

Grand Mid-Summer Clearance Sale

For several years now we have had an annual clearing up of summer goods. We make it a point to carry over no summer goods of any description. It takes nerve to put the PRICE KNIFE into nice new summery fabrics, but we have the NERVE. We can save you a pile of money this next few weeks if you care to come in and look the matter over.

JEWELERS.A BRUTISH TRICK
SAYS MR. HACHEY

Mr. J. Bennett Hachey Scores Perpetrators of Joke Upon His Father,

JOKERS INSULTED TOO

Will Give Them An Opportunity to Prove the Correctness of Stories Circulated.

To the Editor of the Advocate,
I regret exceedingly that circumstances forced me to refer in your columns to the serious accident at Newcastle on the morning of July 2nd of which my father J. J. S. Hachey was the victim. It was my father's intention at the time in common with that of our family to draw the veil of charity over the unfortunate occurrence.

I can assure you that I was not looking for any opportunity of expressing my indignation which I felt, at the brutal trick perpetrated on my father, but for a coterie of Mr. Hinton's who have been base enough to add insult to injury I would have rested the matter where it was.

By their fabulous stories this coterie wish to place the blame for the accident upon my father's shoulders, besides they are making light of the injuries sustained by him, and by flat contradictions to the statements made by the attending physician try to lead some people into the belief that the whole matter is a pretense, although their excuses without exception are too foolish and trifling to have the shadow of a foundation. But even were the facts such as they falsely state them to have been does it ever evince a spirit of justice towards us for this coterie to be sitting in judgment upon my father's reputation while he was unable to leave the sick room? In either case then, the first principles of justice have been violated by them and a gross insult has been added to injury.

I may however state for the satisfaction of these parties that they shall be given in due time an opportunity of proving the correctness of their unjust and uncharitable ravings.

Thanking you sir for the privilege of your columns

ANOTHER BAD ROAD.

The most scandalous example of neglected road work is to be seen on the road along the Northwest river in the parish of North-east, especially on that portion of it between Redbank bridge and Way's. Parts of it which were gullied out by the spring rain—especially the hill near Wild Cat Brook—are dangerous to drive over. Nearly every cross-drain covering is out of repair, with either the soil washed away on each side or the poles forming the covering sticking up above the grade of the road, so that teams must be driven with the greatest caution. It is too much the custom in that region for road repairing to be deferred until the fall of the year, after the people suffering loss and inconvenience all summer through neglect of duty on the part of those in charge. Cannot the councillors for North-east awaken the Commissioners and set them to work?—Advance.

Raddiffe In Woodstock To Hang Gee on Friday—Big Russian Loss.

(Special to the Advocate.)

WOODSTOCK, July 19.—Raddiffe the hangman arrived this morning and was at once driven to the jail. He will take charge of all the preparations for the execution Friday morning of George Gee. The latest news from Glasville is that Thomas Comaick who murdered Wm. Doherty is in a precarious condition. He shot himself in the head and will likely die. His son, Ben has been arrested as accomplice.

PRIZE STEAMER AT SUEZ.

PORT SAID, July 19.—The Peninsular and Oriental Line steamer Malacia, captured in the Red Sea has arrived here flying the Russian naval flag and in command of Russian naval officers. She carries a prize crew from the volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg. The Malacia will pass through the canal.

HEAVY RUSSIAN LOSS.

General Kurokik headquarters in the field via Frisan, July 19.—More Russian troops engaged in yesterday's battle at Maot'n Pass than in any previous engagements. In the fight at Zalerive Russian loss is estimated at 3000. Burial of dead continues. Japanese casualties aggregated 300.

Engagement conspicuously demonstrated the wonderful efficiency of the Japanese infantry. They proved incomparably better marksmen with more initiative and outflank and outgeneraled the Russians at every point.

PRESBYTERIAL MEETING.

The Miramichi Presbyterial, the women's missionary organization within the bounds of the Miramichi Presbytery, held their annual convention in St. Andrews church at Campbellton on Wednesday. There was quite a number of delegates in attendance, although not as many as expected. The morning and afternoon sessions were taken up with consideration of reports from the different missionary societies and mission bands, all showing the work to be in a satisfactory and healthy condition, and the interest throughout good.

The officers were elected as follows:—
Pres.—Mrs. Aitken, Newcastle.
Secretary—Mrs. O. Nichol, Newcastle.
Treasurer—Miss A. Aitken, Dalhousie.

Leading Citizens of Chatham and Newcastle Revive Once Popular Sport.

A GAME ON SATURDAY.

Newcastle Defeated Chatham at Bushville—Organizing a Club.

(Special to the Advocate.)

It is quite a new Premier Tweedie pitches with scientific precision. So do several of the leading citizens of Chatham and Newcastle. The first named town has a bang up sport club and among those for the membership roll is Premier Tweedie.

Last week a few of Newcastle's leading business and professional men heard a good deal about the fact the Chatham men were having at Bushville, so they put themselves into communication with the down river quodders with the result that a meeting was arranged for on Saturday afternoon last.

Bushville was selected as the gathering place and at 3 o'clock the following were assembled there from Chatham—Premier Tweedie and Messrs. R. A. Lawlor, Robt. Murray, Jas. Johnston, John Lawlor and McNealey.

The following went from Newcastle—Messrs. W. A. Park, R. Gorry Clarke, R. H. Armstrong, W. S. Moore, A. A. Davidson and R. T. Aitken.

Mr. Moore proved to be the crack man on the Newcastle team. In fact he outstripped all of the Chatham veterans.

After playing for sometime and breaking about even it was decided to have a game played between the two star players of each team so Messrs. Moore and Aitken played against Messrs. McNealey and Lawlor.

At the last round the score was 19 19. Here Mr. Aitken made 2 thus defeating the Chatham cranks.

It is likely Chatham and Newcastle will play again at Bushville on Saturday next. The Newcastle men are now organizing a club and are trying to procure suitable grounds.

MUSIC NOW IF PUBLIC SAY SO.

Band Concerts Once a Week If Citizens Will Subscribe a Suitable Amount.

SUBSCRIPTION LIST OPEN.

The Advocate has received assurance from the management of both the Orange band and the C. M. B. A. band that four concerts will be given on the public band stand for $12.50. In other words each band agrees to play every alternate Wednesday evening for eight weeks for the sum stated above. The Advocate will attempt to raise the full amount $25, and should have little effort in doing so.

It is only right that some encouragement should be given to Newcastle's musical organizations. The members of both bands have labored earnestly and well and both organizations are now supplying excellent music. In order to show the bands that the citizens generally appreciate their efforts and in order to supply a pleasant evening's entertainment for the people of Newcastle the Advocate has opened a public subscription. If the required amount $25, is forthcoming there will be an open air concert every Wednesday evening for eight weeks. The necessary amount should be in our hands by this evening. The names of the donors will be published in the next issue of the Advocate.

If we receive more than the required amount it is as likely to be the case, we will divide the additional amount equally between the two bands.

Believing that we will have no trouble in raising the amount the Advocate has arranged for the C. M. B. A. band to come out this evening. Send your subscriptions to the Editor of the Advocate, The Union Advocate $2.

He Missed His Footing and Locomotive Passed Over His Body.

Mr. William Irving, a young I. C. R. Brakeman, met with a shocking accident at Newcastle about seven o'clock Thursday morning and died from the effects of his injuries a few hours later. Brakeman Irving was on Con. D. Sweeney's north bound special and it seems was in the act of stepping on the pilot of the moving engine, when he missed his footing and fell under the wheels, which passed over one of his legs close to the body. The unfortunate young man was tenderly conveyed to a house nearby and medical aid summoned but he succumbed to his injuries about 12 o'clock.

Brakeman Irving had only been on the road about a month and left Moncton Wednesday night on Sweeney's special for Campbellton.

Deceased's mother, Mrs. Fisher, who lives on the Dorchester Road, was notified of the sad affair and came to Newcastle Thursday afternoon on the Ocean Limited.

Brakeman Irving was about 25 years of age and unmarried.

The remains were taken to his former home on Dorchester Road for interment.

A Plea Made For Extension of Electric Light System—
Other Matters.

I wish the small boy and others would quit tearing wrappers from newspapers and throwing them about the streets. Several horses have been frightened by it. Orange peels, too, should not be thrown promiscuously about.

It seems to me that our electric light system should be extended to the town limits. Residents of the Bridgeville end of the town have as much right to enjoy the advantages of electricity as those living in the centre of the town.

WHY WOMEN TALK.

Here Is Some Sound Advice to the Charming Summer Girl.

Philosophers and others have suggested various causes for woman being such a 'chatterbox'. According to some, man, thinking more deeply, speaks more slowly; and woman redeems the balance by making up in quantity what she lacks in quality. Others ascribe it to woman's more excitable temperament.

And still others tell us that that lymphatic fluid which washes the brain is more copious in woman's head than in man's. This looks like a point to her. But let her not boast too soon. For those in senile decay have twice as much of it as those in adult vigor; and idiots have the most abundant supply of all.

But now enters the honorary secretary of the Ambidextral Society, and asserts that ladies speak more than men because they cultivate the use of their left hand more than men do, and that consequently the two lobes of their brain is always active.

He will not say that ambidexterity will make us all angels, but it will certainly make us better men and women. Now one understands why pugilists are always such amiable beings. But what do this mean.

Paralysis of the brain was sometimes brought about by the failure of the people to use only one hand

North Shore—the Advocate? "Well, I have made inquiries at the business office of this paper concerning the matter and I am informed that the railway authorities do not seem disposed to pay for the insertion of the time table. I believe they prefer to allot their money for advertising purposes to the papers of the city of Moncton—a city whose every inhabitant knows the exact minute of the coming and going of every train.

I notice that electric lights have not as yet been placed on the public band stand of Newcastle. This is too bad! The summer is fast slipping away and our overworked and over-heated citizens are unable to hearken to any refreshing band music. Surely the Light Committee of the Town Council or which ever committee has the matter in charge will act quickly so that our two bands may have a chance to regale the populace before the hot weather is over.

Out-of-town-ers complain to me that there is only one watering-trough in town—that at Mr. Hennessy's corner, and that it is sometimes an inconvenience to drive around there simply for the purpose of watering horses. They maintain there should be another trough and that it should be placed in a convenient locality. I quite agree with them. But what is the use of talking?

Would it not be a sensible idea in view of Sabbath Observance laws to have the watering cart do duty an hour or two on Saturday evenings so that church goers on Sunday mornings would not be blinded by dust? It seems to me it would. Goodness knows the watering cart is not overworked a little sprinkle on Saturday would not hurt it a bit, and upon building up her health.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS

Pretty Nuptials of Rev. H. Johnston and Miss Georgina Harrison

HONEYMOON IN P. E. I.

Bride is a Prominent Worker in Methodist Church Where Ceremony Took Place.

An exceedingly pretty and popular marriage was that of Rev. Hammond Johnston, pastor of the Newcastle Methodist Church, to Miss Georgina May, daughter of Rev. George Harrison, pastor of the Methodist divine. The ceremony was performed in the groom's church here on Wednesday morning last at 9 o'clock in the midst of scores of friends of the contracting parties. The church was very tastefully decorated for the occasion with streamers of air ferns, acacia, and daisies. The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Frederick Yorston. She was daintily gowned in white and carried a bouquet of roses and maiden-hair fern. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Harrison, sister of the bride and the groom was supported by Rev. Mr. Pinkerton.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Harrison, assisted by Rev. Jas. Strothard of Chatham.

Prof. Layton presided at the organ and played two very pretty marches. The choir of the church of which the bride is a prominent member was also present.

The ushers were Messrs. Waldo Crocker and William Clarke.

At 11 o'clock a pretty reception was held at the bride's home and at 12.15 the happy couple took the Ocean Express amid showers of rice and best wishes. They will spend about a month on Prince Edward Island. The brides travelling gown was blue broadcloth with hat to match.

There were many handsome presents received. A large number came from the members and adherents of the grooms church.

Mr. Johnston presented his bride with a fine upright piano. The Sunday School of the Methodist church gave the bride a handsome clock.

Instead of using both, and so cultivating both lobes? That sentence suggests that there is a danger, when both lobes are active at once, of their getting mixed. Perhaps, after all, it is safety to use only one.

A writer in the Boston Post extends some very able advice to the Summer Girl. We all know her. There are many here in Newcastle. I quote a portion of the article:

"It is all very well for you to announce that your daughter is going away for recreation. It is very clever and wise of you to sweetly remark that she is packing those 23 frocks and that $25 bathing suit in her trunk for the sake of her health. And it is equally diplomatic of your neighbor to pretend to believe you and to agree that the dear girl does look pale and then to hasten home to persuade her eligible son that he had better stay in the city and to convince him that the sea is malarial. But—well, what ever you may say and do you cannot quite persuade yourself that Dorothy really did plan and fit and try on and suffer over all those frocks just in order to have a good time in them. And you can't quite believe that you have bullied your husband into giving you that extra hundred or so instead of putting it into the mortgage or the bank. If Dorothy had merely been bent upon building up her health. Now, in her heart of hearts, every

GREAT PAINS IN THE CHEST

Mr. John Clark, coachman, Port Hope, Ont., states:

"Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper and had great pains in the chest. At last I feared it would develop into consumption. A friend advised me to use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

girl knows that this going away every summer is a matter of business. She knows that there isn't much health in dressing up three times a day, dining in a hot hotel and dancing or flirting until long past 1 a. m. for 90 nights out of the summer season. But it is all very wise of you to put it that way to yourself, and if your neighbor has an eligible son, it is more than wise for you to put it that way to her.

As a matter of fact, summer is the season when the marriageable girl joins hands with Cupid and lays out a plan of attack upon mere man that would make a time-worn chaperon or a hardened old match-maker blush. For the modern girl is like Becky Sharpe. She needs no kind mamma to plan for her. She only asks that mamma keep discreetly out of the way and she will paddle her own canoe with safety straight into the matrimonial harbor.

How The Newspaper Paragrapher Fares With The World's Famous Men.

No 3.
In the palmy days of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company—if one can reconcile oneself to the belief that this organization was ever in a flourishing condition—there were at least three officials on the plant who received salaries of over $10,000 to say nothing of substantial perquisites. I have in mind the general manager, Mr. A. J. Moxham whose stated salary was $25,000; the general superintendent, Mr. Charles McCreery, whose salary was $15,000 and the treasurer, Mr. H. M. Davies whose salary was slightly above $10,000. These gentlemen were long since departed from the scene of Sydney's meteoric industrial proposition. McCreery was the first to go. He is now vice-president and general manager of the big Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. Moxham followed McCreery and is now conducting at Wilmington, Del. one of the largest powder industries in the world. Davies is now somewhere up in New York State. McCreery is a long, lanky Southerner, with deep set dark eyes and a tan colored skin. He used to be a good deal impressed with his own importance and his manner was generally brusque and supercilious. He was a typical Southerner in manner and appearance. McCreery would rarely give a statement to the press regarding the progress of the works under his supervision. It was only when some dire calamity happened that he "cut loose" and even then he would insist on having the mildest sort of story possible appear in print.

One incident in McCreery's Sydney career I shall probably never forget.

The Country. An Epitome of Events Gathered by ADVOCATE Reporters.

BATHURST.

The salmon fishing on the coast has shown considerable improvement during the past week, some very fair catches having been made by the nets near Bathurst harbor. The fishermen report that a great number of grilse have been seen jumping above the Nepisiguit bridge and about the head of the tide these days. It is evident the fish are waiting for rain and a permanent rise of water in the river. The anglers at the Pabineau Falls had some pretty fair fishing last week, but the weather is too warm for good work on the river.

The Messrs. Roberts of Halifax went into camp on the Nepisiguit on Saturday.

A young fox, quite tame, which Mr. Fred Robertson secured a few days ago, is an attraction for the small boys and visitors at the Robertson House.

The new building intended for a store for Miss Meahan and offices for the Royal Bank on Water Street is taking on quite an attractive appearance as it nears completion, and will be quite a credit to the builders. We are living in hopes that some of the other holders of lands there will put up some of the promised buildings and relieve the principal street in town from its sombre appearance.

One or two buyers for large lumber concerns were on the North Shore last week, which we hope is an evidence of improvement in the market. At the same time we were informed by one of the largest lumber dealers on the north Shore this week that he did not look for any better markets before spring, though he hoped there would be a decided change during the winter months, particularly if New Brunswick shippers had back bone enough to hold off, and not rush the markets in the meantime, which is doubtless good advice.

The recent rains have had a good effect on growing crops but farmers say more wet weather is needed, particularly for the hay crop which is very light.

The Cigarette Bill.

To the Editor: It is now over five years since the agitation for a bill to prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes began. In that time and in the interest of this bill, thousands of public addresses have been made, hundreds of thousands of pages of literature scattered and a petition, representing nearly 200,000 people, presented to parliament. The press of this country from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, has noticed, and in the main, approved the movement. Amongst religious and temperance journals there has been no dissenting voice of which we know. The Presbyterian general assembly, every Methodist conference in the country, Baptist conventions, the Congregational union and the general gathers of other denominations and of temperance and philanthropic societies, have passed strongly worded resolutions of endorsement, as have also many city and town councils and school boards. From individual voters thousands of letters and telegrams have poured into Ottawa to their representatives, asking support for the measure.

Its Introduction.

Last session a motion favoring such a bill was introduced and carried by 103 yeas to 48 nays. The bill followed, running a long gauntlet of opposition. It was pushed from one order paper to another, and finally dropped out of sight on a ruling of the speaker. It was pointed out at the time, by a friend of the bill, that other measures had been permitted to pass that might have been knifed on the same grounds.

This year the bill has had a first and second reading, and has passed committee of the whole. It is now confronted with an amendment introduced by Mr. Gervais. This asks that the title of the bill be altered and every clause in it struck out. Instead of prohibiting manufacture, importation and sale, as in Tennessee, Oklahoma, etc., it provides that sale to those under 19 years of age be forbidden.

The following are the objections to such action:

Five out of our seven provinces have legislated against the sale to

Summer with its soft breezes, its moonlit night nights, its music and sea waves is the season of her opportunity. For it is then a young man throws off the feeling of responsibility that has weighed down his tongue all winter, forgets there are such things as debts and board bills and swims sweetly and unconsciously into the first net set for him.

The method of the modern girl might easily be called the continuous siege. At no time of a summer day does she rest from her labors. She feels that man is slow and time is fleeting.

In her grandmother's day the girls were content to wait until the sun went down and the moon rose before casting their nets. They did it quietly, discreetly, artfully. And we cannot but confess they did it much more successfully than we with our breathless and strenuous methods. All day long the old-fashioned girl spent indoors, away from the unbecoming sun. All day long she went about in curl papers and a face wash, with kid gloves over her white hands and a sunbonnet protecting her face. Then when tea was over, she burst forth in white muslin, ribbons and curls, a thing of beauty to make her conquest by the light of the moon.

But the modern girl is up at dawn to begin her siege. A man at a summer hotel cannot even lie abed of mornings, for there is Miss Jones, who has engaged him for an early morning dip or a mountain climb, and Miss Smith, who expects him to be on the golf links before 8 o'clock, and Miss Brown who will drop by, in her trap, at half past 8, and so his day goes.

The girl who knows and understands men, realizes that the fascinations of moonlight and music and dancing frocks are flimsy things. That is why she would be willing to forego all her evening conquests for one single conquest made in the broiling sun before luncheon.

A proposal made on a summer hotel piazza, or on the beach, where the moon sits softly down upon you and you can hear the violins in the distance, and you are wearing your best white organdie and a rose in your hair, is not to be taken seriously. Of this sort of affair every girl has dozens during the summer. But they are like the green strawberries in the bottom of a box—only good for filling up. If you want to test the genuineness of a man's affections, keep him out on the links or the tennis court in the broiling sun without his luncheon for a whole day, and then see if he proposes. If he does, you may as well plan your wedding dress and decide whether to have it in the church or in the drawing room, and count the number of bridesmaids, for that is the kind of proposal that is really meant, and the man who makes it is the one who could see you in curl papers and a morning wrapper without being startled in the slightest, or even dreaming of divorce, and who could face poverty and the mother-in-law question for you without flinching any more than he does at the rays of the August sunshine—The Tennis Girl.

KUMFORT HEADACHE POWDERS

THE picture illustrates your feelings when in the grasp of those racking and splitting headaches. What you need is not something that deadens your nerves and dulls and obscures your vision, but a good, safe, reliable medicine like KUMFORT HEADACHE POWDERS. These powders are made of the very ingredients Nature intended for the cure of headache. They give relief in a few moments and wherever used are recognized as the one sure, sure headache cure.

They have been a standard remedy for many years. They have no superior. We do not claim that these headache powders are cure-alls, or that they will do the impossible, but we do claim that there is nothing else known to medical science which acts so quickly and effectively in cases of headaches of all kinds.

Your druggists sell KUMFORT HEADACHE POWDERS at 10 cents for four powders; 25 cents for twelve powders. If desired, you can secure them direct from us on receipt of price.

JOHN D. BOWLEY, Merchant at Rogersville, N.H. writes: "The best remedy for a headache that I have ever used. They cure in a few minutes, cause no labor, and I have found them safe and harmless."

A.V. SAWYER, of Newburg, N.Y. writes: "They are the most satisfactory and perfect cure for headache I have ever known."

The board of Directors have authorized the sale of 142,478 shares of the 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock, the balance, 102,522 shares to remain in the treasury.

The proceeds of the 142,478 shares sold to you are to be applied to further improvements and acquiring additional property and the erection of a custom smelter in North Carolina for the treatment of copper ores.

American Industries Company is the consolidation of the following mines:—Lelia, Granite and Safe-guard (Gold) Oregon; Maxatauney, Magnetia Springs, Superior, Empire, Excelsior, Marietta, (Iron) Pennsylvania; Maxatauney, Excelsior and Superior (Urbine, Umber and Sierra Deposits) Pennsylvania; Cornwall (Copper, North Carolina; Placer Washing, Eureka, Emporia (Gold) Georgia.

The gold ores (free milling) assay from $2.00 to $97.00 per ton. The iron ores assay from 40 per cent. to 55 per cent. metallic iron, and yield a profit of $1.00 to $1.50 per ton. The milling of ochres, umbers and siennas now net a profit varying from $2.50 to $3.50 per ton.

The smelter when completed will show a profit of over $50,000.00 per annum.

A NEGLECTED GRAVE.

In an inconspicuous spot in St. James cemetery, beneath the shades of stately trees, the grave of one of Canada's foremost statesmen in the gloomy days of confederation remains almost neglected and unseen. We have reference to the last resting place of the late Hon. Peter Mitchell. Is it not rather a shame on the County of Northumberland that one of its greatest sons—one of the greatest sons of the Province of New Brunswick—of the Dominion of Canada should lie beneath the sod without so much as a small tombstone to mark his place of burial. The meanest trait in human character is said to be ingratitude. People who do not appreciate the worth of a country's constructor should at least bow before a common patriot. To love one's country is to love one's patriots! And perhaps Canada never had a truer patriot than Peter Mitchell. A suitable memorial should be erected in his honor. The Advocate invites suggestions on the subject.

The next Minister of Militia, Dundonald.

AN UNNECESSARY EVIL.

It is a difficult thing nowadays to persuade people to take anything seriously except politics and religion. Conspicuously tagged as an unnecessary evil is the habit of many folks of purchasing a large percentage of their wearing apparel by mail. Yet to attempt to discourage this practice seems like a waste of time and energy for those who pursue it will likely treat any such attempt with contemptuous indifference. Those who habitually purchase from outside firms will soberly tell you that they will spend their own money just wherever they choose. These people apparently do not take into consideration the fact that the dollars which they promiscuously scatter abroad tend to weaken their own financial condition. Every dollar which leaves a community effects in a greater or lesser degree every individual member of that community! One should try and imagine how many dollars are unnecessarily exported from a community such as Newcastle in the course of ten years. If statistics were obtainable we would doubtless be alarmed over the vastness of the number. Supposing people ARE able to buy outside at a slight advantage they are making an unpardonable error in doing so for they are merely helping to impoverish the community in which they reside without any substantial personal gain. It is a noticable fact that those who follow this invidious practice are those who go eagerly enough to the local dealer when they are without cash and desire credit. Surely this is an evil which the buying public of Newcastle might well be as full in the

A MODERN HUMBUG.

Now that Oom Paul Kruger, the one time idol of the Boer people is dead, the newspapers, with few exceptions, indulge in extravagant eulogies of his life which seem to us in very bad taste especially when we review the events of a few years ago which made of South Africa a veritable shambles for the youth of the British empire. In our estimation Paul Kruger was one of the greatest humbugs or "accidents" of the past century or of any century. We have not a single proof of his genius or statesmanship. At the best he was a mere adventurer whom fortune elevated to a commanding position. At the worst he was a master of hypocrisy. His position afforded him scope for deceptions. His favorite one was the establishment of a Dutch republic from Cape Town to Delagoa Bay. This was the cause of the importation of arms and ammunition which were mostly paid for by the Uitlanders to be used against themselves. It caused the formation of the Africander bond and the establishment of trained German gunners. It caused the slaughter of thousands of lives and the expenditure of millions of money. But it also caused the undoing of the man who cherished it. This man's true character was pointed clearly and unmistakably when he fled from the scene of the appalling strife he had created and took the hard earned money of the poor misguided Burgers with him.

Russia forgot her "man in the other cheek" principle last week and slapped back.

HONEST INDEPENDENTS.

At a joint meeting of the P. W. A. lodges of Cape Breton, Grand Secretary Moffat announced that he had been directed to organize a labor party in that county to nominate its own candidate for the next federal election.

Such was the news heralded abroad last week. There is indeed room for a third party—not only in Cape Breton but in every county in the Dominion. It is immaterial to us whether such a party voices the sentiments of labor or whether it does not, even if the advocates of that class are insufficiently represented in the legislative bodies of this country and of all other countries. What we most desire and what the country most needs is a larger representation in parliament of men who are completely independent of Toryism and of Liberalism. The time is drawing close at hand when there will be a widespread revolt against the graft and intrigue which now characterize the "secret" deliberations of both political parties. We are happy in the belief that there are today fewer hide bound partisans than ever. We will probably never be rid of the professional "hangers on". But sooner or later all political parties must depend for support through thick and thin—through good and bad, on the petty individual with an axe to grind. The organization in Cape Breton of an independent labor party is a step in the right direction. A similar party might be organized to advantage in Northumberland.

It is pretty hard to tell just now where some of the roads in Northumberland lead to.

RANK POLITICAL METHODS.

"I am not sure but that our constitution is in danger. It is not the Pope at Rome who is our enemy; it is our Canadian politicians. There are politicians on both sides in Parliament today seeking to rob us of the political freedom our fathers fought for. These men are the real enemies of Canada. The methods employed to steal our votes and to keep in power are a disgrace to our country."

The above are the very sensible observations made by Canon Faithing in the course of an address delivered last week at Woodstock, Ontario. Unfortunately Canada possesses too few such men as the distinguished Ontario Episcopal dignitary. Canon Faithing is a man of thought—a man of sound convictions, and a man of

RUB BY TYROS.

Mrs. Harri Whippley of Point Street, once little eleven-year-old son, Sanford, died last Friday after an operation performed in the General Public Hospital, has a complaint against that institution.

It is somewhat surprising that there are no more complaints against these day-run institutions. The majority of St. John's Hospital men serve their apprenticeship in the hospital and are entrusted with the most difficult cases. Surely this institution should have an experienced and competent physician at its head.

This strike among the Chicago meat packers is a good thing for the fish dealers. "It's an ill will—" etc.

When young Irving met his death in the I. C. R. Yard here on Wednesday last he was pursuing a practice which is common among railroad men viz, jumping on the tender of a moving engine. Irving's death simply illustrates the great danger involved in such a practice. The slightest mis-step probably means death. If the Association of Railroad Trainmen would pay more attention to the means of protecting the lives of its members than it does to the means of protecting the families of deceased members there would be less of these unfortunate accidents to record.

If it wasn't for the Summer Girl this weather would be intolerable.

We presume a newspaper has as much right to send out accounts as any other business institution. Some would like to deprive it of this right. These people are as quisotic in their ideas as they would like to be autistic in their actions.—Exchange.

No it is a dangerous practice for a newspaper—this sending out accounts. It is liable to mean the loss of a good many "never pay" subscribers!

The Chatham editor who declared the other day that anyone who clung carefully to an upturned boat in the water was just about as safe as anyone on land, must have a hideous time of it with his subscribers.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE

To Brother John Curtis and family Blackville, N. B. July 12th, 1904.

At the last regular meeting of Blackville Loyal True Blue Lodge No. 291 sympathy was expressed by the members present in the loss sustained by you and your family in the sudden death of your beloved father. But we feel that any expression of ours in this sad bereavement is but poor comfort.

We would direct your thoughts to Him who has taught us to say "Thy will be done" and hope that you may feel that he is not dead but gone before to that city whose builder and maker is God.

It was at a time when the Dominion Iron and Steel Company was being boomed for all it was worth. Moxham was away up in Montreal and Toronto making after-dinner speeches to which he declared his company could turn out iron and steel at a less cost than any other plant in the world. And I think Davies was with him.

Well one day, a rather shrewd looking, well groomed man registered at the Sydney Hotel as Thomas E. Ryan, New York. He soon made himself acquainted with the leading lights of the town by passing himself off as a member of the well known New York law firm of Ryan and Ryan.

He was put up at the clubs. He played poker and lost and had a good time generally in a well bred way.

Shortly after his arrival I asked him what his game was. He told me he would

The murder occurred between 11 and 12 o'clock on Sunday night. Commack entered Doherty's house through the cellar, stole up to the sleeping apartments where Commack's wife lived.

William Doherty heard the intruder but before he could make an outcry Commack drew a revolver and fired two shots. Doherty died almost instantly. Commack then shot Charles Doherty through the chin and George Doherty through the left shoulder. He then attempted the life of his wife. He beat her with the butt of the revolver and cut an eight inch laceration in her back. Two children of

The murder was then tried and the buried man's body burned with his home. The children and the others escaped in night clothes. Walter Commack, son of the murderer, was with his father at the time, holding his horse in a nearby stable close by. He has been arrested as an accomplice. Sheriff Foster has summoned a posse of fifteen men, who were sent out and scoured the woods for the murderer. Commack was captured about 4 o'clock in the woods back of his house. The posse had orders to take him dead or alive.

When the song was ended he struck the rail he leaned upon a sharp blow with his open hand. There swept over him a feeling that he had stood precisely where he stood now on such a night a thousand years ago; had heard that voice and that song and been moved by the voice and the song and the night just as he was moved now. He had long known himself for a sentimentalist. He had almost given up trying to cure himself. And he knew himself for a born lover. He had always been in love with some one. In his earlier youth his affections had been so constantly inconstant that he finally came to settle with his self respect by recognizing in himself a fine constancy that worshipped one woman always. It was only the shifting image of her that changed. Somewhere (he dreamed, whimsically indulgent of the fancy, yet mocking himself for it) there was a girl whom he had never seen who waited till he should come. She was everything. Until he found her he could not help adoring others who possessed little pieces and suggestions of her—her brilliancy, her courage, her short upper lip, "like a curled rose leaf," or her dear voice or her pure profile. He had no recollection of any lady who had quite her eyes. He had never passed a lovely stranger on the street in the old days without a thrill of delight and warmth. If he never saw her again and the vision had only lasted for the time it takes a lady to cross the sidewalk from a shop door to a carriage he was always a little in love with her because she bore about her somewhere, as did every pretty girl he ever saw, a suggestion of the faraway divinity. One does not pass lovely strangers in the streets of Plattsville. Miss Briscoe was pretty, but not at all in the way that Harkless dreamed. For five years the lover in him that had loved so often had been starved of all but dreams. Only at twilight and dusk in the summer, when straggling he caught sight of a woman's skirt for up the village street, half outlined in the darkness under the cathedral arch of meeting branches, this romantic of petticoats could sigh a true lover's sigh and, if he kept enough distance between, fly a yearning fancy that his lady wandered there.

Ever since his university days the image of her had been growing more and more distinct. He had completely settled his mind as to her appearance and her voice. She was tall, almost too tall, he was sure of that; and out of his consciousness there had grown a sweet and vivacious young face that he knew was hers. Her hair was light brown, with gold lusters (he reveled in the gold lusters on the proper theory that when your fancy is painting a picture you may as well go in for the whole thing and make it sumptuous), and her eyes were gray. They were very earnest, and yet they sparkled and laughed to him companionably, and sometimes she smiled back upon her. The undine danced before him through the lonely years, on fair nights in his walks and came to sit by his fire on winter evenings when he stared alone at the embers.

And tonight, here in Plattsville, he heard a voice he had waited for long, one that his fickle memory told him he had never heard before. But, listening, he knew better—he had heard it long ago, though when and how he did not know, as rich and true and ineffably tender as now. He threw a sop to his common sense. "Miss Sherwood is a little thing" (the image was so surely tall, "with a bumpy forehead and spectacles," he said to himself, "or else a provincial young lady with big eyes to pose at you." Then he felt the ridiculousness of looking after his common sense on a moonlight night in June; also, he knew that he lied.

The song had ceased, but the musician lingered, and the keys were touched to plaintive harmonies new to him. He had come to Plattsville before "Cavalier Rusticiana" won the prize at Rome.

Women have Kidney Disease

And make the mistake of attributing the resulting backache to other causes. Many women have kidney disease and do not know it. They confuse the symptoms with those of ailments of a feminine nature. Backache, loss of flesh, dry, harsh skin, deposits in the urine, swelling of the feet and legs, stiffness and soreness of the muscles, weariness and despondency are symptoms of kidney disease, and call for prompt treatment in order to prevent serious results.

Mrs. W. WILKINS, Henry St., Belleville, Ont., states: "I suffered a great deal with pains in the small of the back caused by kidney trouble. I could scarcely rise again the pains were so great. The disease became so severe that it affected my general health, and I was becoming very much run down. Since using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I can say that my trouble has entirely disappeared. I can speak in the highest terms of this medicine from the way it acted in my case."

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies.

and now, entranced, he heard the "Intermezzo" for the first time. Listening to this, he feared to move lest he should wake from a summer night's dream. A ragged little shadow flitted down the path behind him, and from a solitary apple tree standing like a lonely ghost in the middle of the field came the "Woo" of a screech owl twice. It was answered—twice—from a clump of elder bushes that grew in a fence corner fifty yards west of the pasture barn. Then the barrel of a squirrel rifle issued, lifted out of the white elder blossoms, and lay along the fence. The music in the house across the way ceased, and Harkless saw two white dresses come out through the long parlor windows on to the veranda. "It will be cooler out here," came the voice of the singer clearly through the quiet. "What a night!"

John vaulted the bars and started to cross the road. They saw him from the veranda, and Miss Briscoe called to him in welcome. As his tall figure stood out plainly in the bright light against the white dust a streak of fire leaped from the elder blossoms, and there rang out the sharp report of a rifle. There were two screams from the veranda. One white figure ran into the house. The other, a little one with a gauzy wrap streaming behind, came flying out into the moonlight straight to Harkless. There was a second report. The rifle shot was answered by a revolver. William Todd had risen up, apparently from nowhere, and, kneeling by the pasture barn, fired at the flash of the rifle.

"Jump for the shadder, Mr. Harkless!" he shouted. "He's in them elders. Fer God's sake, come back!" Empty handed as he was, the editor dashed for the treacherous elder bush as fast as his long legs could carry him, but before he had taken six strides a hand clutched his sleeve and a girl's voice quavered from close behind him: "Don't run like that, Mr. Harkless! I can't keep up."

He wheeled about and confronted a vision, a dainty little figure about five feet high, a flushed and lovely face, hair and draperies disarranged and flying. He stamped his foot with rage. "Get back in the house!" he cried. "You mustn't go!" she panted. "It's the only way to stop you."

"Go back to the house!" he shouted savagely. "Will you come?"

"For God's sake," cried William Todd, "come back! Keep out of the road!" He was emptying his revolver at the clump of bushes, the uproar of his firing blasting the night. Some one screamed from the house: "Helen, Helen!"

John seized the girl's wrists. Her gray eyes flashed into his defiantly. "Will you go?" he roared.

"No!" He dropped her wrists, caught her up in his arms as if she had been a kitten and leaped into the shadow of the trees that leaned over the road from the yard. The rifle rang out again, and the little ball whistled venomously overhead. Harkless ran along the fence and turned in at the gate. CHAPTER IV. JUDGE BRISCOE smiled grimly and leaned on his shotgun in the moonlight by the veranda. He and William Todd had been kicking down the elder bushes and, returning to the house, found Minnie alone on the porch. "Safe?" he said to his daughter, who turned an anxious face upon him. "They'll be safe enough now, and in our garden."

"Minnie! They're all right. That scall-Swag's half way to Six Crossroads by this time, isn't he, William?"

"He tucked up the fence like a scared rabbit," Mr. Todd responded, looking into his hat to avoid meeting the eyes of the lady, and I didn't have no call to follow. He Harkless come out the yard again we see him take across the road to the weedy woods, near half a mile up. Somebody else with him then—looked like a kid. Must 'a' cut across the field to join him. They're fur enough toward home by this."

"Did Miss Helen shake hands with you four or five times?" asked Briscoe, chuckling.

"No. What?" said Minnie. "Because Harkless did. My hand aches, and I guess William's does too. He nearly shook our arms off when we told him he'd been a fool. Seemed to do him good. I told him he ought to hire somebody to take a shot at him every morning before breakfast—not that it's any joking matter," the old gentleman finished thoughtfully.

"I should say not," said William, with a deep frown and a jerk of his head toward the rear of the house. "He jokes about it enough. Wouldn't even promise to carry a gun after this. Said he wouldn't know how to use it—never shot one off since he was a boy on the Fourth of July. This is the third time he's been shot at this year, but he says the others was at a what'd he call it?"

"A merely complimentary range," Briscoe supplied. He handed William a cigar and lit the end off another himself. "Minnie, you better go in the house and read, I expect, unless you want to go down to the creek and join those folks."

"Me?" she exclaimed. "I know when to stay away, I guess. Do go and put that terrible gun up."

"No," said Briscoe lighting his cigar deliberately. "It's all safe, there's no question of that; but maybe William and I better go out and take a smoke in the orchard as long as they stay down at the creek."

In the garden shafts of white light pierced the bordering trees and fell where June roses breathed the mild night breeze, and here, through summer spells, the editor of the Herald and the lady who had run to him at the pasture barn straddled down a path trembling with shadows to where the creek tinkled over the pebbles. They walked slowly, with an air of being well accustomed friends and comrades, and for some reason it did not strike either of them as unnatural or extraordinary. They came to a bench on the bank, and he made a great fuss dusting the seat for her with his black slouch hat. Then he regretted the hat—it was a shabby old hat of a Carlow county fashion.

It was a long bench, and he seated himself rather remotely toward the end opposite her, suddenly realizing that he had walked very close to her coming down the narrow garden path. Neither knew that neither had spoken since they left the veranda, and it had taken them a long time to come through the little orchard and the garden. She rested her chin on her hand, leaning forward and looking steadily at the creek. Her laughter had quite gone; her attitude seemed a little wistful and a little sad. He noted that her hair curled over her brow in a way he had not pictured in the lady of his dreams. This was so much prettier. He did not care for tall girls. He had not cared for them for almost half an hour. It was so much more beautiful to be deluged by a smile and a pleasant tone than to be stared at by a girl in a way that would have put a furnace to shame, but he turned his eyes from her because he feared that if he looked longer he might blurt out some speech about her loveliness. His

Neither knew that neither had spoken. glance rested on the bank, but its diameter included the edge of her white skirt and the tip of a little white, high heeled slipper that peeped out from beneath, and he had to look away from that, too, to keep from telling her that he meant to advocate a law compelling all women to wear crisp white gowns and white kid slippers on moonlight nights. She picked a long spear of grass from the turf before her, twisted it absently in her fingers, then turned to him slowly. Her lips parted as if to speak. Then she turned away again. The action was so odd, somehow, as she did it, so joking and the preserved silence was such a bond between them, that for his life he could not have helped moving half way up the bench toward her.

Trout Mezzo Work. The undersigned have received from Mr. Nash of Maine the agency for New Brunswick for his famous trout mezzo work. A trout mezzo is one half the fish so mounted upon a convex elliptical panel as to stand the fish out in bold relief, giving the effect of an oil painting or whole mounted fish, with the real thing to show for your prowess. The process of preserving fish in this artistic way was discovered by Mr. Nash in 1900 and patented by him.

BEYOND ALL DESCRIPTION

Was the experience Mrs. E. V. Carter of Danville had with Rheumatism which resisted everything but Nerviline. I tried, and it cured. "The only relief I sought was from rubbing on Nerviline," writes Mrs. Carter. "It penetrated to the very core of the pain and eased my suffering after a few applications. I have used many rheumatic remedies but none had the soothing, pain subduing power of Nerviline which I recommend highly." Try Nerviline yourself. Good for internal use and excellent to rub on. Price 25c.

minors, not only of cigarettes, as in Mr. Gorvais' bill, but of all forms of tobacco, British Columbia set the age at 15. Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island at 16, and New Brunswick and Ontario at 18 years of age. It was because these enactments had proved worthless to even restrain, much less prevent, the growth of the cigarette business, that appeal was made to Ottawa. Age-limit legislation belongs to the provincial governments and prohibition to the Dominion. But age-limit laws have been tried and found wanting by the provinces.

In over twenty states of the American union cigarettes are prohibited to those under stated ages. There is but one verdict on the value of such enactments. Government statisticians, the declarations of educationalists, officers of the law, parents and others interested in the young, all disprove their efficacy.

The Tricks Of The Trade

Within the last five years prohibitory bills have been introduced into many state legislatures, and their popularity amongst the people was made apparent by the petitions that accompanied them and the letters that followed in their wake. To offset this rational solution of the question tobacco interests have continually introduced age limit laws. If the state prohibited the sale to those under 15, then the cigarette champion argued vigorously for 16 or even 17 and 18 years of age—anything but prohibition. "The Boy", organ of the National America Anti-Cigarette League, said last year: "Laws forbidding the sale to minors are encouraged by a mythical society, which seems to exist only in the elaborate letter heads which have named San Francisco, St. Paul and other cities as headquarters. As long ago as 1897 a Chicago morning paper assisted the editor of Boy in investigating this pretended organization, which continues to send to legislature and others most specious arguments and many absolutely false statements, and found it a fraud. The Society for the Suppression of the Sale of Tobacco and other Narcotics to the Youth of the Nation is a name that carries weight when the fraud has not been exposed."

The latest device of those "whose craft is in danger" is a post-card

A GUARANTEED CURE

For All Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned Druggists, are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettigill's Kidney-Wash Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys:—

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after use of one bottle. Three or six bottles effect astonishing and permanent cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."—F. R. Dalton, Newcastle, N. B.

Our minister seems to be such an altruist, idas Miss. Oldcastle.

Is he? replied her hostess, I thought by the sound of his voice that he was a bass.

chain crusade, gotten out under the auspices of the National League of the United States Moral Society, headquarters, Philadelphia, Pa., with no specific address given. Each person receiving a card is requested to send their name and address for a poster, petition to congress to prohibit sale of minors, and to write their friends to do likewise. This scheme was sprung upon any state which was on the eve of passing a prohibitory bill. Attention was divided and thereby dissipated. Many of these cards found their way into Canada. A London lady, who complied with the request to send her name, received the following reply from the Philadelphia Post office:

Office of the Superintendent of delivery, Philadelphia, Pa. June 1, 1904.

Mrs. ——— London Ont. Can. Dear Madam: Replying to your favor of the 27th ult. regarding a letter addressed, National League Society, Philadelphia, which was returned to you through the dead letter office, I have to inform you that mail so addressed is undelivered and hundreds of pieces, at intervals, are forwarded to the dead letter office, Washington, D. C. Respectively yours, George W. Knowles, assistant postmaster.

Mr. Greaves' bill is an attempt to lead into a blind alley the forces now arrayed in deadly combat against the cigarette. With an indifference to criticism that is astonishing, the penalties are all of the not-exceeding variety, which law breakers hold in such contempt. The magistrates may impose a fine anywhere between one cent and one hundred dollars or imprisonment for an hour or six months. As a final hammer to action, the bill provides that unless information is laid within four weeks of the contravention of the act, nothing can be done.

Should this amendment become law we will have another example of the mountain that labored and brought forth a mouse—it will satisfy only the tobacco interests.

Good Figure Rosy Complexion

AND COVERED BY ALL SENSIBLE WOMEN FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY USE.

FERROZONE

If you are thin, run down, have blue transparent skin, you need Ferrozone. When the nerves are weak and the tears ever only flow, it is a sign you need it badly. Nothing on earth makes blood so vitalizing, nothing puts on flesh makes hard muscle, and renovates weakened systems like Ferrozone.

Why not restore your beauty and keep back signs of old age? It is easily done with Ferrozone. Suffer no more from nervousness and weakness, use Ferrozone instead. Let Ferrozone help you to get more out of life. It is an easy and quick road to health, a splendid remedy for all womanly disorders.

Mrs. E. C. Raye, of Sunnyside, says: "I owe a great deal to Ferrozone which improved my health very much. Before using Ferrozone I was weak and listless and had no color in my cheeks. After taking a few boxes I felt better, and by continuing Ferrozone I gained eight pounds in weight. My complexion is clear and my appetite good. I can recommend Ferrozone very highly. It is a splendid tonic." Don't fail to test Ferrozone, which druggists sell the world over. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont. Get a supply of Ferrozone to-day it assures health.

Mr. P. Danahy has had one of the town's gas posts artistically painted and erected in front of his barber shop.

The date of the auction sale of the Shaddick property has been changed to Monday July 25th instead of August 1st. Read adv. for particulars.

It is certainly about time the road commissioners got a move on and made repairs to the Mill Cove Hill. It is absolutely dangerous.

Residents of York County have been terrified of late by the presence of a highwayman. According to the Gleaner the man was last seen heading in the direction of Newcastle.

Joseph Napke of Redbank was fined $5 and costs in Magistrate Davidson's court on Saturday for interfering with the crew of the Rustler. This case has been in progress for about a month.

"Roanoke" the comedy drama of Virginia life was presented in the Orange Hall on Saturday evening by a company headed by Miss Marie Nelson. The audience was large and appreciative.

One of the big picnics of the season will be held today by the R. C. congregation of Chelmsford on the church grounds. Dinner and tea will be served and there will be an interesting program of sports.

In the House last week Premier Laurier, in answer to Mr. Borden, said it was not the intention of the Government to bring down any more legislation except as regards the Canada Eastern Railway.

A number of summer boarders are staying at Youghall but so far the cottages at the Point are not open, this is to be regretted and it is to be hoped that the closing of this enterprise will not be permanent.

Mr. Ernest Houston of James Houston & Sons, Boston, accompanied by Mr. McCormack of New York went up to the camps of the Miramichi Fish and Game Club on Monday. Mr. W. C. Womhan of New York also left for the camps.

Over 1500, Orangemen assembled at Charlton on Thursday last and enjoyed one of the best outings in recent years. Besides the special train from Newcastle, there were specials from Campbellton, Dalhousie and other points so that about every lodge on the North Shore was well represented. There was a monster parade followed by sports etc. and all present voted the day a gala one.

Owing to a slight run off near New Mills Friday morning the Maritime express from Montreal was about an hour and a quarter behind. As the train was passing a siding the forward trucks of the tender jumped the rails, and although the train was running at the ordinary rate of speed, none of the cars were derailed and there was no damage done to speak of. The derailed trucks were not damaged and the accident did not necessitate a change of engine. What caused the run off is a mystery, and it was almost a miracle that the mishap did not cause a bad smashup.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, minister of Railways is determined to keep the I. C. R. up to date. The "Ocean Limited" which has already proved exceedingly popular, is to be made more attractive by the addition of an observation car. These cars are very popular on the big roads of America. The scenery along the line of the I. C. R. is unsurpassed and an observation car would give passengers a splendid opportunity of seeing the famed valleys of the Metapedia and the Wentworth to the best possible advantage. The observation part of the car is usually in the form of a cupola built of glass and it is probable that cars of that kind will be placed on the "Ocean Limited."

Dental Notice

Dr. Cates, Dentist, owing to the increased business at his home office will be obliged to visit his Newcastle branch office every three months beginning with September next, 28th to last, also DECEMBER, MARCH, JULY and SEPTEMBER, on the same dates, I will make a DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT on all DENTAL WORK. Red of teeth $10.00 etc. Will pay patients to wait for first class dental work that has been tested and proven for the last twenty years on the Miramichi. Long experience and simple proofs warrant this statement. People want value for their money and this opportunity will not be neglected by those who know as I do not feel like leaving my patients for whom I have worked so long. Above discount is made to pay in part for waiting until I can visit them which will be a pleasure to give them proper attention.

Mr. Edward Haley, aged 22, was caught in cogwheels at the Dominion pulp mill, Wednesday afternoon, and so seriously that one of his legs had to be amputated. —World.

The picnic held by the R. C. congregation of Redbank at that place on Thursday last was one of the most successful affairs of its kind held this season. There was an interesting program of sports and all had a good time.

A big time is in store for all those who attend the garden party this evening at Douglastown under the auspices of the congregation of St. Mark's church. Tea will be served from 5 to 9 o'clock.

There will be a Lawn Social and Entertainment on the grounds of the Strath Adam school, on Tuesday afternoon, July 26. Admission 10c. Tea 25c. A good time is expected. Everybody come.

A basket social will be held in the Union Hall Whitneyville on Friday evening under the auspices of the trustees of the Strath Adam school. It promises to be a very enjoyable affair.

Miss G. McLean, of Boston who is a guest of Miss Atkinson, Golder St., assisted the choir of Central Methodist Church at both services yesterday, and in the evening, was heard in a pretty solo. —Moncton Transcript.

Miss McLean who has many friends in Newcastle is a pupil of the New England Conservatory.

The annual monster picnic of the R. C. congregation of Renou, will be held at the Parish Hall on Wednesday July 27. A grand soiree will be held in the evening. This picnic is always one of the biggest and best of the season and will no doubt be very largely attended.

Just before going to press, The Town Kicker received the following conundrum—Why was it necessary to string the electric light wire from the Post Office to the Waverley corner and almost ruin a fine row of trees when the wires could have been as conveniently placed on the other side of the street? The Kicker will endeavor to find an answer before the next issue.

The Advocate is pleased to announce that the cash in advance system is a complete success. Scores of subscribers have paid up during the last few days and nearly all expressed their willingness to support the Advocate in carrying out its new system. One or two however expressed their displeasure but they are so greatly in the minority that a reference to them is scarcely worth while. All fair minded people are favorable to the idea.

A Chatham young lady started for Newcastle to attend the wedding of Miss Harrison and Rev. Hammond Johnston, on Tuesday, and missed the boat. Nothing daunted, she started to walk up, and would have reached the church before the ceremony took place if the Nelson ferry had not kept her waiting a long time. As it was she got to the station before the train left and had the satisfaction of emptying her pocketful of rice on the bride and groom. —World.
