LIGHTING LONDON.
The Engineer Presents Specifications-Business Transacted by No. 3 Committee.
The fire and light committee of the City Council held their regular meeting last night. Owing to the absence of Ald. Parnell, who is ill, Ald. Scarrow presided. There were also present: Ald. O'Meara, John Heaman, Wm. Heaman, Arthur Keane, Secretary Bell, Inspector Bell, Chief Roke and Market Clerk Wilson.
ELECTRIC LIGHTING.
The city engineer submitted the specifications to be included in the proposed electric light tenders, and they will require that the poles be not less than 50 feet high. The contract will call for the lighting of the city for 317 nights in the year, though the engineer can order them lighted at any other time. The lamps will be 2,000 candle power, to be strung not less than 40 feet above the ground, at the corners or in the center of the street, as may be deemed advisable. The policemen will report on the working of the lights and the contractors will be deducted at the rate of 4 cents per hour for all time the lamps are out. The tenders will also be called for lighting the city for the terms of one, five eight and ten years.
These specifications, with slight amendments, will be presented to the council at its next meeting.
OTHER BUSINESS.
Chas. McMillan, of London South, whose premises were partly destroyed by fire last year, again asked remuneration for loss caused by an alleged defective alarm box. Referred to the chairman and mayor.

Fell Dead in a Montreal Church.

Montreal Women's Council.
MONTREAL, Feb. 14.-The Montreal branch of the National Women's Council, held a meeting to-day which was attended by a large number of prominent local ladies. The report presented showed that the movement inaugurated by Lady Aberdeen has met with gratifying success.
"She wrote in a handwriting clerical. She talked with an emphasis jerky. She pointed on tiles, in the sweetest of styles. But she didn't know chicken from turkey."
But she knew Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to be the very best remedy for a sallow and unhealthy complexion. It brightens the skin by acting on the liver and removing all the bilious or scrofulous poison from the blood. Sure cure, also for consumption in its early stages.

Minard's Liniment is the Best.
George B. French, Mayor of Nashua, N. H., in an argument before the New Hampshire Legislature, July 16, 1889, uses the following words: "When the common people cannot find Pond's Extract, which they run for in distress, on sale at some convenient place, just as they have done, there will be a howl go up that the regular school cannot cure with their instruments." Through French's Frenchman has a raging pain in his tooth, joints, or back; when he is tied into a double bow knot with a cramp in his stomach, he cannot stop to go to a physician five miles off and take a thorough course. He is going to have something in his medicine chest that he can get at without any prescription, with a gold seal on it."

Curling Matches and Other Sporting

HOCKEY.

LONDON WINS AGAIN.

Four games played and four games won is the excellent record which the London Hockey Club holds for the season. Last night at the Princess rink the St. Thomas club played their second match with the Forest City team and met the same fate as before—a severe defeat. From the time that Alex. Furness blew the whistle for the match to begin London gradually outplayed their opponents, and at the end of the first half the score stood 5 to 1. The second half was but a repetition of the first, London piling up 4 goals more and St. Thomas 1, thus leaving the score 9 to 2. As to the individual playing, it can only be said that all did their best, but where the home team showed a decided superiority was in their passing. The goal judges were Mr. W. Smith for London, and Mr. Belcher, jun., for St. Thomas, both of whom gave good satisfaction. Following were the teams:

London.	Positions.	St. Thomas.
Becher	Goal	Caskine
Brown	Point	Capt. Hoskins
Beltz	Cover point	McIntosh
Elkey		Mann
R. Lind	Forwards	Tarrant
Hobbs		Reid

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

ENTER.—Has an incorporated village the power to pass a curfew bylaw, compelling children between certain ages unaccompanied by parents or guardians to be at home at a certain time? Ans.—Sec. 81, chap. 45, Ontario Statutes, 1893, gives such power.

ENFIELD.—Can the township council be compelled to pay damages when the road is not passable for snow drifts, in which a valuable hog was killed by a pack of dogs? Ans.—In our opinion the corporation would not be liable for the hog.

ENTAIL.—A dies and leaves his farm to his eldest son (B), on condition that when B dies his eldest child (C) should get it, and so on, the eldest child becoming heir in each generation. B mortgages the farm without C's consent. Can the mortgagee sell the place? Ans.—Yes; but only for the life of B.

SUNDAY.—Can a dentist collect pay for work he does on the Sabbath; and, if not, what steps are necessary to recover what he has been paid for work done on the Sabbath? Ans.—He can not collect for work done on Sunday, but if he has been paid he money cannot be recovered.

KEPPEL.—Your question was written on both sides of the paper. We have not time or space to re-write the details of the horse trade. It appears that B traded his big mare to A for $20 and a little mare and truthfully represented that the big mare was in foal and somewhat lame. A worked the big mare for four days, and on the sixth day she dropped a foal before her time and continued lame. You ask if B is responsible for his loss. We can see no legal reason why B should be responsible.

SURETY.—A note was drawn twelve months after date—We promise to pay to —, or bearer, the sum of — for value received at 6 per cent. per annum until paid and signed by the principal and his surety. The principal has failed and the surety was not notified at any time. The note has run eight years, the interest being paid seven years, is the surety still liable? Please answer yes or no. Ans.—No. Unless the surety has paid any interest within six years.

IGNORANCE.—A rented a farm from B and, not being able to pay his rent, is obliged to leave. Can B seize A's goods without first suing A, or can he seize all A's horses, cows and farming implements? What is exempt? Ans.—A having left the farm, B cannot distrain for rent unless his removal was fraudulent and clandestine. His remedy is to sue and get judgment, upon which he can levy upon any property of A which is not exempt from seizure under execution for debt. The exemptions are: (1) Beds and bedding in ordinary use, and the necessary and ordinary wearing apparel of the debtor and his family; (2) 1 cooking stove, pipes and furnishings, 1 other heating stove, 1 crane, 1 pair andirons, 1 set cooking utensils, 1 pair tongs and shovel, 1 coal scuttle, 1 lamp, 1 table, 6 chairs, 1 washstand with furnishings, 6 towels, 1 looking-glass, 1 hair brush, 1 comb, 1 bureau, 1 clothes press, 1 clock, 1 carpet, 1 cupboard, 1 broom, 12 knives, 12 forks, 12 teaspoons, 12 saucers, 1 sugar basin, 1 milk jug, 1 teapot, 12 spoons, 2 pails, 1 wash tub, 1 scrubbing brush, 1 blacking brush, 1 wash board, 3 smoothing irons, all spinning wheels and weaving looms in domestic use, 1 sewing machine and attachments in domestic use, 30 books, 1 axe, 1 saw, 1 gun, 6 traps and such fishing nets and seines as are in common use, the articles in this subdivision not exceeding in value $150; (3) all fuel and food provided for family use not more than sufficient for 30 days' consumption and not exceeding in value $40; (4) 1 cow, 6 sheep, 4 hogs and 12 hens, in all not exceeding in value $75, and food therefor for 30 days, and 1 dog; (5) tools and chattels ordinarily used in the debtor's occupation to the value of $100; (6) bees, 15 hives; under exemptions (5) A may claim one or more of his horses in order to make up his $100.

LEGISLATION BEFORE THE GENERAL ELECTION.

The concluding session of the present Legislature was opened yesterday with a bill of fare that must rejoice the hearts of Sir Oliver Mowat and his hosts of friends throughout the Province.

Not alone was the Lieutenant-Governor able to congratulate the members upon the fact that the expenditures had been kept within the limits prescribed by the estimates, but his Honor had the pleasing task of chronicling that the revenues were greater than had been anticipated by the Provincial Treasurer.

There were congratulations, too, in the fact that while the grain crops and live stock have not been so remunerative as could have been wished, the products of the dairy, under the fostering care of the Provincial Administration, have been in great demand, and command higher prices in the world's markets than at any time in recent years. With pride the speaker from the throne referred to the continued good work being accomplished by the various associations assisted by the Government to advance the great staple industries of the Province. Equally deserving of note is the felicitation of the Province upon the enviable position that its exhibits took at the Columbian Exposition, which demonstrated the great natural resources of Ontario, and proved that in their development, as well as in the promotion of education, the Province has kept in the front ranks of progressive communities.

It is satisfactory to learn that around Lake Temiscamingue, north of Lake Nipissing, and easy of access, there is a substantial quantity of fertile land, and that the Government has taken steps to promote its settlement. With the development of mining in that region there should be good demand, at paying prices, for the products of the settlers.

No Government has exercised greater care and consideration over the poor and afflicted in the community than has that headed by Sir Oliver Mowat. Our public institutions are model establishments, and are more economically conducted than those of any neighboring State. I am glad to say, but it is well established, that lunacy keeps pace with increase of population, hence the necessity for constructing a new asylum for insane in the eastern part of the Province at Brockville. This institution, it is announced, will be ready for occupancy before the end of the year. The speech expresses gratification that the act for the better care of neglected little ones has been favorably received. That was to be expected, for better for our philanthropists as well for hard-headed political and social economists to bend their energies to prevent the child from becoming a criminal than to attempt to save him after he has served his apprenticeship in the haunts of the vicious.

Till we examine the new measures promised for this session, it is difficult to pronounce upon their scope, but the titles given foreshadow a session of important legislation.

The Government has promised increased representation to Toronto, in accordance with its population. Whether or not there will be a wider reapportionment remains to be seen. But in any case, it is to be hoped that there will be no increase in the number of members.

The bill making further provision for the prevention of personation of voters is a move in the right direction. To be fully effective we should have obligatory voting and the revision of the lists on the eve of an election.

Let us hope that the bill to "further facilitate the administration of justice in certain matters" will provide for the decentralization of the law courts, thus saving time and money to those compelled to resort to the higher seats of justice.

If the bill respecting the law of libel prevents the bringing of vexatious actions against publishers, while affording full protection to the public, it will be worthy of the Legislature.

Western people will rejoice that the beautiful natural scenery at the Eau is to be preserved under the promised act to make Rondeau Point a public park. The vandal is thus restrained in time.

Bills of great importance to the farming community are promised as a result of the inquiries of the Drainage Commission, which appears to have done its work thoroughly.

Probably because of the success of this commission, the Government announces that it will remit to a commission to investigate and report fully upon the remuneration of public officers both here and in other countries. Recent public discussion has shown that there is great diversity of opinion as to the best means of paying such provincial officials as sheriffs and registrars. The present system is by fees, collected from those who require the services of the officials named. But some of the county councils are memorializing the Legislature to have the officers paid by salaries, others want them appointed, not as provincial officers, which they now are, but as county officers, responsible to the county; while the Patrons of Industry have taken the ground that the officers should be elected by popular vote, just as the councilors and aldermen are. The present system has hitherto worked better than the United States method of election by popular vote, but in view of the diversity of opinion it becomes a people's Government to make a thorough inquiry and to report to the Legislature at as early a date as possible, with the object of devising the best possible system, if it is not now in force.

The discussion of these and other important matters that will be brought before the Legislature—including Sir Oliver's stand on the plebiscite—will make the present session, coming as it does before a general election, an important one. It is made apparent that the legislation proposed will be progressive and devised in the best interests of the whole people.

—The chief officer to be appointed under Hon. Mr. Foster's Insolvency Bill will be known as the receiver. He will be paid by fees, those requiring his services paying for them, as is now the case with the sheriffs and the registrars. It seems only fair that litigants and others, for whose service these officers are provided, should pay for the work performed. The general taxpayer, who is neither debtor, creditor nor land speculator, should not be called upon to pay a cent towards their sustenance.

POLITICAL POINTS.

East Elgin Patrons Put a Dominion Candidate in the Field.

East Elgin Patrons on Wednesday nominated R. H. Lindsay, of Malahide, for the Commons.

The Patrons of East Kent met in convention at Thamesville on Wednesday and nominated James Leslie, ex-reeve of Harwich, for the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Leslie has not yet accepted the nomination.

HAMILTON, Feb. 14.—The election in ward 1 to fill the aldermanic vacancy caused by the resignation of T. H. Pratt was keenly contested. Mr. Pratt was not qualified to hold a seat and resigned. He has since been relieved of a bond and contested it again with Mr. Reid. The contest was between Mr. Reid, a member of the Reform party, and Mr. Pratt, the Reform party backed Mr. Reid. The returns give Mr. Reid a majority of 24 over his opponent. The result was a surprise generally, as the P. P. A. was supposed to be very strong in every ward.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—A correspondent, writing to the Electeur, says that the investigations to be asked for during the coming session of Parliament will completely eclipse the McGreevy-Langevin case. He says: "It will be shown that a good portion of the money went not only to pay the personal debts of certain Conservatives of high rank, and even debts entirely foreign to politics, but also to take away from the clutches of justice certain individuals holding high positions, who had rendered themselves too prominent in their excursions through love land."

THE ENTOMBED MINERS,
 Probability That They Will Be Starved if Not Already Dead.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 14.—There are no new developments to-day at the Caylord mine in Plymouth. The rescuers are working hard through the solid coal to reach the entombed miners. So far they have been unable to communicate with them in any way.

Should they all be alive now it is safe to say they will starve before they can be reached. In this event eleven widows will be left to care for 45 or 50 orphans.

It has been made known by some of the rescuing party that over fifteen acres of the inside workings of the Caylord field during to-day and more is likely to come to light. The surface in the neighborhood of the disaster is also beginning to crack and seams can now be seen fully eight inches in width.

Mine Inspector Williams says it will be several days before the rescuing party can reach the entombed men. They have over 300 feet of solid coal to drive through yet, and then the men may not be in the place where they expect to find them.

The Franco-British Fight.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—The Government's version of the second fight between the French and English forces in Western Africa near the Sierra Leone frontier says that the trouble was due to the English invading French territory and attacking a village close to the French post of Benty. The French defended the village and repulsed the attacking party.

Advices received in London in regard to the latest trouble between the French and English were to the effect that a detachment of British military police, who were encamped in the Sosa country had been fired upon by a French force. The British returned the fire, killing six of the French force. Several of the French force were reported to have been captured.

To Free Poland.

WARSAW, Feb. 14.—The police here claim to have discovered an extensive conspiracy to secure the freedom of Poland. The conspirators are said to include Nihilists as well as persons not usually found affiliating with members of that sect. Among those taken into custody are the editorial staff of two journals published here, and many priests. The stipend of the Bishop Kulanski has been suspended. Many other places in Poland are said to be affected by the movement. At Kielce a police visit was made to the seminary and college there, which resulted in the seizure of a large number of pamphlets calling upon the youths of Poland to rise and free their country from Russian rule.

The Hurricane's Work in Germany.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—The hurricane that swept over the northern portion of Germany has caused large loss of life. Six fishing boats, belonging to Rinderort, a small village on the Baltic Sea, were lost in the storm and 22 men drowned.

Eighty crafts of various descriptions were sunk in the River Elbe. Advices from Altona-on-the-Elbe show that eleven persons were drowned there. Eight foresters were killed in the woods in Siegenort, in Pomerania, by trees that were blown down falling upon them.

CONCISE CULLINGS.

John Richards, of Philadelphia, escaped from the Morrisstown Insane Asylum on Monday and was found frozen to death next day eight miles from Morrisstown.

The United States Senate rejected the nomination of Benj. Lenthier, of Massachusetts, to be consul at Sherbrooke, Que., whose nomination failed to receive the concurrence of the Senate at its last session.

SENATOR A. E. Botsford lies dangerously ill at Montreal, N. B. He is in his 90th year.

The Hon. Mr. Joly, De Lobiniere, leaves Quebec to-day (Thursday) for Kingston and Toronto.

Mark H. Irish, at one time proprietor of the Rossin House, Toronto, is lying at the point of death at his residence on Isabella street.

GONE UP IN SMOKE.

Toronto Has a $30,000 Blaze—Fire Elsewhere.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—A serious fire broke out at 10 o'clock to-night in the five-story brick factory and storehouse, in rear of the James Morrison Brass Manufacturing Company's premises, and occupied by this firm, 2 Adelaide street west. The fire started near the elevator shaft on the ground floor, and went up through the center of the building, including the roof.

A general alarm called out 12 sections of the brigade and the men work splendidly in the face of dense volumes of suffocating smoke and intense heat. The building was badly gutted though the well-directed efforts of the firemen saved several other valuable properties in close proximity. The loss on building and contents will be about $30,000, and the insurance distributed through most of the companies having offices here is about the same amount.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 14.—The Massey-Harris warehouse at Griswold was burned yesterday morning.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—The fire was soon brought under control. The loss is nominal. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

CHESTER, Ont., Feb. 14.—The saw and chopping mill of Jos. Graft, Chester, were completely destroyed this morning. Loss about $2,000. No insurance.

Death of a Lady Lawyer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Mr. Myra Bradwell, editor of Legal News and the first lady lawyer admitted to the bar of Illinois, died at noon to-day, aged 63 years.

Three Weeks of Gales.

HALIFAX, Feb. 14.—The steamer Barcelona, which arrived to-day from Liverpool, was 21 days on the passage. Capt. Campbell says it was a continuation of gales, in fact, a hurricane, from the time of leaving port, until dropping anchor. To make matters worse fuel became scarce, and the oil in the cargo had to be taken for fuel, and even "waste" was burned.

It is well to remember the fact that it takes only a single vote to pass a good resolution.

Blood Poisoning

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. Her husband spent hundreds of dollars without any benefit. She weighed but 75 pounds, and saw no prospect of help.

Mrs. M. E. O'Fallon. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says, "I became perfectly cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 pounds, eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians look at me in astonishment, as almost like one raised from the dead."

HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred.

No Creed Prejudice There.

FATHER POINT, Que., Feb. 14.—At a meeting of the parish council last evening Mr. J. McWilliams was unanimously elected mayor for the fifth time. This is an eloquent reply from the French-Canadians to the P. P. A., as Mr. McWilliams is the only English-speaking person and the only Protestant in the whole parish.

The Electric Light

Is a matter of small importance compared with other applications of electricity. By this agency Polson's Nervine is made to penetrate to the most remote nerve—every bone, muscle and ligament is made to feel its beneficent power. Nervine, pleasant to take, even by the youngest child, yet so powerfully reaching in its work, that the most agonizing internal pain yields as if by magic. Nervine relieves neuralgia instantly and for the speedy cure of nerve pains of every description it has no equal. Sold everywhere.

"Remarkable Cure of Dropsy and Dyspepsia."

—Mr. Samuel T. Casey, Belleville, writes: "In the spring of 1884 I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, which gradually became more and more distressing. I used various domestic remedies and applied to my family physician, but received no benefit. By this time my trouble assumed the form of dropsy. I was unable to use any food whatever except boiled milk and bread; my limbs were swollen to twice their natural size; all hopes of my recovery were given up, and I quite expected death within a few weeks. Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY having been recommended to me, I tried a bottle with but little hope of relief; and now, after using eight bottles, my Dyspepsia and Dropsy are cured. Although now 79 years of age I can enjoy my meals as well as ever, and my general health is good. I am well-known in this section of Canada, having lived here 57 years, and you have liberty to use my name in recommendation of your VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, which has done such wonders in my case."

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE.

General Annual Meeting of the Above Assurance Company.

THE DIRECTORS' REPORT.

A Year of Unprecedented Prosperity.

A Satisfactory Statement—Large Surplus Compared to Liabilities—Strong Financial Position.

The annual meeting of this company was held at its head office, Toronto, on Thursday, Jan. 25, 1894. John L. Blaikie, Esq., president, was appointed chairman, and Wm. McCabe, secretary, when the following report was submitted:

In presenting their thirteenth annual report of the business of the company, the directors congratulate the policy-holders and guarantors upon the continuance of the progress and marked prosperity of the company during the past year.

Applications for new insurances amounting to $2,736,350 were received, upon which were issued policies for $2,561,350; which, added to the policies revived, makes the addition for the year $2,065,862—a handsome increase over the business of any former year.

The company has again the unusual experience in life insurance of its cash interest receipts for the year, being more than sufficient to meet all death and endowment claims under its policies.

It made the unexcelled addition to its reserve and surplus funds (being the amount put by for the year) of over 58 per cent. of its income, after having met all expenses and payments to its policy-holders, thereby greatly strengthening the already unsurpassed financial position of the company, and increasing its well established ability to meet all obligations promptly as they mature—an essential requisite of safe and prudent management. The addition made to its net surplus exceeds that of any former year, and now aggregates the relatively large sum of $297,062.26—a fact which it is believed, will be very gratifying to its policy-holders.

One of the best tests an intending insurer can apply in selecting a company is the relative yearly

PERCENTAGE OF SURPLUS MADE upon its mean assets. In this important particular, the North American Life compares favorably with its chief competitors, and excels most of them.

It is important to note that the amount of terminated insurances—comparatively favorable—was less than in the previous year, showing increasing stability in the business placed on the company's books.

The allocation of surplus to investment policies maturing in 1894 was approved, as made by the company's consulting actuary, and such surplus is again in excess of the estimated results contained in the company's authorized book of tables in use by its agents.

The books of the company were closed promptly on the last business day of the year, and, as heretofore, the preliminary and full Government reports were then completed and mailed to the superintendent of insurance at Ottawa, together with full details of all its assets.

The auditor made a complete audit of the company's affairs monthly, and at the close of the year verified the cash on hand and in banks, and examined each mortgage and every other security held by the company.

The services of the company's staff of officers, inspectors and agents again deserve special commendation.

JOHN L. BLAIE, President.

Summary of the full financial statement and balance sheet for the financial year ending Dec. 30, 1893:

Cash income $482,514.98
Expenditure (including death claims, endowment, profits and all payments to policy-holders) 216,792.45
Assets 1,703,453.39
Reserve fund 1,319,010.00
Net surplus for policy-holders 297,062.26
Audited and found correct.

JAMES CARLISLE, M.D., Auditor.

WILLIAM MCCABE, Managing Director.

To the President and Directors of the North American Life Assurance Company: Gentlemen,—I inclose herewith list showing amount of surplus that may be apportioned to each investment policy maturing in 1894. The surplus added to reserve constitutes the total cash rate. This surplus exhibit is a very gratifying one, exceeding the estimates that you are placing before the insuring public, and, therefore, forcibly demonstrating that your tables are based upon justifiable assumptions that answer to the rigid test of actual accomplishment.

In former reports to you I have seen good cause to commend the discretion exercised, and the good judgment manifested by your management, in encouraging the preference for so admirable a plan of insurance as the 20-year investment plan. Knowing the advantage that must accrue to the company, and the satisfaction that such a plan gives to the policy-holder, I am very glad to see that your business shows a still larger preponderance on this particular form of policy. This fact alone gives a stronger probability of the continued profitability of the investment element of your policies than any other single feature could do.

This has not been an easy year in which to write life insurance, and your field force must be exceedingly well organized to enable them to accomplish the gain which you show over the handsome record of last year. If you had achieved this by extravagant outlay, it would not have been so surprising, but that you have succeeded in the difficult task of achieving it at a moderate cost is matter for sincere congratulation.

To be able to show a constantly-increasing surplus, even while paying a number of your investment policies, is proof to me of the excellent condition of your business, and of your financial management. It is an augury of future strength, based upon a business that appears to me to be eminently satisfactory in every detail and requirement. Such elements, in such an unusual degree, are not generally enjoyed.

Having watched the conduct of your business for some years, it is a great pleasure to me to testify my appreciation of your plans and business methods, and to know that they are producing the most favorable results.

WM. T. STANDEN, Consulting Actuary.

Mr. John L. Blaikie, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

Gentlemen,—The year 1893 will ever be memorable as one of unprecedented financial disturbances to a many countries, and of what has almost amounted to a complete paralysis of the great industries of the neighboring republic. Such a condition of affairs could not exist without Canada suffering, more or less, and when we hear from nearly all quarters complaints of a falling off of business and of diminished profits, it is most satisfactory and cheering to turn from such a picture, and look at the annual report for 1893 of the North American Life Assurance Company; in that there is no sign whatever of falling off. Before touching upon a few of the salient points in the report permit me to make a comparison of the company's record, five years ago, with its record of to-day.

	Assets.	Per cent.	Insurance in force.	Per cent.
Dec. 30, 1889	$1,703,453.39	100	$13,220,102.00	100
Dec. 31, 1893	677,074.19	39.75	7,927,554.00	60
Increase.	$1,026,379.20	151	$5,292,548.00	67
	Surplus.	Per cent.	Cash Income.	Per cent.
Dec. 30, 1889	$297,062.26	100	$482,514.98	100
Dec. 31, 1893	51,069.38	17.19	275,161.25	57
Increase.	$245,992.90	81	$207,353.73	75

That, gentlemen, shows wonderful growth, substantial progress. We neither require to cross the line to the south of us nor to cross the Atlantic to find good life insurance companies in which to insure with profit and safety. We have as good ones in Canada as anywhere, and we may be proud of our country, of some of its life insurance companies, of its banking and monetary institutions, and of its vigorous, intelligent and law-abiding people, loyal subjects of our most gracious Queen, whom God bless and preserve long to reign over us.

Let us now glance briefly at a few of the most interesting facts revealed by the statements before you. Comparing results at the closing of 1893 and 1892, we find an increase for the year:

In cash incomes $35,039.68
In assets 201,711.59
In reserve fund 203,664.00
In insurance in force 1,100,112.00
Then we find two important decreases:

In expenditure of $29,553.81
And in death claims of 27,838.10

It will thus be seen that the death claims are exceedingly favorable, which reflects great credit upon the skill and vigilance of our most esteemed medical director, Dr. Thorburn, especially when we consider that there is an increase of over $1,000,000 in force. That the interest receipts have more than sufficed to meet all death claims, matured endowments and sums paid to annuitants, is a most gratifying fact, and speaks well for the soundness of the investments of the company. Upon these points, however, I shall not dwell, but refer you to the report of our consulting actuary. To have the hearty endorsement of so eminent an authority on all life insurance matters affords good ground for encouragement and satisfaction.

Allow me to draw very special attention to a matter of the greatest interest and importance, either to existing policy-holders or those who may yet become so, viz., the fact that the company has, in no case, come short of what is held out as expected profits on its investment policies. The contrary has been the case with certain of the largest companies in the world; companies with many millions of assets and doing an enormous large business.

A most striking article appeared some weeks ago in that great British financial authority, the London Economist, contrasting the difference in the case of one of the leading American companies, between promise and fulfillment. Investment policy-holders did not realize in that company one-half of what they had been led to expect. Why, it may be asked, can the North American Life Company do much better for its policy-holders than a gigantic corporation such as the one alluded to? It is because the North American Life does not go into so many extravagant expenditures, is not subject to such climatic and other hazardous risks, because its funds are better invested, and because it is thus enabled to lay aside year after year a larger relative actual surplus than the other.

It is to the surplus policy-holders have to look—upon that to keep a keen eye all the time, as that is the only source from which they can draw profits; hence, the company that can only lay past a small surplus, cannot, from an investment standpoint, do well for policy-holders, whereas, the company accumulating a surplus—large, well-invested, and available—can do so, and is, therefore, the one to insure in. Apply this test to the North American Life, and how does it stand?

I have before me, gentlemen, a carefully-prepared statement showing the put by, or the amount of the year's income added to the reserve and surplus funds, for the year ending 31st of December, 1892, as per last obtainable official reports. I shall not trouble you with all the details, but will give you the percentages. The Equitable Life of New York put by 45 per cent. of the year's income; the Mutual Life of New York, 37 per cent.; the New York Life, 36 per cent.; the Aetna Life, 18 per cent., while the average for all American companies was 37 per cent. Then look to some of the Canadian companies. The Canadian Life put by 41 per cent. of the year's income; the Confederation, 40 per cent.; the Ontario Mutual, 48 per cent.; the Sun Life, 42 per cent.; the Manufacturers', 41 per cent.; average of all Canadian companies, 43 per cent. The North American Life's put-by for 1892 was over 48 per cent. of the year's income, being as high as the best of those named, while the percentage for 1893 was 58.

This showing of the North American Life is unexcelled, and greatly strengthened the already unsurpassed financial position of the company.

Another matter is worthy of very special notice, and is all-important.

It is whether the company is so constituted and is working upon such sound principles that it will be able to meet its obligations.

It is the more important to closely scrutinize this point, because we hear so much in these days about cheap insurance, and promises are made by mushroom companies pushing themselves into notice to pay endowment policies at maturity without making adequate provision for them. The holders of such policies are doomed to certain disappointment. They will be like men building houses on the sand—when the flood of maturing policies comes in,

they will be swept away in utter wreck, chagrin and absolute failure.

On the other hand the North American bases all its calculations upon well-established experience and mathematical principles.

Guided thus by certain knowledge, it acts upon rates in carrying on its business that insure the fulfillment of all its obligations, and all of its investment policies at their maturity, with absolute safety and equity to the insured, whose interests are built solidly on the rock and not upon mere shifting sand.

In connection with this, I may remark that many people, looking at our figures and the large additions made to our reserve and surplus funds, conclude that we are taking more from our policy-holders than we require, that the large addition to reserve and surplus for the year is so much clear profit.

While the death claims the past year have been small, in the future they must certainly increase, then the investments and endowment policies to mature in ten, fifteen or twenty years must be provided for, and the North American Life prudently looks ahead, and makes ample provision to meet every possible claim against it; besides which, the terms of these policies require the suspension of the surplus belonging to them till the expiration of their investment periods.

J. & J.

THE WEATHER TO-DAY—Light snow, then clearing and colder.

"TWAS STORMY!!!"

That was the reason why we did not clear out our line of Spring Jackets left over from last season. The prices had nothing to do with it, for these Jackets are really worth a great deal more. As before stated, they are not every day values, but simply chances. We desire to clean them out—a good store like ours does not believe in holding over goods, even though they be sold at less than cost. No; we would not expect people to shop on such a day as Monday, even though they wanted a Jacket in the worst way and we were offering

TWO FOR 50c.

But if anything would bring them out those Jackets would. They will bring the people out yet, and at the following phenomenally attractive prices:

AT 50c.

Job line of Short Jackets, choice, black and colored, at 50c.

AT $1 00.

Misses' Black Serge Jackets; your choice at $1 00.

AT $1 25.

Ladies' Jackets, wool serge, loose fronts, choice; a bargain at $1 25.

AT $1 50.

Ladies' Jackets, shawl collars; your selection at $1 50.

AT $2 00.

Ladies' Jackets, close fitting, braid trimming, well-made, stylish, at $2 00.

AT $2 25.

Ladies' Jackets, black Karl cloth, well-finished; yours at $2 25.

AT $2 50.

Ladies' Jackets, close fitting, braid trimming, stylish, at $2 50.

AT $3 00.

Ladies' Jackets, close fitting, fashionably trimmed; clearing at $3 00.

Don't stay away if the weather be anything like fair. If "old probabilities" will but smile for a day or two there will not be one left.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM, 147 & 149 Dundas St.

they will be swept away in utter wreck, chagrin and absolute failure.

On the other hand the North American bases all its calculations upon well-established experience and mathematical principles.

Guided thus by certain knowledge, it acts upon rates in carrying on its business that insure the fulfillment of all its obligations, and all of its investment policies at their maturity, with absolute safety and equity to the insured, whose interests are built solidly on the rock and not upon mere shifting sand.

In connection with this, I may remark that many people, looking at our figures and the large additions made to our reserve and surplus funds, conclude that we are taking more from our policy-holders than we require, that the large addition to reserve and surplus for the year is so much clear profit.

Gentlemen, I cannot conclude without a few words about the last paragraph in the report.

Let us now interchange with, and ob-

the officers of the

which the president has alluded, where men have continued for years to pay in their savings for the object of making provisions for their families, and that object has been defeated by the disastrous failure of such companies. I think you must all feel convinced from the explanations that Mr. Blaikie has given in the report which he has read, and from the figures in the financial statement, that the North American Life has attained a leading position among insurance and financial institutions in this country. I feel very proud, indeed, that we have succeeded in building up such a company as the North American Life Insurance Company. It will be remembered that our late lamented president, the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, freely gave the company the benefit of his great ability and excellent judgment, ever evincing the greatest interest in the success of the company. The directors and all friends of the company always felt the deepest gratitude for his sound judgment and careful attention to the company's affairs, to the very close of his life. Perhaps I may be permitted to say that I thoroughly agree with everything that has been said in the report as to the great ability of the managing director, Mr. McCabe, and our indebtedness to him, and from what I know of the very large amount of attention our president, Mr. Blaikie, gives to the affairs of the company, and the ability he has brought to bear in filling that important position, I feel that you will all agree with me that he has proved himself a very worthy successor to our late and much-esteemed president, Hon. Alexander Mackenzie. The motion was unanimously carried. On motion of J. K. Kerr, Q.C., second vice-president, seconded by Wm. Lount, Q.C., the bylaw for the distribution of the company's surplus on its investment policies maturing in 1894, as allocated by the company's consulting actuary, was adopted. Hearty votes of thanks were tendered the board, officers and agents of the company, and at a subsequent meeting of the newly-elected board, Mr. John L. Blaikie was unanimously re-elected president, and Hon. G. W. Allan and J. K. Kerr, Q.C., vice-presidents.

Out of the Workhouse

Old Lucas, though he was dressed by eight, chose to accept the offer of breakfast in his bedroom. After his solitary meal he had a long business conference with Mr. Wilbraham, in which his stubborn nature asserted itself, making it plain to the lawyer that he intended as far as he knew how, to manage his own affairs his own way. He agreed that he and his granddaughter should remain Mr. Wilbraham's guests till they had got more used to the law. "I pay proper for what I have," but they were to look out for an establishment of their own, and Bell was "to get all the fun she could." He did not want her to think of marrying as long as she lived, he said bluntly. She was too young and wouldn't know her own mind, and would have enough to pick and choose—"for she's to have every penny of mine," he added. The first thing to be done was to get her a proper outfit. He wrote a check under Mr. Wilbraham's direction for £100, to which he signed his name in sprawling characters with difficulty, but with a sense of importance that was a joy to him. This overpowering sum of money was entrusted to Bell to be spent under Mr. Wilbraham's directions in "clothes fit for a lady."

One afternoon, some days after, Mr. Wilbraham had an unexpected visit from an embarrassed and perspiring youth. But what Mr. Matthew Lucas of Field End, in his antique broadcloth Sunday suit. After an immense deal of humming and hawing, rubbing of face with red pocket-handkerchief, and so forth, the object of the visit was blurted out.

"You heard, no doubt, sir, what the old man said about me and the property?"

"That you were not to be the better for it?"

"Ay, no more than a paltry 10 shillings a week—and him rolling in money."

"Do you wish not to accept the 10 shillings then?"

"No, don't say that. It's miserable enough, but it's better than now. But what I do say, sir, is that it seems hard as a man's own lawful son shouldn't benefit a farthing by a fortune like this."

"Mr. Lucas, you know, feels much aggrieved by your allowing him to go to the Union."

"I know, sir, he wants to be revenged like. I'm sure there's no one sorrier nor me as it should have happened so. If I could have known—"

"Oh, certainly, if you could have known, it wouldn't have happened, of course."

Matthew Lucas, not having much sense of humor, did not perceive the sarcasm.

"That's what I say, sir; it never 'ud. He might think of it, but he never expected to be a family—why, the rates and taxes as I pay, and the big rent for that bit of place you'd never believe! And me with five children to maintain—why, how could I keep an old man and child—his cruel hard."

"Well, hard or not, my good friend, I can't help it."

"Ah, but you can, sir," said the man, lowering his voice to a cunning whisper. "You said as if he didn't make no will we'd come in for the money. Well, sir, and why should he make a will to leave his own son out in the cold? I'm only wantin' my due, and that's all I say, sir, and I have no offense. If my father dies without a will—the doctor at home said he weren't likely to live more than a year or two—I'd be willin' to give you £10,000 down! If he makes one he'll leave every penny to the better, and neither you nor me 'all be the better."

"I don't know what you mean," Mr. Wilbraham said, affecting an anger he could not feel.

"How can I help your father making a will?"

"Well, sir, I think you could, you're a lawyer; he'd come to you natural to do it—it's easy to put it off and put it off. Anyway, sir, please to bear this in mind, if the old man dies without a will and I comes in for the money, there's ten times as much as I have now."

"Hush!" whispered the lawyer, but too late. The door had suddenly opened, and Matthew Lucas, turning, saw his father before him. What had he heard? Nothing, probably. There was no change in the rugged face, only the old look of hatred which it always wore when he turned it on his son.

"Well, Mat," he drawled, in slow, sarcastic tones, "so you've come to draw your first week's money. Pay him his half now, lawyer; 'tis a pity he should be kept waitin' after the expense of a journey to Lunnun. You needn't ha' come of purpose, Mat; it'll be sent you regular. How's times with you? Thrivin', I warrant; you've allus managed to thrive."

Matthew was completely taken aback. He did not think it likely his father had heard what he said, but his presence in Mr. Wilbraham's office, he felt, necessitated explanation. His natural gift for lying, assisted by the force of the exigency, quickly invented a story which his father apparently accepted. But old Lucas, whose faculties had been strangely stimulated by prosperity, had heard and guessed more than either lawyer or client supposed, and set his mind at once on schemes for secretly baffling both. To this end he assumed complete indifference as to his son's errand, and was neither more nor less hostile to him than usual.

When both father and son were gone, and Mr. Wilbraham sat alone, he pushed away his paper, and began to consider the situation. After all, the lawyer's half was not to be lightly dismissed. That sum would go a good way towards the purchase of a certain "place in the country" to which Mr. Wilbraham hoped to retire when he had had enough of business. Old Lucas would leave him nothing, if he could be prevented for the present from making a will, and anything should happen to him—there was nothing felonious about it, if the action were shady. Well, he would wait and see! There was no hurry about the will at all events.

Matthew Lucas's coarse shrewdness had for once hit the mark.

During the preparations necessary for their new home old Lucas and his granddaughter had remained paying guests in Mr. Wilbraham's house. Bell had a maid, of whom she was in terrible awe, and whom a sense of propriety alone kept in her place. A pleasant, ladylike woman came every morning to teach her to speak, read, and write correctly, and to teach her in manners and etiquette. More than this Miss Andrews wisely abstained from attempting, judging that the heiress to a large fortune with a pretty face and sweet manner would go down without the help of accomplishments. The Wilbrahams introduced their guests, with the necessary explanations, to some of their friends. Bell was taken to concerts and theaters and to a few small, quiet parties, as a preparation for more to come. The mother of impecunious sons soon scented her, declared her to be a "sweet thing," and made themselves pleasant to her; the sons succumbed to her personal charms. Bell was afraid of them, of everybody (except Jack), but she thought them all only to kind. To Jack, however, she turned naturally in every difficulty, with a confiding trust that touched him. With him, and with him alone, she was perfectly at ease; happy when he could go out with her and show her the great bewildering city; still more when they stayed at home, and spent the evening in talk or some of the strange, new games she found so difficult; or he strolled on his banjo and sang in his pleasant baritone, rolling off or pathetic songs which she thought all alike beautiful. Jack, as he owned to himself with comical dismay, was growing very fond of little Bell. He hated the fellows who made love to her for her money, and was careful himself to do nothing of the sort; but he could not help getting fond of her, she was so simple and sweet. She slipped gradually out of all formalities, yet she was never held or forward. She kept generally to the "Mr. Jack," which was her first form of address, but now and then the "Mr." was forgotten, and she begged him and all of them to call her Bell, and not "Miss Robertson," to which she could not get accustomed. So things went on till Jack had reached a stage when he utterly refused to make any plans or to look a day ahead. The present was delightful, and the present was all.

One day when his father was out of town, Mr. Lucas summoned Jack to his room "to talk over some business." Jack suggested it was his father's province to attend to Mr. Lucas's affairs.

"Then I say it ain't, and what's more, young man, you've got to give me your word as not a sound of this gets to his ears, afore we begin it."

"But, sir, I really can't—"

"Yes, sir, you really can, and what's more you really must. I've a right to consult any lawyer I please, and to bargain as he don't blab, and I choose to ask you to make my will at once, not your father's. Ay, I have my reasons too. If you won't do it, and hold your tongue about it afterwards, why, I'll find some one as will."

Jack yielded; promised to say nothing, and asked for instructions.

"Well, look ye here. I want it done as short as possible, and done to-day. There's no sense in puttin' a lot of 'rubbishin' words in it. I want every thing willed to Bell, except a matter of which I'll speak, and a trifle to you, of course, for your trouble. But there's one thing on my mind. I can't abear the idea of my Bell bein' married for her money. I ain't in no hurry, mind, for her to be married at all—her's not 19 till next month, and that's a lot too young—I've told her I don't want it for years. But anyway, if I can help it, her shan't marry a poor man as'll swaggon on my money after I'm dead and gone. So I've been thinkin' I'll make it clear as if she marries a man as hasn't money enough of his own to keep her like a lady, she shan't have all I leave."

"And what do you call enough, sir?"

Lucas gave a knowing little wink, and chuckled. "A year ago, I Marter Jack, I'd called five hundred enough for any gentleman; but I know better now. I should say, perhaps, three thousand."

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

"AFTER THE BALL."

R. E. Graham, who appears at the Grand Opera House to-morrow night, will be remembered by many who attended the opera of the "Sea King," which was given here some three years ago. It was the hit of the season and efforts were made to secure a return date. Graham is a droll and original comedian and in this play he has full scope for his peculiar abilities. One of the acts of "After the Ball" is especially strong in laughable situations. A competent company is supporting the star.

PROF. NORRIS' DOGS.

Prof. Norris, who appears at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening with his dog show, has the reputation of being a kind and gentle master to his 50 canines. They all seem anxious and willing to perform their parts as anyone who might expect to be liberally rewarded. This may partly be from the fact they so thoroughly enjoy the visit of the audience, and love to work when they are applauded for their work. Such an entertainment as this always commands the respect of the refined and educated, so bring out the little ones and enjoy two hours of harmless fun and amusement.

ASTOR'S HORSE SHOW.

Prof. D. M. Bristol's horse show is to open a three nights' engagement at the Opera House on Monday evening next. This is a performance that has won the reputation of already pleasing hundreds of patrons in this city. The exhibition is unique and will doubtless again draw good houses.

A Prominent Clergyman

VERIFIES THE TRUTHFULNESS OF A STATEMENT MADE BY ONE OF HIS CHURCH MEMBERS.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes

Another Marvelous Cure.

A Sorely Afflicted Man is Now Perfectly Well.

A short time ago Mr. Wm. McWilliams, of Bradford, Ont., was completely cured, after suffering for years from that torturing disease, rheumatism. The cure is a most remarkable one owing to the fact that Mr. McWilliams is a man well up in years, and had suffered for a very lengthy period. This astonishing cure proves that the worst cases of rheumatism that afflict the old can be completely banished when that great curing agent, Paine's Celery Compound is used.

A prominent Presbyterian clergyman, Rev. F. Smith, of Bradford, was so intensely interested in Mr. McWilliams' cure and his testimony, that he has willingly indorsed every statement of his parishioner, as follows:

"I have known Mr. McWilliams for the past five years, and do certify to the truthfulness of his statement."

Mr. McWilliams' statement was not solicited or canvassed; he thoughtfully and generally sent it in for publication, in order that other sufferers might be directed to nature's fount of health and strength.

Mr. McWilliams says:

"Unsolicited I forward this testimonial as to the value of Paine's Celery Compound. I am pretty well up in years and was sorely afflicted with rheumatism. I purchased and used six bottles of your medicine and am now perfectly well; I have no rheumatism left."

It cannot be too fully impressed upon citizens of London—and more particularly upon young men and new comers—that the only qualifications required to get on the Ontario voters' lists now being revised are:

- (1) That the applicant is a British subject;
- (2) That he is 21 years of age;
- (3) That he is at the present moment a resident in either of the six wards of the city of London; and
- (4) That he has had a residence in the Province for the last twelve months.

Examine the lists any day or evening at the Young Liberal rooms, and satisfy yourself, or you may be without a vote in the coming elections.

talented young people from the city.

A number of Stratfordites and Londoners spent last Monday night on the G.
T. R. train which stuck in a snow bank at Kelly's siding on its way from here to Stratford. A foraging party set out for the nearest farm house—Mr. Pardee's—and secured a stock of provisions for the passengers. They then proceeded to spend a comfortable night. The ladies organized a progressive reading party to while away the hours, and these fortunate enough to get into this inner circle say that they never had more fun under such trying circumstances. In the meantime the train men were kept busy melting snow to provide water for the boiler so that steam could be kept up, and this work they continued the whole night, one or two of the men in consequence resting several severe frost-bites. At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning they were able to proceed. Conductor Mackenzie and crew did their utmost to make everyone at home.

Arcanumites at Whist.

The return game between London South and London Councils of the Royal Arcanum was played last night at the Pythias Hall.
The suburban strengthened their team considerably since last contest, and although London Council put their best men to play, the result was decidedly close.
Twenty-five hands were played at each of the six tables, London winning by the small score of plus 13—a very small majority for a total of 150 hands.

Annie Pixley's Will.

The will of the late Annie Pixley has been filed for probate in Philadelphia.
After directing that her debts and funeral expenses be fully satisfied, she left all her estate, real and personal, to her husband, Robert Fulford. In the event of her husband dying first Miss Pixley had willed that her property be distributed among her relatives and to charitable institutions. By this Miss Edith Fraser, of Port Stanley, her niece, would have received $6,000 in trust until her death or marriage, when the principal would have reverted to the residuary estate.

The Modern Invalid

Has tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; if constipated he uses the gentle family laxative, Syrup of Figs.
There may be a dispensary war in South Carolina. If it comes to pass there will be plenty of spirit in it.

wheel; "even in this country a man must

THE DOMINION SAVINGS AND INVESTMENT SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the society was held on Tuesday, Feb. 13, at their offices, Richmond street, London, at 11 o'clock
a.m.

There were present: Robert Reid, Esq., president, in the chair, T. H. Pur-dom acting as secretary; Dr. Moorehouse, John Ferguson, J. A. Blair, M. J. Kent, Richard Thompson, George Porter (Bowmanville), Dr. J. W. McLaughlin (Bowmanville), W. J. McMurry (Toronto), F.
R. Levy, Francis Love, James Campbell,
W. M. Spencer, C. R. Somerville, John
Purdum, Thomas Kent, Dr. Arnot, Joshua
Jackson, W. J. Craig, Alexander Purdom,
E. J. Parke, Q. C., John Johnston, Samuel
Wright, Rev. J. R. Gundy, Rebecca Cad-ham, C. W. Cadham, John Dearness, Geo.
Moncrieff, M. P., Mrs. Laura Howell, A.
Aikman, Col. R. Lewis, John Wright, Dr.
Eccles and others.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The secretary read the report as follows:

To the shareholders of the Dominion Savings
and Investment Society:

The directors beg leave to submit the 21st annual report of the affairs of the Society.

The net earnings during the year amounted to $66,097.41, from which two half-yearly dividends at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, amounting to $55,960.69, have been paid, and the balance, $10,136.72,
carried to the contingent account.

The directors regard the business of the year on the whole satisfactory, and, although the general depression in the value of real estate has prevented the conversion of property on hand into cash as speedily as the directors desired, it has not prevented them from disposing of some of the properties, and all ascertained losses have been written off the contingent account created some years ago for that purpose, still leaving at the credit of that account the sum of $22,272.72.

During the year the society redeemed debentures of the Ontario Investment Association assumed by it amounting to $214,- 620.

Following the advice of his physician, the manager, Mr. H. E. Nelles, went to Southern California for the benefit of his health. The directors regret this very much, as Mr. Nelles has proved himself to be a careful and thoroughly competent manager. They hope he will soon be able to resume his duties. During his absence
Mr. T. H. Purdom, the inspecting director, assumed increased responsibility, and the business of the society suffered as little inconvenience as possible.

The books of the society have been each month regularly audited by Messrs. C. R.
Somerville and J. K. McDermid, with the result which appears by their certificate attached to the statement.

The society's business is still confined to Western Ontario.

All the directors retire annually, but are eligible for re-election.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT REID, President.

are a correct showing of the affairs of the society.
