

Austria Yields Fleet!

Allied Armies Make Big Gains In All War Zones

From Mountain Regions of Northern Italy to Plains of Venetia and on Salient Sectors in Belgium, France and Serbia, Teutonic Forces Are Being Violently Attacked — British, Americans, Belgians, Italians and French Gain Much Ground—Serbians at Gates of Belgrade.

(By The Associated Press.)

From the mountain regions of northern Italy to the plain of Venetia and on salient sectors in Belgium and France the armies of the Teutonic allies are being violently attacked by troops of the Entente.

In Italy, except on several sectors in the hill country, the enemy is fast being overwhelmed; in both Belgium and France additional splendid gains have been recorded in favor of the Entente.

Austria has given up her fleet to the Croats.

In Serbia the Austrians are fast making their way out of the little kingdom, many of them already having crossed the Danube. French and Serbian cavalry have reached Belgrade, from where a fast turning movement westward along the Save river is likely to work havoc with those of the enemy forces coming northward in western Serbia and those who are struggling northward through Albania.

All Eyes on Italy.

So far as Turkey is concerned her capitulation is an object one, and the Ottomans no longer is to prove a factor in the world war.

Although the new emashes of the British, French and Americans in Belgium and France have been markedly successful in the carrying out of the general program of ridding French and Belgian soil of the invaders, it is still the Italian theatre on which the eyes of the world are centered. The Austro-Hungarian and continued pleadings from the dual monarchy for an armistice and a cessation of hostilities have reached scant notice, when compared with the impression that the wonderful drive of the Italians and their allies against the Austro-Hungarians has made upon the world at large.

Everywhere the enemy is being defeated in Italy. In the Alpine region where the natural barriers had acted as a bastion of defence, the enemy lines were broken at salient points and the foe compelled to seek safety in retreat to further mountain strongholds.

Complete Rout.

On the plains the retrograde movement of the enemy eastward toward the Tagliamento River is virtually a complete rout, with Allied airplanes violently attacking the machine gun positions of the enemy hurrying eastward, with the cavalry cutting to pieces the stragglers, and the infantry and machine gunners making a heavy toll in men killed or wounded.

Great numbers of Austro-Hungarians still continue to be winnowed back to the line of the machine guns. Large quantities of stores are falling into the hands of the Entente and numerous additional towns are being liberated. More than 700 guns already have been added to the store of other trophies taken by the Allies.

Belgians Advance.

In Belgium along the Scheldt from Berchem to Gaver, King Albert's men have pressed forward in the general direction of Ghent, and at last accounts were standing on the west side of the canal, which the Germans had hoped before the concentrated attack was begun against them some time ago would prove a strong point in their northern defensive system.

Canadians in It.

To the south, below Valenciennes, English and Canadian troops have driven the German line further westward over a front of six miles, inflicting exceptionally heavy casualties on the enemy and drawing their line almost to the outskirts of southern Valenciennes. Several thousand prisoners were taken in the enterprise.

On the southern part of the front the French and American troops are driving northward over the front clearing the enemy from the territory which it is essential for him to hold if his line from Belgium to the Meuse is to be retained.

Splendid progress has been made in the first stages of the battle and seemingly the great wooded mass north of Grand Pre, a continuation of the Argonne Forest, is likely soon to be developed, leaving to the Allies only comparatively strong natural barriers to an advance northward.

GERMANY'S HOURS ARE NUMBERED

Paris, Nov. 1.—Alfred Capus, in the Figaro, writes:

"How much longer can isolated Germany withstand the formidable assault of the world? The main fact is that now there is none, even Germany herself, who doubts that the hours are numbered. It remains for us to be prepared for her last convulsive effort without allowing the frightful spectacle to arouse any pity. Who would dare urge that the enormity of her crimes should profit the criminal?"

Captain Edmund Thery, in the Oeuvre sums up the situation with a quotation from Martin Luther:

"There are moments when our God loses patience with us and throws the cards under the table."

AMERICANS GET 3,000 GERMANS

In Attack on Verdun Front Gen. Pershing's Men Capture Dozen Villages.

With the American Forces North-west of Verdun, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press)—General Pershing's forces attacked the German position on this front today. At least a dozen villages were captured. More than 3,000 prisoners were taken.

Soon after noon the American troops had passed Meusecourt and Bayonville, the Americans stormed in advance and cleared the Bois Des Lozes where they encountered the most serious opposition of the day.

The line at six o'clock this evening extended through the northern part of the Bois Des Lozes to the eastward and then well north of Ancerville and Clercy-la-Grand.

CANADIANS IN IT!

London, Nov. 1.—Attacking on a front of six miles south of Valenciennes this morning, English and Canadian troops captured between two and three thousand prisoners and inflicted extremely heavy losses on the enemy. This announcement is made in the official report from Field Marshal Haig tonight.

The text of the statement follows: "At dawn this morning, English and Canadian troops attacked on a front of about six miles south of Valenciennes. After sharp fighting, in which exceptionally heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy, we forced a passage of the Ronelle."

SAILORS AT POLA SEIZE WARSHIPS

Croats Who Occupy Naval Base at Fiume Join Italians.

London, Nov. 1.—A German wireless despatch picked up by the British Admiralty tonight says that according to an imperial proclamation the Austro-Hungarian navy has been handed over to the South Slav national council sitting in Agram. In the decree the Austro-Hungarian authorities make an express reserve about the actual ownership of the fleet, but say until the international question is settled there is no objection to the employment of national emblems by the side of the war flag after the transfer to the council.

In the transfer of the Danube flotilla to the Hungarian government, the fleet commander is instructed to release non-Hungarian members of the crews.

The Austrian fleet at Pola, the naval base on the Adriatic Sea, has surrendered to the Southern Slav Council, according to a despatch received by the Central News Agency.

Join Italians.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press)—Croats who completely occupy Pola, the naval base on the Adriatic have proclaimed their union with Italy, according to a despatch from Berlin to the Berlingske Tidende.

According to Hungarian reports the Italian fleet at Pola, the naval base on the Adriatic, have mutinied and seized the warships there.

A despatch from Rome to the Paris Temps under date of October 27 said that the Austrian fleet had been hastily concentrated at Fiume. A few vessels remained at Pola, the despatch added, but all the ships which were at Cattaro had left that port.

The French and Serbian forces are approaching Semendria, about thirty miles southeast of Belgrade. Serbian troops have occupied Pojana.

Havre, Nov. 1.—There have been violent enemy artillery counter preparations on the whole of the Belgian front today, says the Belgian war office communication issued this evening.

"We pressed between Ronelle and Ghent and the capital running between Ghent and Bruges."

Turkish Armistice a Complete Surrender

Great Britain Signs Document on Behalf of Allies — No Secret Understandings Made With Ottoman Empire—Armenia's Future Not Settled.

London, Nov. 1.—The armistice accepted by Turkey amounts to "complete and unconditional surrender."

This statement was made by Lord Robert Cecil, assistant secretary of state for foreign affairs, to The Associated Press tonight. Lord Robert emphasized the statement of the foreign office to The Associated Press by saying that "no secret understandings or engagements have been made with Turkey as far as the British government is concerned."

He added that the armistice had been signed by Great Britain on behalf of all the Allies.

Pan-Germans Losing.

Discussing conditions in Germany, Lord Robert said the indications of the last day or two were that the Pan-Germans were losing their hold.

He declared that no Bolshevism had been reported in Germany, but that it was spreading in a part of Austria.

With reference to rumors circulating here to the effect that the armistice with Turkey included clauses by which Turkey would retain sovereignty over Armenia and other provinces, the foreign office authorities said the statement that there is no truth in the suggestion that any secret political agreement is annexed to the armistice with Turkey.

The armistice terms.

The terms of the armistice granted by the Allies to Turkey follow:

"First—The opening of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus and access to the Black Sea. Allied occupation of the Bosphorus forts.

"Third—All available information concerning surveillance on the Black Sea is to be communicated.

"Fourth—All Allied prisoners of war and Armenian interned persons and prisoners are to be collected in Constantinople and handed over unconditionally to the Allies.

"Fifth—Immediate demobilization of the Turkish army, except such troops as are required for surveillance on the frontiers and for the maintenance of internal order, the number of effectives and their disposition to be determined later by the Allies after consultation with the Turkish government.

Surrender War Vessels.

"Sixth—The surrender of all war vessels in Turkish waters or waters occupied by Turkey. These ships will be interned in such Turkish port or ports as may be directed, except such small vessels as are required for police and similar purposes in Turkish territorial waters.

"Seventh—The Allies to have the right of way to occupy strategic points in the event of any situation arising which threatens the security of the Allies.

"Eighth—Free use by Allied ships of all ports and anchorages now in Turkish occupation and denial of their use by the enemy.

"Ninth—Allied occupation of the Taurus tunnel system.

"Tenth—Immediate withdrawal of Turkish troops from Northern Persia to behind the pre-war frontier already has been ordered and will be carried out."

Similar conditions are to apply to Turkish mercantile shipping in Turkish waters for the purpose of trade and the demobilization of the army.

Evacuate Transcaucasia.

"Eleventh—A part of Transcaucasia already has been ordered to be evacuated by Turkish troops. The remainder to be evacuated if required by the Allies, after they have studied the situation.

"Twelfth—Wireless, telegraph and cable stations to be controlled by the Allies. Turkish government messages to be executed.

"Thirteenth—Prohibition against the destruction of any naval, military or commercial material.

"Fourteenth—Facilities are to be given for the purchase of coal, oil, fuel, and naval material from Turkish sources, under the requirements of the country have been met. None of the above materials are to be exported.

"Fifteenth—The surrender of all garrisons in Hadram, Assir, Yemen, Syria and Mesopotamia, to the nearest Allied commander, and withdrawal of Turkish troops from Cilicia, except those necessary to maintain order, as will be determined under clause six.

"Sixteenth—The surrender of all ports occupied in Tripolitania and Syria, including Misrata, and the nearest Allied garrison.

"Nineteenth—All Germans and Austrians, naval, military or civilian, to be evacuated within one month from Turkish dominions and those in remote districts as soon after that time as may be possible.

"Twentieth—An Allied representative to be attached to the Turkish ministry of supplies in order to safeguard Allied interests. This representative to be furnished with all aid necessary for this purpose.

"Twenty-first—All Allied prisoners are to be kept at the disposal of the Allied powers. The release of Turkish civilian prisoners and prisoners over military age is to be considered.

"Twenty-second—An obligation on the part of Turkey to cease all relations with the Central Powers.

"Twenty-third—In case of disorder in the six Armenian vilayets the Allies reserve to themselves the right to occupy any part of them.

"Twenty-fourth—Hostilities between the Allies and Turkey shall cease from noon local time, Thursday, the 31st of October, 1918."

THE SUPREME WAR COUNCIL

Representatives of Allied Nations Begin Their Deliberations at Historic Versailles.

Verailles, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press)—Representatives of the Allied nations began their deliberations of the Supreme War Council shortly after noon today.

General Tasker H. Bliss, U. S. A., was the first delegate to reach the Trianon Palace Hotel, arriving at 1:50 p. m. He was followed shortly afterward by Premier Clemenceau, Marshal Foch, Field Marshal Douglas Haig, Col. E. M. House, and Premier Lloyd George.

The session was held in the large chamber on the main floor of the Trianon Palace, with windows overlooking the garden.

The hall has little ornamentation beyond a marble clock and candelabra upon a mantle topped with massive mirrors. Immediate in front of this extends a wide mahogany table the entire length of the room, with the members facing each other on two sides. The entire aspect is one of business, the meeting being devoid of formalities, each member has before him a large slotted paper with all desk requisites.

A stenographer at a desk in a corner takes notes of the official proceedings.

The uniforms of the generals and admirals participating give a touch of color to the scene, but prevailing tone is one of a civilian gathering. The larger part of the membership is made up of premiers and other high civilian officials.

The deliberations proceed with complete privacy. Guards along the boulevard on the green keep the crowds from approaching the iron gate leading to the Palace.

At Livorno River.

London, Nov. 1.—An official statement on the operations on the Italian front issued tonight says: "The Eleventh Italian Corps has reached the Livorno River, at Motta Di Livorno. The Tenth Army holds the Livorno River from this place to north of Siedle."

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Vienna printed in the Tageblatt of Berlin says: "The national assembly met at three o'clock in the afternoon. A vast crowd had gathered before the Diet and frantically cheered the red flag which was displayed by laborers from the suburbs of Vienna."

"Socialist members of the Diet were cheered when they addressed the crowd in favor of a republic."

"Mayor Weisskirchner tried vainly to get a hearing but he was greeted with hisses."

"Meanwhile the national assembly had accepted a constitution which no place was left for the crown. The national assembly has the legislative power while the state council and the state government share the executive power. It was planned to name a new government Wednesday night."

"Victor Adler, a Socialist leader, is the probable choice for state secretary of foreign affairs. The Socialist Leutenants is the most prominent candidate for secretary of war, while the Progressive, Offer, is mentioned for minister of justice."

"At eight o'clock in the evening a deputation of officers and soldiers visited the National Council and demanded the formation of a soldiers' council to conduct the demobilization of the army and to abolish provisionally the military garrisons."

"Groups passed through the streets in the night compelling officers to remove their cockades. Even old generals were not exempt. Youths invaded cafes on a similar mission."

Will Punish the Russian Butchers. London, Nov. 1.—Discussing the position of British subjects in Russia in the House of Commons yesterday, Lord Robert Cecil, assistant secretary of state for foreign affairs, said that the amount of bloodshed by the present government of Russia greatly exceeded anything that ever took place under the Imperial regime.

There has been no pretence of justice, he said. "People of all nationalities have been arrested and imprisoned without any reason being given. Moreover, there has been a large amount of casual murder and brigandage throughout all of European Russia. There has also been reckless destruction of all means of subsistence. The British government will shrink from nothing within its power to get every British subject out of Russia and unquestionably means to exact justice on the people guilty of these outrages when they are able to get them in their power."

Picture this boy, trudging, tired and sleepy, back from the trenches. He sees posted up at an army hut a notice of the overwhelming success of the Victory Loan 1918.

He sees the notice posted that more Canadians bought Victory Bonds than in any previous loan, that money to carry on the fight is assured.

He sees that his self-sacrifice, his courage and self-denial are appreciated, that mighty battalions of Canadian money are marching to reinforce him.

Can't you see his tired face brighten? Can't you see him hitch his pack and shift his gun with renewed resolve? What a mental bracer this bulletin will be to the Army of Brave Souls who fight that we may be free?

If Canada-at-home will keep constantly before it the picture of Canada-in-France, then every previous record of investment in Canada will be shattered by the message we will send to our army when the Victory Loan 1918 is closed.

AUSTRIAN LINE COLLAPSES BEFORE ITALIAN ADVANCE

Allied Army in Italy Heading for the City of Udine.

TRENTINO SOON IN HANDS OF ALLIES

King Victor Emmanuel Busy Directing the Work of Relief.

Italian Headquarters East of the Piave, Nov. 1.—(10 p.m., by The Associated Press).—Regardless of reports of a revolution in Vienna, the Italians continue their advance. At some points the Austrians still resist. Since October 24, General Diaz has carried out his campaign as planned. The lock to the mountains and plains was opened today by the taking of Monte Cismon, which gives to the Allied command of the valleys of the Brenta and Cismon. Domination of the Brenta virtually means possession of the Trentino. The command of the Trentino opens the road to Feltre, Belluno and beyond. At many points east of the Piave there are so many Austrian prisoners that they block the roads over which they are being marched to the rear. The Venetian Plain immediately east of the Piave is a scene of desolation. Houses and villages have been ruined by shell fire.

Royalty Welcomed.

When the advancing Italians reached Sacile they were received as saviors and the women and children of the town fell on their knees before them. During a recent influenza epidemic in the town the Austrians are said to have brutally rejected appeals from mothers for food for their sick children.

King Victor Emmanuel has been travelling incessantly from place to place in the stormy of Monte Cismon an exhausted population.

Every bridge in the path of the advancing Allies has been the scene of fighting. One railroad bridge near Cassolungo was lost and retaken thirty times.

In the storming of Monte Cismon an Austrian battery of six guns which had been shelling the city of Bassano was captured. The morning before it was taken fifty persons were killed in Bassano.

On Way to Udine.

On the northern part of the Venetian Plains the Italian armies are advancing northeast of Sacile toward Udine on the way to Udine which was Italian headquarters before the retreat of 1917.

The tenth army, operating from Oderzo to the Biadene, is carrying out a flank movement with the intention of cutting off the Austrian fifty army. The Austrians are trying to cross the Livensa but are being assailed on three sides.

On the north is the tenth army, in front of them is the Duke of Aosta's third army and from the Adriatic coast the bombardment of the enemy with cannon mounted on pontoons.

It is believed that there will be large captures of cannon in the mountain zone as it is thought the Austrians will not be able to withdraw them quickly enough.

Rome, Nov. 1.—In their offensive against the Austrians on the Monte Grappa front in Northern Italy the Italians have pressed the enemy so strongly that his front has collapsed. The war office so announced today.

The Italians have forced the Gorizia front east of the Piave and are advancing in the Piave Valley.

London, Nov. 1.—The British troops on the Italian front have occupied the town of Sacile, on the Livensa River, fifteen miles east of the Piave. The war office so announces. The enemy is falling back rapidly in the Grappa sector.

60,000 Released.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Sixty thousand Italian prisoners held by the enemy in work on defenses in occupied territory already have been released. With the Austrians everywhere in flight and the Italian armies on two wings about to strike, it is said to be impossible to foresee where the few enemy divisions that escape will stop running.

COUNT TISZA IS ASSASSINATED

Former Hungarian Premier Shot Down While Walking With His Family — Long Stormy Petrel in Politics.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—Count Tisza, the former Hungarian premier, has been killed by a soldier, according to a Budapest telegram today. The count fell victim to a revolver shot while he was out walking.

Basel, Nov. 1.—Count Tisza was promenading with his family when he was shot, a Budapest despatch received here by way of Berlin announces. A woman of the group was wounded. It is added.

Count Tisza had long been one of the storm centres of Hungarian politics. It has been charged that he was one of the four men responsible for the war and the accusation has been made that he instigated the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand.

Count Tisza was twice premier of Hungary, from 1903 to 1906, and from June 6, 1913, to May 23, 1917. He was the centre of many riotous scenes in the Hungarian parliament during his leadership, and in 1913 fought at least three duels with political opponents.

Within the last year he had urged peace and in a speech on October 19 declared he no longer had hopes for an Austro-German victory. An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Count Tisza in Budapest on Oct. 17. His assailant at that time was arrested.

BRITISH MAKE GOOD PROGRESS

They Resume Offensive, Taking 1,500 Prisoners — Valenciennes Almost Surrounded.

London, Nov. 1.—The British troops resumed the offensive south of Valenciennes this morning. Field Marshal Haig, in his report today, says good progress is being made. The British in minor enterprises near Lequesnoy on Thursday captured prisoners. Valenciennes is reported to be surrounded on three sides. Fifteen hundred prisoners were taken by our troops this morning.

The French Front.

Paris, Nov. 1.—Violent artillery battles were in progress during last night on the French front along the Oise near Guise and in the Aisne region near St. Fermeux, northwest of Chateau Porcien, according to today's war office announcement.

American Progress.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Americans drove the Germans out of the village of Brielleux, on the west bank of the Meuse in yesterday's fighting north of Verdun. General Pershing, in an evening communique for Thursday announced the capture and says artillery firing was lively on the whole front during the day.

Seven enemy airplanes were shot down, all American machines returning safely. Bombing expeditions described in press despatches are officially reported.

EMPEROR WILLIAM HAS LEFT BERLIN, AND MAY QUIT THRONE

Independent Socialists Favor Immediate Abdication of Kaiser.

Armistice Terms Will Be Confined to Military Requirements.

Paris, Nov. 1. (By The Associated Press).—The armistice terms to be submitted to Germany will be confined strictly to military requirements, except that it will be brought out clearly that they are conditioned generally upon President Wilson's principles, with some modifications.

London, Nov. 1.—Independent Socialists throughout Germany are about to start an agitation for the immediate abdication of Emperor William, the dismissal of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and the withdrawal of commanders from the Crown Princes of Prussia and Bavaria, according to an Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company quoting the Volks Zeitung, of Leipzig.

Kaiser Leaves Berlin.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—Emperor William has left Berlin for German great headquarters, says a message from the German capital today.

Paris, Nov. 1.—In commenting upon the receipt, by General Diaz, of a request from the Austrians for an armistice, the Main says that "it is evidently necessary, before going further, to examine carefully on whose orders the plenipotentiaries who entered the Italian lines are acting."

London, Oct. 31.—The German papers, according to a German wireless message, says that Emperor Charles on September 26 sent a friendly telegram to Emperor William announcing that Austria-Hungary was obliged to take a decisive step and that the peace offer was irrevocable.

Amsterdam, Oct. 31.—There has been a panic among the people in the Rhine provinces, arising from reports that the authorities were prepared, if necessary, to allow enemy troops to occupy Coblenz and Cologne, according to the Berlin Tagliche Rundschau.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press).—The Germans now are removing the population in advance of the retreat of their armies from French soil. A document captured by American soldiers contains instructions for rounding up the male population capable of bearing arms, and all cattle. The document says that this has been done only in part up to this time because of the passive resistance of the population had reduced the forces at the disposal of the local commandants.

Report Premature.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—The rumors of Emperor William's abdication are at least premature. The abdication question was discussed at the latest meetings of the war cabinet.

It is generally supposed that Dr. Delbrueck will present the Emperor with an abdication document.

THE WAR INDUSTRIES OF THE MARITIMES

Shall they lag for want of money?

WHILE the whole of Canada is called upon to produce with feverish activity the food, clothes, shoes and the thousand and one other war needs that must be supplied for Canada's fighting men, it is to these Provinces—the Maritime Provinces—that our armies look for those supplies that are peculiarly the products of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Iron and steel is perhaps the greatest need of all. We have the mines and industries to produce them.

Ships are needed with a need that is imperative and pressing. We are building them.

Timber is needed for those ships and for a hundred war-time uses. Our forests are providing them!

Fish, fruit, hay, potatoes and many other natural products of the Maritimes are in enormous demand. We are supplying them.

These and other Maritime industries have been speeded up—how?

By the energy of our people? Yes, by that and something more.

Our energy would count for naught without money.

And the money to finance these great achievements in production has been provided by Canada's war loans.

Canada must keep up the glorious effort she is making, and for this she must have money—money which she must obtain from her people.

And the men of the Maritimes will supply their share of the needed money. They will eagerly come forward with their applications for Victory Bonds.

Never laggards in war or in work, they will to their utmost, not only to the limit of their resources but to the very limit of their credit.

Careful Study of Figures Known to be Approximately Correct as to Respective Strength of Allied and Enemy Armies Shows Entente Right.

By Bampton Hunt.
(Special Cable to The N. Y. Tribune and The St. John Standard.)

Paris, Nov. 1.—A careful study of the figures known to be approximately correct as to the respective strength of the Allied and enemy armies in the field provide an unanswerable argument justifying the Allied governments in refusing to consider for one moment all questions granting an armistice to Germany except upon terms of unconditional surrender.

It is now clear that Germany staked everything upon the elimination of Russia from the side of the Allies. Once this was accomplished, there is no doubt but that the Germans possessed enormous superiority in numbers. On this fact they based all their operations at the beginning of the present year. Other conditions remaining unchanged, the summer of this year ought to have seen German triumph before the Americans were in a position to "enter the dance," as the French say.

Americans Make History.
The astounding rapidity and unbelievable strength in which American troops reached the Western front will go down in history as the real vital factor which brought to an end the greatest war the world has ever seen.

Three Reasons for Success.
Today this state of affairs has been permanently reversed. The change is to be attributed to three reasons, each complimentary of the others.

First, the magnificently devoted resistance offered by the French and British to the four terrific German drives of March, April, May and June. Second, the incomparable skill of Foch, who struck with unerring precision on July 18 at the exposed flank of the Germans between the Aisne and the Marne and has ever since followed up the blow with clearvoyance and success, that will be acclaimed in all time to come as the highest exemplification of modern military genius.

The third and culminating reason was the entry of the American army, not necessarily into the fighting line but into position in the war zone where they constituted an ever increasing menace to German military power.

German Losses 1,200,000.
Since March 21, 400,000 German soldiers have been taken prisoners by the Allies and certainly double that number have been killed or rendered unfit for fighting. German strength today, after subtracting their 1,200,000 losses of killed, wounded and prisoners from their total strength of 2,800,000 of March 21, is therefore not more than 1,600,000 or, at most, 1,800,000, a large number of which have been reduced well below ten thousand men each.

The Allies, on the other hand, have consistently increased in strength in spite of their losses since March 21. The Portuguese army corps has been temporarily withdrawn from the firing line after having acquitted itself magnificently. This has been compensated for, however, by the entry into the line of Italian divisions and strong attachments of Poles and Czechoslovaks.

Further, the first American army, which may be regarded as representing twenty divisions, has taken its place in line, while the second American army is about to do so, and the third is undergoing training and organization.

Recapitulating, while the German total fighting strength has fallen to somewhere near 1,500,000, the Allied total has risen to more than 2,000,000, still left to retain her grip on her spoils.

Germany's cry for an armistice and peace is a pitifully disguised plea for mercy.

The worst injustice the Allies could inflict on the world and on Germany itself at the present juncture would be to give quarter to a half-disarmed army.

Peace with Germany, while Germany still has an army of 1,500,000 fully trained fighting men at her command, would mean the postponement of peace in Europe for another fifty years, perhaps for all time. Until that army is destroyed and the political organization behind it irrevocably broken up, there can be no lasting peace in the world.

This is the unshakable opinion of every French father and mother I've ever spoken to, and they speak not only for themselves and their dead but for future generations.

ARMISTICE ISSUE
NOT IN PRESIDENT
WILSON'S HANDS

Whole Question is Now Before Allied Council—Wilson's Course Commended in Paris—Germany Has Two Ways of Bringing War to End.

By Bampton Hunt.
(Special Cable to The N. Y. Tribune and The St. John Standard.)

Paris, Nov. 1.—Further consideration of Wilson's ultimatum, for so the American President's third reply to Germany is described here this morning, has only deepened the good impression his note first produced.

Wilson, it is realized, has cleared the ground of all possible misunderstanding both on the part of the Germans and the Allies and put an end once and for all to any further attempt at cavilling on the part of the enemy. The whole question of an armistice has passed out of the hands of Wilson and now, for all practical purposes, rests with Foch so far as German armies are concerned, and with Bessier, as regards the enemy's fleet. If they advise and the Allied governments consent to a cessation of hostilities, Germany knows in advance that the terms can only be the dismantling of her army and the dismantling of her fleet to such an extent that it will be impossible for her to resume fighting.

In other words Germany has the choice of only two ways of bringing the war to an end. Either she must capitulate unconditionally forthwith or she may prolong the war for a few weeks or months with the certainty that sooner or later she will be compelled to the same terms of unconditional capitulation.

As Paris sees it, no further rejoinder from Germany is admissible. She appealed to Wilson and all that remains is for her to accept such reply as the Allies may grant to her request. Wilson's reply is doubly satisfactory from the French viewpoint, inasmuch as it has removed all possibility of any further misunderstanding of the President's personal attitude. It may now be stated frankly that in the earlier stages of the President's conversations with the enemy there was a real feeling of alarm here and in London that the American President might be inclined to act rather as an arbitrator between the Allies on the one hand and Germany on the other, instead of merely as an intermediary who had been appealed to by the enemy to convey their appeal to the Allies.

A leading Paris newspaper remarked significantly that "There is only one man concerned in the present war who deliberates entirely alone and that is Wilson," while in private conversations the word "dictator" has been whispered. This, as it cabled at the time, was undoubtedly due to widespread misapprehension of Wilson's real status and was probably the direct result of the state of nervous tension under which people of all classes and in all countries have been living for the past three or four years.

Wilson has never given the slightest reason for anybody to assume that he is acting as anything but an impartial and impersonal intermediary whom Germany had selected to pass her appeal on to her European adversaries. The enemy undoubtedly has repeatedly endeavored in the childishly spiteful terms employed in his notes to Wilson to set up frictions between the nations allied against her.

The German statement that the enemy would be prepared under certain conditions to submit a proposal for an armistice to the American commander in the field, is an instance of this, but was so obviously intended to irritate the British and French commanders and the respective nations behind them that the gibe entirely failed to accomplish its purpose as have all the other sixty devices by which in his dealings with Wilson the enemy has sought to cause friction between the Allies.

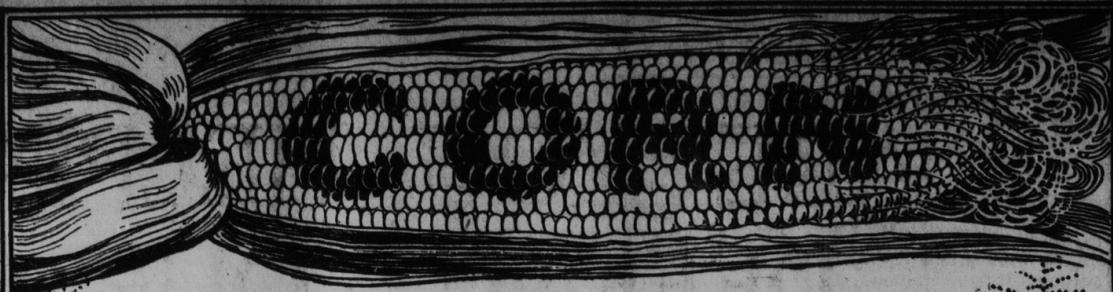

A feeling which has been prevalent here for some time that there must not be any more "solitary promenades" on the part of any of the Allies has been greatly relieved by today's dispatch from Washington reporting that in official diplomatic circles the Wilson's notes have been regarded as signifying that there will be no more separate pourparlers with Germany, but that in the future the United States government and those of the Allies will act in concert.

This has been received with immense approval here as indicating a definite step forward in the direction of bringing about a unification of diplomatic policy that shall be on all fours with the unification of command in the field. It is felt here that just as the unification of command was brought about by the German offensives on the western front, so, through the German peace offensive at Washington, we are now within a measurable distance of achieving unity of diplomatic aims.

In the opinion of the French it has now become indispensable as the next immediate step toward diplomatic unity that America should add her signature to the pact of London and thus bring herself into alignment with France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium and Japan. Under the pact of London, which was signed before America came into the war, the nations allied against the Central Empires pledged themselves not to sign a separate peace.

This document, curiously enough, is the only diplomatic head, technically speaking, which unites the nations known as the Allies, between whom, with the exception of that between Britain and Japan, there are no formal treaties of alliance. Until America also subscribes to this pact, community of diplomatic action, although impossible, will be difficult.

Moreover the addition of the signature of the United States would render vain any further efforts of Germany to emphasize the fact of America's isolated position, diplomatically speaking, among the nations who have combined in a holy crusade to stamp out the virus of militarism from the world. I have reason to believe that this question already has been under careful consideration at Washington and that important developments may be expected to occur within the next few days which will prove most satisfactory to opinion both here and in London.

Do Not Worry If You Cannot Get Sugar

You do not have to forego sweet things because of the present shortage of sugar. Corn Syrup is available, and for years has been available, as a perfect alternative for sugar for cooking, in puddings and preserves, in the making of desserts, and on cereals.

People didn't recognize this fact while sugar was cheap and plentiful. Now they are hailing the discovery with delighted surprise.

Buy Crown Brand or Lily White Corn Syrup from your grocer. They are wholesome, delicious and nourishing—true products of the Corn—and, you will soon find, most economical, too.

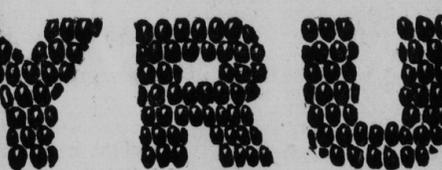

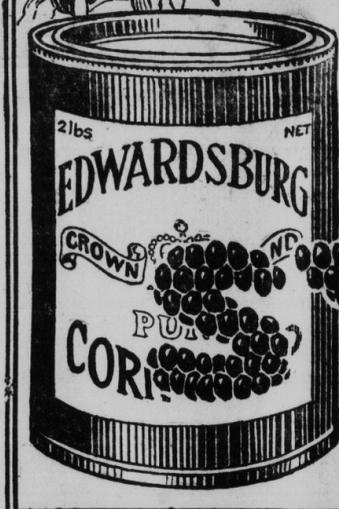

CROWN BRAND AND LILY WHITE CORN SYRUP

And the use of Corn Syrup instead of Sugar is a War-Service to-day! The carrying of raw sugar on the ocean has meant a huge loss of life and tonnage. It takes ships that are sorely needed to carry troops and supplies.

Corn is grown on this continent and the syrup is manufactured right here in Canada.

Write to the Canada Food Board, Ottawa, for a booklet of recipes in which Corn Syrup takes the place of Sugar. The authorities heartily approve of this movement to conserve Sugar.

"CONTACT WAS MAINTAINED"

(By an Artillery Officer.)

"Expect contact plane at 5.30 a. m. tomorrow."

The headquarters orderly splashed his way wearily to "B" Company headquarters. Already three signatures lay on his mud-stained envelope, and as he stumbled along the sticky moss which was ironically termed "Haymarket," he swore frequently and with fervour.

He drew aside the dripping tarpaulin which served "B" Company for a door, grinned sheepishly at the Company Commander, finally took his envelope and then once more waded along wretchedly "Haymarket." Turning to his lieutenant the Company Commander read the message. "In case," he said.

Five thirty the following morning, found "B" Company—or what was left of them—a thousand yards deep in the Bosch line. Grey dawn had even then hardly chased night away, but much had happened in the half-light. The fog of war lay thick on the battlefield. "B" Company knew they were "digging in" on the rise officially known as "Hill 99," but did headquarters know? Message running was a precarious job, besides being slow.

To this scene came Captain ——— of the Royal Air Force in a contact plane. He came from the west like a huge gnat, and he was heralded by a spitting barrage of "arabians." Really he did not seem to mind. He was so low that machine gunners turned staccato volleys on him.

Below "B" Company signalled violently. They knew what it meant to them that he should see. Ground flares, tins turned into home-made helios—in a variety of ways they gave him their location.

The pilot saw, signalled on his Klaxon horn, and then, bursting through a cloud of Archies, turned and sped out of sight again.

If one had been with the batteries in that particular sector one might have seen him drop his message to the artillery group commander, heard the latter's grim "Good," and then, maybe, have noticed line after line of guns firing well in front of our "new positions"—to the undisguised delight of "B" Company. The contact plane supplied the missing link, for communication is one of the problems of modern warfare.

Back again went the plane welcomed as vociferously as ever. The Bosch shells him savagely. All round sharp-edged clouds burst in the air; machine-guns tried, belt after belt, but if he did mind Captain ——— did not show it. As coolly as ever he collected his news and turned again to the rear. He did this many times that day; he spotted the Bosch concentration for the inevitable counter-attack. Back again to the artillery, and the artillery spoke joyfully. As they say in France, that concentration had a very thin time for the next half hour.

Certain it was that "B" Company waited in vain for the counter-blow, and were not sorry it did not come. But the "eyes" of the artillery had not ed, and there was no need to worry.

The following day the British official recorded local activity in the ——— sector, during which our line had been advanced a thousand yards on a front of a mile. It also mentioned that enemy concentrations had been brought under fire.

But Captain ——— looked ruefully at his plane when his day had finished. Certainly it was not so fresh as when it started. The fabric showed rents in a dozen places; there were shrapnel and bullet holes too near his seat to be comfortable. But he had done his job. Contact had been maintained as he and his like are maintaining it every day. When he turned into bed he slept the sleep of the just.

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved."—H. M. The King.

ALONE!

A national outcast upon the face of the earth, Germany stands alone, and her condition of isolation cannot be described by the term "splendid," once employed to characterize the situation of Great Britain.

Germany engaged in the war, now practically closed, with but one purpose in view, and that a selfish one. World domination was the aim and object of Berlin. Although for many months the outlook from an Allied standpoint was most discouraging, there never was a time when it was thought that the unholy object of the Teuton would be achieved.

THE COAL QUESTION.

It is gratifying to learn that in the opinion of Mr. Garfield, Fuel Controller in the United States, the increased production of anthracite coal has virtually eliminated the possibility of a coal famine this winter.

Mr. Garfield states that Canada's allotment of coal for household purposes for the year ending next April is 3,502,000 tons, of which 1,963,700 tons have already been delivered, and on the face of the figures the situation might appear comforting.

THE INFLUENZA SITUATION.

It is interesting to learn from the Minister of Health that the influenza situation in the Province of New Brunswick is improving. That is well. If the Provincial Department of Health is responsible for the improvement that is also well, but the Standard does not believe that such is the case.

This newspaper is not concerned with statements of interested officials or physicians, no matter who they may be. We know that our criticisms were justified, and that they have had the effect of bringing about a great improvement in conditions. Let that suffice.

SLAMMING THE ENEMY.

The Germans and Austrians were severely pounded yesterday in Italy, France, Belgium and Serbia. While the questions of armistice are being considered, the fighting arm of the Allied nations is not idle, and the Roche is receiving punishment in severe doses.

The British and Belgians made some notable gains in Belgium yesterday and menace Tournai, which is beginning to figure as the apex of a large salient dangerous to the Germans.

On the Verdun sector the Americans captured a dozen or more villages, and more than three thousand prisoners. The good work will continue until Germany quits and the war is ended, which event is not likely to be long delayed.

Thursday marked the close of the provincial year. The financial statement to be submitted by the Premier to the Legislature will probably make melancholy reading for the people of this province.

The courteous Times, last evening remarked "When the influenza epidemic is over it may be possible to let a commission on lunacy to look into the Standard's case." If current reports are at all correct, that commission may find its first opportunity on Canterbury Street.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DEFENDS ALLEGED BREAKERS OF LAW

Hon. Mr. Byrne of Premier Foster's Cabinet Counsel for Men Who Are Charged With Violating Fishery Laws—Twenty-Five Summoned to Court and Heavy Property Seizures.

Chatham, Nov. 1.—Hon. Donald Morrison, Dominion Fishery Commissioner, is making strenuous efforts to put a stop to illegal lobster fishing on the coast. He has twenty-five cases in court against Miscon and Shippegan Island fishermen and packers. His men dressed up 1200 traps in one channel. They destroyed the traps and confiscated the nets and other gear. Some lots of canned lobsters have been seized on the ground that the fish were caught out of season.

A Versatile Official.

It is surely something new in this province for the Attorney General to appear in court, in criminal trials, as attorney for the defence. That is what Attorney General Byrne, the chief officer of the crown, is doing. He is defending the lobstermen who have been taken to court.

THE AFTER EFFECTS OF DREADED LA GRIPPE

Worse Than the Disease Itself—Victims Left Weak, Nervous and Worn Out.
La Grippe, or Spanish influenza as the epidemic now sweeping over all America is called, is one of the most dangerous diseases known to mankind. Anyone who has felt its pangs is not likely to forget the trouble.

La Grippe, or influenza, starts with a slight cold and ends with a complication of trouble. It lays the victim on his back, it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. Its after effects are often more serious than the disease itself.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, and can't get feeling better, just begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. By LEE PAPE.
This afternoon me and Skinny Martin and Sid Hunt and Leroy Shooter was standing on the corner and Skinny Martin said, G, look whose up there looking in the candy store window?
Meeting Sam Cross standing up there by himself like a person trying to make up their mind what kind they want to buy, and I said, I tell you lets wait, lets dont yell to him or anything till he comes out, because if we do we wont get a nickel.
And we all ducked around the corner and peeked around at Sam Cross, and Sam keep on standing there looking at the different kinds in the window as if he didnt know weather he knew what kind he wanted or not. Leroy Shooter says, G, maybe he has got a nickel, you get a lot in there for a nickel.
Maybe hes got a dime, you get twice as much for a dime, sed Sid Hunt.
Hes taking a heck of a long while to go in if hes going, I sed, and Skinny Martin sed, After he goes in, lets us go up and stand outside of the store as if we was just standing there. Wich after a long while Sam Cross went in, and me and Skinny and Sid and Leroy Shooter quick went up and stood outside with expressions on our faces as if we didnt expect to see anybody in particular come out, and after another long while I sed, Hes taking a heck of a long while to come out if hes coming.
G, he must have about a quarter taking all this time, sed Leroy Shooter. And we waited another long while and then we looked throo the window and we couldnt see anybody and we went in, Skinny Martin saying to the lady, Would you please tell us if a boy with glasses came in here?
WY yes, he came in quite a little while ago and bawt some candy and asked me to give him a favor if he couldnt go out the back way for a short cut, sed the lady.
G, and did you leave him? I sed, and she sed, Serteny, wy not? Wich we didnt tell her wy not, and we all went out agen, Skinny Martin saying, The heck, he must of saw us down there.
Wich he must of.

Women! Here Is A Dandy Thing

Few drops on corn or callus stop pain, then they lift off.
Your high heels have put corns on your toes and calluses on the bottom of your feet, but why care now?
This tiny bottle holds an almost magic cream. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it frezone. Small bottles of frezone can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face in agony and spoil your beauty, but get a little bottle of frezone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and so soft that you can lift it off with the fingers.
Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses, without suffering one particle. Millions of women keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let corns ache twice.

COLLISION AVERTED

An automobile proceeding across the foot of King street yesterday en route up Chipman Hill, was nearly struck by a large motor truck of the other deadly Works Company, which was en route up King street. The driver of the smaller car became confused and stopped his car immediately in front of the oncoming truck. The driver of the truck, who certainly can handle the wheel well, turned his car up Chipman Hill, and narrowly avoided a collision.
At the rate the truck was coming serious results would have ensued in a collision, there being three ladies in the smaller car who appeared quite nervous.

Is Your Boy's Education Guaranteed?

WE hear much of men who, though poorly educated, made a success of life. These are exceptions! Don't be deceived by them!

How many uneducated men fail? How many educated men succeed? Statistics collected by the United States Bureau of Education show that education increases, enormously, a person's chances of success in life. Here are the facts:

"Uneducated laborers earn on an average $800 per year for forty years, a total of $32,000. High school graduates earn on an average $1,000 per year for forty years, a total of $40,000. This education required twelve years of school of 180 days each, that is 2,160 days in school. Now if 2,160 days in school add $20,000 to the income for life, then each day at school adds $9.02. Therefore a child that stays out of school to earn less than nine dollars a day is losing money."

Adequate life insurance alone can, in the event of your death, guarantee your boy an education. Make provision for your children's future by means of a policy in

NOTICE

Military Service Act, 1917. EMPLOYMENT OF MEN IN DEFAULT UNDER THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT.

The following Regulations, recently approved by the Governor General in Council, impose strict obligations upon every employer TO ASSURE HIMSELF THAT EACH OF HIS EMPLOYEES OF MILITARY AGE AND DESCRIPTION IS IN POSSESSION OF DOCUMENTS PROVING THAT HE IS NOT IN ANY WAY IN DEFAULT UNDER THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT.

An employer who is charged with having a defaulter in his employ must be able to prove THAT THE MILITARY SERVICE PAPERS ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OR MILITARY AUTHORITIES TO THE EMPLOYEE IN QUESTION WERE PRODUCED FOR HIS INSPECTION at the time when the employee was taken into his employment, and that it was reasonably established to his satisfaction that the man was not in default under the Military Service Act. It should be clearly understood that the Canadian Registration Certificates given on June 22, 1918, at the time of general registration, in no way define the status of a man under the Military Service Act.

REGULATIONS.

"106. Every person who employs or retains in his service any man who has deserted or is absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force, or who is in default in the performance of any obligation or requirement for reporting or for military service, imposed upon him by the Act or Regulations, or any proclamation thereunder, shall be guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by a penalty of not less than One Hundred Dollars, and of not more than Five Hundred Dollars, or by both such imprisonment and fine, unless such person prove that he made due inquiry and that THE MILITARY SERVICE PAPERS ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OR THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES TO THE MAN SO EMPLOYED OR RETAINED IN HIS SERVICE WERE PRODUCED FOR HIS INSPECTION, and that it was reasonably established to his satisfaction by such inquiry and papers that the man was not a deserter or absent from the force without leave, or in default in respect of any of the obligations or requirements aforesaid."

"106a. Every person who HARBOURS OR CONCEALS OR IN ANY WAY ASSISTS ANY MAN WHO IS A DESERTER OR ABSENT WITHOUT LEAVE FROM THE CANADIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, or who is in default in the performance of any obligation or requirement for reporting or for military service imposed upon him by the Act or Regulations, or any proclamation thereunder, shall be guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by a penalty of not less than One Hundred Dollars, and of not more than Five Hundred Dollars, or by both such imprisonment and fine, unless such person prove that he was not aware and had no reasonable ground to suspect that the man so harboured, concealed, or assisted was a deserter or absent from the force without leave, or in default in respect of any of the obligations or requirements aforesaid."

COMMERCIAL MAN IN POLICE COURT

Did Not Have Military Papers But Allowed to go as he is Married—Liquor and Robbery Cases Heard.

Frank Cairns, Toronto, a well known commercial traveller, appeared in the police court yesterday morning, charged by the military police with not having in his possession any military service papers.

Cairns stated he was 37 years old, married, and on account of his age had not registered and since he was a traveller he did not carry his marriage license and believed the military police would never suspect him.

Major Starr and Major Gordon Johnson appeared on behalf of the militia for prosecution.

A citizen upon making an affidavit that he knew Cairns was married, the defendant was allowed to go.

The military authorities urged that a penalty of $50, or thirty days in jail, be struck on Cairns, as he had not complied with the law, but His Honor concluded that since the affidavit furnished was good enough for the military authorities, he believed that it was good enough for the civil authorities and granted Cairns his freedom.

One man appeared on a charge of becoming drunk on lemon extract. He pleaded guilty and was remanded.

In the afternoon, due to the absence of Rev. W. D. Wilson, the liquor cases scheduled to come up were postponed until Monday afternoon. The four violators were informed of the fact and are now out on deposit.

John Fitzmaurice, charged with having liquor in his possession, was fined $50.

Francis Connolly was fined $50 on the charge of having liquor in his possession on Hilyard street.

J. Haydon was fined $8 on a charge of drunkenness.

Minnie Burns, charged with having lemon extract on her premises, and with stealing $10 from a returned soldier, was freed of the latter charge by suspended sentence, as the evidence was insufficient for committal, and was remanded on the liquor charge, which will come up Monday next.

Another violator of the liquor law was remanded to jail to await the arrival of the liquor inspector.

A resident of City Road, arrested a time ago by inspectors McAlain and Garnett, appeared to answer a charge of having liquor in his possession for sale. He was let out on a deposit until Monday as he was ill.

Two small boys appeared on a charge of stealing goods from Capt. Scammell's residence, 284 Douglas Avenue.

Capt. Scammell gave evidence, telling of the breaks made into his residence, while he was absent in Campbellton. Last August the house was broken into, but no material damage was done beyond the breaking of a window.

A week ago Sunday another break was discovered, and some articles stolen. Detective Biggins was placed on the job and soon found the goods in the possession of the boys in court.

The goods were then produced, including a Waltham watch, valued at $22; four stickpins valued at $28, and numerous other articles. Entrance was made into the unoccupied residence by means of breaking the glass in an upper window and pushing up the lower sash. General haulage was made when 14 windows on the back end of the house and some on the sides were broken by means of stones. The windows were double, as the owner had placed storm sashes on very late.

A door panel was hacked and chipped by means of a chisel or some other instrument. Capt. Scammell recognized one of the boys in court as having frequently given him money for piling up wood in his residence, and had rewarded him often for running little errands for him.

The case will be resumed today. The boys were then remanded. It is felt that Capt. Scammell may not press the charge on account of the size of the boys, but nevertheless the parents may be obliged to make good all the damages to the house.

COL. WEDDERBURN NOW IN COMMAND

Took Over Duties as O. C. of 7th C. G. R. Yesterday—Other Late Military News.

Lieut.-Col. Wedderburn, mentioned a few days ago as the future commanding officer of the Seventh Canadian Garrison unit at St. John, took over his new duties yesterday.

The appointment is a popular one, as Colonel Wedderburn's past military career enables him to fill the position nobly, and congratulations on behalf of civilians who know his record, as well as of the militia, are being showered on him.

No change, it is stated, will be made among the junior officers of this unit as was rumored a short time ago. Captain Norman McLeod, 300 Watson street, St. John West, has been gazetted a major, according to recent word received by his wife. Major McLeod has been overseas three and a half years, and is the proud possessor of a military cross with medal attached. At the present time he is attached to the 5th Canadian Siege Battery, having been transferred from the ammunition column.

J. Louis Slattery, formerly of The Gazette, Montreal, has been seriously ill for the past few weeks, but is recovering.

Why Can't I Get To Sleep?

Thousands of people all over the country ask this question, but still continue to toss about all night on a sleepless bed, and it is impossible for them to get a full night's refreshing sleep.

Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quieted except by the pernicious use of opium or narcotics. Or again, you have heart palpitation, and sensation of sinking, a feeling you are going to die, or perhaps you wake up in your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and the only way you can get relief is to sit up in bed.

To all who suffer in this way Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer an inestimable boon. They bring back the much-needed night's rest by improving the tone of the nerves, strengthening the heart, circulating the blood, and making the whole organization act in harmony—then you sleep as peacefully as a child.

Mrs. Jas. Latimer, 39 Leinster street, St. John, N. B., writes: "At night I could not sleep. I had to sit up in bed, my heart beat so fast, and when I walked up stairs I would get all out. I heard of friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after using two boxes, I can sleep all night and am not out of breath after walking."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

AWAIT DAILY THE WAR BOARD AWARD

Dominion Express Company Employees Expecting Word to Arrive from Ottawa Regarding Investigation.

The employees of the Dominion Express Company await daily the award of the War Board, appointed by the Federal Government to investigate the demands of the employees, such was the statement made yesterday by two employees of the company. A short time ago the company and representatives of the men met, as was agreed by a concession at the time of the strike of the employees, but unfortunately no decision was arrived at.

The men then decided to go out on a second strike, which would affect 8,000 employees in the eastern division, until their demands were conceded to. A few hours before the strike was to be declared, each division received notice that the War Board was appointed to investigate, and decide the questions at issue concerning a wage schedule. Hence the proposed strike was called off and the War Board took up the matter at Ottawa on October 16. This board a short time ago while in session notified each division that they wished until November 1st to make a thorough investigation, and give an immediate report on that date, or near that time.

The War Board was readily conceded to by the employees, who went about the matter in a quiet, sensible manner, and are now awaiting in suspense the award of their demands.

The award may be known today, and it is believed by the men in general that the findings of this commission will be entirely satisfactory to them, as was their work on the problems facing the Canadian Northern employees, who were given 75 per cent. of their demands.

A like comparison to the decision given the Canadian Northern employees is expected by the men in the eastern division of the C. P. R. employees, and the men hope to be able to announce this decision in a few days.

MANY THOUSAND REFUGEES TO CROSS INTO HOLLAND

Many of Fugitives Show Marks of Intense Suffering and Hardship.

NOT KNOWN IF HUNS TO DEFEND ANTWERP

Dutch Troops Constantly Guard Frontier—Sound of Guns Heard.

By H. W. SMITH.

(Special Cable to the N. Y. Tribune and the St. John Standard.)

Amsterdam, Nov. 1.—A few days ago it was announced that 25,000 refugees from Northern France and Belgium are expected to cross into Holland at Nijmegen and North Antwerp and ever since their arrival has been awaited day and night. Doctors have gone to Nijmegen today to carry out medical inspection, but neither they nor the Red Cross authorities in the town know the time of arrival or even whether the refugees will come at all. If the Germans have decided definitely to defend Antwerp it is likely that they will divert the stream away to the east, where already at West and Litvoort there are large numbers of poor people, who, from the Cambrai and Douai regions have been arriving since Sunday.

The first batches are leaving the train for Utrecht, whence they will be distributed to camps in Northern Holland. Many show marks of severe suffering, though the number left behind in hospitals is comparatively small. There is nothing in the appearance of these people to show that the hands of the clock have not been pushed back to 1914, when the same scenes were familiar on their frontier, and their anxiety about family belongings and their solicitude for tiny children and sick relatives are as touching as then.

All feel, however, that though they are now exiles, they are really on their way back home. All are confident that in a few weeks the Allies will have cleared their country of the invader and in the meantime they congratulate themselves on being out of his power.

"How good it is," said one girl, "to be relieved of Germans. Life under them was not life at all."

Some refugees say they have not tasted milk for four years, though bread in Holland is not so good as that to which they have been used, owing to the distribution of American flour by the relief committee. All speak gratefully of their treatment here where the hospitality of the Dutch has been prompt and adequate, as seen in the towns through which the people passed on their way north.

Before leaving their communes they obtained from local authorities bonds or vouchers in form of receipts for some of a franc and a half, and one franc respectively. These were agreed on for daily subsistence for adults and children respectively, and receipts of guaranteed repayment after the war to such persons as supply the needs of the pilgrims and refugees of the state. In no instance were these receipts asked for or accepted.

Meantime if there are no refugees here, there are rumors to spare. There is hardly a village between here and the St. Eloi where the Germans are not reported to have crossed the frontier and been interned by the Dutch. A few certainly do cross here and there. I am told today that about one hundred arrived by boat at Fushing, it now seems unlikely that there is any large body of Germans who have been isolated and forced to enter, though the Dutch military are taking measures everywhere. The enemy has been obliged to abandon large quantities of material, but retreat so far has been made in good order.

There was a considerable deal of military activity on this side of the frontier at Ardenburg with the sound of guns in the near distance. The alarm was sounded and troops left for the frontier. There was something like a panic at Eode and part of the population left the town.

The people of these frontier villages are almost in sight as well as in sound of battle. During the fight for Maldeghem and Strooburg, the wounded could be clearly seen being attended in dugouts and lying in the open. There was a body of a dead German officer on a white horse in the distance sheltered by a number of men of machine battalions, some of whom came to the frontier and talked variously of war.

One declared stoutly that Germany will still win but he failed to impress his companions who said that the case was now one of "hard running."

A number of people from Bruges passed here tonight on their way to Amsterdam. They stated that life at Bruges was already beginning to assume a satisfactory some of its old aspects. One man told the story of a dealer in antiques who had succeeded in hiding from the Germans a stock of old copper. He had they left town before he unearthed it again and put it on view. Another popular hero is old Dupan, carillonneur, who though long ago pensioned, climbed up again to the belfry tower to ring out old times now become songs of deliverance.

SHOT AND KILLED FOR STEALING POLES

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 28.—Oscar Smith of Warren, died at Hoston Hospital from a revolver bullet wound in his abdomen. George Greenleaf, who shot on $1,000 bail for the shooting, claims he saw a man prowling around his wood pile at his home in Warren last Thursday evening, and fired his revolver twice, intending to scare the intruder.

FIGHTS INCOGNITO WITH THE OLD 69TH

Col. Charles D. Hine Sneaks Back on Leave and Fights in Ranks in the St. Mihiel Battle.

From overseas comes the tale of a Colonel who loved his old command so much that when he was transferred from it he seized the first chance to sneak back, incognito, and go over the top with his boys.

"By gracious," said one of the dough boys, suddenly getting a flash of the old boss' face, "our old Colonel!" The story is printed in The Stars and Stripes, the newspaper of the A. E. F., and the Colonel it talks about is Charles DeLano Hine, the man who trained the old Sixty-ninth Regiment, the man who rode at its head so proudly up Fifth Avenue; the man who converted half baked militiamen into the finest regular troops in the world. Here's the story:

An American Colonel who came to France with an infantry regiment several months ago, and who had fathered it through many trials and troubles from the day war was declared until that eventful night it went into battle with a French division, started blankly through an open window one morning a few weeks ago while on his desk lay an order relieving him of his command.

Order Relieves Him.

"The order went on to say that owing to the great number of men available for infantry leaders, while but few were available for the task which he was to take over, it was quite necessary to relieve him in order that the machinery of the army should move on without interruption, and so on.

"The Colonel's fatherly eyes filled with tears as he turned over in his mind the proposition that lay before him. He cared little for that other thing he was to take hold of and wrestle with; it was nothing compared with his regiment, although, by all probability, it meant more than a division in turning the wheels of an army when it came right down to figures.

"It was a sad evening, both for the Colonel and his regiment, when he said good-bye to officers and men and left for a three weeks' vacation before taking over his new job.

"Two weeks passed and the Colonel was about to spend the last of his three weeks' vacation at a famous watering place in France when one evening he received word that his old regiment was about to take part in a great battle.

"That night the Colonel left by midnight train and travelled all night and late into the next day. At the end of the railroad he procured an automobile and travelled by a familiar road until after dusk.

"Presenting himself at regimental headquarters he shook hands with a grinning orderly and asked for the commanding officer.

"The new Colonel of the regiment shook hands with him and after a cordial welcome asked if there was anything he could do for the Colonel.

"Yes," said the old commander, "can I stick around for a while and eat at the officers' mess for a few days?"

"You certainly can," said the new Colonel, "and we're mighty glad to have you."

"The next day the regiment went into battle and helped deliver the thrust that wiped out the St. Mihiel salient.

"During the first hour of the battle, as the regiment swept through a town that lay in its wake, a private observed an American soldier going in and out of buildings looking for Germans. Later both entered the same building and killed two Germans who were operating a machine gun. After that they romped off down the street and captured a dozen Germans in a cellar.

"As the two were bringing back their prisoners an M. P. flashed a light on them. The M. P. suddenly straightened up and saluted.

"My God!" said the other private, as the light played over their faces, "our old Colonel!"

"That was the best part of my vacation," the Colonel declared after it was all over.

INFLUENZA IS STILL RAGING IN ENGLAND

Situation so Serious That it is Causing General Nervousness.

By Arthur S. Draper.

(Special Cable to New York Tribune and St. John Standard.)

London, Nov. 1.—So many deaths from influenza have occurred here that the situation is causing general nervousness. The newspapers urge strong action by the government, pleading that the public is prepared for any inconvenience if drastic measures can bring the epidemic under control.

Prominent medical men do not concur in the opinion that the disease has yet reached its maximum intensity. Epidemics always accompany and follow wars and it is asked on all sides whether the disease is not something more than influenza.

That it is some type of septic pneumonia has been suggested. The government is considering the situation, the public nervousness appears likely, according to physicians, to cause an increase rather than a decrease in the number of cases.

It is estimated that in the past week 2,000 people have died in England and Wales. Scotland is also suffering heavily. In Glasgow alone there were 510 deaths last week.

Influenza is reported raging in Ireland where special prayers for relief are being offered by the people. The Duke of Orleans, brother of Queen Amelie of Portugal, is lying in London, afflicted with pneumonia. His condition is causing much anxiety.

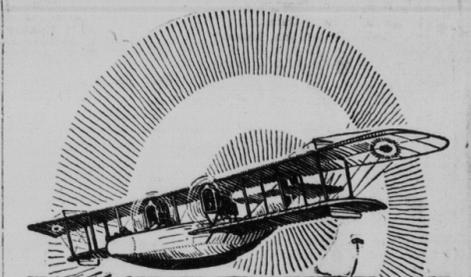

Mrs. Flatbush—So your husband is "somewhere in France?"

Mrs. Bensonhurst—So I believe. Mrs. Flatbush—But don't you know where? Mrs. Bensonhurst—No. Mrs. Flatbush—Don't you feel somewhat concerned? Mrs. Bensonhurst—Why, no. When he was here I knew he was somewhere in America, but half of the time I didn't know where.—Yonkers Statesman.

MADE TO MEASURE

Woolens are soaring out of sight—same with linings and trimmings and everything that a tailor uses. Retail prices of custom tailors and ready-made stores will soon stagger the senses. THIS IS THE ABSOLUTE TRUTH, as the newspapers and trade papers will tell you. To make a bad situation worse, every tailor and clothing manufacturer—no matter how large or small—has fairly to beg the mills for goods, due to enormous government orders, and then gets only a handful. Do you appreciate the critical situation?

Our honest advice is not only to order a Suit at once, but to order TWO, THREE or even FOUR SUITS and a WARM OVERCOAT without an hour's delay.

THE PEOPLE OF ALBERTA OBJECT TO MENNONITES

Daughters of Empire Voice Protest Against Members of This German Sect Coming from United States to Canada.

(The Winnipeg Telegram.) German Mennonites have established their first school at the Buck ranch, 85 miles south of Lethbridge, six miles south of Raymond. It may be a legal school within the meaning and intention of the Alberta School Act and the announcement of the provincial minister of education, but an inspection of the schoolroom, Saturday, Sept. 21, by the writer disclosed German text books in the room, spread out in the wall rack as if lessons had recently been taught from them, and on the slates were German primary lessons, all written in German. If there were any text books in English they were not on the walls, nor desks, nor anywhere else in sight from the inspection. There was nothing to be seen but cards written apparently by children in German, copies of books written in German, published in 1916 by C. Witters, of St. Louis, Mo., and German characters written on the small slates.

When the inspection was made about a dozen Mennonite women and as many children of ages between 8 and 16 were in the building. They had come from one of the new community halls being constructed a few rods away. All spoke English fluently, though with a strong German accent among the adults. The children appeared unusually bright and conversed wholly in English. Some of the adults used German in talking with each other. They appeared quite communicative. With the writer was a well-known barrister of Lethbridge, a pioneer in southern Alberta and until recently occupying a position in the provincial government. One of the elderly women said, when asked they had a German school: "No, we must learn nothing but English now," and when she spoke in German to one of the other women, they all laughed. She said she had a teacher but he was not around at that time. She said, "some man come and say they make us a school, but we tell him that we have a school."

Boy Would Only Study German. A 12-year-old boy who seemed very intelligent, remarked that they would only study German. He asked the lawyer, "are you a soldier, do you believe in fighting?" The lawyer explained to the little fellow that it might be necessary to go to war for right and justice, but the little chap shook his head and said, "No, no, he must be right, it is not right, I would not fight. We no fight."

When asked where the school books were, he replied, "upstairs." The conversation occurred on the ground floor of the building where the crowd had gathered after the writer and the lawyer had gone up into the schoolroom and examined the place. When he told that only German text books had been found up in the schoolroom, he seemed puzzled and then repeated, "We make English school now, we speak English."

Daughters of Empire Voice Protest. So much adverse comment has been provoked all over southern Alberta by reports that these people came here from the States to avoid military service and had established a German school, that the Daughters of the Empire held a meeting at Lethbridge and petitioned the federal government to prevent others of the sect coming in and to have these removed if it was legal to do so. The provincial government last week, because of these rumors, issued this statement: "So far as the department of education is concerned no special privileges of any kind will be extended to these new settlers. They will be required to conduct and support public schools under the law of this province, to use our authorized text books, to use only the English language, to employ teachers with proper Alberta qualifications and to satisfy regularly appointed inspectors in the employ of the department."

CANADIAN SOLDIER FIGURES IN TRAGIC ENGLISH MYSTERY

Skeleton of London Woman Found Near Ascot After She Had Been Dead Five Weeks - Court Investigation.

(By Mail.) London, Eng., Oct. 5. (By Mail.) The woman found dead last week in "Madman's Wood," Sunningdale, near Ascot, Eng., has been identified as Mrs. Louise Gates, aged twenty-three of 12 Elizabeth street, Watworth. She left home on the morning of Sunday, August 18, telling her landlady that she was going by car to Waterloo Station, there to get a train for Sunningdale.

The "Madman's wood," in which the body was found, is a lonely spot about 100 yards away from the main London-Portsmouth road. The discovery was made by an elderly laborer named Joseph Chandler, who was cutting bracken. Inspector Simmons stated at the inquest that the body was fully dressed, except for the hat, which had been placed, apparently carefully, aside by the woman's umbrella, about two yards away. There were no signs of a struggle, and obviously any signs which there may have been must long ago have been eliminated by the natural growth of vegetation and heavy rain. "Where the neck should have been," the inspector told the coroner—for the body was little more than a skeleton—"was a string of pearl beads."

The most sinister point in the discovery of the body was that the waist strap of the woman's mackintosh was missing from the coat. It was found beneath the body in a hole in the ground. All the cooking is done in common. Before the land was purchased a committee of Mennonites went over every acre with spades, turning over the soil almost every rod. This inspection took weeks. They made notes they secured an analysis of the soil and employed the best legal talent of Lethbridge to examine the deeds. These were made to the committee of three, but papers of incorporation are being drawn up under the brotherhood plan whereby all will share in the land and its products "as stewards of the Lord," as they term it.

Every bit of work on the buildings and pipes has been done by the men, no outside help being employed, and the substantial work testifies to their skill. A committee is out all the time buying young stock and, it is said, the school building was the first to be made habitable, but, and this is not to say these German primary readers in the schoolroom are there to teach the children English, for they know primary English. What are they there for? That is what the people want to know, and they are real vigorous in their protests. Community dwellers are not wanted in this thrifty section. Then, too, they thought the best land in the south was after every big block down here. That alone makes them unpopular.

self and was found round her neck. Dr. Charles Moody Whitridge, who was called to the body, stated that it was far too decomposed for him to form any opinion as to the cause of death, or to discover whether there had been any indications of physical violence. The most important part of the doctor's evidence was his statement that in the mouth, right back to the throat, was stuffed a tightly-rolled handkerchief. Identification evidence was given by Mrs. Margaret Lillian Silvester, of 12 Elizabeth street, Watworth, who identified the brooches and necklaces as belonging to Mrs. Gates, and stated that the clothes found on the body were similar to those in which Mrs. Gates left her on Aug. 18. Mrs. Gates took and furnished rooms in her house two years ago. Her husband was away from home and the woman, when she left, told witnesses that she was going to Sunningdale and expected to return that night. Since the moment when she saw Mrs. Gates on to the tramcar she had never seen nor heard anything of her.

This was the end of the evidence produced for the time being by the police, but there was a sensation when the coroner, after reading through a letter, turned to a Canadian soldier in court and asked him if he wished to say anything. "What do you want me to say?" asked the soldier. The coroner: "You are not obliged to say anything, but you can speak if you wish to. Do you know Mrs. Louise Gates?" The Canadian, who gave his name as Vance Needham, thereupon said he did know the woman as living at 12 Elizabeth st. A letter produced by the coroner was written by him. It referred to his seeing the woman one Sunday. "It was some time ago," he added. He did not see her, continued the soldier, because on that day the train got in at 1.30 and he did not get to the station until after two o'clock. Not seeing her there he thought she had not come, and went directly back to camp. After tea he went to St. John's. "As she did not come I just let it go at that," he told the coroner. He had had no more to do with her. He had not written to her and had not heard from her since.

Without Music You Cannot Live a Full Life. Music is now recognized as a necessity in the home. Music feeds the soul, as food feeds the body and literature feeds the brain. Next to religion, it is humanity's greatest comforter. The New Edison opens the doors to the world of music. It brings the supreme art of the greatest singers, instrumentalists and musical organizations to you with such unerring fidelity that the artists themselves could give you no more. The NEW EDISON "The Phonograph with a Soul" does not merely imitate; it actually RE-CREATES. Before audiences totalling more than two millions, thirty great artists have conducted tone tests which proved that no shade of difference could be detected between the artist and the instrument. They have sung in direct comparison with the New Edison, then suddenly ceased, permitting the instrument to continue alone. The only way the listeners could tell when the artist stopped was by watching his lips. And with the lights lowered they were unable to say when it was the living voice they heard and when the New Edison. Could a more convincing test than this be devised? Doesn't it prove the truth of our assertion that ownership of this instrument is equivalent to having all the great artists of the world literally at one's command? Come in and hear the New Edison here, or allow us to send one to your home, where you can hear it at your leisure. W. H. THORNE & CO. Ltd., 42 Prince William St., ST. JOHN, N. B. NEW BRUNSWICK: A. E. New York, Nov. 1.—Wall Street today registered its further conviction of an early cessation of the world conflict by renewed buying of various issues commonly designated as peace stocks, whereas war stocks and related shares were heavy under con-rant pressure.

FORMER BANDIT KILLED IN WAR
Boston, Nov. 1.—William Manogue, alias William Clayton, a former bandit who made daring raids on railroad ticket offices in many cities in 1913 and was paroled from the Massachusetts State Prison so he could go to war, was killed in action in France Oct. 13. Officials at the prison received word from Boston that Manogue fell while fighting with a Canadian unit.
Manogue was captured in Boston in 1913 after being chased through downtown streets. He had held a position as clerk in a Washington street ticket office at bay while he ransacked the tills. When Manogue came to Boston he was wanted for ticket office robberies in Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York.
Manogue had served less than one-half of a ten-year's sentence when he

RUB YOUR BACK! STOPS LUMBAGO
Don't drug kidneys! Rub the pain right out with old "St. Jacobs Liniment"

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp spasms and twinges? Now, listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe rheumatism, and it's not a disease, it's a symptom. It's a sign that your kidneys are not doing their duty. It's a sign that your back is suffering from lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never be hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years. Stop drugging kidneys! They don't cause lumbago, because they have no nerves, therefore can't cause pain.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up
This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick relief of any cough, whether it be a cold, whooping cough, bronchial asthma or a winter cough.
To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.
Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.
To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Dear Mother:—

A COLLECTION OF HISTORICAL OBJECTS GIVEN

Many Articles of Interest Presented to the Natural History Society by Mrs. C. E. L. Jarvis.

Perhaps the most important donation which the Natural History Society has received during the past year for its museum is a collection of historical objects just presented by Mrs. C. E. L. Jarvis. Many of these are of considerable value and of great historic interest, and range from objects which were brought to St. John by the Loyalist ancestors of the Jarvis family, to interesting modern souvenirs from foreign lands.

Two specimens, which are of special interest to historians, are a well preserved cradle and clock, brought from Stamford, Conn., in the good ship "Mary Anne" by Munson Jarvis, United Empire Loyalist. The most showy objects in the collection are three military uniforms. The first of these is a lieutenant colonel's uniform of eighty years ago, complete with the exception of sword, boots and spurs. These were the days of the "Pomp and circumstance" of war. The gorgeous uniforms of the officers of those days are in striking contrast to the quiet khaki of today. This uniform was worn by Lieut.-Col. Edward Lutwiche Jarvis, who commanded the Queen's Rangers about 1848.

The tunic is dark green with scarlet facings, and with splendid gold epaulets and trimmings; the trousers are also dark green with a broad gold stripe.

In the second uniform the tunic is scarlet with yellow facings and was worn by the late C. E. L. Jarvis when an officer in the local militia. The third is an officer's mess jacket of the early days and is a very fine example of military tailoring.

Cross belts, sword belts, cartridge pouches and other military accoutrements belonging to some of the early New Brunswick military regiments form a part of the collection.

In addition to the strictly military objects are a number of pistols, powder flasks, shot bag, powder horns and some interesting examples of cartridge boxes.

Other objects in this collection are some old waistcoats of the days when the gentlemen wore stocks. They were very brilliantly colored, showing that the masculine taste has undergone a change regarding these articles of wearing apparel.

Two knockers, a very substantial old fashioned door knocker and a knocker of another kind, a small leather covered one, or billy, weighted at the end and having an elastic shaft, commonly called a "Black Jack." These formidable little weapons were frequently carried in the old days when the streets were not so well lighted nor the police so numerous as at present.

A leather trunk with brass trimmings, formerly owned by Lieut.-Col. E. L. Jarvis, is a good example of the kind of chest used by gentlemen when traveling in the early part of the 19th century.

Some interesting books complete the collection. The collection will be on display at the museum and the public will have an opportunity then of seeing one of the finest historical collections in the Natural History Museum.

LEARN OF PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

Y. W. C. A. National Immigration Secretary Will Travel West, Looking Into Plans for Immigration in Future.

In looking forward to the constructive period which is bound to come after peace has been proclaimed, the Dominion Council of the Y. W. C. A. has arranged to send its National Immigration Secretary, Mrs. E. A. Bunting-Ham, through to the Pacific coast, stopping off at important towns. Mrs. Bunting-Ham will attend to ascertain the various societies and organizations already interested in immigration and the home coming of soldiers' wives and families, and to learn what may be their plans for the future. So many of these societies overlap, and if there is to be any real accomplishment in helping and protecting the immigrant, there must be a great co-operation and centralization of effort.

FORMER ST JOHN MAN REMEMBERED IN THE PAUL KEITH WILL

Robert G. Larsen Will Be One of the B. F. Keith Theatre Co.—Company Stock Distributed Between Him and Three Others.

The Imperial Theatre, St. John, and theatres at Montreal and Manchester, N.B., which were controlled by the late A. Paul Keith, who died of pneumonia in New York this week, are bequeathed to Mr. Edward F. Albee of New York, in the will of Mr. Keith, which has just been filed for probate. Mr. Albee, who formerly resided in Boston, was for many years the right hand man of the late B. F. Keith, father of the testator. The funeral of the latter will be held today in Boston.

A former St. John man, Robert G. Larsen, will be one of the owners of the B. F. Keith Theatre Co., which owns the Boston house and other theatres. The stock of the company will be distributed among Mr. Larsen, Mr. Albee, Walter P. Cooke of Buffalo, Maurice Good of New York, while all rights to the Bijou Theatre in Philadelphia are left to the same persons.

The will containing personal bequests more than $500,000, and a bequest of $25,000 to the class fund of the class of 1911 of Harvard University, of which Paul Keith was a member. The latter sum is to be paid on the 25th Anniversary of his graduation.

The residue of the estate is left to His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell of the Roman Catholic Church, Boston, to be used for charitable purposes, and to the president and fellows of Harvard College in equal shares.

Mr. Larsen, a beneficiary under the will, was formerly a newspaper man in St. John and Boston, and the theatre was present agent of the Keith interests at Boston.

Nothing is known here regarding the future of the Imperial Theatre, but it is presumed that it will continue under Mr. Albee's direction, unless he should decide to transfer the property. The Keiths conducted two theatres in Bangor, Me., for some time out the Bijou and Park theatres were transferred by them last year to J. Norman Towle and Stephen Bossett.

PRIVATE W. J. HALL STILL GOING STRONG

Sends German Helmet He Captured During Recent Drive in France — Says Huns Are Beaten.

Mrs. W. J. Hall of 48 Trussell St. received a letter yesterday from her husband, who is one of the brave St. John soldiers who is with the famous Fighting 20th in France, assisting in the defeat of an interesting and the great record made by this well-known New Brunswick Battalion. The letter was dated October 12th, and in part Private Hall tells his wife that the unit to which he belongs is being kept extremely busy at the present time chasing the Germans. He says that it is a continual retreat for the enemy, and that they are losing thousands of men killed and a great number are being taken prisoners and appear to be glad to fall into the hands of the Allies. Private Hall says that from the time the Allies have been winning during the past few months there is a feeling among the Canadian soldiers that it won't be long before the Kaiser throws up his hands and surrenders like the others. It has been victory upon victory for the Allies, and the Germans are now receiving the severe whipping that they deserve.

A parcel from the front trenches was also received yesterday by Mrs. Hall from her husband, and when the wrappings were taken off the soldier's wife was surprised to find a German helmet that her husband had managed to capture during one of the big drives. The hero remembered that this is about the time for his wife's birthday and he jokingly remarks in his letter that the German helmet is sort of a birthday present for her.

The helmet is constructed of a light grey felt inside and out with a sheet of steel in between. On the top is a brass spear, while on the front is a brass shield surmounted with the Prussian eagle, and across the front is a scroll and the motto: "Mit Gott Für König Und Vaterland," and in the centre in large letters is "F. R."

Mrs. Hall greatly prizes the gift from her brave husband at the front, and hopes that he will soon be able to return home to her and their children.

THE SCHOONER ELK FOUNDERED OFF GRAND MANAN

Sea Disaster Thursday Afternoon—Captain Harris and Charles Barnes Narrowly Escaped Drowning.

It was learned last night that during a heavy storm on Thursday afternoon the schooner Elk, founded off Southern Head, Grand Manan, in the Bay of Fundy, and that Capt. Ernest Harris and Charles Barnes, the engineer, narrowly escaped death by drowning. The vessel, which was equipped with a new thirty-five horsepower crude oil burning engine, was valued at more than $5,000.

The Elk sprung a leak during the trip on which she was taking in herling for the sardine factories at Eastport. The high wind and pouring rain made it impossible for the men to summon assistance before the craft began to fill. The pump failed to free the vessel when the leak was first noticed, and the water continued to rain until the engine was useless.

When it was seen that the craft would undoubtedly go down, Engineer Barnes endeavored to get a boat overboard. The men sighted another vessel before they could get the boat aboard the Elk took a sudden plunge and sank beneath the waves. Capt. Harris and Engineer Barnes floundered in the water for several minutes, and they were picked up just in time. Their rescuer was Capt. Frank Calder, of Grand Manan, master of the Eva H. The Eva H. took the rescued men to Eastport later.

The Elk was built at Roque Bluffs, Me. In 1904, and was recently equipped with an engine. When she foundered she had 35 hogsheads of fish, valued at nearly $1,000. She was owned by the Seacoast Canning Co. of Eastport, and was the first sardine vessel to be lost this year.

Reports from down the bay and about the Passamaquoddy straits, that there has been a good run of fish for some time, and the fishermen and cannery are making up for lost time during the summer months in so far as they can.

BOARD OF TRADE RECEIVES COPY

Board of Railway Commissioners Sends Copy of New Regulation Relation to Inter-Switching of Freight.

The secretary of the Board of Trade has received from the Board of Railway Commissioners a copy of the new regulation relating to inter-switching of freight. General order No. 230 dealing with this matter was objected to by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association on the ground that it did away with competition. This clause has been struck out and the following inserted in its place:

"Should a team track shipper express order his shipment to be inter-switched to another carrier notwithstanding that the initial carrier whose team tracks the car has been loaded can furnish at the destination, or by inter-switching, the actual delivery and facilities as the said other carrier at no greater charge, the said initial carrier may in lieu of the toll prescribed in section 6 charge and collect the ordinary published rate to the interchange, which rate shall be a lawful additional charge against the shipment."

It is noted, however, that this alternative shall not be lawful and section 6 shall not apply, if within forty-eight hours after the shipper has requested the said initial carrier falls to place suitable car reasonably convenient or loading."

EFFECT OF RECENT EPIDEMIC ON THE OPERATING STAFF

Many of the N. B. Telephone Co. Operators Have Been Ill—Fifteen Per Cent. of City Staff Absent.

The recent epidemic of colds, grip and influenza which has been prevalent throughout the province, has affected the operating staff in the various exchanges of the N. B. Telephone Co. a great deal.

In this city during the past two weeks there has been an absence of 16 operators per day, with a maximum of 18 at one time. This is equivalent to about 15 per cent. of the operating staff.

At Fredericton the absence has been, for the past week or so, about ten operators per day, out of a total of 21, a very large percentage, with a consequent serious inconvenience in service.

In Moncton the epidemic does not seem to have become prevalent, although several operators have been absent from the company's office. Port Belin, Stanley and Grand Falls are the smaller offices, seem to have been out the hardest hit. In each of these three offices, comprising the staff in each office, two of whom have been out on account of illness.

Bathurst out of a staff of four three have been ill. At Campbellton 50 per cent. of the force has been laid up, and outside assistance has been necessary. In every office more or less trouble has resulted, even with the toll operators.

There seems to be the evidence, however, that the epidemic, so far as telephone operators are concerned, is not growing any, and the management are in hopes that the coming week will show a tendency back towards normal.

It's Silence and Night and The Smell of the Dead

*And horror's not from terrible things—
men torn to rags by a shell,
And the whole trench swimming in blood and slush, like a butcher's shop in Hell!
It's silence and night and the smell of the dead that shakes a man to the soul,
From Misery Farm to Dead Man's Ditch on a "no report" patrol.*

*Five men back to the trench again, with a one-star loot in charge,
Stumbling over the rusty tins and cursing blind and large.*

*Enter the trench log up to date by a guttering candle's flare!
"No report" (save that Hell is dark, and we have just been there.)*

—Capt. J. H. Knight-Adkin.

Can WE Be Shaken to the Soul?

Are there elements in this war behind the lines to stir us to the sacrifice that we MUST make to keep our end up with those friends of ours who go out—some by night and some by day—but always some of them every day and every night—out into the hell of gunfire and mud and death?

The men in France realize that our stimulus is less vivid than theirs.

But they expect of us that we shall do our share—that we shall cut deep, get into the fight in a great way, put ourselves mentally, physically, spiritually, into the great passion to win which they all feel.

We must alter the whole manner of our living and do all we do from full hearts—save every dollar we can save—realizing a dollar today is touched with a sacred trust in favor of our fighting men.

We must save till the great fight is won—save with a high consecration—with a pitiless self-examination.

In this way we do that which in the end will count for victory—something which can be mentioned in the same breath with what THEY are giving—because it is ALL we can do.

And it must be done persistently, honorably, from the heart, in a way that will let us take those men by the hand and look them in the eyes without flinching.

We Must Buy Bonds to Our Utmost!

DANIEL

London House Head of King St.

Ambassador Gerard Says:

"The German Armies were held only a few days, yet the day of those few days changed the fortunes of the whole world."

The Belgian soldiers who held on those few days, died fighting. Their children are dying of slow starvation. It would be well to digest these two statements.

If we grasp what this situation means, we can SAVE Belgium—not by the sword, but by paying our debt in part.

A contribution of a few dollars, administered by the Canadian Bureau in Brussels, will restore health and strength to a little Belgian, now in the grip of pitiless starvation. Oh, it is hard to write calmly and sanely about a horror that is positively ghastly...

Growing children struggling along on a bowl of soup and two pieces of bread a day, furnished by United States loans to the Belgian Government. . . . Poor little mites, what hope is there in such a ration of building flesh and bone? No wonder Consumption and Rickets stalk through the stricken land.

Through the Belgian Relief Fund, YOU can help to alleviate this horror for at least one little sufferer. You needn't forego your three good meals a day to do it. Send in your contribution. Mark it "For the Belgian Children". And whatever you give, give quickly!

THE TEST.

Johnny—Huh! I bet you didn't have a good time at your birthday party yesterday.

White—I bet I did.

Johnny—Then why ain't you sick today?

IF ALL FRENCH WERE AS EASY.

The French word "stata" is a freak of a word, though its freakishness is slightly marred by the master of singular and plural. Spell it backwards and you have its meaning in English.

MIS REVENGE.

She stood there and glared at him. "And you mean to stand there and ask me to press your trousers?" she demanded.

"Why, yes, my dear," responded Mr. Stubb. "Is that asking too much?"

"I should say it is, John Henry Stubb. I'd have you to know that when you married me you did not marry a mistress."

"That evening his turn came. "John, dear," said Mrs. Stubb, "just button up my blouse before you go; there's a good man."

"Nay, nay, Maria. When you got accepted me you did not say 'yes' to a buttonhook, and picking up his hat he departed, leaving Maria too amazed to answer."

HER CARELESSNESS.

The Mistress—"The master seemed exceptionally well this morning, cook. He went off to the city whistling."

The Cook—"Yes mum; it was my carelessness, I 'ad an accident an' made 'is porridge with birdseed."

ONE DIRECTION.

Paddy Malone was very ill and it was considered advisable to call in the doctor. The doctor at length arrived and said to Paddy:

Now, you must be very careful and follow the right direction for taking this pill.

Arrah, go on wid ye, cried Pat; sure there's only one direction for it to go.

TIT-BITS.

Short, Snappy Sn'items—Several Subjects.

THE CHINESE BOY.

When the Chinese boy is old enough he grows a queue. This event in the boy's life is as important as our American boy's first long trousers, and he feels that now he is no longer a child but a man.

The queue has many uses. In many of the games played by Chinese boys the queue figures as an important factor. In geometry it is used to strike an arc, or draw a circle. The laborer uses it to sign, wrap his head, wrap his queue around it, and makes himself a hat.

When a Chinese parent takes his son for a walk he does not hold his hand but he takes hold of the queue. When little boys want to play horse they use their queues for reins.

What can little Chinese boys do in these days without the queue, because the mandate was issued to cut off all pigtails and China is a nation of strict laws and their enforcement.

NELL'S REWARD.

Nell was a little girl who was poor, and for that reason the class at school did not think her worthy of their friendship. So at last one day came when she could bear no longer the thoughtless way in which her classmates treated her.

Nell went home and told her mother all of her troubles. Her mother heard her tale of woe she said in a reassuring tone: "Try to win their affections by showing them you can do something which would make them proud of you in spite of your being poor."

Nell remembered her mother's words and went to school again with a lighter heart. That afternoon, she heard the principal say he was going to award a gold medal to the one who would get the highest average in the promotion tests that term. Here was her chance, and she made good of it for she was a bright child and a little study would bring her higher than the others, and she did study faithfully and diligently every day, till at last the appointed hour came, and Nell heard her name shouted through the auditorium, and up she walked to the platform to receive the honors.

When she was about to go home they all congratulated her, and she already knew she was more than a gold medal. She had won her classmates' love forever.

THE PIRATES.

"It seemed to come from the bushes over there," shouted Dick running towards the place where he had indicated. "Where are you?" he cried, as the voice was heard again.

"Here in this pit!" was the reply. "All right—we'll soon have you out!" answered Dick, who this time had reached the edge of the pit.

The pit was not very deep, but had very deep sides, making it practically impossible for anyone to climb out without the aid of the pit. Dick, however, was very much surprised at what he saw. The owner of the voice was a little old man with red eyes, a long hooked nose, and a pair of beady eyes which, in spite of the pain he seemed to be suffering, had a pleasant twinkle in them as the look of surprise crossed the boy's face.

The costume of this curious old man was very grotesque. It had once been the pride of some smart American tailor, for the "Yankee" style was much in evidence. Worn out by fortune, however, it had seen its best days, and together with a bright red scarf hanging loosely round his neck, made a most unbecoming setting for so remarkable a figure.

"Got the rope?" shouted Dick as Fred rushed on to the scene. "Here he is in this pit, and by the look of his hair's in a bad way, for his coat's covered with blood."

Seizing the rope, he made a loop in the end, and lowering it told the old man to put his foot on the shoulders, the old man did, but not without giving vent to a subdued groan, which told the boys above that

Mixed Words.

Here are some mixed words. Each is a military term. Can you solve them?

- 1—P-H-E-W-I-T-P. 2—A-R-M-T-R-O. 3—R-E-B-G-A-R-A. 4—T-I-S-S-I-L-E. 5—T-T-R-E-E-A. 6—O-D-T-U-G-U. 7—L-R-A-T-Y-L-R-E. 8—L-P-S-O-A-I-T. 9—E-N-H-S-L-A-R-P. 10—R-A-B-M-E-S-N-U.

Try This One.

My first is in live but not in die. My second is in sing and also in sign. My third is in college as well as in school. My fourth is in student but not in fool. My fifth is what boys say when they are hurt. My sixth will always be found in shirt. My seventh is number twenty-five. My eighth you will see in any five. My ninth is in gambol, but not in dance. My tenth is in England and also in France. My eleventh is found in the United States. My twelfth is the front of a pair of skates. My thirteenth is what we all wish to see. My last half we'd get from Germany.

Word Square.

I am a square of four letters. My first is a stain, my second to cherish, my third part of a stove and my fourth used in camping. Can you make me?

Do You Know Such a Word?

There are several words of three letters which form only one syllable. By adding one more letter you make a word of three syllables. How many among my kiddies can tell me such a word?

A Four Puzzle.

Here is something for the older boys and girls to work out. Can you express the value of every number from one to one hundred by using the figure four only, along with such mathematical signs as may be known to you. For instance if you write four quarters in the form of a fraction it equals one. Then again four multiplied by four, minus four, equals twelve, and four plus four plus four divided by four equals three. Every number from one to one hundred can be so expressed. Some are hard; some are easy. See what you can do with eighty-nine, for example.

Numbered Words.

My 1-2-3 is a soldier's equipment. My 5-8-7 is a fowl. My 9-2-4-5 is wealthy. My 4-6-8-9 is a joyful noise. My 2-7-4-5 is a measure. My 3-6-7 is a number. My whole is the name of a British soil dier.

Advertising.

Do you read newspaper and magazine advertisements? Well, we are a number of catch-phrases used by well-known advertisers. Look them over, and see if you can tell what article is advertised with these words. For instance in the following list everyone knows that "chases dirt" means Old Dutch Cleanser. See if you know the others.

- 1—Chases Dirt. 2—King of Pain. 3—His Master's Voice. 4—You'll Like the Flavor. 5—Contains No Alum. 6—The Standard of Excellence. 7—Have You a Little Fairy in Your Home? 8—Going! Going! Gone! 9—The Phonograph With a Soul. 10—Fifty-Seven Varieties. 11—Won't Wash Clothes. 12—Twenty-One Kinds.

Heads and Tails.

I am a wildflower. My home is in a park of Britain. My first two are male, my last three are female, but curtail me once and my last two are also male. Curtail me three times and I am warmth. Behold me and I take food.

he was hurt. Slowly they drew him and carefully laid him on the bank. The strain, however, had been too much for the poor old fellow and he fainted. The boys then observed that his arm was broken, and he had received several sharp gashes on the forehead. They bound up his wounds as skillfully as they could, and then, after wrapping him in their coats for warmth, they awaited his recovery. In a little while he showed signs of returning consciousness, and tried to rub his eyes. Finding however, that he could not raise his arm he seemed to realize what had happened.

"Thank you boys, for pulling me out of that dismal hole," he said, in a weak voice. "I should have been there for ages if you had not happened along for not many travellers come this way."

"If you'll tell us where you live, we'll take you home," said Dick. "Ah!" replied the old man, "very few people know my abode, but if you pledge yourselves to secrecy I'll show you."

The two boys gave the required promise, and the old man, seeming satisfied, started to walk back along the path by which the boys had come. He had not gone far before his strength failed him, and Dick had to support him. When they reached a clump of bushes, the guide halted, and dropping awkwardly to the ground, crawled through the bushes.

"Follow me!" he shouted. (To Be Continued)

FASHION DECREES DECISIVE JUST HOW TO DRESS FOR CHURCH—WHEN IT IS OPEN . OUTLINES FOR AUTUMN HATS

Felt Shapes Are Conspicuous By Their Absence—Fabric Hats Take a Prominent Place and Are Made in a Variety of Materials—Feathers, Ribbon and Fringe Featured as Trimmings.

Though wars are waged, the world of millinery goes serenely about its business, manufacturing, resigning and producing thousands of models that women may still feel the thrill of wearing a really truly becoming hat.

The Fabric Hat is the Hat of Hats.

Where is the felt hat of yesterday? Well, its gone by the board as far as we are concerned. Even the masculine stay-at-home will have to scramble for the familiar derby hats, and it serves them right.

Things over wire and buckram foundations that the mere absence of felt is never even mentioned. All these materials are obviously soft and supple and of rich glowing colors and silky texture.

Decisive Outline.

The tricorne, bicorne and quadricorne, especially in satin and velvet, emphasizes the beauty of line even though it be sharp. Those in hatter's plush with grosgrain ribbon arranged ers combine burnt goose with ostrich by way of contrast. Bird's wings are in strong demand as a trimming to give height or to emphasize width, also as a facing for the brim. Cock and crane feathers are offered in the newest shades, which are most attractive in all the rich autumnal tones.

Considerable novelty is produced by novel effects in braid motifs, knotted silk, shirred ribbon and felt, velvet and duvetyne touched off with angora embroidery, beads, metal threads, chenille and colored silk floss.

MISS GAIL KANE OPERATES HER OWN STUDIO TAILOR SHOP

MISS GAIL KANE, film star, known as one of the best gowned women in the profession, has been her own costume designer for several years, and now she directs her own dressmaking establishment.

All the swagger clothes Miss Kane wears in her picture productions, from full dress to riding clothes, are made right in her own wardrobe room at her New York studios.

A tailor and two women gownmakers have charge of the actual construction, while Miss Kane herself is responsible for design where dress frocks are concerned. Armand Fournier, a French tailor who came to the United States on leave after being wounded at the first battle of Verdun, on the French front, has charge of the tailoring department and is associate designer.

Four new gowns of costly material were made in the studio costume room for the latest Kane production, 'Love's Law,' soon to be issued by Mutual. One of these is an evening gown of pale yellow chiffon with black lace trimming. Another is a morning gown of blue outing material, a third an afternoon reception costume of blue chiffon and the fourth a breakfast robe of Nile green crepe de chine, lace trimmed.

"I find this the most satisfactory way of meeting emergencies that constantly arise in connection with picture productions," said Miss Kane in discussing her modiste's shop.

"Many times in the past I have had costumes made that had to be shipped from abroad, and even in the earlier days of the war it was difficult to secure prompt service. Now it is entirely out of the question. Sometimes my gowns arrived so late that fear of their non-arrival had precipitated changes in the dressing of the production involved. We had to substitute accessories or add them, using entirely different costumes than those originally intended.

"Now I am prepared for anything and everything. I can design and have made right under my own eyes any gown the script may call for within two days."

back to give height. Plumes nod over the brim coquettishly sometimes, resting on the hair or stand up with military precision. While trimmings are not laid on with lavish hand there are many novelties comprising a wide variety of ornaments adapted to all needs. Plumage ranks very high this year, especially curled and uncurled ostrich. Ostrich treated with glycerine is likewise becoming scarce. Small tips are arranged in clusters, large dashing cavalier plumes trail over the crowns and brims of hats and droop over the coiffure. Ostrich hands in several widths are used for crowns and edge of brims also employed for facing brims with the color peeping from beneath, which is one way of treating last year's hat that still remains in style so far as shape is concerned.

Burnt feathers imitating fur are a novelty and quills are featured. Other things over wire and buckram foundations that the mere absence of felt is never even mentioned.

All these materials are obviously soft and supple and of rich glowing colors and silky texture.

It is a season when the home milliner may come into her own, for everything under the sun is being done with materials. Draped and fitted effects for crowns and brims are variously handled. Sometimes the entire top of the hat, small or large, is handled in this manner. Contrasting crowns in color and material is a feature that is not only modish, but may be worked up advantageously at home.

For drapery effects, duvetyne, velours, chenille cloth, wooleens, satins and velvets are employed for the multitude of turbans and toques of various nationalities. Frequently a large hat will have a draped crown or a tam effect, with or without a piping of cord, ribbon or velvet.

Silk and velvet ribbons are charmingly employed in bow forms for a multitude of ornaments and in the new interlacing basket weaves. Fringe in silk, chenille, bead and felt are variously featured. Placed on the edge of the brim where the hat is wide, beads in pendant form suggest Spanish treatment. They are very smart in all black.

Simplicity Should Mark Costumes Chosen for Attendance at Divine Worship—'Go-To-Meeting' Clothes Should Be Inconspicuous.

The custom of putting on the best one has to wear to church is a thing of long standing. It has become so habitual that it has supplanted our language with the expressive phrase, "go-to-meeting clothes." But churchgoers will be forced to break themselves of this habit if they follow the advice given by Bishop Lines, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Newark, N. J., in a recent convention address.

In referring to the straggling Bishop Lines laid on simplicity of dress at public worship a writer in The Churchman (New York) has this to say: "The question of apparel was in an earlier time considered to be of enough importance to receive a good deal of Scriptural emphasis. One of the most pointed homilies of the church is devoted to the question. It is a subject, perhaps, all too seldom touched upon by rectors in their public teaching.

"There are congregations in the Episcopal Church which have the word fashionable stamped on every lineament and they are unashamed. This is partly the fault of the teaching. People could have been taught to see that Christian good taste makes for simplicity.

"In this connection it is a privilege to quote from a little pamphlet of suggestions for the communicants of Grace parish written by Dr. Huntington many years ago. It is very intimate and personal and was not designed for general distribution, but we believe that Dr. Huntington would not be unwilling to let our readers profit by words that were part of a message that has been built into the spiritual life of the great parish associated with his name. In speaking of dress at the Holy Communion he says:

"It is timely to add that while simplicity of attire is to be wished for on all occasions of public worship, it is especially the duty of Christian people when celebrating these holy mysteries, to avoid anything in the way of dress or personal ornament, likely to distract the attention of others, or to be even misinterpreted as ostentations."

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN.

French Women Engineers. Among 340 students who enlisted in the Ecole Centrale des Arts et Manufactures, says the Le Genie Civil, there are six young women who stand well in the class. It is believed that this number will increase considerably in succeeding years as women acquire a bent for engineering.

Calgary Y. W. C. A. would like a woman's patrol for the city.

About three million women in Great Britain are at work.

Actresses receive the highest wages for the universal conscription of women labor.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was the first American woman to enter Verdun, the only other women being nurses.

Miss Eleanor Putzki has won the Golden Eagle, the highest honor a Girl Scout can win. She is 17 years of age.

American women residing in Australia have organized an American League of Help, one of the objects being to send comforts to the American soldiers.

About thirty young women in Augusta, Ga., are taking a motor course and are being taught not only how to drive a motor truck, but how to repair it.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Girls! Draw a cloth through your hair and double its beauty.

Spend a few cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of hair, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff, is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed, and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, softness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will, you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Now 83 Years Old - Regains Strength and Laughs at URIC ACID

Goes Fishing; Back to Business, Feels Fine! How Others May Do It!

"I am eighty-three years old and I do not feel like I did when I first came out of the army, over fifty years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures,' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Mr. Ashelman is one of thousands who suffered for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false theory that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced him and legions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatments. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints, by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know that Uric Acid never did, never can and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe, and that without it we could not live!

HOW OTHERS MAY BENEFIT FROM A GENEROUS GIFT.

These statements may seem strange to some folks, because nearly all sufferers have all along been led to believe in the old "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out this truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mystery," a remarkable book that is now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of The St. John Standard wishes a copy of this book that reveals startling facts overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a postcard or letter to H. P. Clearwater, 304 B Street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return mail without any charge whatever. Send now! You may never get this opportunity again. If not a sufferer yourself, hand this good news to some afflicted friend.

Unusual Responsibility

CONDITIONS brought about by the war have placed many women in positions of unusual responsibility, involving mental strain and anxiety.

Think, for example, of the girls who have been placed in tellers' wickets in the banks, and whose duty it is to handle each day tens of thousands of dollars.

It is not as though such positions had been reached after years of training and development, for in many instances the new teller has had little experience, and the strain thrown on the nervous system is enormous.

But similar conditions apply in many lines of work, and whether the overstrain is mental or physical the result is the same, for vitality is exhausted and sooner or later health gives way.

The rapid spread of influenza and pneumonia is largely due to the low vitality of many thousands of people who have been living under a constant, unusual strain of mind or body.

In a state of continual fatigue you have practically no reserve force left to fight disease, and are, therefore, easy prey.

There is only one way to restore feeble, wasted nerve cells, and that is by supplying to them the vital substances which nourish them back to health and vigor.

This is exactly what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does, and that is why it is in such enormous demand at this time when so many people are living under such unusual nervous strain.

A dead nerve cell can never be replaced, but an exhausted nerve cell can be restored, and just here is where Dr. Chase's Nerve Food comes in to cure by means of the building-up process.

One of the first indications of trouble is headache, and then, sleeplessness—you fail to regain at night the nerve force expended in the day's work and worry.

You get up tired in the mornings, and your work seems a burden to you. You get discouraged and lose confidence in yourself, and as the nervous system weakens the worry increases.

There is no light ahead for the person suffering from nervous exhaustion, but, fortunately, there is help in the use of this well-known restorative—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Take all the rest you can—get out into the fresh air and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly, and you will soon find yourself on the way to health.

This is the message we have brought to many thousands who are now enthusiastic in telling their friends about this great food cure. We can only tell you of the experience of others. It remains for you to act if you are to obtain similar benefit. You can get six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for $2.75 from any dealer, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

TWO DOCTORS DIE ON PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND OF INFLUENZA

Situation Greatly Improved in Charlottetown and Churches and Schools Will Be Reopened—Rev. J. E. Wilson of Woodstock Dangerously Ill—Better in York Co.—Newcastle Young Women Care for Sick—Situation Elsewhere.

Charlottetown, Nov. 1.—The Board of Health decided tonight to re-open the churches, schools and theatres as the influenza epidemic is almost over. In other parts of the province new cases are still developing. Dr. D. A. Stewart died at Georgetown last night and Dr. Michael Donahue died at Peaks Station. Dr. McEwan of Summerside died of the disease last week.

Grand Falls Man Dead.

Special to The Standard. Woodstock, Nov. 1.—Jack St. Thomas, a popular employee of the C.P.R., died tonight after a few days' illness from spinal meningitis, aged 24 years. He had about recovered from pneumonia, when afflicted with the fatal malady. He is survived by a widow and his parents living at Grand Falls.

Rev. J. E. Wilson, pastor of the United Baptist Church, is dangerously ill tonight with pneumonia. Harry Chamberlain is still in a dangerous condition from pneumonia tonight.

Chatham Situation.

Special to The Standard. Chatham, Nov. 1.—There was one new case of "flu" today and one death. The death was that of a child five or six years of age.

The president of the local Red Cross, Mrs. G. B. Fraser, has received word from headquarters to supply the local board of health with articles of clothing for the afflicted. This is very gratifying to Chairman Vaughn, as it believes him of the necessity of looking about when cases requiring this kind of aid arise.

Chatham's greatest peril does not lie within her gates, but in the fear of contagion from persons coming from country districts where there is no attempt made at quarantine. Houses containing the disease are never even placarded and persons have free access to them. The provincial department of health should look after the country districts better if the disease is to be stamped out.

Fredericton and Vicinity.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, Nov. 1.—Hilda Foss, daughter of Arthur Foss, of Russiagonia, died last night of pneumonia, aged 28 years.

Thomas H. McKay, aged three years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKay, died last night. This is the eighteenth death from that disease in Fredericton since the outbreak of influenza.

The reports to the Board of Health are that 615 cases of influenza have been attended, of which 93 have developed into pneumonia. Since Tuesday only fifty-five new cases have been reported, indicating that the epidemic is not so severe.

Newcastle Relief.

Newcastle, Nov. 1.—The volunteer nurses, with Miss Jean Aitken, R.N., at their head, have divided Newcastle town into three districts.

1.—From the Northwest Bridge to Falconer street, in charge of Miss Rosalie C. P. Crocker, secretary of the local Red Cross.

2.—Falconer street to Prince William street, Miss Laura Williston, R.N.

3.—Prince William street to French Fort Cove, Miss Yvonne Buckley.

Those who have offered to act as assistant nurses are Mesdames Pol-Jones, James W. Davidson, W. A. Hickson, Robert Bell, Fred Uncles, and the Misses Ella Parker, Hickson, Mona Lindon, Annie McGowan and Annie Macdon.

Misses Mary Murphy and Agnes Treadwell have volunteered their services to do housework for influenza patients.

In the West.

A total of 1,500 cases are known to be in Regina, Sask. Eleven deaths occurred on Thursday.

New influenza cases at Vancouver Thursday numbered 181. There were 14 deaths.

New cases in Victoria, B. C., numbered 29, with two deaths.

Fifteen in Halifax.

Halifax, Nov. 1.—Fifteen new cases of Spanish influenza were reported to the city health board today. There were two deaths. In the city home there have been nineteen deaths since the disease began. Dartmouth, this morning reported some new cases and two deaths.

Better in New York.

New York, Nov. 1.—The Spanish influenza epidemic in this city continues to wane. Today 2,214 new cases show a decrease of 244 below yesterday's figures and of 2,225 below Wednesday's reports. There were 314 deaths, a decrease of 23.

EMPEROR CHARLES HAS NOT LEFT THE AUSTRIAN CAPITAL

Revolution in Budapest, Hungarian Capital, Was Successful One.

Imperial Standard Flying Before Parliament Building Hauled Down.

Basel, Nov. 1.—Vienna was quiet until seven o'clock last evening, after which there were demonstrations in front of the ministry of war, according to a Vienna despatch quoting the semi-official news agency which customarily is used for making court announcements. Today's Vienna newspapers deny that Emperor Charles has left the capital. The imperial couple are still in Vienna, it is declared.

An imperial ordinance authorizes all officers in the country to place themselves in the service of the emperor, constituted by the newly-formed government, and to permit the soldiers under their command to do likewise.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press)—A successful revolution has taken place in Budapest and the Hungarian national council has taken over the government, according to a message sent by Count Michael Kautsky to the Berlin Tagblatt. Karolyi is head of the Hungarian independent party. His message reads:

"Revolution in Budapest and national council took over government. Military and police acknowledge national council completely. Inhabitants rejoicing. Karolyi, President National Council."

Amsterdam, Oct. 31.—The Berlin Tagblatt and Vossische Zeitung publish reports of serious demonstrations in Vienna and Budapest. An all-provisional soldiers' and officers' council has been established in Vienna, where the people are parading the streets shouting: "Down with the Hapsburgs."

The Lammasch cabinet is expected to resign and the army is in course of full dissolution. In Budapest demonstrations continue in favor of a republic. The people are shouting for a republic and the soldiers are replacing their imperial cockades by revolutionary colors. Revolutionary troops, it is added, govern the whole city.

Berne, Nov. 1.—The Berlin Vossische prints a despatch from Budapest saying that a crowd stormed the military prison and released political and military prisoners. Revolutionary troops seized the eastern railroad terminus and two troop trains, which were about to start for the front. The soldiers in these trains joined the insurgents, who had machine guns and enormous quantities of arms and ammunition, and plundered the arsenal.

London, Nov. 1.—After his proclamation of a republic in Budapest, Archduke Joseph, the representative of the emperor, left the city, according to an Exchange Telegraph Company despatch from Zurich.

Emperor Charles, the despatch adds, personally gave orders that all conflict with the population be avoided. He instructed the authorities to yield without resistance to the new power.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press)—Under the heading: "A Republic on the March," the Berlin Tagblatt of Wednesday gives details of the events of that day in Vienna.

The demonstrations began in the forenoon with a meeting of the students, which was joined by the workmen, in front of the parliament building. President Dinghofer, of the national council, in a speech declared the national government would "take over the whole administration on Thursday."

"But without the Hapsburgs," shouted the crowd.

An officer in uniform then called on the soldiers and officers to remove the imperial cockades. His appeal was obeyed with enthusiasm. The imperial standard flying before the parliament building was then hauled down upon the order of President Gross of the Austrian lower house.

Manly Strength Self-Help Book Free

It matters not who, any man, young or elderly, needing more vital strength, who is not quite the man he should be, who feels himself weakened as a result of past practices and excess, can, beyond the shadow of a doubt, hope for self-restoration of his lost or weakened powers if he is willing to make a fair, square effort along certain perfectly natural lines (of which he can easily learn), and will lead that sort of a decent existence which Nature demands, that all of us SHALL lead. If we are to prove up to the normal standard of vigor and manly capacity, as we see it exemplified in the best men of the world today.

Just what I believe you yourself should do or should not do where more manly strength may be desired is told in a perfectly plain, common-sense, practical, every-day sort of way through the medium of a little 72-page illustrated book of advice that I publish and am now sending free, sealed, by mail, to men all over the world who write for it. This little compendium of self-help has, I hope, been of more lasting benefit to my fellow men than any similar publication of its kind before used. Over one million copies have been distributed since my first announcement that they would be sent free of charge. Therefore, reader, please use the coupon below, which entitles you to this wonderful little free book, a copy of which will go to you in a perfectly plain, sealed envelope by return mail. Remember there is absolutely nothing offered for sale in the whole booklet, excepting in that part which speaks of my little invention, the Sanden Vitalizer, and you are not expected to get one of those appliances unless you make up your mind it is what you want. The book is absolutely independent of all else, and is a free gift in every sense of the word. It carries with it no obligation on your part of any kind whatsoever. Please send your name and address. SANDEN, Author.

Real, sturdy, vigorous manhood never counted for more than it does today. If you are strong, vital manly, the whole world appreciates you; if you are a weakling—well, it is a dark time, this age of ours, for the one who must stand aside. To my mind a vigorous, strong, manly man is one of the greatest inspirations in the world, because the very force of his character and manhood makes itself felt wherever he goes or wherever he may be. What he does he does well, and his reward is in proportion to the strength and sturdiness

REAL MANHOOD ALWAYS WINS of his manly energy and to the alertness of a brain which is fed by the vital energy of the man it belongs to.

It seems to me that any man, unless he is bowed down by extreme old age or by some consuming malady, may increase his physical and vital strength if he really WANTS to and is willing to make the right sort of a conscientious effort in the right direction and along right lines.

We manufacture a little mechanical appliance called the Sanden VITALIZER (referred to above), and all about which it will pay you to learn, because some day you may want to use one.

This little Vitalizer is not expected to do its work unaided, but is meant to act as a powerful assistant to Nature and to the man who wants more vitality or vigor and is willing to do his part in regaining it.

You simply buckle the Vitalizer comfortably on your body at night when you retire to bed. It starts its work at once. It sends a stream up your mind it is what you want. The book is absolutely independent of all else, and is a free gift in every sense of the word. It carries with it no obligation on your part of any kind whatsoever. Please send your name and address. Jim Jimson stopped his touring car, and let the motor run, while handing out, with face alay, some facts about the run. He pushed hot language from his throat for minutes senseless, and all the time his idle boat was burning gasoline. A million cars thus wasteful stand, as we proceed to press; the gas thus burned, throughout the land, would make a lake, I guess. Here long methods that Uncle Sam will shut off the supply, and then, from York to Yuba Dam we'll pass the wasteful guy.
I've seen slacking every day, unconscious that they slack; Jinks throws a pair of shoes away, because one has a creek. Bilka equanders money when he saps, but has no ill intent; Jones feeds a string of useless pups, not worth eleven cents. Crisp buys more garments than he needs, and gorgeously he's dressed. Crump blows himself for Cuban weeds, when trousers would be best. We all should save in every style, to swat those Tenthon scamps; and when we have a little pile, invest in bonds or stamps.

Just Folks

OUT O' LUCK.
If you've tried to jump the traces an' have sought the cheery places
An' have reckoned you could fix it so you never would be missed,
But you find out in the morning that they got you without warning,
An' they've put your name an' number on the extra duty list.
Do your added bit o' slaving, without whining much or raving,
Take the medicine they give you an' don't even try t' buck.
Play the game an' keep on grinning, an' then make a fresh beginning;
It's the price that you are paying just for being out o' luck.

It's a queer game, this o' fightin', an' it's gospel truth I'm writin'.
Men will go for weeks through dangers an' will never feel a hurt
While their stock o' luck is lastin', all the shells the Huns are castin'.
Will be powerless to get 'em as they're scatterin' the dirt.
Then one day when war is nappin' an' there's nothin' due to happen
An' the sector's fine an' quiet by a sniper one is struck.
An' he dies right at his station, an' the only explanation
Is the answer of his comrades when they whisper "Out o' luck!"

So it's no use frettin', sighin', when the shrapnel high is flyin';
There's no way o' dodgin' bullets. They will hit you or they won't;
An' when'er the line advances, every soldier runs his chances.
Those with luck get back to billets, an' the ones without it don't.
Play the game an' keep on goin' through the fields that death is mowin'.
Follow orders to the letter an' don't ever lose your pluck.
Keep in mind when shells are hissing there are some that they are missing.
So just pray to God above you that you won't run out o' luck.

Character Revealed in the Eyes

The eye is one of the finest parts of the human anatomy. It acts as a trustworthy outward portal of inward intellect and a mirror of the pupil's standing by which the quality of your mental power is revealed.

What may be termed quality of eye, clearness, sensibility, size, color and its position with relation to surrounding tissue, are the cardinal points to be considered. Color, too, has its significance as far as intensity is concerned. Quality is judged by transparency of the eye, clearness, dullness, depth, fullness, the size and flexibility of the pupil and quickness of the eye's muscular motions.

The location and position of the eye show born inclinations. They involve never things—whether the eye is prominent, its deep-set or set at right angles or obliquely and the bony structure and its formation—all of which show the inborn inclination and hereditary tendencies of the mind.

In the correctly placed normal eye there is a distance of an eye between the eyes. If there is less space between, it indicates narrowness of mind; if more, the mentality is unusually weak.

Genius is indicated by the rim of the upper eyelid forming a straight line over the pupil, upper eyelid narrow, the rim of the upper lid well delineated, one-third of the pupil covered and the power of observation almost cut off. Such is the eye of genius, of concentrated power and vivid mentality.

Intensity of feeling can be detected by the deep-set, sparkling eye, transparent, usually dark, the fullness above the upper lid overhanging the lid itself, especially in the outer half of the eye, the eyeball itself drawn upward, disclosing the white beneath.

The clear eye is the eye of mentality. It is steadfast with a full pupil, far apart, deep-set and close to the eyebrows.

Eyes without color, prominent, with very small pupil, show a cold, mercenary nature, a narrow and superficial mind. Blue eyes tend toward a nature inclined to be in the clouds one day and in the depths the next, while gray eyes indicate calm, cool calculation and self-control; if with large pupil, keen sensibilities and fine intellect. Brown eyes, on the other hand, express sanguine temper; when the rims of the lower eyelids are red, they show much of uncontrolled temper.

SIDE TALKS

BY RUTH CAMERON

ARE WE FUNNY TOO?

A friend of mine has recently arrived at an exceedingly wise conclusion. She had planned a very special dinner for four people about whom she was extra particular.

At the last moment the green peas, which were to be the piece de resistance of her first course, failed to appear and she was obliged to resort to canned ones, and after a while I got canned down, and after a while I went quite smoothly. My two brands of guests cottoned right to each other, and the canned peas were so good that they all thought they were fresh; and the people I cared about the most don't ever take cream with their strawberries, so it came out all right. But anyway it was a silly thing to fuss over, and I'm so glad I've come to realize that little things like that don't matter so much if you just won't let them.

When one stops to think how much the unhappiness of the world would be lessened if we could all get hold of that truth and hang on to it, one is both glad and sorry.

And there are so many like her. Glad that so much unhappiness is preventable.

Sorry that we don't make up our minds to prevent it.

Martha is a classic example of the woman who doesn't get hold of that truth. There were so many little things that mattered excessively to her that she forgot the big things. She is the spiritual ancestress of all the housewives who make entertaining a thing to be cumbered about rather than happy over.

The Joke of It.

We have a dog who is very much excited over his game of fetching the stick. He will bring you a stick and get you to throw it and then he will triumphantly retrieve it so that you may throw it again. His stick is constantly on his mind, he will even leave his food for it and it is plain to realize that little things like that don't matter so much if you just won't let them.

We often laugh at his concern and his excitement. And then sometimes we stop to think, are we funny too?

THE EVENING STORY

IKEY.

He looked very woebegone and hopeless, standing there beside his big bundle, with the constable's hand on his shoulder.

Farmer Jackson drew rein. "What's the trouble, Scroggs?" he asked of the officer.

"Selling goods without a license, Mr. Jackson. We have to be pretty sharp with such fellows to protect our merchants."

"But I ain't know," protested the owner of the bundle indignantly. "I come to Briarville here to make some money. I sell cheap, but people say hard time, an' not buy much. Then you snap me up an' charge $20 license an' some cost, an' I only $15 worth of goods what I pay, all the value I have. What fair thing is that for United States?"

"Oh you knew about the license all right," said the constable imperturbably. "Don't tell me. You were just trying to evade the license, that's all."

"Hard luck, me," complained the peddler, who was scarcely more than a boy. "I been in this country two years, an' peddle one year to make $200 to start store. But I make too much debt for too small capital, an' it break me up, with only $15 left to start peddle once more. Now this," he threw out his hands dramatically, his gaze on Farmer Jackson rather than the constable. "Not all I have is enough," plaintively, "not even if I throw in my shoes an' hat. What I do?"

"Go under cover for a while if you can't find friends enough to make up," said the officer. "I'll make you look straighter next time. But you'd better come the justice now. Pick up your bundle, Levie. You'll soon know the words."

"My name is Ikey," dejectedly, "an' my people not come to this country yet. I work to bring them over. An' I ain't make no friends here to put up money on me."

"Then I guess you're in for it, not unkindly. But I'm not the one to help matters. You can talk up to the justice, but his son's in dry goods, an' he's bitter on free trade, an' do what you can. War prices are on now an' all sorts of truck or garden sass is worth real money."

"But I don't know one thing about truck or garden sass."

"Can't ye learn?" impatiently. Haven't ye any suspicion? I've staked $5 on ye, which ye can work out. An' I guess I'll have to buy such seeds an' plants as ye'll need, an' let one of my men plough an' prepare the ground, an' lend ye tools. Then I'm going to charge a little for the case. Now, Ikey, I've been thinkin' like this. I have two hired men an' don't need any more help. But there's considerable idle land, some of it good for gardenin'. On a five-acre lot is a sort of shanty one of my hired men used to live in. Fixed up a little, it wouldn't be so bad, an' the land's good from being used as a cat's yard. You go there an' do what you can. War prices are on now an' all sorts of truck or garden sass is worth real money."

the land and shanty—not much, but just enough to make it look like business. All of which ye can work out at odd times.

"My wife is said to have the best garden in the neighborhood," Farmer Jackson went on with his impatience changing to a grin. "I'm going to let ye pay off debts by workin' with her in the garden. She needs a stocky young chap like you to shoulder the harder work. She needs a boy. She told me so, an' asked me to be lookin' for one. Put in fourteen hours a day, like ye say ye've been doing under the pack, an' ye'll come out all right. An' there won't be doers shat in your face, nor dogs to chase ye off, like in peddin'. YOUR HEALTH

BY ANDREW F. CURRIER, M. D.

COAGULEN AND OTHER MEASURES FOR ARRESTING HEMORRHAGE.

If you have ever noticed a bleeding wound, you will recall that after a while the blood thickens, flows more slowly and then stops altogether.

This process is called coagulation and is nature's way of stopping hemorrhage the thickening substance in the blood being called fibrin and the mass of blood it has transformed from fluid to solid being called a clot.

This is clot by its adherence to the wall of the bleeding vessel or vessels has sealed them up and stopped the bleeding.

In the case of small blood vessels this happens usually as the normal and proper thing but when the vessels are large and the outflow abundant we must first note whether the blood flows in a steady stream or in interrupted jets.

In the former case it is from a vein and the blood will be dark or blue, in the latter it is from an artery and the blood will be bright red, the intermittent spurts repeating the contractions of the heart which are conveyed to each of the thousands of arteries throughout the body.

Bleeding from a vein will frequently stop by clotting but if it is from a large artery it will not stop until the patient is exhausted or even dead.

One of the best means for helping nature to form a clot is to use pressure with one or more fingers upon the opening from which the blood is flowing. This does very well for small vessels but is usually insufficient for those which are deep seated or large.

When the blood is from a vein it is flowing toward the heart, consequently the pressure should be on the side of the wound away from the heart, if it is from an artery the blood is flowing away from the heart and the pressure should be on the side of the wound nearest the heart.

Instead of using pressure, bleeding arteries are often tied with a ligature of silk, catgut, or some other suitable material. Bleeding veins seldom require ligatures very large.

These measures are carried out more effectively of course by those who are accustomed to such work, furthermore the sight of flowing blood is not pleasant to most people and they lose control of themselves at the very time when they are most in need of it.

It is therefore desirable that the public should know of something which could be applied to a bleeding wound which doesn't require much skill in using it, which will stop the bleeding unless the wound is a large one.

Substances used to stop bleeding are called styptics and at least two have been in use some years known as styptic and adrenalin.

OUR SHORT STORY

THE NOVICE.

"Oh, well," he agreed at length, with a fatherly smile. "Of course, when all's said and done, there's nothing really wicked in it, so, if you'd like to try just one cigarette—"

"Oh, Persus!" she cried delightedly. "You're so broad-minded!"

And she gingerly picked a cigarette from the box that he smilingly offered her, and asked him to light it. "Which end do you put in your mouth, Persus?"

"Most smokers prefer the end with the cork on," he laughed.

With dainty awkwardness she put the cigarette timidly between her cherry lips, and he broad-mindedly lit a match for her.

"Don't blow out to light it—suck in," he said with a superior chuckle. "At last after oodles of ado, she got it lit, and spent a whole minute choking, sputtering, and blinking the smoke out of her blue eyes. He laughed ha-ha-heartily.

"It's no use," she stammered finally. "I'll have to give it up as a bad job. I don't believe girls should smoke anyway, that's what I don't believe."

"That's the sensible way to look at it," he approved, and gave a reward of three big kisses.

"Ah, solid comfort!" she sighed, two hours later, as sitting up in bed with a pale green shawlia dressing gown thrown over her nightgown, she lazily lit up a rose-tipped Nicotario.

And with luxurious grace and consummate skill, she blew four perfect smoke rings and an equilateral triangle.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Many a truthful woman travels under false colors.

A miserly man is the one who refuses to lend money.

A little man imagines that his contrariness is will power.

Solid business men aren't necessarily hard characters.

No man really enjoys kissing a girl who has her hair done up in curls.

Every year in a woman's age contains from eighteen to twenty months.

Much needless argument might be avoided if people would candidly admit their ignorance.

When a young man really enjoys hearing his best girl practicing on the piano that is love.

A small boy's idea of pleasure is to lie in bed for an hour after his father has called him.

It is to be hoped that the meek will inherit the earth before the other fellow gets through with it.

A man with a powerful voice has a dent where his bump of intelligence ought to be.

When a young man tells a girl that he loves her for herself alone, it's equivalent to an injunction against the rest of the family.

HAIRCUTS AT $1 PER.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Shaving one's self in Brooklyn is considered bad form by the barbers. So bad, in fact, that self-shavers must now pay $1 for a haircut. "Steady" customers, those who ignore the safety or the old style, may get a haircut for the 40 cents. All shaves are 20 cents, and the master barbers say the new scale of prices is necessary to pay the journeymen a minimum weekly wage of $20.
