PRACTICABILITY OF NEGOTIATIONS DOUBTED

Questionnaire Covers Every Angle of Trading Relations Between Countries and Individuals.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.) F. W. WILE.

Washington, July 21.—A copy has been received here of the text of the sixteen questions recently put by the Supreme Economic Council of the Allies to the Soviet trade delegation at London headed by Krassin. Satisfactory answers to the sixteen questions submitted was made by the Supreme Council a necessary preliminary to carry out any negotiations for the resumption of trade relations with Soviet Russia. As far as it is known here no direct answer to the questionnaire has been made by the Moscow authorities.

Attention is called here to the nature of the allied questions as indicative of the uncertainty of the Supreme Economic Council concerning the practicability of the contemplated negotiations and the council's marked distrust of the Bolsheviks. The fact alone, it is stated, that the Supreme Economic Council deemed it necessary to submit such questions and to regard further action dependent upon reply to them, indicates to what point the council regarded as uncertain and dangerous the ground upon which it sought to erect the structure of commercial relations with Soviet Russia.

The following is the text of the questionnaire as received in a reliable quarter here:

- 1. Are the delegates of the Soviet government the only persons holding the right to trade outside of Russia?
2. Are the members of the Soviet government the only persons within Russia with whom foreign commercial interests are authorized to deal?
3. What is the legal effect, or what will be the consequences of contracts made:
(A) With organizations or persons in parts of the former Russian empire which, for the moment, do not recognize the authority of the Soviet government?
(B) With organizations or persons within Soviet Russia who are not included within the scope of question two?
4. Under what form and under what laws will contracts be made and how will they be carried out:
(A) If the contract is made in an allied.
(B) If the contract is made in Russia?
5. What are the commercial relations between the central Soviet and the local Soviets and what control does the central Soviet exercise over the local Soviets?
6. What are the personal rights of foreigners trading in Russia? That is to say, is the Soviet government prepared to guarantee to them:
(A) Freedom of entry, sojourn and departure?
(B) The abandonment of all efforts on the part of the Soviet government to impose laws restricting their personal liberty?
(C) The abandonment of all efforts on the part of the Soviet government to deny possession or exportation of any commodities which, according to European custom, would be considered as the personal property of traders, which for the moment, do not belong to the traders or which should have been procured by them through regular commercial transactions?
(D) Freedom of telegraphic, communication in cipher or commercial code and freedom of postal communication?
7. What will be the guarantees given for the execution of contracts for labor and other contracts for personal service?
8. What will be the nature, the extent, etc., of concessions for mines, forests, etc.?
9. What conditions will be imposed upon allied ships in Bolshevik ports?
10. What will be the measures taken for the execution and surveillance of contracts for loading and unloading, for the payment and port dues of port and docking rights, conditions under which crews may disembark, their security and other general matters ordinarily handled by official consular agents in other countries?
11. What is the actual condition of the laws in Russia pertaining to allied nationals who have taken out patents or who have registered trade marks or designs?
12. Is the protection resulting from the registration of a patent, of a trade

Mrs. Lilian Taylor Tells How Cuticura Healed Her Baby

"Our baby was two weeks old when his face became very red and terribly itchy, and he was scratching and scratching till the skin broke and he could not sleep, and did nothing but cry. His face looked as though he might be dying for him. I thought I would give Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial. I found the first sample so good that I bought more and two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a fifty-cent box of Cuticura Ointment healed him." (Signed) Lilian M. Taylor, Box 99, Sackville, N.B., Canada, Dec. 10, 1919. Cuticura Soap cleanses and soothes and Cuticura Ointment powder and perfume are ideal for daily toilet purposes.

WAR OF WORDS POINTS TO A WORLD PEACE

Conversation Replaces Ammunition in Most of the European Disturbances.

COMPROMISE SPIRIT IS STEADILY GROWING

Conferences and Commissions Bringing Nations Nearer to Basis of Understanding.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.) BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.

London, July 21.—At the moment when peace seems furthest away it may be nearest at hand. Tonight, with a batch of clippings before me and after a day of rounds to a few banks, some government offices and conversations with five prominent persons who happen to be in London, I potted down some of the world's troubles as reported in the press and by officials with the object of examining, despite all predictions of the world going to destruction and damnation because of the Polish-Russian war, the Spa conference, the Los Angeles earthquake, the reciprocal Italian-Jugoslav demands for satisfaction over alleged national insults, the increased rail fares in Great Britain, incitement to murder in Egypt, reports of another Chinese civil war, and the American presidential election, to mention only a few of the events which are disturbing the peace of mind of a good portion of the world.

In the first place, the urgent necessity of peace backed by a determined mass of peoples, has instilled in the minds of those men who are really guiding European affairs today a spirit of compromise and willingness to adjust difficulties which I think will eventually dominate European affairs. Secondly, these Cook's tours of peace delegates are accomplishing this much good, while each conference in itself may not be a success, the series is. Through these conferences the nations are coming to an understanding of each other and, as no settlement is possible anywhere without an understanding, this is an important factor in present-day affairs.

SPIRIT OF COMPROMISE GROWS.

The problem in Europe today seems to be whether this spirit of give and take and these educational assemblies can operate upon the minds and the statesmen sufficiently rapidly to enable them to master the disagreement and disputes which the world inherits from the war. The race is between the selfishness and the selfishness and the selfishness and the selfishness during the war and at the Peace conference. A few examples may indicate which will win the race.

LORD FISHER WAS EPIGRAMMATIC

Col. House Gives Intimate Picture of Late British Admiral.

London, July 21.—Colonel E. M. House, in discussing the late Lord Fisher today, said: "Lord Fisher was a maker of epigrams. The papers here give many, but here is one he made the last time he lunched with me: 'Do right and fear no man; don't write and fear no woman.'" "He claimed to be the original Wilson man. Several years before Woodrow Wilson was thought of for the presidency Lord Fisher met him at Princeton and expressed his belief he would some day be President. He was a warm friend of the United States and never ceased in his efforts to keep our relations cordial."

Russia wants to trade with England and the Alps, and this desire to trade and the desire to make war on Poland. In Germany there may be another hitch. It is easy to predict revolutions, but the Spa conference has had a tremendous influence upon the minds of the Germans as it has had on the French. France and Germany may appear far apart on the coal question, but now that Spa is over they know each other's viewpoint and by the time the next international meeting takes place both will have recovered to a certain degree from the present irritation.

By November the American election will be over and the greatest puzzle of today, America's position in world affairs, will be decided. But the most encouraging factor is that if one looks closely into all of the storms brewing today one will find they are mostly word storms and threats of war. There is some fighting with arms but more fighting with language, with the amount of the latter constantly increasing, while ammunition for the former is rapidly decreasing. While prophets are always dangerous, it seems to your correspondent that so long as the world today manufactures more talk than it does ammunition, so long as the word factories produce and the war establishments close, the nearer the world gets to peace and order.

The world production of opinion today far exceeds the world production of guns.

WILL BE PROSECUTED TO FULL EXTENT OF LAW

All Concerned in Conspiracy to Defraud Soldiers Must Pay Penalty Say Directors of Bureau.

Washington, July 21.—The conspiracy to defraud disabled veterans of the world war, recently uncovered in the compensation and insurance claims division of the War Risk Insurance Bureau which resulted in ten arrests was characterized as "deliberate, and inexcusable" today by R. G. Cholmely-Jones, director of the Bureau, in the first statement that he has issued since the frauds were uncovered by members of the Treasury Department Secret Service.

WEDDINGS

Donovan-Barrett. St. Joseph's church at Silver Falls was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday morning when Rev. Simon Oram of the Cathedral, with nuptial mass, united to marriage Miss E. Winifred Barrett, youngest daughter of James Barrett of East St. John, and Dr. Lawrence A. Donovan, eldest son of Councillor and Mrs. J. M. Donovan of Goldbrook. The bridesmaid was Miss Juliet Desmond. Edward J. Walsh was groomsmen.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's father, where a dainty breakfast was served. Many beautiful and costly gifts were received, including substantial checks from friends of each and a silver service from T. A. Barrett, brother of the bride. Dr. and Mrs. Donovan left by auto for P. E. Island and on return will live at 212 Britain street. The groom served four years in the imperial army overseas as a veterinary during the great war.

The Secret Service of the Treasury Department, which is handling the case, is leaving no stone unturned to disclose the entire fraud, and it is its earnest hope that every person directly or indirectly involved in this outrageous proceeding will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The compensation and insurance claims division has a total personnel of 1,395, and the volume of work handled by this division is very great. For instance, during the past fiscal year, ending June 30, 1920, 170,824 claims have been awarded for compensation, and 56,826 claims have been disallowed; 25,942 insurance awards have been made and 2,815 disallowed. In the conduct of this business 3,938,117 pieces of mail have been received by the division and 3,657,484 communications mailed. The amount being paid out monthly for awards is $7,626,000,000.

ST. JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1920.

OPPOSITION ILL-ADVISED.

Mr. Mackenzie King, the leader of the Opposition, desires his supporters in the country not to allow those new members of the Government who have to seek re-election, to go unopposed. From his point of view, of course, that would be the correct line to adopt, because his party has nothing to lose by running candidates in opposition to the Government supporters, but, on the contrary, might perchance gain something. That, however, is only a one-sided view.

In St. John, for instance, what would be gained by putting up a candidate to oppose Hon. Mr. Wigmore? As things are, St. John has a representative in the cabinet, who, from his position, should be able to accomplish a great deal for his constituency. Since Sir Douglas Hazen represented the city, there has been done to further its interests, and while Messrs. Wigmore and Elkin have, no doubt, done what they could, the fact that they were merely private members made it impossible for them to do all they would have liked to do. Now, however, that Mr. Wigmore is a member of the Government, he holds a position of considerable influence, and that influence will undoubtedly be used to St. John's advantage. For this reason alone it would be the height of folly to oppose his re-election, as, in the very unlikely event of his being beaten, St. John would be out in the cold completely. It would be idle to ask the Government for any assistance either for harbor or any other matters, for the reply would be, "You are not in sympathy with us, because you turned down one of our number, and therefore you cannot expect us to do anything for you."

Moreover, putting aside the purely selfish motive, what would the city or the province either, for matter of that, be the gainer by having a representative sitting in the cold shade of opposition? To have a representative sitting with the Opposition is practically the same as not being represented at all. Such a representative carries no weight with the government of the day, a graven image could accomplish just as much as he. If the people of St. John are wise—as we firmly believe them to be—they will pay no attention to the irresponsible chatter of Mr. Mackenzie King, who is not actuated by any desire to improve conditions for the country, but merely to better his own position, which at present is nothing to boast of.

CONCERNING IMPORTATION.

The time has not yet arrived in this country when members of the Legislature are reduced to the status of delegates, whose duty it is to vote according to the desires of those who send them direct. These who attended the meeting of the prohibition executive and decided to call upon Premier Foster to at once summon a special session of the Legislature to pass the resolution which is a necessary preliminary to taking a plebiscite regarding the importation of liquor, do not appear to realize this fact. Their idea would seem to be that all that is necessary to be done is to tell the members of the Temperance Alliance to pass the resolution, and it must therefore be done. It would be just as well to remember that the members of the Legislature are free agents, and can vote as they please. The matter in question is not a political one, upon which the Premier could call for a solid party vote to save the government from defeat; the division on the resolution last session showed that each member voted as he pleased. Nothing has since taken place to change the nature of the situation.

It is true, of course, that so ardent a gentleman as Mr. A. C. M. Lawson, of Fredericton, in the course of one of his numerous and voluminous letters to the press during the late campaign, announced that if the vote of the people showed a majority in favor of prohibition then "our servants the Legislature" would act according to the people's wishes. They may or they may not; they were not elected either to support or oppose this issue, and they are therefore entitled to vote just as they please.

PROMOTING IMPERIAL TRADE.

In preparation for post-war development, the British Board of Trade established a much-enlarged commercial intelligence system. In the Dominions and other overseas parts of the Empire in particular new offices were opened and alert men appointed as trade commissioners. Though, since the armistice, general trade conditions have not favored marked advances in trade as between the Motherland and some of the Dominions, notably Canada, yet the system has laid a foundation for a much closer trade relationship as soon as British manufacturers catch up to the demand upon them from foreign markets.

In his annual report to the British Government the trade commissioner for Ontario, Fred. W. Field, dwells on the many new evidences of a desire by Canadian business men to branch out in their operations, buying more in Britain and selling more. He says that Canadians have adopted direct trading in many new instances. Tea from India, for instance, is imported directly. Hides are bought from Australia directly, instead of through London. Outside of Mr. Field's official sphere, Canadians have commenced buying tropical products directly from the British West Indies, instead of through New York. The existence of the Canadian Government merchant marine is a large factor in building up this direct trade. The new routes of the Marine, devised to avoid as far as possible competition with other well-established companies, are specially designed to assist importers and exporters to develop new business. To Australia and India, in particular, the new services will be very helpful. The breadth of the British Trade Commissioners' work is shown by their advice to business men wishing to trade directly. Even at the cost of losing re-export business in London, the Commissioners assist direct trade within the Empire.

During the later years of the war Canadian imports from Britain dropped to below $100,000,000 a year. We imported five or six times as much from the United States. Britain still is our mainstay in marketing our surplus foodstuffs, but unless we become a rather better customer of her products, we may find our markets there lessening somewhat, especially when other countries catch up with their production. In the meantime the abnormal conditions under which British manufacturing production has been carried on prevents the quotation of sufficiently low prices on goods manufactured on this side of the Atlantic.

TARIFF REVISION.

In pursuance of its undertaking in this regard, the Government is about to deal with the tariff question. It is announced that the work may be entrusted to a commission, or it may be undertaken by a committee of the Cabinet, aided by some technical experts. In deciding to take the course indicated, the Government has proved its sincerity, and there can be no doubt that no effort will be spared to collect such data as will enable the best results to be achieved. The work of collecting information will take some time, and will necessitate sittings of the commission being held in all parts of the country; and all the proceedings will be open to the public, so that all persons interested may attend, and no doubt such of them as desire to give information of any value will be cordially invited to do so. The data collected will doubtless be ready for submission to Parliament next session, and the Budget will in all probability be framed upon it.

It will be generally admitted that it was a piece of mighty bad luck that robbed Sir Thomas Lipton of the race yesterday, when his boat lost just by the amount of the handicap she had to give her opponent. The race appears to have amounted to what is in ordinary racing parlance a dead heat, for the Shamrock crossed the starting line nineteen seconds ahead of the other boat, and passed the winning stake again just nineteen seconds ahead of her. The Resulte therefore won on her time allowance of seven minutes and one second that her opponent had to concede her on account of difference in build. However, the Cup is not lost to the challenger yet; there are still two more races, and by winning one, Shamrock takes the trophy. Interest in the contest therefore deepens each succeeding day.

Regina Post: A new form of oath must have been devised in Ottawa. Here we ordinarily use a Bible, but a headline in a newspaper says that the new Minister of Customs, Mr. Wigmore, was "sworn in on a private car."

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The Era of Cars.
(Hamilton Spectator.)
Notwithstanding the almost sufficient folly of the pretense, farmers and others continue to drive on country roads at night without carrying a light.

Courtesy in Telegrams.
(Kingston Whig.)
Have you ever written a telegram and been tempted to cut out the word "please" in order to reduce your toll? The same thought undoubtedly flashes across the minds of thousands of Canadians in the course of a year. But they let the word stand and pay the bill.

The cost of the word "please."
In telegram tolls in the United States is estimated to be $10,000,000 a year, and in Canada it is correspondingly great.

Was there ever a better lesson in the value of courtesy and good breeding in business? Business men have found that the word "please" is worth all it costs. It gets results. And the telephone companies say it is being increasingly used.

When you want a thing done it always pays to ask for it in a courteous manner. You instantly gain the other man's good will. Try it.

Meighen, the Progressive.
(Toronto Telegram.)
There is more hope of effective opposition to the big interests in Arthur Meighen's ill. Drury's or J. D. Reid's title being than in Hon. E. C. Drury's whole body.

Carvell is a Poor Substitute for Coal.
(Toronto Telegram.)
Canada's Railway Commission headed by Hon. F. B. Carvell, was appointed to get coal for the people, not give advice to the people.

If the leadership of Hon. F. B. Carvell is all that stands between this country and coal famine next winter, then Canadians might prepare to pray the prayers of the late Hon. Edward Blake: "God Help Poor Canada."

A BIT OF VERSE

A FAMILIAR REFRAIN.
The day was wet, the car was full,
Packed like podded peas in hull,
Increasing at each "white pulled" stop,
Which kept the conductor on the hop.
"Move up to the front, please."

"Come off the step," the conductor said;
"The sky is gloomy overhead."
The crowd moved in but none moved out.
But still you heard that stentor shout,
"Move up to the front, please."

On to each strap a dozen hung,
No room to breathe for each other clung,
But still for more he must find place
"Move up to the front, please."

'Tis ever thus on the S. J. S. R.
There's room for more on a King street car,
And in one's dreams in the dead of night
That WHISPER wakes one up with fright.
"Move up to the front, please."

Oh, may it be when life is spent
And of our sins we do repent
(That is, if we are not too late),
St. Peter calls, with wide open gate
"Move up to the front, please."

THE LAUGH LINE

To the Point.
Mother (to daughter who, instead of going to church, went for a walk with her young man)—"What was the text this evening, dear?"
Daughter—"Love one another."

The Soft Answer.
The Man—"I say, Mabel! What do you mean by keeping me waiting at the corner half an hour and looking like a silly fool?"
The Maid (sweetly)—"I know I kept you waiting, Wilfred, dear, but really, you know, you did the rest yourself!"

Nons But the Brave Deserve the Fare.
Mr. Wiggins—"I'm going to France this year to visit the battlefields, y'know."
Miss Coudin—"How interesting! But isn't it dreadful how the cost of traveling has gone up?"
"You ought to have gone three or four years ago."

A Veil Needed.
"I can't think what's the matter with me. I eat like an ostrich, drink like a fish, sleep like a dormouse, and yet feel so tired as a dog. I must see a doctor."
"You don't want a doctor, George. You want a veil."

Not a Suitable Companion.
Mother—"Willie, you are not to use that bad language."
Willie (aged twelve)—"Shakespeare said what I have just said."
Mother—"Well, you must stop going with him, then."

Still Larger Experience.
"You know," said the boy, whose motor car had run down a man, "you must have been walking very carefully, since I am a very careful driver. I have been driving a car for seven years."
"Lady, that's nothing. I have been walking for fifty-four years."

Vain Call for a Life Line.
"Asked the boss for a raise yesterday. Told him I found it hard to keep my head above water, that I was being swamped with bills and was in danger of going under if he didn't come to my rescue."
"What did he say?"
"Told me it was a business he was running, not a life-saving station."

The Exact Hour.
"You say you were held up by a footpad with a revolver this morning. At what time?"
"Five minutes to one."
"How can you fix the time so precisely?"
"Because I could see the church clock, and I noticed the hands were in the same position as mine."

Police Court Cases Yesterday

Alfred Edmen, Charged With Having Liquor for Sale Forfeited a Deposit of $200—Other Cases Dealt With.

Several cases were before the police magistrate yesterday afternoon, but were postponed for further hearing. In the case of Alfred Edmen, charged with having liquor for sale, the defendant forfeited a deposit of $200 through failure to present himself at the resumed hearing of the case yesterday afternoon. J. A. Barry appeared for the defence, and W. M. Ryan for the prosecution.

Inspector Merryfield took the stand and gave evidence in a case against James Demain and Joseph Higgins, charged with having liquor in their possession other than their private dwelling.

Inspector Merryfield submitted M. V. Paddock's certificate of analysis of the liquor seized. It showed a percentage of 91 per cent. alcohol.

In answer to a Riddle as to whether the defendant had permission to have alcohol on his premises for the purpose of carrying on his business of cleaning and pressing, the inspector said he did not know that he had.

Joseph Higgins was called. He said that he conducted a cleaning and pressing establishment on Charlotte street. In his business he made use of alcohol, ether, chloroform, ammonia, gasoline and other liquids.

He had secured permission from the chief inspector to buy the alcohol seized. About three weeks ago he bought a half gallon from the Canadian Drug Co. and paid $7.50 for it.

Demain had been in his employ for about three months. On the day of his arrest he seemed sober.

As to himself the witness said that when arrested he was sleeping, and had been sick that day. He had not taken a drink from either of the bottles seized, but during the day he had five or six drinks of alcohol mixed with water from another bottle. He usually closed his shop at about nine but the night of the arrest was an exceptional night.

The case was allowed to stand until 11 o'clock Friday morning.

The magistrate said he was not sure that the inspector had the right to give permission for the purchase of alcohol. He was under the impression that wholesalers had only the right to sell to retailers. It was a question with him as to whether the law had been violated in the inspector's office, by the Canadian Drug Company or by the defendant, and it seemed hardly fair to pick the defendant out from sixty thousand as a special offender.

He allowed the defendant to go on his recognizance, saying that in a moment of weakness he had allowed the lemon extract people out, and the law was the same for rich and poor alike, he would do the same with the accused.

An assault charge against James Demain was then given a preliminary hearing.

Inspector Merryfield took the stand and gave evidence similar to that adduced in the morning's hearing of the liquor case in which the defendant was involved with Higgins.

The inspector said that in consequence of information received he entered Higgins' shop at nearly one in the morning. Higgins was lying on the floor, and Demain was on top of him. He had his employer's watch in one hand and was getting the chain out of the vest; the other hand was in Higgins' pants pocket.

The inspector asked him what he was doing, and the prisoner said, "That's all right; I'm a bloody Englishman, too." Witness locked the door, and started to search the shop, and the accused told him to get out.

The inspector phoned for the patrol and then phoned to the central police station. While doing so the accused struck at him, but he dodged. The prisoner then picked up a chair and struck at him again. The inspector grappled with him, threw him to the floor and put the handcuffs on him, and then took him to the lock-up.

At the morning hearing in the liquor charge, the inspector also said that the shop was upset, a glass with what he thought to be wood alcohol was on the table, and a tin of liquor under the table.

W. M. Ryan appeared for the crown, and E. S. Ritchie for the defence, in both the liquor case against Higgins and Demain and the assault case against Demain.

A case against William Speight, charged with selling liquor, was postponed until Friday, July 30, at 2 in the afternoon.

A case against Joseph Spiller, charged with breaking and entering the summer home of Miss Margarete Wall, near The Ferns, and stealing a pair of field glasses and a flashlight, was resumed.

Alex Phillips, an Indian, said the accused lived with him about a week near Duck Cove, and one day he went out and came back with the goods produced in court. This concluded the evidence, and the accused was remanded on this charge. Another case in which he is charged with breaking and entering the summer home of D. B. Pidgeon, Duck Cove, and stealing several articles, among which was a pocketbook, was also taken up yesterday morning. Dominick Bradford told seeing the pocketbook in the possession of the accused. The case was postponed until other witnesses could be summoned.

Dr. E. J. Ryan, reported for driving his automobile past a street car while passengers were alighting at the corner of Main street and Douglas avenue, on Monday last, was fined $10. Allowed to stand.

Daniella McLean, reported for dumping ashes and other refuse on a vacant lot at the corner of Brooks and Sheriff streets, by Sergt. Rankin, paid $10. Allowed to stand.

Getting Ready For Canadian Henley

St. Catharines, Ont., July 19.—Already there is much to indicate that the Canadian Henley Regatta of 1920 which will be held on the permanent course here Friday and Saturday, July 30 and 31, is going to be the premier affair in the history of the C. A. O. O. This is largely due to the fact that at the coming regatta Canadian oarsmen will compete for Olympic qualifications and that fact alone will have the effect of bringing Canada's best oarsmen here as well as some fast ones from the United States who will see the opportunity perhaps of heading Canada's candidates for Olympic honors.

Bob Dibble, Canadian singles champion, will be on hand to defend his title and it is confidently expected that Kelly, the American champion will also be here. Dibble is very anxious to meet Kelly on Canadian water because he thinks he can turn the tables on the man who put it over him across the line the other day. It is likely a special exhibition race will be arranged between Kelly, Dibble, Butler, former Canadian champion, and young Durman, of Toronto, who put on such a surprising performance here a year ago. This race will be one of the famous events in the history of rowing on the American continent.

Toronto, Ottawa, Detroit, Brock

ville, Montreal, Buffalo, Hamilton, and other rowing centres will be largely represented as usual. Duluth may send representatives and possibly Halifax. It is not known whether or Winnipeg will get here or not. Their crews would be very welcome. The four Buffalo rowing clubs will send oarsmen over to try for the trophies.

This year's Canadian Henley will surpass its usual standard in a social way. The Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario with a governmental party is expected to be present and all the Toronto yacht clubs and the Hamilton yacht club have been asked to bring cruising parties over. Motor parties are also being arranged.

The course is being put in shape for the big fixture. The races will all be rowed with a turn the same as previously, with the exception of the eights which are rowed straight away. Everything points to this being the best and biggest regatta in Canadian history.

CANNING WITH LITTLE SUGAR

One of the continent's most famous women domestic science experts says: "Many enquiries have come to me about canning and putting up strawberries and the smallest amount of sugar possible to preserve them. It is absolutely safe to use one cup of sugar to nine cups of water and boil ten minutes, then pour over fruit and sterilize."

Modern prophets should caution their predictions generally.

SINN FEIN REVEALS TWO "SECRET" LETTERS

Second Act in Comedy of Correspondence Shows Up Underground Activity of British Secretary and Royal Constabulary in Ireland.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)
 London, July 21.—Your correspondent is able to transmit two more secret Irish letters, this time from the mail-bag of Dublin Castle. This second act in the comedy of letters has Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, in the chief role and concerns the efforts of the British Government to organize quickly a civilian protection committee throughout Ireland and the thefts by the Sinn Fein of police bicycles.
 Both sides, that is the Sinn Fein and the British Government, while talking moderation, are engaged in the serious pastime of giving out confidential letters. There is always an air of secrecy about Ireland, anyway, and no one enjoys this more than the Irish, even when one of their countrymen such as William Barrie is caught by the time the British make a capture of secret correspondence the Sinn Fein make raids or get something on the British.

Letters Produced.
 Today I lunched with two Sinn Fein members of Parliament, that is, they were elected, but they refuse to take the oath of allegiance to the King. When I was speaking about Barrie's letters, one of them drew from his inside pocket a packet of secret correspondence from Dublin Castle, two letters of which I quote because they indicate that Chief Secretary Greenwood is at work secretly attempting to organize in Ireland protection committees in all cities, ostensibly to maintain order and suppress crime, but in the opinion of the Sinn Fein for the purpose of attempting to put the Irish republic out of business. Another letter from the Royal Irish Constabulary is interesting, not alone because the police inspector general complains that the Sinn Fein are stealing police bicycles, but because the police have been called upon to attempt to suppress the Irish volunteers who are rapidly taking over the police functions in more than one section of the Emerald Isle.

"Order" Maintenance Plan.
 The first letter and first act of the correspondence comedy read:
 "Chief secretary's office, sixth of July, 1920.
 "The Irish government have from time of time received suggestions from various quarters directed to the establishment of some effective method of co-operation between the law-abiding members of the community and the authorities in the maintenance of order and the prevention of crime. The Irish government have given careful consideration to these suggestions and think it opportune to indicate the condition under which, in their opinion, the object in view can best be secured. They consider that when local opinion is favorable to such a course, advantage would result from the constitution of a committee of representative citizens, irrespective of party, class or creed, with the object of advising and co-operating with the local police and military authorities in the execution of measures for the prevention of disorder and the suppression of crime. Such a committee, which might be called a protection committee, should be as fully representative as possible and bear no political label. It should meet at frequent intervals and be freshly constituted by the responsible police authorities.
 "Its members, in an individual capacity, may often be able to do much and by personal influence avert the beginnings of disorder or assist the authorities in suppressing disturbances in their early stages. Such a committee, fully representative of all the interests, was established in Derry toward the end of the recent outbreak with excellent results.
 "In conjunction with other committees of this character a body of responsible citizens, again without distinction as to class or creed, might be organized for the purpose of undertaking, under the control of the police and in a purely civilian capacity, patrol work and keeping the authorities in touch with local developments. Distinctive armlets and police whistles could be supplied if desired. The issue of arms is not contemplated. Local inspectors of police are invited to consider the possibility of instituting such arrangements in their districts and, wherever local conditions appear to them suitable, they are authorized to confer with neighboring local representatives with a view to action upon the lines indicated.
 "By the order of the chief secretary."
 Police instructed.
 The second letter reads:
 "Royal Irish Constabulary office,

UNITED STATES SCHOOL OF FOREIGN TRADE OPENS

Idea is to Fit Students to Serve as Advance Agents for American Trade Abroad.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)
 F. W. WILE.
 Washington, July 21.—A "Plattsburg" of foreign trade, officially designated as the summer school of Pan-American and Foreign Commerce, was opened Monday under the direction of the Pan-American Union to run for thirty days.
 As students the school will enroll bank presidents, exports managers and many others interested in the development of this country's foreign trade, especially with the other nations in the western hemisphere.
 The idea which originated in the mind of John Barrett, Director General of the Pan-American Union, will be under the executive direction of Dr. Clarence J. Owens of the Southern Commercial Congress, and Dr. R. S. MacElwain, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, will be the dean of the faculty.
 It is not the intention of the school to fit the applicants for any particular position but merely to so broaden their outlook in respect to foreign commerce that they will be able to serve as the advance agents of United States business in the foreign field.
 In addition to the three men named the faculty will include the following members:
 B. C. Gotsinger, who for eighteen years served in the office of the Treasurer of the United States; Dr. Julius Klein, commercial attaché to many South American countries and formerly chief of the Latin-America division, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; W. M. Maule, treasurer of Federal Export Corporation, New York; Edward F. Peely, commercial attaché to Mexico; William A. Reid, chief clerk and foreign trade adviser of the Pan-American Union; Prof. Arturo Torres, a Latin-American educator now instructor in commercial Spanish at Columbia University; and Prof. J. de Siqueira Coutinho, a Portuguese savant, a present professor of Portuguese language and literature, Free University of Lisbon.
 The lecturers who will assist from time to time in the work of the school, include many government officials and diplomats attached to the United States, among them are:

 Joshua W. Alexander, secretary of commerce; Admiral W. S. Benson, chairman of the United States Shipping Board; Federico A. Fogel, ambassador to the United States from Peru; J. Antonio Lopez Gutierrez, minister to the United States from Honduras; Joseph E. Lefevre, chargé d'affaires of the Panamanian legation; Duncan U. Fletcher, U. S. Senator from Florida; Phillander P. FLOUR MARKET

Minneapolis, Minn., July 21.—The Northwestern Miller in its weekly review of the flour trade says resumption of option trading in the wheat markets had very little influence upon flour and the trade remains unsettled as the uncertain period immediately preceding the reopening of dealing in futures buying is being done to fill immediate needs and there is a general feeling the prices will be lower. This was given strength by the decline in wheat at the end of last week. Flour prices fluctuated widely but the week's level was generally higher. There was a general improvement in milling output during the week, largely due to a desire to clean up on old contracts before entering upon the new crop. Spring wheat mills reported as output amounting to 48 per cent of capacity. Kansas, Oklahoma hard winter wheat mills 48 per cent and the Ohio Valley soft winter wheat mills 35.

SELLING OF SUGAR STOCKS CONTINUE

(F. B. McCurdy & Co.) The selling of the sugar stocks continued this afternoon, and further losses were recorded. United Fruit was also under pressure on account of its interest in the industry. The rest of the market acted much better and prices held close to top figures. The rally remained strong despite reports that the Board of outlaws walkouts in protest against the wage award. The Labor Board has granted a re-hearing on some phases of the findings. The market was so deadly dull this afternoon that outside definition was distinguished from irregular trading. Sales, 306,000.

SMALL DEALING IN STOCK ISSUES

Stout Resistance Offered to Professional Pressure — Traders Espoused Short Side.

New York, July 21.—The only noteworthy feature of today's stock market, apart from the very limited dealings, was the stout resistance offered to professional pressure. For the most part traders espoused the short side, but made little impression save in isolated cases. Railway shares led the market, so far as the list displayed any leadership of definite trend. The recovery of transportation issues suggested possible adjustment of the more important reference now existing between the railway brotherhoods and executives.

LABOR ATTITUDE AFFECTS MARKET

(F. B. McCurdy & Co.) Probably a name more familiar in the Nova Scotia shipping field than that of J. A. Farquhar, Halifax, who has been associated with marine transportation on the North Atlantic coast for many years. He has also been intimately associated with the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Labrador sealing industry in which he participated in years gone by in his own steamers. He has been a great traveler, and with his wife leaves shortly for an extensive trip to Europe.

SUGGESTED REMEDY FOR SHORTAGE OF FARM HELP

Newspapers throughout the country recently have been calling attention to the fact that within a very short time we may look for famine prices on wheat, corn, potatoes and other staple food crops. A further reason for this fall in yield exists something drastic is accomplished immediately in the way of producing an effective factor that will put a stoppage to the exodus of our young men to the cities. The question of "what is to be done?" is fundamental in its simplicity, but as a matter of fact, it is a very complex problem.

SUGAR ISSUES QUIETER THURS.

Continued to Move, However, to Higher Levels — Company's Report Awaited With Interest.

Montreal, July 21.—Today on the local stock exchange trading was quiet from the Atlantic issues to Brompton, the latter issue being actively sold in the late dealing, some 5,897 shares of the stock changing hands at a net loss of 1 1/2 points to 71, a new recent low.

MORE ACTIVITY ON MONTREAL

(F. B. McCurdy & Co.) Montreal, July 21.—There was a fair degree of activity on the local market in the early trading, but later in the day interest seemed to flag and the volume of business became of negligible quantity. Total transactions for the forenoon were 11,653 shares. Sugar was the most prominent stock on the list. The preferred was steady around 183. Breweries was moderately active. The pulp and paper group showed a tendency to react. The rest of the market drifted along without showing any particular changes. It would seem that traders are at present adopting a waiting attitude following the recent spectacular boom.

MARKET SUMMARY

(F. B. McCurdy & Co.) New York, July 21.—Aetna Explosives directors considering plans for distributing portion of company's surplus at meeting July 28th. I. C. C. gives northwest priority in coal movement. American Steel and Wire Company's crop report say corn is in excellent condition and making good headway, with spring wheat continuing favorable. Twenty industries, 90.68; up 0.47. Twenty rails, 72.88; up 0.27.

CURB MARKET

(F. B. McCurdy & Co.) Montreal, July 21.—Wholesale—10 at 54, 75 at 73 1/2, 50 at 53 1/4, 10 at 54, 25 at 55, 50 at 54 1/2, 5 at 55, 5 at 54. Tram Power—60 at 16. National Paid 370 at 5, 260 at 5, 18 at 5, 10 at 5 1/4, 5 at 5 1/4. Cuban—10 at 47 1/2. Mattagam—25 at 64, 5 at 63 1/2. Ames Tire—25 at 44, 25 at 44 1/4. Borden—20 at 64, 1 at 63, 5 at 64, 10 at 63 3/4, 25 at 63 1/2, 15 at 63 3/4.

LABOR ATTITUDE AFFECTS MARKET

(F. B. McCurdy & Co.) The wage committee of the railway executives in meeting in Washington today to consider ways of approximating the increased wages, and it is probable that a plan will be evolved by which some of the increase will be covered by passenger rates and the balance allotted to the freight rates. It is estimated that an additional 18 per cent is necessary to cover the $500,000,000 over and above the 28 per cent for which the roads have applied.

LABOR ATTITUDE AFFECTS MARKET

Confidence is felt that the I. C. C. will recognize the necessities of the roads and give them adequate relief. Reports from Ohio suggest a 15 per cent reduction in the prices because of a falling off in demand. Coinciding with this is the statement that Goodrich is to reduce its working force on August 1st.

General market action indicates that the recent selling has run its course, but the attitude of railroad labor is still a question, and the other stumbling block in the way of any advance in prices, is uncertainty as to whether money quantities will allow any such leeway.

World Trade Recovery Imminent. Mr. Otto Kahn's impressions of the European trade revival and England's leadership in it, is discussed in the current number of Investment Items. If your investment vision carries you to fields afar, you will enjoy reading it each month.

FRENCH ARMY MAINTAINS THE PEACE. Conferences Failed of Any Real Result—Nobody Satisfied With Spa Outcome.

VALIDITY OF PROTOCOL HAS BEEN QUESTIONED. Germans Signed With "Reservations" and Will Only Do What They Are Forced to. Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co. By WYTHE WILLIAMS. Paris, July 21.—The reunion of the Allies and the Germans just ended at Spa completely fulfilled the predictions I outlined in the present issue of this morning. None of the threatened "crises" came off. No one was satisfied with the results, and finally the major problem of reparations and indemnities was not discussed at all but referred to a future date at Spa.

Twice as Spa were the Allies forced to adopt a course that may be questioned in international law. Concerning both disarmament and coal, both the allied and German signatures appear on documents which threaten further military occupation. While the Allies may claim such to be merely a registration of their own intention, the German signatures, with German intentions, nevertheless the Germans already maintain the signature is invalid because no representative of any government has signed. However, the time limit was set. The point is undoubtedly enough to permit arguments until long after the time limit set in both disarmament or until long after the German ministry is replaced by another.

FRENCH ARMY KEEPING ORDER. As opposed to the failure of the Peace Conference as a peace preserving device, the Spa Conference further demonstrated that for the moment the peace of Europe is held by the French army—all other armies now being French.

"crises" came off. No one was satisfied

As foreseen, the Germans employed at Spa the exact methods used a year ago at Versailles. Between the extremes presented by Hugo Simmes and Doctor Simons—between the brus-queness of the coal baron and the real diplomacy of the foreign minister—one discovered the same brand of capable, scheming Germans who, convinced in their souls that the Treaty of Versailles is unjust, therefore intend to beat it if they can. So also, threatened, they hagglid threatened and finally signed, with both verbal and mental reservations on all points.

The usual favorable health bulletins are likely to be issued concerning the "cure of Spa"; but the outstanding truth of the Spa conference is that the peace of Europe can no longer be maintained by a conference of peace.

THE GREAT IMPERSONATION.

"The Great Impersonation" will be,
and deserves to be, one of the best sellers of the year.—The Boston Post.

"We are going into the Ruhr step by step," in the manner in which a prominent Frenchman today summed up the situation in western Europe now that the Spa conference has passed into history. France never wanted the Spa conference, but was unable to prevent it. While satisfied over the correctness of her prognostications as to its futility, she is extremely dissatisfied at the outcome of the coal negotiations of Millerand and Lloyd George, in which she declares
Millerand has given way.
As a matter of fact, France is seriously hungry for a leader to carry out what she conceives her proper vision toward the remaking and the reworking of the European peace. Also, as foretold, her presidential crisis—which is now openly commented upon by the French press—may bring such a leader to the front. Although M. Deschanel is again reported as recovering, it is not considered possible for him to remain in office long. The names of several men have been mentioned recently, any of whom, if chosen, would make the position of president of France far different from that of a figurehead of state such as it has been in the past.

more or less out of consideration as fighting forces. Whether the activities of the French army in the near future will keep it in such a role is problematical.

New rumors from Berlin indicate it is the latter situation that will arise. However, the time limits were points on which the Germans won,
for now time works for the Germans
rather than the Allies, and in the time the Allies have conceded it is opined by the Germans themselves that much can happen.

As opposed to the failure of the Peace Conference as a peace preservative, the Spa conference further demonstrated that for the moment the peace of Europe is held by the French army—all other armies now being
