Old Country Crop Reports Are Not Encouraging.

Several Mission Houses Destroyed by Natives.

Formosa Rebels Driven Back by the Japanese Forces—Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, Cordially Received by the Pope.

BIG BRITISH FLEET.

Constantinople, June 3.—Seventeen British warships are now lying at Beyruth.

TWELVE MEN DROWNED.

Vienna, June 3.—A ferryboat containing 45 workmen was capsized in the Danube today. Twelve of the men were drowned.

RECEIVED BY THE POPE.

Rome, June 3.—Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, was received by the Pope today, with whom he had a long and cordial conversation in regard to the condition of the Church in America.

FOREIGN MISSIONS DESTROYED.

London, June 3.—A dispatch from Shanghai to the Pall Mall Gazette says: Rioters have destroyed the French Catholic and the English and American Protestant missions at Chengu Tszechuan. The missionaries were given a safe refuge by the native officials.

THE JAPS IN FORMOSA.

London, June 3.—A dispatch from Tokio to the Central News says a dispatch from Formosa, via Cagoshima, states that a portion of the Japanese Imperial Guards landed at Lodi on May 29, and immediately engaged a large body of rebels. Many of the latter were killed, but the Japs lost no men. The Guards advanced to Shan-shai. The remainder of the troops, with ammunition for the expedition, were landed on May 31.

OLD COUNTRY CROPS.

London, June 3.—The Times this morning prints a gloomy review of the English crop prospects. It says that much of the spring grain is no further advanced than generally in the middle of April. The fruit crop, it appears, has also suffered from the drought in Kent. The situation in France is favorable. The outlook for the hay crop is satisfactory. In rye there is generally a light crop, and the average yield of wheat is expected.

UGLY COSTUMES.

A Paris dispatch says: "At sight of them the Paris shopkeeper rejoices. Alas! that every woman of them will gown herself in the ridiculous gowns that are mostly sleeves that rule the season. And she will bonnet herself in the hideous bonnets that match the gowns in ugliness. She will wrap herself in the absurd wraps that are designed to conceal any stray lines of beauty in the wearer. Even a child will not go far towards redeeming the extravagant and monstrously ugly costumes that will forever mark the spring of 1895."

THE ITALIAN ELECTIONS.

Rome, June 3.—The triumph of the Radicals in Milan in the recent elections has made a strong impression in political circles. Although the general results of the elections assure the Ministry a considerable numerical majority, the situation is nevertheless difficult. The Extreme Left have been reinforced, especially by the Socialist groups, and the following of Giolitti and Zanardelli has been weakened. The results of the election are: Ministerialists, 338; Opposition, 155; doubtful, 17. The Opposition is made up of 98 Constitutionalists, 40 Radicals and 17 Socialists.

THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT CENSURED.

Madrid, June 3.—The Chamber of Deputies today, by a majority of 78, adopted a motion censuring the Government in connection with its promises made in the budget proposals. The supporters of the Government did not take part in the division, and the Ministers left the House before the vote was taken. The Government will not resign in consequence of the adverse vote, but nevertheless the situation is somewhat critical, owing to the intention of the Republicans to overthrow the Ministry, if possible.

SHOT THE CAPTAIN-GENERAL.

Madrid, June 3.—At 11 o'clock this morning Major Clavijo, an infantry officer, walked into the office of Gen. Primo Rivera, captain-general of Madrid, whom he saluted. As he dropped his hand after touching his hat Major Clavijo drew a revolver, and without a moment's warning fired two shots at the general, both of which took effect in the breast. Gen. Primo Rivera fell to the floor mortally wounded and his assailant attempted to fire again, but Gen. Aymerich, who was present, struck the assassin down with his sabre, and summoning the guards had him taken to prison. It is believed Clavijo is insane.

Another account says:

 A lieutenant of the army has for some time past been paying his addresses to the captain-general's daughter, and today he requested her hand in marriage. The captain-general refused the lieutenant's request, and some hot words were exchanged, resulting in the lieutenant drawing a revolver and shooting the captain-general.

The last sacrament was at once administered to Gen. Primo Rivera, and most of the Cabinet Ministers called to inquire as to his condition.

CUBA'S CONDITION.

As Reported from an American Point of View.

New York, June 3.—The Havana correspondent of the Mail and Express, writing under date of May 28, says that the insurgents in Cuba now have 14,000 well-armed men in the field. He estimates the expense of the Cuban Government for the current year at $116,000,000, and predicts a deficit of $71,000,000. The public debt of the island now amounts to nearly $200,000,000. Last year's sugar crop was sold for $64,000,000, and yet left the planters financially embarrassed. This year the value of the crop will not pass $32,000,000, which means complete bankruptcy. The correspondent says that an army officer and Government officials privately admit that Spain cannot hope to retain control of the island unless vital reforms are granted.

PECULIAR WEATHER.

Western Kansas Under Water—G and Junction Has Two Feet of Snow.

Denver, Col., June 3.—Western Kansas is under water, and opinions differ as to the damage or value of such a visitation at this time, though the best authorities believe the results will be beneficial.

Two feet of snow is reported from Grand Junction.

VICTIMS OF HEAT.

Several Persons Succumb to the Phenomenally Hot Weather.

Hamilton, June 3.—Two deaths have resulted from sunstroke. Thos. Downes, about 52 years of age, employed as a gardener by Bishop Dowling, while working in the garden, was taken ill and died within half an hour. On Friday Cornelius Green, a Grand Trunk laborer, was stricken while at work and became unconscious, dying at 9 o'clock on Saturday evening.

Richmond, Va., June 3.—Bishop Rupert Schidobusch, of Minnesota, aged 65, died here this morning at St. Mary's Benedictine Priory. His death was caused by apoplexy, superinduced by the extreme heat.

OREST FIRES.

Raging in the Vicinity of Bradford, Pa.—A Village Wiped Out.

Bradford, Pa., June 3.—Forest fires are again raging in this vicinity, and much property is being destroyed. Five rigs, tanks and boiler houses belonging to the Midland Oil Company were destroyed near Hunter's Run, seventeen miles from Kane, yesterday.

Fires are raging at Chipmunk, Tully, and along the lines of the Erie and Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroads between this city and Johnsonburg.

The settlement of Coon Run, in Elk county, ten miles from Kane, is reported to be completely wiped out. There were 25 dwelling houses in the village. Before telegraph communication was shut off 46 oil rigs were reported destroyed. To the north, near New York State line, forest fires surrounded Knapp's Creek. Communication is shut off, and the damage cannot be ascertained. A message from Knapp's Creek, via Olean, says 50 rigs belonging to Messrs. Curtis, Burns and Russell have been destroyed. The town is completely surrounded by fire, and should a fresh wind spring up tonight the town will undoubtedly be destroyed.

Everything between Russell City and Coon Run has been wiped out, including all the rigs and tanks, the pump station of the Standard Oil Company and that of the Elk Pipe Line Company. Russell City will probably go, as a strong west wind is now fanning the flames. The fire has leaped across the railroad in the cut lumber and logs and the side of Russell City. Barnsdall & Co. had at least 75 rigs between Coon Run and Russell.

Olean, N. Y., June 3.—Fierce forest fires are again in the vicinity of Knapp's Creek and the State line, and much oil property has been destroyed. The loss in this city will reach $20,000. Relief parties will be sent from here tonight. Much apprehension is being felt among oil men.

THREE TRAINMEN KILLED.

McCook, Neb., June 3.—The train sent out yesterday afternoon to crib in the washouts east of McCook, went into a washout between Esor and Ocoford, and the engineer, fireman and brakeman were killed.

"No, sir, she hasn't returned from the academy yet."

"What academy?"

"Why, haven't you heard that she's an instructress at the bicycle school?"

"Well, are your father and mother in?"

"Yes; he's with one of the big racing teams. I tell you, he's a crack-a-jack! Wins a bushel of diamonds and gold cups every week."

"And where are the twins?"

"They've got Rover, our dog, out in the barn, and are teaching him to ride the new quadricycle which has just been invented for household pets."

"But how does it happen that you are not riding a wheel, too?"

"Sprained my ankle training for the road race."—Buffalo Express.

To give strength after illness the doctor says nothing is equal to Wyeth's Beef, Iron and Wine. But he says that I must see that I get "Wyeth's," as there are a lot of imitations of their Beef, Iron and Wine which are valueless for the purpose of building one up. Wyeth's Beef, Iron and Wine has made its reputation because it contains what it claims. In this preparation are combined the stimulant properties of wine and the nutriment of beef, with the tonic powers of iron, the effect of which on the blood is so justly valued. Each tablespoonful there is the essence of one ounce of beef and two grains of iron, in solution in sherry wine. It is therefore a refreshing stimulant, the effect of which is not merely to quicken the circulation and impart a temporary benefit, but also to supply actual strength. Try Wyeth's Beef, Iron and Wine for pallor, palpitation of the heart, sudden exhaustion, weakness, impaired nutrition. It is a valuable restorative for convalescents and for those suffering from overworked brain or body.

ALL SORTS OF WEATHER.

Killing Heat, Drenching Rains, and Snow Over the Border.

Several Deaths in the Big Cities—Many Prostrations.

Naples, N. Y., June 4.—The long succession of excessively hot days, with no dew at night, is telling disastrously upon vegetation in Southern Ontario county. For six successive days the mercury has averaged 92 at midday and 78 at midnight, and there has been no rain for ten days. Strawberries, just ripening, are drying on the stem.

SNOW AND RAIN.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 4.—Advises from all over Minnesota and the Dakotas are favorable to the crop situation. The rains have been falling heavily during the past week, and at some places notably Pierre, S. D., over three inches of rain have fallen during the past 24 hours. Since the first of the year there has been an average of nearly ten inches of rain in most parts of the Northwest and the ground is thoroughly drenched. Two inches of snow has fallen at Lead, S. D.

Chicago, June 4.—Reports from points through Illinois and Indiana generally indicate intense heat. Crops are being badly injured and will be ruined unless rain comes soon.

NO SNOW HERE.

St. Louis, Mo., June 4.—All hot weather records for the first week in June in this city were passed today. At 2:30 o'clock today the 100 mark was reached. Two quartermen in the suburbs and two laborers in East St. Louis were prostrated with the heat.

Chicago, Ill., June 4.—Yesterday was the hottest day of the year and the fatalities were the most numerous. Four deaths and several serious prostrations were reported.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 4.—Yesterday afternoon the mercury registered 94 degrees. Five deaths in Pittsburg and Altoona were reported.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 4.—The thermometer at 3 p.m. reached 96 degrees. There were 45 cases of heat prostration here yesterday and four deaths.

WILL SHOW UP MARS.

Great Glass of the Yerkes Telescope Now Finished.

The Biggest Lens in the World—This Instrument Will Have Enormous Power.

(The New York World.)

We are likely during the coming summer to learn more about Mars than astronomers during all the history of their science have discovered up to the present time about the planet and its peculiarities. It required the 26-inch telescope of the United States Naval Observatory to discover the satellites of Mars. Then the Lick telescope, with its 36-inch glass, was built, and immediately the three strange signal lights on Mars were observed.

Now the great 40-inch lens—the hugest telescope glass ever made—on which Alvan E. Clark has been working for more than a year at Cambridge, Mass., for the Yerkes telescope, is completed and will soon be shipped to its destination. The big telescope at the Naval Observatory had been unable to bring out the signal lights of Mars as the telescopes before that time had failed to note the satellites. The Yerkes telescope will be so much bigger than the Lick, now the largest in the world, that astronomers are confident astonishing discoveries may be made as soon as it is seen.

Who knows what the looking through a great 40-inch glass of this huge instrument, astronomers will be enabled to make out definitely the system of signals which the Martians are believed to be using in an effort to communicate with the inhabitants of Earth? Even the great canal system of Mars, as is now suspected by more than one, may turn out to be a gigantic semaphore.

Upon the other hand, when these canals fill up with water and irrigate the land, which turns green and yields crops, as Flammarion has witnessed, the Yerkes telescope may show the process of cultivation, here noting where a field has been cut and there where a fire has ravaged. The strange lights in the angle may no longer be mysterious and puzzling to astronomers, while the black dots and dashes on the white polar caps of the planet may be deciphered. Railroads, waterworks, ships and cities existing on the surface of Mars may come out under this huge telescope, the glass of which has just been photographed in the workshop of Mr. Clark.

MARRYING MILLIONS.

One of Uncle Sam's Richest Daughters Engaged—Miss Rockefeller.

New York, June 4.—The engagement of Miss Edith Rockefeller and Mr. Harold McCormick was announced yesterday. Miss Edith Rockefeller is frequently spoken of as one of the two wealthiest heiresses in America. The other is her sister, Miss Alta Rockefeller. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller. It is estimated that they will each come into $35,000,000. There seems no reason why even such a limit as this should be put on their prospective fortunes when the money that flows into their father's coffers as one of the Standard Oil magnates is considered.

Harold McCormick is the son of Cyrus H. McCormick, the reaper manufacturer. He is about 21 years old. He is a great tennis player. His sister Anita married Emmons Blaine.

BRAVE ALBERT BROWN.

The City Council.

Recommendation to Buy a Harrisburg Roller Thrown Out.

And New Tenders Will Be Advertised For.

"Supplementary" Tenders That Did Not Please the Aldermen—Debutures for School Purposes—Council Routine.

The session of the City Council last night was concluded before 10 o'clock. The principal business was the consideration of No. 2 committee's recommendation to purchase a Harrisburg roller. This matter led to a vigorous debate, and tenders will be again advertised for. There was a bare quorum when the council convened, but the members gradually dropped in until the following were present: Mayor Little, Ald. Pritchard, Ald. John Heaman, Ald. Brener, Ald. O'Meara, Ald. Jones, Ald. Powell, Ald. Carrothers, Ald. Wm. Heaman, Ald. Armstrong, Ald. Callahan, Ald. Garratt, Ald. Dreaney, Ald. Nutkins, Ald. Parnell, Ald. Weld, Ald. McCallum.

COMMUNICATIONS.
Mrs. John Scanlon—For refund of poundage fees. No. 1.
J.C. McAuley and John Duke—Against payment of street watering rates on John street. No. 1.
H. Steinger—For tile drain on Edward street. No. 2.
T. H. Warren—Re employment of Hussars Band at band concerts. No. 2.
K. K. Cowan—A-king that permission be given to erect closets in rear of the Oddfellows' Hall. No. 2.
John Fraser and others—Against macadamizing Colborne street, between Dundas and King streets. No. 2.
Certain ratepayers on Adelaide street, between Princess and Dufferin avenues, petitioned to have the street watered. Ald. Dreaney urged the granting of the petition, and the city clerk said that an arrangement would have to be made with the contractor, as the street watering routes had been made up for the year.

Ald. Powell said that if any more streets were to be watered two or more carts would have to be purchased.

Ald. O'Meara disputed this assertion, and Ald. Powell said that he did not know what he was talking about.

"I have money in my pocket to say that you don't," retorted Ald. O'Meara. "Ordered!" said the mayor.

"This discussion is out of order." "Keep your money," said Ald. Powell. No. 3 committee will deal with the matter with power.

Robert McLean, secretary of the Dominion Fire Underwriters' Association, wrote warning the association's request for the immediate purchase of a chemical engine, on the distinct understanding that the engine shall be purchased next year.

An application of James Farmer for admission to the Aged People's Home, was referred to the mayor and inspectors with power.

The city shoe merchants requested that a bylaw be passed by the council closing all city shoe shops at 7 o'clock each evening, Saturdays days before holidays, and Western Fair weeks excepted.

The petition was referred to No. 1 committee to bring in a bylaw.

Wm. Yates offered to construct a road roller for $3,500. Laid over until the reading of No. 2 committee's report.

NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE REPORT.
The following clause of No. 3 committee's report caused a great deal of discussion:

"That the tender of H. M. Douglas to supply coal for city buildings, from July 1 next to June 30, 1896, as follows, be accepted, being the lowest, viz.: Hard coal, $5 25 per ton; and soft coal, $4 50 per ton."

Ald. Nutkins raised the point that Mr. Douglas was not in the coal business and did not carry stock, and that therefore, he moved that the tender of Mr. Geo. McNeil, the next lowest, be accepted.

Ald. Wm. Heaman seconded. After further talk Ald. Powell volunteered the information that Mr. Douglas, having tendered for another man, was now anxious to get out of it.

The contract was then awarded to Mr. McNeil, whose price is $5 40 for hard coal and $4 80 for soft.

NUMBER TWO COMMITTEE REPORT.
On the reading of No. 2 committee's report, Ald. Weld raised an objection to the granting of Victoria Park on Sunday afternoons for Salvation Army purposes.

Ald. Pritchard also said it would be a great mistake to allow the army or any other religious body to hold services in the park. It would be a great detriment, he said, to the enforcement of the keep-off-the-grass order.

The council divided on the question, the following voting "nay": Pritchard, Carrothers, Garratt, Nutkins, Weld and McCallum.

Then the steam road roller question came up.

Ald. Wm. Heaman moved that the tender of the Harrisburg Company, at $3,500, be accepted.

Ald. Garratt insisted on the original tender being read.

The figures in those tenders were: Harrisburg Company, $4,100; Pitt's Agricultural Company, $3,200.

Ald. J. W. Jones said that the committee, in recommending the acceptance of a supplementary tender of the Harrisburg Company, when their original tender was the highest, and after going to Harrisburg at the expense of the company—the procedure was not honest and not fair, and the committee should be ashamed of it.

In response to a question, Ald. Heaman said that the Pitt Company had also reduced their $3,900 tender to $3,500, but the Pitt machine was inferior to the Harrisburg machine.

take a first-class machinist to state which was best.

Ald. Armstrong moved that the tender of the Pitt's Company be accepted.

Ald. Dreaney seconded.

This amendment was lost on the following division: Yeas—Brener, O'Meara, Jones, Powell, Carrothers, Armstrong, Garratt, Nutkins—8. Nays—Pritchard, John Heaman, Wm. Heaman, Callahan, Dreaney, Parnell, Weld, McCallum and Mayor Little—9.

Then Ald. Jones' amendment was put and carried on the following division: Yeas—Pritchard, O'Meara, Jones, Powell, Carrothers, Armstrong, Callahan, Garratt, Weld—9. Nays—John Heaman, Brener, Wm. Heaman, Dreaney, Nutkins, Parnell, McCallum and Mayor Little—8.

So new tenders will be called for.

NUMBER ONE COMMITTEE.
The accounts amounted to $5,344 24. Chairman Blackwell and Trustee Jeffery, of the school board, were heard in support of the board's request for $26,000 of debentures for school purposes. The council adopted the clause and the debentures will be issued.

INQUIRIES.

Ald. Parnell asked if the assessment roll had been printed according to specifications. He pointed out that unless he knew who his tenants were he could not tell his total assessment.

Ald. Garratt—Ald. Parnell will know what his assessment is when he gets his notice to pay his taxes. (Laughter.)

The city clerk explained that the roll had been printed according to specifications, but was merely an extract of the original roll.

The mayor said that it would be impossible to print the roll in full.

Ald. Nutkins protested that something should be done at once to abate the nuisance caused by the emptying of sewage from the Military Barracks into Carling's Creek along Kingston street. The board of health will deal with the matter.

Ald. Wm. Heaman asked the chairman of No. 3 committee what was being done re public swimming bath.

Ald. Powell said that there were no funds.

MOTIONS.

Ald. Garratt moved the adoption of his notice of motion making it binding on all municipal corporations to pay the union scale of wages. Referred to No. 2.

A motion by Ald. Parnell to change the location of a couple of lights on the Wharmcliffe was referred to No. 3 committee with power.

LONDON CONFERENCE.

Members of the Stationing Committee on Their Way to Strathroy.

Some Unexpected Changes in Stationing Expected Because of the Addition of Half of Guelph Conference—A Keen Contest for the Presidency.

The London Conference meets in the Methodist Church, Strathroy, this week. The stationing committee met last night, and the ministerial body will meet on Wednesday. Among the clergymen who were in town yesterday on their way to the meeting of the stationing committee are Rev. Joseph Flood and Rev. A. L. Russell, Leamington; Rev. Mr. Parsons, Morpeth; Rev. Joseph Philip, Ridgeway; Rev. Mr. Bartrop, Sheddin; Rev. A. H. Go, Springfield; Rev. Dr. Willoughby, and Rev. J. S. Fisher, Listowel. Rev. Joseph Ward is the delegate from London.

Outside the routine work of the conference, the only matter of importance to come before the body will be the redistribution of the territory rendered necessary by the action of the general conference in attaching about half of the Guelph Conference to the London Conference. This will make the work of the stationing committee much more difficult than usual, and there may be some unforeseen changes in status. It is also said that there will be a keen contest for the presidency of the conference, rendered more so by the coalition. The Guelph contingent will, it is said, nominate Dr. Williams, of Mitchell, and many members of the London conference think that Rev. John Leary, of Sudbry, is entitled to that honor. Rev. J. Sheppard, Muncey, is the retiring president.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has up to this time, and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

GONE UP IN SMOKE.

Kincardine Suffers From an Early Morning Blaze—Other Fires.

Kincardine, Ont., June 3.—About 1:30 this morning a fire discovered in the billiard room in the rear of H. H. Laird's barber shop on Queen's street east, the building is owned by H. F. Deering, and adjoins at the north side a frame block owned by H. F. Deering and H. Clark, and occupied by the lower story by A. C. Washburn, photographer, Col. J. H. Scott's law office; Hugh Clark, Review office, and Sam Sing, laundry. The upper story was the residence of H. Clark and J. Durnton. To the south is situated a small frame building owned by the McPherson estate, and occupied by B. Coombs. The fire spread rapidly, and it was some two hours before the firemen had it under control.

Losses: H. F. Deering, $1,000, with $700 insurance; S. H. Laird, $700; partly insured; A. C. Washburn, $500; partly insured; B. Coombs, $500; insured; H. C. Clark, $400; fully insured; Col. WHAT MAGNIFICENT TESTIMONY!

"Paine's Celery Compound Produced Miraculous Results and Banished My Troubles."

This Strong Statement Is Made by Mr. Ambrose Budd, of Shanty Bay, Ont.

Victory after victory; a continued and unbroken march of triumph over disease and suffering marks the fame of Paine's Celery Compound in every land where it is used to battle with sickness.

In Canada alone, tens of thousands who were once dyspeptics, and who here awful loads of pain and agony, now thank heaven that they enjoy health, strength, sleep, appetite and digestive vigor brought to them by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

This wonderful medicine, the greatest product of medical science, has reached the top round of the ladder of fame as a cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulence, heartburn, gastric cramp, and the numberless evils that make life miserable through imperfect digestive vigor.

No medicine in the world but Paine's Celery Compound can effectually reach the hard and difficult cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. This statement is borne out by the testimony of Mr. Ambrose Budd, who says:

"For the benefit of sufferers, I gladly give my experience with Paine's Celery Compound. After suffering with dyspepsia for nearly 35 years, and meeting with many failures with other medicines, I decided to use Paine's Celery Compound, having heard of so many cures effected by it. The Compound, after I used it for a time, produced miraculous results and banished my troubles."

"From a condition of helplessness—being unable to sleep or eat—I now feel well and strong. I am astonished at the results, as my trouble was an old and chronic one. I have recommended Paine's Celery Compound to some of my neighbors, and in every case it has given satisfaction. I will always strongly recommend its use when I have opportunity."

Tavistock, Ont., June 3.—The flax mill of Messrs. Livingstone was totally destroyed, with the engine and part of the machinery, at Tavistock, this morning at 3 o'clock. The mill brigade did good service in confining the fire to where it started. No doubt but that it was the work of an incendiary. No insurance.

PAY THE WORKMEN.

A Nova Scotia Railway Company, which received a bonus of many thousands of dollars from the Dominion Government, recently gave the workmen on their line back pay at the rate of 30 cents for every dollar due them.

In the House of Commons Hon. Mr. Laurier has again and again moved that every bonus railway company which fails to pay the lawful wages of its men should lose its charter. But he has been persistently voted down by Mr. Haggart, Minister of Railways, and his friends.

What could be more fair than a proposition that public money should not be used to produce such results as have flown from the construction of this bonus Nova Scotia railway, and from the building of various lines in other parts of the country?

If ever a workman earns his wages it is a railway man, and not a dollar of bonus should be voted to any company which is not first placed under bonds to pay him every cent which he has earned.

Mr. Laurier has proved the friend of the workers, and the principle he has contended for will yet be established.

CAUSE OF THE MASSACRE.

The authorities of Jeddah, who have permitted the British consul and three other European citizens to be murdered, will have reason to regret the outbreak. Already, several British men-of-war are on the scene, and either by their agency, or by that of the Turkish Government, under whose laws the country is ruled, exemplary punishment will be meted out to the guilty. Jeddah is the principal trading port of Arabia, and is situated on the Red Sea, halfway between Suez and Aden. For some weeks it has been crowded with Mecca pilgrims, it being the seaport of that city, and the landing place of a great portion of the 100,000 Mohammedans now gathering to touch the famous sacred stone of the Mecca Temple. The city contains the reputed tomb of Eve.

It will not be surprising if it is found that the sanitary regulations, imposed for the first time this year by the Turkish International Council of Health, under strong pressure from Great Britain, France and Germany, are the direct cause of the massacres. Almost from time immemorial, the Mohammedan pilgrims have been the most uncleanly of shrine-seekers. In their wake cholera and other deadly diseases have traveled from the east to the west, and have again and again been spread throughout western lands. Though there has been strong resistance to obeying any regulations, the measures adopted this year amount to a sanitary revolution. They provide that at the beginning of the pilgrimage season twelve physicians (four civil and eight military) and two druggists shall be stationed in the holy district, the civil physicians to have charge of the sanitary service and the military surgeons to care for the sick. The Mecca drug stores are to be kept open all the year round; sanitary experts will inspect the food supplied to pilgrims and prevent their over-crowding; while in an enlarged hospital trained nurses will attend the sick, remove refuse, and insist on disinfection.

All these arrangements are regarded by the complacent pilgrims as western barbarian interference with their religious observances, and in all probability when the officers at Jeddah undertook to cleanse and disinfect the quarters of pilgrims and to prevent them from using the drinking water tanks for ablution and washing, resentment followed, and the fatal attack on Europeans was made possible.

The foolish and resentful pilgrims and their sympathizers must be taught that habits, whether indulged in as religious observances or otherwise, will not be tolerated by modern civilization if they spread death and desolation in their wake. The recent massacre will only cause a more decided enforcement of the international agreement for the suppression of the causes that spread the plague.

LOST MONEY.

Considering the large amount of money carried through the mails, by registered letter and otherwise, comparatively little is lost to the public. The returns from London in the Postmaster-General's report, for example, show that only three registered letters mailed in this city last year were lost. One, containing $4, was stolen from Mount Brydges postoffice, and because the postmaster had not looked it up, he had to make its contents good. Another, in which $2 was enclosed, was burned in a railway accident north of Lake Superior; and the third carried $12, which was lost in some mysterious way between London and Toronto. A considerable number of unregistered letters, containing money, were lost, and there were no means to trace them. Letters containing $2 38, 30 cents, 50 cents, $17, $4, $5, $5 and $5, were sent out from London, and not again heard of. The moral is that if you mail money, you should first register the letter in which it is placed.

POINTS.

Western Kansas is under water. Happy Kansas!

It being very hot, several of last Sunday's preachers cut the total service down to an hour. This is wise surgery.

The agitation in Britain against appropriating such a large sum every year for the Royal Buckhounds is probably due to the belief that it is money thrown to the dogs.

For a united and harmonious party commend us to the Democratic Opposition in the Michigan Legislature. It consists of one man.

M. Pasteur, the distinguished medical scientist, has refused a decoration from Emperor William, "not that he loves honors less, but that he dislikes Germany more."

Governor Morton, of New York, was twice prostrated by the heat while reviewing a parade on Memorial Day. The weather, like love, levels all ranks.

The Dominion Government continues to buy butter for 20 cents a pound and to sell it for 15 cents.

Chauncey Depew says that when a public man works steadily without relaxation sudden death usually ensues. Our Canadian Senators are remarkably long lived as a rule.

While this weather lasts we may excuse Mr. Foster if he is somewhat hot-headed.

At Chicago on Decoration Day the veterans of the north and south united in memorial exercises over the graves of Confederate soldiers. A few years ago this would have been impossible. Time and death have almost healed the bitterness of the war, and the gathering at Chicago was typical of a re-united people with a common pride and aspiration.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says that McKinley has received the cue for his exit. McKinleyism went long ago.

Why didn't the N. P. raise the price of grain when the farmers had some to sell?

On Thursday next the monument to the late Sir John Macdonald will be unveiled in Montreal. That day is the fourth anniversary of the statesman's death. Time flies.

There is some discussion as to the style of petition most suitable in public worship. We think the story good of the old deacon at a prayer-meeting, who, in a temporary moment of forgetfulness, thanked God for "the salvation of all men," but immediately qualified the sweeping admission by adding, with a touch of genuine Scottish casuistry, "which, O God! as Thou knowest, is true in one sense but not in another!"

London City Council has wisely begun to keep earlier hours.

The "Week's" gossipier has an alarming rumor that the admiration of J. S. Willison, editor of the Globe, for the Toronto Highland regiment may lead him into kilts. Perhaps it is only while the weather is in the nineties!

ONLY A "LITTLE ONE."

The needless expenditure of $240,000 for the Dominion voters' list revision last year represents capitalized an addition to the national debt of six millions of dollars. But the men in power at Ottawa were unanimous in the assertion that it is too small a matter to discuss!

So many millions have been squandered that a miserable quarter of a million of dollars thrown away seems to be "a very little one."

What say the taxpayers?

WITH NO LOVE FOR BRITAIN.

In a protest uttered against the Canadian duties nearly 40 years ago, the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce declared that "it is actually to the interest of the American manufacturers that the Canadian duties should be raised, since any hindrance or confusion caused to Sheffield manufacturers can only tend to divert the Canadian demand toward markets easier of access, and with which intercourse is more quickly exchanged than with Sheffield."

A writer in the New York Iron Age shows very conclusively that what the business men of Sheffield thus foretold is actually being verified under the high Canadian tariff. For a long time back, he says, American iron has been outstripping British iron, and since 1887 British has suffered in a very marked manner. The Canadian imports for home consumption in 1893-4 were $8,776,000, which was a large falling off from the previous year, and the duty paid on it was $2,456,000, being an average of nearly 30 per cent. Of this amount the United States supplied $4,656,000 and Great Britain $3,411,000. Following are a few items, which will serve for illustration:

	From U. S.	From G. B.
Trades hardware	$301,000	$43,000
Building hardware	30,000	15,000
Locks	58,000	11,000
Sewing machines	80,000	1,500
Typewriting machines	38,000	...
Other machines	1,080,000	205,000
Tubing	360,000	120,000
Wire and wire nails	206,000	42,000
Axes, etc.	330,000	63,000
Farm implements	226,000	16,000

Was it to arrest this tendency, we wonder, that the Canadian hardware manufacturer was sent by the Government upon his spring mission into the

At Last!—After Years of Delay, the Stuffed Census Returns for London Are Brought Down—No Wonder They Were Kept Back—The Noble Bros. Case—Senate Vacancies To Be Filled.

(Specially telegraphed by our own Representative.)

Ottawa, June 3.—The return of the names of the 804 manufacturers said by the industrial census to have been found in the city of London, brought down today after a delay of over two years, makes it clear why the Government was reluctant to bring it down. To show the character of the census it is only necessary to say that there are no fewer than 350 "manufacturing establishments" employing no hands at all outside of the alleged proprietors. In other words, there are 350 manufacturing establishments employing a total of 350 men, women and children. Every girl employed in making trousers or vests for a tailor is set down as a "manufacturer" employing one hand, who is also the proprietor of the "industrial establishment." The full list will be published in a day or two, so that the public can judge of the character of the industrial establishments. Dr. Montague presented the return referred to, for which Hon. David Mills has constantly been inquiring ever since it was ordered by the House on March 13, 1893. Mr. Mills remarked that the bringing down of the return was "a triumph of perseverance," and Dr. Montague added, "perseverance of the saints."

Dr. Landerkin, in moving for papers in the Noble case narrated the facts of this now celebrated matter. The Noble Brothers are a firm engaged in the fishing industries for 30 years on the Georgian Bay, with an invested capital of $50,000. They expected at the beginning of the season of 1894 that their license would be renewed as usual. In fact, their check for it was returned by the fishery overseer to get the bank commission of $1 05 on the check. They therefore sent out their boats and nets and set to work along with many other boats. The fishery overseer, a man named Elliott, picked on the Noble Bros. plant for seizure on the ground that they had no license. Their tugs, skiffs and nets, worth $50,000, were tied up and all the men employed were thrown out of employment. The plant was kept under seizure for the whole season, and the loss to the firm they estimated at $20,000. Other fishermen swore at the investigation that they always went out and started to fish before the receipt of the renewal of their licenses. Sir Hibbert Tupper was then Minister of Marine, and acted in a despot manner, and in such a way as to further the design of the overseer. T. H. Elliott, who said it was sworn that he had refused the Nobles for years, and now that he had got them he would "crack it to them." Sir Hibbert Tupper espoused the side of the overseer who thus laid a trap for the Nobles to run them. When Mr. Costigan succeeded Mr. Tupper as Minister of Marine, he released the plant on bonds for $7,000, but when the plant was given back it was in a damaged condition, and some of the property was missing, including five of their boats, which the Government had sold.

Mr. Costigan said that the case was still under investigation, and he declined to allow the motion for the papers to pass. He did not wish to discuss the matter at present. A rehearing would take place.

Sir Hibbert Tupper said that the Nobles had a bad record for poaching. He had, as head of that department, a very bad opinion of the Nobles as fishermen. If the letters, documents and reports were brought down it would give the Nobles an advantage in any suit they might institute, and in the pending proceedings.

Mr. Laurier reminded the House that this was a case where there was good reason to believe that a conspiracy had existed to ruin this firm, and there was a question as to the exercise of the powers of fishery officers, so that the papers should in all conscience be brought down.

Sir Hibbert Tupper agreed to bring down all the papers except letters, documents and reports.

Mr. Lister did not agree to this partial backdown. These men, the Nobles, had been outrageously treated, and it was the duty of the House to ascertain if every fisherman in the country was liable to the same treatment under the Fishery Act.

Col. O'Brien, while not defending the Nobles, believed that all the papers should be brought down.

Dr. Landerkin wound up the debate in a strong speech against injustice being perpetrated on any class in this country.

The motion as amended carried on a division, and the House adjourned.

THE SENATE.

In the Senate this afternoon Mr. Millar called the attention of the Government to the large number of vacancies now and for some time past existing in the Senate, and asked why they had been allowed to remain so long unfilled. He intimated his intention, if the answer were unsatisfactory, to bring the matter up in a more formal way in the shape of a resolution condemning the unconstitutional practice which had obtained for the past four or five years

United States? The British manufacturer will make his own comment.

ANOTHER MYSTERY.

The mysterious death of David Scollie, a retired farmer living in Otonabee township, Peterboro, has been investigated by the Provincial detectives, and sensational developments are expected. Scollie was a bachelor, about 60 years of age, and several years since he agreed with Thomas Gray and wife, who had come from Ireland, to let them have his farm, provided they kept him comfortable for the remainder of his life. Afterwards Scollie had words with Mrs. Gray, and he tried to break the agreement, but failed. Fifteen months ago, while Mr. Gray was from home, the house was burned down. Mrs. Gray asserted that she had only time to save the children and herself, and that the old man (Scollie) failed to respond to her calls. Investigation proved that his body was found in a different part of the house from where he slept, and that it was headless. The explanation at the time was that the head had been burned off, and the inquest resulted in a verdict of "death from accident," but it is alleged that evidence of a startling kind came to the authorities recently, resulting in a searching investigation, the outcome of which is expected in a few days.

GOD HELPED THE FARMER.

Shamgar's Wonderful Feats With an Ox-Goad.

Used by Rev. Dr. Talmage to Point a Pregnant Lesson in Practical Christianity.

New York, June 2.—In his sermon on Sunday Rev. Dr. Talmage discussed one of the most heroic and picturesque characters in ancient Jewish history. The subject of the sermon was, "Shamgar's Ox-goad," the text being: "After him was Shamgar, which slew of the Philistines six hundred men with an ox-goad." Judges 13, 31.

One day while Shamgar, the farmer, was plowing with a yoke of oxen, the Philistines, always ready to make trouble, march up with sword and spear. Shamgar, the plowman, had no sword, but he had an ox-goad—a weapon used to urge on the lazy team; a weapon about eight feet long, with a sharp iron at one end to puncture the beast, and a wide iron chisel, or shovel, at the other end with which to sweep the clumps of soil from the plowshare. It was not such a weapon as one would desire to use in battle with armed Philistines. But God helped the farmer, and leaving the oxen to look after themselves, he charged upon the invaders of his homestead. Some of the commentaries, to make it easier for Shamgar, suggest that perhaps he led a regiment of farmers into the combat, his ox-goad only one of many ox-goats. But the Lord does not need any of you to help him in making the Scriptures, and Shamgar, with the Lord on his side, was mightier than six hundred Philistines with the Lord against them. The battle waged fiercely, and Shamgar defeated his foes, until he came to the edge of the field he counted six hundred dead—all the work done by an ox-goad with iron prong at one end and an iron shovel at the other. The fame of this achievement by this farmer with an awkward weapon of war spread abroad, and lionized him, until he was hoisted into the highest place of power, and became the third of the mighty judges of Israel.

For what reason was this unprecedented and unparalleled victory of a farmer's ox-goad put into the Bible, where there was no spare room for the unimportant and the trivial? It was, first of all, to teach that in the war for good, and against sin, we ought to put to the best use of the weapon we happen to have on hand. We are called into the battle for the right, and against wrong, and many of us have not just the kind of weapon we would prefer, but we can say, "Yes" or "no," and a firm "yes" or an emphatic "no" has traversed the centuries, and will traverse all eternity, with good influence. You may not have the courage to confront a large enemy, but you can tell a Sunday school class of two—a boy and a girl—how to find Christ, and one of them may become a William Carey, to start influences that will redeem India, and the other a Florence Nightingale, who will illumine battlefields covered with the dying and the dead.

Again, my subject springs upon us

COME AND SEE THEM

Harry Lenox, Cor. Richmond and Carling Sts.

The thought that in calculating the prospects of religious attempt, we must take omnipotence, and omniscience, and omnipresence, and all the other attributes of God into the calculation. Whom do you see on that plowed field of my text? One hearer says, "I see Shamgar." Another hearer says, "I have seen 600 Philistines." My hearer, you have missed the chief personage on that battle-field of plowed ground, I also see Shamgar and 600 Philistines, but more than all, and mightier than all, and more overwhelming than all, I see God. Shamgar with his unaided arm, however muscular, and with that humble instrument made for agricultural purposes, could not have wrought such victory. It was Omnipotence above, and beneath, and back of, and at the point of the ox-goad. Before that battle was over the plowman realized all this, and all the 600 Philistines realized it, and all who afterwards visited the battlefield appreciated it. I want in heaven to hear the story, for it can never be fully told on earth—perhaps some day may be set apart for the rehearsal while all heaven listens—the story of how God blessed awkward and humble instrumentalities. Many an evangelist has come into a town given up to the worldlings. The people say to the evangelist, "We are glad you are here, but it is a hard field, and we feel sorry for you. The members of our churches play progressive euchre, and go to the theater, and bet at the horse races, and chase and fashion have taken possession of the town. We have advertised your meetings, but are not very hopeful. God bless you." This evangelist takes his place on platform or pulpit. He never graduated at college, and before him are twenty great and the best universities. He never took one lesson in elocution, and there are before him twenty trained orators. Many of the ladies present are graduates of the highest female seminaries, and one slip in grammar or on occasion of mispronunciation will result in suppressed giggle. Amid the general chill that pervades the house, the unpretending evangelist opens his Bible and takes his text: "Lord, that my eyes may be opened." Opera glasses in the gallery curiously scrutinize the speaker. He tells in plain way the story of the blind man, tells two or three touching anecdotes, and the general chill gives way before a strange warmth. A classical hearer finds his spectacles becoming dim with a moisture suggestive of tears. A worldly mother who has been bringing up her sons and daughters in utter godlessness puts her handkerchief to her eyes and begins to weep. Highly educated men who came to criticize and find fault bow on their gold-headed canes. What is that sound from under the gallery? It is a sob, and sobs are catching; and through the audience there is a deep emotion, so that when, at the close of the service, the anxious souls are invited to especial seats of the inquiry room, they come up by scores, and kneel and repent, and rise up pardoned; the whole town is shaken, and places of evil amusement are sparsely attended, and rungs lose their patrons, and the churches are thronged, and the whole community is cleansed, and elevated, and rejoiced. What power did the evangelist bring to bear to capture that town for righteousness? Not one brilliant epigram did he utter. Not one great flourish did he make. Not one rhetorical climax did he pile up. But there was something about him that people had not taken in the estimate when they prophesied the failure of that week. They had not taken into calculation the Omnipotence of the Holy Ghost. It was not the flash of a Damascus blade. It was God before, and behind, and all around the ox-goad. When people say that critics will triumph, and that the world will never be converted because of the seeming insufficiency of the means employed, they count the 600 of the armed Philistine on one side, and Shamgar, the farmer, awkwardly equipped, on the other side; not realizing that the chariots of God are twenty thousand, and that all heaven is on what otherwise would be the weak side. Napoleon, the author of the saying, "God is on the side of the heaviest artillery," lived to find out his mistake; for at Waterloo the 150 guns of the English overcame the 200 guns of the French. God is on the side of the right, and one man in the right will eventually be found stronger than 600 men in the wrong. In all estimates of any kind, the Omnipotence of God must be taken into account. Work do not make the mistake every day made of leaving out the Head of the Universe.

Go out, then, against the Philistines. We must admit the odds are against us—600 to 1. The agencies for making the world worse, compared with agencies for making the world better, 600 to 1. But Moses in his song chants: "How should one chase a thousand, and in my text one ox-goad conquers 600 uplifted battle axes; and the day of universal victory is coming, unless the Bible be a fabrication, and eternity a myth, and the chariots of God are unweeled on the golden streets, and the last regiment of celestial hosts is on the plains of heaven. With us, or without us, the work will be done. Oh, get into the ranks somewhere, armed somehow; with a good book; with a pen; with bread for the hungry; with a vial of medicine for the sick; with a pair of shoes for the barefooted; with a word of encouragement for the young man trying to get back from evil ways; with a story of the Christ who came to heal the world's wounds and pardon the blackest guilt, and call the first of these wanderers home. I say to you as the watchmen of London used to say at night to the householders before the first of street lamps came: "Hang out your light! Hang out your light!"

Mr. Murray keeps up his philosophical interest in the movements of the world, and is one of the best informed men in the Province.

—A number of the large royal coats of arms, carved in wood, which were used to decorate the City Hall for the three days' social under the auspices of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, which commences Thursday.

—The Molsons Bank have notified all agencies that bicycles will be supplied managers and clerks at lowest rates, and monthly to the extent of the demand. It is understood that the bank officials will make special arrangements with the manufacturers of four or five of the best makes of wheels and give the best of the choices. The object of the new departure seems to be to provide employees with the means of securing healthful exercise.

—Mr. Thomas Aitken, driver of the hook and ladder truck at No. 1 station, was appointed driver of the hose wagon left by the death of the late James Gleason, the former driver. Mr. Geo. Gray, the former driver of the truck, has recovered from the effects of his sickness last year, and has again resumed his general duties as a driver. Mr. Daniel McDonald, since the death of the late driver, has returned to his old place on the line. Daniel was thoroughly competent and reliable.

—Old and feeble Thomas Alexander was only released from jail at 7 o'clock last night. He strutting about the streets for about three hours, when he had called a policeman, and at the police court, where he claimed to be a much injured man, Tommy wanted to have his liberty, while the police magistrate thought the best thing that could be done would be to secure his admission to one of the homes. The authorities, according to Chief Williams, will not have anything to do with Alexander, as he has already been in the same institution of homes where he has stopped. The charge of breach of the liquor law, preferred against Peter J. Watt, was dismissed, no evidence being offered.

—Brandon Times: Rev. George Daniel, pastor of the Methodist Church, has accepted a call to the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, London, one of the most important churches in Ontario. He will preach his farewell sermon to the congregation here next Sunday, and leave for the east the first of the following week, so as to reach London in time for the conference, which assembly he spent fourteen years in the west. He has been steadily increasing in popularity, and his departure from the Manitoba conference will be generally regretted. His many friends, will, however, be pleased to hear that he has been paid him in the call from the Metropolitan Methodist Church of Western Ontario.

AMONG THE DEAD LETTERS.

Ottawa, June 3.—From the report of the Postmaster-General some interesting facts are gleaned concerning an interesting branch of the public service—the dead letter office. Altogether 1,036,833 communications came under this head. By far the greater portion of these were restored to life, or to their owners, which, in official language, amounts to the same thing. The dead letters containing articles of value numbered 19,383, and of these 18,322 were delivered eventually to the owners. There were 8,545 dead letters containing money, amounting to $16,130. Among the contents of other dead letters were 558 checks, 239 drafts, 861 money orders, 399 promissory notes, 49 deeds, 12 baptismal certificates, 1 death certificate, 2 certificates of Methodist ordination, 2 certificates of the P. P. A., 15 baby dresses, 10 cakes, 1 chalice, 2 pieces of chewing gum, 1 church garment, 7 dolls, 12 false teeth, 2 glass eyes, 233 insurance policies, 2 hats, 1 plaster, 1 rattlesnake rattle, 1 box of corn salve, and 1 coffin plate.

GOT HIS WISH.

Mrs. Magun—I came across one of your old letters today, George, where you said that you would rather be in endless torment with me than be in bliss by yourself.

Mr. Magun—Well, my dear, I got my wish.

A CORRECTION.

Tommy—Paw, what is an ecologist?

Mr. Fligg—He is a man who thinks he is smarter than anyone else.

Mrs. Fligg—My dear, you have that wrong. An ecologist is the man who says he is smarter than anyone else. All men think that way.

"Mamma"—the corset girl gazed anxiously at the dam—"the chestnut girl wants me to run away with her the next time we go driving together."

He looked down shyly.

"What shall I say?"

The matron bridled up.

"Turn to her, my son, and whisper gently, 'Neigh, neigh, Pauline!'"

And, with a horse laugh, they resumed the discussion of their table d'ot.

A Lost Gem

"There was something beside the mere running away, then? I thought there must be. That was hardly enough to account for the long estrangement. But I suppose I am not to ask?"

"I think not—please."

"As I have so much interest in all of you, I almost think I ought to know," said Lady Val, carelessly. "However, it is, of course, for you to decide. I know a case in point; a girl who eloped and took her mother's jewels with her,
and—what's the matter?"

Stella had been unable to conceal a little shiver, a slight twitch of the fingers, which told the keen-witted Lady Val half if not all of the story.

"You were not born for a conspirator," she said, severely. "I have guessed it, have I? Somehow, I did not think that either of them would do that. You had better tell me all the story, Stella."

"I cannot believe it, either," said Stella; "neither does Bertie. But Alan forbade us to question Molly, and we have no means of getting at the truth. I will tell you the whole, as you have guessed so much."

Lady Valencia listened attentively
while the story was told.

"I know very little of Mr. Kingscott," she said at its close, "but it sounds to me as if he knew more than he chose to say. Do you trust him?"

"I cannot."

"Mr. Moncreiff does?"

"Perfectly."

"It will be rather hard to disentangle
the truth. May I try my hand at it, Stella?"

"I cannot give you permission; you must ask my husband."

"Very well. When will your husband be back?"

"The day after tomorrow. But I am afraid that he will not allow you to speak to him about it—he feels it so deeply—"

"Then I won't speak to him about it.
I'll act without. I'll take all the responsibility on my own shoulders, so do not you be alarmed. I am perhaps wiser than you think. At any rate, we can face the position better now that we have had this talk, can we not, Stella? And I will keep you up no longer, for you look terribly pale and fatigued.
Good-night, you sweet star—does Alan ever call you the star of his existence?"

But the question brought a flush of color and a tear that decided Lady Val not to ask another.

Stella did not know where letters would find her husband, as he was traveling from place to place; and those which she wrote during the next few days certainly did not reach him before his return to Torremuir. When at last, in the first week of December, a telegram came announcing the date of his arrival, he was still uninformed respecting Molly's presence in the house. For this reason alone, Stella would have been anxious for his return; and before long he had another cause for anxiety.

The journey, which Molly seemed at first to have borne so well, had overtaxed her energies and brought on illness of an alarming kind. For some hours her life trembled in the balance, and even when the worst seemed to be over, and a beautiful little baby girl lay in the young mother's arms, a terrible fit of hysterical weeping again hazarded her safety, and made her attendants nervously watchful against exhaustion of any kind. It was no wonder, therefore, that although Stella felt a sense of relief at the thought of Alan's arrival, that relief was not unmingled with something which bore

a strong resemblance to fear.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Kingscott was for once as ignorant of Alan's whereabouts as was Stella; and his ignorance was excessively annoying to him. It would have been his greatest possible delight to steal a march on Stella, and to represent her to her husband as defying his commands and utterly neglecting his wishes; he could, he fancied, have drawn a very striking picture of "Stella in revolt," as he phrased it to himself, Stella opening the doors of Torremuir to the disobedient runaway daughter whom Alan had never intended to invite to his home again. This was all, no doubt, a fancy picture; but it would have been extremely gratifying to lighten his hues and intensify its distinctness in Alan's eyes. The provoking part of it was that Alan had not chosen to leave him his address. It was almost the first time that this had happened; and King-scott was obliged to see what he had for a long time suspected, that Alan did not trust him as much as in former days, and was rapidly learning to dispense with his services.

Under these circumstances he began to wonder whether it would not be best for him to take his leave of Torremuir at a somewhat early date. He had reas-son to be well satisfied with his gains;
he had secured for himself a large sum of money, which he had carefully invested in foreign securities; he would be able to decamp at a moment's notice, if necessary, without sacrificing a farthing. The game was almost played out now. If Molly and her husband were to be installed at Torremuir, he knew that he must take to flight. For of all the people he had traded or injured in his life, he had most reason to dread Alan Moncreiff and John Han-nington, especially in conjunction.

What he could do at present, however,
was to make Stella exceedingly uncomfortable by a pretence of knowing Alan's address and withholding it. She could not tell that this was untrue; and it threw her into a fever to recollect from time to time that he might all this while be corresponding with her husband, giving him the details of her life, reducing her motives, vilifying her character. She believed, and it was not enough—to be capable of all this—right and she could not be content in the thought of its possibility; for although she told herself repeatedly that she did not now love her husband, she was strangely sensitive to his opinion of her. She still shrunk from the idea that her actions were misrepresented in his eyes, and at the same time she told herself that it was useless to care what he thought of her. Such contradictions of feelings were sometimes exist in the most logical persons alive; and Stella did not try to reconcile the two; she let them flourish side by side, and the one might choke
the other if it could.

The antagonism between herself and Ralph Kingscott was not carried into the remotest trifles, and it was not to be wondered at that it manifested itself at the time of Alan's return. Who was to meet the master of the house? What carriage should be sent? Stella said that she would go herself; but Mr.
Kingscott calmly assured her that this was impracticable, as the house had fallen lame, the landau was out of repair, and finally that Alan had told him to come himself in the dog-cart.
Stella, flushing with annoyance, ceded the point. Ralph must meet him then;
and Alan must hear the first account of her doings from Ralph's malicious tongue. There was no help for it, and she could not even protest.

Moreover, she had to keep her face calm and cheerful, for Molly, still recently weak and excitable, must not know that anything was amiss. So, in spite of a very heavy heart, Stella was her sweet, serene self in the sick-room;
and if, when Molly was sleeping, a few tears fell on the little red fold of the baby that Stella loved to hold, nobody was the wiser, and the tears were happily wiped away without leaving any trace behind.

Mr. Kingscott had driven off in the dog-cart about 3 o'clock, but he had some business in the town, and was not to meet Alan until a little after 5 o'clock. They would hardly reach Tor-remuir before 6.

Lady Valencia, who was still in the house, noticed Stella's pale cheeks, and persuaded her to go out for a stroll about 2 o'clock. "I'll sit with Molly,"
she said, "and take care of Miss Bess.
What will Mr. Moncreiff say to that white face. Go and get a little fresh air, dear, and you will be better able to give your husband a welcome."

Stella was right, thought Stella,
as she went to look for her hat; it would be well to steady her nerves and raise her spirits a little before she encountered Alan. There would probably be a battle to fight with him; he would no doubt be angry with her for telegraphing Molly to come home, and he might not credit her with not having known where he was staying. Besides, Ralph might all this time have been leading Alan to believe that she had acted out of mere willfulness—oh, there was no end to the complications and possibilities of vexation that lay before her!

She tried to string her courage up to a high point, but her heart would beat faster at every thought of her husband, and her hands would turn cold when she pictured his look of stern disapproval.
Her efforts were useless, and she decided that it was better not to think of him at all than to distress herself by these anticipations; and so she tried to turn her attention to the wintry scenes among which she walked, and to notice only the contrasts of sunlight and shade on the snow-clad hills, or the glitter of hoar frost on the trees and shrubs on either hand.

TORNADO IN PRINCE EDWARD.

Pictou, Ont. June 3.—A tornado of wind and hail, lasting fifteen minutes, passed over the northern portion of this county this afternoon, and apparently expended its force on Cornwall Point and Big Bay, in the Bay of Quinte. Three schooners in Big Bay were completely stripped of their canvas. Cornwall Point is a summer resort on the Bay of Quinte opposite Northport. All the cottages were more or less damaged. One cottage and a large boathouse were blown into the bay and floated away. Crops and early fruit were damaged by the hail.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidotes to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY JOTTINGS.

At the conclusion of the City Council meeting last night, Solicitor Ivey, of the Street Railway Company, waited on the council to ask that a committee be appointed to wait with the company on the County Council, which meets today, with reference to the crossing of the Dundas street bridge. Mr. Ivey said that it would be necessary to secure the consent of the County Council at this session, as the fall meeting would be too late to allow of the completion of the Springbank line. The mayor and No. 1 committee were appointed as a deputation. This move settles beyond question the route which the company intends to take to reach Springbank. The shareholders meet tomorrow to ratify the franchise and to consider the advisability of increasing the stock of the company by $250,000 or less.

SUSPECTED SUICIDE IN YARMOUTH.

On Sunday evening Mrs. John Badgley, of South Yarmouth, died suddenly. It is believed as the result of her own act. Deceased was about 22 years of age, and a member of the Society of Friends. Lately a committee of that society had been investigating certain matters relating to her relationship to the church, and the report of the committee was only received by Mrs. Badgley on Sunday afternoon. She read it, expressed her gratification at the kind words it contained and at the satisfactory nature of the report itself. She shortly afterwards went to her bedroom, when her husband followed, arriving just in time to see her taking her hand from her mouth, evidently having swallowed a powder or pill. Mrs. Badgley immediately fell back on the bed, and although a doctor was secured as quickly as possible, she died in the early evening. For some time past the deceased had appeared abstracted, indifferent to her household duties, and at times moody. The poison taken was rough on rats. Dr. Gustin, of St. Thomas, will hold an inquest.
