When purchasing Plate Powder, be sure to ask for W. H. ATKINSON'S Champion Plate Polish Boots and Shoes, &c.,

WHICH will save considerable time and trouble, and will be found invaluable, as it will clear the article from dirt or grease, as well as produce a most brilliant polish.

The Proprietor can, with the greatest confidence, recommend his "Champton Plate Polish" as an article superior to anything of the kind ever offered to the public. One trial of it will ensure constant use; and as it saves so much time and labour, besides producing a very lasting polish, Housekeepers will find it worth their while to use "Arkisson's Champion Plate Poitsh." for cleaning and polishing all kinds of silver and plated goods.

This article is done up in fancy boxes, of different colcurs, at seventeen cents each.

Indeed, work seems to agree with Samuel; it is noticed that his fine form inclines to portliness, of late, and there are not infrequent hints that he is popular here. Is he not waited on by the managers of missionary meetings, piously solicitous for him to preside? And do not the Benevolent Societies acknowledge his donations with the C.B. in large type?—And when he enters the Division Room do not all the Sons and Daughters of Temperance clap their hands? And do not the Ottawa Sunday School Superintendents hold him up as a model for the ambitious youths under their charge? Among the other greater personages of this group ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER JOHNSON is conspicuous. It is thought there is in him the material for a full-fledged Commissioner, and that he would submit kindly to promotion if Mr. Commissioner Bouchtte would just take a governorship or competing and make room! "A series of charming Essays. Each chapter branches out into innumerable topics of a secondary and collateral nature, giving to the work a boundless diversity, enriched with stores of ethical as well as of spiritual wisdom, evincing at once acute observation of social life and of human character, and containing the noblest lessons for practical guidance. Our author's style is remarkable for its free, unconstrained flow, almost collequial at times, but invariably signalized by eleganco, force, adaptation to the subject, and not seldom by originality of thought in combination with terseness and beauty of expression. . There is about it a freshness, as well as a fullness of practical teaching, rarely to be met with in ordinary Biblical commentaries."—Londonderry Standard, Feb. 15, 1871.

"The writer is evidently well acquainted with the literature of his subject, and that acquaintance reveals itself almost unconsciously in every page. There is no estentation of reading for learning, but there is everywhere the gleaming forth of light which cannot be hid.

The style is simple, intelligible, graceful. It shows at once that Mr. Bennet is a man of literary culture, who can express his thoughts with scholarly chasteness and good taste. We could not open a page without meeting some thought vigorously expressed. The work is eminently fresh and readable."—Pres. Witness, Halifax.

Even when dealing with trite idea he imparts to them a novelty and interest by which they are lifted into an importance they scarcely deserve. The style throughout is lucid, pure, compact, forcible,—and it is his own—the garb of his own thinking. We have met in our perusal of the book with numerous paragraphs of finished and brilliant rhetoric—fine specimens of pulpit oratory. He is never tame nor tiresome. "We were not prepared to find him writing in such a flished style and issuing such a volume as 'the result of certain preparations made for an evening lecture to his congregation.' If all his pulpit perfermances are equal to these, his people have reason to rejoice in the Providence which guided his steps to them."—

Evangelical Witness, May 1st. 1871.

"This is a remarkably thoughtful, solid book! Mr. Beonet is evidently at home in Metaphysics and Ethics, and he is a shrewd observer of human nature in its ordinary manifestations; consequently he ranges over the lessons of the Preacher with a power of illustration which shews his mastery of the subject. The style is close and direct, and yet so lucid, that any reader may understand every sentence in the volume.

It will, we doubt not, take its place, as it ought to do, among our household expositions of this troatise of observation and Jewish wisdom."—The Presbyterian (Philadel-phia), May 20, 1871.

"The lessons to be learned are drawn with a master's hand, and are expressed with a combined force and beauty that we have rarely seen surpassed in the production of any author. The ordinery reader will find nothing that is above his comprehension, and yet it would be difficult to find a common-place thought or form of expression. A combination of these requisites we deem the highest merit a writer can possess.

"We will be much disappointed if the book do not command a wide circulation. Wherever a sound literature is felt to be a deside atum, The Wisdom of the King has but to be known to be prized as a work that the world will not willingly let die."—Saint John Telegraph and Journal. GEORGE STEWART, Jr.,

New York Refined. "The Wisdom of the King is well worth careful reading. Indeed you cannot read much of it at once. There is a constant play of fancy about the thoughts, and often the very words, that is admirably suited to the Scripture book, of which this is an exposition, but which demands such constant attention on the reader's part that he gets tired, for he does not know where it is to end. The style is compact, lucid, often sparkling and opigrammatic, the sentences cut sharply, but with a poetic fullness of original illustration that redeems them from all hardness."
