WON AT LAST.

CHAPTER XII.

"She is engaged to Major Constable—all signed, sealed, etc."

With a stifled sort of exclamation, Yorke swung round into his chair, and sat staring straight into the fire; but he said nothing. It was true, after all, then, poor old boy—he was in love with Alice Deeping! That was the conclusion that I jumped to in one breathless second, while I waited vainly for him to speak. But he did not so much as stir; and, before I knew it, I was blundering out some awkward words of consolation and sympathy. But their effect was not at all what I anticipated. Yorke wheeled round again in his chair, took his pipe, out of his mouth, and stared at me with such a blank countenance, that I faltered and stopped involuntarily.

"What—on earth—are you driving at?" he said, separating the words for emphasis.

"Why—I—well, you see, I—" I stopped, and Yorke grinned.

"Have you got it into that head of yours, Ned Chavasse?" he questioned, with a rather uncomplimentary stress upon "that head." "That I am in love with Alice Deeping?"

"Well, I—that is, I didn't know. I thought it might be," I stammered.

"Ah, well, make your mind easy, Ned, my boy! It doesn't chance to be the case, you see."

"Well, I'm awfully glad of it," I returned, relieved.

"So am I. Constable is a lucky fellow. He has got one of the best and sweetest girls in Christendom; but I don't want to stand in his shoes for all that."

"And wouldn't if you could?" I suggested.

"Just so—and wouldn't if I could. So you see, old fellow, I don't need sympathy. Don't know what could have put such a notion into your head for my part. But you are always brimming over with fancies, Ned."

"Well, you looked queer enough when I told you!" I said in self-defense. "As to what put it into my head, Whittlesford has been marrying you and Alice any time this past six months."

"Looked queer, did I?" Yorke repeated, picking up his pipe again, and turning away for a match to light it. "Oh, I was startled for a minute! I'll go over and tender my congratulations to Miss Alice by and by, if I'm not called out."

Reduced in Flesh Sleepless Nights

Kidney Disease and Gravel Caused
Keenest Suffering—Cured by
Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver
Pills.

Mr. W. Smith.

That disease of the kidneys causes the greatest suffering is well known, and when stone or gravel is formed in the bladder the torture is almost beyond human endurance.

The disease should never be allowed to reach this dangerous stage. Pains in the small of the back, pain or smarting when passing water, frequent urination, loss of flesh and weight tell of the need of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to regulate and invigorate the kidneys and restore these organs to health.

Mr. W. Smith, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For some years I was afflicted with kidney disease and gravel in its most severe form, having often a stoppage of water, accompanied by the most dreadful agony. As the disease wore on, I became reduced in flesh and passed sleepless nights. No doctor was able to do much for me, and I used many medicines without obtaining more than temporary relief. My attention was directed to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by using this treatment the disease was eradicated from my system in less than six months. I have gained in weight, sleep, well, and feel better than I have for twenty years."

Rochester, N. Y.—"I have a daughter 13 years old who has always been very healthy until recently when she complained of dizziness and cramps every month, so bad that I would have to keep her home from school and put her to bed to get relief."

"After giving her only two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound she is now enjoying the best of health. I cannot praise your Compound too highly. I want every good mother to read what your medicine has done for my child."—Mrs. RICHARD N. DUNHAM, 311 Exchange St., Rochester, N. Y.

Stoutsville, Ohio.—"I suffered from headaches, backache and was very irregular. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of two bottles I found relief. I am only sixteen years old, but I have better health than for two or three years. I cannot express my thanks for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had taken other medicines but did not find relief."—Miss CORA B. FOSNAUGH, Stoutsville, Ohio, R.F.D., No. 1.

Hundreds of such letters from mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for their daughters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

not called out. So the rector is pleased, is he?"

"Rather!"

"And Mrs. Deeping?"

"Takes it pretty much as she would take a new set of symptoms, I think," said, recalling Alice's account of how her mother had received the news.

"I suppose so. What is the opinion of Chavasse?"

"Oh, madame is delighted! Alice is prime favorite of hers, and she likes her more than any other girl."

"Cry?" Yorke repeated.

"Yes, and snapped my head off when asked her what it was about."

"Isn't she well?" he asked, quickly and sharply.

"I suppose so," I answered, though remembering at once that I had fancied more than once of late that the little delicate dark face was less rounded than it had been, and that Nat's saucy speeches and laughter were less ready. "I think she feels the cold a good deal," I supplemented. "Never been used in Jamaica to anything like the weather we have here, you know."

Yorke nodded, apparently absorbed in his pipe. When he spoke presently, it was without looking round at me.

"Ned, that fellow at Holmeade—is he often at the Mount, now?"

"Froude, do you mean?"

"Why he is the only man there is at Holmeade, isn't he?" Yorke retorted. "Whom else should I mean? Yes, Fraser Froude—I say, is he often there?"

"Yes, pretty often—four or five times a week, I dare say."

"Oh!" With that monosyllabic, jerked out in a tone and manner very gruff and short, he fell to staring out of the dark window as he puffed, and said nothing else.

I knocked the ashes out of my pipe, and hesitated as to whether I should fill it again. I had just made up my mind that there would be time for a whiff or two more, when Yorke startled me by turning round and asking, suddenly—

"Ned, do you recollect what you once said to me about that fellow?"

"What—Froude?"

"Yes."

"Do you mean that I didn't like him? I don't."

"Pooh, no! It wasn't that. What a fellow you are, Ned! You said that something took him to Chavasse, you know."

"Took him to Chavasse?" I repeated, all at sea.

Yorke's blue eyes flashed an impatient glance at me.

"You're uncommonly dense to-day, aren't you?" he said. "Yes—took him to Chavasse. You ought to remember it if you don't."

I did remember it then in a flash, and wondered at my stupidity in not remembering it before. Of course, when the admiration of Fraser Froude for Nat had been little more than a careless suspicion, I had told Roger Yorke of it, and had in consequence aroused his incredulous astonishment and sleep. Recalling his manner then, and linking it with his manner now, I felt an uncomfortable twinge. I began to think that I did really see daylight in good earnest at last. I said, awkwardly enough—

"Oh, ah, yes! I remember now."

"I thought it nonsense then," Yorke said in a restless unhappy voice, again looking at the fire; "I thought if a fancy of yours, which perhaps even you yourself hardly believed in. But I don't know now. What do you think?"

"Why, I think as I thought then," I answered, promptly and plainly.

"That he goes as Natalie Ormes' suitor?"

"Her would-be-one, at any rate; madame has begun to see it lately, I fancy."

"And she permits it?"

"How can she help it? He has said nothing. She can't well turn the man out."

"Then can't you?" cried Yorke, turning upon me with a suddenness which made me jump. "After all, you are the master of the Mount, to all intents and purposes. Haven't you influence enough to keep that fellow out of it?"

"Why, I can't kick down the steps, I suppose?" I retorted, a little injured. "It's more than you'd do yourself."

"Is it, by Jove! I know that one of these days I shall send those blessed phibing teeth of his down his con-founded throat. The mere thought—"

"ah! There—hang it all!"—and, with something like a half-checked groan, he got up, and, going over to the window, stood there with his back to me, looking out.

I sat quite still, saying nothing at all. There was no mistake about it. Roger was hit, poor old fellow, and, judging from the symptoms, rather badly! I wondered that I had not had the sense to see it all plainly long before this; no doubt I should but for saving my wits muddled by that mistaken notion about Alice Deeping.

Low things were on another tack, drifting, the Fates only knew whither. And what on earth would madame say? This last consideration was enough to chain my tongue without any of the attendant perplexities. Presently Roger gave a half laugh.

"Nothing like being a big fool while you are about it, is there?"

"What shall you do?" I asked. Of course I understood him, and he knew it. There was no need to waste time in explanations.

"Make the best of it—what else?"

"Well, but look here, Roger," I remonstrated—"I don't see really why you need talk about it in that matter-of-course hopeless way, you know."

"Do you pretend to think that it is anything but hopeless then?" he retorted.

"Well, no—I did not; and I could not say that I did. I knew pretty well what madame would say to it, in the first place; and, in the second, I did not believe that Miss Nat cared any more for Yorke than she did for Fraser Froude, and I had long since come to the conclusion that, if the

Household Economy

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take two cups of granulated sugar, add one cup of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly. Any housewife can easily prepare it in five minutes.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualacol and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this recipe, if the genuine Pinex is used. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you, if you ask him. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

master of Holmeade came to Chavasse from then until doomsday, he would merely have his labor for his pains. And then there was Nat's ten thousand pounds, while Roger had nothing but what he could make; and he, poor old chap, was head over ears in love with her. Altogether it seemed a pretty complication. I looked at the fire dubiously.

"Well, at any rate, old man," I said, at last, "she doesn't care a rap for him, you know."

"Nor for me."

No. There we were again! I could not offer consolation on that point, since my conviction was that Nat was no more in love with this luckless lover of hers than she was with the man in the moon or old Dizarte himself. Perforce I was silent again, until Yorke said, still without looking round, and with his strong brown hands linked behind him—

"Well, Ned, although you haven't called me a fool, I've no doubt you think me one. I don't wonder—it's my own opinion. Thanks for your sympathy, my boy, for I know you feel it; but, at the same time, don't bother yourself about me. I didn't mean you to know it; but for the moment I was off my guard. However, since you do know it, remember that your knowledge makes no difference—I mean it makes it no harder for me. I have always known how it would be, and should have been a worse idiot than I am if I had expected that she would ever care for me."

Tell Him So.

If you have a word of cheer
That might light the pathway drear
Of a brother pilgrim here,
Let him know.

Show him you appreciate
What he does, and do not wait
Till the heavy hand of Fate
Lays him low.

If your heart contains a thought
That will brighter make his lot
Then, in mercy, hide it not;
Tell him so.

Bide not till the end of all
Carries him beyond recall.
When beside his sable pall,
To avow

Your affection and acclaim
To do honor to his name
And to place the wreath of fame
On his brow:

Rather speak to him to-day,
For the things you have to say
May assist him on his way;
Tell him now.

Life is hard enough at best,
But the love that is expressed
Makes it seem a pathway blest
To our feet.

And the troubles that we share
Seem the easier to bear,
Smile upon your neighbor's care
As you greet.

Rough and stony are our ways
Dark and deary are our days,
But another's love and praise
Make them sweet.

Master of Draghounds

Mr. A. W. Perkin, who is known in Middlesex as the "Squire of Greenford," has just retired after being Master of the Greenford Draghounds for a quarter of a century. Drag-hunting, as described by Mr. Perkin, is a fascinating sport, and it is surprising that it does not become more popular.

"I formed the Greenford Draghounds in 1885, and it was limited to twenty-five members, most of whom were Middlesex farmers. We used to meet weekly, and hunted through the Harrow, Hendon, Beaconsfield, and Slough districts. In addition to this we held once a year a Point-to-Point meeting at my place at Greenford Green."

"We don't hunt animals, but a man with an aimless bag strapped on his horse. We give him a fair start, and then chase him for all we are worth. If we are successful in hunting him down we give the hounds some horse-flesh to tear to pieces. The sport is a magnificent one, and in many ways better than foxhunting because there is no possibility of not having any thing to hunt."

Merry Moments.

HE SCORED.
Brown and Smith were two rival butchers. Each tried to score off the other. Brown put up a notice in his shop window: "Best sausages—only 5d. per lb." Smith immediately proclaimed: "Best sausages—only 7d. per lb." The first "Purveyor of Meat" determined not to be outwitted by his cunning rival, so put up a notice which ran: "Best sausages—only 6d. per lb. Sold to the King." In hopes of thus outdoing his rival. But he was mistaken, for the next day there appeared in Smith's window the words: "God Save the King."

THE INFIDEL.
When Major Roberts was in command in India he paraded his force the first Sunday they were in the fort for Church service. Having only a Church of England chaplain the Major desired all the Roman Catholics to fall out, as he had no priest to attend to them.

On the next Sunday a number of men, in the hope of also being ordered out with the Catholics, handed in their names as infidels.
The Major gave the word of command: "Infidels, fall out!"
Whereupon some twenty of them fell out. The Major called again, thus:
"Infidels, attention! As you have no religious scruples, you don't mind doing duty on Sundays, so clean up the yard around."

HIS OCCUPATION.
Willie was a smart boy, and ambitious. His first job was in a local bank.
"Well, Willie," asked the minister one day, "how are you getting on in business? I suppose you will soon be manager of the bank?"
"Yes, sir," replied Willie. "I'm already a draught clerk."

"A draught clerk! Goodboy. And what are your duties?"
"I open and shut the windows according to orders," said Willie, "and close the doors after people who leave 'em open."

Obituary.

MR. H. HAYWARD.

We chronicle to-day with deep regret the very sudden demise of Mr. Herbert Hayward, who passed over to the Great Beyond last evening at the residence of his mother, on Queen's Road. Deceased was in his 38th year, and son of the late Mr. A. O. Hayward, K.C. "Herb" Hayward was well known here and abroad. He was a prominent athlete and one of the best cricketers ever came to the country. He was also a lover of music and had a reputation as a vocalist. Deceased had been residing the past few years at Grand Falls where he contracted a heavy cold. He rallied this ailment but the recovery was only temporary as he subsequently developed hemorrhage of the lungs. Yesterday he was feeling exceptionally well at his home and during the evening was served with a cup of cocoa by his mother. After partaking of this he was seized with a hemorrhage, death following. A mother, sister and brother—Waring Hayward, the well known football player, who is now at Vancouver—are left to mourn besides a large circle of relatives and friends and to all of whom general and sincere sympathy will be expressed in which the Telegram joins.

WILLIAM KENNEY.

The death occurred this morning, after a short illness, of a well known and esteemed young man in the person of Mr. William Kenney, draper, of Hamilton Street. Mr. Kenney for many years was employed in the dry goods store of Hon. John Anderson and was well liked by his employer and fellow employees. His father and several brothers survive him to whom the Telegram tenders its sympathy.

MRS. BYRNE.

The death occurred at Torbay, on Sunday last, of a well known and respected resident of the place, Mrs. Bridget Byrne. The deceased who was 78 years of age was stricken suddenly with paralysis and lived but 12 hours after. She had been previously in the best of health and spirits. Mrs. Byrne who was a good, kindly and charitable woman is survived by 5 sons, (one of whom is Detective Sergt. John Byrne, of the Police Force) and one daughter, Mrs. Field, of Torbay. Her husband predeceased her by 16 years. Her mother is the venerable Mrs. John McGuire, of Torbay, who is now 100 years old and is still enjoying good health. The funeral of the deceased took place yesterday and was attended by a concourse of people from all the eastern settlements and the city. Rev. Fr. St. John officiated at the Church and in the R. C. Cemetery where interment took place. To the bereaved family the Telegram extends its condolence.

Adventure Here.

The S. S. Adventure, Capt. Couch, arrived this morning from Harbour Grace where she brought a cargo of coal from Sydney and is now at the dry dock pier undergoing repairs. After leaving here a fortnight ago for Sydney the Adventure had a fearful time of it. A succession of hurricanes were encountered and the steamer's decks were constantly awash by the seas. She shipped several huge combers which smashed the cabin doors and did other damage to deck fittings. As soon as repairs are effected the Adventure will proceed to Sydney again and bring a cargo of coal here to A. Harvey & Co.

REPAIRED AT PERNAMBUCO.—Complete repairs to the barque Laks Simcoe which had such a trying passage to Pernambuco, will be made at that port before returning to St. John's.

Trust

A picture memory brings to me—
I look across the years and see
Myself beside my mother's knee.

I feel her gentle hand restrain
My selfish moods and know again
A child's blind sense of wrong and pain.

But wiser now, a man gray grown,
My childhood's needs are better known,
My mother's chastening love I own.

Gray grown, but in our Father's sight
A child still groping for the light,
To read his works and ways aright.

I bow myself beneath his hand;
That pain itself for good was planned
I trust, but cannot understand.

I fondly dream it needs, must be,
That, as my mother dealt with me,
So with his children dealth he.

I wait and trust the end will prove
That here and there, below, above,
The chastening heals, the pain is love!

The F.P.U. Triumphant

AT BAY ROBERTS.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—January 17th, 1913, will be a day long remembered at Bay Roberts for more reasons than one, the most notable of which being the triumphant entry of the President of the F. P. U. and the establishing of a Local Council.

To begin with Providence sent us a beautiful day, in fact it was summer weather, and consequently all that could be desired for a parade. About 2 p.m. nearly 200 sympathizers and Union men started from here to meet the President and Dr. Lloyd who were leaving Port-de-Grave at about the same time, headed by the members of Clarke's Beach and Port-de-Grave Councils. About half way the two parades met, where for minutes the hills resounded with the cheering and firing of guns. They now all formed ranks and proceeded to Bay Roberts where flags were flying everywhere and the firing of guns deafening. The streets being lined with thousands of people, such crowds never before being seen here. But now we come to a point, for which every Bay Roberts man who took a part ought to feel like sinking through the ground with shame, for such men, if we can call them such are not worthy to bear the name of British subjects.

All through the town the ranks of the Union were constantly being swelled, which by the time the Cross Roads were reached must have numbered about six hundred, and just at this junction our stepped four or five ruffians (we can't call them men) who were the leaders of a mob, and tried to stop the progress of the procession. The first thing they did, and oh the shame and clamour of it was to snatch the British Ensign, tear down the flag, wrangle the flag underfoot. Just think of it, you, a moment, Union men and fellow citizens; in the first place to try and stop a procession of men, loyal British subjects to the backbone, and then to trample on and disgrace the British Ensign. What ought to be done with such men? The fate of Napoleon on the Island of St. Helena wouldn't be half punishment enough; but no they will get their deserts. The blood of those Britishers were stirred, and this took the place of words in retaliation and those scoundrels got a thrashing they will never forget. Every man in the procession would have given them even if it meant death to each man.

They marched on triumphant, and after parading as far as the Church Hill turned and marched back again and woe betide the man who had the face to interfere.

We believe that the Morris and Piccott feelers are solely to blame for the whole trouble, and will have to answer to the people for their insult.

In the night a meeting was held in Victoria Hall, where some of the same "toughs" were present and who attempted to stop the President from speaking, the chief interrupter, being a man named Mercer, who is the mail carrier here and consequently a servant of the public. These are the men who try to make trouble, for each of them gets something from the Government in one way or another, and are doing their best to down the Union. What a surprise they got and to-day are sadder but we can't say wiser men, for its hard to "knock sense into them."

There were about 1,000 people present, and after the President got silence he gave for two hours a splendid address on the Union from its start to the present time. The enthusiasm all through being unbounded. After he was finished Dr. Lloyd was then called and gave a short address on the principles of Unionism, after which he was cheered to the echo.

The hall was now cleared and a Local Council formed, 117 members joining, and there is now about 100 more waiting to join as soon as they can.

Mr. Coaker had the greatest reception ever given a man in Bay Roberts, and no doubt it must have encouraged him in his great work. On his departure for Western Bay hundreds of Union men and sympathizers gathered at the station to wish him good bye, where the send-off was magnificent. A great hearing was also given to the speeches of President Coaker and Dr. Lloyd and the applause was mighty. Morris supporters must have shivered in their shoes to see such a determined crowd of men and the actions on the 17th of some of his supporters killed what chance he might have had in this district for it made every man against him more determined and added scores to the F.P.U.

Three cheers for the President, and may he visit us again in the near future is the wish of all his supporters and admirers here.

No Welcome for People's Party.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Please allow me space in your paper to make a few remarks about the telegraph office that we were promised when the People's Party would get to power. But it is like everything else that they were going to do. They put the telegraph office on the north side of Salmonier, and it would not be much more to come to North Harbor, but we suppose they would not get wire enough to come over there. We don't know what is the reason they don't come here and give us a way to get our freight landed home, so as not to lose it. We don't know the reason, when you would put your freight in the freight shed in St. John's and pay for them that they are landed there. Some men from North Harbor lost half their winter's grub and got no account of it. Yet we don't know how the mistake occurred. We expect great things from the F. P. U. next fall. We are not expecting the People's Party to come here any more. They could not expect they would be welcome.

Yours truly,

Address of Welcome.

To President Coaker and Dr. Lloyd On the Occasion of Their Visit to Port de Grave January 16th, 1913.

We, the members of Port de Grave Council of the Fishermen's Protective Union of Newfoundland, welcome to our midst our noble President, Mr. F. Coaker, and our esteemed friend, Doctor Lloyd, whom we believe to be a great helper and co-worker in Unionism with our President.

We also extend a hearty welcome to our friends from Brigus, Cupids, Clark's Beach and Barened, and do earnestly pray that all will be found standing shoulder to shoulder in upholding our President in the great work he is carrying on in our behalf, fighting for our rights and privileges that we and our fathers have been deprived of in the past by those who had and are having the rule over us. We further pray that Divine power be given you to stand firm against your enemies and be proof against all their slanderous darts.

Again, Mr. President, we affirm our loyalty to you, and also assure you that we will stand as one by the Candidate of our choice to be our representative for the next four years. We heart and one mind remembering that:

"United we stand,
Divided we fall."

Open Season for Men's Bargains.

If you expected to buy a certain house next fall, and you could get it for $500 less money now, and you had the price in your pocket, you wouldn't say to yourself:

"I really don't need a house until next fall so I guess I'll wait and pay the extra $500."

If you did many things like that your friends would get you a little one-roomed house with soft walls.

Yet that is exactly what nearly every man does with his personal purchases.

He knows that he can get a good winter suit or overcoat at from $10 to $20 less than he will have to pay next October. He knows he is going to need a winter overcoat next October. He also knows that he can earn about 6,000 per cent. on the money he will have to spend in getting it now.

And yet he waits.

Verily man is the best waiter in the world. You have to freeze his fingers before he will buy a pair of gloves; he's got to sneeze his head off before he will get an overcoat, and by the way he buys his shoes you would imagine that shoes were going entirely out of style and that bare feet were going to be worn exclusively next fall.

If the average man made his business expenditures the way he makes his personal expenditures his wife would not only be taking in washing, but she would be delivering it on her shoulders.

Now for the sake of common respect which we owe to the loss of our tails let us use a little ordinary sense in our personal purchases this winter.

We have had a mild season up to date. Nearly every store is overstocked with merchandise and every store that advertises is selling that merchandise at prices so low it seems a shame to take advantage of them.

Shoes are not good to eat, therefore they have got to be sold. A clothing merchant with a thousand too many overcoats can't wear them. Therefore he has got to make you wear them; and if he can't persuade you at one price he has got to try another.

Indeed the advertising in this paper is so filled with good bargains that if you don't take advantage of them now, somebody ought to take that high cost of living you have been talking about and make it double.

Let us go out and buy some of this good warm merchandise now, just as if we were going to have winter again next year. Let us stretch our common sense to the breaking point. Let us make the chimpanzee ashamed of himself.

By Authority.

His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to appoint Messrs. John H. Bennett, John B. Martin, Charles F. Taylor, Peter Quigley, William Rees, John G. Stewart, Andrew Murphy, John T. CHAPTER III.

"It was about mid-day when we arrived, and of course all was excitement and hustle and bustle. It was somewhere late in April, and preparations for the fishery were being made and our ship having on board a full cargo of supplies, and having the apprentices for the voyage, there was not a moment to be lost in beginning operations. Soon after being anchored, boats came from the shore, and before sunset our good ship was hauled in to the wharf and the passengers landed. We felt a twinge of sorrow at leaving the good ship, for during our three weeks on board the most and apprentices had come to know each other; and while there was more or less of sickness and a knockabout life, yet there was much in it, that of looking back upon, had pleasant memories and advantages. There were the sombre and the gay, the witty and the wise; there were the weak and the strong. Some who were coming to go back, and some who were not going back; some who would be true and some who would be false; some who would finish their apprenticeship and go back to be paid off at the office in London, and then return to their village homes, and tell their experiences and enjoy their hard earned money.

"Among those who did not return, was one, I did not return because I forsook the service, and therefore was a deserter. I forfeited all my clothes and wages, and travelled to a distant part of the Bay, where I eventually made my home, and where I was never disturbed. Life at Mr. Breton was certainly hard; not that the firm & Newman was hard; or not that there was anything unfair or unjust; but it was the way, and the custom of the times. It was English rule, and it was carried out to the letter of the law. We had good houses to live in which were known as "cook-rooms." We had plenty of good roasting food and had our Sundays off. The bearing regularly at early morning, and regularly at meal times.

"The bell is still standing the sounded for so many long years, it call the men to their work and back them cease. It was fastened in a rock, swinging in an iron frame, secured by molten lead. No doubt things still for some purpose, but under much different and better conditions. The principal use of the bell was for meals, because it cannot be said that there were regular hours for beginning and leaving off of work. It was a matter of catching and drying codfish, and loading vessels and unloading; and doing it all to make the best out of the conditions at hand. These conditions were varied. There was the weather, and there was the indraft of the harbor, and there was the uncertain chances of getting in and getting out; for at that time there was no tow-boat, but some years afterward the s.s. Greyhound was put in commission, and the work of getting in and out of port was very much easier.

"To meet these conditions there had to be a great deal of driving, a great deal of hustling, and sometimes not a little tyranny. No doubt the foremen and masters did their best, but being men of narrow vision, they only looked upon the apprentices and shipped men as so much chattel, they seemed not to have stopped to consider that they had rights, that they were human, that they were men, and that they were British. The average day's toll for the season would certainly be sixteen hours. From three and four and five in the morning, until seven and eight and dark in the evening, was the task which daily confronted us; but while it was very trying to the body, it had one very great advantage, which no doubt saved the situation; it was that we, all were hearty and strong, and had raving appetites, and that whatever hours of sleep we got, we all slept like a top, nor budged till dawning the familiar bell sounded upon our ears, and we rose with the dawn.

"To write all the history of even one season at Mr. Breton, as it was half a century ago (1840), would require a book, and a large one at that. Of the scores and hundreds of apprentices that came out to Mr. Breton in the first half of the nineteenth century, the majority of them returned to England. In every batch there were delinquents and weak ones, and deserters, and some of the smaller places around Fortune Bay which were now settlements, were first inhabited by those young English chaps, who, signing under the terms of apprenticeship, left their work and broke their indentures, and travelling by water or by land, made a dash for freedom, and what they called fair play. My own story is similar to scores of others, but as I have said, with the end of the chapter in view, I have found the way of contentment and peace."

Women Still Are Praising Them

MRS. GEO. BUTLER TELLS WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR HER.

She was tired, nervous and run down, and suffered from pains in the back. —Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

Paquetville, Gloucester Co., N.B., Jan. 22. (Special)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills are suffering woman's best friend was never better demonstrated than in the case of Mrs. Geo. Butler, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place.

"My trouble was brought on by hard work," Mrs. Butler tells her friends. "For four years I suffered from pain in the back. I was always tired and nervous. My head ached and I had dark circles under my eyes which were also puffed and swollen.

"I was in a generally run-down condition and feeling very much discouraged when I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I can only say I found relief at once."

The maiming of woman's health is the kidneys. If the kidneys are right the blood will be pure. Pure blood is absolutely essential to good health. Dodd's Kidney Pills make the kidneys right.

S. W. A. Random Complains, Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Mr. Editor,—I wish to bring under the notice of the Government how the Relieving Officer at Fox Harbour keeps us so long without our money. It should be sent to us when the time is expired, every quarter, not to spend days and days waiting and then have to call and take it in truck. I think it's high time to abolish the truck system, and a selling man should not be a Relieving Officer.

Thackeray at Oxford.

A Jolt to the Author's Fame and an Awful Libel on Punch.

The ignorance of the scholar concerning what is going on in the world around him is proverbial. But a story of Thackeray's own telling gives an astonishing instance of "clever ignorance" at Oxford in the last century. Thackeray, it seems, was to lecture at Oxford and, according to custom, had first to get the vice-chancellor's license to do so. This is the conversation that occurred, as the novelist reported it:

Vice-Chancellor—Pray, sir, what can I do for you?

Thackeray—My name is Thackeray. Vice-Chancellor—So I see by this card.

Thackeray—I seek permission to lecture within your precincts.

Vice-Chancellor—Ah! You are a lecturer. What subjects do you undertake, religious or political?

Thackeray—Neither. I am a literary man.

Vice-Chancellor—Have you written anything?

Thackeray—Yes; I am the author of "Vanity Fair."

Vice-Chancellor—I presume a dissector. Has that anything to do with John Bunyan's book?

Thackeray—Not exactly. I have also written "Pendennis."

Vice-Chancellor—Never heard of these works, but no doubt they are proper books.

Thackeray—I have also contributed to Punch.

Vice-Chancellor—Punch? I have heard of that. Is it not a ribald publication?

The Dairy Maids.

There is a great show at Rossley's Theatre, where a lot of the city girls take part and it's wonderful to see those youths perform in such a short time. Mrs. Rossley was engaged some years ago in England preparing ladies and children for pantomime and it shows the care and patience bestowed on them to bring them to such a state of perfection. She is now having an electrical apparatus built and is preparing a Butterfly Dance for the tiny tots, that promises to be a most ingenious and beautiful sight. Jack stages the whole pantomime and those performances bring a laugh to many a tired man and woman after a day's work, that cheers them up and does them good, besides giving employment to a lot of our local people. They have crowded houses nightly and they deserve it.—Cont.

Evening Telegram To-Day's News.

W. J. HERDER, - - Proprietor
W. F. LLOYD, - - - Editor

THURSDAY, January 23, 1913.

Notes and Comments.

Wonderful! Wonderful!

So wrote a Bay Roberts business man on Monday to a friend in St. John's, who brought the letter to us.

In reference to the reports, he writes: "The statement in the Daily News to-day is false. Lloyd's and Coaker's statements are true. The F. P. U. is holding its first meeting in Capt. W. Dawe's shop. They expect to enroll 50, perhaps more, tonight. . . . The Port de Grave men bought up all the Guardians they could and burnt them with tar barrels on the hills and fired guns on Saturday night."

Another correspondent writes to the same friend, in part, as follows: Well, I know that you want to hear about the reception that Coaker and Lloyd got at Bay Roberts. I am sure it would have done you good to be there. On Friday afternoon the people formed in procession at French's Cove, with Uncle Pender at their head, with the F. P. U. flag, and marched up through Bay Roberts with guns firing and cheering. They proceeded towards Barened, until they got to Black Duck Beach, where they stopped until the P. D. G. men with President Coaker and Dr. Lloyd came up, where cheer after cheer rent the air and many guns were fired. I tell you it was O. K. We came to Bay Roberts, increasing in numbers as we came along, until I think we must have numbered over a thousand people, cheering and firing guns all along, when we came in front of Piccott's house, where a mob was waiting to stop us. They were a few of Piccott blackguards filled up with whiskey. They did try to stop the procession. They tore the ensign from the man carrying it and trampled it under foot, and also the F. P. U. flag. They had a few knocks at one another. No one was hurt. But we got President Coaker through all the same and marched in triumph down through Bay Roberts as far as Beachy Cove and back again to Klondyke bridge.

Well, sir, the meeting in the Lodge was something wonderful. There was never as many in it since it was built. It was packed, and nearly enough to fill it up again outside. The rowdiness and opposition of the Piccott band of heeleders were the best things in one respect that could happen. I believe it turned hundreds from Tories to Liberals and Union men. . . . They used to say that Bond's day is done, but the boot is on the other foot, and I feel sure that we can say that Morris's day is done. I am stating facts as far as I can hear and judge, and I sound up the people pretty good.

Another correspondent writes to tell us that in addition to the 70 men who joined on Monday night at Bay Roberts, making the roll 185, there were 60 others who were by the door but could not be admitted for lack of room. Soon, however, the local lodge hopes to have a room hired big enough to take them.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
CURES ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
GRAVEL, RHEUMATISM, BRONCHITIS, DIABETES, BACILLARIAE, CALCULI, NEURALGIA, MIGRAINE, HEADACHE, AND ALL AFFECTIONS OF THE URINARY TRACT.

Special Evening Telegram. HALIFAX, To-day. The schr. Shamrock, which arrived from the herring fishery at Bay of Islands, reports the loss of Thomas Murley, one of the crew, who was washed overboard. He belonged to Bay of Islands.

Special Evening Telegram. WASHINGTON, To-day. Advocates of the free passage of American ships through the Panama Canal, have marshalled their forces in the Senate to combat the favorable action upon the Root amendment, providing for repeal of American exemption provisions. The determination of Chairman Brandegee to call a meeting to consider the Root amendment, aroused the friends of the free passage provision to a united fight against any modification of law passed last August. Senator Root's speech yesterday is to be replied to by Senator Norman, of New York, and Senator Newlands, of Nevada, and others who claimed for the States full authority under its treaties to give free passage to American coastwise traffic.

Special Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, To-day. A London cable says, the influence of the opening of the Panama Canal on the British Indian trade is indicated by a statement of the Colonial Secretary in the Commons yesterday. Replying to a question as to what preparations are being made by the British West Indian Islands to cope with expected development of shipping in Caribbean, consequent upon the opening of Canal, particularly at Kingstons, Jamaica, where better coaling, docking and repairing facilities are advisable, the Secretary said he had been informed that a Canadian syndicate was negotiating with the Jamaican Government with a view to the provision of such facilities and harbor improvement schemes. Other plans including Trinidad are under consideration. Proposals have been made for the establishment of an oil storage stations at Barbados and St. Lucia.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Jan. 23. For a disinfectant that can be used for all purposes for which such a preparation is needed, as well as a good antiseptic wash for general purposes, we know of nothing which comes up to Cook's Cofectant. A thirty-five cent tin of this makes twenty gallons of good strong disinfecting fluid suitable for cleansing purposes and to destroy filth and germs of all kinds. Non-poisonous and non-injurious in use. Price 35c. a tin. Cantharidine Hair Tonic cleanses the scalp of every particle of dandruff, strengthens the growth of hair and preserves its color. As a dressing, too, it is of great service. Price 25 and 50c. a bottle.

The Wilhelmina.

Yesterday the dry dock was flooded and the water was raised 7 feet above the tanks of the S. S. Wilhelmina to give a top pressure. When the tanks had later been filled the water was quiring no caulkings or after-work of taken on the ship's hull. This proved to be most satisfactory. The job on the ship being very successful and requiring no caulking or after-work of any kind. The ship is now under her own steam and the winches, engines, etc., run without trouble. She will come off dry dock to-morrow to get some other repairs about the decks, etc., at the dock premises. We hear the ship has been chartered to run from New York to the West Indies with freight. The owners are very pleased with the work done by the Reid Nda. Co.

Masonic Life Insurance

In the Temple on Tuesday night the annual report of the Masonic Insurance Association was read to its members. It was as follows:—

REPORT. To the Members of the St. John's Masonic Mutual Life Insurance Association.

Brethren.—

Your Directors now present to you their 32nd Annual Report. We regret to say that during the past year we have to record the demise of six brethren, viz. Robert Robson, James Eales, John L'Arrie, George Hiscock, Randolph D. Popp, and William Irving. The regular assessments have been made, collected, and paid, in accordance with the Rules of the Association, with Bonus, as passed at the last annual meeting.

Twenty-six members have joined the Association during the past year. The Treasurer's account have been audited by Brothers Valentine and Stevenson. They are now submitted for your inspection. After paying death claims and current expenditure there is a balance on hand and invested of $4,281.37. The accounts show the Association to be in good financial condition.

The Directors are pleased to say, their recommendations to the Lodges to appoint committees, etc., have resulted in many members uniting themselves with this truly Masonic benefit during the past year.

We still urge all members of the craft to join us, so that they may be able to say, we have done some good for those who have been bereft of their bread winners.

In accordance with the bye-laws, the following Directors retire this year: Levi Diamond, John Jeans, Philip Brown, and Geo. R. Williams, who are all eligible for re-election. Respectfully submitted,

LEVI DIAMOND, President.

JOHN JEANS, Secretary.

The above retiring all were re-elected. The Directorate now consist of Levi Diamond, President; John Cowan, Vice-President; A. K. Lumsden, Treasurer; and John Jeans, Secretary; S. G. Celler, Philip Brown, W. N. Gray, Jas. H. Thomas, James McIntyre, John W. Taylor, Geo. R. Williams, G. W. Gushue, Tasker R. Cook.

Portia Back.

The S. S. Portia, Capt. J. Kean, arrived back from western ports yesterday afternoon. The entire trip occupied twenty days and was beset with storms. Leaving here on January 3rd, the steamer experienced continuous bad weather and did not reach Bonne Bay, at Bonaventure, until eight days later. At Bonne Bay fierce weather prevailed and for a while the work of unloading freight had to be suspended. The mercury stood at zero, accompanied by a strong gale of wind from the north. She left there on the night of the 13th for Channel where she landed herring for the fishermen there. The steamer then proceeded to Sydney and had her bunkers filled. Returning eastward the weather was more favourable. The Portia brought a large freight and its passengers:— J. McCormack, G. Devereaux, Const. T. Lynch, J. Power, J. Brophy, J. J. O'Brien, L. Cashin, D. Condon, T. Budcock, J. Devereaux, Mesdames Sutton and Chafe, and Misses Myrick, Lawlor and O'Leary (2) with 38 in steerage.

The Imperial Life's Record.

A perfectly sound and consistent progress characterizes The Imperial Life in every feature of its year's business. The statement covering the past year's operations, which appears in another column, demonstrates its opportunities and made secure its establishment by careful and efficient management, and it is claiming a big share of attention from the insuring public. The fact that the Imperial Life has now 95 p.c. of its total assurance in force valued on a 3 p.c. basis, justifies the claim it has always made of providing absolute security to policyholders, and provides an expression of the ideals in the minds of the Directors which were to place the reserves of the Company upon an indisputably sound basis. Combined with the "factor of safety" which this Company maintains is a high productivity, the average rate of interest earned on its interest-bearing assets being 6.38 p.c. After providing special reserves and paying profits and dividends, there was added to the policyholders' surplus a net amount of $162,862.23, making the net surplus on policyholders' account now amount to $944,412.77.

Mr. Alexander Laird, General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has been added to the Board of Directors. His vast experience in financial affairs is an added source of strength to the company.

Gallant Rescue of Seamen.

Special to The Evening Telegram. LIVERPOOL, To-day. The British steamer 'Ulstermore', from Baltimore on January 9th for Baltimore, is a wreck in the River Mersey. She ran aground and refused assistance from lifeboat. A heavy gale blew up with high seas and the vessel bumped badly. The captain ordered the crew to jettison cargo. While this was in progress the steamer broke in two and heeled over. With decks awash the crew scrambled on the bridge, from which perilous position they were rescued by a steam pilot cutter in a blinding snow storm.

The Police Court.

A drunk and disorderly was fined $2 or 7 days. A drunk was discharged. A drunk and disorderly in his sister's house was ordered to find two sureties in $25 each or in default 30 days. A drunk was released on payment of cash hire. A drunk and disorderly in his own house was ordered to find two sureties in $25 each or in default 30 days. A charge against a citizen of a breach of the Municipal Regulations, was withdrawn. An assault case was postponed till Monday. A case of lewd and abusive language was dismissed. Three men were summoned for loose and disorderly conduct two had to pay costs, the charge against the other was dismissed. Two boys were up for loose and disorderly conduct, and were fined $1 each. A young man was charged with attempting to enter a house with intent to steal, he was remanded for 8 days.

Burglar at Work.

A burglar of a daring character has been at work in the city the past few nights and we learn forced his way into several stores, ransacked them and got off with considerable booty. Last night he was more than ordinarily bold and forced his way into the stores of Messrs. P. F. Collins and P. Laracy on Water Street. In each place he got off with considerable sums of money. The fellow evidently watched closely the movements of the police night watch, and when they were off this part of the beat executed his nefarious task expeditiously and quietly. Rumor has it that he also visited other parts of the city and that he secured considerable booty and money in these places also.

At their meeting to-day the ambassadors scarcely touched the question of the frontiers of Albania. The Turkish losses in the battle with the Greek fleet off the Dardanelles on January 18th, totalled 4 officers and 36 men killed and 157 wounded. In the course of the fight a Greek shell exploded inside one of the turrets of a Turkish battleship, killing and wounding every man in it, and disabling both 11-inch guns. Severe damage was also inflicted by the Greek projectiles on the battleship Assar Tewnik. The Turkish gunners declared that they inflicted important losses on the Greeks.

LONDON, Jan. 22.
It is reported that Sir Edward Grey will resign if his amendment, in favor of Woman Suffrage is defeated on Friday. The Commons are divided into four groups on the question. The first opposes woman suffrage absolutely; the second supports it unreservedly; the third supports it in a limited degree, and the fourth follows a remoter Asquith's lead in any direction. The defeat of the amendment would cause the least embarrassment to the Government. If Grey carries out his alleged threat to vote against the third reading if his amendment is rejected, a Cabinet crisis is probable as it is probable that Lloyd George, John Burns, Augustine Birrell, Sir Rufus Isaacs and others will follow him. Meanwhile the campaign is growing more furious. Paid canvassers in the outer lobby are supplementing the efforts of members within. Within the recollection of the oldest Parliamentarians there has never been such activity as now prevails at Westminster.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 22.
The question submitted by the Turkish Government to the Grand Council, was—Shall the recommendations contained in the note of the European Powers be accepted or rejected? The Government frankly expressed itself in favor of acceptance, and after slight discussion the Assembly decided thus almost unanimously. To-morrow about noon, the Marquis Johann de Pallavicini, Austro-Hungarian Ambassador and dean of the Diplomatic Corps, here, will be handed a note of acceptance. With regard to Adrianople and the Aegean Islands Turkey places herself in the hands of the Powers. A meeting of the Council of Ministers will be held to-morrow morning, before the final step is taken.

LONDON, Jan. 22.
The Balkan plenipotentiaries are pleased at the decision of the Grand Council. Whilst it had become evident that the elder statesmen had prepared themselves to face the inevitable and end the Turkish Empire as a European nation, so quick a decision was not expected; because unlike customary Turkish tactics, and there was a suspicion that Turkey had still something up her sleeve. One point of difference remains to be settled, the question of indemnity. The Allies speak of $200,000,000. Their minimum is an amount equal to the Turkish debts attached to the territories to be annexed. The Turks are likely to contest the indemnity strongly, and the bankrupting of their country will form a potent argument in the appeal to the Powers. Preliminaries will take considerable time, and it will be some weeks before the treaty is signed.

What I Saw at Devine's Great Change of Business Sale.

(By a Spectator.)

January month is not generally supposed to be a busy month along Water Street—nor is it now if we make one or two exceptions.

For all that, last week was certainly an interesting time at Devine's. Walking down town in the early part of the week I was surprised to notice crowds of people flocking at express rate to Devine's Great Change of Business Sale, and it awakened my curiosity so much I had to go in and see what it was all about.

WHAT I SAW.

The first sight that greets the shopper as he or she enters is a large sign which says that a "Genuine Sale is now in force." Piled high, piece upon piece, on a side counter, is an enormous bulk of Flannelette, perhaps in all some three or four hundred pieces—in Pink, Cream, White and Striped effects—splendid quality goods at from 7c. per yard up; and no doubt for anyone who wants Flannelette it is a great time to get it cheap.

On a large table in the centre of the store, around which an eager array of lady shoppers clustered, some marvellous bargains of Dress Goods Ends were being offered, and were going at what seemed to me very low prices indeed.

But the great attraction was the Whitewear section, where hundreds of dainty Children's Dresses, Corset Covers, 50c. Blouses, Princess Skirts, Embroideries, etc., were displayed.

Moving a little farther on towards the centre of the store, Boys' Suits and Overcoats are on sale, and are reduced down to cost in price to clear all out. These goods are great value, and whoever gets them no doubt will get a bargain. They seem to be going fast.

Of course, as a man, what interested me most was men's apparel, for I wanted a good Suit at a low price. In these days, when the cost of living is so high, I find that it is too much of a grind to be giving $20.00 to $25.00 for tailor-made suits, so I thought of an American Cut Readymade. I was not disappointed, for here to my heart's delight were dozens of up-to-date Readymade American Cut Suits at half price. My purchase at $10.00 filled the bill and fitted me in every respect as well as suits I had been in the habit of paying $20.00 for.

Another great bargain is the Blankets, and no doubt shrewd housekeepers are not slow in taking advantage of the good value offering.

THE HELP.

This feature struck me very forcibly. As I entered it was not difficult to see that this well trained staff are ever on the alert to give courtesy and attention to every customer, whether he is a man with a million or a man with a dollar. They spare no pains in showing one through the whole stock and pointing out the bargains in every department. One feels at home and no way embarrassed when looking for any article.

THE STORE.

Particularly pleasing is the fact that all the goods are displayed on the first floor. There are no steep stairways to mount, consequently there is no getting out of breath following sales' help around. Everything is completely ordered for the customer's convenience.

THE CROWD.

All the week immense crowds thronged this busy centre, and as the days went on the numbers seemed to swell, until Saturday night it was almost impossible to gain admittance. Every inch of space in the rear of the store was covered with busy buyers, and in front the congestion was so great that the doors could scarcely be opened. Before leaving I asked the Manager a few questions, as follows:—

Did you expect such a crowd as this when you started? Well, he said, if these prices don't bring a crowd there is no use in a Genuine Sale.

How long do you expect to continue this sale? All January, he replied, until every article is sold right out.

What do you intend doing? I asked. My plans are all laid for a change of business, he said, but I prefer waiting a short time before giving details to the public.

Before closing let me say that the bargains are the best I've ever seen, and anybody who has a dollar to spend in Dry Goods, they cannot do better than go to the

Decided to Accept Proposals

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 22.
The Grand Council of the Ottoman Empire decided to-day to accept the proposals put forward by the European Powers, for the purpose of bringing about the conclusion of Peace, and will so advise the National Assembly.

Love at First Sight.

Episodes Which Prove That It Is Not Confined to Novels.

One evening at a dance in Buckingham Palace, a young foreigner saw a girl with a dazzling complexion, golden hair, and deep blue eyes passing to and fro with all the briskness of youth and high spirits. In a moment he realized that this was the woman—a mere girl then, indeed—for whom his heart yearned. He asked her name, and then and there his fate and hers were sealed. The young man was the King of Spain and the young woman was the Princess Ena.

Some people scoff at the idea of love at first sight, but there have been many cases of this phenomenon of the affections, nevertheless. Painters seem to have been particularly given to sudden love. Everybody knows the story of Sir Joshua Reynolds's devotion for Angelica Kauffman, the only woman R. A. who was ever elected. She came to his studio one day with a friend, and, it is said, the great painter fell instantly in love with her. He always called her "Miss Angel."

John Opie, another great portrait painter, who lies in St. Paul's Cathedral, fell in love at first sight with a wealthy and very gifted lady, Miss Alderson, and although he was of peasant birth, and never got the better of his rugged style and manner, she accepted him, and the marriage was exceedingly happy. Mrs. Opie died at a very advanced age, a Quakeress; but when Opie first saw her she was dressed in a robe of blue, her neck and arms bare, and on her head a small bonnet set sideways in a coquettish style, and surmounted by a plume of three white feathers! She had lovely hair, too, hanging in rich tresses over her shoulders. The artist became her avowed lover that very night, but he was not accepted, and had to try again and again.

The great Gainsborough, the painter of the celebrated "Stolen Duchess" and "The Blue Boy," and many lovely landscapes, fell in love at a glance. He was painting a landscape near Sudbury, when he was interrupted in his work by a lady coming between him and the sunlight. Her shadow fell upon his work, for she was wholly unconscious that she was interrupting a work of genius. Gainsborough looked up, perhaps thinking it was a cow that was wandering by. It happened to be a very attractive woman, with whom the artist was instantly smitten. She proved a very helpful wife and used to save every scrap of work her husband did, although he would dash off a lovely sketch and fling it under the table. These cast-offs brought a large sum at auction after the artist's death.

Burns was, of course, a famous lover, but it may be that he was never more genuinely in love than on the very first occasion, and then he fell in love in a moment. He calls her "a bonnie, sweet, sonsie lassie," and they were making hay together. He says: "I did not know myself why I liked to loiter behind with her, why the tones of her voice made my heart strings thrill like an Aeolian harp, and particularly why my pulse beat such a furious rattle when I looked and fingered over her little hand to pick out the cruel nettle-stings and thistles." It was to her that he made his very first song, so that he says "with me began love and poetry."

The late Lord Kelvin met his bride at the Canary Islands and fell in love at first sight, the main attraction being the lady's deep interest in science. The scientist went to great and agreeable trouble to unfold to her a new scheme of signalling, and as he said good-bye to the lady he looked at her and smilingly said: "Do you think you understand the system now?" "Oh, yes," replied his lady friend; "I am sure I understand." "Then," said he, "watch the vessel as it disappears from view, and I will flash you a message." The message was, "Will you be my wife?" The lady's reply was in the affirmative.

Insures you for months against a Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, or a Bad Stomach.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passageway through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gasses, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

A Bear Story.

The following bear story has come from Wilmer, British Columbia. Mr. K. C. Chipman, chief of the Dominion Government Geological Survey party, camped on Mineral Creek, some twenty miles west of Wilmer, in the Selkirk Range, and on Sept. 6 went out from camp alone with his rifle, not to hunt, but to examine the mountain side, which is very steep behind the camp, as to the best place to locate it on the morrow. Presently he sat down on a log to rest, and fell into a deep reverie. He was awakened from it by finding his right leg in the jaws of a bear, which had charged at him from some bushes near by, without the slightest warning. As he struggled in surprise to free himself, he saw a pair of cubs on one side and behind him. Unknowingly he had sat down to rest between a female grizzly and her young! Firing one shot which may or may not have hit her, he rushed down the steep mountain side, the bear coming after with such determination and force that it rushed clean past him. Instantly Mr. Chipman turned and went back up the hill. As a bear, however, can run faster up hill than down, he was quickly caught by the huge, infuriated plantigrade, and shaken from side to side as easily as a terrier shakes a rat. Luckily the fierce shaking caused the bear to lose her footing on the steep hillside, and both rolled together some distance down it before stopping.

It was now that Mr. Chipman displayed the courage and presence of mind that saved his life, for, on bringing up amongst some bushes, he lay perfectly quiet, feigning death. Satisfied after sniffing him all over that he was really dead, she shambled off to her cubs. On his men getting to him he was carried into camp and made comfortable, while a couple of men were sent down to Wilmer for Dr. Opie, as it was found impossible to carry Mr. Chipman out from the head of Mineral Creek to its junction with Toby River and Logging Road on account of the windfallen and snow-slide timber which lies criss-crossed six to eight feet deep for several miles down the Creek Valley. Dr. Opie, who is not a young man, got to Mr. Chipman about mid-day on Saturday after a gallant fight for miles with burnt and fallen timber, spraining his ankle in the process.

He found that the leather leggings worn by Mr. Chipman had practically saved his right leg below the knee from serious injury; not so the left leg, which was badly torn above the knee from the shaking, the bear's teeth having been deeply buried in the knee joint also, which was inflamed considerably. Otherwise except for some scratches and torn clothes, Mr. Chipman it was expected would probably be all right again in a month. Several men left Wilmer for Mineral Creek to cut a trail through to the Geological Camp and get Mr. Chipman down to the hospital.—Red and Gun.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. R. T. McGrath, law partner with James M. Kent, Esq., was in town on Monday and defended a case in court against a citizen for a breach of the Temperance Act. The case was dismissed.

The S. S. Adventure berthed at Rutherford & Co.'s pier last evening and immediately the work of discharging began. There is a big rush on today and no less than 40 horses and carts were counted there at one time; four schooners are also being loaded.

At the Agricultural Society's meeting last night all the officers were re-elected. The members seem very earnest in their work, and will get to business right away to arrange for importing seeds, etc. All our citizens should connect themselves with this very useful institution.

Mr. Coaker, F. P. U., passed through here on Saturday on his way to Freshwater. Many of our citizens would like Mr. C. to hold a meeting here and lay his plans before the people. We hope he will do so in the near future.

Two breaches of the Temperance Act were adjudicated on in the District Court here yesterday. The first, for the second offence, was fined $100 which was paid. The second, for the first offence, was fined $50, also paid.

The members of the British Band at their last meeting decided to have an old time tea party in the British Hall, on March 28th. It will be conducted on the lines of the old tea fights that our elderly citizens remember so favourably, and which the young people will no doubt be pleased to see reproduced. A concert and sociable will also be held.

In the police court, this morning, a case was brought against a party for cruelty to animals. It seems that the defendant's horse in charge of his man was sent in the woods on Thursday last, and in passing over one of the ponds the animal dropped from some cause. The man returned to town at 1 p.m. and reported to defendant. Later parties reported to the police that the poor animal was suffering on the pond. The defendant was again notified, but failed to attend to the case. The horse in the meantime perished, hence the action. The defendant was convicted and fined $2.50 with costs. It is about time we had a representative of the S. P. C. A. in our midst—a fearless, independent man who would do his best to stop cruelty to poor dumb animals. We would draw Judge Johnson's attention to this and ask him to have one appointed.

A young lad was before the Court today charged with being unruly in the S. A. Citadel on Sunday. The plaintiff had no desire for punishment, merely to have the thing stopped, so on conviction the defendant was lightly dealt with, having to pay costs of $5 below for three days.

His Lordship Bishop March was at Brigus yesterday to attend the funeral of the Rev. Mother of the Convent there. The esteemed lady had reached a great age, and all classes regret her death.

CORRESPONDENT.
Harbor Grace, Jan. 21, 1913.

Earlshall's Hard Time.

Special to the Evening Telegram, QUEENSTOWN, To-day. Captain McConnell, of the barque Earlshall, from Swansea for St. John's, returned to Queenstown. He relates a thrilling story of a hurricane which nearly carried the ship to the bottom, several times during Xmas week. The cabins were flooded, sails blown to ribbons and the ship was only saved from foundering by keeping her head to the seas, by the use of a motor engine. On January 11th another terrific storm demolished everything. Every compartment was flooded. Several feet of water were in the hold and the captain decided to run for the nearest port. On Sunday a wicked squall actually blew her foremast completely out. The ship was then in a hopeless state and only the motor saved her from sinking.

The Nickel's Holiday

Hundreds attended the holiday programme at the Nickel Theatre yesterday and all spent a most enjoyable time as the pictures were all bright and interesting and were perfectly shown. The subjects were entirely different but all appealed to lovers of good pictures. "Paid in his own coin" is a thrilling drama which excites and holds the attention of the spectator. "Girls of the West" is also a picture of great merit which educates as well as entertains. For genuine fun it is difficult to beat "Things are seldom what they seem." It is one of the daintiest comedies for some time. The films will be repeated this evening and Reginald Thomas will be heard in a new song.

Sweet Charity.

CURLERS HELP THE POOR.

Charity Day at the Curling Rink was a decided success yesterday in every way. The curlers assembled in force and an excellent sheet of ice had been prepared for them and the many spectators who assembled at the rink keenly enjoyed the games played by those on the ice. In the forenoon, His Excellency the Governor, Lady Williams and Miss Dean attended and were received by Mr. J. R. Bennett, President of the Association. His Excellency congratulated the members in their efforts on behalf of the poor and then wished all good-bye. The series of games played were well contested and the lady players who were also present, acquitted themselves well and served teas during the day. A sale of cakes etc., took place at the door, Mr. P. C. O'Driscoll acting as auctioneer, and realized good prices. Good scoring was made and the proceeds, it is believed, will go over $400. All who took part deserve credit for helping to alleviate distress in the city. The committee and management will later apportion the proceeds.

In Pugilism.

The champion went forth to war, and of his foe remarked: "He'll get what he's not looking for; he'll have his cranium barked. I never was so fit before; I'm sound in wind and limb, and I could whip a gross or more of effigies like him. He is a youth of plenteous gait, and I have stood his sass, but now I'll show for once and all, I'm monarch of my class." The fight began; with rapacious strike the foe assailed the champ, and bit him roundly on the beak and smote him in the lamp. The champ was battered forth and back, and back and forth again, and every time he gave a whack he took in eight or ten; the foeman still kept drilling in with lusty battle shout; he hit the champ upon the chin, and put him down and out. And in the bathhouse, later on, the loser woke and said: "Oh, I was sick, so help me John! I should have been in bed!" "Oh, I would give a Christmas goose to find a beaten champ who frames no silly, cheap excuse, to pass around the camp. I'd give a turkey and a pie to find one ex who'd say: "The foe was better far than I—he fairly won to-day!"

The Governor Gone.

Yesterday afternoon Sir Ralph and Lady Williams, accompanied by Miss Dean and Private Secretary Fitzherbert, left by the s.s. Numidian for England. Arriving from Government House at 2.30 p.m. His Excellency inspected the contingents of Naval Reservists and policemen that were lined up on the pier. The vice-regal party then boarded the Allan liner in which they were to sail. From the deck Sir Ralph addressed the assembly. Soon after the ship moved off from the wharf and cheers were given for His Excellency and suite.

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram, LIVERPOOL, Jan. 22. The British steamer Ulstermore, from Baltimore to Liverpool, is aground in the River Mersey.

TARRYTOWN, N.Y., Jan. 22. Helen Miller Gould was married this afternoon at Lyndhurst, her country home, to Finley Johnson Shepard, a railroad man who has risen from the ranks.

LONDON, Jan. 22. A sensation has been caused in Rugby circles by numerous suspensions by the Rugby Union for professionalism. Similar charges are being investigated against the Oxford University players, who are alleged to have taken pay during the French tour at Christmas, without authorization by the governing body from which they received expenses.

QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 22. Battered and disabled vessels continue to arrive at this port after unparalleled experiences owing to the severity of the weather and long duration of the Atlantic gales. Capt. Foxworthy, of the British steamer Malvern Range, from Boston and Baltimore for Copenhagen, tells a similar story to that of Capt. McConnell, of the Earlshall. She reached here under a jury rudder, after narrowly escaping foundering in the hurricane of Jan. 12th to 16th, during which time the captain never left the bridge. Her davits and steering gear were smashed, the decks were flooded, steam pipes torn, deck gear demolished, hatches burst open, while huge seas mounted the captain's bridge. The crew were swept from end to end of the deck, and many were injured.

In the Harbor.

'Tis better to risk the rocks of fate,
Than never to leave the port;
But here by the shore to dream and wait,
Fast here by the anchor caught.
The lure-lights flicker along the coast,
There are rocks in the black, black sea;
The night winds wail like a lonely ghost,
But it's all a song to me!
The breakers crash on the harbor bar,
Where the seagulls flap and wheel;
But the drifting weeds from the ocean far
Have gathered around my keel.
I long to spread the little patched sails,
And, slipping the cable free,
Set out to the song of the wandering gales,
And the voice of the calling sea.

The Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada

THE following are some outstanding features from the Directors' Report submitted at the Annual Meeting of the Company held on Wednesday, January 8th, 1913, and covering the operations of the Company in 1912:

	1911	1912	Increase
Assurances in Force	$34,518,000	$38,734,686	$4,216,686
Assurances Issued and Revived	7,136,952	7,851,660	714,708
Premium and Interest Income	1,545,527	1,795,378	249,851
Policy and Annuity Reserves	5,509,062	6,338,568	829,506
Total Assets	7,095,443	8,134,420	1,038,977
Policyholders' Net Surplus	781,551	944,413	162,862
Payments to Policyholders	287,720	398,957	111,237
Rate of Interest Earned	6.81%	6.83%	.02%

The reserves for 95% of the assurances in force have been based on a 3% and those for the balance on a 3 1/2% interest rate.

The Company's policy reserves are now on a stronger basis than those of any other Canadian life assurance company.

The results achieved in 1912 surpass in all departments those of any previous year in the history of the Company.

Obituary.

Capt. Patrick J. Dillon.

There was widespread sorrow in the city yesterday when it was learned that Capt. Patrick Joseph Dillon, of the Rosina, had passed away at 2.30 a.m. in the General Hospital, which institution he entered on Tuesday last. Capt. Dillon arrived here on the Rosina on Sunday week and was ill almost all the time on the voyage from Pernambuco to this port. He suffered from dropsy and heart disease and all possible was done for him by Drs. Frazer, Campbell and Knight but without avail. Mrs. Dillon was present at the end and death was not attended with any evidence of pain the deceased passing away in his sleep. Capt. Dillon was one of our best known mariners and was highly esteemed by his employers, citizens generally and seafaring men. Generous and kindly by nature his enemies were few and his friends legion. He was in his 39th year, was a native of Mobile and followed the sea since his 18th year, being all that time in the employ of Alan Goodridge & Sons. He commanded in turn the Telephone, Mayflower and Rosina and was a seaman and navigator of exceptional ability. He leaves a wife and 8 children—6 sons and 2 daughters—all of whom are very young. Michael, the eldest boy, is now in the Nascope. His father, Mr. Michael Dillon, of Mobile, a brother of Michael and one sister, Mrs. Michael Carey, also survive him and to them the Telegram extends its sincere sympathy. The remains enclosed in a handsome casket were taken to his late residence, Lime Street, by Undertaker Marth last evening. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon.

The ambulance conveyed a woman named Brien to the General Hospital last evening. She fell the day previous and sprained one of her legs, and after being attended by Dr. O'Connell was ordered to Hospital.

The Field-Spencer Association will hold their Annual 'At Home' in the British Hall on Monday, 27th Jan., at 9 p.m. Tickets—12c. at Gray & Goodland's, 21, Broad Street.

WITH THE PICK.—Much interest is centred in to-night's hockey match between the Fieldians and St. Bon's. The former have an excellent combination while the latter have all new material. A close contest, however, is being looked forward to.

A Fierce Fight.

At 7.30 last evening, a naval man and a civilian engaged in a fierce fight near the Railway Station. Both men severely punished each other when the naval man picked up a shovel lying near and his opponent ran away. He was closely followed by the other who swore he would brain him, and escaped by dodging behind the cars in the railway yard. The police on the beat have the names of the men and will summon them.

LINER BEING REPAIRED.—Repairs to the Furness liner Cynthia is being made by the Reid Nfd. Co. The damage sustained by the ship is more serious than at first thought. As soon as all her cargo is discharged a survey will be made and the loss estimated.

BROKE HIS LEG.—Quite a number of boys engaged in coasting over Barber's Hill yesterday afternoon and in crossing New Gower Street ran the risk of being killed by passing horses. One lad, a resident of Pope Street, named Bert Lacey, came to grief and broke his leg below the knee by collision with a sleigh. He had to be driven home where a doctor attended him.

With a Razor.

With blood streaming down his face from razor gashes, and the tip of his nose cut off and lying on the ground, Edward Hall, a cab driver, held on to his assailant, and kept him till a policeman came.

The thug was Frank Stevens, of 328 St. Joseph Boulevard, and the assault took place at midnight at the corner of St. Catherine and St. Charles Boromee streets.

Hall went into a neighboring cafe for supper, and through a mirror, noticed Stevens, who was with two companions, put his hand in the pocket of Hall's overcoat, and extract $7. Hall jumped up, and claimed the money. Stevens refused to give it to him, and rushed out into the street, followed by his two companions and by Hall.

Out in the snow they struggled, and Hall overheard one of Stevens' companions say: "You've got him now; give it to him good and strong." Stevens drew a revolver with his left

Keep Your Display Windows Free from Frost.

For preventing the Frosting of Display Windows in winter time there is nothing simpler or more effective than

The Air Blast of an Electric Fan directed against the glass.

The philosophy of the thing is plain. The evaporative effect of the air current simply prevents condensation of moisture upon the window and affords relief from the annoyance which is generally sought but only imperfectly attained through various awkward means.

Do You Discriminate?

We do. We are carefully selecting "brain product" films.

THE PATRON BE PLEASED is our slogan—it's foremost in our mind.

LIQUID VENEER

Brightens and preserves everything about the home. There is no old or dingy looking furniture or woodwork in homes where Liquid Veneer is used—all is clean, wholesome, sanitary.

Liquid Veneer can be applied by anybody, anywhere, at any time, and there is no need to clean up afterward. There are no cans, no pots, no brushes. There are no sticky hands or surfaces. Simply moisten a piece of cheese cloth and wipe off the surfaces, as you would do dusting. Just by Liquid Veneer and see how sweet and clean it will make everything.

Superior Merit Alone

Can win the approbation of those accustomed to the luxuries of life. Their approval is not lightly given. The unstinted praise accorded OLD HOME TEA by tea-drinkers of this class clearly proves its vast superiority.

Made from the finest, purest and most carefully selected teas, OLD HOME is precisely what a perfect tea should be—full flavored, rich and exquisitely mild.

The Testimony of Facts!

From a letter published in the "Autocar" of Sept. 14th, '12, we notice that out of 13 Cars in a garage at Harrogate the following splendid tribute to

MICHELIN TYRES:

3 Cars fitted with 2 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
2 Cars fitted with 3 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
5 Cars fitted with 4 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
3 Cars fitted without any MICHELINS at all, which shows out of 52 Tyres, 32 were MICHELINS. In other words, 61 1/2 per cent of Tyres fitted were MICHELINS, the remainder being divided between five other makers. MICHELIN Beats Them All.
