CALLS ON IRISHMEN TO STAND TOGETHER

Winston Churchill At Banquet To Redmond

GOAL NEARLY WON

Asks Irish M. P.'s for United Support for Government in Plan to Carry Home Rule Bill Into Law—Mr. Redmond Sees Day of Misunderstanding at End

London, March 2.—Winston Churchill, presiding at a dinner of the Eighty Club, last night in honor of John Redmond, referred to Ireland's long struggle for home rule and said that Mr. Redmond and the Liberal party, after this long pilgrimage had reached the threshold of success. It was the highest importance that all Irishmen who had fought for the home rule cause should stand together. It would be an embarrassment and a source of perplexity to many of those whose good will and support might be won throughout the length and breadth of England if there appeared to be, among ardent home rule friends, which to outsiders might appear to be easily removed. "We hope that at this supreme moment in the fortunes of the Irish and British peoples," said Mr. Churchill, "that Ireland will speak with a united voice and that the government will not hesitate to make to carry the home rule bill into law."

In the police court this morning Frederick Russell, aged twenty, charged with following and accosting a young woman in Clarence street, last night, pleaded guilty, but was allowed to go on promising not to repeat the offence. The complainant stated that on several occasions the prisoner had stepped up and spoken to her in the street.

WESTERN FARMERS MAY FORM PARTY

Calgary, Alb., March 2.—That the farmers of the western provinces are serious in considering the advisability of an effort to have Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta separated from the Canadian Federation and form an independent entity is the purport of a story in the Calgary News-Telegram.

It is the allegation of the Calgary paper that the matter was discussed at a meeting of the United Farmers held on Thursday. Farmers, however, take the matter smilingly and not seriously. It is not improbable that the farmers will take up politics for their own protection and organize a third great party, which, on account of the farmers' strength, would simply eliminate the Liberal and Conservative parties in the prairie provinces, says the Calgary paper.

Winston Churchill was or was not severely handled by the anti-home rule in Belfast, where he went to deliver the government's policy on home rule in Ireland. MRS. PANKHURST TO GO TO PRISON

Suffragettes Sentenced in London For Last Night's Destruction—Time For Leniency Has Passed, Says Prosecutor

London, March 2.—While the small crowd in the court room cheered Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Mrs. Tuke and Mrs. Marshall, the three leaders of last evening's window-smashing campaign, by which the suffragettes almost succeeded in terrorizing the London tradesmen, were sentenced this morning each to two months' imprisonment. They were the first three of the 124 women who were arrested in the street demonstrations and who are to be arraigned at the Bow street police court, chiefly on charges of causing willful damage to stores in Bond street, Piccadilly, Regent street, Oxford street, Haymarket and the Strand, as well as other busy shopping streets. The attorney for the prosecution announced that the total damage was estimated at $25,000, and on behalf of the government said that the time has now arrived when the consideration of leniency in connection with suffragette raiding could no longer be allowed. On the delivery of the sentence by the magistrate, Mrs. Pankhurst said she intended to go further when she came out of prison, and that the suffragettes were prepared to go to the fullest limit to show the government that women were going to secure the vote. Sentences ranging from a fortnight to two months were pronounced on several of the prisoners, but most of the women were committed for trial at the London sessions as the damage committed by each of them exceeded $25. About thirty cases were dealt with today.

ADVERTISE THE CITY MORE

C. F. Crandall of Montreal Herald, Here, Speaks of St. John Coming Into its Own

That St. John was rapidly taking its place as a center of importance and future development was the opinion expressed today by a former citizen, Charles F. Crandall, managing editor of the Montreal Herald, who arrived on today's Atlantic express. People in Montreal, he said, were becoming more interested in this city, and while they expressed doubt at first concerning the outlook at this point, their belief was now becoming stronger and their interest much keener in the future of St. John.

Unknown to people in this city, he said, there had come from the Canadian metropolitan representatives of prominent firms there willing to invest in a desirable locality, and they had reported most favorably upon the state of affairs and what the future holds for St. John. Many St. John men had gone to Montreal and been well received, but he thought before they were to be more generally advertised in other places.

"Advertise the city elsewhere, and the real estate men, planners of industry and others willing to invest in a desirable locality, will take more notice. The Herald sent a man to St. John a few days ago and he will be filled out for sailing. We propose to send more men here and to issue a St. John edition of the paper, because we believe it is coming into its own, and that the city will be advancing rapidly in every respect."

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 2, 1912. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 2 and 2 1/2 University Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

EDWARD BLAKE A great Canadian has passed his rest. The Hon. Edward Blake is hardly known to the younger generation of Canadians, since he retired from public life in this country more than twenty years ago; but there was a time when few names were more familiar in our public life. Mr. Blake was a man of remarkable mental ability, and one of the ablest lawyers Canada has produced. His political career in Canada was less successful than that of some of his great contemporaries, although, he was almost continuously in public life from the time of confederation until 1890. He lacked some of the essential gifts of successful leadership, although he enjoyed the confidence and respect of all parties. Leaving Canada he entered the British parliament, where for fifteen years, as the member for Longford, Ireland, he rendered the empire good service. His health having broken down, he returned to Canada and now, after he had suffered an illness of several years, his great career is ended. In the fullness of his powers Mr. Blake was a public speaker of the first rank, not so much in point of eloquence as in the ability to marshal facts and present arguments in a clear and forcible manner. A man of the highest personal integrity, he marks the title of a great Canadian.

IN SOUTH AMERICA Peru Today is the title of an attractive monthly magazine that has come from far away Lima to the Times office. That South American republic is apparently on the eve of great development, and it is interesting to note that the teaching of the English language is obligatory in all the national schools. We in Canada are endeavoring to make better provision for children's play in our cities, but in this respect we are not in advance of Peru, where play is promoted in the schools as an essential part of the education of the boys and girls. This magazine contains an illustrated article by the inspector of schools in Lima and Callao, which tells of practical instruction given in gymnastics and athletic games.

FIGHTING IN MEXICO Mexico City, March 1.—Forty Yaquiites were killed and sixty wounded today in a battle with the government troops near Jimaco. Federal and rural guards today recaptured San Juan Guadalupe. Cuernavaca, Mexico, March 1.—A body of federal troops under Colonel Santibanez today killed 20 Zapatistas in a fight at Tetala. The federals had 9 casualties. The ice was broken, and three minutes later George was Jennie's accepted.

INDIVIDUAL FASHIONS. It is almost unconsciously that one notices that the shop windows which model our cities so spectacular and delightful are showing prophetic visions of what we are to be within ever so short a time. A gaily colored hat of soft olive and old gold holds us fascinated. We long for the will power to walk on, but it lingers in our memory. How often has the woman of courage admitted that she could have passed by bravely any other hat, but the peculiar fascination and need of that one and held her fast! Yet why, should she hesitate when she sees what suits her taste and individual style? The woman who would be well dressed must consider seriously colors that blend with her hair, her eyes, and her general appearance; for the girl and woman of golden coloring brown and the soft shades of green are never failing delights, while silver gray and olives cannot help but tempt the fortunate possessor of gray hair—Harper's Bazar.

CHANSOINETTE The joys that we have missed— The broken trust, The friend we never knew, The happy and life unstrung, The song unsung, A little toast to you! The joys that we have missed— The lips unloved, The dreams that never came true, The home-bound ships that sleep In havens deep— A little toast to you! The joys that we have missed— Life's unground grief, Hopes unfulfilled— few! The days and nights unremembered, The love unremembered— A little toast to you! —Clarence Army, in Harper's Bazar.

THE BROOKSIDE (By Richard Monckton Milnes.) I wandered by the brookside, I wandered by the mill; I could not hear the brook flow, The noisy wheel was still; There was no hum of grasshopper, No chirp of any bird, But the beating of my own heart Was all the sound I heard. I sat beneath the elm tree, I watched the long, long shade, And, as it grew still longer, I did not feel afraid; For I listened for a footfall, I drew my oar nearer, nearer, But the beating of my own heart Was all the sound I heard. He came not—no, he came not, The night came on alone— The little stars sat, one by one, Each on his golden throne; The evening wind passed by my cheek, The leaves above were stirred, But the beating of my own heart Was all the sound I heard. Fast silent tears were flowing, When something stood behind; A hand was on my shoulder— I knew his touch was kind; He drew me nearer, nearer, We did not speak a word, For the beating of our own hearts Was all the sound we heard.

IN LIGHTER VEIN OH! "How do you make your living, my lad?" "Picking up bits, sir." "Dear me! What an odd occupation. Where?" "In a bowling alley, sir."

SHE RECEIVED HIM. "Do you think any girl ever proposed in Leap Year, as they say, Jennie?" he asked. "Not unless she is obliged to," answered the maiden. "But, George," she said, laying her hand affectionately upon his arm and looking into his eyes, "you, I am sure, will never force me to that humiliation."

A COMPLAINT. I'm tired of liver with a Amus! Been 'brought up' all 'I' spect to be. 'I'f I play with on 'I'f' 'I'f'— says she. Thinks somehwere there's a kind of Amus!— I've got two pennies an 'I'f' dime!

MANUEL IS LEARNING TO SKATE

Ex-King of Portugal Takes Advantage of Cold Spell in England

INTEREST IN OVERSEAS

Many Titled Folk Visiting The Dominion - Breakfast Parties Again in Favor - Raising Funds in London for Dalhousie University

(Times' Special Correspondence) London, Feb. 22—Nobody, perhaps, enjoyed the cold snap that we had here—recently more than ex-King Manuel, for it gave him something fresh to do, a new sensation. He lives in Richmond, at Abercorn, a fine house that belongs to King Sir Harry Maclean of Moroccan fame. As a rule he finds life pretty dull there. His house is not far from Richmond Park, one of the most beautiful of London's "lungs," and in the park are the Penn Ponds, two large stretches of water adjoining each other, where some of the best skating near London may be had.

When the cold weather arrived, therefore, Manuel decided he would learn to skate. The Marquis de Soveral, the faithful "Blue Monkey" and loyal adherent to the deposed monarch, declined the invitation of setting as tutor, but willing Englishman was found and Manuel started off with a new pair of skates for initiation on the ice. He had the usual experience of stumbling, lurching and falling; but he is turning out a very fine skater.

Manuel is probably not to marry the daughter of his newly made friend, Don Miguel de Braganca, despite newspaper reports. He has, I am told, quite other matrimonial designs—so has his mother on his behalf, which is much more important, because she is a self-willed sort of person who generally manages things her own way.

Royal Influence on Society

It has really become almost a platitude to remark how great an influence King George and Queen Mary are having on society, but it becomes more marked every month that passes. I think, too, that we notice it more because King Edward was the central figure in society before he came to the throne, and so no great alterations in the ways and customs took place at his mother's death. When King George reigned, in his father's stead, however, this was not the case, and the influence of the king was entirely in the background, and it required force of circumstances to make him prominent.

For instance, the king's great interest in his overseas dominions has caught the fancy of society, and King George is really astonishing the minds of aristocrats who have made, or who are just about to make, their homes in the colonies. The Duke of Sutherland, of course, is an old stager at the game, and takes his Canadian trips seriously. He is, however, later in the year, the duchess and her daughter, Lady Rosemary Leveson-Gower, will accompany him for the first time.

Lord Somers, too, has a large farm near Toronto, where he spends some of the summer months and recently he persuaded his brother-in-law Lord Lytton, to follow his example. Doubtless the presence of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught has done much to give a fillip to the interest taken in Canada just now.

It is the same in other directions, however, and the influence of the king is being felt in the most important way. The Earl and Countess of Morton and three of their five sons are now on their way to New Zealand for a lengthy stay. Lady Verney and two of her nieces have gone to Brisbane and Vancouver, and the Marquis and Viscountess Massena are on their way to Sydney. The Earl and Countess of Darby and their daughter, Lady Mary Augusta Dawson, have started on a short visit to South Africa, and the Marquis of Graham, the Earl of Dunmore, Lord Vicks, and Lord Bruce are among those who are making arrangements to pay visits there as soon as the London season is over.

A great many of these people are going to spy out the land with the object of being no longer the fashion in these days of healthier ideals, for a man, because he is well born but a pauper, to do nothing.

Breakfast in Fashion

John A. Howard, agent general for Nova Scotia and Mrs. Howard gave a dinner party to a few of the Canadian friends at their house in Pall Mall the other evening. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Bogg of Saskatoon, Keith Morris, the author of "Canada for British Gold and British Enterprise," and his wife, whose literary attainments rival his own, and W. M. Thompson, a prominent citizen of Halifax and a member of the Board of Governors of Dalhousie University, were present.

While here on a business trip Mr. Thompson, who is deeply interested in the welfare of Nova Scotia University, took the opportunity of placing before Dalhousians resident in London, the present need of the university for funds. James Dunn of Halifax and London gave $25,000 towards the $400,000 required. In other directions Mr. Thompson's efforts have met with good results and probably the money will be raised without much difficulty. Many eminent men of Canada owe much to the splendid training given at the N. S. University. Premier Borden and Sir William Max Aitken are only two names which come to mind.

Captain R. F. Carter and Mrs. Carter of Niagara Falls will return to Canada soon after a three months holiday. While on this side they have visited the principal cities and points of interest in France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium and Holland, and only pressing business interests prevented the visit of the Maid of the Mist at Niagara Falls. Captain Carter is a well-known figure, and he has on this side renewed acquaintance with many prominent people who, as visitors to Canada, first met him amid the thunder of Niagara. He does not share the opinion expressed by so many trans-atlantic visitors that this country is decadent and his observations

TRYING OUT BRITISH NAVY'S NEW WEAPON

This weapon is designed to crush the "wasps" in one blow. The picture shows the new six inch quick firer of the battleships and the cruisers in action. It is not the biggest gun in the navy, by a long way, but it is believed to be the most effective in fighting torpedo boat destroyers, the evil little vessels which form an important part of every navy. Twelve shots a minute can be fired. The distance and range are limited only by long vision range.

here and on the continent lead him to. Among the public men who have had their attention attracted to Canada and who are to leave for the dominion this week are Sir William Bull, M. P. for Hamersmith, and his parliamentary secretary, Justice S. Clitheroe; John Cameron, procurator fiscal of Greenock, Scotland; Arthur Thacker, a British manufacturer and Willoughby Bullock, honorary secretary of the Society of Knights Bachelor. They will spend some time in Toronto as guests of W. P. Bull, who will travel with them, and afterwards proceed to Red Deer in the development of which they are interested. Sir William Bull is a close friend and admirer of the imperial sentiment of Sir Henry Fellat and was associated with him in the formation of the Society of Knights Bachelor, to the establishment of which other Canadians—Sir Rodolphe Forget, Sir George Gibbon, K. C., Senator Lyman Melville Jones, Sir Edward Byron Walker, and Sir William Mackenzie—subscribed.

The engagement just announced between Lionel Mander and Princess Patricia of Connaught is of interest to Canadians. The bridegroom elect is a nephew of Sir Charles Mander, who has large interests in the dominion. He married a Canadian lady, Miss Mary Le Mesurier Paine, daughter of H. M. Paine, who sat for Halifax in the dominion house. The bride-elect, who is well-known in this country and very popular, is the second daughter of the late Maharajah of Cooh Behar. The marriage will take place very soon in Calcutta.

At their home in Wolverhampton, Sir Charles and Lady Mander entertain extensively. When Sir Charles held the office of mayor of Wolverhampton, Lady Mander took a great interest in the civic life of the midland city and the appreciation of the inhabitants was expressed in a gift of valuable diamonds. The example of Sir Charles in choosing a Canadian for his wife was followed by another of his nephews who married Miss Catherine of Montreal.

AN UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENT

At an association dinner a debate arose as to the benefits of whipping in bringing up young children. Old Dr. Moore took the affirmative. His opponent, a young minister, whose reputation for veracity was not very high, affirmed that parents often did harm to their children by punishment from not knowing the facts of the case.

"Why," said he, "the only time my father whipped me was for telling the truth."

"Well," retorted the doctor, "it carved you, didn't it?"

"The doctor won."

"We women may not know some things, but we have some sense of business honor," said Mrs. Blithers.

"Do you mean to tell me that we have an sense of business honor in public life now?" demanded Blithers.

"Well, my dear," said Mrs. Blithers, "with a superior smile, 'facts speak for themselves. Do you consider this businesslike?' This paper says that 7,000 bills were presented to congress in the first nine daily sessions. I believe this paper is reliable."

"Perfectly," said Blithers, "but what of it? Suppose 20,000 bills were presented in that time?"

"What of it? What of it?" cried Mrs. Blithers. "You surprise me, even if you are a man. Do you think it businesslike to have that number of bills, all in one day, too?"

Blithers scratched his head in perplexity.

"How would you women stop it?" he demanded.

"How would we stop it?" said Mrs. Blithers scornfully. "Why, we wouldn't have any bills at all. We'd pay cash as we went along."—Lippincott.

SPECIAL NOTICE

We beg to call attention to the fact that we are the only firm in Canada who own and control the AUTOMATIC RAZOR STROPPER INVENTION. All other advertisements regarding Razor Stoppers are by American firms who advertise under different names and addresses for the purpose of getting new business, and their Diagonal Stroke argument is false. We are the only firm in Canada who has an expert who gives his personal attention to the Stropper business and tests every stropper before it is placed on the market. We have sold over 5,000 of our Automatic Stoppers in Canada in the last few months and we are sending orders to the Yukon Territory. Our business extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast.

Agents considering taking up agency work of Stoppers should think of the desirability of patronizing home industry and getting their stoppers at the lowest possible cost at home, and should not be deceived by exaggerated advertisements by American firms, as we have tested every Automatic Stropper ever placed on the market in North America. MEDICAL MEN OBJECT TO MILITARY TUNIC

Declare it Hot and Uncomfortable—Would Copy Australian Idea

Ottawa, March 1.—"Is there any reason as to why the tunic should be perpetuated? It is the hottest, most uncomfortable, most unsanitary garb that a man could wear. I think it would be much better if it were done away with and a loose fitting uniform substituted," declared Major Elliott, of Cobourg, at the annual meeting of the Association of Medical Officers of the militia.

This was only one of the protests registered by the medical men against the tunic and others objected to it as unsanitary. Major Elliott thought that for the medical corps at least there should be a loose fitting uniform for parade, a loose serge uniform in red or blue. Another suggestion that he made was that officers simply wear frock coats when on parade, as is done in Australia.

The matter came up when Major Vaux of Winnipeg complained that the ambulance corps were given only dress or service uniforms. It was a hardship for them in city corps to have to parade in their camp stained garb beside other city units which were exceedingly smart in dress uniforms.

Col. G. S. Rennie of Hamilton agreed with this as did several other officers.

"We don't want the field ambulance to turn out at parade or ceremonial work," declared Col. J. Jones, director-general of medical services. "What we want is the camp work."

He said that the vast majority of men in the ambulance corps never turned out to parade at all, and thought that the service uniforms they were given were the proper thing for their training.

The matter was left to a committee composed of Colonel Jones, Colonel Shillington, Major Vaux and Colonel Cameron of Montreal. Another matter was brought up by Colonel Byerson, of Toronto; He thought that the annual meeting of the association should be held at other places besides Ottawa sometimes, and suggested that it be held in Toronto next year. Col. Jones declared that the association would lose the cheap railway rates which it is given by holding the meeting in conjunction with Ottawa's military week, if this was done.

A MODERN RAIN-MAKER.

In the spring of 1911 crops on the ranch began to need rain. There were no signs of nature that pointed to any immediate conclusion of the drought. There was no method by which I could run irrigation ditches in time to alleviate conditions. It was under the stress of these conditions that I resolved to carry the war into the country of Jupiter Pluvius and bombard him until he surrendered enough rain to save the crops.

Late in June I made my first attack upon the elements. My men arranged eight firing stations in almost a straight line, an eighth of a mile apart, making a firing line of one mile. One hundred and twenty-five shots of two pounds of dynamite pieces were fired from each of these eight stations. Nothing came of this first "battle"—this, probably, to the fact that we had paid little attention to the atmospheric conditions and had conducted the initial experiment when none of the natural indications of rain was present.

Inside of a week after our first experiment we chose a day that seemed more propitious for the second attack. The barometer on the morning of the "battle" indicated an extensive degree of humidity, but there were no clouds overhead, and the sun shone down, hot and steadily, as it does upon the plains of the southwest.

The second "battle" was upon a larger scale than the first. We made use of the initial eight stations of the first firing line, but doubled the dose—that is, we used 200 two-pound shots from each battery, continuing the firing throughout an afternoon. Rain followed within ten or twelve hours after the firing had ceased, whereupon a rainy period set in, extending from July 1 to July 10, with rains occurring at intervals of two or three days. The rain was not general over Texas or even over the section of the state in which my ranch is situated. It can best be described by the meteorological definition "local showers," and, in the minds of those who witnessed the experiments, was attributed solely to the fusillade we had directed at the heavens.—C. W. Post, in Harper's Weekly.

TIM AND JACK.
(Detroit Free Press).

When Jack lay dead, Jim never came to look at him or shed a tear; A wreath of roses bore his name, But Jim himself did not come near. "I'd like to 'member him," he said, "The way he was at fifty-five. An' all th' good things I can say I told him when he was alive."

"It ain't no use fer me t'go 'n' praise his good deeds fer an' near, Let them do that as didn't show Their love fer him when he was here. It ain't fer me to stand around, An' prate about his virtues good, What I can say I said to him When he was here and understood."

"It wouldn't seem jes' right fer me To stand a talkin' by his bier, An' gaze on eyes that cannot see, An' speak the things he cannot hear. He understood afore he went 'Th' way I'd feel when he was dead, An' I am happy in th' thought That while he lived my praise was said."

Chief Officer Richard Sires of the ship Debra, which has just arrived at New York after a thirty-six-day trip from Buenos Ayres, reports that in long 67 lat he shot two polar bears that were shot on an iceberg.

The Wizard Who Ends All Corns

Some years ago a chemist invented the now famous B & B wax. To apply it we invented the Blue-jay plaster. Since then, fifty million corns have been ended forever by this little application. It is applied in a jiffy. The pain instantly ends. Then the B & B wax is gently rubbed on the corn.

loosens the corn. In two days the whole corn, root and all, comes out. No soreness, no discomfort. You simply forget the corn.

Why pare corns when this thing is possible? Paring simply removes the top layer. It is exceedingly dangerous, for a slip of the blade may mean infection.

Why rub with cothol—treat them over and over—when a Blue-jay removes them completely, and in 48 hours. Prove it today.

At the pharmacy in the north B & B wax. It protects the corn, stopping the pain. D is rubber adhesive to fasten the plaster on.

THE NERVOUS INVALID

Far Greater Sufferer Than Man with Broken Leg. Both Mind and Body are Restored by the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Physical pain is intermittent and can be relieved, but when the nerve cells become feeble and wasted mind as well as body is affected, and all is blackness and discouragement to the sufferer. Best, seek cheerful companions, live in the sunshine and by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food fill the nervous system with new vigor and energy. A few weeks of this treatment will do wonders for any sufferer from an exhausted condition of the nerves.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM IS SERIOUS ONE

(Continued from page 9). young man who was shaved, dressed, presented, married, banqueted, and supplied with a requisite number of uncles and aunts in the space of three weeks. He was fresh from the provinces. "We can certainly get you married in two weeks," said the matrimonial agent. "What kind of a bride would you like?"

"Oh, so and so. The mother-in-law was fond of feasts and banquets, and the bride-groom flattered her taste in that way. The wedding was at once prepared. "Where are your papers?" "Oh, I do not know."

"Well, we know of an agency that gets all the necessary papers." The young man consented. "Who is your best man?" "I have not a soul in Paris."

"We will supply you with one. What kind of wedding feast? How many carriages?" "I have no idea."

"Then we shall refer you to another agency which attends to all the ceremonial. They will see to sending out letters of invitation, have a sufficient number of guests, landau, motor-car, flowers, etc. Now as to the bride's trousseau. We can recommend an agency that supplies the orange-blossoms. What about the bridesmaids?"

"Must there be some relatives, at the wedding?" "Certainly."

"But I have none in Paris." "Then we can supply you with them. A father costs $4, a mother $6, and uncles, aunts, brothers and sisters somewhat less."

"Very well, let me have as many as I need. The young man when it was all over, had an enormous bill to pay, but he declares that really his wedding was one of the most stirring in Paris, and that they were driven to the most fashionable church in conclusion he was a very happy man."

A private soldier in a Cambrai regiment has invented an ingenious apparatus for bringing speedy help to a submarine when an accident occurs. The apparatus consists of a telephone, a ventilator and a safety bell, all of them small and of them portable. The telephone is screwed into a buoy, which, in an accident, can be let up to the surface of the water in an instant. The wire unrolls as the buoy rises, and communication can be established from the surface with the men below. The ventilator is a kind of valve which a diver can screw open at a moment and adapt a pipe to it, through which fresh air may be pumped, and the bell is a kind of diving bell in two compartments, in which food can be stored and men from a wrecked submarine be sent up to couples to the surface. Daud's invention is being examined by a special commission appointed by M. Delecluse and will very probably be adopted.

Getting a Moving Picture. The inhabitants of Fontainebleau are protesting against some of the uses to which the picturesque forest, with its huge volcanic boulders, is being put by some of the cinematographic companies. There was a lion hunt with a real lion in the Forest of Fontainebleau a few days ago, and the people who live in the neighborhood think the freedom in trade matters is being pushed somewhat too far.

The other afternoon near the Round Point, a few children were playing at the sight of a big lion with a leg of mutton in its jaws, slinking across a clearing. A few feet away was a hole tied to a tree and shrieking with terror. The lion sprang at the hole, and at this moment a man in cowboy costume appeared on the scene and shot the lion dead. The scene was performed for reproduction on the cinematographic screen. The lion was the famous d'Artagnan, which had been giving trouble to a menagerie owner for some time, and was therefore sold cheaply after having hurt five lion tamers one after another. But even for a few moments it is rather a dangerous experiment to allow a live lion to roam freely in so frequented a forest as the Forest of Fontainebleau, and the people of Fontainebleau and of Barbizon have registered an angry protest.

CANADIAN WINS MEDICAL POST. London, Ont., March 2.—Russell MacRobert, who is in his final year in medicine at the Western University, has secured by competitive examination a position on the surgical staff of the Bellevue Hospital in New York. Of more than ninety students from the best medical universities in America, who wrote the papers, his were far above the average; in fact, his papers on surgery as well as practical tests and oral examinations called for commendation from the physicians of the hospital. He will leave to assume his duties on July 1.

NOT AS BAD AS REPORTED. A paragraph published yesterday relative to the Boston boat having a hard time making Eastport from Portland was one of the kind that have been greatly exaggerated. The fact is that the steamer encountered the very heavy storm prevailing that night and weathered it without mishap or danger. She made Head Harbor and as the gale was blowing forty-five miles an hour it was not possible to make Eastport, and she had to go to Welchpool, Campbell, where she dropped anchor until the gale subsided.

LETTERS TO HER LOVER BRINGS FAME

(Continued from page 9). became a complete novel, which is really the delightful story of Jane Anne. Constance Smedley, who wrote "Constance" and whose last novel, "The Larger Depths," was praised as warmly as its predecessors, has just finished another book which forms the third of her "family novels" as she calls them. The first of these, "Services," dealt with the relations of children to parents; the second, "The Larger Depths," with those of parents to children, while the new novel, which is called "Constance's Rights" discusses the duty of husband to wife, and vice versa.

Five in a Year. She has a nimble pen, has "The Princess," as Mrs. Maxwell Armfield, to give her married name, is known to her intimate friends. No less than five volumes of hers were published in 1911, including two children's books—for Mrs. Armfield writes for the tois and for girls as well as for grown-ups—with colored plates by her husband, who is one of the most promising of the younger school of British artists. Meanwhile her book for girls, "The Emotions of Martha," is enjoying a steady sale on both sides of the water, and a sequel to it is being serialized in this country.

"And I expect to finish another girl's book this week," writes "the Princess" in a letter which I received from her a few days ago. She and her husband will be leaving their home in Gloucestershire soon, and will live them to the Italian Alps, where Mr. Armfield will paint mountains for a "one man show" he is going to give in London soon, and Mrs. Armfield will write. Their present home in Minchinghampton, "The Uplands," has, by the way, grown too small for their needs, and a new house is being built for them that will be ready upon their return. A feature of it will be a bright and balcony for Mrs. Armfield's out-door writing.

RECORD PRODUCTION OF MINERALS

Output of Coal, Limestone, Pig Iron and Other Minerals in Nova Scotia Shows Large Gain

The report of the Nova Scotia department of mines laid on the table of the House of Assembly in Halifax this week by Hon. Mr. Armstrong, contains a vast fund of interesting and valuable information relative to the mining industry of the province. Besides the statistics showing the production of minerals and the revenue, the report contains the reports of the inspectors of mines and special reports relating to the several disasters that occurred during the year, which reports show that the accidents were wholly unavoidable.

Table titled 'THE MINERAL PRODUCTION' showing quantities and values for various minerals like Coal, Iron, Limestone, etc., for the years 1910 and 1911.

THE MOTOR AND GOOD HIGHWAYS

Late last year an association was formed in New Westminster, B. C., called the Canadian Highway Association, whose main object is to promote interest in a scheme for the immediate construction of a great transcontinental road from Halifax on the Atlantic to Alberta on the Pacific shore. The actual building of the road is to be left to others, the work of the association being the education of the public, of municipal, county and parliamentary authorities to the importance of the scheme and to secure the co-operation of all interested parties in the work. Members of the association predict that within the short space of five years the British or continental tourist will be in a position to ship his automobile from

Britain to Halifax, and from there drive unassisted right across Canada on a roadway. It is not considered that the project necessitates any exceptional amount of money, for the association reports that the obstacle to the journey at the present time is not the want of a good road, but the existence of a number of impassable stretches which form faulty links in the otherwise fairly good chain of highways leading the Dominion. One of the worst stretches at present exists along the great lake region, but this is to be rectified immediately by the Dominion government. In the prairie little difficulty is thought that the provincial improvements will probably include the construction of a transprovincial roadway. In Ontario, out of about fifty thousand miles of roadway now existing, only two per cent, or four thousand miles, can be classed as good, in the estimation of W. A. Maclean, Provincial Highway Engineer, while another four thousand might be classed as reasonably good, that is, passable for automobiles during the good season. The remaining forty-two thousand miles, or eighty-four per cent of the total highways are, Mr. Maclean considers, "bad"—so nearly allied to mere tracks that only a venturesome car-owner would traverse them at the best of times. Mr. Maclean, however, has prepared plans for the construction of a first-class system, and intends to carry his project out as soon as possible. The good roads question in Ontario is being taken up seriously for the first time in twenty years, during which period no less than nineteen million dollars in cash and twenty-two million days of statutory labor have been expended on Ontario's roadways, with little or no result. Quebec owes an immense amount from the good roads point of view to the Automobile Club of Canada located in Montreal, through the exertions of which the province is assured of a main highway connection with those of New York state, the offer of the government of thirty-three and a third per cent. contribution to municipalities for road construction was regarded by the club as insufficient inducement, and consequently, the Good Roads Committee interviewed the premier, and with his opinion a consensus of provincial opinion was obtained, and in six weeks over a quarter of a million signatures were obtained urging greater legislative encouragement. As a direct result the subsidy

Quite apart from the expansion made necessary by present conditions in the city it is expected that the development work at Courtenay Bay and the new industries which are being planned for the district will attract a much larger population than this in a very short time.

The ready sale of lots already on the market shows that this is appreciated and that there is no lack of faith in the expansion of the city on the part of investors.

Inquiries for lots in the Bay View sub-division have come from as far south as New Jersey and from the new industry which are being planned for the district will attract a much larger population than this in a very short time.

WHAT WAS THE GIRL'S NAME? What care I though the grass be green, And the fields of grain be young? And the leaves of the trees on wooded hills And deep in the shaded dell?

What care I though the skies be blue As the summer skies may be, And the sunlight fall in azure streams On a smiling sapphire sea?

What care I though the coming dawn Be purple and gold and red, And the night that follows the day be black And morning overhead?

What care I though the mountain crags Be grey against the sky, And the rainbow lift its splendour up In a seven-hued curve on high?

What care I though the snow be white In the fields and on the roof, And the sun for the world's color scheme, When all I can see is brown? Judge.

COMMON EXPRESSIONS ODDLY APPLIED.

"Basten out of 'em," said the goldsmith dejectedly. "I hope I make myself perfectly clear," said the water as it passed through the filter.

"Experience like this tend to harden one," the egg said as it was dropped into boiling water. "A little of this goes a long way," remarked the aviator aloft as he flicked the tail of his bird.

"I'll stay and see this thing out," said the man who was at the dentist's as he wiped his bleeding jaw. "Experience like this tend to harden one," explained the assiduous passenger as he leaned over the rail.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS Made Her Strong and Healthy.

Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung, and when this happens the heart starts to work in sympathy with the nerves. In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as act on the heart itself.

Mrs. F. McAdams, Brookside, Sask., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received from using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This spring I was so run down I could not do any work, and one day a neighbor advised me to try your Pills. I told her that I thought nothing could cure me, as I was too far gone. But she told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and before I had finished them, I began to improve, and when I had finished the one box I was as strong and healthy as any person. Any one who is suffering from heart or nerve trouble should take your Heart and Nerve Pills and they will soon discover their worth."

"In a way," replied the new statesman. "It served as a pretext for a very lengthy and carefully prepared address by the local club which introduced me."

THE NEW CHARTER

Criticism Are Answered By T. H. Estabrook (Daily Telegraph).

In consequence of the remarks made by T. H. Estabrook at the meeting of the citizens' committee on Thursday submitting with reference to the submitting of the city charter to a public meeting not being held, Mr. Estabrook has already done in improving the city of St. John, by judging the building of Alexander street, the Eastern and Central streets, and the future of the city.

"I. B. Schofield asked the chairman if the charter was to be submitted to a public meeting. Mr. Estabrook replied that the meeting must of necessity be held in a place where every voter would have an opportunity to attend and that he had accommodated some hundreds of men could be packed by any element. It would be quite impossible to find a place where the whole electorate was present. The only way, I pointed out, in which the charter could be considered by the whole electorate was through the press, and anyone who had any criticisms or suggestions to offer could do it through the press, and anyone who had any criticisms or suggestions to offer could do it through the press, and anyone who had any criticisms or suggestions to offer could do it through the press.

"Immediately I had said this, Mr. Agar rose and acknowledged what he had said in regard to the charter. He had said in favor of having the public meeting. That ended the discussion, but I could have gone on and said that when the legislative passed the bill authorizing the citizens' committee, in the event of the vote being favorable, the duty of preparing a charter in accordance with the proposals being advocated through the press and on the public platform. The vote, as is well known, was favorable, and the citizens' committee prepared the charter as directed from what the people were led to expect when they present it to the legislature. I believe the desire of the editor of the Globe is that the passage of this measure should be delayed, and it seems to me that the only ground on which delay can be based is if the legislature can be shown that there has been any essential departure in the charter as prepared from what the people were led to expect from the publication issued by the committee and by what members of the committee may have advocated on the platform and through the press.

If the editor of the Globe will, instead of criticizing members of the committee, give close enough attention to the charter to discover, if possible, any defects, or suggest any improvements, he will be acting in the interests of the whole people. The citizens' committee have felt the heavy responsibility upon them, and I believe everyone has tried to discharge that responsibility to the best of their ability."

W. H. Barnaby, chairman of the committee, when the version of the discussion on the matter of the charter being submitted to a public meeting as given last evening by Mr. Estabrook, was read over to him, said that it was absolutely correct.

BAND MOURNS MAJOR THOMAS

The Fredericton Brass Band held a business meeting in their hall Thursday evening. The president made feeling reference to the sudden death of Major George W. H. Thomas who was not only a member but the first president of the band. After passing a suitable resolution of condolence to be entered on the minutes and a copy sent to the family, the band adjourned out of respect for their late member.

The new ministry in Bulgaria is somewhat of a home circle, for four of its members are near relatives of the premier, Doctor Greshoff. To his uncle, brother and son is now added the recently-appointed minister of agriculture, Mr. Yabalanak, Doctor Greshoff's son-in-law.

UNFAIR TO PROVINCES

Sir Wilfrid Forces Borden and Followers to Go On Record

THREE DIVISIONS IN HOUSE

Pre-Election Promise Seems to Be Counted as Naught--Valley Railway From Andover to Point Near St. John

Ottawa, March 1--Moved by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that all money voted under the act for the improvement of the railway be apportioned among the different provinces of the dominion according to the population of each province as estimated by the census for the time being.

Opposed by Premier Borden and defeated on a straight party vote of 72 to 58, a government majority of 29.

Moved by Mr. MacDonald, that the clause in the bill authorizing the minister of railways, on his own initiative, to undertake the construction of any new highway or improvement of any existing highway and expend in such improvement or construction the whole or any part of the money voted by parliament for the road subsidy to any province be struck out.

Opposed by Premier Borden and defeated on a straight party vote of 53 to 69, a government majority of 33.

Moved by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that the minister personally that attracted and charmed men as well as women, he usually accomplished what he was after, he was willing to help him. An easy liver, generous to a fault, he spent money like water and was never deaf to the appeal of his friends for assistance.

Gold, on the contrary, was grumpy, irascible, hard to approach, domineering and adamant to the "touch" of men looking for help.

The difference in the character of the two men was due the wide disparity in their fortunes, when the bullet of Stokes on the grand staircase of the Broadway Central Hotel here cut short the brilliant career of Flak. In the trying days following the murder, the widow Flak stood loyally by the memory of her husband and as far as she could protected him from the clamor of the friends of Mr. MacDonald, both of which were voted down; and one by the Liberal chief to the tariff commission bill, which was then passed.

No defence was offered by the government to either the minister or the Liberal chief. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment to the third reading of the tariff commission bill was passed and the bill was then passed.

The Liberal chief, who was in rare form, confronted the government with the proposition that the minister personally and the declarations in the house of Mr. Ames and invited the government to attempt to rescind them.

The government's new proposal and emphasis on the necessity for the minister to act efficiently and impartially perform the duties of commissioner.

Premier Borden was unusually pugnacious. He made no reply to the Liberal leader other than the time worn adoption of his queue line of defence, William H. Jackson, his treasurer, was slain in his hotel bedroom by a bolt, bent on robbery.

At the time of the failure of the house the two principal partners were John D. Van Schaick & Co., which failed a little more than a year ago with an excess of liabilities over assets, of almost a million dollars. Following the blowing up of the firm, which was one of the oldest and most respected in Wall street, having been in business for half a century, William H. Jackson, its treasurer, was slain in his hotel bedroom by a bolt, bent on robbery.

Following the blowing up of the firm, which was one of the oldest and most respected in Wall street, having been in business for half a century, William H. Jackson, its treasurer, was slain in his hotel bedroom by a bolt, bent on robbery.

Following the example of Van Schaick's wife, Mrs. Crandall this week began an action for divorce against her husband. She demands $100 a week alimony and alleges that Crandall left her without cause last April. Both partners say they are "broke," and are fighting the attempts of their wives to collect from them. They say they are living mostly on borrowed money and cannot comply with the orders of the court, because they are not working and have no source of income.

At last they have discovered what it is that is responsible for the high strung nerves of the American women and the increase in nervous diseases among females. Their adorable little, lecturer is the case of it, says Dr. Jane Baker, lecturer of the School of Hygiene, of which Mrs. O. H. Belmont is one of the sponsors. "Unquestionably the nervous diseases and many of the other physical troubles of the modern woman are due to her foolish manner of dressing," says Doctor Baker. The kind of clothes she wears and the way she wears them would strain the strongest natural constitution. All clothing which is so elaborate and so fastly put together that its wearer cannot forget it, but must be continually changed.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jos. S. Knowles were surprised by a large number of their friends, who were gathered to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their wedding. J. J. Fairbairn made the address of congratulation, after which Mrs. B. W. Thorne 69 years of age presented the "bride" with a handsome bouquet, containing the usual 25 roses. Mrs. Fairbairn handed the pair a set of silver knives and forks. Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. E. T. C. Knowles followed with a handsome tea set and other mementoes, on behalf of the friends. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. C. Knowles, Mrs. E. W. Thorne, Mrs. A. Snider, Mrs. J. L. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fairbairn, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Potts, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ward Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. W. Thorne, Mrs. A. Snider, Miss Julia Henniger, Miss Emma Henniger, John Kerr, H. Tippett, J. McCarthy, H. Dunbraven, and others. All enjoyed the excellent supper. The table decorations of daffodils were most tastefully arranged. After an exchange of all manner of good wishes, the party broke up at a late hour, having spent a thoroughly good time.

"Was your lecture a success?" "In a way," replied the new statesman. "It served as a pretext for a very lengthy and carefully prepared address by the local club which introduced me."

OWNERSHIP OF LAND is the basis of wealth. Men of moderate means have become independent through timely investment in real estate. It is not every community that enjoys St. John's opportunity to snap up properties during periods of low values and quickly realize large returns. Healthy impulses arising from prospective development is not the happy lot of many older cities. St. John is now assured of rapid expansion and the small buyer has his chance in Tisdale Place. This city is due for extraordinary advancement in all departments, even school children know the details. Those changes will occur more quickly than has ever before been known in this province. Vaster alterations will take place in the character and destinies of St. John than has marked any period in its history since the days the Loyalists landed on its rocky shores.

TISDALE PLACE is truly the key to the Courtenay Bay situation
 TISDALE PLACE contains all the important corner locations
 TISDALE PLACE will be traversed by the street railway extension
 TISDALE PLACE is St. John's most modernly planned section
 TISDALE PLACE will be a revelation to the older residents
 TISDALE PLACE is dry land sloping citywards, and attractive
 TISDALE PLACE is not a mile from the Court House, King Square
 TISDALE PLACE adjoins on all sides the Government roadways
 TISDALE PLACE is ideal for business or residential locations
 TISDALE PLACE will make quick money for the thrifty wage earner

THE PROPERTY SHOWN BY THE ARROW in the plan above is a familiar location to the people of St. John. This recreation ground is soon to be converted into a most important section of the city. It will be one of the beauty spots of the municipality, and the pride of those who have had foresight enough to take a share in its ownership. Its close proximity to the centre of the city, the ease with which it can be reached even today, without street railway connection, commends it for residential purposes. The detailed plan now on exhibition in our new office, Prince William street, indicates plainly the thoroughly up-to-date manner in which it has been laid out. Its residential streets are 60 feet wide, its main business thoroughfare 100 feet. The alley system at the rear of every lot has been introduced and ample provision made for uniformity in lawns and yards.

CABLE TO THE WEST INDIES

London Expression of Hope for This to Help in Bettering Trade Relations With Canada

(The West India Committee's Circular, London.)

Matters in connection with the establishment of a closer trade arrangement between the Dominion of Canada and the British West Indies have lately been advancing more rapidly, and the meeting of a conference on the subject at Ottawa in March is now, we are glad to say, assured. Delegates are already being selected in the West Indies, and the proposal to have an official representative for each colony, accompanied by a commercial adviser, seems very generally to meet with approval.

The fact that the delegates to the West Indian agricultural conference, the meetings of which appear to have been entirely successful, passed a resolution favouring a reciprocal trade arrangement, augurs well for unanimity at the forthcoming conference, and furnishes another proof that West Indians can and do, when occasion calls for it, speak with a united voice. We are particularly glad to notice that steamship and cable communication are to be included in the scope of the improvement of both is of the utmost importance.

Mr. Pelletier, the postmaster-general of the Dominion, on February 2 at Ottawa referred to speeches which had been made advocating the establishment of a state-owned cable—presumably across the Atlantic. He agreed with the opinion which we have already voiced, that the reduction of rates for the transmission of deferred news between the Mother Country and Canada are absolutely inadequate, and he went on to state that Canada could not be content with them or at quiet and wait." Canada, he said, must trade with England, and one of the means of facilitating trade was inexpensive cabling, as the success of close trade relations matter which was always most important to business men.

Mr. Pelletier's statement appears to have been received with general approval. We may conclude that the views which he enunciated held good with regard to communication with the West Indies, which starts from Halifax, but is, at present, impeded beyond Jamaica. It will be remembered that projects for the improvement of cable communication have been submitted to the imperial and colonial governments, and that these projects were finally reported upon by the royal

WOMAN AS DESIGNER OF GARDENS

Hon. Mrs. Grosvenor Cousin of Duke of Westminster By Marriage

DOES ALL HER OWN WORK

What to do With a Suburban Garden—She Describes Improvement Made on Two Bare Strips of Ground

(Times Special Correspondent.)

London, Feb. 23.—Women gardeners there are in plenty, but those who become garden-designers are something of a novelty. The Hon. Mrs. Richard Grosvenor, a designer and a counsellor by marriage of the Duke of Westminster, is a garden designer in her own right. It is not a fact which she plays with and leaves other people to carry out, but hard work there is in every detail of the actual labor of digging and building.

A five minutes conversation with Mrs. Grosvenor in her artistic and comfortable drawing-room in her pretty house at Woking, about fifty miles from London, showed her capabilities in her own particular line. She is largely built and not handsome, but there was a thorough intelligence in her face and in her attitude of bending forward to impress her point of view on the listener. Her slender figure, her artistic fingers, to their very tips moved rapidly as she sketched out an imaginary garden.

"I have always been devoted to gardens," she said, "and planned my own and those of many of my friends for a long time. I have been doing it professionally for six years. Of course, you can understand that there is a great difference between planning a garden and making one. When I go into a garden, I can generally do it on the spot. I should like to be able to make a plan and an estimate and submit them to my client. Much depends, naturally, on the amount of money to be spent on the garden, though it is not necessary to its success that it should be a big affair. I plan quite tiny gardens sometimes and make them lovely."

"It is astonishing, too, how many things you require to know in order to plan a successful garden. There are, first of all, the flowers themselves, their color and, more important still, the time they bloom, so that the color scheme may be successful. A certain knowledge of architecture also is necessary. A most important detail, and one which some of my clients do not think of, is to make a garden suit the house. I remember well going down to Lady de Balth's (Lillie Langtry) house at Newmarket. There was a door leading out of the drawing-room to the lawn—that is to say, it did not lead on to the lawn at all, as one had to go up three steps to get to the lawn. There was a dark little thatched porch over this door—imagine it! The first thing I said was, 'Well, this porch will have to come away.' First, I altered the entire facade of the house, pushed away the lawn from the door, made a sunken garden in front, and further away a nice hill from the stuff I had dug out of it, and so what before had been a dull surface as flat as the back of your hand was a variegated beauty space."

"Do you do any of the manual work yourself?"

"No. What I do as a rule is this. I go down and stay in the place for a day or two. The head gardener I make very much of the work. I explain to him what I want done and leave him to do it, visiting the place from time to time. I find that if I work with him, he muddles me and I muddle him because we have quite a different way of doing things.

The prisoner was found upon examination to be quite sane and was sentenced to death for murder.

NOT AN ANGEL

Judge—In one of the earlier discussions of the United States tariff in the Canada's parliament, an opposition member characterized the attitude of the government on the question as "a sight that would make angels weep and jackasses laugh."

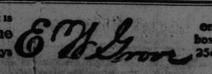

The minister of the interior replied with his usual deliberate calmness:—

"I have observed that the honorable gentleman has been one of those who laughed."

SCHWALM VALLEY BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM

There has been much talk in this country of the styles women have chosen for their dresses and of the manner and sizes of the hats they have worn. These critics probably mentioned simple folk in their discussions and never dreamed that for outlandish attire some of the world's American streets as gowns hardly worth mentioning.

The photographs printed here show costumes used in a section of Germany. Many quaint customs, says the Sphere, linger among the village folk who live in the valleys of the Schwalm.

When a young man needs a wife he always chooses her from among the maidens of the valley.

ANNUAL MEETING WILL TAKE FORM OF SMOKER

Forest, Fish and Game Protective Association Executive Session Last Night

A meeting of the executive of the N. B. Forest, Fish and Game Protective Association was held in the office of the secretary, W. W. Gerow, last night to arrange a programme for the annual meeting. It was decided to hold it in Keith's assembly rooms which have already been engaged for the purpose.

Several speakers on sporting matters will be brought here and a musical programme arranged. The meeting will be held in the form of a smoker. The members of the provincial government, the two guides' associations, the Gun Club, the various fishing clubs and other sporting organizations in the city and vicinity will be invited to attend.

Altogether a very interesting programme is planned and the secretary will be kept quite busy for the next two weeks arranging the details. As the regular date for the annual meeting falls on March 4, which is not a convenient time, a small meeting will be held that night, in the office of H. B. Busin, and arrangements made till March 18, the date fixed by the executive last night.

ST. JOHN MEN COME HOME FROM ENGLAND

Empress of Britain in With Many Passengers—Purser Atherton's Case

The big C. P. R. liner Empress of Britain, Captain A. Murray, arrived in port this morning and docked at her berth on Sand Point about nine o'clock. The steamer left Liverpool on Feb. 25, and had a very good voyage across. Besides bringing over a large general cargo, the Empress had on board 141 passengers. About 100 of these were landed at Halifax and the rest were brought to this port. There were 119 first cabin, 475 second cabin and 82 steerage. Among the passengers were J. T. Knight, L. C. Prime, Miss Parker, Miss Woodcock, Mrs. Amphlett and Master, and Miss Amphlett, all of this city.

In conversation with some of the officers, it was learned that the case of Purser Atherton, purser of the Empress of Ireland, who is held in England on money charge, would be heard on the other side, and that there was but little chance of his being brought to this country to stand trial.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE WILL TAKE IN THE NORTH END

At a meeting of representatives of the Catholic societies last evening in the A. O. H. rooms, plans for the church parade were discussed. The route of the parade will be from the route of march, which will be upon and, if the weather is fine, it will be materially different from that of previous years. The parade will start at 10 o'clock and go to the cathedral via Spycity. Vespses will be sung at forty-five minutes past two on that day.

After the service, procession will form outside the church and proceed down Richmond to Brunels, City Road, Paradise row, Main, through St. Peter's church grounds to Douglas street, back to Main and along Main, Dock and King to King street, where it will disband. The Artillery band will parade the St. Peter's Y. M. C. A. to the city and the 62nd will go to Charlottetown and bring over the Carleton and Fairville contingents.

C. P. R. CANNOT TAKE UP OPERATIONS YET

Although half the line is finished and ready for operation, the C. P. R. will not be able to take over the operation of the new railway from Millville, on the Gibleon branch, until authority has been received from the National Railway Commission. The line is now complete as far as Temperance Vale and by next summer the balance of the road, which will run to the Southampton end of the Pokok bridge, will be ready for use. Considerable quantities of freight are already offering for the line and some of it is being handled by the construction trains. When the road is completed it is expected to be a profitable one.

SONS OF ENGLAND HAVE BANNER EMBLEM MADE CORRECT

It may have been noticed that, the last time members of Marlborough, Sons of England, turned out on parade, they carried with them a banner which bore a Scottish emblem, the lion rampant. The banner had been secured from Messrs. Hilditch & Squire of London, several years ago, but the officers and members of the lodge did not notice the mistake in it until a short time ago. The banner is now in the hands of A. J. Charlton, who has painted in place of the Scotch emblem, an English one, a lion standing on top of a Union Jack, inside of a fortress. The work has been very cleverly done and when the members of the lodge next turn out they will have one of the nicest banners of any lodge in the city.
