LEAVES $50,000 BEQUEST TO NURSE

Kathryn Tully Rewarded For Faithful Service

NEW JERSEY ESTATE

Manufacturer Left About $2,000,000 and a Quarter Million In Debt Among Charities - Nurse Not Surprised at Good Fortune

New York, Feb. 16.—Kathryn Tully in the family of William Runkle, a manufacturer who lived in Orange, resulted in the woman becoming a beneficiary for $50,000 in Mr. Runkle's will. Miss Runkle had been in the Runkle household for nearly twenty years.

When she was eighteen years old, she was graduated from a New York hospital as a nurse. Soon after she was called to the home of Mr. Runkle to take care of his wife during a short illness. Mrs. Runkle recovered gradually and became so attached to the young nurse that she prevailed upon her to act as housekeeper and nurse. Miss Tully made herself more and more valuable as a companion as the years passed.

Before Mrs. Runkle died some years ago Mr. Runkle was attacked by heart disease. Miss Tully then became practically a nurse for both husband and wife. When Mrs. Runkle died her relatives asked Miss Tully to remain in the household and care for Mr. Runkle. She remained in the household and now is notified that she has been named by her employer in his will.

"I'm not surprised that Mr. Runkle left me $50,000. He was always a generous man and, while he never said anything to me about his intentions and while I never had any reason to believe he would remember me in his will, I do not at all anticipate any complications over his will. He and his family always got along well and I guess they have talked over provisions of the will."

Besides the gift to Miss Tully, Mr. Runkle's will makes twelve large public bequests and nearly a score of individuals, while three large trust funds are provided for. Mr. Runkle lived at No. 349 Centre street, and his will disposes of about $2,000,000.

The largest bequest is to the Lafayette College, of Rutherford, Pa., to receive $100,000; the Presbyterian Board of Relief, $50,000; the Home Missions Board and the College Board of the Presbyterian Church, each $25,000; the American Sunday School Mission of New York, $25,000; and the Home of Orange, N. J., institutions from $10,000 to $5,000 each.

Has Boat-like Car in Which He May Cross the Atlantic Paris, Feb. 16.—M. Jansen Collier's "Hydronaut" was successfully tested over the Seine yesterday. It is a boat-like car 28 1/2 feet long and 8 1/2 feet broad. It has two motors which develop 200 horsepower. The propeller is 16 1/2 feet in diameter. The total weight of the machine, with four men aboard and sufficient petrol and oil for a trip of 1,000 miles, is four and one-half tons. Engineer Collier thinks he might cross the Atlantic in his invention but prefers to wait until 1915.

Eight Below In City; Everybody Surprised

Absence of Wind Made Cold Seem Less Intense - Weather Man Says More Snow Coming

For versatility, you will have to take your hat off to the St. John weather.

On Saturday the incoming trains were very much behind time. The Boston train, due here on Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock, did not reach the city until yesterday morning about ten o'clock, having been held up for several hours above MeAdam because of a snowplough getting off the track. Passengers waiting for arrival at stations along the line had a bitter experience, particularly at Fredericton Junction, where there were about fifteen passengers waiting to make connections. They had to sleep in the station, making their beds on benches and on the floor.

Today the Montreal train was reported running eight hours behind time, while the Boston train was about two hours. The Atlantic, due at noon yesterday, was also held up, making hard time through the snowbound district, and coming in about five hours late.

Heavy Snow on North Shore Chatham, N. B., Feb. 16.—The storm which started on Saturday afternoon raged until midnight, and about ten inches fell and drifted greatly. The roads and sidewalks were almost impassable yesterday. The Maritime Express, which had passed here on Saturday night at Fredericton, did not get through until last night, and the Fredericton Express, due here at 11:30 on Saturday night, came in at one o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was stuck for several hours in the snow drifts.

The trains were again held up today because of the drifting snow and cold along the line, particularly the C. P. R.

MAY VOTE TODAY ON PAVING BILL

Commissioner Agaz has introduced the amended paving law before the Council today. When the bill was introduced it was merely a motion to refer it to the committee on public works.

Another matter with which the council will deal is the location of poles to be put along Union street. A proposal submitted before the erection of poles along the street was rejected by Mayor Frink. The latest proposal is that the wires shall be carried along behind the other buildings and over the top of the immigration shed.

AN EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN ALONG PROHIBITION LINES

A provincial campaign of education as to the prohibition law is being conducted by the local association this morning. The association is in charge of the following resolution: "Resolved that this association puts itself on record as favoring a strong educational campaign throughout the province in favor of a provincial prohibition law rigorously enforced by the provincial government, as it would be in the best interests of temperance and such a campaign would receive our enthusiastic support."

An interesting review of the report of the land inquiry committee of the British House of Commons was submitted by Rev. J. J. McCaskill. A committee was appointed to ascertain what could be done to relieve the destitution of the large number of men who are here from other places and who are without money or employment.

MURDERER IN COLLAPSE MAY BE SENT TO DEATH WHILE STILL INCONSCIOUS

Calgary, Feb. 16.—Jasper Collis, a youth, sentenced to die tomorrow for the murder of John Benson, has for three days been in a state of coma. His physicians have been unable to restore him to consciousness and he has been kept alive by injections of liquid foods.

The police are arranging to place the condemned man in a chair over the guillotine trap, and from this position, probably without knowledge of what is being done, he will be dropped into eternity.

Worry Over Expected Cross-Examination Led To Suicide

Nothing Wrong in Accounts of New York State Treasurer, But He Was Upset By Graft Probe

(Canadian Press)

New York, Feb. 16.—In addition to the proposed legislative investigation into the office of the state treasurer, left vacant yesterday by the suicide of John J. Kennedy, state treasurer, District Attorney Whitman was prepared to investigate into political graft, before which Kennedy was to have been a witness.

There were two matters, generally speaking, concerning which Mr. Whitman was anxious to question Kennedy. One was the action of the state canal board, of which Kennedy was a member. The other concerned details of the positions of state funds in banking institutions bonded by a company with which Kennedy had formerly been connected.

Witnesses at the John Doe inquiry, as planned today, were to be contractors alleged to have been "sand bagged" in Kennedy's handling of the state canal campaign fund.

Mr. Whitman repeated today that he was greatly shocked at Kennedy's death, and added that there was no evidence of criminal wrongdoing on Kennedy's part.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 16.—A complete investigation of the affairs of the former State Treasurer will be demanded by his friends and relatives here. Confidence is expressed that such an inquiry will disclose that the affairs of the state treasurer's office have been correctly administered.

George McAvity, representing T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd., called upon Mayor Frink this morning and advised him that the negotiations for concessions in connection with the erection of their new works at the Marsh road would be delayed by the departure from the city of A. P. Bamhill, K. C., their solicitor, but that W. A. Ewing, K. C., would look after the matter in the interim.

Joseph Kane was arrested on Saturday night for being drunk and using profane language. He was fined $8 or two months in jail for each offense.

Samuel Alberts, given in charge by his wife on a charge of beating her in their home in Pond street, pleaded guilty. His wife told the magistrate that her husband had always been good to her, but that he was drunk when he beat her. Alberts was fined $20 or two months in jail, but this was allowed to stand against him as his wife asked that he be allowed to go.

A Dane arrested a few days ago on a charge of drunkenness was again remanded and an order was made that the doctor should see him again to attend to frost bites which he received on the night of his arrest.

Joseph Sommers, arrested last week on a charge of vagrancy, was given his liberty as he had expressed a wish that he should be sent to jail for about six weeks. He is a native of Newfoundland.

THREW SICK MAN ACROSS AREAWAY

Nervy Rescue of Pneumonia Patient on Fifth Story

BUILDING WAS AFIRE

Burly Policeman Tosses Frank Watson, Wife and Child From Window to Arms of Two Other Policemen on Roof Six Feet Away

New York, Feb. 16.—To rescue from fire an invalid suffering with pneumonia in a five-story apartment house in Lenox avenue, one policeman tossed the patient in blankets across a six foot areaway to the roof of the next building, where he was caught by two other policemen. His wife and child were rescued in the same thrilling manner.

Some one for whom the police are looking dropped a lighted match into a letter box in the vestibule of the building and started the fire.

Running through the building the policeman hurried the many families out, most of the tenants stopping only to throw blankets or coats over their night clothes before running out into the cold. They believed all had escaped, and were standing in the vestibule awaiting the firemen when they heard a woman's cries up in the building.

Ascending the stairway through the black smoke they found Frank Watson, fifty years old, in bed in his apartment on the fifth floor, ill with pneumonia, and his wife and their daughter Gladys, six years old. The smoke then was so dense that it would have been dangerous to have carried Mr. Watson down the stairway. They found a rear window which looked out upon the roof of the house at No. 101 West 113th street. An areaway six feet wide separated the two buildings. Policemen Sullivan and Friedlander leaped across this and down to the roof.

Then Burwell, a powerful fellow, tossed Mr. Watson out of the window and, across the chasm, he was caught safely by the two other policemen, who stood on the coping. Then Mrs. Watson was thrown across in a similar manner and then Gladys.

The three were carried down stairs to the apartments of Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Watson's physician was called. He said that his patient had suffered severely from the shock and that his condition was critical.

Agnes Widow Severs, a widow, seventy-eight years old, who had been ill with the grip in her home, on No. 101 West 113th street, died last night. She had been taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, where it was said she probably would die, as she had inhaled the flames.

Mrs. Nellie McGinnis, wife of her husband, James, was slightly burned. The house caught fire, but the flames soon were extinguished by firemen.

Three Charges Against Fish Gets Into Trouble Trying to Take Drunken Friend Home Benjamin Fish was arrested between five and six o'clock on Saturday evening by Policeman McNamee and charged with being drunk, using profane and obscene language. He pleaded not guilty.

Policeman McNamee said he saw Fish and another man in Waterloo street. He did not know the other man but said he was very drunk and that Fish was trying to take him home but could not make much headway as he was also drunk and was staggering over the street with his friend. The policeman said he went up to Fish but the latter said not to touch his friend as he was taking him home. McNamee said that the other man was too drunk to make any trouble but that Fish was creating a great deal of disturbance and using vile language so he was placed under arrest while the other man was taken home. While being taken to the central station the policeman called the policeman names, kicked and kept calling "murderer."

Fish asked several questions concerning his arrest and tried to show that McNamee had ill-used him but the policeman explained to the satisfaction of the court that he had only struck him when his language became too vile to be heard by the passer-by.

Fish also asked to know why he had been taken from the cell he was first lodged in and put in a cold part of the building but he was told that it was because the other prisoners complained of the disturbance he was making in the jail.

"Where did this man get his liquor?" the magistrate asked of McNamee. Before the policeman had time to answer, the prisoner, who was then sitting on a bench, jumped up and said "I know where I got my liquor. I bought and paid for it."

THIEVES AT WORK; BREAKS MADE IN THREE CHURCHES

In addition to thieves having been at work in St. Matthew's church, Douglas avenue, yesterday, and robbing the collection box of about $20, either the same or others pursued similar endeavors in St. Paul's Episcopal and in the Fairville Baptist.

In the church in the valley the robbery took place between midnight and one o'clock yesterday and amounted to about $20. The money was kept in a box the thief mistook and so far as is known nothing was taken. Another door also was broken open.

In Fairville Baptist church an axe was used to break in the door and the thief obtained the collection box. The thief mistook the collection box for a safe and so far as is known nothing was taken. Another door also was broken open.

William H. Kennedy, a son, last night investigated the accounts of his father's accounts as state treasurer.

No explanation of the suicide has been forthcoming today other than that Mr. Kennedy took his life while temporarily deranged, and that the derangement was caused by brooding over the impending ordeal of cross-examination.

Mr. Whitman repeated today that he was greatly shocked at Kennedy's death, and added that there was no evidence of criminal wrongdoing on Kennedy's part.

THE COOK-STOVE BLOWS UP

Several Cases, Serious Too, in Recent Cold Snap

(Moncton Transcript.)

An explosion occurred this morning at the residence of Manly Renton, L. C. H., locomotive engineer, Dominion street. A frozen "water-front" was responsible for the trouble. The family was in the kitchen when suddenly the big steel range exploded, fragments of iron and steel flying in all directions. Mrs. Renton, who was nearest the stove, received the full force of the explosion and was quite painfully injured, having her head cut by a piece of flying steel and sustaining some slight burns. Mr. Renton, who had been sitting on a chair, had risen to his feet and was standing up when the smash occurred. A piece of iron was driven through the chair on which he had been sitting a minute before!

John H. Wilson, of The Transcript staff, was quite seriously injured, this morning, by an explosion of a frozen water pipe in the kitchen stove. He had lit the fire, as usual, and before leaving for the office, went into the kitchen to see that everything was all right. He scarcely entered the kitchen, when the whole front of the stove blew out, several of the pieces struck him over the two eyes and also on his arm. He temporarily lost the sight of one eye and the other is slightly affected, and his right arm is badly burned for about five inches, and he was otherwise scorched. The burning ashes thrown out of the stove set fire to some of the furnishings of the kitchen. His hat was blown off his head.

Yarmouth Has One. Yarmouth, N. S., Feb. 15.—A terrific explosion occurred at the residence of Mrs. James Merrill, in Cliff street, when the cooking range in the kitchen was completely blown to pieces. The water during the night had frozen, and when the fire was kindled an explosion occurred. Besides shattering the range, one of the kitchen windows was demolished, the chimney destroyed, a piece of the stove was blown through the ceiling, the panels of a door smashed, shelves were knocked from the walls and the interior of the kitchen was almost completely wrecked. Luckily none of the people were injured, although they were somewhat affected by the shock. So badly was the range shattered that the remains were gathered up in a barrel and hauled away.

TRYING TO BEAT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Great crush to buy the "Housewives' League" bargains in Toronto. This is an organization of women who buy produce direct from the producer and sell it direct to the consumer, thereby cutting out the middleman and his profit. At the first sale by the league there was a small riot, and several women retired with torn clothing and other damages. At all subsequent sales the police have been in charge, and order maintained. The prices obtained are less than the current retail prices, but a very small portion of the crowd which wants to lay can be served.

REPORTER CLAIMS PRIVILEGE. Declines To Give Evidence in Matter Told Him In Confidence. Detroit, Feb. 15.—What may result in a court ruling that will affect newspaper men throughout the country received its initial impetus here in the Court of Domestic Relations, when Louis Goodnow, a reporter, refused to give testimony on the ground of privilege.

Mr. Goodnow was called to testify in a divorce action. A year ago he interviewed both husband and wife in connection with a domestic happening and both gave him information under his promise of confidence. Goodnow told Judge Lacy that he believed a newspaperman was in the class of privileged persons, that includes doctors, lawyers and priests, whose profession requires the seal of silence. By testifying he held that he would violate a confidence that would not have been given except for his profession.

Judge Lacy declared he would give him seven days to show his authority for his stand and to prepare arguments. If a proper showing could be made the judge intimated that he would uphold a precedent that will go far to protect the newspapermen in the future from being forced by the courts to disclose information received in confidence.

WITH FENCE OF SKIIS HELD OFF THE WOLVES. Exciting Experience of a Party in the Carpathian Mountains. Vienna, Feb. 15.—A ski party from Lemberg was held up by wolves in the Carpathian mountains Friday night. Their route lay through a forest, and darkness overtook them before they reached their destination. The wolves followed them at a distance during the afternoon, and emboldened by the darkness, endeavored to rush the last man in the party. The skiing party decided that it would not be safe to go any farther, and halted beneath a high rock. Then they made a fence by sticking their skiis into the snow. The party had revolvers and electric lamps, and were able to defend themselves against the attacks of the wolves, killing several of them. When daylight came the party escaped.

CHURCHES NEED ROUSING. Says Congregations are Radiant Only When Sermons End.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—Novel and entertaining features to brighten the customary formal church services are needed to interest the modern congregation, said Rev. John McNeill, of Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Toronto, here before the Midwinter International Bible Conference.

"Most church congregations of today," said Dr. McNeill, "are comprised of people who need awakening from the dead. The only time during a sermon when a person's face is at all radiant is when the sermon ends."

Daily Hints For the Cook

Boston Cookies.

Cream one cup of butter, add 11-2 cups sugar, three beaten eggs, half cup of seeded raisins, half cup of currants and one cup chopped English walnuts. Now add four tablespoons hot water in which one teaspoon of soda has been dissolved, add 3-1-4 cups sifted flour and one teaspoon of cinnamon. Drop from spoon on buttered tins and bake. Be careful not to make the cookies too large.

Peach Cups.

Put 1 pint flour into a bowl, rub into it 2 ounces butter, add half teaspoon salt and one heaping teaspoon baking powder; mix and add sufficient milk to make a moist dough; knead lightly and quickly roll out into a sheet half inch thick. Cut into biscuits about the size of the top of the cups to be used. Put a half of a preserved or canned peach in the bottom of the cup, on top of that one teaspoon some kind of jelly, then on top of this stand your little biscuit of dough. Place these cups in a steamer and steam for fifteen minutes, then run them into a quick oven for about five minutes to glaze. Serve hot in the cups with hard sauce.

- FACT HUNGER - As children, our first demand is for nourishment; our second for facts. All through life we go about searching for information. We make a new acquaintance; but before we will accept him as a friend or invite him to our home we ask for facts about him. We visit a foreign land; and from the moment we step across its border we are asking questions—searching for facts. We are asked to try a new food product; isn't it instinctive with us to ask at once: "Who makes this new article?" "How is it made? what goes into it?" "Is it worth the price charged for it?" Facts—we are simply hungry for them. Strange, isn't it, that we should so often have to search for them? Odd, that some manufacturers still withhold the facts about their product. Not always because they are facts to be ashamed of—for there are many worthy articles yet unadvertised. But it will not be so much longer. The fact-hunger of the human race is becoming keener and keener. The more facts we get, the keener our relish for more of them. Soon it will be impossible to sell a man or a woman anything until everything has been told about the goods that can be told through Advertising. The public has discovered that Advertising tells much-needed facts—that, in fact, Advertising satisfies fact-hunger. If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problem with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

The Beautiful Architecture and Impressive Surroundings of the Vatican—A Pen Picture of Pope Pius

(G. Valentine-Williams in London Daily Mail.)

I think I have been in almost every one of the palaces of Europe—and I had to wear evening clothes in the day-time on different occasions in various countries, but I never felt less ill at ease in the circumstances than at the Vatican, so overwhelmingly impressive is the prevailing atmosphere.

The windows of the antechamber, hung with a kind of white gauze curtains which bring out the colors of the room extremely well, command a wonderful view of Rome lying in the brilliant sunlight far beneath. The further door of the apartment reveals a long vista of rooms opening one out of the other to the antechamber immediately adjoining the Pope's apartments, where a brilliantly clad group of persons is in constant movement. There are the two members of the Guard of Nobles on duty—tall, splendid-looking men in blue uniforms, with very long swords and helmets with lofty crests, and a couple of prelates in violet cassocks; a private chamberlain in gold-braided diplomatic uniform with a cocked hat under his arm.

Presently there is a stir. An usher walking backwards appears, and a cardinal, his scarlet train rustling stiffly behind him, glides through the rooms. As he passes out into the Clementine Hall there is a distant rattle as the Swiss Guard lines up at the salute.

The bells of Rome were sounding the Angelus when we were summoned to the audience of the Pope. In the antechamber, where the Noble Guards and chamberlains were standing, the suite of rooms turns off at right angles to the right. There is a small three room, a couple of salons hung in red, where I noticed particularly some very beautiful old clocks, and then I found myself in a small apartment opening on to a long gallery ornamented by busts of the Popes, which is, I believe, the Pope's private library.

Such a Pius X. appeared in the doorway, clad all in white in a cassock of white serge, with a short cape, broad cuffs of white waist-sleeves and a little white skull-cap. Round his neck was a gold chain supporting the pectoral cross, and on his right hand was a large and antique ring. It was an apparition of pale, with the dead-white paleness of paper, and the hair protruding from beneath his small white cap is white as ashes, not grey. He wears very slowly with little steps, and his gait is that of a little child. But his manner is not the manner of an old man. It is the manner of one in full health. When he pronounced the words of benediction and afterwards made a little speech of encouragement to a couple of women teachers in charge of some orphan, his voice, though low, was firm and resonant.

He turned to give the blessing the sunshine poured in through the high window threw his face in shadow so as to hide from me the color of his eyes, but not the expression of great gentleness which rests on his pale, frail face like moonlight on the mountains. The benediction spoken, the teachers set off to the seventh heaven of religious fervor by the gracious words he had spoken for them and their work. Pius X. turned once more and with his gentle gaze surveyed a lowly disappeared down the adjacent gallery, a frail white figure in a framework of purple and scarlet and gold.

PROUD THEY WERE PRINTERS

Noted American Who Began Life as Apprentice at the Case

The story of George Winthrop Fairchild and other eminent members of congress who are proud of having been printers in youth will be read with interest by every printer in the country," remarked Cassidy Cook.

"It was told in the interview that however distinguished a man may become in war, journalism, politics or business, he is ever proud of his record at the case. Your friend from Otago who overlooked a few other distinguished Americans who began as printers, and never failed to put the fact in the first line of official biographies. Indeed, the distinct prominence of the word 'printer' in some of his biographies has been most noted. Look up the life story of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, as given by the late Daniel to congress before the Civil War, and you find his name, date, and place of birth and then the one word 'printer' followed by a semicolon. The fine old warrior never failed to get that one word at the beginning of the biography even after he had achieved fame on the field of battle and high military rank. He is now 88 years old and remarkably vigorous. We also recall that Amos Cummings, noted as editor and congressman, took pains to put the printer part of his history at the top of his contribution to the Congressional Directory. Every schoolboy recalls that Benjamin Franklin was a printer before he became a statesman and foreign minister. We remember Joel Heatwole, a member of congress from Minnesota only a few years back, and he was temerous about having the word 'printer' follow his name in the official book. Heatwole was powerful in Copler politics as state chairman and achieved a reputation beyond state lines. It comes to mind that John A. Bingham, who served sixteen years in congress from Ohio and a dozen years in Japan as minister, left off his biography throughout his congressional career by telling that he served two years as an apprentice in a printing office—Washington Post.

"There had, 'tis a bonnie lass you've married, and I wish you both joy," said the old minister, as he gazed at the beaming faces of the young couple he had just married.

"You're getting to the end of all your troubles now," he added encouragingly to the bridegroom.

Time went on, as time will, and a few months later the old minister met the young fellow who had started matrimony with such a smiling face.

"You look pretty miserable, my friend," said he.

"Well, I might," came the sulky answer. "I thought you told me in the church as 'ow I'd got to the end of all my troubles."

"Ah, so I did, lad," said the minister, with a glimmer in his eye, "but I didn't say which end!"

Glasses That Give Satisfaction

You cannot get a satisfactory pair of glasses by just buying two lenses and a metal frame.

You must have skilled service first. The refractive errors of your eyes must be measured accurately. From these measurements the optometrist figures out formulae by which your lenses are ground.

The grinding of the lenses, the selection of the proper mounting to meet your individual needs, and the final adjustment of the glasses on your face, are all operations requiring highly specialized skill.

But for these operations to be of value to you, they must be based on a careful examination of the eyes such as we make. This is the keynote to satisfactory glasses.

PASTOR'S TRIBUTE TO THE LATE S. S. HALL

In St. John's (Stone) church yesterday morning Rev. G. A. Kuhring, in the course of his sermon, made reference to the late Stephen S. Hall. After recalling many incidents in connection with the life of Mr. Hall following his fine character and Christian life, Rev. Mr. Kuhring said: "Mr. Hall was generous to a fault. He never gave because his name was to be on the list, but because I remember that almost the last day I saw him, for the first time mentioned to me that his giving was not limited to what appeared on our books. This he did, not to vindicate himself, but because he thought that perhaps I might grieve that my teaching had not had due effect, and he wished to save me any regret. He loved the word of God. For nine years he occupied every Monday the same seat in the Bible class. No inclement weather, but only serious illness, ever prevented his presence. He left behind him an example of reverence for the house of God. He had no sympathy with the idea that men should use the Lord's day alone for search after rest and fresh air for the body. The soul, and its relation to its Maker, were to him far more important. His bowed head in the house of God was like a benediction, and having chosen the better part God granted to him, with it, the length of days. He was with all these virtues a peace-maker. Never once have I heard him speak disparagingly of anyone, and from no one have I received more real loyalty—my loss is irreparable. I am sure our prayer this morning is that God may raise up many men like him, who through faith and patience inherited the promises. The large course of men who assembled in this church last Monday bear witness to the esteem in which he was held, and I could not help thinking, as we sang one of his favorite hymns, how fully it described his simple, yet strong, faith."

agament of the ranges; shortage in corn and forage crop in several states in 1913, causing farmers to sell their stock; increased value of land and cost of labor; poor marketing facilities in the east and south; temptation to sell live stock at prevailing high prices; and enormous losses from hog cholera.

SYNOPSIS

John Burckett Ryder is a master of finance with a boundless desire for wealth. No mean avarice, but a love of the power to be gained through riches; a dominating will and unscrupulous soul. Previous to the opening of the story Ryder has compassed the financial ruin and professional disgrace of Judge Rossmore, of the Supreme Court, to avenge himself for certain adverse decisions which the Judge has rendered against the Corporation. Shirley Rossmore, the Judge's daughter and young Jefferson Ryder returning from Europe on the same boat, have met and register a pretty story interest in each other, being at the time entirely ignorant of the friction now existing between their respected fathers.

NEW METROPOLE ON THE OLD SITE

Word Comes From Salvation Army Headquarters—Officers Coming to Launch Campaign

Adjutant Cummins of the Salvation Army received a communication this morning from the Canadian headquarters of the army in Toronto saying that it had been decided to rebuild the Metropole on the same site if sufficient money can be raised in St. John for this scheme.

In speaking to the Times this morning the adjutant said he had been requested to submit plans for the new building showing what space would be needed for various branches of the work. He said that the new building would probably extend from Prince William street to Water street, but he did not know what other plans would be made or what the cost of the new building would be.

Colonel Turner, Major Moore and Adjutant Gilbert will arrive in the city on Thursday or Friday to perfect plans for the campaign to raise sufficient funds for the new Metropole.

The site on which the Metropole will be built is owned by the Salvation Army but there is a mortgage of $8,500 on the property. Until the new building is completed in Prince William street, the Queen Hall in Queen street will be used as a temporary shelter for the men. It is expected that all the equipment for the place will be in the city tomorrow. Part of the bedding has been received from the Toronto headquarters and the rest is due here. If everything runs along smoothly, Adjutant Cummins hopes to have the hall opened by Wednesday night.

SECOND FALL IN WEEK; THIS TIME WRIST BROKEN

Joseph McHugh Hurt at Courtenay Bay—Few Days Ago Plunged Into Sea

For the second time within a week, Joseph McHugh, an employe of Norton Griffiths & Co., at Courtenay Bay, fell from the trestle work on one of the spurs to the new breakwater and is now in the General Public Hospital with a broken wrist.

McHugh, who is about twenty years of age, was employed on a pile driver, which is doing work on some trestle near the base of the breakwater. On last Thursday, when the tide was nearly high and the temperature between ten and twenty degrees below zero, his foot slipped and he was given a cold plunge into the icy water. He swam to shore and was pulled out by some of his fellow employes. When he arrived at his brother's home, a few hundred yards from the works, he was encased in a suit of ice, but after changing to a dry suit, felt no ill effects and was able to resume work.

Yesterday morning he again developed descending pneumonia, but this time the tide was out and a young man, losing his foot hold on the pile driver fell about thirty feet to the sand and rocks. Had he not struck a projecting plank he might have suffered more serious injuries, but he came through with a simple fracture of the right wrist. He was able to walk to his brother's residence and Dr. Murray MacLaren was summoned and the young man was taken to the hospital.

PYTHIANS' WEEK

Big Time By Knights In Many Places

An Attractive Anniversary Celebration is Arranged For the Local Members of the Order—St. John First in Empire to Have Lodge City

The present week in St. John will be memorable one in the history of the Knights of Pythias order. In fact across this broad continent the 18th and 19th will witness celebrations of the order's jubilee in hundreds of cities, thousands of towns and numerous little places. Much money is being spent in preparation for this event and programmes of unusual elaborateness have been arranged. The great central celebration, at which all the exalted officials of Pythianism will be present, will take place in the capital city of Washington, D. C., and festivities almost as extensive will be held in the major cities of the United States and Canada. Dr. F. A. Godsoe of St. John, who occupies the important position of Supreme Master at Arms, left Saturday evening for Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Godsoe.

The city of St. John occupies a singularly conspicuous position in the Pythian order in the fact that it was here the pioneer lodge of the British Empire was instituted, New Brunswick Lodge, No. 1, John Beamish, endeavoredly referred to as "Uncle John" by local knights, organized this lodge by taking it up to patrons of his barber shop nearly two score years ago. The three sturdy lodges with a membership of more than 700, not to mention uniform rank and Dramatic Order Knights of Kluksawan, are a handsome tribute to the fortitude, foresight and perseverance of this little old gentleman of the Valley district, who will be so much in evidence at the great gatherings on Wednesday and Thursday.

The plans for St. John's celebration of the fiftieth anniversary are completed and neither trouble nor expense is being withheld to make the event a memorable one. Because of the large number of knights in the city and provinces cards have been issued to members of the order only, and also to Pythian's lady friends (one knight, one lady) for the social gatherings.

Keith's suite, Carleton street, and the auditorium up stairs have been engaged for the two days' affairs and are being prettily decorated and renovated. On Wednesday evening the knights and ladies will assemble in the auditorium and listen to an excellent concert in which Mrs. L. M. Curran, Miss Blenda Thomson, Messrs. Pidgeon, McKean, Smith, Mrs. J. M. Barnes and others will participate. The Imperial Theatre people will present some curtain novelties and Jones' orchestra will play. The affair being of a purely private nature, guests will have the freedom of about twelve dances. It will be a gay and festive night and a large committee of knights will be on hand to attend to the details. A specially good feature will be a continuation of the spangly entertainment for those who do not dance.

Thursday evening's affairs will be exemplified upon a class of fifty-eight citizens. A specially selected team of stunts will "illuminate the way into the mysteries of this first stage of the chivalric order and it is expected numerous Pythians from outside of town will be present. After the initiation ceremonies the knights will illumine to an assembly of the knights and partake of refreshments; then pipes and cigars and a mixed programme of vaudeville and pictures.

Next Sunday in St. David's Presbyterian church, Rev. Ralph Houghton, a Pythian who is pastor of the Congregational church here, will address the knights on "Fifty Years of Pythianism." Special music will be a feature of the divine service.

TEN BELOW THIS MORNING IN MANAWAGONISH ROAD

Fairville Merchants Hoping For Bright Spring After a Dull Winter—Good Sleighting Enjoyed

The thermometer registered ten below in Main street this morning and outlying sections report several degrees lower still. As there was no wind during the night, few realized the cold to be as severe as it was.

The Fairville street car service was kept open and operated very creditably considering the wild storm of Saturday. Business conditions generally are quite depressed here this winter, but many merchants are hoping for a good spring to help make up. Owing to the sawmill trouble during the summer, many men were idle for several months and it was expected the winter port would make up for this at least in part, as in former years good wages have been earned. But since Christmas the winter port business has fallen short materially and most of the working men in this section are just about making ends meet and those dependent upon a trade such as carpenters, masons, etc., report nothing doing.

There is promise, however, of building operations early in May on Fairville Plateau, and other section lands; the new bridge service should be inaugurated before next winter and that should bring in many permanent residents who prefer a suburban home with nearby city connections. Police reports indicate very quiet times in the village of late, and the representative of law and order is rarely called upon to make an arrest. A few disorderly spirits who were wont to rendezvous near the Suspension Bridge on Sundays were given a little extra police attention and apparently they have taken the hint and dispersed voluntarily. Those in a position to know say that very little if indeed any liquor is being sold here now. The snow fall of Saturday made the sleighing and many city people availed themselves of the opportunity for a spin the Manawagonish Road on Sunday afternoon. Now that the street car service has invaded the Marsh Road, this section is becoming more popular for sleigh parties.

Custom Tailoring for Critical Men

THE NEW FABRICS FOR SPRING deserve the strongest sort of talk—and yet five minutes spent among the cloths will tell more than a whole page advertisement.

First-hand selections nearly a year ago is the real reason for the choice stock. If we had to choose late (as many merchant tailors must) it would be another story.

Choosing choice cloths isn't everything—not by a great deal. Many a tailor has gloated over his exquisite taste and judgement in the selection of fabrics and lost sight of the end far more important. If clothes don't fit, where's the satisfaction! The right sort of cutters and tailors must be intimately associated with the cloths, or good-bye to right results and the hope of increasing business.
