REMEDY THE R.R. CONDITIONS FIRST

Resolution Passed by Governors of New England

Also Want Some of Largest Vessels Assigned to Their Ports by U. S. Shipping Board—The Sugar Situation

(Special to Times.) Boston, Dec. 11.—Governors of the New England states, at a conference in Boston yesterday afternoon, unanimously adopted resolutions which set forth the return of the New England railroads to private control, under present conditions, "would manifestly be disastrous to New England industries, institutions and investors," and called upon congress to enact legislation to remedy the situation before the roads are removed from the jurisdiction of the federal railroad administration.

The governors further resolved that the United States shipping board be requested to assign some of its largest vessels to New England ports. Edward G. Buckland, president of the New Haven, Central New England and Rutland railroads, presented statistics showing that during the three years preceding the war, the net income of the railroads had averaged net income totaling $38,888,011, but during the twelve months of government operation and in place of a surplus amounting to $10,111,829, there was a deficit of $19,968,991.

General John H. Sherburne, chairman of the state commission on the necessities of life, in a report on the sugar situation, submitted to the legislature yesterday, placed the responsibility for the shortage of sugar on the United States sugar equalization board. To remedy the situation, he recommended that the price of sugar be fixed at ten cents a pound, and that the price of sugar be fixed at ten cents a pound.

The equalization board will go out of existence at the end of the year and it was not given power to buy the 1920 Cuban crop, which at one time could have been bought for six and a half cents a pound, and for which at present ten cents a pound is asked.

Premier Lloyd George and Trades Union Congress

State Should Find Work or Provide Subsistence—Congress Wants Peace With Russia

London, Dec. 11.—At the Trades Union Congress yesterday, James Henry Thomas, labor member of parliament for Derby, and general secretary of the National Union of Railways, reporting the interview he had with Premier Lloyd George on Monday, said the premier admitted that it was the duty of the state to find work or provide subsistence for the unemployed, and looked upon society falling in that respect as barbarous.

The premier intimated to him that the iron moulder's strike was having a paralyzing effect not only on the iron trade, but at Woolwich, where repairs of various kinds were greatly hampered. He thought the labor movement should find some method of settling the dispute.

Mr. Lloyd George also said that the trade unionists, especially the oilmen, were hindering the making of locomotives at Woolwich. The premier expressed the opinion that continuance of the unemployed dole would prejudice a scheme to be submitted ultimately. This has reference to the proposed national unemployment insurance bill.

Regarding Russia, the premier stated the policy he outlined was the government's policy and that when the 15,000,000 pounds sterling last voted were spent, no support of any kind would be given to Russian intervention. With respect to the demands for the abolition of conscription, Mr. Lloyd George pointed out that peace had not yet been ratified, and declared that it would be madness to abolish the conscription while any danger in connection with evasions by Germany existed.

General John H. Sherburne, chairman of the state commission on the necessities of life, in a report on the sugar situation, submitted to the legislature yesterday, placed the responsibility for the shortage of sugar on the United States sugar equalization board.

INFLAMED GUMS—CAUSE OF LOOSE TEETH

Pyorrhoea is undoubtedly a vital danger to both gums and teeth. Tender gums indicate it, and with it come loosening teeth. Imperceptibly, at first, the gums recede from the normal gum line. They inflame. They present many tiny openings for millions of bacteria to attack the unmanicured tooth base. Tooth-base decay quickly follows. Even if the cavity be filled and the tooth saved, the gums continue to recede. Remember, too, that inflamed and bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Against this Pyorrhoea (Gingivitis) ordinary tooth-pastes are powerless. Yet Pyorrhoea attacks four out of five people who are over forty, and many under this age. But Forhan's—if used in time and used consistently—positively prevents Pyorrhoea. It is a scientific tooth cleanser as well. Brush your teeth with it. See how promptly bleeding or gum tenderness ceases and how your teeth are kept white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

LORD JELICOE

The British navy meant much to this national port during the war. Because that navy kept the sea the steamships were able to sail to and from St. John, carrying enormous quantities of food, munitions and other cargo to the Motherland. It meant much to St. John that this enormous business was transacted here, and it meant a great deal more that because of the supremacy of the British navy our soldiers were able to cross in safety to the seat of war. Canada never for a moment understood the value of the service rendered by the navy, for the open Atlantic lay between this country and all it sought to do in the great war. That ocean must be traversed, and its lanes were guarded by British ships.

Because of all this, and because their hopes for so long a time were centered—and not centered in vain—in the Grand Fleet—the citizens of St. John extend today a heartfelt welcome to the admiral who stands beside Nelson as one of the great naval leaders of British history. Lord Jellicoe's name was on every tongue during the later years of the war, and to welcome him in person, after his great achievements for the Empire and the world is an honor as well as a privilege in any British port.

A NATIONAL PORT

The Telegraph this morning prints the federal government plan of some of the improvements it contracted with the city to make on the west side in return for the 1,600 foot strip on the Beacon Bar and the foreshores to the breakwater. The government did not promise, but contracted to do this work. That was in 1911, the same year in which Sir Robert Borden solemnly pledged himself to nationalize the port of St. John. A glance at the government plan reproduced in The Telegraph, shows that only a very small part of the work has been done. Moreover, the breakwater has not been extended to Partridge Island. Under harbor commission the government would be relieved of its contract and the cost of all new work would be a charge upon the revenues of the port. This is what some people are now demanding. They would relieve the government of its contract and Sir Robert Borden of his pledge, and hand over the port with revenue charges that would be ruinous. The people will not consent. The government must fulfill its contract and Sir Robert must redeem his pledge. St. John must go forward—not backward.

FOR A BETTER CITY

"If a man works for himself alone, with no thought for others, he is not and cannot be a good citizen. In my opinion, unselfishness is the very foundation of good citizenship and good government."

These words, spoken by a former mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, are especially applicable to St. John at the present time. The declared purpose of the New Commercial Club is to make St. John a better city in which to live. No single group of persons can accomplish that purpose as it should be accomplished. It is a community matter, calling for the co-operation of all. Whether it is to secure the most progressive city government, the subscription of local capital to establish industries, or the improvement of social conditions, the measure of success will be the extent to which all the people become personally interested.

With regard to city government, a recent remark by Mr. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, secretary of the National Municipal League, goes to the root of the matter. He said that the question each citizen should ask himself is not what can the city government do for me, but what can I do for good city government. It is so easy to stand aloof and find fault and dodge the issue of personal responsibility that far too many adopt that course. In so doing they help to perpetuate an indifferent or bad administration of civic affairs.

Consider the question of housing. A recent writer says: "It is a big problem of the greatest urgency. We dropped many things to engage in a war against brutal and unjust despotism. It is essential now to concentrate a part of that energy and determination upon this problem of providing homes for the work-people of Canada, their wives and children, the latter of whom will be the Canadian men and women of tomorrow, if the diseases of the slums do not wipe many of them out."

All the people concentrated their efforts to prosecute the war, and all the people must do the same in regard to housing. Homes must be provided of a type to be comfortable and available for a reasonable rental. If it cannot be done with profit to private builders, let the state and the municipality must help, or pay the penalty imposed on society by the slums and what they produce. It is a community problem.

Consider also the social conditions revealed in certain so-called homes in this city, out of which children have been taken by the Children's Aid. There is demand for the punishment of parents. How? By sending them to jail, or feeding in illness because the community has not provided an industrial farm where they could earn their living, and perhaps get a new and better outlook on life. But why do such homes exist? Who takes a sustained personal interest in them? And what of the others that are suffering a gradual degradation, tending to the same unhappy result? Who is interested in them? It is a community problem. All the people must get rid of their selfishness or conditions will not change. How many of the children born each year in this city are feeble-minded—and why?

If St. John is to be made a better city in which to live there is room for everybody to sing and apply the song: "Brighten the corner where you are."

New York Evening Post: "Mr. Frick's magnificent public bequests surprised everybody, not in his confidence, by their amount. But they also compel admiration for their largeness of conception. They are splendid legacies splendidly bestowed. Having himself served as a college trustee, Mr. Frick was aware of the hampering conditions too often attached to gifts to universities. The large sums which he willed to Princeton and Harvard appear to be almost entirely free from such limitations on their use. And his provisions for the control and development of his great art collection in New York equally bespeak a mind accustomed to think broadly and far ahead. It is little to say that New York never had a benefactor approach Mr. Frick's. There is no evidence that he ever attended a school of philanthropy, but his finest teachings are embodied in the terms of his will."

The termination of the coal strike brings joy to the people of the United States, who were facing a great fuel shortage at the opening of winter. They have had a very narrow escape from conditions that would cause suffering and death in every large center. To prevent the recurrence of such conditions is the aim of American statesmanship.

The old man who was removed from a tenement condemned by the board of health to the hospital clamored for his "good home" and his "comfortable bed." The clean quarters in the hospital did not appeal to him. His type presents one of the difficulties social welfare workers have to overcome—the objection to any improvement in conditions to which these persons have become accustomed.

Has any effort been made to secure a shift from Hon. T. A. Cress to St. John? He is a big figure in the west, and was introduced in Woodstock yesterday as probably the next premier of Canada. He will at least be a force in Canadian public life, and it is to the interest of this national port to have every western man fully acquainted with its exact relation to the transportation system of Canada.

With a newspaper of their own, as well as a string of co-operative stores and a co-operative system of marketing, the United Farmers of New Brunswick are giving evidence of a determination to guard their interests at every point. It is a notable development in the life and affairs of the province.

Hon. Mr. Cress makes it clear that the farmers want a reduced tariff. They would get revenue from unimproved lands and from an increased income tax. They do not believe a high tariff is essential to proper industrial growth.

Sir Douglas Hazen and Mr. Stanley E. Elkin are eliminated as cabinet possibilities. What New Brunswick member will Sir Robert Borden choose—and who will accept?

Last night's meeting in the board of trade took strong ground in favor of a real municipal building for St. John. May the good cause prosper.

Canadian Finance says:—"Out of the total tax levy of $8,124,984 in Winnipeg this year over $700,000 is charged against real estate—90 per cent."

The American coal strike lasted forty days. Then the dove of peace found a landing place.

The death of two aged men in a fire in a house in City road at an early hour this morning is a most pitiful tragedy of tenement life.

1,000 GUINEA WOMEN. London, Dec. 10.—The dress parade of women of wealth on fine afternoons in Bond Street is greater today than it has ever been.

"Thousand Guinea Women," I call them, remarked a sartorial artist in one of the establishments for clothes and garments de luxe to a Daily Chronicle representative recently.

"I have had some experience of the phases of West End women's clothing during the last twenty years, and today there are more women walking round the shops whose complete fittings and make-up approximate to a thousand guineas than I have ever remarked before."

RIEPE THINGS. So many troubles chase us, so many problems face us, we're always in a stew; so many ways of distressing, so many cares are pressing, we don't know what to do. We sigh for days departed, when we were happy and full of wholesome cheer; when griefs were not invented, and every man contented, sat 'neath his vine and tree. But in those bygone seasons, ere Huns, with tricks and treasons, kicked up a heathen row, we all were as unhappy, as sassy and as scrappy, as sore as we are now. The Huns then parading were of another shading, they bore another brand, but they were just as galling, they kept the people branding throughout a weary and our words were just as bitter, we didn't sing and twitter more than we do today; we pawed around and panted, and we walked the floor and ranted, and ground our hearts away. Despite the Huns that scare us, despite the jolts that jar us, we still can smile a few; it doesn't make things better to be a chronic fretter and weep a quart or two.

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

MACKENZIE IN EXILE

When William Mackenzie, the defeated leader of the Upper Canada rebels, fled from Montgomery's Tavern, Toronto, on Dec. 7th, 1837, he was destined to spend the next few years in exile. His life was in the balance; his associates in the expedition paid the penalty of every error, in many cases with their lives. There was a warrant out for his arrest.

So Mackenzie was careful to stick close within the borders of the United States, but he continued to entertain for some time the thought of another attempt to set up his form of government. He was active, too, until as late as 1839 in endeavoring to secure parties to raid the country. In 1838 he started a newspaper called "Mackenzie's Gazette," in which he advocated his theories. At first it was published in New York; later its office was in Rochester, where it continued until about 1840. In that same year, too, he made application in New York for citizenship in the United States. The next year saw him before the courts of Ontario county, New York, on a charge of treason in connection with the Navy Island affair. He defended himself, but was found guilty and sentenced to jail for eighteen months and fined $10. He dragged out a miserable life in the Rochester penitentiary for eleven months; he spent that time writing a story of his revolutionary activities. They were his only literary production in response to numerous petitions.

In February, 1849, a general amnesty bill was passed by the legislature of Upper Canada, and Mackenzie was free to return to his native land. He returned via Montreal and Belleville. At Montreal he was recognized while reading in the legislative library and a stormy scene ensued, when an adversary who had experienced the revolt scene drove him out of the room.

THE MARSELLAISE

The city of Marseilles, the mild moon's glimmer, Her white walls gleaming through the vines of the vineyard, And all was hushed, save where the foot steps fell, On some high tower, of midnight sentinel. But one still watched; no self-enrolled Chaser from his lids the angel of repose; He watched and he wept, for thought of bitter years Bowed his dark lashes, wet with burn- ing tears.

His country's suffering and her chill, His country's shame, he remembered, Strewed over his memory like a forest's flame; Each treasure of insult, each remembered wrong, Rolled through his heart and kindled fire. His taper faded; and the morning gales Swept through the world the war-song of Marseilles! —Holmes.

LIGHTER VEIN

"Mr. Cash," began the youth, hanging his hat on the back of the chair, "I will occupy only a few moments of your time. I have come to ask you for your daughter. I—" said the elderly banker, do you—"

"Yes, sir, I realize fully that she has been kindredly nurtured and that she is very dear to you; also that her home is one in which she has been surrounded by every luxury; but she is willing to leave it."

"Can you—"

"No, sir, I can't quite maintain her in the style to which she has been accustomed, but I have a good salary, and I'm ready to chance it. So is she."

"Will you—"

"Yes, sir, I will keep my life insured for a sum sufficient to provide for her if I should be taken away."

"Would you—"

"No, sir, I would not expect to live with the family. I am able to buy and furnish a modest home for her. I'm a young man," said Mr. Cash, looking at his watch, "I rather like your style. You can have her. Good—"

"Morning, sir."

THE PUZZLE OF THE AGES.

A despatch the other day reported that Sir Ernest Rutherford, about 1907 professor and director of physical laboratories at the University of Manchester, England, had solved the puzzle of the transmutation of matter, the secret sought by the ancient alchemists.

The transmutation of matter, supposing the "matter" to be either physical mixtures or chemical compounds is no secret, says the New York Times, but the production of a new element or the change from one to another, has been the "riddle."

As early as the spring of 1907 private advice received at Johns Hopkins University from Sir William Ramsay, who died in 1916, was interpreted to mean that the distinguished chemist of Cambridge University had succeeded in making the segregation of one element from another and the production of copper by the synthetic or combination process from the elements sodium, lithium and potassium. The process was said to include the treatment of these elements by radium.

Sir William did not then impart his formula and so left his critics with the alternative of believing that copper was not an element, but a compound, or that it had actually been made from other elements. The case of the fabled transmutation by alchemists and never heretofore accomplished by modern chemistry had been performed—the transmutation of elements.

The full report of the discovery was printed in the transactions of the Chemical Society of August, 1919. There the experiments were described in great detail, with the single conclusion which defied all tests—that Sir William had actually changed the element copper to the element lithium. The Lancet headed an article on the subject "Matter Alchemically Transmuted," and it was criticized by Lord Kelvin and others.

On June 1, 1918, Sir William delivered a lecture on the transmutation of elements at the Cavendish laboratory of the University of Cambridge. He had actually changed the element copper to the element lithium. The Lancet headed an article on the subject "Matter Alchemically Transmuted," and it was criticized by Lord Kelvin and others.

"I introduced dry hydrogen into a tube of which the electrodes consisted of pieces of aluminum. The anode was covered with a small coating of sulphur and I subjected it to the action of the cathode discharge for five or six hours. I examined the gases extracted with a pump and did not succeed in finding either neon or helium, but exclusively argon mixed with hydrogen. The gas of which in volume did not exceed a few hundredths of a cubic millimeter. It showed lines of hydrogen and mercury, and though very weakly, the characteristic yellow and green lines of krypton. . . but I admit that I am still not absolutely certain about it."

Sir Ernest Rutherford is one of the best known physicists in the world, holding degrees from more than a dozen universities in the old and new worlds, and he has received medals of honor from institutions of higher learning. He has devoted much attention in recent years to radioactivity and has written several books on the phenomena of radioactive substances and their radiations.

WOULDN'T FEED BABY; GAVE IT TO STRANGER

New York, Dec. 11.—The high price of milk was responsible for a seven-month-old baby being abandoned by its father in the Grand Central station, according to a note found in the youngster's hat by the police.

"Can't afford him milk on the price they are charging today," said the note. "There are others I am trying to support."

The infant was turned over to the police by a man who said another man had asked him "to hold the baby" until he came back.

The Black River congregation has extended a unanimous call to Capt. Rev. Thomas Harrison, which was approved by the presbytery meeting held in Newcastle Dec. 9.

"I don't know what we can make of Ethel," said the mother; "she sleeps so much." "I know, mamma," said Tommy. "Make a chaperon of her." —Yonkers Statesman.

"Is that so? What year?"

"Ach, he has got no year; da yodger just say, 'You, Axel, sixty days in jail.'—Truth Seeker.

Next Year's Great Imperial Press Conference Here

An appeal to the press of Canada has been issued by government and opposition leaders at Ottawa to direct public attention to the great imperial press conference to be held in Canada next year.

The circular issued says: "This visit and proposed all-Canadian tour of the great publishers and journalists from Great Britain and every section of the empire, gives us an admirable opportunity to demonstrate the beauty and vast natural resources of our country—still largely undeveloped—not to casual visitors representing themselves alone, but to men who direct the leading newspapers and periodicals of the empire—from which the people of the British Brotherhood of Nations habitually draw most of their world information. On their side, these influential men will regard this trip as an equally valuable opportunity to acquire first hand evidence of the life, the development, and the potentialities of the premier dominion. For both our country and the countries whence these representative men will come, it will be an opportunity for personal intercourse which will help to clarify and establish a mutual understanding on questions urgently confronting us—all questions internal and international, questions industrial, economical, social and political. Taking for granted, as we have every reason to, that the proposed press conference will be composed of delegates holding directing positions in connection with journals of real importance, we unhesitatingly recommend immediate steps to arrange for the holding of the conference in a manner worthy of the dominion. Canadians of all classes who have important suggestions to make respecting this great conference are requested to communicate with Lord Atholstan, chairman of general and executive committees, care of the Montreal Star.

Western Veterans' Co-operative Society

Regina, Dec. 11.—The housing situation is giving returned soldiers much concern and the shortage of houses with the high rentals asked formed the chief topic of discussion at the meeting of the provincial executive of the Great War Veterans, Saskatchewan command, held here. It was decided that as the Dominion government had not taken direct action towards ameliorating the house congestion, the question should be raised in the provincial legislature through the three soldier members. It is not the purpose of the veterans to press for government action on the soldiers' behalf only, but for some plan whereby all those who need help towards acquiring homes of their own can be aided.

The high cost of living is also proving a problem, and the veterans in an endeavor to lower their bills have decided to form a co-operative society with the object of later opening a departmental store and doing business on a profit-sharing basis. It was stated at the meeting that two stores of this kind had been opened by soldiers in Winnipeg, while Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Edmonton, and other points were considering action, with the ultimate object in view of merging all Great War Veterans stores in Canada under provincial and dominion-wide directorship with a common purchasing agency supplying the stores making up the chain.

FOR PEACE ARMY OF 300,000.
Washington, Dec. 11.—A peace-time regular army of 300,000 men and 18,000 officers was decided on by the house military sub-committee, headed by Representative Anthony, Republican, Kansas, framing the army reorganization bill. The number of combatant troops was fixed at 220,000.

There are as many different varieties of tea as of roses—but only ONE Red Rose Tea.

Red Rose is a blend of about a dozen varieties of teas, chiefly hill-grown ASSAMS—the richest and strongest teas grown.

The skilful blending of these teas produces the delightful and distinctive Red Rose flavor.

The rich, strong ASSAM leaves in the Red Rose package are so full of tea essence that three teaspoo-fuls go as far as five of ordinary tea.

GREETINGS!

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early

We can solve the problem of the great question today—

What Shall I Give Such a One for Christmas?

These Will Make GRANDDAD Smile.

For him, these comfort shoes or a pair of warm Slippers will carry a message of deepest consideration.

We have several styles in Comfort Shoes and House Slippers from which to choose.

BROTHER is a Little "Terror" on Shoes.

Christmas ought to come once a month for Brother, as far as shoes are concerned.

We have some, though, that will stand the banging he will give them.

For MOTHER Who Deserves so Much.

Truly, she has shoes, but give her a pair that's a little finer than she would select for herself and watch her face beam with pleasure. Mother, think who she is.

Pretty Buckles for her Evening Slippers.

We attach Skates with your purchase of Hockey Boots. "We Sharpen Skates."

The FRIEND Out of Town, would surely appreciate something in the Footwear line. A pair of Felt Slippers are always accepted by the Lady or Gentleman for travelling purposes.

"The Most IMPORTANT OF ALL."

and we'll venture that if some of the Christmas morning Goo, Goo's could be translated, my, but I'm glad someone thought of Shoes instead of Rattles and Teething Rings, would be the opinion expressed.

For GRANDMOTHER, Everybody's Friend.

Dear old soul, how grateful she is for the slightest sincere attention!

And how she would appreciate anything so thoughtful as Comfort Slippers.

Real common sense Boots and Rubbers or Overshoes. "Creepers Attached."

Surely You Won't Forget DADDY.

"Never mind me," he says, but he's camouflaging his feelings.

He'll praise your practical choice if you give him Shoes or House Slippers.

How about his Curling Boots?

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

MARY PICKFORD AS "THE HOODLUM" LAST TIMES AT IMPERIAL

Tonight starting at 7 o'clock the Imperial will screen the Mary Pickford triumph, "The Hoodlum," for the last time. Preceding the big feature will be Canadian Pictorial and the marvelous and maddening German submarine pictures, which show the Hun sinking our vessels. It is a great programme. At 9 o'clock the reception to Lord Jellicoe by the Navy League and speakers will commence.

On Friday the Imperial has another remarkable programme. The leading feature is to be "For Honor," a strong British army story of India in which H. R. Warner, the English star, is to be the leading actor. Mack Sennett's comedians will put on another of their side-splitting bit sketches entitled "Uncle Tom Without the Cabin," which is the funniest thing they have yet done. The serial, "Smashing Barbers," will conclude the show—a corking line-up.

HAVE YOU SEEN GAYNELL AND MACK?

Last Chance to See This Great Act and Other Features

Have you seen the present change of programme at the Opera House? If not you are missing one of the best bills presented for many weeks. Tonight will be your last chance to see Gaynell and Mack in a real "Winter Garden" dancing hit. This act is worth the price of admission alone, to say nothing of the great comedy playlet, "Anxious Moments." Those who have never been there may get a few tips from this sketch so don't miss it. The other acts are all exceptionally good and are highly entertaining.

Tomorrow evening will see the regular week-end change of programme and the bill looks very attractive. It includes Schopp's Comedy Dog and Monkey Circus, which will undoubtedly prove a source of entertainment for young and old; the Musical Parshley, Rice Reeves, in comedy songs and "Timely," a story in original songs; Hurst and Devers, in an original and musical skit, "The Millinery Shop"; Mertens and Arena, in a comedy acrobatic novelty with the bouncing Dogg; also the second chapter of the great serial, "The Midnight Man," featuring James J. Corbett.

TUG BISON LOST?

Halifax, Dec. 11.—It is reported here that the United States Shipping Board tug Bison, bound from the Great Lakes to Halifax, has been lost. In company with four other tugs, she sailed from Quebec some days ago, and it is understood she has become separated from the others, which are reported as coming down the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The local office of the shipping board could not confirm the report this morning.

Willie was out walking with his mother when she thought she saw a boy on the other side of the street making faces at her darling. "Willie," asked mother, "is that horrid boy making faces at you?" "He is," replied Willie, giving his coat a tug. "Now, mother, don't start any peace talk—you just hold my coat for about five minutes."

WHAT THE POLICE FOUND IN HOUSE IN ST. PATRICK STREET

Another "Disorderly" Case in The Police Court—Out Comes Front of Piano in Another and Liqueur is Disclosed

Twice within a week the police have raided disorderly houses. This morning several people were arrested, including Mrs. Maud Nichol, who was charged with being the keeper, while Kate Donnell, Verna Morton, Ronald Nodwell, Lewis Daley and Walter McAnn were charged with being inmates. They pleaded not guilty.

Policeman McNeill told of going to this house, at 61 St. Patrick street, in company with Policemen Loe and Detective Saunders in consequence of information received. On entering he said they found the six defendants in one room. On seeing the policeman Nodwell made his escape out the back way, but was arrested by Saunders. The room, the witness said, was in darkness and the furniture was apparently as if the tenants were going to move out. The witness said that Kate Donnell had called the police to the house as she said two men were fighting. The police found no liquor in the house out of the two men, who were fighting, were under the influence of liquor. Speaking of the conditions of the house, the witness said that it was dirty and not properly fitted up, and three children were sleeping on a quilt on the floor.

Detective Saunders said that he was in Brussels street with Policemen McNeill and McLeese. At the corner of Richmond street they met Kate Donnell who said two men were fighting. The policeman said they hurried to the house and found Nodwell and Daley with their coats off, fighting. He said the children were lying on a quilt, scattered to death, and the house was in a filthy condition, and for some time had been complained of to the police. Mrs. Nichol said she allowed the men to come to her house, the detective said, and she also said she was going to move so in that she would not sit up all night for this purpose. He said Daley, Nodwell and the Donnell woman were drunk in a filthy condition, and for some time had been complained of to the police. Mrs. Nichol said that Mrs. Donnell's husband had been to the police complaining of his wife. The accused were all remanded to jail for a further hearing.

George Danford was charged with having liquor in his residence, 89 St. Patrick street, for illegal purposes.

Inspector Merryfield said that with Inspectors McAnn and Kerr he went to the defendant's residence, 89 St. Patrick street, in consequence of information received, and found fifteen bottles of whiskey in the piano. He said that when being asked if he had any liquor the defendant told the inspectors to search, and search, and after some conversation the defendant said "but you won't find it." But after some persuasion the defendant went to the piano and on touching something under the keyboard the liquor out of the piano and disclosed fifteen bottles of assorted brands of liquor. When the inspectors were taking the liquor out the defendant said: "Leave us a bottle," but this could not be done and the inspector explained that he was not called for everything found to be seized so therefore the request was not granted. The case was postponed till this afternoon. L. A. Conlon appeared for the defence.

CAPT. WASSON DIES AT WHEEL

Death Comes to Well Known Citizen Suddenly While in Command of Tugboat—Had Left Home in Good Health

Death came quickly early this morning to a well-known man about the harbor front, Captain Charles Duncan Wasson, who died in the wheelhouse of the tugboat Kenton while engaged in towing scows across the harbor. He left his home at 122 Victoria street last evening in apparent good health and because of his boat having to be out early this morning slept aboard the tugboat. He died at 6 o'clock this morning he was at the wheel when he dropped and before medical aid could be of any avail was dead. Heart failure is thought to have been the cause of his death.

Captain Wasson left the wharf in Lower Cove where the Kenton had been moored all night, about ten minutes past five o'clock this morning. An hour later he was dead. Some members of the crew and men engaged on the scows which the tug was towing noticed that something was wrong in the wheelhouse and on going there found him almost lifeless. He was taken to his cabin where he died within a few minutes. The body was taken later in the morning to Chamberlain's undertaking rooms, where it will be viewed by the coroner. It is not expected there will be need for an inquest.

The news came as a severe shock to his wife and family, particularly as he had not been heard to complain of being ill at any time and appeared vigorous and healthy. He was fifty-six years of age and had lived all his life in St. John with the exception of some years spent at sea. For the last twenty years or so he had been engaged in harbor work and had been in command of different tugboats, including the Wasson, of which he had been part owner; the J. S. Gregory, and the Kenton, on which his last turn of the wheel was given. Earlier in life he had been in the coasting trade and had sailed in schooners from this port so that he was well known along the Atlantic seaboard.

Captain Wasson is survived by his wife, one son, Roy, who resides in London, and one daughter, Miss Florence, at home. He was a member of the Odd-fellows and was known and respected by a wide circle of friends, who will extend sincere sympathy to his bereaved family.

Former St. John Man Wed English Girl Last Evening—She Arrived Yesterday on Corsican

Telegraph Company, with which she formerly served in Fredericton, Halifax, Sydney and Glace Bay.

He went to the west six or seven years ago. During the war he enlisted with a western unit of engineers and going overseas met his future bride in England. She arrived here yesterday aboard the steamer Corsican and Mr. McLean was on hand to meet her. Following the wedding, supper was served at the Royal Hotel with some of the groom's relatives present. This evening he and his bride will leave for Winnipeg, where they will make their home, accompanied by good wishes from many friends.

OVERBOARD IN COLD HARBOR WATER AND NOT ABLE TO SWIM

Frank Belyea Has Trying Experience; Weighted With Heavy Clothing and Rubber Boots

Frank Belyea, a popular citizen of West St. John, had a narrow escape from drowning this morning. He is employed as engineer on the dredge Beason Bar, and was endeavoring to reach the dredge by going down over the side of the steamship Hunter to a scow when he slipped and fell into the icy waters. He was wearing a pair of rubber boots and heavy clothing and in addition to this handicap was unable to swim.

He struggled in the water for some time before his cries for help were heard by men working on the steamer. He was hauled out and assisted to the boiler room of the dredge, where he was made comfortable. Although greatly fatigued he did not appear any the worse for his trying experience.

CAPTAIN MULCAHEY TO ISSUE BUNKERING LICENSES AT ST. JOHN

Regulation For Supplying of Coal to Vessels Issued at Ottawa

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—In view of the present scarcity of coal in Canada, the Canadian trade commission has issued regulations with regard to the bunkering of boats at Canadian ports. They provide that bunkering will be governed by the available coal supply and that preference will be given in the following order: Canadian owned boats, boats flying the British flag, boats flying the United States flag, boats flying allied flags, boats flying neutral flags, boats flying other flags.

The commission states that it is desirable that as much bunkering as possible should be undertaken at Sydney, on account of the proximity of the mines.

A. L. Woods has been appointed to issue bunkering licenses at Sydney, North Sydney and Louisburg. Lieutenant A. J. Mulcahey at St. John.

Notice of his appointment was received yesterday by Captain Mulcahey. The rules regarding the bunkering included:

Bunkers may be given boats for the following movements:

1. Vessels sailing from foreign destinations to United States ports may receive bunkers at Canadian ports to take them to United States destination and return, or they may be bunkered at Canadian ports to take them to their United States destination and thence have direct to their foreign port.
2. Boats sailing from the United States to foreign destinations may be given bunkers at Canadian ports sufficient only to take them to their destination.
3. Boats sailing from Canadian ports may be bunkered with sufficient coal only to take them to destination.

THE COURT HOUSE

Commissioner Thornton this morning expressed himself as very well satisfied with the results of the meeting in the board of trade rooms last night, when the opinion was unanimously for the removal of the court house remains and a real community centre established at King street east.

Admiral of the Fleet, Viscount Jellicoe, accompanied by the members of his staff, arrived in the city on the Mon. train at 12:00 o'clock this afternoon. As he stepped from the private car Nipissing and walked through the station to the street where an automobile awaited him the hero of the North Sea was given three hearty cheers and a rousing ovation. London, Dec. 11.—Lady Beaverbrook's reason for refusing to stand in her husband's former Commons seat at Ashton-Under-Lyne, Lancashire, is that she has a young family and many public calls on her time already. The former had the great responsibility of guarding Great Britain's communications with France, a task to which they were fully equal. They were 300 miles from the base of the high sea fleet, their line was twenty-five miles in length and they were only sixty miles distant from a much superior force of German destroyers.

STOCK MARKET HAS FIRM OPENING WITH COAL STRIKE ENDED

New York, Dec. 11.—Influenced largely by the settlement of the coal strike, today's stock market opened with a firm to strong tone in all quarters of the active list. Gains among seasoned shares in the railway and industrial groups were confined to fractions, but in the more speculative issues advances of one to three points were made. Bullish enthusiasm was somewhat dampened with the first half hour, however, when foreign exchange manifested signs of greater weakness, remittances to England and Italy falling to new records.

NOON REPORT

Further severe declines in exchange, especially sterling, followed reports on the exchange floor that congress would not authorize foreign credits and nullify the favorable effect created by the outcome of the coal strike. The Mexican situation in its relation to oil properties also caused greater anxiety.

Robbers Secured $100,000 In Gems

Chicago, Dec. 11—Three robbers walked into the diamond shop of Morris Klein, 122 West Madison street, in the afternoon and stole $100,000 worth of jewels. They escaped in a red taxicab. The police believe the robbers were "amateurs."

Ben Newmark, employed in the corporation counsel's office, had stepped into the store to secure a watch which he had had repaired. Sam Greenfield, a partner in the store, waited on him in the rear; Samuel Klein, another partner, was busy. As Newmark turned to leave, three young men appeared in the front doorway.

"Back up and throw up your hands," the leader said, and behind the partition in the rear of the store they herded the owners and the customer.

"The trio rifled both diamond safes and the window, taking only the most valuable gems, together with $2,000 in cash in the cash drawer. The loot was poured into a black sack. After warning their victims to make no outcry, the robbers walked out.

Alfred Lowe, a taxicab driver, noticed the trio leave the store. He spoke to Policeman Dubach, who happened to be standing nearby.

As Newmark, Klein and Greenfield ran out of the store, shouting for help, Dubach jumped into Lowe's car and started in pursuit. Down Clark street they raced at high speed, but in the confusion they lost the taxi they were after.

Twenty-five thousand dollars insurance was carried by the Klein firm, their loss being in the neighborhood of $75,000.

MR. ELKIN'S POSITION

Member For St. John-Albert Makes Statement in View of Rumors — Not Going Into Cabinet.

Before leaving for New York last evening S. E. Elkin, M.P., was asked regarding the rumors, appearing in the Montreal papers, that he might become a member of the Union cabinet. Mr. Elkin said in reply that in going into politics on the Union side he had enlisted for the war, and while it was his intention to serve his constituents by keeping his seat in the House of Commons until the next general election his political position was now somewhat detached as regards parties, and that he certainly would not consider a proposition to join the Union cabinet.

"Furthermore," said Mr. Elkin, "my own business requires so much of my time that I am not politically ambitious, and while I will serve this constituency as I have done, to the best of my ability, until the elections come round, my present purpose is to retire from political life at that time."

St. John Workmanship Enters Largely Into Building in Moncton

Moncton, Dec. 11—St. John contractors are playing a very important and prominent part in the building construction work now going on in Moncton, Grant & Home, with Dow Bishop of Metcal street, as superintendent, are making excellent headway with a large steel and concrete building in Main street for the Lonsberry Company, Ltd.

Engineers and Contractors, Ltd., of 102 Prince Wm. street, St. John, are rapidly nearing completion of the erection of a new freight shed and express office.

The much talked of T. Eaton building has also a St. John firm among its contractors, W. A. Stepler & Co., of Mill street, are doing the miscellaneous sheet metal on this building. Their contract is the largest of its kind in the province. Under the personal direction of Mr. Stepler they have made good progress and are now nearing completion.

With all these St. John contractors in Moncton they naturally have in their employ St. John mechanics and quite a small army usually await the arrival of

Want Passage To Soviet Russia

New York, Dec. 11—Guarantee of safe passage to Soviet Russia for at least 600 Russians under arrest with a view to deportation, who will leave this country with their families of their own accord, paying their own expenses and not opposing proceedings against them, is asked by Isaac Shorr, their attorney, who says he has made this proposal to Anthony Caminetti, commissioner-general of immigration, and to Byron H. Chaseling, commissioner at Ellis Island, and intends to forward it to the state department.

Eighty Russians are being held for deportation on Ellis Island, 100 at Hartford, Connecticut, and several hundreds in other places, Mr. Shorr says, all charged with advocating anarchy. He says that few of these have any political convictions, but came to the United States in search of freedom.

HERE'S A CHANCE FOR $50,000 A YEAR MEN

London, Dec. 10—Sir Albert Stanley (who is now again controlling the underground railways of London) spoke of the difficulty of finding men who were capable of earning a salary of $50,000 a year, although he said, it was not difficult to find men for positions of $25,000 to $30,000 a year.

There were plenty of positions, added Sir Albert, that would carry salaries of $50,000 if they could only find the men who would fill the bill.

Oh Master! What A Beautiful Christmas This Has Been For Me!

IT WAS CHRISTMAS EVE. Snowflakes glittered to the ground in spectral shapes and images, changing the damp highways into sheeny surfaces of virgin whiteness.

To Beethoven's ears came the strains of his own Sonata—wistful and plaintive, then full and vibrant as the beautiful rhapsody ended in its grand finale.

Beethoven walked to the cottage from which the music sounded. A young girl was its sole occupant. The master saw that she was blind. Tears trickled down her pallid cheeks.

"If I could but hear the master to-night," she murmured.

Silently Beethoven sat down to the piano. With all the power of his inspired fingers he played his composition. He finished and turned to leave, but deep sobs arrested his steps. The eyes of the blind girl glistened like the sparkling snowflakes outside.

"The Master!" she cried. "Oh, Master! What a beautiful Christmas this has been for me."

For Christmas nothing better imparts the spirit of good cheer and happiness than the Cremonaphone. Come in to-morrow and arrange to have a Cremonaphone sent home for Christmas.

THE NEW POINT OF VIEW.

The old outworn attitude of law-makers in the past has been that property was more valuable than the individual human being. In the light of that opinion it is not surprising that laws were made to protect property and to recognize its rights as supreme. The new attitude recognizes man as more important, and while it safeguards property, it does not put it first. It is in this new attitude that the hope for future penal laws lies. Hereafter, law has punished crime, and taken no cognizance of the criminal. Hereafter, the tendency will be to punish the criminal, making the punishment fit the offender and tend towards his betterment. That does not mean that no cognizance of the crime will be taken. Both will be kept in mind, and the greatest good of the community will thus be conserved. In the march towards democracy mankind must rank higher than property.

NEW BUILDING FOR COURT HOUSE IS THEIR WISH

Meeting of Citizens Last Night in Board of Trade Rooms Expressed Favor for Tearing Down Present Shell—Plans Discussed

At a meeting last night in the board of trade rooms under the auspices of the St. John branch, Engineering Institute of Canada, more than sixty representative men expressed themselves as desirous of seeing a new structure replace the old court house. Considerable discussion arose from the presentation of a report from Messrs. Ross and McDonald, architects, of Montreal, advocating the abandonment of the shell now standing and the erection of a building to suit municipal requirements and to serve as a civil centre. Plans were attached, showing sketches of two edifices suggested, one at a cost of about $200,000, the other $1,400,000. Citizens present expressed themselves in favor of tearing down the present walls and building on the site a structure which would be creditable as a municipal centre, useful and suitable for the needs of the future. Those who spoke in favor of the abandonment of the shell at present remaining were Commissioner Thornton, F. A. Dykeman, C. M. Lingler, Dr. Jas. Manning, Mr. Patterson and R. E. Armstrong. Commissioner Bullock said he did not see the need of a court house and a city hall being in the same building. George Hatfield said that when the court house was rebuilt the site should be altered to conform to the law, as it encroaches forty feet along King street east. A. R. Crookshank spoke of private plans. John Flood advocated a plan for control of one-third of the city. G. E. Hays said if the city wished to have the whole block it should be done before any building was attempted. Further discussion was left until next Thursday night.

"You Are Under Weight, My Boy"

"YES, sir."
"Do you know what that means?"
"No, sir."
"It means that your body is not properly nourished. You are not getting the right food, or else not obtaining full benefit of the food you eat! Are you easily tired?"
"Yes, sir."
"How are you getting along at school?"
"Not very well."
"Now, I am going to send a report to your parents, so that they may know your condition, and I want you to do what I tell you, so as to regain your normal weight."
"All right, sir."
"You can never expect to get far in athletics, or school either, so long as your blood is thin for lack of proper nourishment and your nerves starved and exhausted."
"We shall go a little easy on exercise, and I have asked your parents to see that you eat plenty of plain, nourishing food. I have also suggested the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so as to enrich the blood and tone up your nervous system."
"Is that a medicine?"
"Yes, I suppose you might call it that, but it is entirely different to most medicines, because it builds up tissue instead of tearing it down. It is what is called a restorative. It sharpens the appetite, improves digestion and helps you to obtain full benefit of the food you eat. We are not much on medicines around here, but Chase's Nerve Food has helped so many under-weight boys whom I know that I never lose an opportunity to recommend it."
"I hope it helps me, for I would like to be able to do 'stunts' like the other fellows, and I don't seem to have the strength now."
"You are ready to do your part then? That is what I want to know."
"Yes, sir, I am."
"We will weigh you every week, and I am sure we shall soon have you all right."

Y.M.C.A. Man Brings Lapland Queen's Gift

Ellis Also Has 2,000,000 Rubles and Soviet Money

New York, Dec. 11.—When customs officials at Hoboken searched the baggage of W. B. Ellis, a Boston business man, on his arrival here, they found a present from the "Queen of the Laplands," a gold sword once the property of Gen. Mikhailoff, war minister under Kerensky, a golden crucifix from the ancient monastery at Nokolomir, which had been a present from the Emperor Paul in 1797, the gold was cross of St. Stanislaus and more than 2,000,000 roubles in Russian money, including a complete series of Soviet currency.

Most of the souvenirs belong to Mr. Ellis, but the money belongs to the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Ellis was controller for the American Red Cross in North Russia and when the Red Triangle was ordered to evacuate last September, he closed accounts and withdrew with the unexpended funds.

At Archangel, he said, three yachts were kept under steam in the harbor ready for the immediate departure of Russian officials should the Bolsheviks capture the city.

When the war work secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. left the sector, the Russian officials gave them the money.

THE IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFT.

Folks who have reached the eye-glass age, have been given about everything giving. Why not give them a Pair of New Glasses?

Will test your eyes at your home by appointment.

Learned of Tanlac Trough Others and Must Now Tell Of Own Benefits.

"From a weak nervous and sick woman to a well, strong and happy one is a long step but Tanlac enabled me to accomplish it in a few weeks," said Mrs. James A. Henry, a well known resident of Lingan Road, Sydney, Nova Scotia, in Turnbull's drug store recently when it was not only a pleasure but a duty to tell you how much Tanlac had done for me. The condition for which I was reading such statements from others that I was put on the right road to health.

"I contracted the influenza during the epidemic and it left me in such terrible condition I could hardly keep on my feet, and was really too run down and weak to do my housework. My stomach had never been strong, but this attack left me in such bad condition I could not eat anything without feeling so poor I did not care whether I ate at all or not. I was very nervous, too, and would roll and toss all night long and feel so tired out when I got up in the morning that I could hardly dress myself. Then my whole system seemed to give way and I lost so much weight and got so weak I thought I would have to give up entirely. My condition was really deplorable and I was much discouraged because nothing seemed to benefit me although I tried everything I could think of.

"I noticed some statements in the papers about what excellent results other people had gotten from Tanlac and I tried it, too. However, I was in such bad condition that I took the first two bottles without being able to tell that it was helping me. I was more discouraged than ever but I resolved to stick to it a while longer, and I tell you, that was the wisest decision I ever made in my life for the third bottle of Tanlac brought right hold of me and in no time was as much improved I hardly knew myself. I have taken five bottles in all and am enjoying better health than I have known in several years. My appetite is splendid and everything I eat goes to my use perfectly. Every bit of my old strength has returned. I sleep as sound as a child every night and when I awake I feel so refreshed and strong my day's work is a genuine pleasure. I feel years younger than I did.

"I think Tanlac is the finest health builder in the world and I am sure it will do for others what it has done for me. If you try it, you will give it a fair trial." Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Company and in P. B. Brown and the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. (Advt.)

ARRESTS MADE IN DANSEY CASE

Charles S. White and a Servant in His Family Locked up

Baby Boy Whose Skeleton Was Found in Clump of Scrub Pines Three Miles Away From His Home

Hammond, N. J., Dec. 11.—Charles S. White has been arrested here charged with the murder of baby "Billy" Dansey. Mrs. Edith Jones, White's housekeeper, was arrested at the same time on the charge of being an accessory after the fact. Both were arraigned before a magistrate, committed without bail and rushed secretly by automobile to the county jail at May's Landing, thirteen miles away, lest the aroused countryside do them injury.

The Dansey disappeared from his home on Oct. 8 and more than six weeks later his body, a mere skeleton, was found in a clump of scrub pines three miles from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hercules Dansey, from which he had been taken. The arrests, carried out with the utmost secrecy, were the first intimation that any one in this vicinity was suspected of the crime which had mystified the whole country and aroused so much sympathy that thousands of dollars in rewards were offered for the child's return.

From the first the name of White, a Delta farmer, 20 years old, had been mentioned in stories of the disappearance, but there had never been the faintest intimation that he was supposed to have been criminally connected with it. There was a theory that "Billy" had been kidnapped in mistake for White's own child, near his own age and his playmate.

County Prosecutor Edmund C. Gaskill, who came here from Atlantic City to take charge of the investigation into the child's disappearance and supposed murder, refused absolutely to disclose what evidence had led him to believe that he was the murderer. He said that he was not a prosecutor but a man of law. He said that he was not a prosecutor but a man of law. He said that he was not a prosecutor but a man of law.

There even arose a theory here after the body was found that it was not that of Billy, but of some other child. Those who argued thus said that the bareness of the little bones went to show that it had been there longer than the body of Billy. The search for the child became a manhunt. It now develops that the authorities have been following this theory in their investigations in the immediate neighborhood of the home of the Danseys. They still were on the trail of some former suitor of Mrs. Dansey, believed to have kidnapped the child out of revenge. This theory, died, in fact, receive attention for a time and detectives went to Pittsburgh, where Mrs. Dansey formerly lived, in connection with it.

George W. Dansey, three years old, called "Billy" by his parents, walked away from the front of his home in Hammond, N. J., where he had been at play, on Oct. 8, and nothing more was heard of him until on Nov. 21 a farmer stumbled over the skeleton of the baby in a clump of scrub pines about three miles from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hercules Dansey.

THE TORTURES OF RHEUMATISM

Happily Stopped When He Began to Take "Fruit-a-lives"

8 Ottawa St., Hull, P. Q.

"For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief and thought I would never be able to walk again. One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-lives' the great fruit medicine and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it. The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me."

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Dominion authorities have secured the old government house property at Fredericton for use of the provincial military hospital, so it was said by Premier Foster yesterday. The purchase price was $20,000.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND INSTITUTE

Besides the anniversary services of the Church of England Institute in Trinity church last evening, it was also the occasion of the dedication of a faldstool placed in the church by Mrs. C. E. L. Jarvis as a memorial to her husband, who was a warden of the church and was active in establishing the Institute. His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton conducted the dedication service. The unveiling was by Rev. D. H. Loweth. The carving is a fine piece of craftsmanship and was done by the Bromsgrove Guild at Montreal.

Constipation or Costiveness

Constipation, although generally described as a disease, can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver. There is nothing more productive of general ill health than constipation of the bowels, and a regular action is absolutely essential to general health. One of the most common, painful and troublesome troubles caused by constipation is piles, and unless the bowels are kept open by the use of a good laxative such as Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills the whole system will be poisoned and many different complications of disease arise, so Get Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills when you ask for them or send 25c and they will be sent by return of mail by The F. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A Happy Family

A happy family is one that can sit down to the table with keen appetites and good cheer. Plenty of the out-of-doors and cleanliness, inside and outside of the body, will make for health, wealth and happiness. Your doctor will tell you that anything from a headache to the most serious illness may result from allowing food to ferment in the intestines. The first thing to do in case you feel mean, logy, dull, perhaps feverish, is to flush the liver and kidneys, drink plenty of water, and take a dose of castor oil, or something better, made of May-apple, aloin and jalap, and long sold by almost every druggist as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. This may save you from a fit of sickness, remove the poisons from the system and give the tissues of the body a chance to build up and resist disease.

People are realizing more and more that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Uric acids back up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on these organs I would advise any one to get Anurie (anti-uric-acid) which is to be had nowadays for fifty cents, at almost any drug store.

TODAY'S WATCHWORD - Sickness Prevention

The guiding inspiration of modern medical science is Sickness Prevention. As this idea has worked itself out, smallpox, cholera, yellow fever and other infectious diseases already have given way. And science has finally developed an effective agent against the plague which is the originating point of over 90% of disease.

That plague is constipation, and that agent Nujol. The dangers of constipation are so widespread because by reducing the body's power of resistance through self-poisoning it makes it easier for any disease to develop. Nujol by relieving constipation prevents the absorption of the poisons which otherwise would be taken into the blood and infect the whole system.

Leading medical authorities agree that pills, salts, castor oil, etc., simply force and weaken the system. Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

JOHNSON WINS IN AMERICAN LEAGUE
BASEBALL MEETING

New York, Dec. 10.—American League baseball club owners battled for some hours today in their annual meeting, and when the session ended, President B. B. Johnson was surrounded by a new board of directors favorable to his policies. The insurgent clubs were outvoted on every proposition, but went down fighting and serving summonses which promise to carry the disputed points into court.

A resolution to elect a new president in place of Johnson was defeated five to three, and the new board of directors, consisting of Frank Navin, of Detroit; Ben Minor, of Washington; Thomas Shibe, of Philadelphia, and E. D. Ball, of St. Louis, was elected by the same vote. Navin was selected as vice-president in like manner, the Cleveland, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Washington and Detroit clubs voting in the affirmative, and the Boston, Chicago and New York clubs against. A resolution to play a schedule of 154 games in 1920 was adopted.

HOW STETCHER
PUT THE GIANT
POLE TO MAT

When Wladek Zbyszko and Joe Stetcher climbed into the ring at the 71st Armory, New York, for their catch-as-catch-can wrestling bout to a finish, advertised as being for the heavyweight championship, more than 10,000 persons taxed the capacity of the big place.

The two grapplers were inclined to be cautious at the outset, and spent many precious moments feeling each other out.

The first sign of excitement came when the western marvel jumped suddenly at Zbyszko and brought him to his knees with a head and arm hold. The Pole's strength, however, resisted further attack and he twisted into a similar grip by way of retaliation, but could hold it only for a fraction of a second before Stetcher was free and on his feet again.

Two more encounters on the canvas, in each of which Stetcher was the aggressor, resulted in his applying a real headlock for the first time, and there was an uproar as he gradually forced the bull-like neck toward the ground. But when a fall seemed likely Zbyszko slid his head, insidiously, his shoulders like a turtle, and the lock was broken.

Another flurry of energy came soon afterward, however, with Stetcher just missing an attempt to get the dreaded body scissors hold with his legs. Stetcher kept up his aggressive tactics, jamming his opponent's head on the canvas and edging round with his legs until he almost had them wrapped about the huge trunk. But the Pole was still too strong to submit to such obvious methods, and eventually slipped out again without damage.

Another onset, which produced a half nelson, had little more effect, the Pole keeping his bulk planted solidly in a sitting position, until Stetcher tired of the hold and freed him, barely keeping his toes clear as he did so.

Zbyszko pulled a clever trick by slipping through the ropes the next time he was hard pressed, staying behind the protecting barrier on the edge of the platform until Stetcher walked away toward the center of the ring. They had been wrestling nearly an hour when the American got his head lock once more, but could not apply enough pressure to make it effective.

Zbyszko retaliated almost immediately with the same hold, and for a few minutes things look bad for Stetcher. He took his punishment, and wriggled free before the danger of a fall became imminent.

Some more excitement came just at the start of the second hour of wrestling, after Referee Bothner had warned Zbyszko to be a little more gentlemanly in his manners, Stetcher had his elbow under the Pole's chin again, and forced him gradually backward with the help

Getting Too Fat? Try This—Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist (or if you prefer write to the Murnola Co., 864 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.) for a large case of Murnola Prescription Tablets. $1. is the price the world over. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and able to reduce two, three or four pounds a week without dieting or exercise.

of both legs, one pinning his right arm and the other crossing his thigh. By a superhuman effort Zbyszko freed his head and at the same time applied a toe hold to the foot that still rested across his body. There was another spell of punishment for the American before he succeeded in kicking himself loose.

The action became more general after this, and several more attempts by both contestants brought cheers from the crowd, although the outcome of the grappling was always the same. The Pole was able to break any head or body hold that his lighter opponent could apply, and he saw to it that Stetcher's powerful legs were kept well out of range.

At last Stetcher seemed to have his knees curled around the Pole's lower ribs, but Zbyszko rose to his feet, lifting his rival on his shoulders, and hurled him bodily through the air, the westerner landing like a cat on his feet. With nearly an hour and a half of wrestling completed, there were still no signs of a decision.

Then suddenly, without the slightest warning, the spectacular finish came. The mighty Pole had once more lifted his opponent high in the air and was whirling him around, trying to make him dizzy with the possibility of securing a fall by the flying route. But Stetcher was evidently doing some thinking during his involuntary merry-go-round ride, for, as he went to the floor he was on the giant's head like a cat, pinning him down with a head scissors and arm lock.

It was all done so quickly that few spectators had realized what happened. The Pole, himself dizzy from his revolutions, could offer only feeble resistance as the deadly combination of holds closed on him. His shoulders neared the canvas, and then stuck there until Referee Bothner slapped Stetcher on the back and declared him the winner.

The official time of the bout was two hours, 24 minutes, six seconds.

Little Gertrude had been very naughty and had been severely slapped, first by nurse and then by mother, with a promise of another dose from father when he came home.

She sat on the floor, her eyes full with angry tears. Suddenly she rose with a determined look upon her lit face, and set her hat.

"Where are you going?" asked her mother.

"Out to tell all the family secrets to the neighbors," said the child firmly.

MILITARY BILL

NEXT YEAR SOME $25,000,000

Canada's Re-organized Permanent Force and Active Militia

Something Will Depend on Report of Generals on Re-organization - Gratuities of British Ex-service Men

(Special to Times.)

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—In the neighborhood of $25,000,000, it is reported, will be required next year for the reorganized Canadian permanent force and the active militia at its present strength.

During the war period military expenditures have been met out of special war appropriations. Hereafter such expenses will be paid out of the departmental estimates. These are now in maintenance of the permanent force and the active militia in 1918 was in the neighborhood of $11,000,000. Expenses of the government upon the report of Major-General Sir William Otter, Sir Edward Morrison and Gwatkin and Brigadier-General McNaughton, a committee which has been preparing a plan for the reorganization of the active militia and the perpetuation of units of the expeditionary forces.

Gratuities.

The first batch of statutory declarations by British ex-service men who seek to share in the appropriation voted by parliament to supplement imperial war service gratuities will be forwarded to England by the steamship Corsican from St. John. There they will be verified. An officer is now on the way to England to organize a section of the Canadian staff there to handle the documents and have them returned as expeditiously as possible.

It is said that from six weeks to six months will elapse before gratuity payments based on any of these statements can be made. The applicant for a share of the gratuity appropriation has to make a sworn statement setting forth in detail the record of his war service, the amounts of post discharge pay, bonus or gratuity he has received and his intention to reside permanently in Canada. Forms of declaration have been prepared and printed for the use of the veterans. Attached is a declaration to be made by a soldier's wife in claiming the separation allowance portion of the gratuity appropriation. Persons entitled to share in the appropriation will receive first one-half of the amount due them and then the balance in equal monthly periods.

FARMERS HEAR HON. MR. CRERAR OUTLINE PLANS

Meeting in Woodstock Told of Platform of United Farmers—Says High Tariff Has Demoralizing Effect

Woodstock, N. B., Dec. 10.—At a public meeting this evening the platform of the United Farmers of Canada was outlined by Hon. T. A. Crerar, former minister of agriculture and president of the Grain Growers' Association of Canada; G. F. Chipman, editor and managing director of the Grand Growers' Guide of Winnipeg, and T. W. Caldwell, M. P. C. E. Smith, president of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company of New Brunswick, Ltd., was chairman, and in introducing Mr. Crerar referred to him as probably the next premier of Canada.

Mr. Caldwell made a brief speech in which he thanked the electors of his constituency for the vote they had given him.

Mr. Chipman referred to the growth of the farmers' party movement, saying that the membership now in Alberta, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan totalled about 130,000. The farmers' platform, he said, had been outlined by the Canadian Council of Agriculture and had favored public ownership of railways, aerial and water navigation and mines.

Other planks in the platform included the abolition of titles, compelling newspapers to publish full facts with regard to their ownership, the abolition of the order-in-council form of government, to be replaced by government by the legislature; direct legislation that is giving the people a voice in the government of the country when the legislature does not reflect the voice of the people; no natural resources to be alienated from the crown, but to be given on short term leases; the basing of taxation on the prices fixed on lands for sale by land owners. This was in an effort to release vast tracts of land which the speaker claimed, were held by speculators.

The speaker said that in Assiniboia the method of raising campaign funds had been to have each elector in a group of ten give $1, the proceeds then being brought to the convention by the delegates and sufficient funds had been provided. He looked to see a large delegation of farmers in the next federal house—every rural seat in western Canada, he felt certain, would elect a farmer.

Mr. Crerar received a fine reception when he arose to address the meeting. He first stated that the new national policy, which had been adopted, as the farmers' platform, was not a class policy as claimed by many. A study of the platform would show one of the most important planks in the farmers' policy was the tariff at which they were aiming for reduction in the necessities of life. Protection, Mr. Crerar said, meant the conferring of special privileges on the industries protected. It is claimed by the protectionists, Mr. Crerar said, that the high tariff aimed at the protection of industries at home, but the result has been that the manufac-

WOMAN CHIEF OF GERMAN SPIES

Madame Blonde, Organizer and Head of System in Northern France

Paris, Dec. 11.—An investigation being conducted by the first council of war here on the workings of Germany's spy system in France has disclosed, according to the newspaper Excelsior, that the organizer and head of the system in Northern France was a woman known as Madame Blonde, who appears to have been either the daughter or niece of General von Henrich, governor of Lille.

Light has been thrown on the mystery by the arrest of a man named Blanquart, alleged to have been the woman's principal agent. Under examination by Capt. Vernier, Blanquart said the woman maintained headquarters in a large chateau in the suburbs of Antwerp, where all her agents reported to her, including Blanquart. He said he could not indicate exactly the location of the chateau

Mothers Are Congratulated by Lieut. Governor Grant at Halifax

(Halifax Chronicle.)

Yesterday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. hall was crowded to capacity when Lieutenant-Governor Grant presented to six happy mothers the certificates and prizes won by their babies in the recent contest in connection with the Baby Saving and Welfare Week. The six small people who were found to be perfect and therefore averaged 100 per cent., were Emma Hilda Face and Kenneth Falkner in the three to six months old class; Francis Harris and Vernon Palmer in the six to twelve months old class, and Douglas Martin and Bernice Brakespear in the one to two year old class. The Baby Saving Week which was held by the Victorian Order of Nurses, was a distinct success and showed the interest taken by Halifax mothers in the well being and comfort of their children.

In the opening remarks made by Mrs. Dennis, it was stated that at a recent baby show held in Toronto that 150 babies were exhibited. In Halifax the number was 293 babies. Of these four were found to average 100 per cent., 220 took 90 per cent., 28 took 80 per cent., and one baby took 75 per cent. There were 144 boys and 149 girls. Of these there were 50 babies from three to six months, 88 babies from six to twelve months, and 116 babies from one to two years. The report concerning the statistics was read by Miss Luxon of the Victorian Order, and Lieutenant-Governor Grant made a few appropriate remarks congratulating the mothers of the prize babies. The certificates and prizes—which took the form of thrift stamps for the small champions—were presented and the mothers and their babies took seats on the platform.

His first Shave

HIS shaving troubles are solved for him before he commences his shaving "career," because he has had an Auto-Strop Safety Razor placed in his hands. Not only will he not cut his face, but he will have a razor that will not pull. He will have the razor that sharpens itself. Sharp blades mean smooth shaving!

This will be his morning habit: He will take from his shaving kit a little silver-plated instrument that looks like an ordinary safety razor. He will slip the strop through the razor itself, run the razor up and down the strop a few times, pull it off and the razor is then ready to shave with an edge sharpened with mechanical precision. After shaving, he will do the same thing, putting his razor away with the edge free from dampness. He takes nothing apart for stropping or cleaning. He throws no dull blades away, because he hasn't any. He finds it not only cheaper, but also easier, to strop his Auto-Strop Safety Razor, than to put a new blade in any other safety razor.

See the Auto-Strop Razor assortment at any store where razors are sold. You will find a style to suit your desire. Prices $5.00 and upwards.
