DEAD NOW PLACED LAST TRIBUTE AT NINETEEN TO POPE LEO

Terrible Scenes Follow the Lowell Explosion.

Lowell, Mass., July 29. — The following is the list of those known to have been killed in the explosion: George Flynn, John McMaisters, Louis E. Richards and James L. Grady, employed by the United States Cartridge Company; James B. Sullivan, Charles Moore and Jean Roleau, employed by the Stanley Forwarding Company; Gilbert McDermott, 10 years; Thomas Houligan, 11 years; Joseph Houligan, 11 years; William Galloway, Robert Galloway, Robert Galloway, Alfred Lebrun, Mrs. Catherine Riggs, Eddie Rogers, Gertrude McDermott, 4 years old; Jos. Perusse, 11 years old; Mrs. Victoria Perusse, Zephaniah Perusse. The nine last named were killed by the fall of the magazines or burned to death. An unknown man.

Two carpenters, names unknown, and John Riggs and Patrick Spencer are missing. Six persons are believed to be fatally injured. The magazines were the property of the United States Cartridge Company of this city, but were situated more than a mile from the factory itself. They were built of brick, and were about 10 feet high. One of the magazines was just within the roadside fence, while the other was about 100 feet behind it, near the banks of the river. Small houses were on all sides. The company has for some time been desirous of strengthening the door of the magazines nearest the street, and today eight men were sent there with three large express teams to take out the powder and remove the door. Two of the teams had been loaded, when at 9 o'clock the explosion occurred. Clarence Goodwin, the foreman of the men who were loading the powder, and a man named Boulanger, one of his assistants, were not killed by the explosion.

The latter, in explaining the cause of the explosion, said today that the men found that it was made, and that the powder was leaking. Mr. Goodwin picked up what he thought was a can of water and began pouring it on the nitro-glycerine. As soon as the fluid from the jug struck the floor he found it was nitric acid. The floor at once began to smoke. The men rushed from the building, but had not gone ten feet when the explosion occurred. This explosion was followed immediately by an explosion of gunpowder in the three teams, and several seconds later by the second magazine. The latter exploded, and the men who were loading the powder, and a man named Boulanger, one of his assistants, were not killed by the explosion.

Every house within 200 yards collapsed, trees were blown down, the grass within a hundred yards mowed as if by a lawn mower, while bricks from the two magazines were hurled far across the river and all the neighborhood. For several minutes the air was filled with smoke and dust, through which penetrated the glare from the burning houses. Those who survived dragged themselves to what seemed a place of safety, only to be recalled by the shrieks of the less fortunate. The work of rescue began immediately, but the flames had already gained full sway over many of the crowded houses, and despite energetic efforts, several persons were burned to death before they could be removed. The Lowell fire department became an ambulance corps, as well as a force of fire fighters, and the wounded were hurried to the hospitals. Physicians were conveyed to the two hospitals within half an hour. Those who suffered merely from cuts were cared for at the scene of the explosion, and then turned their attention to the less fortunate. Thousands gathered about the ruins, impeding the work of caring for the wounded so much that four companies of soldiers were called. The soldiers formed a cordon around the death-infected district and cleared the place of every one.

"EMPIRE OF JAM AND PICKLES;" CHAMBERLAIN TO CHURCHILL

Colonial Secretary Has Best of Oratorical Tilt in the House of Commons.

London, July 29. — The House of Commons last night passed the Sugar Convention Bill on its second reading by a vote of 224 to 167. The occasion was seized by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's opponents to again attack his protection proposals, basing the arguments on the increase in the price of sugar, which, it is foreseen, the abolition of the bounties will entail.

Mr. Winston Churchill, Conservative, who is hotly opposed to Mr. Chamberlain, made one of the best speeches of his career. His remarks were punctuated with clever sarcasm, which drew constant applause. It failed, however, to upset Mr. Chamberlain, who, replying with the greatest good humor, turned Mr. Churchill and his argument into ridicule by ironical comments and scathing analysis, until he had led the House into roars of laughter by proving that Mr. Churchill had shown that the British Empire was founded on jam and pickles. It was an admirable exposition of Mr. Chamberlain's debating skill, against which Mr. Churchill, with all his smartness, was no match. In the course of the debate, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, in denouncing it, said: "For twenty years we have been trying to secure the voluntary abandonment of bounties. It was when we changed our policy and resorted to retaliation that we secured the object for which we had struggled so long and so escaped a condition of things under which Germany and Austria would be able to regulate

HIS MAJESTY IN MAYO

The King and Queen Take an Automobile Trip.

Dublin, July 29. — The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward and Queen Alexandra aboard, which left Buncrana on the north coast Tuesday, arrived at Killybegs Bay on the west coast yesterday. Their majesties were accompanied by the Earl of Dudley, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Despite the inclement weather they landed on the Mayo side of the island, and afterwards proceeded in a motor car through this picturesque part of Ireland, inspecting many of the laborers' cottages on the way.

The warships in the bay were illuminated last night, and bonfires were burning on the surrounding hills. Queen Alexandra has given the Earl of Dudley £2,500 for distribution among the poor of Dublin and other parts of Ireland.

A REBEL RISING IN EAST CUBA

The Governor of Santiago Confirms the Rumors.

INHABITANTS ARE EXCITED

Armed and Mounted Bands Call at the Villages Proclaiming a Revolution.

Havana, July 29. — In spite of the assertion made yesterday by Senor Yero, Secretary of the Interior, that the killing of three men and the capture of a fourth man, their leader, who had attempted to cause an uprising in the vicinity of Bayamo, Province of Santiago, effectively ended the only semi-revolution of an uprising in Cuba, the rumors of uprisings in Eastern Cuba were fully confirmed today in the Government's reports received from the Governor and other officials of Santiago Province. These are to the effect that since the night of Sunday last 50 armed and mounted men have appeared outside villages in the Cauto River district, proclaiming a revolution and demanding the payment of the river members of the revolutionary army. No acts of violence have been reported, but the inhabitants of the Cauto region are excited.

The leader of the revolutionary party is named Yero. He is a brother of one of the bandits killed by the rural guard on Tuesday.

Gen Rodriguez, commander-in-chief of the rural guard, has ordered the mobilization of all the rural guards in Eastern Cuba, and the Governor of Santiago Province has been instructed to enlist as many volunteers as may be deemed necessary to co-operate with the mounted troops.

MONKS EXPELLED; FISHING FAILS

Troublesome Times at St. Pierre, Miquelon — Brothers Are Coming to Canada.

Halifax, July 29. — A special from St. Pierre, Miquelon, to the Chronicle says: "The ban on the congregations has not spared St. Pierre. The Christians, established in the French colony for the past 60 years, left on the steamer Glencoe on the 17th inst., bound for Canada, where they will remain. When they went away about 2,000 persons were on the quay to salute them, and everybody shouted 'Vive les freres', 'Vive la liberte', 'A bas la Canaille', 'A bas Combes'."

The poor remarks did not know what to do. One man, who made some slighting remarks in regard to them, was arrested. He fought with one gentleman, who smashed his head against a wall, and the officers of the law must not do unless commanded. Then the crowd commenced to get excited. They all rushed on the grandstand and wanted to throw them overboard. If it had not been for a schooner lying alongside of the wharf some officers and others would undoubtedly have been thrown into the water."

The dispatch continues: "It is pretty hard to see how we are ruled. Combes is the cause of all the trouble. Why does he not leave everybody free to do as they like. If they send lay teachers from France it will cost the colony six times more than would the brothers, and they will not likely be suitable persons. Forty of the rioters have been summoned before the court for rebellious actions against the police, and seditious thoughts against Combes."

Fishing this year is a total failure. Nobody has seen the like of it before. If the squid do not come at all I do not know what will happen. It will be very bad for St. Pierre. Many will not be able to support such a big loss and will probably fall.

American Couple Will Attempt to Cross the Circle.

Copenhagen, July 29. — Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Gilders, of Lowell, Mass., left here this afternoon in their automobile in an attempt to cross the Arctic circle. The automobilists received an enthusiastic send-off from a big crowd at the starting point.

OPEN TO ALL POWERS

Great Britain and Japan Will Have Consuls in New Ports.

London, July 29. — Following the signature of the Anglo-Chinese commercial treaty, China, it is said, will grant the same open ports privileges to Manchuria to Great Britain and Japan, both of which expect to establish concessions and appoint consuls at the new ports. In British official circles, confidence is expressed that the maintenance of peace will result from Russian assurances regarding Manchuria, and that there will be no interference with Chinese action in the matter.

CONFESIONS ON THE SCAFFOLD; THEY WILL NOT BE ALLOWED

British Government Moved to This Action by Last Statement of Dougal.

London, July 29. — The confession on the scaffold of Dougal, formerly of Halifax, the Mount House murder, as a result of the fervent appeal of the chaplain, the Rev. J. W. Blackmore, was the subject of three questions to the Home Secretary in recent parliamentary papers. To Colonel Wyndham Murray, who wished to know if it is "part of the duty of a prison chaplain to demand a confession from a criminal when actually on the scaffold," Mr. Aker-Douglas replied. The Home Secretary stated that the relations between the chaplain and the prisoners during his spiritual care are for a matter not dealt with by statutory rules. In the case referred to he had called for a report from the chaplain, who had informed him that Dougal promised to make a true confession on the eve of his execution, but failed to do so. "As the last moment approached," the chaplain said, "my spiritual anxiety became intense. I prayed earnestly with him during the quarter of an hour during which he sobbed, but seemed unable to unbend and make a confession. I knew not what he was doing, so under strong impulse, and quite on the inspiration of the moment, I made a strong appeal on the scaffold."

Two Banking Systems.

There is no doubt that our present bank note system is altogether unequal to the varying demands made upon it, and we believe it to be demonstrable that issues based, with strict safeguards, upon bank assets, would supply the need of an elastic currency which is apparent to all observers of our financial requirements.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Commercial Advertiser touches on the weak spot in the United States banking system. The banks must put up interest-bearing Government bonds as security for their note circulation. This deprives them of profit on the issue of notes, and they circulate no more of their own paper than they are obliged to by law. Their profits come mainly from deposits. Before the civil war the banks provided the bulk of the note circulation, as they do in Canada, depositing stocks and mortgages to redeem their issues; but these securities were liable to great fluctuations in value, and when a bank's anticipated payment holders of its notes invariably lost from 25 to 75 cents on the dollar. The failure to place bank note circulation on a sound basis led the Government to go to the other extreme by discouraging it altogether. This problem has been solved by the Canadian banking system. The notes of a bank are a first lien on its assets. In addition each bank subscribes 5 per cent of the amount of its circulation to a guarantee fund, to be drawn on whenever the liquidator of a failed bank is unable to redeem its note issue within 60 days. In this way each bank is responsible to a degree for the validity of the notes issued by all other banks. These provisions make the Canadian bank note as good as gold. The Canadian system secures not only a sound currency, but an elastic one. A bank is empowered to issue notes to the full extent of its paid-up capital, and in this way the volume of currency contracts or expands automatically with the volume of business in the country. Since 1896 the note circulation of the country has increased by thirty millions of dollars, or over 75 per cent, without any perceptible strain. The financial troubles of the United States are mainly due to the absence of this elasticity in the circulating medium. The Government issues the bulk of the paper currency, and is not in as favorable a position as the banks would be to respond to the financial requirements of the business community. Every financial authority of the United States admits the necessity of radical changes in the system, but there is a reluctance to apply heroic treatment, which must be accompanied by grave disturbances for the time being.

The Late Dean Innes.
The late Dean Innes was one of the most familiar figures in the city. It is difficult to realize that he had attained his 78th year. There was no token of old age in his erect bearing and firm carriage, which denoted his military training. It appears that he had been in indifferent health for two or three years, though his hale appearance concealed it from acquaintances. He entered the ministry of the Church of England 40 years ago, and with the exception of a few years in Quebec the city of London was his field of labor. As the rector of St. Paul's for over 30 years he filled a large place in the community, and no man was more thoroughly identified with its traditions. He was tolerant in his religious attitude; he always maintained the friendliest relations with other denominations, and frequently spoke in their churches. To his own congregation and to his wide circle of friends he was endeared by long association and by his qualities of heart and mind. The Church of England, particularly in the diocese of Huron, will lose a strong tower.

The Middlesex Ridings.
The Conservative press as a whole is making no great outcry over the redistribution bill. It may be waiting for the Opposition leaders to give it the cue when the bill comes up for discussion. The only journal showing signs of excitement is the Mail and Empire, which is trying to convince its readers that Ontario has been made the victim of a Liberal gerrymander. The Mail among other things, says: "Here are two counties with populations differing somewhat in number, but in such a way as to entitle one to a larger representation than the other: Hastings 59,291 Middlesex 54,726. It would be supposed that if one of these counties was given a larger representation than the other the fortunate country would be Hastings. But the contrary is the case. Hastings, with 59,291 people, is allowed two members. Middlesex, with 54,726 fewer people, is returned three members. The reason for this discrimination is made plain by the election returns. Hastings is against Laurier by a majority of 1,567. If cut into three, three independent members would be elected. But if cut into two, a constituency giving a Conservative majority of about 1,700 can be made, and another giving, as expected, a Laurier majority of about 100 can be created. Middlesex is different. It is cut up into three, although it has a smaller population, in the hope that three Laurier supporters will be returned."

We submit that this is not a fair presentation of the case. The population of Middlesex is three times that of Hastings. This entitles it to three seats.

one of which has been allotted to London and three to the rural portion of the county. The Mail conveniently leaves London out of its calculation. Get your flags and bunting ready!

It is the duty of every Londoner to make the Old Boys believe there's no place like home.

The Manitoba wheat crop will be shy several bushels to the acre, but Ontario will have a bumper crop in every product. What would this Dominion be without Ontario?

The Dutch legislators in Cape Colony opposed a tariff preference to Great Britain on the pretext that the duties should be arranged with a view to the protection of South African industries. Comparisons are odious, but isn't that precisely the attitude of one of the political parties of Canada?

The trouble in the United States Government Printing Bureau has been compromised. The President has reinstated the foreman, who was discharged because he refused to join the union, and the union bookbinders have agreed to work with him "under protest."

The Hamilton Spectator insists that it was the Crossin Company's cash-books that were mutilated, not the ledger. Mr. Johnston at one time called it a ledger, at another time a diary, but as Mr. Crossin himself called it a cash-book, the Spectator has the best of the argument. It isn't material whether the book was a ledger or a cash-book, but we call attention to the fact that it was not shown by Mr. Crossin to Mr. McEvoy or any of the lawyers who went to his office. He showed them only his bank-book. This disposes of Gamble's malicious charge that one of the counsel for the defense tore the leaves from the cash-book in Crossin's office.

King Edward as a Mixer.
[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
The King of England while Prince of Wales was known also as the prince of good fellows. Though always a stickler for precedent and etiquette on formal occasions he has often shown a desire to lay aside the trappings of royalty and appear simply as a man among other men. His visit to Ireland has proved that the kingship has not changed the man. He went through all the formalities with his accustomed tact and dignity, and more than that, went about among the Irish people as a king has not mingled with the English people for many a day. The past few days have made it clear that he possesses many of those qualities which are held to be indispensable to a mixer. As a "mixer" he is an unqualified success.

An Object Lesson.
[London Times.]
Lord Lansdowne very justly says that we are not concerned with German motives or with the exact origin of the impulses that govern German action. We have to do with the facts of German policy, and these amount to the motives may be, not only to penalizing a colony which has not added a penny to its imposts upon German goods, but also to the question of a political deterrent to hinder the closer union of our colonies with the German empire. But, at the same time, the prospect that we might procure for ourselves a revolver as good as the German one, the minority attitude was dropped, the contemplated further measures against Canada abandoned, and the whole question signed off on deprecatory grounds of injured innocence. That is an object lesson for the country which is not to be put out of sight by any amount of declamation about the abstract doctrines of free trade. We must have the means of protecting ourselves and our colonies against the operation of scientifically contrived fiscal laws, and if the weapon should cost us something, so does every weapon needed either in war or in peace.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

TWO WOMEN MISSING

Fatal Fire at the Seaview House in Old Orchard.
Old Orchard, Me., July 30.—The Seaview House, on the camp ground at Old Orchard, was burned to the ground today, and two women guests are missing. It is feared that they did not escape from the hotel. The value of the property consumed was about $4,000. There were twenty persons in the house, including the manager, John F. Woodbury, or Waterville, his wife and six children. The missing women are Mrs. Helen Martin and Mrs. E. A. Stevens, both of East Grafton, N. H.

TOO MUCH WHISKY

Caused Panama Governor to Call Out Army of Ten.
Washington, D. C., July 30.—The startling "revolution" which resulted in the brief overthrow of the Government of Panama last Saturday night, according to official cables received, was the result of highballs and not an insurrection.

During the course of the "revolution" Gen. Vasquez Cols, who overthrew the Government for a day, arrested and killed the local officers and sent the governor flying in his pajamas into the shrubbery to escape a dungeon.
It now seems that Cols did not know what he was doing, and the whole story is like a comic opera.
The truth is that he had dined too well, and not being used to Scotch highballs, lost his head and decided that affairs in Panama were not going to suit him. He accordingly ordered his army of ten men under arms and overthrew the Government.

THE PIUS FUND SILVER
Weighed Seventy Tons and Was Changed Into Pesetas.
San Francisco, July 30.—The 1,429,682 Mexican silver dollars which were turned over to the state department by the Mexican Government in payment of the California Pius fund award and were purchased by the treasury department as bullion to coin into Philippine pesos, have been delivered at the San Francisco mint and a warrant for $606,274 sent to the Secretary of State for the Catholic archdiocese in California to employ as the Pius fund belonged jointly with the Mexican Government.

This great mass of silver, weighing nearly 70 tons, was turned over to Ambassador Clayton at the City of Mexico, and was a source of embarrassment to the state department until this means of disposing of it was found. It was sent by express to San Francisco in seven shipments, the transportation charges reaching $5,000. The amount paid by the treasury was at the rate per ounce for silver bullion in London on each of the seven days of delivery, and aggregated $610,274. Deducting the express charges, the amount turned over to the church was $606,274.

The Pius fund was created for the California church, then under Mexican sovereignty, which included Upper and Lower California. After the annexation of Upper California to the United States the church of that portion claimed a share of the fund, which was retained by the Mexican Government, and after a long diplomatic correspondence it was referred to the Hague arbitration tribunal, which decided last year that the church in Upper California was entitled to a share.

Overland By Wagon.
Windsor, Ont., July 30.—George Stewart, sen., and George Stewart, jun., with their families, numbering 17 persons, passed through here yesterday on their way from Colorado to Ottawa. The party is traveling in wagons and had come all the distance from Colorado in this manner. The Stewart family went to Colorado about a year ago, but heavy misfortune overtook them in that country, and they were forced to come back to Canada in wagons.

EXPULSED UNION MEN

Citizens of Idaho Springs Adopt Radical Measures.
Idaho Springs, Col., July 30.—After a meeting of business men last night 500 citizens of Idaho Springs went to the city jail, and took fourteen of the men arrested in connection with the blowing up of the Sun and Moon mine buildings, marched them to the city limits, and told them to leave the place and never return. The men driven out include the president of the local union, the vice-president, secretary-treasurer and two or three members of the executive committee. Some of the men complained that they had no money, and a purse was made up for them. There was no disorder. The other prisoners were taken to Georgetown, the county seat.

AMENDMENTS TO COMMISSION BILL

The Commons Also Discusses Fast Atlantic Service.

SOME RAILWAY RUMORS DENIED

The Announcement of the Railway Policy—Experimental Poultry Station.

Ottawa, July 29.—This evening just before the House adjourned Hon. Mr. Fielding announced that the business for tomorrow will be the Premier's announcement regarding the Government's railway policy, after which, as it was not expected that there would be any discussion at that stage of the bill, the House would be moved into supply and the estimates of the Minister of Trade and Commerce would again be taken up. This afternoon a number of clerical amendments were made in committee to the railway commission bill, Hon. A. G. Blair, co-operating with Sir Wm. Mulock, in making the necessary changes. In supply the estimates for the dairy commissioner's branch of the agricultural department were passed after a debate in which every phase of the operations of the department from cold storage to chicken-raising and fattening was discussed. Mr. Henderson (Halton) introduced his bill to amend the bank act, which, he explained, was designed to limit the investing powers of banks.

In reply to a question that there was no truth whatever in the statements published in the press that the Government had made arrangements whereby the Grand Trunk Pacific had acquired the charter of the trans-Canada Railway.
The House went into committee of supply on the estimates of the Minister of Trade and Commerce. Mr. E. F. Clarke asked a series of questions, with a view of eliciting information respecting the prospect of securing faster vessels on the Canadian route. Sir Richard Cartwright replied that he was afraid he was not in a position to discuss the matter at present. The tenders for a service which had been received were not satisfactory, but were forming a basis of negotiations, and he had some expectations that the Government will be able to come to terms with the companies, but the ideas of the Government and the steamship companies are wide apart.
Mr. Kemp inquired whether there was any expense to the Government for the carriage of the large proportion of mail matter between Canada and Great Britain, which goes by way of New York.
Sir Richard Cartwright replied that the ships which carry the mails do not receive a proportionate sum, according to the amount of mail matter carried. Owing to the necessities of the carriage of the large proportion of mail, a large proportion of the Canada mail for Great Britain went through New York, and vessels which carry the mails from New York do not receive any subsidy.

KUROPATKIN ON WAR

He Says the Japanese Jingo Party is Not Strong.

London, July 26.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail reports that General Kuropatkin, the Russian Minister of War, who has just returned from the Port Arthur conference, expresses himself as pleased with the results of his tour, and that he communicated to the Czar the opinion, that although a fairly strong party in Japan wanted war with Russia, the bulk of the nation was too sensible to yield to such "jingoism," and that the Mikado was well disposed toward Russia. The correspondent says that General Kuropatkin considers that the situation has been cleared for a long time, and that war is very improbable.

PERSIAN BUTCHERIES

Religious Performance Causes Frightful Two-Weeks' Riot.

London, July 26.—The Times describes serious religious riots in the city and province of Yazd, in Central Persia, which lasted more than a fortnight. The outbreak was directed against religious reformers called Babists. For two days every Bab found in the city was butchered by the mob, and the mutilated bodies were dragged through the streets, followed by the exultant crowds. Houses were looted, women beaten and killed, and finally the priestly leaders of the riot enjoined the populace to bring all the remaining Babists before them, or the Governor for judgment. The Governor refused at first to yield to the threats of the mob, but his police was surrounded by menacing men, and the following day he consented. One Bab taken before him was blown from the mouth of a cannon, and another was killed and dragged through the town. Order, it is reported, has been restored, but the Babists who escaped are in hiding.

THE "SOO" COMPANY

No Doubt of Its Being Ultimately Very Prosperous.

Toronto, July 25.—Henry C. Hamilton, solicitor to the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, said yesterday that the company was only suffering from the general stringency of the money market; hence the need of more funds to carry on its operations. "There can be no doubt of the future prosperity of the company," remarked Mr. Hamilton. "The vast resources of the Soo only require to be a little more developed to show the enormous value of the company's enterprise. Take any one of the company's schemes by itself and it may not seem so very great. It is like a single spoke of a wheel in that respect, which needs all the other spokes to make up the wheel. And so all the schemes at the Soo combined together go to make what may be described as the greatest commercial enterprise on the North American continent. Of course, Mr. Clegg's railway is not affected by the Consolidated Company's need of money. The Canadian Central Railway is quite apart from the Consolidated. Mr. Clegg is only a resident director of the Consolidated, whose operations are now entirely in Mr. Shields' hands. Mr. Shields' aim is to get the shareholders to put up the capital still required, and then seek to be every probability of his succeeding in his purpose."

DROWNED IN ST. CLAIR

Sad Fatal Accident to Woman and Little Child.

Sarnia, Ont., July 25.—A sad drowning accident occurred here this afternoon, by which two lives were lost, and the bodies of a young mother and a child now lie beneath the waters of the St. Clair.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock this afternoon, Mrs. Gilbert Taylor, accompanied by her little daughter and the little daughter of George Thompson, of Port Huron, who was visiting at the Taylor house, went down to the river bank to allow the children to paddle about in the water. The spot selected was the beach just below the L. E. and D. R. R. slip. The two little girls, aged 7 and 10 respectively, were enjoying themselves, and Mrs. Taylor was watching them from the river bank. All at once the children got beyond their depth and cried for help. Mrs. Taylor became terror-stricken and rushed into the water to save them. Their cries attracted the attention of some of the railway employees, and the men hurried to the scene of the accident. The little Taylor child, aged 7 years, was saved, but the Thompson child and Mrs. Taylor both met watery graves.

The drowned woman was aged 35 years, and was the wife of Gilbert Taylor, Grand Trunk fireman, and resided on Queen street. Mr. Taylor and family came here from Port Huron, and have been residents of Sarnia since April last.
The river was dragged for a considerable distance, but up to the time of going to press no trace of the bodies had been found.
The bereaved husband was at the scene of the accident and was almost beside himself with grief. Word was sent to Port Huron to notify the parents of the little Thompson girl of the sad fate of their little one.

Strathroy, July 25.—Mr. Neil Mitchell, our enterprising contractor, has just returned home from a trip north to Goderich, Elyth and other points where he has been inspecting the new method of building houses and foundations for outbuildings with cement blocks made by a machine, called up and patented by Messrs. McNally & Plimmer, of Blyth. Mr. Mitchell pronounces it all right. He saw several houses, which he says are elegant in appearance and very warm and dry and durable, and more handsome than brick. The chances are that there will be some of that style of houses built here soon.

ALEXANDER'S WOOLING

20 BUSHELS TO THE ACRE

Manitoba Yield Will Not Be as Large as Last Year.

Montreal, Que., July 25.—William Whyte, assistant to the president of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, reached here yesterday from the west, and in speaking of the crops, said: "In Manitoba, the yield, and I am speaking exclusively of grain, will average between 15 and 20 bushels, whereas last year it was in the vicinity of 25 bushels. There are this year 2,500,000 acres of wheat under crop, or one-twentieth of an increase over last year. "When you go into the Territories into Eastern Assiniboia—the crop conditions are very much better, and there are some 750,000 acres of wheat under crop. These latter will go over 20 bushels to the acre."

The total acreage under wheat in Manitoba and the Territories cannot be less than 3,000,000.
Another fact which must not be lost to sight is that last year there was a larger growth of straw than in the case this year. The cost of reaping, binding and threshing was consequently to the farmer much greater than it will be this fall.
"Another important circumstance worthy of note is that, owing to the transportation companies not having sufficient equipment to furnish cars required, there was last year a great spread between the track price and the elevator price. This year, owing to both the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Northern Railway having added so largely to their rolling stock, there will not be the slightest difficulty in supplying all the engines and cars that may be required."

ALEXANDER'S WOOLING

The Figure He Cut at the Grecian Royal Court.

Paris, July 25.—The declaration of a commission of Russian doctors that the son of Peter Karageorgievitch, King of Serbia by virtue of right of murder, is of a degenerate type, does not seem to disqualify him for the throne. Of the undertaker, Alexander, as he appeared in Athens as a sutor for the hand of a Greek princess, a Serbian warrior in the Balkan wars, the view draws an unflattering picture: "Poor, shy Alexander, with his lean shoulders, his long, thin neck that advanced horizontally, his head the shape of a rounded-off cylinder, with a few locks of hair, a skull cap, cut a poorer figure at Athens than elsewhere."

black eyes, behind large gold-rimmed glasses, never rested a moment, never near-sighted almost to blindness, and could not fix themselves on the face of the person he spoke to. He seemed to feel that the royal family and court of Athens would burst out laughing before he left the room. "His uniform fit him badly. It was covered with gold lace, and just the thing to wear at a coronation, grand mass at which all the clergy are dressed with the gilded magnificence of the Middle Ages. He had curious hands that snatched up nervously the knife, fork or spoon, and when he went round the table with the King, fidgeted with his sword hilt. Alexander resembled neither father nor mother. A French doctor would have called him an 'un degenerate' and M. Hanotaux as 'un de race.' Of course Alexander did not prosper in his Grecian wooing."

UNDRAPE ON BROADWAY

"Sloboys" Was Run to Cover After Dip in Fountain.

New York, July 25.—A fleeing form clad only in the modesty of childhood, with rivulets of water racing down its sides, dashed out of City Hall Park yesterday and started down Broadway at a fear-quicken pace. After it plunged a big policeman.

Near Warren street the undraped gave signs of being blown, and the perspiring policeman with a mighty shout captured his quarry and took it to the city hall police station. After securing a burly bag with which to save the proprietress, the big policeman presented the prisoner to the sergeant. The undraped admitted that he was Thomas L. Lukanos, commonly called "Sloboys," of No. 28 Madison street. "It was this way," he began. "Nanny the Goat, who sell 'Evenin' Waids on the corner, was playing folier de leader. He was leader, on 'le had a bathin' suit as on 'le belongs to his dead brother. Well, I was second kid in de game, an' he calls out, 'Sloboys, come on!' I did dat he lepped into de tank; I couldn't take no bluff, an' I off with my rags and foliers."

"Sloboys" who is 10, spent the night at the Children's Society rooms and will appear clothed before the children's court this morning. Nanny the Goat made good his escape.

The Rose of Wentworth

Miss McAllister was not gone many minutes. The door soon opened again and she entered, followed by a servant bearing a picture. It was the portrait of Evelyn Wentworth. "Place it here upon this table," she said, in a low tone to the man, "and then you may go." He obeyed and they quietly left the room. As soon as the door closed after him Miss McAllister turned to her visitor and said: "I want you to come and stand beside this picture, dear, and let Mr. Paxton compare your face with the one painted there." She took the young girl by the hand and led her forward. "You tremble, a sort of mist coming over your eyes so that she could not see distinctly, but as she came close to it she bent forward and scanned it eagerly. There was one moment of breathless silence, then a low cry of surprise and joy broke from her. "Yes, yes, it is true; I know that she was my mother," she said, looking tearfully up into Miss McAllister's face, while her own glowed with a tender happiness which made her exceedingly lovely. "Mr. Paxton," said the old lady, "come here and look for yourself. I think this test cannot fail to put to flight all your doubts." She turned the girl and placed her side by side with the picture as she spoke. Philip felt obliged to obey, but he came forward very reluctantly, while Arley also bent forward to look. The face of the young maiden and that of the portrait were almost identical. There were the same large, deep-blue eyes, the same soft, sun-brown hair and broad low forehead with its straight, shapely brows. The nose of the young girl was a trifle more delicate in outline than that of the portrait, but the mouth was the same, sweet and tender in expression, and with a sensitive droop at the corners that was somewhat peculiar while the chin of each rounded and curved into the beautiful white throat precisely alike. "Do you wish—can you ask any stronger proof than that before you?" Miss McAllister asked of Philip, and sternly. "There cannot be the slightest doubt that you are looking upon the mother and child. It has always been a matter of regret to me that Arley did not bear more resemblance to her parents. I have thought at times that I could trace something of her father's expression in her features, but it was never satisfactory, but it is all explained now, and from this moment I must own this child as Evelyn Wentworth's daughter." "Oh, auntie, auntie," wailed poor Arley, stretching out her hands with a despairing gesture to her, and feeling almost as if she had been driven forth into exile as she listened to these words, while Philip Paxton, convinced at last because he was obliged to be, clenched his teeth and ground his heel into the soft carpet in impotent rage. Without warning or preparation twenty thousand pounds were swept beyond his reach, while he and his bride of but an hour or two were, comparatively speaking, beggars. Miss McAllister went to Arley and drew her head upon her bosom. "Be still, my child," she said brokenly, but with exceeding tenderness. "I do not love my darling one, but I love you. Surely you do not imagine that the affection of eighteen years' growth can be transferred to another simply by a question of mistaken identity. No, dear, but I must be just; I must acknowledge the evidence of my own senses. While from this moment I must own this young girl as Evelyn's child, you will ever be the same to me that you have been—a daughter in all but name. You two shall be like a pair of sisters, and I shall claim you both as my own." She held out her hand, as she ceased speaking, to Ina, who came forward and raised it to her lips, while tears streamed over her cheeks. She had never expected to be received so heartily and kindly into the bosom of a family where another had been suddenly taken ill, and which had reigned so absolutely for so long. "Oh, but who am I to whom do I belong? Who are my kin? I am stripped of everything—I have not even a name left," cried Arley, despairingly. She had been very brave to renounce everything when convinced that it did not belong to her, but she felt very desolate and unhappy now. She could not have minded it so much if Philip had been noble and manly regarding the matter, but it almost seemed as if he had deserted her in this trying hour. "She should not say that when she has her husband's name," Ina said, sorrowfully, and looking up with tears in Miss McAllister's face, "and she must retain that of Arley also, and so I would very much like to change it now. All my life I have been called 'Ina,' and do not believe I could answer to that name. She—glancing at Arley—"will be known after this as Mrs. Paxton, and so I will assume the name of Wentworth; in nothing else need there be any change. You are very kind to receive me so cordially as my niece, and I shall always love you for it; if I had not made her so unhappy—with a sympathetic look at the weeping bride—"I should be content." Miss McAllister looked greatly relieved as she listened to this, while she longed to take the sweet maiden into her arms and kiss her for trying to make the rough way so smooth for them all. "Arley, do you hear?" she said, turning to her; there is to be no change; Ina wishes to retain her first name and desires that you will keep yours." "Ah, but that does not explain who I am," cried the poor child, who, weary and weak from the excitement of the day, and out to the heart by her husband's strange treatment, was fast losing self-control. "You are Philip Paxton's wife," Miss McAllister said, with a glance of stern appeal at the newly-made husband, who still stood before the portrait of Evelyn Wentworth as if in a trance. She felt that he ought to come and comfort the afflicted girl, and not stand there moodily brooding over what could not be helped. He started at her words as if a viper had stung him, muttered an angry oath, and without even so much as a glance at his unhappy bride, he abruptly turned and left the room. This was the bitter drop too much in Arley's cup of woe, and with a moan of pain she lay back in Miss Angelina's arms and fainted away. Philip Paxton walked down stairs, looking like anything rather than a happy bridegroom. His face was startlingly pale, his eyes glowed with a fierce, lurid light, and his manner was wild and excited. Meeting Mr. Hamilton at the foot of the stairs for he was going up to see what was detaining the young couple so long, he told him that Arley had been suddenly taken ill, and would be unable either to take leave of her friends, or on her journey at present, and he begged him to excuse them to the company. Then, without waiting to explain anything further, he dashed on into the library to hide himself, his rage and disappointment, from every eye. But here he found another lion in his path, in the form of a strange gentleman, who was sitting quietly there, and apparently waiting for someone. "I beg pardon," Philip said stiffly, and glancing at him almost savagely, "I was not aware that there was anyone here." "My name is Alden, sir, and I am waiting for a young lady who has gone upstairs to see Mrs. Paxton," the man returned, rising and bowing slightly to Philip. Philip bit his lip fiercely at this intelligence. "Just what this 'influence' was no body seems able to say, but the fact remains, they assert, that McChesney could have met Waterbury at Brighton this week. The unwillingness of Smathers and Hildreth to accept the offer for the match at Jamaica, that, and the positive statement of Mr. Train, J. A. Joyner, that Waterbury would never again be entered in such an affair disappointed the turf world last week and is pretty good evidence, turmen say, that somebody frowned on the match and called the participants off. In Washington it is claimed that there is friction between Postal and Loftus, and this is held to be partially responsible for the failure of the club. This is the one thing in the dispatch to which Mr. Postal objects, asserting that he and Loftus have had troubles over the policy of the club. If Postal succeeds in disposing of his Washington interests he will at once associate himself with Mr. Angus in the ownership of the Detroit club. Such a deal had been talked of last season, and was at one time on the verge of being consummated. It merely waits on sale of the Postal Washington stock.

RACE BETWEEN ABBOT AND LOU DILLON COMES OFF TODAY

Bowling Tournament Opens at Stratford—News of the World of Sport.

E. E. Smathers said at New York this week that he owned McChesney exclusively, and that S. C. Hildreth had no interest of any kind in the horse. This statement from Smathers was prompted by the rumor of a protest against the eligibility of "Big Mac" to start in the various rich stakes at Saratoga, including the $12,000 handicap at the Spa Aug. 3. Smathers further declared that Hildreth merely received a salary for his services as trainer, and in spite of these assertions, however, it is declared that a protest will be filed with the stewards of the jockey club just the same, in order to have the matter definitely settled. McChesney has stirred up more trouble at New York than any horse in the country has stirred up in a long time. The fact that on Monday he was permitted to breeze a half mile at Saratoga, and that in doing so he showed absolutely no sign of "lameness," has strengthened the belief that some powerful influence was exerted to prevent the match race with Waterbury. Just what this "influence" was no body seems able to say, but the fact remains, they assert, that McChesney could have met Waterbury at Brighton this week. The unwillingness of Smathers and Hildreth to accept the offer for the match at Jamaica, that, and the positive statement of Mr. Train, J. A. Joyner, that Waterbury would never again be entered in such an affair disappointed the turf world last week and is pretty good evidence, turmen say, that somebody frowned on the match and called the participants off. team is in a bad way, and the management will, it is announced, lay off all of its batted stars for a few days, putting in subs and taking a chance of three or four defeats, in order to have the full club in shape for the final rush. Clarke is to be sent to his home for a rest, and Wagner and Leach are to be kept out of the game for a week. Kruger and Hoffman, a St. Louis experiment, replacing Wagner and Leach, while a new infielder will go to third. Injured players are holding Pittsburgh back. Overworked pitchers seem to be New York's trouble. Mattheus and McGinnity were given a pretty severe dose in the early part of the year. They have not been so successful of late. That they have held on as long and as well is a source of some baseball surprise.

NOTHING CAME OF IT.
New York, July 29.—The committee of baseball league presidents met today but adjourned after a session of an hour without taking any action as to a national agreement. President P. J. McGinnity of the National League, said this adjournment was taken owing to the absence of President Johnson of the American League, and is subject to a special call.

WALLOPED THE WARRIORS.
Eagle, Ont., July 28.—The Eagle Warriors administered a decisive defeat to the West Lorne team here yesterday, the score being 15 to 3. The Warriors were under the capable management of Mr. H. H. Montgomery, who was assisted by brilliant plays on both sides, with some costly errors sandwiched in. The playing of the Eagle battery, Daly and Montgomery, was the feature. Montgomery contributed the only home run of the game. Manager Beckers put up a star game at third base for West Lorne. The batteries were: Warriors, Daly and Montgomery; West Lorne, Barnes, McKillop and Lemon. Manager McKillop.

MOUNT BRIDGES DEFEATED.
Hyde Park, July 27.—Hyde Park defeated Mount Bridges in a friendly game of baseball Saturday on their own diamond by a score of 13 to 7. Mount Bridges was assisted by Delawar's famous pitcher, J. Hyde Park.....0 0 2 0 2 4 3—13 8 2
Mt. Bridges.....1 1 0 3 1 0 0—7 4 5

The "Force" Food Company, Buffalo, N. Y.
GENTLEMEN—A rumor having reached me that your product, "FORCE," contained injurious ingredients, I took the occasion to analyze it, in the interest of my own family and of some friends who are liberal users of it. It may interest you to know that I found it contained exclusively of Whole Wheat, Barley and Salt, and is absolutely free from any injurious elements whatever. Permit me to express my sincere regret that such a serious and baseless rumor should gain footing with the public. You are free to use this letter in any way that will help to do your product justice. Yours truly, WILBUR L. SCOVILLE.

Boston, June 30, 1936.
To Whom It May Concern: "FORCE" Food Company of Buffalo, I have visited their Mills and made a careful examination of the materials from which "FORCE" is prepared, and the processes which convert it into its finished condition. I found that "FORCE" consists exclusively of what my previous analysis indicated, viz.: Whole Wheat and Barley, with a seasoning of Table Salt, baked, cooked and sterilized by 200 degrees of heat. A feature of the manufacture which impressed me considerably was the fact that the process is entirely mechanical, the food being prepared, cooked and baked by machinery, without ever coming in contact with the hands of the mill operatives. I was also gratified to note that an experienced Chemist daily supervised the entire output, and that each day's manufacture was also tested by an expert cook. Signed, WILBUR L. SCOVILLE, Professor of Theory and Practice of Chemistry.

The "Force" Food Company, Buffalo, N. Y.
GENTLEMEN—In view of the rumors regarding the alleged adulteration of "FORCE," it has been a satisfaction to me to visit your Mills, investigate, and analyze your product. You are free to publish this statement made over my signature, that "FORCE" is to be absolutely pure, consisting solely of Whole Wheat and Barley, flavored with table salt, and free from any injurious substance whatever. I examined, in detail, the various steps in the manufacture of your product, such as the steam cooking, the flaking and the roasting, as well as the packing, and find all to be remarkably clean and of absolute healthfulness. The final roasting is done at a temperature above 300° F., which, with the steam cooking, completely sterilizes the product, and the entire process, from the first step to the final sealing of the package, is a mechanical one, the product at no time coming in contact with the hands or clothing of the persons handling the machines or packages. Very respectfully, HERBERT M. HILL, Chemist to the City of Buffalo.

See page 148 of "Cereal Breakfast Foods," Bulletin No. 84, of the Maine Experiment Station, a State Institute which has analyzed "FORCE" with similar subject, pages 6 and 29, for analysis. Copy will be mailed free on request. "FORCE" consists solely of the most wholesome and nutritious ingredients. Any inquiries concerning this subject will be cheerfully answered by THE "FORCE" FOOD COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y.

But she remembered, and when she contracted a week back there was another customer for Electric Oil.

It was his intention to spend a portion of his holiday in New York State, and the remainder of the time in Eastern Ontario and Quebec. and especially by the denomination with which he had been so prominently connected for so many years. When Dean Innes left London on Monday of last week on his annual vacation, he was supposed to be in good health, although some time previously he had complained of being unwell. It was his intention to spend a portion of his holiday in New York State, and the remainder of the time in Eastern Ontario and Quebec. No intimation that he was ill was received by his relatives here until yesterday morning, when a message came to the effect that he had been seized with a fainting spell at the home of Mr. Adam Brown, postmaster of Hamilton, where he was a guest. The news caused some uneasiness among the members of his family, who were aware of the heart weakness with which he was sometimes afflicted, and in the afternoon Mr. T. Harry Carling, his son-in-law, went to Hamilton, arriving there some time before he died.

The deceased is survived by a son, Mr. John Innes, of Toronto, and two

REV. DEAN INNES DIED

SUDDENLY AT HAMILTON

He Was on His Vacation When Death Overtook Him.

Some Weeks Before He Had Complained of Being Unwell.

The members and adherents of the Church of England throughout the Diocese of Huron will be grieved to hear of the death of Rev. George M. Innes, dean of the diocese, which occurred early last evening in Hamilton, Ont.

Dr. White was summoned, but it was not considered that his illness was serious. He, however, had a bad turn and peacefully passed away last evening. The body will be taken to London for interment.

The Very Rev. George Mignion Innes, Dean of Huron, was of Scottish descent, the son of the late Rev. John Innes, by Mary Evans, his wife. Born at Weymouth, England, on Jan. 21, 1825, he was educated at Mill Hill Grammar School. He passed his examination at Sandhurst Military College, and in 1849 was gazetted ensign of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

Retiring from the army with the rank of captain in 1861, he studied for the church, and was ordained deacon in 1862 and priest in 1865. After serving as incumbent of Christ Church, London, Ontario, he became assistant minister at the cathedral, Quebec.

In 1868 he returned to London, and in 1871 he was made canon and rector of the cathedral. In 1889 he was appointed Dean of Huron, succeeding the late Dr. Boomer as that office. He had served as commissary and administrator of the diocese.

In 1890 he attended the Anglican Union conference at Winnipeg, and in 1891 received from Bishops' College, Lennoxville, the honorary degree of D. D. He was a director of the Royal Canadian Humane Society, vice-president of the Western Ontario Bible Society, and of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons of Canada.

In 1896 he was presented with a handsome money testimonial in commemoration of the twenty-fifth year of his connection with the Diocese of Huron. He was twice married—in 1864, to Eliza Anne, daughter of the late Col. Joseph Clarke of the Seventy-sixth Foot Regiment, and in 1867 to Annie, daughter of the late Daniel McCallum, of Quebec.

RAIN AT SPRINGBANK.
There was a large attendance at Springbank last night, it now being well known that there is being put on there one of the best vaudeville shows of the season. The majority of the crowd were caught in the heavy rain and the pavilion was crowded until a late hour, as few were prepared for the sudden storm.

OLD BOY DOING BETTER.
Mr. Frank S. Strangeman, who will be among next week's visiting Old Boys, is leaving Mansfield for Omaha, where he will be superintendent of construction for the Northwestern Telephone Company. He was presented with a handsome gold watch by the employees of the telephone company at Mansfield when he worked there.

DECORATIONS STARTED.
A number of business houses have started to decorate for the Old Boys. It is none too soon for there are really only two days left, when the visitors will begin to pour in. The old union buildings will be decorated today and tomorrow. The business men should not delay putting up their decorations, and it is expected that they will be worthy of the occasion.

AN OLD BOYS' BOOKLET.
The A. Talbot Company has again published an official "Old Boys' Booklet," which every Londoner and his guests during Old Boys' week should possess. It has between its covers, one of two which by the way is adorned with a fine picture of the old union school, pictures of nearly all of the home guard, and of officers and members of Old Boys' associations, besides much interesting matter relating to former Londoners now living in other places.

LOST A TOE.
An accident which resulted in the loss of a toe to Melvin Smith, an employee of the farm, happened at the factory of the Lambie Wire Fence Company, on Bathurst street, east, this morning. Smith was adjusting a gas engine before work was commenced for the day, and in turning the wheel he stepped on his right foot against a block of wood, and in this way got the first toe jammed between a nut on the wheel and the block.

WILL NOT ACCEPT DIVISION.
The chairman of the city council finance committee, Ald. Judd, has been notified that the Seventh Ward will not accept a division of the band concert of the Victoria and Queen's Park series. The bands wanted the whole grant of $300 or none at all.
