.

The latest rumor for stock market purposes in regard to La Rose emanates from New York and is to the effect that a syndicate headed by President Earle of the Nipissing Mines Company, also a holder of the Earle-McGibon interests in the La Rose company, has purchased the holdings of the McGibon interests in the La Rose company.

The RUBBER Sale Continues To-Morrow

WHEN Andrew Carnegie was asked for his advice to a young man in search of an opening for his energy and ambition, he said: "Go into rubber, plant it, cultivate it, develop the production—the demand will surpass the supply in a very few years."

And the great steel magnate was right, as is proved already with crude rubber selling at $2.00 per pound. We are flying right in the face of the market conditions by giving our customers the benefit of sale prices based upon last spring's rubber quotations.

Here's the price-list for to-morrow: Rubbers. 1000 pairs Men's Rubbers, Tuesday 1.40. 1000 pairs Women's Rubbers, regular heel, Tuesday 1.40.

A Man's Fur-Lined Overcoat For $15.00?

LOOKS surprising, doesn't it? Well, we'll tell you how it is—look at the Coat you'd never guess it. It's not a Fur-lined Coat at all. It's made up just the same as a regular Fur-lined Coat outside—fine Black English Beaver Shell, with the frog fasteners, etc., and it has a German Otter Fur Collar, shawl shape. But the lining is not fur—it is a quilted Italian cloth lining—just as warm as fur, and lighter.

We sell this Coat at $15.00—and it's a dandy.

The material outside is an imperturbable, smooth-finished English beaver cloth, deep black shade, firm, closely-woven fabric, cut full 50 inches long, double-breasted, made with a deep shawl collar of full-furred German otter, which can be rolled up to fasten close around the throat, finished with centre vent in back, barrel buttons and loops, lined with a heavy quilted Italian lining, a comfortable garment, giving all the appearance of the fur-lined coat minus the weight. Special price $15.00.

KNITTED VESTS.

Men's Knitted Wool Fancy Vests, made from finest wool, with elastic ribbed back, in cardinal, brown and grey, with fancy stripe effect, $3.00.

Men's Fancy Vests, in all-wool English brocade material, with raised honeycomb effect, full range of coloring, edges and pockets bound with braid, $2.00.
