MABEE'S DEATH MEANS GREAT LOSS TO CANADA

Many Eulogies Pronounced On Late Chairman of the Railway Commission.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, May 7.—Many eulogies were pronounced on the late Hon. J. P. Mabey today. In the court of appeal Mr. Justice Garrow in the absence of Sir Charles Moss, said:

"In the higher position as chairman of the railway commission he displayed qualities that will render it difficult to replace him with any man in sight, though I do not despair of the country's securing a fitting successor. So far as that office was concerned, he was a particularly strong man, and the right man in the right place."

James Bicknell K. C. "Everybody admits that he was a big man, and that the country sustains a heavy loss in his death."

Chief Justice Mulock: "The country has sustained a great loss in the untimely death of Mr. Justice Mabey. After displaying remarkable judicial ability, he was removed to the Dominion Railway Commission, where he discharged his duty in a manner which others should at least emulate, if they cannot succeed in equalling his record."

"Not only is it a shock but it comes as a great personal loss to all of us," said J. E. Smith, chairman of the T. and N. O. Railway. "J. P. Mabey's death is a great loss to Canada."

Babies Have Itching Eczema

Itching, almost constant and well-nigh unbearable itching, is the marked symptom of eczema. The direct cause is usually friction or irritation of the skin. In babies the trouble often arises from infrequent changing of napkins.

Until you have used Dr. Chase's Ointment in a case of eczema you can scarcely realize the relief which this treatment affords. Gradually the sores are cleaned up and healed, and a new, smooth skin replaces that which has been irritated and diseased.

By keeping Dr. Chase's Ointment at hand, along with the bath soap and using it whenever chafing or irritation appears you can keep baby's skin in perfect condition, save him much suffering and yourself much anxiety.

FEMALE BLUEBEARD

Austrian Woman Confesses Murder of Four Husbands.

Vienna, May 8.—A woman who has been arrested at Lippa, in Hungary, has confessed that she murdered four of her husbands. She is now married to an innkeeper named Kapruczan.

Owing to the revelations she has made, five other women of the same town have been arrested for murdering their first husbands. From the admissions of Frau Kapruczan, it appears that she made a regular business of helping her neighbors to get rid of their husbands in order to marry other men.

There appears to have been no monetary reasons for the crimes.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 8.

BUNCUMBE, NOT HATED.

The St. Louis Republic expresses some annoyance at the riot raised by "the British Tories" over Mr. Taft's letter. Its memory reverts, no doubt, to the mean cartoons, the denunciations and falsehoods of the Canadian anti-reciprocity campaign, when it declares that "a great many and perhaps a majority of our neighbors hate us as cordially as did their ancestors from whom we won our liberties."

An unreasoning and baseless fear may have temporarily actuated many Canadian voters, hated only a very few. As for the journalists and politicians who vilified our American friends and vilify Mr. Bryce, it might have been thought that a fellow-countryman of the somersaulting Mr. Roosevelt would know what value to set upon these insinuations of the office-seeker. The whole cry of "continentalism" was one piece of claptrap, and the noise about the "adjunct" is only an echo of the campaign waged by the Big Interests against the Canadian people, caught up with more hungry emphasis by the out-of-office party over the water.

Please consider the thing in this way, Mr. St. Louis Republic. Canada's feeling towards the United States is no more to be judged by the behavior of a few howling devils than the American attitude towards Canada should be inferred from a madcap speech of a Champ Clark.

Why, the very persons who most inveighed against the Americans were being supplied with argument by the activity of the American agricultural, lumber and paper interests; they received and distributed wagon loads of election literature from American sources. Many of these people would be quick to take a position in the United States, to invest capital there, to spend the winter in Florida, and the spring in Virginia with Mr. Borden. Canadians do not hate their neighbors, but have a really neighborly feeling for them. Anything written or spoken in the last election campaign that seemed to show an anti-American animus was buncumbe and balderdash.

TAFT OR ROOSEVELT.

Roosevelt needs 250 more votes to win the Republican convention, and there are fewer than 300 delegates yet to be chosen. By no possibility will he have a majority when the convention opens.

President Taft, who needs 540 delegates, has between 460 and 470 to date, with Ohio, California, New Jersey, Arizona, Arkansas, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, South Dakota, Tennessee and Wyoming, still to elect. Out of these he may get the required 70 or 80 votes.

White Roosevelt will not have a majority when the convention opens, his opportunity will come if Taft fails of a majority on the first ballot by even one vote. In the second or succeeding ballots, the La Follette, Cummins, and Harmon delegates, having kept their pledges on the first ballot, might go over to Roosevelt in a body. What is equally likely, the convention may be stampeded in his favor by some incident, or phrase, or calculated stroke of sensationalism. In 1896, Bryan, then almost unknown, swept the Democratic convention by a metaphor. The psychology of these great gatherings is a fluid and fickle element.

With the Taft and anti-Taft forces almost in equipoise, a slight movement one way or the other might precipitate the whole convention. Roosevelt's hope, therefore, is to prevent Taft's succeeding on the first ballot. In that event his agents will employ every art and device to start a Roosevelt wave in motion.

"Banish the dumps" would be a good municipal motto.

The Government of Canada is an example. It is composed of men of the Mabee type.—London Free Press. This is the only unkind reference to Justice Mabee that has been published.

In three weeks the British exchequer collected in death duties £2,165,000, or nearly $10,825,000. This is the most justifiable of all forms of taxation, particularly in a country where wealth "rests in moulded hands."

A MONGREL RACE—AND PROUD OF IT.

[Hamilton Herald.]
We belong to a mongrel race. It is a fact which is not to be deplored. The virility of the race is due to the very fact that it is a mongrel race. The weak degenerate races are those which have not intermingled with others. It is the blending of so many racial elements, mainly the Teutonic and Celtic, in one great amalgam, which makes the English-speaking people so masterful as a race. The name of the race should be, not Anglo-Saxon, but Anglo-Celtic.

MABEE'S TITLE TO FAME.

A good name is better than riches. The name of James P. Mabee will be held in honor in Canada long after many of the get-rich-quick men of today are forgotten.

GLADSTONE'S FAVORITE GRAND-DAUGHTER MARRIED.

[London Daily News.]
Miss Dorothy Drew, daughter of the late Canon Drew, a great favorite with her grandfather—W. E. Gladstone—was married to Mr. Francis Woodbine

Parish at St. Margaret's, Westminster yesterday afternoon. Mr. Parish is A. D. C. to Lord Gladstone, the governor-general of South Africa.

Many well-known people in the political and social worlds were present at the ceremony, which was conducted by Canon Scott Holland (the bride's godfather), assisted by the Rev. Stephen Gladstone (the bride's uncle), and the Bishop of Winchester, who was a great friend of the late Canon Drew, rector of Haverdine. Miss Drew was led up the aisle by her uncle, Mr. Henry Gladstone, and given away by her mother.

The veil and covering of lace over the bride's dress was worn by Mrs. W. E. Gladstone at her wedding in 1839. A charming touch of color was supplied to the attire of heavy white satin chamoisee by the bouquet of deep blue forget-me-nots carried by Miss Drew. Her ornaments included a pearl necklace and a pair of pearl and diamond earrings.

BAD FOR CHICKENS.

[Pittsburg Post.]
"I think, dear, we may as well give up the idea of raising chickens this year."

"Why? Don't you think it will be a good year for chickens?"
"No. It will cost too much to feed them. The man next door tells me that he has joined a golf club, so he isn't likely to have a garden."

NATIONAL CONVENTION OF CANADIAN Y. M. C. A.'S.

Gathering at Winnipeg to Consider Better Supervision of Work.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, May 8.—A national convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Canada will be held in Winnipeg, May 29-June 2. The immediate occasion of this gathering is to consider how better to supervise this work in the Dominion. At present there are really three agencies of supervision, and the proposition is to unify and nationalize these.

ONE-SIDED.

[Boston Transcript.]
Gibbs—"I hear that Emerson is very happy as an after-dinner speaker."

Dibbs—"Probably, but that's more than can be said of his audiences."

COMPLAINT REMEDIED.

[Pittsburg Herald.]
Clerk—Mr. Sapplegah complains in his letter that he is not hearing anything further about his suit.

Lawyer—Send him a bill.

UNCLE SAM HIDES HIS HEAD.

[New York World.]
The Massachusetts presidential primaries reflect no credit upon Taft or Roosevelt, or the State of Massachusetts.

So far as the President is concerned, the vote shows that he failed to win the confidence of a commanding majority of the Republican party in the state. As far as Mr. Roosevelt is concerned, the vote shows that a cunning and unscrupulous demagogue engaged in exploiting his own ambition can do in the way of fooling some of the people all the time.

So far as the Democrats are concerned, the vote for Champ Clark is an eloquent exhibition of Democratic folly and assiduity in a critical campaign year.

So far as Massachusetts is concerned, the vote shows that the state has enacted a complicated primary law which is beyond the intelligence of thousands of voters, and which prevents a clear and honest expression of party preference for president.

To gain these results, the office of president of the United States has been degraded, the country has been treated to a campaign of slander and vilification and falsehood without parallel, public respect for the presidency has been weakened, the greatest elective office in the world has been made a football of demagoguery and sharp practice, and to what good?

Mr. Taft may claim, or whatever Mr. Roosevelt may claim, the country is the worse off for the Massachusetts campaign.

WOMAN AND BASEBALL.

[Galveston News.]
One reason a woman never really enjoys watching a baseball game is because she never can tell when the umpire ought to be killed.

PETROLEUM HAS BEEN LONG KNOWN.

[New York Sun.]
The petroleum industry, which has made such great advances during the last 30 years, deals with a product which has been known in other lands from earliest days. In China it was used long before history was first written. The famous petroleum springs near the western shore of the Caspian Sea have been known from the earliest times. Antiquarians say that Phiny and Herodotus each knew or had heard of petroleum.

PRICE OF ART.

[Sketch.]
The Artist—No, it can't be done. My tariff for landscape now is $25 a piece. Double fees if shown standing in water on account of the reflection. However, if you like to have 'em on the bank in long grass, so that their legs don't show, and only the tops of their backs are reflected, I daresay I could run you in half a dozen for thirty bob."

THE LAND OF LETTERS

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

The Hudson Bay Railroad is not yet a fact, but it has already supplied inspiration for the romance of the Fort Churchill country. The author of "Flower of the North" (Harper & Bros., New York) is Mr. James Oliver Curwood, of Detroit, and from his spirited dedication to his comrades of the great northern wilderness, I take it that he has surveyed the region through which the new Manitoba railroad will take its course. The hero of the lively story of adventure, which Mr. Curwood has conceived is a young American, who sees the great fortune that is to be made by organizing a company to buy up fishing rights in the new country (tapped by the railroad; He and his American friends secure a provisional charter and start in to build a spur line from lakes which teem with fish to the main line of the Hudson Bay Railroad. They build fish-houses and sell millions of dollars' worth of stock to Americans, but young Whittemore, the manager, is called upon to go through many exciting adventures before he realizes his ambition. Incidentally, he finds a beautiful maiden in the north country, a sort of Miranda who lives with her Prospero father far from the lure of civilization in a Churchill post, called Fort of God. But all Mirandas in exile are bound to welcome the gentleman lover in their exile, if they wait long enough, and this was the happy fate that came to Jeanne, who was dressed in rich yellow buckskin, as soft as chamois, and whose father, D'Arcambal, an old French gentleman, shielded her in a secret mansion that was built and furnished by a French courtier two hundred years before. The long canoe voyage up the Churchill River, after Whittemore had rescued Jeanne from the hands of desperadoes, revealed to her and her heroine their mutual love, and prepared the latter for the great surprise he was to receive on reaching the secret abode of luxury in the wilderness.

The plot of this novel of the Hudson Bay region is so intricate, so original, that I cannot begin to attempt to follow its devious turnings. Suffice it to say that the eager mind of this Detroit writer has grasped all those devices by which adventures are shaped into a narrative. He has provided us with two lovely young women and two resourceful, rugged, young Americans. There are two villains, both of them really clever, a desperate and a half-breed, a collector of furs, the other young man, guessing until the climax of the story is reached. Subsidiary characters include a Scotch miner, a half-breed, a foreman of construction gangs. There are interesting situations in plenty, such as the arrival of the Hudson's Bay Company ship from England, the desperate night when Whittemore rescued Jeanne from her captors, their thrilling journey down the Big Thunder Rapids, the death of the villain at the hands of Pierre, the half-breed, and other startling happenings.

MINISTER PRAISES ZAM-BUK

TELLS HOW IT CURED HIS WIFE'S BAD SORE.

When Everything Else Had Failed.

Rev. Henry J. Munton, of Blackfalds, Alta., writes: "My wife had a very bad sore foot, which it seemed impossible to get anything to heal. The sore would heal to a certain point and then fester again, and so on. I procured a box of Zam-Buk, and after persevering with this heral balm for some time the sore was completely healed."

THROWING OF STONES CAUSES A VOLLEY TO BE SENT INTO THE CROWD.

Pottsville, Pa., May 8.—Two men and a woman were shot by the state police at Pottsville, near York, this morning, when a mob which was being dispersed, started an attack upon them. Stones were thrown at the policemen, and when the police started to use their riot sticks, someone in the crowd discharged a pistol. The policemen fired into the crowd, which was then put to rout. One man was shot in the leg and another in the stomach. The nature of the woman's injury is not known. WHEN WOMEN ARE PALE

Women who are pale and feel compelled to resort to cosmetics to give their complexion a "natural" color will be pleased to know a better way.

Pale is caused by poor, thin blood—nothing else. If your blood is as rich and red as it ought to be, the skin will have that ruddy hue of health so much desired.

Miss Clara Wolters, of Brooklyn, says: "My blood became thin and poor last spring, making me pale and nervous. I had heard that Vinol was a splendid thing for this condition so I began using it and received great benefit. It has restored my healthy color and made me feel well again. Vinol is an excellent tonic."

We say positively that there is nothing like Vinol to enrich and purify the blood, and build up weak, run-down people. The taste is delicious and even children like to take it.

You can use Vinol without any risk, for we guarantee it to be satisfactory and pay back your money if it is not.

THE LAND OF LETTERS

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

The Hudson Bay Railroad is not yet a fact, but it has already supplied inspiration for the romance of the Fort Churchill country. The author of "Flower of the North" (Harper & Bros., New York) is Mr. James Oliver Curwood, of Detroit, and from his spirited dedication to his comrades of the great northern wilderness, I take it that he has surveyed the region through which the new Manitoba railroad will take its course. The hero of the lively story of adventure, which Mr. Curwood has conceived is a young American, who sees the great fortune that is to be made by organizing a company to buy up fishing rights in the new country (tapped by the railroad; He and his American friends secure a provisional charter and start in to build a spur line from lakes which teem with fish to the main line of the Hudson Bay Railroad. They build fish-houses and sell millions of dollars' worth of stock to Americans, but young Whittemore, the manager, is called upon to go through many exciting adventures before he realizes his ambition. Incidentally, he finds a beautiful maiden in the north country, a sort of Miranda who lives with her Prospero father far from the lure of civilization in a Churchill post, called Fort of God. But all Mirandas in exile are bound to welcome the gentleman lover in their exile, if they wait long enough, and this was the happy fate that came to Jeanne, who was dressed in rich yellow buckskin, as soft as chamois, and whose father, D'Arcambal, an old French gentleman, shielded her in a secret mansion that was built and furnished by a French courtier two hundred years before. The long canoe voyage up the Churchill River, after Whittemore had rescued Jeanne from the hands of desperadoes, revealed to her and her heroine their mutual love, and prepared the latter for the great surprise he was to receive on reaching the secret abode of luxury in the wilderness.

The plot of this novel of the Hudson Bay region is so intricate, so original, that I cannot begin to attempt to follow its devious turnings. Suffice it to say that the eager mind of this Detroit writer has grasped all those devices by which adventures are shaped into a narrative. He has provided us with two lovely young women and two resourceful, rugged, young Americans. There are two villains, both of them really clever, a desperate and a half-breed, a collector of furs, the other young man, guessing until the climax of the story is reached. Subsidiary characters include a Scotch miner, a half-breed, a foreman of construction gangs. There are interesting situations in plenty, such as the arrival of the Hudson's Bay Company ship from England, the desperate night when Whittemore rescued Jeanne from her captors, their thrilling journey down the Big Thunder Rapids, the death of the villain at the hands of Pierre, the half-breed, and other startling happenings.

Embroidered Summer Frock

Flounces of embroidered cotton voile used one upon the other is the manner that a gown is made to be worn in early summer. The skirt is scant and each flounce is edged with small white silk balls. Between them and the embroidered flouncing is set insertion of Valenciennes lace. The blouse has a surprise effect. It, too, as are the demi-sleeves, is outlined with the tiny ball trimming. A cerise velvet belt makes a sharp waist line, and the stiff bows of it are a bit to the left of the front side.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENCE

Perspiring Palms

Dear Miss Grey: I am a young man nineteen years of age. My hands perspire and make it very disagreeable, especially in company. They seem to perspire in the palm of the hand. Kindly let me know what will prevent the perspiration, and oblige.

AN ANXIOUS READER.

A—Buy one ounce of zinc oxide at a drug store and mix it with four ounces of powdered starch. This powder is excellent for preventing excessive perspiration.

A Wedding Announcement.

Dear Sirs: I have been very much interested in Cynthia Grey's questions and answers, and herein inclose a question which I would like answered through her columns: Having received an announcement card of the marriage of a friend, what is the proper way of answering it? Kindly answer through your paper, and oblige.

C. O. S.
A—It is not necessary to acknowledge the receipt of a wedding announcement, but you should call upon the bride's parents within three weeks after the wedding, and leave cards for the bride's mother and for herself.

A Bridesmaid's Attire.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you be so kind as to answer the following questions:

1. With a pink silk dress, which would you prefer to wear, high white shoes and white silk stockings, or black pumps and black silk stockings to a wedding; also white or pink satin half ribbons with same dress?
2. Which would be the more suitable to wear with this dress, white or pink silk gloves?
3. I am fifteen years of age, tall and slender and medium complexioned; which would be the nicest way to have my hair done up, as I am not fortunate enough to be provided with a great quantity?

4. If wearing high white shoes, how long should my skirt be. I am five feet, two and a half inches.
5. What kind of a hat would be nicest to go with this dress.
6. Is it necessary if there are two bridesmaids for a wedding for them to be dressed alike if they are from different cities.

Hoping that you will answer these, I thank you in advance. I remain, yours sincerely,

VERY ANXIOUS.

1. I think the white hose and shoes would look nicer than black, and if you can buy a pink hair ribbon that matches the color of your dress exactly, wear pink instead of white.

2. Either color would be appropriate. If you wear the white ribbon on your hair, the gloves should be white, but if a pink bow adorns your lockets, the pink gloves would be more suitable.

3. Part in the centre, wave below each ear, and gather into a soft roll at the back of the head. A pink ribbon bandeau with rosette adds a charming touch.

4. Six inches from the floor.

5. Would suggest a white mohair picture hat, trimmed with tiny pink pom-poms, or a dainty embroidery hat with pink ribbon trimming.

Preparing for a Wedding.

Dear Miss Grey: I am to be married in the near future, and as I have not had the pleasure of attending a wedding, I would be glad to have you answer me a few questions about a house wedding.

1. How long before the wedding should the invitations be sent out, and when should the announcements be sent?

INEXPERIENCED.

A—Invitations should be issued between fifteen and twenty days before the wedding ceremony. Announcement cards are posted on the day of the wedding. They might be addressed and made ready for mailing a day or two previously.

2. There is no conventional rule regarding this, so far as I know. I should fancy that he might escort her directly from her room to the parlor.

3. As simply and naturally as possible. I could scarcely tell you what phrases to use.

4. Relatives or intimate friends of either bride or groom.
5. No, it is better to cut the cake the day before, and place it in the little boxes which the stationers provide for the purpose. Place these on a table in the hall or dining room, where the guests may help themselves as they pass out.

6. The order of seating of those present depends largely upon whether several small or one large table is used. If you have several tables, one should be reserved for the bride and groom, and the attendants, and the clergyman; the immediate relatives fill another, and the other guests occupy the remaining tables. But if one long table is used in this order, the bride and groom together, the minister and his wife sit facing the bride and groom, and the remaining guests scatter around the board.

7. I think the answer to your fifth query will cover this. Cake to be sent to absent friends should be forwarded a day or two after the wedding.

8. It would be best to secure the services of one or two young men. A favorite cousin or friend of the groom would not doubt act in this capacity.

9. The minister faces the assembly.

10. After the ceremony the bride and groom turn to receive congratulations from those present.

11. If there is anything else you desire to ask, and I can be of any help to you, do not hesitate to write again.

FEMININE FRILLS

Russian blouse effects are in favor. New sleeves are both long and short.

Velvet and satin shoes have had their day.

Tunics are seen on many tailored street suits.

The reign of the chiffon waist is by no means over.

The lines of the spring gowns are undoubtedly fuller.

Striped and checked silks will be fashionable this season.

Strands of flowers hang from the neck in place of jabots.

The new skirt is draped or has the double or triple effect.

Silk takes a prominent place as hat trimming to form bows.

Satin and serge are combined in some of the new, novel suits.

Cordings of silk, satin, chiffon braid or lightweight cloth are evidenced on nearly all frocks.

Corsages are swathed in tulle. Sleeves on some of the evening dresses are tiniest puffs of tulle.

The light tailored sleeve is a prominent favorite for the dresses of heavy worsted material.

A Smart Idea

A smart idea for the trimming of tailor-made dresses is suede for a binding of a collar and sleeves and for the waistcoat. The gloves worn to match a suede travelling cap adds to the complexion of the scheme.

The Panier

Now that the question of spring suits for out-of-door wear has been definitely settled, our thoughts are turned towards evening modes. The most captivating models may be seen everywhere. The panier dress is the most novel and sensational, but fashion is so versatile that almost every style which is graceful and effective may be considered a mode.

Overdress seen recently was made in soft ivory, mousseline de sole gracefully draped over a handsome embroidered shell pink satin underdress, with applique of Bruges lace, and at the waist was a touch of black velvet with paste ornaments. The long lace trimmed sleeve extended right on to the hand.

DEVELOPING CHEST.

The housewife may exercise the muscles in her back every time she passes through a door. Place the hands back of the body, grasping each side of the door frame and push very hard several times, and with each push take a long, slow, deep breath, then relax while exhaling. This exercise develops the chest and shoulders, eliminating the hollow, and giving plenty of room for the lungs to expand.

Meat Scallop.
In this case left-over pork is to be used for the scallop, and this means a different seasoning than would be used with turkey. Meat scallops should not be made all alike, for the material one has on hand governs to a very extensive degree what shall be used with the scallop. In this case roast pork, apple sauce and a brown gravy should be on hand to use. Mix the meat with half the quantity of breadcrumbs and add whatever gravy was left over. Grease the baking dish and fill with alternate layers of meat and apple sauce, having the meat layer thick, the apple sauce layer spread lightly on it. If the scallop does not seem moist, add a little hot water or tomato juice. Cover the top with greased breadcrumbs and bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes. Scallops are better if baked in a covered dish and the cover removed just long enough before serving to brown the top. This keeps them from getting too dry and hard.

Asparagus Rings.
Boil the asparagus tender in salted water, drain it and put three or four pieces in a ring that you have cut out of cooked carrot. Lay it on a dish. Sprinkle it over with a few green peas, and lastly with some French dressing.

Dandelion Greens.
Pick over tender dandelion leaves, wash carefully through several waters, then throw into boiling, salted water and cook gently for 15 minutes. Drain, turn cold water over them to chill and blanch. Drain again, chop fine, and when nearly ready to serve warm in a frying pan with butter, pepper and salt. Mound in a hot dish and slice two hard-boiled eggs over them. Dandelion greens are also cooked with bacon. In this case cook the well-cleaned leaves ten minutes in boiling water, then drain and return to the saucepan with fresh water and a pound of bacon allowed to each half-pound of dandelions. Add salt, pepper and a little onion, and boil gently until nearly dry. Serve the greens on a hot platter with the bacon.

A dainty and useful article for the bride's trousseau is the pretty little device known as the "trousseau tie." This is made of a long strip of satin ribbon, designed so as to fasten under a buckle of ribbed silk, the buckle band embroidered in flowers to match the ribbon.

Four Dainty Desserts

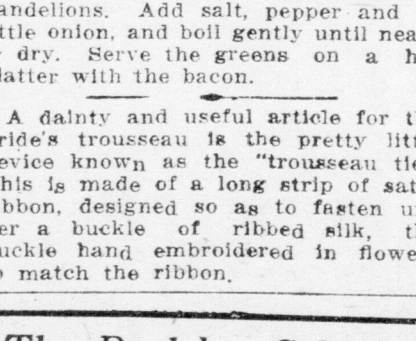

Marshmallow Dainty.
Chop and melt a pound of marshmallows in two cupsful of any fruit juice. Boil together two cupsful of sugar and one cupful of water until they will form a thread; then stir this into the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, the marshmallows and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Beat until cold and fold into half a pint of whipped cream. Pack the whole in salt and ice for three hours. In the meantime half fill sherbet glasses with thinly sliced bananas, cubes of pineapple, pieces of orange (from which the stringy pulp has been removed), and chopped maraschino cherries. Cover this with a bit of fruit juice and a tablespoonful of honey. Heap the cold marshmallow mixture over this, and serve at once.

Lemon Jelly.
Cover one-half box of gelatine with a half-cupful of cold water; stand over for half an hour; then pour over two cupsful of boiling water. Add a cupful of sugar and stir until sugar and gelatine are dissolved; add also one-half pint of lemon juice and one-half cupful of orange juice. Strain through a cloth or filter paper if necessary. Turn into a mold previously wet with cold water and put away to harden. Serve with slightly sweetened whipped cream.

Fruit Charlotte.
Over one-half pound of dates and the same amount of figs pour water enough to cover and stew until tender. Drain and pour over one wine-glassful of orange juice, and let the fruit get very cold. Line a charlotte mold with ladyfingers and put in the chilled fruit. Whip half a pint of cream and add sugar to taste. Also soak one tablespoonful of gelatine in two tablespoonfuls of cold water and stand over for half an hour; then add two tablespoonfuls of milk. Add this immediately to the whipped cream, stir carefully, chill, and put on top of the fruit in the mold. Sprinkle over with toasted or crushed, shredded coconut, and set away to chill before serving.

Prune Whip.
Take one pound of prunes and soak overnight in enough water to cover them well. In the morning cook in the water in which they have been soaked, until soft enough for the pits to be removed readily. Chop finely and sweeten to taste. Add the whites of two eggs, well-beaten with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Beat thoroughly and stand on ice for one hour. Serve with a custard sauce made as follows: Dissolve a dessertspoonful of cornstarch in a little cold milk and add to this two cupsful of milk, the yolks of two eggs and a tablespoonful of sugar. Cook until sufficiently thick and serve with the prune whip when cool.

THE PROGRESSIVE DRUGGISTS.

Forget Your Troubles

Learn to keep your own affairs locked up in your heart, but be willing to listen to other's sorrows.

There is no use in the world in harping on the crazy tear-making events of life.

Be patient with the faults of others, and be patient with your own. But don't talk about the worries and trials of everyday existence.

There is no sense in that at all. It is a tremendous waste of energy. No one wants to hear about individual troubles. Constant talking about one's troubles is a sure path to chronic fault-finding, bickering and family rows that cause more misery than anything else on earth. And what good does the talking do. The sympathy you get doesn't amount to a row of pins.

Individuals of the right sort resent being pitied. Don't be a sympathy beggar.

Smiles lead you back to youth, tears drag you quickly to old age.

POPULAR VEILS.

Pale flesh pink tulle, now used as a tucker for many evening dresses, is especially becoming in a black gown. It is also being used to line veils, and with becoming effect, as it is so fine that it gives a very faint pink tint to the complexion.

Black veils will not be so popular as black and white. These parti-colored are being made by mounting the very finest black veiling, patterned with roses or lilies, over equally fine white tulle.

HOUSE-CLEANING HINT.

Spots in polished wood made by heated dishes will disappear if salt mixed with salad oil is poured over them and allowed to remain an hour or so, then rub off with a soft cloth. An easy way to clean a rug is to lay it on the lawn and scrub it, first on one side then on the other, with a stiff broom, dipped in a bucketful of hot water, in which two tablespoonfuls of ammonia and one-half bar of laundry soap have been dissolved. Hang the rug crosswise on a strong clothesline, rinse generously on both sides with the hose and let hang until dry. It is surprising how bright and new the rug will look.

Bewitching Bonnets

Children's millinery is really bewitching. For everyday wear there are some "Bunty" shapes with rather high crowns of coarse straw, the crown carrying the regulation band of ribbon, or black ribbon velvet, and numbers of close fitting basin styles in drawn taffeta or pliable pedal, some being completely round and others showing an inclination to stand out a scintillation at either side.

Especially pleasing is a pliable straw with a narrow brim and high squarish crown—in fact a veritable Paddy shape. Worn at a saucy angle and by the right child, with laughing piquant face, this Paddy is an assured success. Nor is the sugar loaf crown at all conspicuous by its absence, allied to a most part by a pliable brim that can be rolled or caught up at any angle most becoming to the small wearer.

Loss of Appetite

Which is so common in the spring or about the return of warm weather, is a sign of vitiated vigor or tone, and is often a forerunner of prostrating disease.

It is a serious and especially so to people that must keep up and doing of their best.

DELIBERATE ATTEMPT MADE TO WRECK G. T. R. EXPRESS

Train No. 7 Was Derailed Five Miles West of Sarnia, When Unknown Parties Opened Switch—All Cars
Left the Rails.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, May 8.—Grand Trunk express No. 7, running between Sarnia and Toronto, over the old main line, via Stratford, was completely derailed at 9:55 last night a mile west of Blackwells, a small station four miles west of Sarnia. With the exception of the news agent, B. P. Tureau, who is a Toronto man, and Conductor Jack Callahan, of Toronto, no one was hurt. The news agent was badly shaken up and Conductor Callahan sustained a severe cut on his head.

Switch Thrown Open.

Grand Trunk officials, who hurried to the scene of the derailment with five doctors, announced after a close investigation that they believed that the switch had been deliberately thrown open in an attempt to wreck the express.

No. 7 is a fast train, and was in charge of Engineer Burrip, of Toronto, when she struck the switch while going at a high speed. The big engine was completely overturned, and every coach left the rails but remained standing. The first intimation the passengers had of anything wrong was when they felt the air go on suddenly, and the cars commenced to bump along over the ties a few seconds later.

Nobody Hurt.

There are no sleepers on the train and traffic was not heavy. Fortunately for the passengers the cars did not overturn, and all escaped with a shaking up. Word was sent to Sarnia and five doctors were hurried out to care for any who were hurt. They had little to do, and returned in a short time.

A full investigation will be held in the affair today by Trainmaster Forrester, of Stratford, who came up at once, and every effort will be made to find the party who opened the switch.

Pentureu is in the local hospital. He has been unconscious ever since the accident. It is believed that he was hurled against the side of the baggage coach in which he was riding when the accident happened.

It was stated today that the G. T. R. officials have discovered that the lock on the switch was forced.

It was stated by a Grand Trunk man today that the switch had not been used for some weeks.

The majority of passengers on the train were emigrants en route for Saskatoon.

Engineer Burrip remained at the throttle throughout, and when the engine turned over his hand was still on the lever.

DEFENCE IS STRONG IN SPARLING CASE

Undertaker's Evidence Was Highly Favorable to Dr. Macgregor.

Bad Axe, Mich., May 7.—The defence in the Sparling case scored strongly today.

Undertaker McKay, of Uby, admitted that the prosecution had ample opportunity to examine the stomach and intestines of Cyril Sparling if they had wanted to, and that Dr. Macgregor did not try to prevent such examination.

Dr. Conboy testified to finding symptoms of arsenical poison in Cyril Sparling on his first visit, on Aug. 7, a week before the boy died. He said Dr. Macgregor admitted the symptoms and agreed it was arsenic. Evidence was offered by the prosecution relative to the death of the Sparling boy who died two months before Cyril, and the defence objected, claiming that the introduction of evidence relative to any of the other deaths in the family was illegal. Judge Beach took the matter under advisement and adjourned court until tomorrow morning, when he will give his decision on the point.

SPLIT THE EMPIRE ULSTER'S THREAT

Unionist Members See Awful
Fate If the Home Rule
Bill Passes.

BELFAST GOING ARMED

Postmaster Says Talk Against Autonomy Was Just as Violent in Canada.

London, May 7.—On the resumption of the debate on the home rule bill in the House of Commons tonight, Austen Chamberlain (Unionist) urged that the bill involve possible military dangers. He said that for instance it conferred after six years' control over the Royal Irish Constabulary which was a semi-military force.

Mr. Chamberlain repudiated the Liberal charges that Sir Edward Carson and the Ulster Unionists had incited the Ulstermen to civil war. He challenged Sir Rufus Isaacs, the attorney-general, to arrange them in the courts for the amount given in influence of those accused of this incitement, said Mr. Chamberlain, had been to restrain the feelings of their followers and to prevent the commission of a crime from being a crime.

It was solely due to these men that the bill had not been staid by blood already.

When the bill was introduced, said Mr. Chamberlain, the Liberals palliated the past history of the agitation and outrages in Ireland, claiming that this was the only way in which redress could be secured for the grievances. This talk not only justified, but invited resistance in Ulster. If the bill passed and Ulster resisted it (Mr. Chamberlain) did not believe that Englishmen would allow the Ulsterites to be dragged into submission.

Proof Absent.

The Right Hon. Herbert L. Samuel, postmaster-general, defended the provisions of the bill granting financial aid to Ireland, said it was impossible to establish an Irish Parliament under circumstances which would compel an increase of taxation in Ireland by from 15 to 20 per cent. Under the bill there was a prospect that the annual grant would be reduced to the vanishing point, but the Unionist policy would increase the amount given by the United Kingdom to Ireland.

The fact that Irish Nationalists in times past had made violent speeches against the Government, he contended, was no proof that they would not be loyal under home rule. In Canada and Australia similar speeches in large numbers were made before those countries got self-government. The attitude of the Nationalist members in earlier years was the invariable attitude of the representatives of a people who were steadily denied the right of self-government. That position the Unionists sought to perpetuate.

What Are Revolvers For?
Robert James McMorris, Unionist member for East Belfast, then arose and made a sensational speech. Among other things he said: "Don't suppose that Belfast is going to raise an army for Dublin. Sir Edward Carson will not be consulted as to what shall be done. Whatever action will be taken will be independent of him. When home rule becomes imminent there will be a contraction of business in Belfast, which will throw 90,000 men out of employment. Then there will be trouble. Nearly every man in Ulster who can afford to do so possesses a revolver. There will be no fewer than 50,000 revolvers in the streets of Belfast on a given contingency."

"There will be 100,000 revolvers among the Unionists of Ulster and 200,000 among the Nationalists. What are the revolvers for?"
Mr. Horner (Unionist member for South Tyrone): "We are taking steps to perfect our machinery so that when the bill passes our provisional Government will begin to carry on its work. Passive resistance can be transformed into active opposition in two years. The first shots fired in this conflict will not only rend the British Empire, but the British army."

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Silcox, of St. Thomas, Held Celebration.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
St. Thomas, May 7.—Mr. and Mrs. William H. Silcox, of St. Thomas, today celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Guests were present from Winnipeg, Windsor, London, Sarnia, Hamilton, Stratford, Sheldene, Frome and Southwold. Mr. and Mrs. Silcox were married in St. Thomas on May 6, 1862, by the late Rev. Dr. Ryland, and they resided in Frome, ten miles from this city, for 40 years, where Mr. Silcox was postmaster and general storekeeper.

ENGINEER RESIGNS.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Stratford, May 7.—City Engineer Mellis Ferguson has handed in his resignation, to take effect on June 1. He will accept a similar position in Glueph, at an initial salary of $2,200.

BUSINESSMEN TO RAISE FUND OF $100,000 FOR INDUSTRIES

Money Will Be Advanced to Manufacturers at the Normal Rate of Six Per Cent Interest—Those Who Contribute to the Fund Will Be Paid Five Per Cent.

The Williamsport system for guaranteeing industries will be tried out in this city. Ald. Spittal, chairman of the manufacturers' committee, and Mr. J. Grant Henderson, commissioner of industries, being appointed a committee to investigate the matter. They will arrange a conference with the board of trade at an early date to discuss the matter with them.

The idea is to raise a trust or guarantee fund of $100,000 among the businessmen of the city to be deposited in a chartered bank. Those placing their money there receive 5 per cent on the investment, and those needing money to finance industries may have a certain proportion of this money at 6 per cent.

A SUCCESS.

"Wherever it has been tried it has proved a wonderful success," said Ald. Spittal. "In half a dozen cities, in the United States experiments have been made, with the results that industries have thrived, the cities have grown in population, and wealth, and an era of prosperity followed. I am positive that the same results will follow here. We can try it at least, and see what will be the outcome."

Mr. Henderson also gave the scheme his heartiest indorsement. He had obtained a great deal of literature on the subject, which he would furnish to those who wanted to see what had been done along this line.

Ald. Coles thought the idea a good one. It was progressive, and good results were certain to follow its adoption here. There was need of factory site, and he quite favored securing a portion of Chelsea Green, an ideal spot for such purposes.

After some further discussion it was decided to appoint Ald. Spittal and Mr. J. Grant Henderson a committee to raise funds and arrange a meeting with the board of trade to discuss the question.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

The commissioner of industry explained to the committee that there had been some difficulty over the water supply for manufacturers. The rate had been raised by the water commissioners, and he found difficulty in getting manufacturers to agree to the price asked—8 cents per 1,000 gallons. He had taken up the matter with Chairman Pocock, and found him willing to assist in every possible way. The rate was too high, and Mr. Henderson thought that the usual city rate should prevail.

"It makes little difference in a way whether an industry is inside or outside the city," declared Mr. Henderson. "The benefit will come to us, and our merchants and businessmen will reap the results. We would prefer to have them within the city limits, but if they do not come we should do all we could to encourage them."

CHARGE THE USUAL RATE.

After some discussion it was decided to recommend to the board of water commissioners that the usual rate for water be charged to manufacturers.

Those present were Ald. Spittal (chairman), Ald. Moore, Ald. Coles, Ald. Johnston, T. W. McFarlane, Reginald Christian, J. Grant Henderson, commissioner of industries, and others.

SHOULDN'T CROWD THE M. C. R. OUT

Suggestion That Its London Terminals Be Handed to the C.N.R. Not Approved.

M.C.R.'S VALUE TO CITY

Businessmen Say It Is Very Great—
Want It to Remain in London.

The suggestion made in a certain quarter that the Canadian Northern be allowed to take over the Michigan Central terminals here is meeting with the most emphatic opposition among wholesale and retail merchants and shippers generally in London. The proposition, reduced to the final analysis, simply means that the city would exchange the Michigan Central for the Canadian Northern, London would gain one road and lose the other.

The advantage of this cannot be discovered by the shippers, who are the most vitally interested in this question. They are anxious to have the Canadian Northern come into London, and are convinced that the city would go a long way to bring them here, but they do not want to lose the M. C. R. The C. N. R., so far as known, is not at all responsible for the suggestion, that it be given the M. C. R. terminals.

A Valuable Service.
The service rendered by the M. C. R. to London is considered invaluable. The excellence of the passenger service, where passengers are rushed to New York, and points east, in the fastest possible time, together with excellent connections for freight in Western Ontario, is quoted by those business men in support of the contention that under no circumstances should the road be lost to the city, or anything be done which might lead the company to believe that the city does not value its connection here.

But the most vital point to shippers is the matter of shipping. When the Canadian ports are closed in the winter, merchants here can always rely on the port of New York being open, and the M. C. R., giving an express-freight service of the fastest kind, owing to the frequency of the arrival of boats at New York.

These advantages are worth so much to the wholesalers, as well as the retailers of London, that they will oppose with every argument in their power any attempt to crowd out the M. C. R.

"We want all the railways we can get," one merchant informed The Advertiser. "Whether they be steam or radials, it makes no difference. Every one is a boon to London. It is stupid to suggest that we exchange one road for another, particularly such a road as the Michigan Central, whose connections with the New York Central system are invaluable to merchants, shippers and travellers.

All Help London.
"Every road helps London. On the Grand Trunk, the inward freight business is over a million dollars a year. The outward freight must be a great deal more. In addition, we have the C. P. R., the Pere Marquette and the M. C. R. All of them do a great business and assist in building up London. Let us have the C. N. R., but do not let us lose the M. C. R."

"Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good."

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of, and tried it. Really it benefited me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies."

"Continued using Catarrhozone, and in a few weeks I was completely cured of Catarrh and throat troubles," cured of Catarrh and throat troubles.

MANAGER BOWERMAN'S SQUAD PUT IN STIFF SESSION PRACTICING TEAM WORK

Locals Get Lessons On Inside Baseball

This Morning's Practice Confined to Team Work—Third Baseman Linderburn Reported Last Night and Worked Out Today.

[BY JINX.]

This morning's workout at Tecumseh Park marked the beginning of the team-work that Manager Bowerman is going to put into his recruits for the next week or so. As yet no team-work has been attempted, but it began in earnest this morning, and it was a busy session for the manager and players alike. Signals will be practiced, and the infield combinations with men on bases will be thoroughly worked out.

Manager Bowerman was well pleased with the work of the team in yesterday's game. With the exception of one or two weak spots, which will be filled before the opening game, the team is ready right now to take the field in the league games. Third base needs strengthening, although Powell has been doing well there considering the fact that he is now at the position. Linderburn, the new man, arrived last evening, and turned out with the squad. He will be given every chance to make good at third, and if all reports of him are true, he should land the job. Powell will then be shifted to the outfield, and Bierbauer will come back to first base, while Manager Bowerman will take his turn at catching.

OUTFIELD GOOD NOW

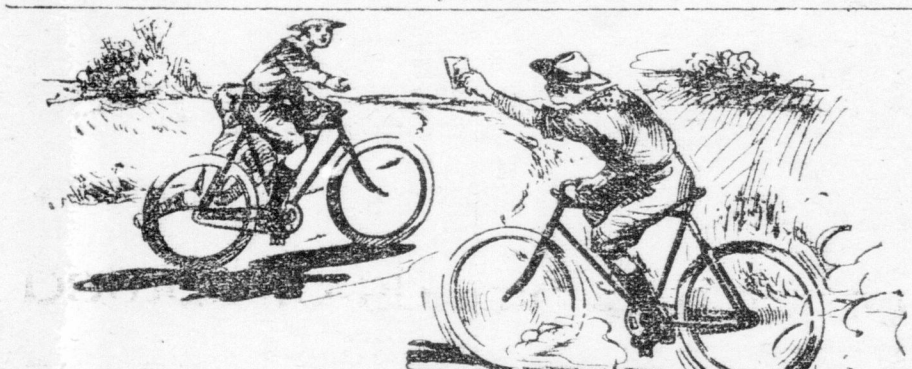

The outfield can hardly be improved upon now. Neale, Rudolph and Powell would form a great combination both in the field and at the bat. All three have demonstrated their ability to land on the ball in the critical moments, and the fans who attended yesterday's game are now convinced that London will have a strong hitting team this season.

Schaefer and Bauer, the two Waterloo lads, who asked Manager Bowerman for a trial last week, left town yesterday. They have apparently decided that they could not make the team, and have returned to their homes. Manager Bowerman did not intend to release them for some time yet, as he believed that he could develop a good outfielder out of one of them, if not both. They did not give any intimation of their going, and the manager was surprised when he learned that they had departed.

STRATHROY TOMORROW

The team will go to Strathroy tomorrow and play the return game with Abbie Johnson's "Canadian Stars" which was played yesterday in a cruel manner.

The local management may land Pitcher Sheridan, a left-hander, who is a member of the Niagara University team at present. He was warming up in front of the grandstand during yesterday's game, and looks like a good one. He will tour the New York State League with the university team, and will come to London about the end of May or the first week in June if he is needed.

Bicycle relay road races! Record-breaking dispatch carrying! What more exciting sport for boys is possible?

The Cleveland Bicycle is the ideal bicycle for the boy who wants the best. For straight-away riding on city streets and country roads, or for relay races and military dispatch carrying, when both safety and speed are necessities, the Cleveland is great.

Every boy should have a "Cleveland" this year—with the Cushion Frame, if possible—but a Cleveland anyway.

Get him a wheel he's proud to call his own. Get a wheel with years of reputation behind it—one that will last him. It pays to buy a good bicycle—it pays to buy a "Cleveland."

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay in bed, unable to get up, and I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined every body who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbers in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, but an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going back into the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have seen many patients and continue to do so."

BALL GAME RECEIPTS WERE GARNISHEED

The Management of St. Thomas Team Wanted Students to Pay Sixty Dollars.

BAILIFF SERVED PAPERS

Matter Was Finally Settled Satisfactorily to All Parties Concerned—Local Directors Helped.

While yesterday's game was in progress at Tecumseh Park, the manager of the University team was notified by a local bailiff with a garnishee on the gate receipts. The garnishee was the result of action taken by the management of the St. Thomas team who hired a local lawyer to collect $60 from the university aggregation. The Niagara team was supposed to have played in St. Thomas on Monday, and about 600 St. Thomas fans gathered at the park to see the game. The visitors did not show up, and the money had to be refunded by the St. Thomas management. As the game had been advertised extensively, the St. Thomas people figured that they were out $60 as a result of the non-appearance of the Niagara team.

The Niagara team manager claimed that he sent a telegram to St. Thomas cancelling the game, and also one to London, but later decided to fill the London date. The St. Thomas people claim that they received no word, and the money was paid. The matter was finally settled, the local directors helping to smooth over matters. The Niagara team paid a part of the claim, and it is likely the game will be arranged for St. Thomas later in the week.

W.O.B.A. COMMITTEE HOLDS A MEETING

It Was Decided to Hold Tournament During Week of July 22.

ENTRIES CLOSE ON 18TH

All Games Will Consist of Fifteen Ends Each, With Exception of Finals in Labatt Trophy.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the executive committee of the Western Ontario Bowling Association, held in the Tecumseh Bowling Monday afternoon, it was decided to hold the annual tournament, as in former years, in the last full week of July, this year's tournament to commence on Monday, July 22. It was also decided to close the entries on the previous Thursday, instead of Saturday, as in former years, and to regulate all games by playing fifteen ends in each competition, with the exception of the finals in the Labatt trophy, which will be twenty-one ends.

No other changes were made in the programme, which will be followed out the same as last year with the above exceptions.

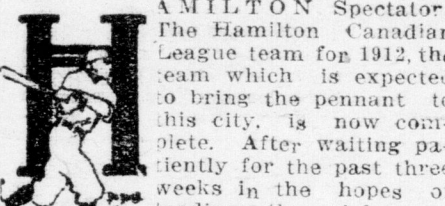

The umpires appointed were as follows: J. C. Waddell, Petrolia; E. Seagram, Waterloo; J. S. McDougall, London; J. S. AMILTON Spectator: The Hamilton Canadian League team for 1912, the team which is expected to bring the pennant to this city, is now complete. After waiting patiently for the past three weeks in the hopes of landing the right man for the right job, Manager Knotty Lee had his hopes fulfilled, and his patience rewarded yesterday afternoon, when word was received from Harry Schafer, of Brandon, Man., that he was free to sign and would report today or Wednesday. Transportation was immediately forwarded to him, and as soon as he reaches the Hamilton line-up for the opening game with Peterboro, one week from today, will be completed.

MINISTERS WILL BE THERE. Ottawa, May 7.—Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of the interior, will pitch the first ball at the opening game of the Canadian League here next week. Manager Cook has signified his intention of retaining all the players now on the payroll at Chatham, and it is expected that Schwind and Velear, the Fort Wayne players, will also be retained. The real schedule was received here tonight, but it will not be released for publication until Friday, the cancellation of Ottawa's Sunday games causing a number of alterations to the original draft.

Suggs was hit freely and his supporters were disappointed. The Reds fought with determination and forced Doolin to use three pitchers, knocking Seaton out of the box in the seventh inning.

Magee played his first game of the season for the Phillies. The hitting of Seaton and Esmond was a feature.

That Dark Brown Taste

If you have that dark brown taste we advise you to pass it up and look at these TAN EFFECTS in Sovereign Brand Suits—the ones at fifteen.

Dark brown is too wintry for now.

A nice tan beats it every way—perhaps a clear-cut gray would please you better.

Plenty at fifteen and more.

If they're not good we'll make them good, for nothing.

The Live Oak Hall Niagara University Beaten by Tecumsehs

Good Article of Ball Dished Up by Both Teams at Tecumseh Park Yesterday—New Players Make Favorable Showing.

[BY JINX.]

Frank Bowerman led his boys against the Niagara University nine at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon before about 500 fans, and came out of the melee with the big end of an eight to three score. The game was an interesting one, and a good article of ball was dished up by both teams. The Tecumsehs had every stitch of their batting clothes on, and they garnered twelve hits off Walsh, the University pitcher. Manager Bowerman provided a somewhat different line-up than on Saturday, and the improvement was so great that it would have taken a mighty strong microscope to discover any resemblance to the team that let Strathroy trim them. Manager Bowerman himself broke in to the game, making a great showing at first base. He was also there with the stick, contributing a couple of hits to the general festivities. Neale, the new left fielder, looks as though he had the goods. He scored two runs and made two hits, one a three-bagger. In the field he did very well, he captured it. Hagerty, the new catcher, also took part in the game, and he made a favorable impression.

Furressed, Silcox and Hynes took turns, pitching three innings each. Of the three, Furressed made the best showing. He held the University without a hit, only one man reaching first base, and this on a base on balls. However, "Crazy" took it away from him again by catching him asleep at second. Silcox was touched up for five hits and two runs, but he did not make a great effort to pitch his best. Hynes struck out the first three men who came to the plate, and struck out two more in the next two innings. He was touched for one hit, a three-bagger, and one run.

SOME LONG HITS.

The game was featured by long hits, Nichols pulling off the first one, with a long one to left, which went for three bases. Neale hit one to the centre-field fence in the fifth, and by some fast base running made third on it. Normie, second basemen for the Niagara, poled one out between left and centre in the eighth and reached third on it. Rudolph and Gilhooley each hit two-baggers.

London started the scoring in the third, when McWhirter walked, went to second on Silcox's fielder's choice. Sil also getting safe, was advanced on a single by Bierbauer and Bowerman, and an error by Prozelier. In the eighth, singles by Bowerman, Nichols and Reske, and a sacrifice fly by Neale scored two more.

The Niagara team got one in the fourth on a two-bagger by Gilhooley, and a single by Normie. They got another in the fifth on two hits and two errors, and one in the eighth on a three-bagger and an infield out. An effort will be made to bring the Niagara team back to London for a game on Saturday. The team is supposed to play against Rochester University in Rochester, but if they can cancel this game, they will come to London.

THE LAST VOYAGE

CHAPTER XXI.

In Which We Lay the Ghost.

The coming of night found our situation less promising—a thick veil of clouds obscuring all gleams of stars, the wind veering more to the westward and growing bitterly cold. Our day's run had brought us perilously close to the pack, and as a consequence the yacht's head had to be pointed more to the east and speed reduced, because ghostly bergs were beginning to emerge from out of the haze hanging over the water. The sea, although far from calm, was not unusually heavy, and our vessel rode the swell without perceptible strain, the decks dry fore and aft, scarcely a spatter of spray flying over the fore-castle. The barometer was falling slowly, presaging the approach of storm; yet nothing open to the westward, except the occasional thickening of clouds massing up from out the southwest, their wildness reflected in the darkening sea, along the continuous thunder of waves along the fore-front blocking our passage. Recognizing the need of exercising the utmost precaution amid an environment of such danger, I had Dr. Nova station an additional lookout on the fore-castle, and call one of the men to his own side on the bridge. I visited the engine and boiler rooms, ordered half speed and prompt attention to signals, took one last searching glance about the dimming horizon, and finally threw myself, without undressing, on my bunk for a brief rest below.

As I lay there, thinking of that wild scene without, I discovered sleep impossible. Was I doing right thus to hold on for further southing. My conscience was not altogether clear, for I realized that it would be luck rather than seamanship that would take us through and bring us safely out again. Already the season for fierce wintry storms in these seas had arrived, wild blinding storms of sleet and wind, before which seamanship was almost valueless; moreover, it was the season when the prevailing drift was northward, gales sweeping from the pole over those lands of ice and snow to burst in fury across the wind-lashed waters. Only some mystery of Providence had thus far given us passage, had held the wind to another point of the compass, beating back the invading furies, and yielding us an open sea. But would such fortune last a day, two days, more? We could reach northward with the ice, but what about that vast field stretching to the northwest? If by some shift of wind it were to close in, the helpless Sea Queen would be crushed like an egg shell. Another Lady Darlington had said she trusted me implicitly. Was I showing myself worthy by thus pushing the yacht deeper into danger? What did I care for the crew? Could control them in any waters, the bluest? Was there anything of reality in that ghostly visitant I had seen—seen, too, by Anderson and Coleman? Was it, indeed, a warning? A herald of death awaiting us in the frozen south?

I sat up, my forehead beaded with perspiration. I was not personally afraid; our situation did not truly terrify me, I possessed all a sailor's confidence in the fortunes of the sea. I believed I could press the yacht into the very mouth of that icy hell, and bring her safely forth again. Yet all at once—God alone knows how or why—I recognized something else, something more important—Loved Lady Darlington. Perhaps this was true long before yet it was only then that it came to me in its full revelation. She was the wife of another trusting me implicitly as a sailor and a gentleman, yet I loved her with all my heart and soul. Was I, in any way, worthy? Was I not, even a sailor and a gentleman? Was I not, even a man? I thought of her life and honor by thus madly holding on? By heaven, for her sake, if for no other reason, I would play the man! Aye, and I comprehended exactly what that resolve would cost—realized fully what that mongrel crew would say and do to the moment their ghastly terrors fled, and they knew I had given up search for the treasure. I should have to command by brute force, by threat and blow. There would be mutiny aboard for every league until we made port. I knew the nature of that sea-foam forward how they would whine and curse, how they would hate me for failing to hold them to their course in face of death. Well, let them hate; my love was worth by far the more, and the life and honor of Lady Darlington outweighed all else on board. I was the treasure of the Donna Isabel. "Implicitly"—I saw her eyes again as she said it, and sprang to the deck, fumbling in the darkness for the latch of my door. The main cabin was dimly lighted and chill, the fire low. I paused to rattle it, and add a few lumps of coal from the scuttle standing near by. In spite of surrounding comforts, what a grim, inhospitable place this was for any woman like her! Probably there was not a ship within a thousand miles of us; nothing but ice-bound ocean, gray, pitiless, sombre, swept by the wintry wind, lashed by snow and sleet, a wide, desolate expanse, typical only of death, destruction and inexplicable cruelty. It made me shiver, as I brought to mind that scene of Antarctic loneliness visible from the deck above. The very snugness of the cabin served only to emphasize the gloom and peril without, the frightful polar mystery which surrounded us, which drives men mad amid its awful distances, like a voice before the ear, the muffled muffled muffled about my throat, and drawing my cap low.

Suddenly, directly opposite where I stood, saw I—that same shapeless, white, gliding figure. An instant only I stood rooted to the spot, my blood like ice, my eyes full of horror. Then the swift reaction came, the reserve courage of a man ashamed of such weakness, and I leaped straight forward, my hand on the door, grasping it with my hands. I touched nothing but air, falling headlong with a violence jarring the entire cabin, and overthrowing a chair crashing to the deck. Dazed, confused, I staggered to my knees, staring about into the dim shadow, and I buttoned my pea-jacket, like a white-robed figure, was at my elbow, and I sprang to my feet, only to take a quick step backward, grasping at the table, as I recognized Lady Darlington.

"Good God! was that you?" I gasped, the horror still possessing me.

"But what do you mean? What has occurred?"

"I hardly know," and I looked about me, and then to her face, breathing heavily. "I seem unable to separate the real from the unreal. I am half afraid I am losing my mind. Lady Darlington, it is not only the crew forward who are seeing ghosts on board. I laughed at who experience before, believe me, I have a vision that could never occur again. In that spirit I told you about seeing a white, misty figure in this cabin the night after Tuttle died. It vanished like a wreath of smoke, and daylight made me believe the vision was born of a tired brain. But I have seen it again now—yonder, as plainly as I can see you. It was no dream, no imagination, yet when I sought to grasp the thing, my fingers encountered nothing but air."

"I saw her hands tremble, her white face turned whiter, I pointed; but she had not beheld what I had, and her hand remained cold."

"A shapeless white figure, misty, vanishing like a bubble."

"Yonder, you say? Just where you saw it before?"

"I had not thought of that, yet it was there, beside Tuttle's door. An instant she stood motionless, her eyes searching the dim corners of the cabin, as though tracing some suspicious shadow within her mind. Suddenly she clasped my arm."

"I do not believe in ghosts, Mr. Stephens, you and I are both firm with suspicion. Our education and training make such a conception impossible. There is a natural cause for this, a reason, an actual presence back of the shadow. There must be, and we must find it. It is clinging to a tree, trembling now from head to foot, yet I will not believe anything so horrible. Where do you stand when you saw this apparition?"

"I stepped back to the spot beside the stove, realizing that she still clung tightly to me."

"Here, and I lifted my eyes like this."

"Why, why, that is a mirror you are looking into! See! What is it reflected there? Turn up the light until I locate the spot. Oh, I see now—the open pantry door. Mr. Stephens, there is where your ghost stood—it was the shadow of a man reflected in that mirror."

"Our eyes met, all my former terror fled, shame and anger dominating me."

"Dad!"

"It might be—certainly someone who sought in that way to terrify officers and crew and thus compel them to turn back. Whom it was, he killed Mr. Tuttle, and now seeks to accomplish the same end with you. What are you going to do?"

"Trace him down. The last time the fellow went directly from here to the fore-castle. There must be a passageway somewhere to the fore-castle."

"She caught me as I turned, her gray eyes wide with apprehension."

"You will take me with you?"

"That will be impossible, Lady Darlington. I know nothing regarding this passage, and I must surely lead through the coal bunkers and the engine-room."

"But—but I cannot let you go alone, utterly forgetting to conceal her agitation. 'Truly, I could not bear to do it. Whoever this man may be he will be come desperate when cornered. Your very life will be in danger.'"

GEO. PRIMROSE HURT BUT WILL RECOVER

Well-Known Minstrel Is Injured In a Wreck In Kentucky.

George Primrose, the minstrel man, a former Londoner, was seriously injured in a wreck on the Queen and Crescent route, near Crittenden, Ky., the other day. He is at present in a hospital at Cincinnati, where he is recovering slowly. The wreck was caused by the drawing-room car leaving the rails. Twelve persons were killed.

George Primrose is well known here, particularly to old-timers. Although born in Pictou, Ont., the family moved to Westminster Township, just outside the city limits, where he received his education. His ability to dance was soon discovered, and he went on the stage, where he has been a conspicuous success. Mr. Primrose visited London have been frequent visits. His long career as an actor. ECZEMA IS CAUSED BY IMPURE BLOOD

CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS, BECAUSE THEY MAKE PURE BLOOD.

Ask any doctor, and he will tell you that eczema is caused by impurities in the blood; that nothing cures it that does not reach the blood—that salves and outward applications are worthless and a waste of money. The reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have always been so successful in curing this most annoying trouble is because they act directly on the blood, reaching the root of the trouble and driving out all impurities. They banish eczema, salt rheum, and unsightly pimples and eruptions, relieve the irritation and itching, and give perfect health. Mrs. A. Pulling, of Milestone, Sask., says: "I was afflicted with a blood and skin disease which the doctor called eczema, but which did not yield to the best of treatment. I was covered with sores and in very bad shape. A friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using eight or nine boxes I was cured. I can strongly recommend the Pills to anyone suffering from that trouble."

A medicine that can make new blood will cure not only skin troubles, but also anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion, and a host of other troubles, simply because the troubles are the result of bad blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new blood and under their use blood and nerve troubles disappear. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

PRETTY WEDDING IN INGERSOLL CHURCH

Miss Kathryn Henderson Becomes the Wife of Mr. George A. Doherty.

Ingersoll, May 8.—A very pretty wedding took place yesterday at the Church of the Sacred Heart, the contracting parties being Miss Kathryn Henderson, daughter of Mrs. John Henderson, and George A. Doherty, of Manchester, New Hampshire. Rev. Father Chalmers officiated, and the ceremony was witnessed by a large number of the relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The bride, who was daintily attired, was given away by her brother, Mr. Philip Henderson, and the wedding march was led by Mrs. Walter Mills. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Agnes Henderson, while Mr. Peter Henderson, brother of the bride, supported the groom. During the ceremony Miss Margaret Enright and Messrs. Walsh and Barton sang sweetly "Jesu Del Vini" by Verdi. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was partaken of at the bride's home, where congratulations and best wishes were showered upon the happy couple. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond brooch, and to the best man a diamond stick pin. Many beautiful gifts testified to the popularity of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Doherty left in the evening train for their home in Manchester.

Will Improve Street.

Interest in the improving of Thames street, Ingersoll's principal business thoroughfare, is being revived. This time the agitation emanates from the council, and it is probable that some definite course will shortly be outlined. The popular idea is to pave the street, but just what the material should be is a matter that will have to be taken into careful consideration. It appears that the majority of the businessmen welcome action looking to the paving of the street, and that they will gladly pay their proportion of the cost. A special committee of the council will deal with the proposal.

The Bugle-Band of the Boy Scouts met for rehearsal at St. James'.

Church last evening. There was a large turnout and much interest was manifested.

GRASS FARMS THE RULE IN NORTH MIDDLESEX

Cattle Rather Than Crops First Product of This Large Section—The Labor Question.

[By Arthur C. Bowman, Advertiser Commissioner.]

A trip through northern Middlesex and parts of Huron County at this season of the year is like driving through a vast cattle pasture. Cattle dot the landscape in every direction, and just now it is hardly possible to travel a mile without encountering a bunch of steers which are on their way to the fields after months in winter quarters. At nearly every crossroads which boasts of a store, and which is in reasonable distance of a railway station, there are men buying up stockers. "Grass farms" abound, and for miles at a stretch the plowed fields are almost entirely absent. Just big pastures on which are grazing contented-looking cattle or sheep. Lambs are playing in the fence corners, and the whole countryside is crowded with animal life. Here and there a field of fall wheat or a brown splash of up-turned soil stands out against the grass fields, but for the most part everything gives the impression of a vast meadow dotted here and there by substantial-looking houses and commodious well-built barns. There are plenty of big Clydesdale and Belgian horses and big flocks of poultry scratch about in the yards.

Most of the farmers in this territory admit that there is more money to be made in tiding the soil than by fattening cattle. Nevertheless, the cattle business continues to increase, and every year sees more "grass farms," some of which never know the touch of the plow from one year's end to the other. Every farm so conducted means just so much less food production for Canada's millions. One steer, according to the generally-accepted rule, requires three acres to fatten. The same land which is required to fatten the steer would raise many bushels of grain or vegetables.

The Labor Situation.

"Of course, there is more money in farming than stock-raising, but there are some of us who do not like to work ourselves to death," said one farmer, when asked by The Advertiser to explain the great extent of the cattle business in his territory. "It is the next thing to impossible to get any help on the farm, and if we do get a man, he is likely to be an immigrant of a class not competent for the work. We prefer to raise cattle rather than make slaves of the entire family. Perhaps we make a little less money but we enjoy life better, and we have a comfortable living."

"Some say there is more money in farming than in stock-raising, and I know there is more money in dairying," said Mr. C. R. Simmons, of Coldstream, one of the oldest cattlemen in the country, and a judge who is in constant demand at spring fairs and other exhibitions of live stock. "The dairying business, however, when practiced on a large scale, keeps the whole family oppressed by work. Why slave like that?"

How to Keep "Help."

Besides being one of the oldest and most successful cattlemen in the district, Mr. Simmons has the unusual distinction of having kept the same farm help for 25 years or more, while his neighbors, in many cases, found it impossible to get a man at any price. "The only remedy I can see for the labor situation is for farmers to encourage their men to settle in some of the vacant houses which are found on most of the larger farms," he told The Advertiser representative. "Let them have a home and let them realize that they have some interest in the farm operations."

"I don't see where the people are coming from to settle Northern Ontario when we can't get men enough for our own lands in the older province," said another man.

"Although farms are growing larger, the amount of land under cultivation is continually growing less," said another citizen who has kept a general store for years and is more than usually well-informed concerning conditions in his home district. "The satisfied, successful farmers stay at home and buy up the land of those who go west. Beyond a little grain and hay and ensilage for cattle, these large farms for the most part produce no crops. They are simply used for pastures. In some cases the farmer has retired from the land altogether, and it is rented out to his neighbors for pasture."

A Spirit of Unrest.

"There is a great spirit of unrest among the farmers of this district," said Mr. R. Ferguson, of London Township. "Many think they can do better in the west, and are going out in large numbers. The ones who remain are going more and more into the cattle business. They couldn't work their land extensively if they wanted to. They cannot get the help. Some of those who have gone west and made money are coming back, but they are not enough to fill the gaps."

A Typical Grass Farm.

"In London Township, only a few miles from the city, there is a farm of 200 acres, which has not been plowed in years. The man who owns it makes a good living in buying stockers in the spring and letting them run in the fields until fall. He not only makes a good living, but makes a profit. This condition is by no means unusual, although 20 acres is, perhaps, a little larger pasture than is usually found in one place."

For better or for worse, it seems that North Middlesex and Huron County farms are being slowly withdrawn from cultivation and turned back to grass. The labor problem, say farmers, is getting worse instead of better. Men interested in the future of the country, although admitting the good features of the cattle business, are asking themselves where Canada's food supply is to come from provided the present process continues. They are asking themselves why none of the millions being spent on the development of newer sections are used in an effort to bring laborers to the waiting fields of Ontario's cattle country.

In the west, no-till farmers are constantly encroaching on the cattle ranches. The wide range, which formerly pastured thousands of steers, is now producing record crops of wheat. In some parts of Western Ontario the reverse is true. The cattle men are succeeding the farmers.

A Justification

The extent of the trek to the West from rural Ontario, and the need for a campaign of education, if Ontario is to keep what farmers are left, is strikingly shown by the figures taken from the census report. Publicity introduced the West and its opportunities to Ontario. Publicity is needed to reintroduce Ontario to itself. Publicity and the progressive attitude of mind are the things which will secure others to take the place of those already gone. In the following comparison is a magnificent justification of the "Stay in Ontario" campaign.

"DUTCH SETS"

A BIG ASSET

"Onion" Kings of Northern Village Yearly Ship Carloads of Queer Shaped Bulbs.

PROFITABLE FARM CROP

Patch of One-Fifth Acre Well Repays Time and Labor Spent in Cultivation.

Hensal, May 6.—Hensal is pre-eminent in at least one branch of the agricultural industry. Seedmen say that more onion sets are shipped from this town and the neighboring village of Zurich than from any place in Canada. There are several men who handle so many of these bulbs each year that they have gained for themselves the title of "Onion Kings." The "Dutch Sets," as they are known locally, are grown all over the district, not only on the farms but in village gardens. Almost every farmer finds that a small patch of these queer shaped growths will amply repay the time and labor spent in caring for them. The patches run from one-fifth of an acre up to an acre or an acre and a half, and a fifth acre, it is said, will produce in the neighborhood of $100 worth of sets. They are bought at prices ranging from four to six cents per pound, and the seed is furnished by contractors who take the crop. They are sown early in the spring and by fall are ready for shipment to the large seed houses which take most of the yield, and each year they are marketed from Hensal alone five to seven carloads.

RAILROAD NEEDED TO BOOM THIS DISTRICT

Isolated Farmers Near Dashwood Are Looking For Better Transportation Facilities—Position Limits Them.

[By The Advertiser Commissioner.] Dashwood, May 7.—Dashwood and its vicinity are waiting for a chance to take their places in the front rank of the "Stay in Ontario" movement. One of these days, say men who know conditions, this fertile territory nestling along the elbow of Lake Huron, is going to be pointed out as Exhibit A among the thousands and one reasons for coming to and staying in Ontario. Already this district is one of the most prosperous in the province. Scores of substantial houses and commodious barns back up the assertion of observing citizens that there is not a poor farmer within 10 miles. These men, who know their home country and its capabilities, say that it is on the verge of even more abundant prosperity. They are "strong" for Huron County as a whole, and especially for their home district. Get to Dashwood on the first train is their advice to the "back to the soiler."

The Need of Railroads.

But right here comes the trouble. There isn't any train. Lack of railway communication is keeping one of the best districts in Ontario from extensive farming from full realization of its possibilities.

Mr. Jacob Kellerman, farmer, businessman and leader in his community, is authority for the statement that a railway, steam or electric, bringing better shipping facilities to Dashwood, Shipka, Crediton and other villages in the Huron district, which are now utterly without transportation, would result in revolutionizing the agriculture of the community.

The Best of Soil.

"We have the best possible soil for young vegetables, sugar beets and similar products," he told The Advertiser. "Our situation near the lake, combined with the character of large portions of our soil, is very favorable for growing fruit. But our farmers, if they wish to make a profit, are confined almost exclusively to the growing of cereals and to stock farming simply because of the long haul necessary to get their products to the shipping stations. Better railroad facilities would result in a great change for the better in Huron County agriculture."

"I do not mean to say that stock farming is unprofitable. In fact, there are few farmers to be found around here who are not in comfortable circumstances. But if we are to build up Canada, we must go in for more intensive farming. We must get more people on the land. Besides this several families would be getting their living from the same amount of land which is now supporting one family. That, I think, is not the best kind of farming for Ontario."

A Practical Instance.

"I have a 100-acre farm near the lake, which is splendidly adapted for fruit-growing. If I could I should put 50 acres of it into fruit. But under the present conditions I could not market my product."

From the central part of this neighborhood it is a matter of from nine to eleven miles to the nearest railway station. Everything we get in or send out must be hauled that distance. This is a serious handicap.

"Our people here are of the kind to appreciate the value of intensive farming. They are German and English, the kind who stick close to the soil. As I have said before, our land is admirably adapted to both vegetable and fruit culture. It's only a question of opening up the country. I believe that

HERE'S A NEW IDEA AND AN OLD QUESTION

Napier Divine Comes Forward With Some Original Plans for Highway Betterment.

An Advertiser correspondent writes from Napier

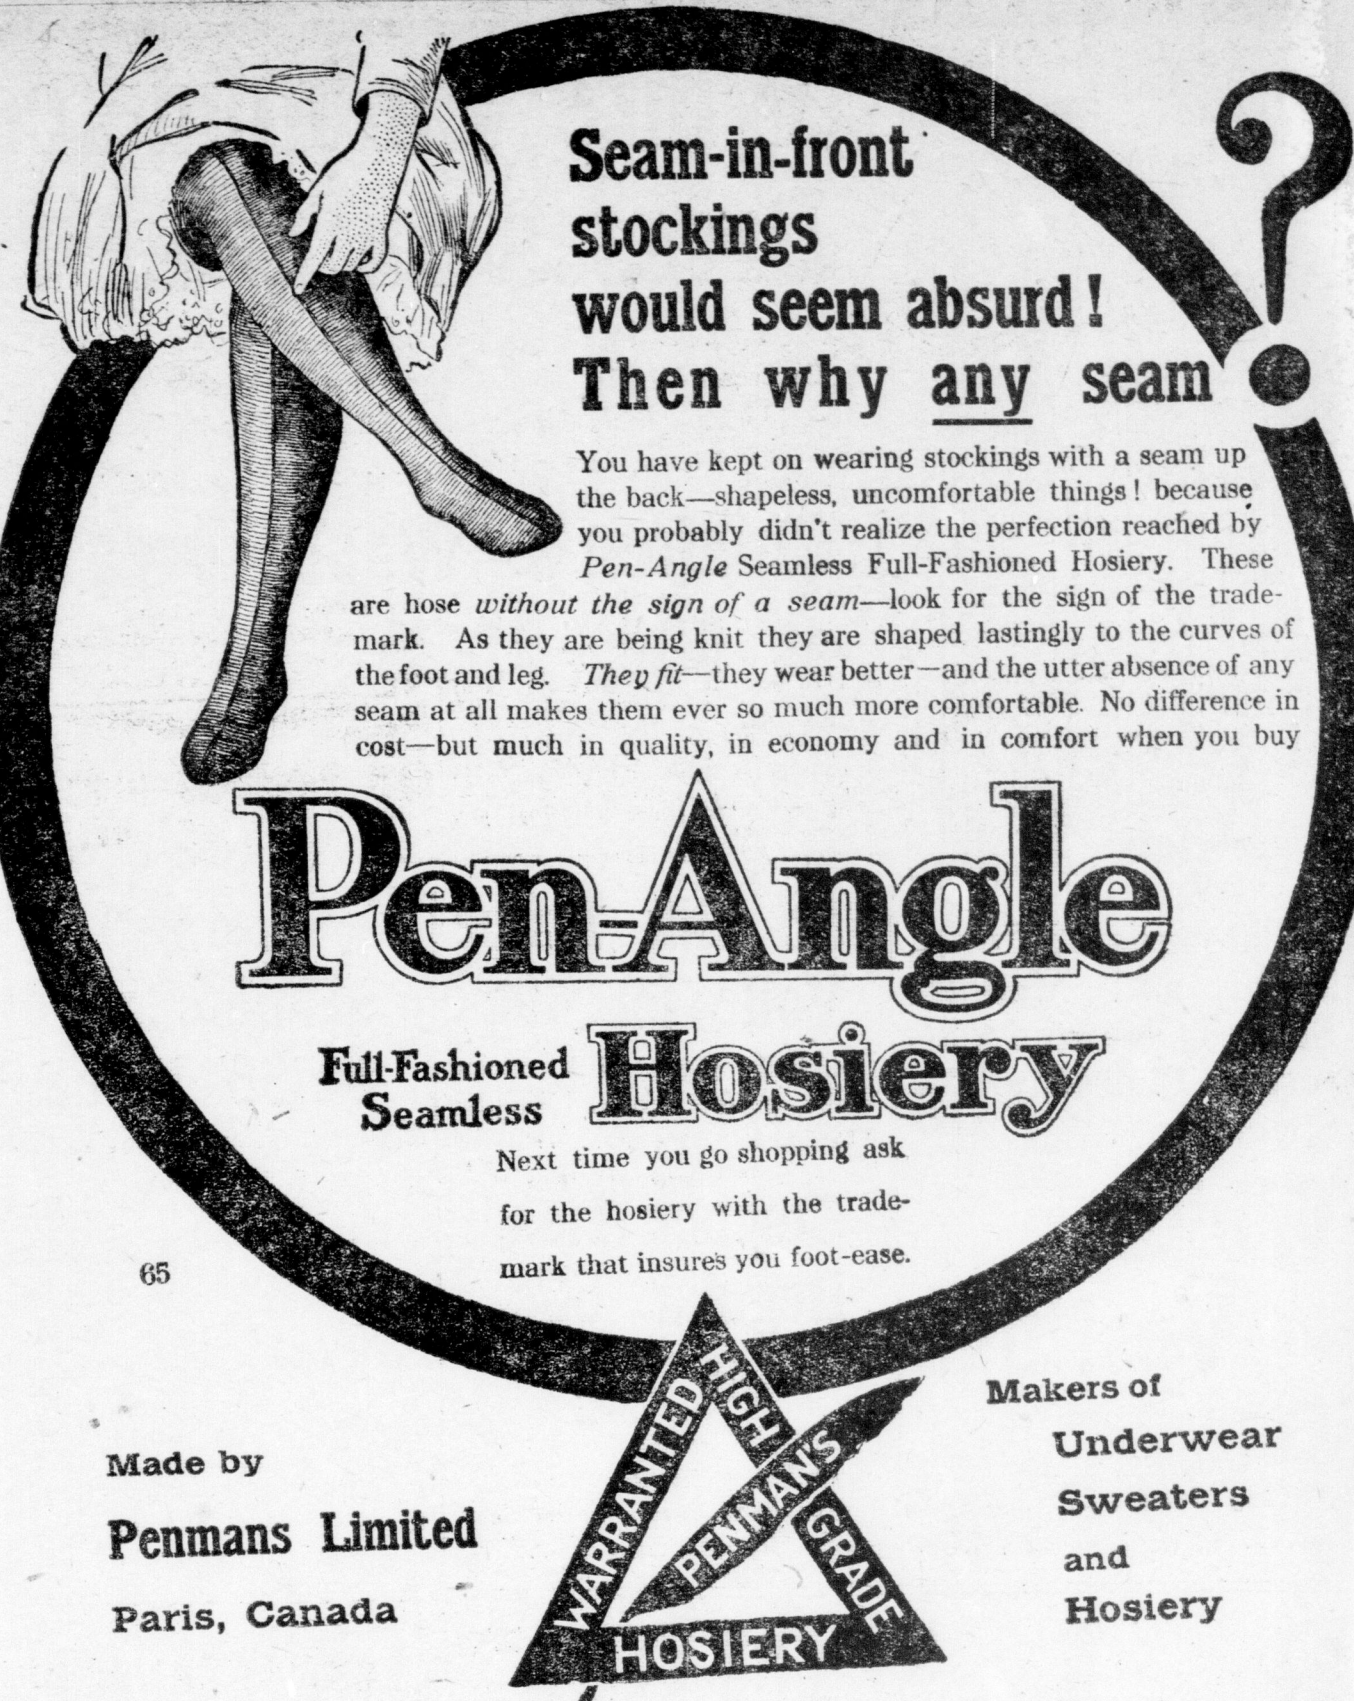

In no better way could the Government improve the highway than by in some way encouraging and assisting the farmers in replacing rail and stump fences with wire. In this way the great drifts, which bank up against the barriers presented by the old fences, would be to a large extent prevented. The great hindrance to farmers in the winter time would thus be done away with. Wire fences allow the snow to blow through and distribute itself over the fields.

If some friend of good country roads could secure the adoption of such a measure, we would enjoy nearly as good travelling in the winter as in the summer.

We have experimented here with placing cut stone or the roads instead of gravel, and although more expensive and very inconvenient to drive over when first applied, this treatment has certainly proved most effective in keeping the roads in good condition for a long period. The expense of the process, is, however, no small drawback, and it is hoped that the Government, in the interests of the general public, may some day see its way clear to assist the townships in this work.

with proper shipping facilities our population would show a strong increase, and the production of our land would increase many fold.

A Fair Profit. Asked how much a good farmer could make off a farm of between 100 and 200 acres under present conditions, Mr. Kellerman, after some careful figuring, placed the amount at between $1,100 and $1,200.

"Just as soon as we get adequate transportation facilities," said Mr. Kellerman in closing, "this country is bound to go ahead. We have the soil and we have people of ambition, industry and intelligence. What we must have is a better outlet for our products. There are hundreds of acres still held by the Canada Land Company, in this county, which, if they were out west, would be snatched up in a moment. Corn made a net gain of 1/4c to 3/4c to 1c; oats finished 3/4c off to 5c up, and provisions varied from a shade decline to 17 1/2c advance. For the most part it was a waiting day in wheat. BRYCE LAUDED BY LONDON TIMES

Dragging of His Name Into Parliament by the Unionists Is Condemned.

EXCELLENT AMBASSADOR

Popular With Both Canadian and American People Irrespective of Party.

[Canadian Press.]
London, May 8.—The Times, in an editorial article on the Canadian reciprocity negotiations, and the recent disclosures, regrets that Ambassador Bryce's name was so freely introduced in the attack in Parliament upon the Government. It says:
"In discussing the actions of an ambassador, it is always well to remember that his duty is to represent the Government that accredits him, and that the only question that can arise affecting him personally is whether he did efficiently and satisfactorily carry out his instructions. If he did, he is completely covered by the responsibility of his Government for the policy it employed him to carry out. If he did not, then the matter rests between him and his Government, which has ample means of marking its sense of his failure, and which at the same time is the only fully informed and the complete judge of the degree in which he failed."

Hits at Asquith.
The Times then points out that, even if Mr. Bryce were aware of the inner meaning of the negotiations, as revealed by President Taft, and had warned Premier Asquith thereof, his warning would have been entirely thrown away, inasmuch as Mr. Asquith had already at that time shown apparently that the Premier would have been in sympathy with Mr. Taft. The Times goes on:

"The question is one into which it is not for us to inquire. Mr. Bryce or the people of the United States or the people of Canada. It is really one between the people of this country and the present Government."

"Mr. Bryce has been an excellent ambassador, popular both with the American and the Canadian people. He has done far more than any of his predecessors to make himself acquainted with Canada and her needs, and to give Canada the kind of assistance that she has a right to expect."

"The question was one for Canada to decide, and the Government of Canada for that matter had a right to any diplomatic assistance that he could give. A very different Government now speaks in the name of Canada, but it has no fault to find with Mr. Bryce, and will not doubt command, just as fully as his predecessor, any services that he can render."

"The American people, as we have more than once acknowledged, took the failure of reciprocity in the best possible temper. It was a political deal, from which many expected great advantages, but when the deal was off they made no fuss, but simply turned to the next business. They and the Canadians are just as good friends as before."

PATENT MEDICINE WAYS NOT FOR THE PULPIT

Rev. Dr. Rose Utters Warning to Wesleyan College Students.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, May 8.—The patent medicine method of attracting and keeping your congregation is an extremely dangerous one, and will work out in church life as the patent medicine will in the life of the body.
This warning was uttered by Rev. Dr. S. P. Ross, of Toronto, a former Montreal pastor, in addressing the 39th session of the Wesleyan College convocation last night.

Skin All Covered With Eruption

A Quebec man, N. Henri Tardif, of St. Casimir, writes in a letter dated Mar. 31, 1911: "I had a very bad skin, all covered with eruption, eight years ago. I have had all of both my shoulders covered with it, and the high part of my arms, and my face, but it was the worst on my shoulders. I tried many different remedies to cure it, but nothing was any good. At last I went to an apothecary. He asked me if I had ever used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I told him no, and I bought a box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap. I used three boxes of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I am glad of the same, for Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured me of my skin eruption. I spread the Cuticura Ointment on all my sore parts, and I think that in washing my face with the Cuticura Soap, it hindered my eruption from itching and burning. I tried many remedies during three or four years but Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me." (Signed) N. Henri Tardif.

The average annual net profits for the last two years, as certified by the Accountants, were $186,210, showing an earning of 7% on the Preference and over 11% on the Common stock.

The first dividend on the Preference shares will be paid on August 1st next for the broken period ending July 31st—thereafter Preference share dividends to be payable quarterly.

The Directors feel that the Company's large earning power and sufficient working capital warrant payment of substantial dividends upon the Common Stock, and it is intended that such dividends will be payable quarterly, the first to be on November 1st next for the quarter commencing August 1st, the rate of such payments being 6 per cent. per annum.

The Company has no bonded indebtedness and the only encumbrance on the real estate acquired from the old Company is $30,000 owing to the municipality on the St. Thomas plant, which is repayable without interest in five equal annual installments, commencing June 17th next.

The terms on which the business of the old Company is being acquired by us and the terms on which same are being assigned by us to the new Company are set out in detail in an agreement between us as Vendors, and R. Fractions of Common shares will be adjusted on the basis of $85 a share. The titles to the Company's property and validity of the issue of Preference and Common shares have been certified to by Messrs. Thomson, Lilley & Johnston, Toronto.

Agreements have been made under which Mr. F. R. Lalor, M.P., who has been President, and Mr. J. A. Burns, who has been General Manager of the old Monarch Knitting Co., Limited, agree to act in the same capacities, respectively, in the new Company for a period of at least five years. Each of these gentlemen has taken a large interest in the new Company. In addition, Mr. G. H. SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BE FORWARDED BY MAIL OR BY TELEGRAM AT OUR EXPENSE.

Subscriptions may be on regular forms, which may be had on request, or, where these are not available, letters simply stating that so many shares are subscribed for under the terms of the prospectus will be sufficient.

Memoranda relating to the Company's history and prospects are appended, signed respectively by Mr. F. R. Lalor, M.P., President, and Messrs. Clarkson & Cross, chartered accountants. We recommend purchases of these shares from the standpoint of security, interest return and prospect of increase in the market value of the principal.

UNION BANK BUILDING, TORONTO

MONARCH KNITTING COMPANY, Limited.

The Monarch Knitting Co., Limited, has been incorporated by Ontario Charter to take over the business of the Company of the same name which commenced operations in the year 1903, and operated up to May 1st, 1912, with Mr. J. A. Burns General Manager, and myself as President, which offices we now hold in the new Company.

The growth of the Company has been rapid and excellent in character, as indicated by the Auditors' statement.

The Company's business consists of the manufacture of knitted goods, comprising sweaters, coats for men, women and children, and a complete line of fancy knitted goods, such as skirts, toques, scarfs, etc.

The factories owned by the Company at Dunnville, St. Catharines and St. Thomas are modern in structure and equipment, and excellently adapted for the business. The factory at Dunnville is the largest, and has a floor space of 2 1/2 acres. It is of first-class mill construction, and equipped with sprinkler system, which reduces the insurance cost to a minimum. It comprises dye-house, spinning plant, knitting plant and warehouses.

The Buffalo business is well established, and will, it is expected, show good and increasing net profits year by year. The Buffalo property is leased on a favorable basis.

A great advantage this Company has over competitors is that we spin and dye our own yarn, and do practically everything but grow the sheep.

The business of the Monarch Knitting Company, Limited is the largest of its class in the world. The Company's machinery is the best obtainable, and includes many automatic and other labor-saving devices. The number of employees is about 700. Insurance carried totals $253,000.

Provision has been made under which the new company is furnished with $250,000 additional working capital, which is ample for its requirements. It is intended to make additions to plant and machinery in Dunnville and St. Thomas during the current year, to the extent of about $100,000.

Fixed assets, at moderate rates for several years ahead have been arranged in connection with each of the three Canadian plants.

Mr. J. A. Burns, the General Manager, has shown exceptional capacity as a manufacturer, and I feel that the new Company starts out under entirely favorable auspices. With the larger working capital, and with the additional facilities now being provided for, together with the improved outlook for the Buffalo branch, and having regard to the current rate of development throughout Canada, prospects are very assuring for the continued and increased prosperity of the Company.

Dunnville, May 6th, 1912.

F. R. LALOR, President.

ACCOUNTANTS' STATEMENT

As requested by you, we have examined the books of account and other records of the Monarch Knitting Co., Limited, situated in Dunnville, St. Catharines and St. Thomas, Ontario. We have also examined the certified reports of the Buffalo branch.

We find the net profits of the four plants to have been as follows:—

12 months ending January 1st, 1912	1911	1910	1909
$141,433	$121,111	$121,111	$121,111
$121,111	$121,111	$121,111	$121,111
$121,111	$121,111	$121,111	$121,111

A yearly average of over $125,000.

The reports show errors on hand at the Buffalo branch on April 18th, 1912, for execution during the current year, $25 at the Buffalo branch for the previous year. We find that the Buffalo branch for execution made January 18th last showed, on April 18th last, over 75% of the share bought for the previous year.

Not liable over and above liabilities, irrespective of good-will and patent rights, con-siderably less than the amount of the Preference Stock.

that was destroyed by the volcano Vesuvius, dealing in an interesting manner with the work of excavation in its relation to art.
Pompeii was buried under 22 feet of lava at the time of the great eruption, and the excavations which were commenced in 1748, but which were undertaken systematically in 1861, have shown that buildings, household utilities, statues and paintings are remarkably well preserved. The greater portion of the city has now been unearthed, and as a result a great deal of material has been obtained for the world's museums.
The address was illustrated with a number of slides, portraying the decorative and architectural art known to the people of Pompeii.

POOR MILK AND BADLY KEPT HERDS
Dr. Hutchinson and Dr. Tamlin Make Reports to Board of Health.
WINTER HARD ON CATTLE
Dairymen Find It Very Difficult to Keep Up to the Standard Desired by the City.

Poor milk and badly-kept herds formed the gist of the report of Dr. Hutchinson, M. H. O., and Dr. Tamlin, veterinary inspector, who on Tuesday afternoon submitted their annual reports on the condition of the herds and dairies furnishing milk to the citizens of London. The report will be printed.

In explaining the report Dr. Tamlin stated that the past winter and the previous summer had been very hard on dairymen. There was no straw in the country, and it was almost impossible for the farmer to keep his herd clean and right. Feed was very scarce, and as a result the cattle were not fed as well under normal conditions. That, with the very severe weather, combined to make poor milk. Ten herds had been forbidden to supply milk to customers because of the filthy condition of their dairies, and five others are under inspection.
Herds Not Inspected.
Dr. Tamlin called attention to the fact that a wholesale firm was obtaining milk from herds that had not been inspected by himself. He asked for instructions in the matter.
It was decided after some discussion to allow Dr. Williams, chairman of the board of health, Dr. Hutchinson, and Dr. Tamlin to settle the matter.
Two herds only had been submitted to inspection during the past year, and the results were satisfactory in both cases.
Dr. Hutchinson submitted his health report for the month of April. There were three cases of scarlet fever, two in Victoria Hospital, and one other isolated. The city was free from other infectious diseases.
All the cases who have outdoor closets within 150 feet of a sewer must connect. Some time ago the city council passed a bylaw compelling all citizens to make connection, but no progress has been made. Mr. Harry Clarke and W. H. Abbott both spoke strongly in favor of living up to the letter of the bylaw. Several complaints had been made, and it was decided to send a notice violating the conditions that they must comply with the bylaw within a reasonable time.

Back-Yard Inspection.
Inspector Lutman reported on the back-yard inspection made by himself. He had covered a large portion of the city and found conditions fairly satisfactory. Some instances were reported. The condition of the dumps at Cavanagh and Douglas Avenue, in West London, and at Rectory and Trafalgar Streets, Dr. Hutchinson was rather bad, and the city engineer will be requested to put the matter in proper shape.
Other minor matters were disposed of. Dr. Williams was dissatisfied with the fly nuisance to the minimum, and cement receptacles for stable discharges will probably be ordered in the near future.
Those present were: Dr. E. Williams, chairman; Dr. F. L. Burdon, R. A. Carrothers, W. H. Abbott, W. N. Manning, Harry Clarke, Dr. Hutchinson, M. H. O., Dr. Tamlin, veterinary inspector, Frank Hughes.

DEANERY MEETING HELD AT STRATHROY

Next Annual Session Will Be Held at Glencoe.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Strathroy, May 8.—At the regular May meeting of the Rural Deanery of West Middlesex, held in St. John's Church, last evening, Rev. S. F. Robinson presided. The following officers were re-elected: Secretary, Rev. Mr. McCracken; executive, Revs. William Lowe, C. H. Owen, and Frank Leigh.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Glencoe.
Rev. J. C. Robinson conducted a special conference in regard to missionary work in Japan, and also gave an excellent address on "The Work of the Anglican Church in the Far East."
Holy communion was celebrated by Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, of London, assisted by Rev. J. C. McCracken.
Following the regular business, the members were entertained at supper by the Ladies' Aid.
The deanery branch of the W. A. M. A. also assembled during the afternoon in St. John's Hall. A splendid table of clothing and other articles were contributed, and will be sent immediately to the Hay River Mission, Mackenzie River Diocese. Glencoe will be the next place of meeting of the deanery.
The Oddfellows attended divine service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Keenan preached the sermon. Special music was furnished by the choir, assisted by Miss Edwards, soprano soloist.
Organizer John Berdan is in London this week consulting a specialist about his eyes. It is feared that he may lose the sight of one eye.

NEW PRESERVATIVE.
Toronto, May 7.—Dr. Nasmith, director of civic laboratories, has discovered a new and unique form of milk preservative as employed by one of the farmers on Toronto's outskirts. It is nothing but a natural secretion. "You could actually smell it in the milk," commented Dr. Nasmith. "Wiv, a farmer would use such stuff I cannot for a moment understand. We have sent out the inspector to see whether we can get other samples bearing similar preservative fluids."

THE OLD PLEA
He "Didn't Know It Was Loaded."

The tea or coffee drinker seldom realizes that tea and coffee contain the drug, caffeine, a serious poison to the heart and nerves, causing many forms of disease, noticeably dyspepsia.
"I was a lover of coffee and used it for many years and did not realize the effects it was suffering from its use. (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it, too, contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee).
"At first I was troubled with indigestion. I did not attribute the trouble to the use of coffee, but thought it arose from other causes. With these attacks I had sick headache, nausea and vomiting. Finally my stomach retained in such a condition I could scarcely retain any food.
"I consulted a physician; was told all my troubles came from indigestion, but was not informed what caused the indigestion. I kept on with the coffee and kept on with the troubles too, and my case continued to grow worse from year to year until it developed into chronic diarrhoea, nausea and severe attacks of vomiting. I became a mere shadow, reduced from 150 to 125 pounds.
"A specialist informed me I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach which had got so bad I could do nothing for me and I became convinced my days were numbered.
"Then I chanced to see an article setting forth the good qualities of Postum and explaining how coffee injures people, so I concluded to give Postum a trial. I soon saw the good effects—my headaches were less frequent, nausea and vomiting ceased, came on at long intervals, and I was soon a changed man, feeling much better.
"Then I thought I could stand coffee again, but as soon as I tried it my old troubles returned and I again turned to Postum. Would you believe it, I did this three times before I had sense enough to quit coffee forever and keep on with the Postum. I am now a well man with no more headaches, sick stomach or vomiting, and have already gained back to 147 pounds." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.
