WOMEN'S CHAMPION STATES THE CASE

Powerful Plea For the Franchise By Mrs. Philip Snowden.

IS NOT A SUFFRAGETTE

Brilliant Englishwoman's Addresses Audience at the Grand Last Night.

Londoners had the privilege last night of listening to a presentation of the suffragist movement by one of the most brilliant women in public life today, Mrs. Philip Snowden.

There is nothing of the amazon about Mrs. Snowden, at least not physically. She is good-looking and quiet-mannered, believing what she preaches, and it was a stirring address she delivered on "The Mother of Parliaments."

There is nothing of the amazon about Mrs. Snowden, at least not physically. She is good-looking and quiet-mannered, believing what she preaches, and it was a stirring address she delivered on "The Mother of Parliaments."

Mrs. Snowden then traced the history of woman in public life. In ancient times she had been elected to Parliament, but had not taken seats because of certain restrictions. It was not considered honorable for men even to sit in parliament in those days, and they were paid. The highest mark of the king's favor was when he freed a constituency from having a member, and liberated them from the payment of his salary.

There was also the difficulty of travel, a fact that seriously militated against women exercising the full prerogative. There were no express-trains in their own right, who were eligible to sit in the House of Lords, but because of their youth and the prejudice against them they had not availed themselves of the privilege.

The speaker pointed out that for many years women had worked side by side with men in elections. They had done much canvassing and hard work in campaigns, and now they were asking for an opportunity of going further, and participating in the polling.

Mrs. Snowden took a clever fling at the election laws, declaring that no human being on earth could understand them. She is good-looking and quiet-mannered, believing what she preaches, and it was a stirring address she delivered on "The Mother of Parliaments."

Mrs. Snowden traced the difference between the suffragist and the suffragette. She stated most emphatically that she was not one of the latter, although a large portion of her speech was a defence of the suffragettes, even those who at times throw stones, and otherwise misbehave themselves.

"These women believe in advertising," declared Mrs. Snowden. "When they intended going to the Parliament buildings they carefully announced the fact. It is against the law for more than ten persons to congregate about the Parliament buildings, and so there were never any more than eight in a party."

the advertising, but much of the good work was done by the former. Mrs. Snowden declared that 250 Church of England clergymen were preaching woman's suffrage throughout England, and other organizations were teaching the same doctrine.

There is nothing like a religious or a political action to turn men into beasts," declared Mrs. Snowden. "The suffragettes have suffered every possible insult at the hands of men during this controversy."

THE PROPER CARE OF THE ORCHARD

Demonstration of Best Methods To Be Followed.

BENEFIT OF SPRAYING

Results of Extensive Experiment Made by Experts in Fruit Culture.

Mr. W. D. Albright, editor of the Farmer's Advocate, who, with Mr. Joseph Wood, has been carrying on interesting experiments in the proper care of orchards, gave The Advertiser an interview on the results of their experiments.

"Apples of gold" is a metaphysical phrase, that has acquired almost a literal significance in many parts of Eastern Canada this year," he declared. "A succession of hard frosts at blooming time and later, following the unusually early opening of spring, blighted the foliage, and proved disastrous to the set of fruit. Southwestern Ontario was especially hard hit, and not a few farmers in Middlesex County, who had never before been without home-grown apples in their cellars, came to the Farmer's Advocate demonstration orchard in the autumn to buy fruit for their own use."

"For the information of new readers, we may explain that in the spring of 1909 we rented for three or five years from Joseph Poole, near Lambeth, between six and seven miles southwest of London, a three-acre apple orchard, 22 years planted, consisting of 147 trees of mixed varieties, but chiefly good winter sorts, such as Spies, Greenings and Baldwins. This orchard was fairly thrifty and was well located on good soil, but was in sod, and had never been sprayed. It was, in consequence, infested with various insect and fungous pests, such as oyster-shell bark-lice, codling moth, and apple scab. It seems to have been particularly subject to scab, so much so that many of the apples had been misshapen, and totally unfit to ship."

For this orchard we agreed to pay a rental of one hundred dollars a year, and to do all the work and take all the proceeds, save such fruit as the owner required for his own use. He, on his part, agreed to manure the orchard in the spring of the second year, which has been liberally done. The orchard last year was pruned, sprayed five times, and cultivated till midsummer, when cover crops were sown. It was, in short, cared for in precisely the manner we have been advocating for many years. Until we took hold of this orchard, not much over $20 worth of fruit had been sold from it in any one season. We sold $900 worth last year, and after paying for all labor at day wages, and water and other expense, ordinary and extraordinary, even to $18 for car fare and livery, and $20 for interest and depreciation on equipment, we had a round $300 clear profit, which, together with the $100 rent, would be equal to 12-1/2 per cent interest on an assumed valuation of $1,000 an acre."

But, while we can conserve moisture by cultivation, and fight worms and scab with arsenate of lead, combined with lime-sulphur of Bordeaux, we have no patent on good weather. Frost fell this year upon the painstaking and careless, and as if this was not enough, before the fruit had reached the size of hickory nuts, a severe local hailstorm spotted almost every one of the scant set of apples; and, by way of climax, a hard frost following a thanksgiving snowstorm, caught the orchard with a snow cover, which was hanging on the trees, spoiling many outright and rendering it necessary to dispose of the rest at a heavy sacrifice to the coming fancy and to the acres or quick sale, so that the proceeds from this variety amounted to only about $60."

On the whole, though, we are not sorry for these vicissitudes. They are liable to happen now and then to everyone, and, as our object in this orchard work is to make a showing possible to the average man, we cheerfully encounter a fair share of the risks to which orcharding is liable. We should add that expenses were somewhat reduced this year, as Mr. Poole and his sons did most of the work for us, marketing all the fruit. He kept track of the time and set his own wages, and, although the work was faithfully performed, and the labor cost was less than if men from the village had been hired by the day, as we had to do last year, still the wages paid represent, we think, a fair value for a farmer to place upon his time, and more than we earn from manure grain and stock. The time was charged as follows: Man, $1.50 per day; man and horse, $2.50; man and team, $3; man and team hauling fruit to city, $3.50. Pruning, cultivation and cover crops, $100. The cost of the manure was $100, and the cost of the water, to that of last year. Pruning was done in March and April. The cover crops sown in 1909, together with a coat of manure, were in the orchard work in the under as lightly as possible in May, and occasional cultivation given until Aug. 1, when another cover crop was sown, hairy vetch being harrowed in the rate of 40 pounds per acre.

Spraying. The intention was to spray most of the orchard three times: (1) before the buds opened, with commercial lime-sulphur, spring strength; (2) just after the blossoms fell, with commercial lime-sulphur (summer strength) on part, and Bordeaux on two rows, arsenate of lead on the remainder; (3) with the same materials about two weeks later, or when the apples were, say, the size of hazelnuts.

LONDON, THURSDAY, DEC. 8.
NOT SINGLE CHAMBER GOVERNMENT.

The cry that Mr. Asquith's anti-veto policy is tantamount to single chamber government is very far from the truth. The legislation he proposes would leave a large residuum of power in the House of Lords. His resolutions are, in brief:
1. That the House of Lords be disabled by law from rejecting or amending a money bill, decided to be such by the Speaker.

2. As regards bills other than money bills, the power of the House of Lords be so restricted that any such bill which has passed the Commons in three successive sessions, and has been rejected by the Lords in these sessions, shall become law without the consent of the Lords, on the royal assent being declared.
3. The duration of Parliament to be limited to five years.

4. The power of delaying a House of Commons measure for three sessions is a very real and great one. It will be greater by reason of the reduction of the parliamentary term from seven to five years. The effect will be this: that only measures passed by the House of Commons during the first two years of a new Parliament will become law against the will of the upper chamber. To insure that no government shall call special sessions in order to force a measure through during the last years of Parliament, it is provided that at least two years shall elapse between the date of the introduction of a bill in the House of Commons and the third reading of the same bill in the same chamber.

As it works out, the House of Commons will be at the mercy of the House of Lords, except in respect of money bills, during the last half of the parliamentary term; so that only a House of Commons, fresh from the people, with a brand-new mandate of the electorate in its hands, will be able to override the obstruction of the peers. The Government resolutions assume that the mandate of the House of Commons will be so stale two years after a general election that a three-years-old House should not have the power to force the barriers of the upper chamber. It will be remembered that Mr. Balfour's Government in its last years, after it had exhausted its mandate and lost public confidence, passed almost revolutionary measures, such as the education and license bills. A Liberal Government would not be able to do this, if the Asquith proposals became law. A Conservative Government will always be able to do it, because the House of Lords opposes only Liberal legislation.

The Asquith anti-veto bill is an exceedingly moderate measure, and the "single chamber" outcry is wholly insincere.
AN UN-CANADIAN UTTERANCE.
The London Times has found some election literature in an address by Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., before the Canadian Club, Hamilton, a few days ago. Mr. Nesbitt's utterance is paraded in Great Britain as an expression of Canadian sentiment, though anything more un-Canadian cannot be imagined. He alleged that the Canadian constitution could be repealed by the British parliament, and added: "If blind political fury and the desire for party advantage are allowed by Great Britain to destroy or cripple two of the great constitutional safeguards we in the overseas dominions have been taught to reverence, the Monarchy and the Second Chamber, we in Canada have, I think, some reason for anxiety. I am not greatly concerned with the principle of the selection of the over-seas dominions, that Canada, at least, will soon begin to take some thought as to their own future, both politically and materially, if they find that the conditions which existed when our constitution pact of 1867 was made are nullified, and that the affairs of the empire are henceforth to be administered at the dictate of temporary waves of political passion."

This is merely grotesque. It amounts to an assertion that Canada has the right to forbid the British people to shape their system of government to suit themselves. That Great Britain bound herself forever by the B. N. A. Act to maintain the present status of the House of Lords, or even a second chamber at all, is a discovery which Mr. Nesbitt may claim as his own. Of course the character of the British parliament is a matter of interest to us Canadians, just as we are interested in the personality of the sovereign, but not because there is a possibility that either the British parliament or the British sovereign will ever attempt to lay hands on the Canadian constitution against the will of the Canadian people. There is a snobbish assumption in Mr. Nesbitt's speech that we will resent the curtailment of the powers of the House of Lords, and may even desert the empire if the popular British chamber is no longer to be at the mercy of an aristocratic faction. It is conceivable that Mr. Nesbitt and some other Canadians will lose their affection for a country no longer ruled by the nobility, but a much greater number of Canadians feel that the empire will be more closely knit when the mother country brings her political system into conformity with the democratic principles prevailing in Canada, and the other self-governing colonies. As the Toronto Star well says: "We used to complain of Downing street rule; but if this tendency goes much further, Manchester and Scotland will begin to protest against Canadian domination. We will not allow Great Britain to maintain free trade, we will not allow the British constitution to be altered."

"THE RAKE'S PROGRESS."
The Ottawa Opposition set its face in the right direction in March, 1909, when it unanimously declared for the "speedy" construction of a Canadian navy, the word "speedy" being inserted at the request of Mr. Borden himself. Since then the Opposition has succumbed to the voice of the tempter. There are several stages in the decadence averted:

1. It abandoned the Canadian navy project in January, 1910, and declared for an immediate gift of money to the mother country, with which to build two Dreadnoughts. It excused its change of front by pleading that an emergency existed, and that the Canadian navy would be of no service for some years to come.

2. It abandoned in November, 1910, the proposal of an immediate money payment to Great Britain. Mr. Borden did the emergency had passed away, and there was no need for hasty action. He would leisurely consult the British Admiralty to ascertain whether it needed assistance, and, if so, in what form, if aid were wanted, Mr. Borden would give it.

3. Before giving further aid, or adopting any permanent policy of naval defence, Mr. Borden would shelve the question until the people had been consulted by means either of a referendum or a general election—he did not say which.

4. In no circumstances would he grant permanent aid unless there was a revolution in the relations of the mother country and the self-governing colonies. There must be such a re-organization as would give Canada and the other daughter nations a voice in the councils which decided the issues of peace and war.

It will be seen that Mr. Borden's "policy" has attained such india-rubber flexibility that it can embrace the Nationalists for the purpose of the next election campaign.

THE LATE JOHN WATERS.
The late John Waters was an admirable type of citizen, and a no less admirable type of public man. Unlike many politicians, he regarded the platform as a serious factor in representative institutions. He met his constituents frequently to discuss with them the issues of the day and he was rewarded by their confidence until he voluntarily retired to private life. He had a more than average equipment for public service. He was highly educated, and had a splendid habit of industry. He was too well informed and too conscientious to be a mere voting machine. He brought reason and integrity to the consideration of all measures. The Waters tradition is one which North Middlesex, and many constituencies similarly favored, should cherish and aspire to.

So far the British pollings have barely touched the Celtic fringe, which will handsomely embroider the Government's majority.
Lord Rosebery threatens physical force if the Government's anti-veto resolutions are pushed. Lord Rosebery's language in the last and the present elections has not fitted his pose as the "Great Moderate."

The Premier of Ontario says that Canada will desert the empire unless she gets a preference in the British markets. Mr. Wallace Nesbitt says Canada may drop out if the Asquith Government lays hands on the House of Lords. How very disloyal our professional loyalists can be! And how very absurd!

The December number of "Ourselves," Peter McArthur's magazine for cheerful Canadians, is full of homely and wholesome humor, and wisdom wrapped up in wit. Mr. McArthur has produced something original, something racy of the soil. "Ourselves" has made a field of its own.
The Ottawa Free Press modestly celebrates its fifth anniversary under the present management. Mr. E. Norman Smith has scored a distinct success. He has brought the Free Press from the rear to the front. It is an admirable paper in every department, and it has a habit of candor which must widen its influence.

MATERIAL EQUIPMENT.
[Chicago Tribune.]
"You exposed yourself needlessly, Maria," said Mr. Dorkin, severely. "Here you are threatened with a bad cold, and you are in no condition to meet it."

"That's all you know about it, John," wheezed Mrs. Dorkin. "I've got 98 handkerchiefs."

USE UMBRELLAS.
[Kingston Whig.]
It is declared to be the law on the American side that women must remove their hats in public places when requested to do so. And they shouldn't object. They might as well sit in churches and concert halls with umbrellas over them as with the hats which some of them wear.

LATE SHOPPING.
[Montreal Star.]
Eleventh hour shopping is, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, entirely the result of a procrastination or of carelessness. Aside from the fact that it is unsatisfactory to the customer, it is a needless and inexcusable imposition on the employee, who finds the three days before Christmas made the culmination of three weeks of constant, harassing labor.

ANNUAL NIGHTMARE.
[New York Telegraph.]
The Christmas present problem looms largely just ahead. When winter is approaching, and summer days have fled, a man must spend like water his coin for that and this. As though it were a pleasure he really wouldn't miss.

HIS WEAKNESS.
[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]
"Well," said he, anxious to patch up their quarrel, "aren't you curious to know what is in this parcel?"
"Not very," replied the still belligerent wife.
"Well, it's something for the one I love best in all the world."
"Ah, I suppose it's those collars you said you needed."

PARNELL.
[Recollections of Mrs. T. P. O'Connor.]
I never saw a heavier man than Parnell. The story of his downfall is one of the most pathetic in history. There is a rumor that Capt. O'Shea said to Gambetta: "What are we going to do with Parnell? He is going to be a great danger to the country." And Gambetta replied: "Set a woman on his track." And the woman, instead of betraying him, fell in love with this patriot, and that was his undoing.

HELPFUL LEAGUES.
[Whinnip Telegram.]
Milwaukee had a Big Brother and Big Sister League. The Big Brothers have secured work for 1,000 boys and home for 25 boys. Milwaukee has 45 Big Brothers and asked for 1,000, to help 10,000 boys to be good citizens. The call is for 5,000 Big Sisters to help 5,000 girls in need of friends.

REALITY.
[McLaughlin Wilson.]
He dreamed about a costly home that should all his life be a nightmare. Cramped quarters of a boarding house should be a nightmare town. His wardrobe would be always kept in beautiful array, but the wardrobe is a spacious place for everything. Each in its ordered way.

HIS HEIRLOOMS.
[Exeter Standard.]
"An heirloom," explained the farmer's wife to her 13-year-old boy, "is something that has been handed down from father to son, and in some instances is greatly prized."
"Prize these heirlooms I'm wearing," remarked the youngster, "a good deal more if they wasn't so long in the legs."

WHERE HE SHINES.
[Tril-Bits.]
Old Friend—Well, old boy, how have you been getting along? Did you succeed as a novelist?
Mr. Soarhigh—No; the publishers said my imagination was too lively—plots lacked probability, you know—I had to give it up; but I'm doing first-rate.
"Writing railway advertisements."

THE KIND WORTH WHILE.
[Louisville Courier-Journal.]
"Everybody emits rays. An angry man emits violet rays; a contented person emits pinkish rays; a man who is in love emits red rays. I wonder if my boss would emit a 30 raise of salary?"

THE CASE IN A NUTSHELL.
[Ottawa Free Press.]
The reasons why Canadians should support the naval policy of the Laurier Government have been set forth in many styles during the past few months, but we have never found a case in which the arguments were better summarized than in a resolution adopted the other day by the Young Liberals of Quebec, as follows:

Whereas, on March 29, 1896, the House of Commons unanimously indorsed the principle of a navy;
Whereas, the Government, in deciding on the construction of a fleet, has only executed the mandate which was given to it by the representatives of the people;
Whereas, the policy of the party is in the best interests of the country;
Whereas, the naval services will be voluntary;
Whereas, our autonomy is safeguarded;
Whereas, the navy will be essentially Canadian;
Whereas, all the vessels will be constructed in this country, and their crews will be Canadian;
Whereas, the construction and the maintenance of our navy will not necessitate any additional taxation;
Whereas, it will protect our coasts and our commerce;
Whereas, it is opportune for us to prove our loyalty to the Crown;
Whereas, Canada has become a nation;
It is resolved that this association regrets the campaign in this Province of the Nationalist group; this association has confidence in the policy of the Government; and this association has confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

There are a set of resolutions which might well be adopted by every Liberal club in Canada. They are the sentiments of a united people, and not those of any group of the community.

GOVERNMENT'S MAJORITY

erally were smaller in the cases of both the Liberals and the Unionists, but this is more than made up for by the reduced total vote cast.
Interesting personalities among those whose election was announced were: Mr. C. J. Fox, the Toronto member of the House of Commons from Cork County to support Wm. O'Brien, the Independent Nationalist leader; H. Spence, a Liberal member of the division of Kent, and Lord Willoughby de Eresby, for the Horncastle division of Lincolnshire.

London, Dec. 8.—By today's election the Government on a lead of 20 over the Unionists. The Opposition secured seven gains in today's pollings, and suffered a loss of only three seats. The Unionist total gains for the four days are 19, the Liberal gains 12, and Labor 4. Among the Nationalists, the O'Brienites hold six seats.
The most notable Unionist victory was in Cardiff, where the Unionist candidate, Mr. J. H. Thomas, was re-elected in a quarter of a century. This victory was largely due to the personal popularity of Lord Crichton-Stuart, who overcame a Liberal opponent who had been educated by the withdrawal from politics of the old member, D. A. Thomas, who was replaced in the Liberal interest by Sir C. Hyde.

There was an even greater surprise, however, in the capture of Plymouth by Waldorf Astor and A. Shirley Benn, who had been the old opponent in the seat. Mr. Astor, who had been in place as the running mate of the young Anglo-American. They proved a good team and the work that Mr. Astor had done in the constituency was shown in his success in replacing C. E. Mallet, financial secretary to the war office, who is the first minister to be defeated. In addition, young Astor headed the poll, and won the seat.
The Unionists also captured the Melton division of Leicestershire, and their other two gains were made from the Liberal vote. The Liberal vote in the Unionist unit in 1906, when they were in the field, and Viscount Wolmer recaptured Newton, in Lancashire, S. W., which Labor had held in two parliaments. In Lancashire, not remaining as staunchly with the Government as in the two previous contests.

Unionists Much Pleased.
Almost everywhere in Lancashire the Liberal and Unionist vote decreased, and the Unionist vote more pleased with their gains here than anywhere else in the country. For some reason many Lancashire failed to vote, and as a result the Unionist vote in several cases the Unionist won seats on the same vote polled as in January, while the coalition vote was reduced through abstention on the part of former supporters.

The Government gets some comfort from London, all the districts of the Liberal vote were reduced. The Unionist in the last election, and Labor gained Bow and Bromley. The latter seat was captured by George Lansbury, an avowed Socialist, whom the Government had named as its candidate. Lloyd George advised the Liberals to support in preference to L. S. Amery, the historian and writer, and one of the tariff reform leaders, who married the sister of Mr. Hamar Greenwood, the free trade member for Sunderland.

William Redmond's Defeat.
One of the most important election announcements today was the result of the polling in York city yesterday. The Liberal vote was reduced, O'Brien and Maurice Healy, Independent Nationalists, were elected by a combined majority of 1,164 over William Redmond, and Augustus Roche, William Redmond is the brother of John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, and sat in the last parliament from Clare. He sought to defeat O'Brien, the head of the Irish faction opposed to John Redmond's leadership. O'Brien was returned with a slightly decreased majority of 638. Morris Healy, who was defeated in January by the Nationalist candidate, A. Roche, who had a majority of 209, yesterday turned the tables on Roche, winning the seat with 525 votes to spare.

Acknowledges Defeat.
Mr. Balfour, speaking at Wrexham this evening, practically admitted defeat, and implored the Government, if they did not like the tax reform, to reconsider the whole situation before the next colonial conference, and suggest some other method of meeting the impending danger, which was dependent upon the position of the Government and its obligation to "toe the line."
The situation was full of peril unless they shook themselves free from the Nationalist domination.
It was clear, he said, that the nation could not be trusted in the keeping of the Liberal Government, and he declared, before long another appeal must be made to the people.
Both of the two great parties are trying to improve their position by even ever so little in the next House. The Liberal Government entertained the hope that they would gain 20 seats before the end of the elections. The Unionists think they must fall something short, but today's results

DEFENCE PROMISES MANY SENSATIONS
Trial of Little French-Canadian Girl For Murder Goes On.
[By Associated Press.]
Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 8.—The defence in the trial of Hattie LeBlanc, the little Cape Breton girl, who is on trial for the murder of Clarence E. Glover, the Waltham laundry proprietor, opened with sensational today. A Farley Brewer, for the defence, declared in his opening address that the defence would show that someone beside the prisoner had the opportunity, the motive and the ability to commit the crime, and Melvin M. Johnston, senior counsel for the girl, called district attorney Higgins as the first witness. Mr. Johnston explained that he desired to show through Mr. Higgins that material witnesses to the Government's case had not been allowed to testify, and that the prosecution had hindered the defence's investigation of the case.
Mr. Brewer, in his opening address, spoke of the mystery surrounding the death of Glover, and declared that Hattie LeBlanc was brought to the Glover home designedly.
"Nobody," he continued, "killed Clarence Glover, and did it with a cold and deliberate purpose. Others had the opportunity to kill him, and we shall show that one other in particular had opportunity, motive and ability."
"Hattie," he asserted, "had no motive for killing Glover. The defence," he said, "will not attempt to defend the relations between Glover and Hattie, which may or may not have been proper."
When Mr. Brewer had concluded his address, Mr. Johnston asked District Attorney Higgins to take the stand as the first witness of the defence. Instantly there was great commotion

COLTS' BONSPIEL GOES TO ST. THOMAS

Annual Affair Will Be Held in Railroad City on January 16.

RULE TO CHECK "RINGERS"

All Must Have Certificates To Show That They Have Curled Not Over Five Years.

Mr. Morgan E. Harris, of Brantford, was elected president of the Colts' League at the annual meeting held at St. Thomas on Jan. 15. The attendance was very large, over a dozen towns being represented. Mr. P. H. Ranahan, of this city, the retiring president, occupied the chair. A number of new rules were adopted, the most important being to the effect that rinks entering the annual bonspiel must produce certificates from the societies and presidents of the clubs, testifying that they have not curled more than five years. Notices of the bonspiel will be issued by the secretary at least ten days before the date of that event. There are now about sixteen clubs in the league. The new officers are: Honorary president—Major Beattie, London, and A. E. McLaren, ex-M.P., of Stratford. President—Morgan E. Harris, of Brantford. Vice-president—Robert Coffey, of St. Thomas. Secretary—Walter Ross, of St. Thomas. Secretary—P. H. Ranahan, of London.

N. T. A. TO DECIDE ON MORE A SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Drivers Who Deliberately Lay Up Will Be Dealt With Strictly.

[Associated Press.] New York, Dec. 7.—When the board of review of the National Trotting Association met today, it took up the question of punishment for drivers who do not try to win. Heretofore a driver against whom such a charge has been made and proven, has been fined, generally $100, and sometimes suspended from the grand circuit for a certain length of time. The discussion today was on the question of increasing the penalty, with the possibility that the board would recommend that a driver proven guilty of not trying to win a race be disqualified. Wilson Queen, of Danville, Pa., was fined $100 and suspended for one year for starting the chestnut mare Mabel M. out of her class at Nazareth, Pa. The application of A. K. Hobbs of Port Norfolk, Va., for the removal of the suspension passed upon him in December, 1909, was denied.

O. W. Alkin, of Notasulga, Ala., owner, and Fred C. Newell, of Mountgomery, Ala., driver, were suspended for starting the roan stallion Slick Johnson out of his class at Knoxville, Tenn., last September. The suspension will be lifted, however, when the winners are returned.

The matter is to be then dealt with finally by the executive.

MISSOURI HORSEMEN "SHOWN" BY A. T. A.

Protest of Cornwall of Thamesville Was Sustained—Calgary Club Reinstated.

[Associated Press.] Chicago, Dec. 7.—Missouri men and Missouri horses held the centre of the stage at the meeting of the board of appeals of the American Trotting Association, which adjourned tonight after a two-day session. Although 15 cases were considered and passed on by the board, action on others was deferred until the May, 1911, meeting. Greatest interest was exhibited by horsemen in the Duvenick case, with California, Missouri, as its starting point. In brief, the trotting association, which is making a searching inquiry into the matter, charges that members of the Duvenick family controlled a string of horses raced by the association at Illinois, Missouri and southwestern tracks. These horses, the association declares, were entered in races by men who did not own them, and handled in collusion against the rest of the association. A Tall Grift. In some instances it is alleged that as many as three of the Duvenick string started in the same race, ostensibly as the entries of three different stables. The association rules provide that where two or more horses from the same stable start in the same race that condition shall be plainly specified. The men involved in the case are H. L. Duvenick, Thomas Duvenick and E. C. Duvenick, all of California, Mo.; Theodore Christian, Centerville, Mo.; William Harrison, of California, Mo., and J. E. Roberts, St. Louis, Mo. Secretary Knight, of the board of appeals, says that the names of other men involved will be brought out before the spring meeting. Had Five Horses. Five horses, all of which have been suspended or declared ineligible, pending further investigation, are alleged to have been controlled by the Duvenicks. These animals are: Nathan C. Raymond, B. Lulu Allen, Miss Colombo and Joe Mack. All were big money winners in various race and fair circuits last season. No charge is made that the horses were raced under other than their own names and marks, the cases being based entirely on the question of ownership and alleged collusion in handling. Further action by the board of appeals in connection with the Duvenick case will be taken at the meeting next spring, when it is expected that the history and ownership of the horses will have been clearly established. Hearing on application of Milton Churchill, of Hamilton, N. Y., and the brown mare Fiesta Belle for remission of time was continued. Canadian Cases. Sustained protest of N. K. Cornwall, of Thamesville, Ont., and his brown gelding Bonnie Claude, against collection of a fee by the Borwick, Ont., Driving Club. Permanent reinstatement granted the Calgary Turf Club and Alexander Storey, of Northwest Territory, Canada.

Pertinent Sport Paragraphs

Abie Attell earns large sums with his fists according to the rulings of the Marquis of Queensberry, but when he wants diversion he follows the ponies, and the bookies get his coin about as fast as he can earn it.

The rumor that Jack Johnson will attempt spellbinding south of the Ohio River is officially denied.

Apropos of nothing in particular, Kid Farmer, in beating White at Memphis, proved they do come back once in a while.

If Horace Fogel was too slow to escape being run down by a Western Union messenger, it is easy to see why he is the angler in the baseball trade.

The Athletics, in addition to getting $2,000 each for participation in the W. S., were paid eight days' salary for the games with the All-Stars and the gate money.

Jack O'Connor and Jim McAleer are charter members of the "We have it in for Hedges" club.

Hedger and Drexler are in the same class with reference to the governing bodies of the auto and aero race organizations.

Annette Kellerman, the beautiful Australian, often referred to as the most perfectly formed woman, earns huge sums of money by giving exhibitions of her art and swimming. Her pet weakness is motoring. She carries her car with her on the road.

Tex Rickard, the man from Goldfield, dabbles in mining stock, but if you ask the "gamest sport in Nevada" he'll admit he has a soft spot for the wheel, and will take a flier occasionally.

Jim Archer, of the Cubs, and Pat Livingston, of the Athletics, led their respective leagues in holding down base stealing.

John Philip Sousa, the march king, is one of the best scatter gun shots in the country, and likes nothing better than to take part in a big match with clay pigeons as victims.

About this time of the year the fellows whose foreheads run back to the point of extreme height, tells us "baseball isn't what it used to be."

If Ban Johnson persists in making the clubs publish stockholders names, the New York teams will look like a Tammany Hall subscription list, and the fact that Andy Freedman still gets his rakeoff from the Giants' dividends will become public.

Jim Jeffries, once a champion, has always been a fisherman. He prefers to wade a trout stream to any other form of sport, although he likes to shoot big game pretty well.

It is likely that there will be no more changes in the season's records for, unless a special effort should be made to reduce one or two in the table at Phoenix, Ariz., or at some California track, the record-breaking season may be called finished. ## SIX-DAY RACERS ARE FAR BEHIND RECORD

Have Been Making Slow Pace and Are in Fine Condition Still.

[Associated Press.] New York, Dec. 8.—Although the monotony of the grind around the saucer track was relieved by several spirited sprints, there was no parallel in the early hours today for the exciting moment of yesterday, when the big shake-up occurred among the six-day bicycle riders. The teams left in the shaken contest contented themselves for the most part with previous records.

The teams this morning were 50 miles behind the best figures for previous contests. The early going was evidently helping keep the men in trim, and also, as far as could be observed, nearly all of them were in excellent condition. The lone exception was Walker, of the Pyc-Walker team, who fell and sprained his ankle during the night.

He came out at intervals this morning to relieve his partner, and was shown consideration by the other cyclists, under Moran's leadership, several of them taking turns in helping him around the track, when he seemed to need assistance in keeping up.

There were no changes in the relative standing during the night and early morning riding, 3 a.m. finding the score as follows:

Behre and Goulet, Pyc and Walker, Fogler and Hill, Root and Moran, Mitten and Floukas, Cameron and Halstead, Collins and Drobach, 1:53 miles 8 laps; MacFarland and Clarke, 1:53 miles 8 laps; 1:53 miles 7 laps; Rutt and Stol, 1:53 miles 8 laps.

The record is 1:52 miles 7 laps, made by MacFarland and Clarke in 1909.

HAD A MARK OF 2:25 1/2

Owner Thought He Was Just a Good Roadster and Later Identified Him as "Pickpocket."

[Special to The Advertiser.] New York, Dec. 8.—How many owners of trotters try to win each and every time they start their horses? The members of the board of review of the National Trotting Horse Association meeting yesterday at the Murray Hill Hotel heard the query.

"Sure, it's on agreement," continued Frank E. Lang, who has driven winners on a hundred tracks. "Never in my life have I opened my mouth. I have never in fifteen years made a second have been on to jobs but I've never opened my mouth."

This was not evidence as a court would take it, but Major Johnstone, of Louisville, Ky., president of the association, could not stand for this declaration. "Do you not know," said he to Lang, "that a person who perceives a wicked act is being committed is, unless he at once reports it, a partner in the crime?"

A Quebec Case. The case was that of the bay mare Ringo's girl, which won the 2:20 trot last summer at Sherbrooke, Quebec, and was protested by Dr. J. H. Gahes, a Vermont man who owned a colt, who, by the decision yesterday, got the $200 hung up.

"It seemed my duty," said Dr. Gahes, "to make a protest as I knew the mare had been trotting very fast at tracks in Canada which are not in any association. One race he won was in 1909, but there was no time posted."

It was contended that Frank Lang, when he drove the mare, knew nothing of the suppression of time. A drift of evidence as high as the snowbanks outside bore out his statements. Frank seemed to think the case was going against him and he said to the members of the board: "Don't you know that time is always suppressed in races on half-mile tracks? Every owner when he has a horse of speed always has a man in the stand before or just after the race and asks to have the time suppressed?"

"I have attended every race meeting on the international circuit for three years and I know of no such practices."

Suppressing Time. "I would like to ask the board one question remarked Lang. 'It is in how many races have he not suppressed on half-mile tracks with the full knowledge of all concerned?'"

The members of the board looked at him with the expression of a boy to whom someone has tossed a firecracker. Subsequently they threw out the Lang case.

A youngster from Los Angeles, Cal., who has been campaigning in the east for two years, said the Canton (Ohio) Driving Association had withheld from him $24 50 paid out for wrong entries. The board gave the money back to him, on the few times it has ever given it.

"Have you come all the way from California to answer me," he asked, asked President Johnstone, in honeyed tones.

"Not on your life!" replied the youth. C. A. Holcomb. "I have been waiting over to see a snowstorm, and the flurry outside is my first in twenty years."

C. H. Van Winkle, Waterloo, N. Y., and the brown mare, Susie Hal, pacer, 2:17 1/2.

A London Case. Daniel Campbell, Saskatchewan, Sask., bought a roadster, a stallion, 2:25 1/2, last summer, and finding it had a bit of speed, entered the bag as Harry R. in the races nearby, and won most of them. Mr. Campbell learned subsequently that he has been ringing the bay gelding Pickpocket pacer, 2:25 1/2, and he voluntarily made restitution to the National Trotting Horse Association. This is the first on record.

Uncle John Maguire appeared and identified the bay gelding Colin, a pacer protested at Miltona, and satisfied the board. Peanut Boy, a winner of Mount Holly and Trenton, and protested for having a roadster also received a clean bill of health. They traced the gelding through a dozen owners from the brooder at Media, Pa., a task simplified because as a colt the horse had received in an accident a split ear.

One of New Jersey's veterinarians, Dr. Bodenweiser, who keeps a livery stable in East Orange, made a protest because of a roadster which he had bought last summer at Red Bank set him back last summer. He said all the other drivers had jockeyed him. He drove Esther B. Fox Pope, who drove Francis Sted in the heat in question, and who subsequently won the front all the way and never saw Esther B. at all.

In memory of Gen. James Oglethorpe, who landed in 1733 and gave the British race its first foothold on the South Atlantic coast, a $30,000 monument was unveiled at Savannah, Ga.

WINTER FAIR BOOMING

Splendid Addresses on Practical Subjects Given by Leading Men—Attendance Has Broken All Records.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Guelph, Dec. 8.—Today is one of the greatest days in the history of the fair, and visitors from all over Ontario are taking in the big show. Yesterday's attendance broke all records. The features of yesterday were the judging of the sheep, the meeting of the Ontario Poultry Association, and the splendid public meeting held in the evening.

The Drummond Cup for the best pen of five lambs, was won by John S. Gosnell & Sons, of Ridgeway, with John Campbell, of Woodville, who had twice before been the winner, being the runner-up. The Campbell sheep were more uniform in size than those in the Gosnell pen, but the latter showed one with an extra fat back and smooth wool that helped to carry them through. The competition was exceedingly close.

Students as Judges.
The students' judging competition, in which 23 students at the Ontario Agricultural College entered, was brought to a close this morning, but the award will not be announced immediately. The students were called upon to show their skill in judging a lot of fat cattle entered in the general competition.

Dr. F. C. Greenleaf, of Guelph, spoke on the education of horses outside of training them for speed. In his view the old process of breaking a horse was outworn, rather there should be a leading of the colt into compliance with the will by artifice rather than by force. Heroic measures should be adopted only when unavoidable.

A colt should never be placed in a position to do wrong, for if he succeeds in acting in opposition to the will of his trainer, he is apt to repeat the act. The cultivation of a colt's mouth was of prime importance.

"A great deal," the doctor said, "depends upon the delicacy of touch of the driver or rider of a colt as to the progress the mouth makes in responsiveness. The head should be light, but steady, the mouth should always be felt, and the colt kept collected. Loose-rein drivers are an abomination, as they teach the mouth nothing and are apt to spoil a horse's gait. Hitching, forging and bad carriage are promoted by loose-rein drivers."

There were 84 hogs killed, and Prof. Day says that never before have the carcasses shown such uniformity and excellence. "Not a poor carcass has been shown," he said. Thirteen beef carcasses have been prepared and they are scarcely inferior in quality to those of the best bred cattle and six grade cattle were killed.

Poultrymen Meet.

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Poultry Association reports presented showed that everything is in the most flourishing condition. The officers elected for the coming year were as follows: Honorary president, Hon. James Duff, Hon. Nelson, Guelph; president, W. J. Teale, Toronto; president, R. Oke, London; 1st vice-president, W. J. Teale; 2nd vice-president, W. J. Teale; secretary, A. P. Westervelt, Toronto; directors, Joseph Russell, M. P., Toronto; A. W. Tyson, Guelph; G. G. Henderson, Hamilton; T. H. Scott, St. Thomas; T. L. Grier, Owen Sound; T. G. Kiley, London; N. K. Cornwall, Thamesford; C. H. Wilson, Harknessville; and J. W. Tyson, Guelph; William McNeill, London; L. H. Fawcett, Toronto; and J. W. Saunders, London; R. McCurdy, London.

At the public meeting, held in the evening, Hon. James Duff, minister of agriculture, presided, and addresses were given by Peter W. Fisher, of Peterborough; Hon. W. J. Hanna, Dr. James Mills and J. R. Howitt, M. P. P., and Dr. John A. Gunn.

LAURIER WOULD GRANT CONSULS RECOGNITION

Question of Foreigners' Status Raised in Parliament.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—The position of the American and other foreign consuls in Canada was referred to in parliament Wednesday when a question was raised as to the place and precedence of foreign consuls at official Canadian functions. There has been much discussion on the matter and the Premier has refused to attend the governor-general's drawing room because they have been given no official recognition.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, said that while in England consular general had no official status, in Canada they performed important semi-diplomatic duties.

"I believe," said the Premier, "we should determine officially the rights and status of the consular-general who reside at Ottawa. Practically they are diplomatic agents as well as consular agents. I think that we should have an understanding with the imperial government that consuls should be allowed semi-diplomatic recognition."

WILL ULSTER UNIONISTS HAVE SOLID EIGHTEEN?

Only One Change Is Looked for in the Irish Representation.

London, Dec. 8.—A good analysis of the probabilities in Ireland is supplied by the Irish correspondent of the Times. The results in that quarter can, it is true, have but little effect upon the great struggles between Radicals and Unionists. But there are issues involved in many of the Irish contests, which call for battles as fierce as those to be fought in the debatable English constituencies.

There is, first of all, the question whether the Ulster Unionists will come back with their old eighteen, with a gain of one or two seats, or with a loss of one or two. The impartial calculator of the Times thinks only one change is extremely probable, and that will be a Unionist gain. Last January Gerald Brunskill captured Mid-Tyrone from the Nationalists by 405 plurality.

Where Unionists Lose.
This victory was only made possible by the appearance of an Independent Nationalist in the field. This split will probably not be repeated, and Mid-Tyrone is pretty certain to revert to the Nationalist column. There are three other Ulster seats which may possibly record a Unionist gain or loss.

North Tyrone was carried by Redmond Barry, the attorney-general, in January, by only 102, and in East Tyrone, Thomas Kettle, an exceptionally strong candidate, who defeated A. D. Macneil, who will not stand again. The Unionists have more than a fighting chance in both.

On the other hand, Derry City elected Lord Hamilton by only 57, and the Unionists must fight desperately to retain that seat.

Real Irish Fight.

But it need hardly be said the fight between Nationalists and Unionists is secondary to the war to be waged between the factions of the former party. How Tim Healy will come out in North Louth; whether William O'Brien can hold his own in Munster, and wrest a seat or two from John Dillon in Mayo; whether the Catholic Church will stand neutral or throw its influence altogether on the side of the Redmondites; what Redmond's American dollars will effect in the strongholds of the O'Brien men, and if O'Brien has any supplies to offset the trans-Atlantic fund; whether recent events have killed the force of O'Brien's land purchase and anti-bulldozing cries; these are the really doubtful questions which the Irish electors' votes will answer.

Guess as Results.

The Times' correspondent ventures that Redmondite energies, and a good deal of American money will be expended in North Louth, where Tim Healy, with the support of the Catholic clergy, had only 99 majority in January, and that his chances are desperate, the clergy now being divided.

That O'Brien will retain four of his five seats in Cork, but his chances of gaining a seat in Limerick are not so good as they were. That in East Mayo John Dillon cannot be beaten, and that Mayo will again return Mr. O'Brien's man, John O'Donnell, and that the leader of the "All for Ireland" party has a good chance of winning North Tyrone and West Mayo from the Redmondites. If he falls in this effort a lot of the American dollars will be expended in keeping the Mayos in the home rule column.

FINE TRIBUTE TO LATE JOHN WATERS

Was Representative of the Best in Canadian Civic and Private Life.

Mr. John Waters, registrar for North and East Middlesex, died yesterday at his residence, 26 Becher street, after an illness extending several months. He was 82 years of age, and for a long time had been actively connected with the political and business life of the county of Middlesex. For 16 years he had lived quietly in this city.

His early life was spent on the farm at Nairn, where he early took a keen interest in public affairs, in 1868 being elected to a seat on the council of East Williams. For seven consecutive years he was re-elected, generally by increased majorities. During his last year as reeve, 1875, he was selected warden of the county of Middlesex.

Mr. Waters retired from municipal life that year, but in 1879 he again sought public honors, and ran as Liberal candidate for the Provincial House. He was elected, and in the general election of 1883 was again selected as Liberal standard-bearer, once more heading the polls. In 1887 he ran a third time and as usual was given the Liberal majority. He was elected in the next general election.

When the position of registrar became vacant, Mr. Waters was named for the position which he had filled with marked distinction.

Mr. Waters was a man of great ability, a scholarly man, and of the highest integrity. Throughout the long years of his public life he was extremely popular with all citizens irrespective of politics, and his death is mourned universally.

He is survived by a widow, three daughters, Mrs. D. M. McLeod, Parkhill; Misses Agnes and Christie at home; and three sons, David, on the homesteads; Dr. Hugh Waters, Nekosia, Wis., and Dr. George Waters, Memphis, Mich.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning from his late residence, 29 Becher street, at 9:45 o'clock to the Grand Trunk station. Interment will be made at North Cemetery on the arrival of the 1:30 train at Alisa Craig.

The Toronto Globe has the following: "Mr. John Waters, who died at his home in London yesterday, was a fine representative of what is best in Canadian political life and private citizenship. High intelligence, rare patience, and unflinching loyalty to duty marked his entire career both public and private. A Liberal in politics, he did his own thinking, took his own course, and for his actions held himself responsible to his own conscience and to his own constituents. In public office he shunned the very appearance of partisanship. In all things he was considerate of others, charitable in his judgments, and singularly open-minded and straightforward."

During the many years when he represented North Middlesex in the Ontario Legislature his personal character and disinterested public services commanded for him the respect and support not only of Liberals, but also of many who in politics were opposed to the party with which he was allied. In his election campaigns he not only withstood all corrupt practices, but declined all contributions whether from party funds or from private individuals. The fact that he was under no obligation either to the party agent or to private interests, but wholly to the goodwill of his constituents gave him a sense of freedom when he stood in his place in the legislative chamber at Toronto, and his views, well considered and frankly stated, commanded attention from both sides, such as is rarely granted to private members.

This in Mr. Waters gave him distinction among members of Parliament; informed himself and he informed his constituents. During the session when other members lounged in the smoking rooms or gave themselves to private business or pleasure in the city he pored over returns and prepared the bills upon which he would be expected to vote. After the close of each session he visited all parts of North Middlesex, and most particularly the purely rural communities, holding public meetings in the open air, at which he reported on the work of the Legislature, explained important measures and answered questions. The result was a solid body of intelligent public opinion which could not readily be stamped by the sudden gusts of campaign passion, and Mr. Waters himself in very truth the representative of his constituents.

The Waters family was among the pioneers in that large Scottish settlement which gave tone and character to North Middlesex. More than sixty years ago Mr. Donald Waters, a man of rare quality, was foremost in the establishment of educational institutions on the banks of the Sauble, and his son, Mr. John Waters, added devotion to the interests of the state to the unflinching services he rendered to school and the church. He was a life-long advocate of absolute justice for the individual and prohibition for the state. His own health and vigor at four-score he attributed to his abstemious diet, absolute avoidance of both liquor and tobacco. Unselfish, generous, consistent, John Waters represented the best type of public man and private citizen.

JURY FREES STEVENS OF BURGLARY CHARGE

Horse Brought From Kingston to Give Evidence, But It Was Not Sufficient.

Frank Stevens, the alleged accomplice of Frank Horsey, who was charged with breaking into the house of Leonard Hughes, of Iderton, in company with Horsey, and who was guilty at yesterday afternoon's sitting of the county court, and was discharged by Judge Macbeth. The jury was out forty minutes.

The chief evidence against Stevens was given by Frank Horsey, who was brought from Kingston, where he is serving a ten-year sentence for several burglaries in the neighborhood of Hyde Park, and the question the jury had to decide was whether this evidence was corroborative. Horsey stated that Stevens went into the house surrounding the Hughes residence to get a drink of water, while he waited outside. When Stevens returned he told Horsey that the place was a good one to break into, and Horsey entered one of the windows, which had not been fastened. He took a few clothes and a razor. The clothes did not fit either of the men, and Horsey stated that Stevens borrowed his knife and cut them up.

Detective Down, who was next called in, stated he had arrested Stevens on a charge of vagrancy. When he was taking him to the police court Stevens said that he had been blamed for stealing a watch, but he was not guilty, and had explained to the police that the detective had warned him against making any statements in his presence.

High Constable Hughes was the last witness called. Judge Macbeth, in his address to the jury, stated that it was his duty to tell them not to convict the accused (Stevens) on the uncorroborated evidence of Horsey, unless they considered the evidence of Horsey as corroborative.

SAD SHOOTING

Four-Year-Old Boy Kills Brother's Chum at Beech Lane.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Tillsonburg, Dec. 7.—Harry Pickersgill, aged 16, was the victim of a sad shooting accident yesterday at the Beech Lane, a village 15 miles south of here. During the morning the two lads had been out hunting rabbits, and at noon they went to Williams' home for dinner. Pickersgill laid down his gun, which was loaded, and was putting a muzzle on his ferret, when Little Jimmie Williams, aged 4, came into the room. He picked up the gun, and in fun, pointed it at young Pickersgill, saying, "I am going to shoot you." The rifle went off, and the bullet went through Pickersgill's head, killing him instantly.

HOBBLE SKIRT MUST GO

Skirt Makers' Toastmaster Calls It 'A Freak Decency Should Not Stand For.'

Chicago, Dec. 8.—The hobble skirt, long coat and freakish hats and bonnets are to go, according to members of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association, who are in annual session here.

"The doom of the hobble skirt is sealed," stated J. F. Holland, of Chicago, who was toastmaster last night at the banquet. "It is nothing but a fad, a passing fancy, and worst of all, a freak that common decency should not stand for. For those who have followed the alleged fashion's dictates in wearing this monstrosity we charge that they make the most of it, for the coming spring styles will show it to be going down and out."

"The spring style for 1911 will be an expansion of the present hobble—expanded enough to allow free and dignified use of feet and limbs. As for the jacket, it will be shorter and so much like a man's long coat. The collar will be larger."

You owe it to your own best judgment to try Psychine (pronounced Si-keen). We'll gladly buy a 50-cent bottle from your druggist and give it to you free to try.

You know the "know-it-alls." Suspects of everybody and everything. They promised well at one time in their career, then they seemed to come to a full stop.

Just because of that unhappy distrust, that suspicion that won for them the same attitude in return, that made every one distrust and dislike them.

Now you're not a "know-it-all." Only about one per cent. of the people are.

We feel sure that you have an open receptive mind—one that is anxious to learn more, to advance.

And to you we say that you owe it to your own best judgment to try Psychine.

Every now and then we come to a certain epoch in medicine when we think advance or improvement impossible.

Then some one comes along and the whole school of medicine is overturned, new and apparently indisputable theories, all good, all progressive.

In the progress of medicine we sometimes discover new values in old things.

One of these is in the efficacy of certain herbs to cure disease.

And the reason they cure is that they increase and strengthen the white corpuscles of the blood—the Phagocytes—the scavengers of the body, devouring every germ of disease that gains entrance to the body.

A third of a century ago, Psychine was compounded of certain herbs.

Since that time it has cured hundreds of thousands.

And all because it contained those herbs that science now knows build up and strengthen the white corpuscles of the blood—the Phagocytes.

If you have any of these ailments don't be a "know-it-all," it won't pay you.

Learn something at our expense, fill out the Coupon and mail to us.

Now, we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

TORONTO RIOTERS

Geary asked if the people were going to "be down and stand for" treatment before 11 o'clock a mob numbering nearly 5,000 started from Massey Hall.

The crowd at first was peaceable enough and contented itself with jeers at Manager Fleming. As it went along, however, it was enlarged by hundreds of others from the streets and theatres, and when it surged into Yonge street the thoroughfare was speedily blocked.

A street car came along, and as the motorman could not run through the people he slowed down and then stopped. Someone hurled a big stone and the riot was on.

The passengers in the car fled, and the crew crouched under the seats and tried to save themselves from the volleys of stones.

Other cars came up and it was not long before eleven of them were stalled, and all speedily became targets for the stones. After wrecking the cars on Yonge street the mob spread in search of more cars to stone, and it is known that more than 100 were damaged. For more than an hour the district around Yonge and Queen streets resembled Bedlam, and the police were powerless to deal with the crowd.

A great riot occurred in front of the King Edward Hotel, and many persons were injured. In it, altogether as a result of the night's rioting many are in the hospitals suffering from injuries, and innumerable others are nursing wounds at home.

A Storm Centre. One of the most violent storm centres was at the corner of King and York streets about 11:45 o'clock. A mob of about fifty persons, which had been driven from Queen and York, went down to King in time to catch a number of King cars loaded with homeward-bound people from the theatres. The first cars received only one or two bricks.

The mob seemed averse to endangering the passengers, but rapidly grew violent.

"Get out of the car," was the warning from a dozen throats as the loaded cars approached. Passengers made no attempt to get out, as indeed they could not owing to the speed maintained. A shower of stones greeted belt line car 655, and a lot of people must have been struck or cut with flying glass, as practically every window was broken. The same proceeding was continued at this corner until a dozen cars had their windows broken.

About twenty Church street cars were stalled between Richmond and Shuter at 11 o'clock by the blocking of the switch at Richmond, and the windows of every one were demolished before a policeman bore in sight.

Two Women Injured. Early in the disturbance two women were struck by stones and they were riding down Yonge street. They were carried from the car at Queen street to a taxicab and driven away. One of them was bleeding from a wound on the head.

At the corner of Richmond and York a switch was disabled by the mob, thus blocking a couple of dozen Yonge street cars which the employees were trying to get to the barns by a circuitous route. All the windows were broken.

A woman was struck by a policeman's baton while the crowd of rioters was being rushed down Yonge from the corner of Queen. At this stage the window of the New York Clothing Company's store on Yonge street was wrecked by the jam.

A young man was struck by an officer when the Knox Company's window was broken. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, bleeding freely. Another youth was struck on the head in front of the Williams Restaurant, above Queen, and laid out. He was carried into the restaurant stunner. He gave the name of George J. McCartney, 91 McCaul street.

A police lull in the demonstration a policeman charged a crowd along Queen street west for half a block. He had just turned to walk back when he was hit on the side of the head with a brick. The officer was stunned, and as he reeled and was about to fall he was caught by several bystanders. A murmur of disapproval rose from dozens of people who witnessed the assault.

Among the most seriously injured are: Constable Rainey, neck cut; Constable E. Holmes, head cut; Conductor George Hatcher, jawbone fractured; Allan Love, 8 Barr street, head bruised; David Stenoff, 116 Niagara street, head cut; Charles Atkinson, 116 Wellesley street; James Mathers, 53 Davenport road, eye and left ear cut; William Copeland, 508 Markham street, nose broken and lips cut. Among those arrested are: Stanley Lamson, 75 Arthur street; Archibald Bowden, 113 Bolton avenue; Charles Mitchell, 588 Church street; Samuel Prince, 89 Grand avenue; George Jones, 23 years, 36 Beverly street; Horace Fisher, 42 Oak street.

SIMPLE SERVICES AT MRS. EDDY'S FUNERAL

Leader of Christian Scientists Buried in Mount Auburn Cemetery.

[Associated Press.] Boston, Dec. 8.—After services attended by a large number of the members of her household, officials of the Christian Science Church, and Publishing Society, and her personal students residing in Greater Boston, the body of Mary Baker Eddy was placed today in the receiving vault at Mount Auburn Cemetery. The funeral services at the Chestnut Hill home at 11 o'clock, were simple, and were conducted in quiet dignity. There were about 120 persons present. Long before the time for the service to begin the holders of cards of admission began to arrive. At 11 o'clock all were in the residence, and the first words from Judge Clifford P. Smith, first reader of the mother church, who conducted the services. A great hall divided in the rear, left are two parlors and in the rear parlor, in the bay window, was the casket of massive bronze containing the body of Mrs. Eddy. Upon the casket were placed the flowers of the son, her grandchildren, and her adopted son, having seen the well-known face yesterday afternoon, placed a bunch of pink roses from the members of the household. This was the only floral offering to be seen.

Funeral Service. Judge Smith began the services by the reading of a lesson-sermon composed of selections from the Bible and corollary passages from Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures.

The scriptural selections included verses from Psalms xci, beginning: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most high shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

Other selections were: John, xiii, 34, 35, and John, xiv, 15 to 27. Passages from Science and Health were followed by silent prayer and the repetition of the Lord's prayer by all present.

Dead Leader's Poem. The poem by Mrs. Eddy, "Mother's Evening Prayer," was then read by Mrs. Carol Hoyt Powers, second reader of the mother church.

This concluded the services, and the casket was then carried out of the door to the hearse, and the journey to Mount Auburn Cemetery was begun.

There was no service at the receiving vault other than the reading of the Twenty-third Psalm by Judge Smith, and the last verse in Jude: "To the only wise God, our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever," given as a benediction.

The casket was then taken within by the pallbearers, the vault was sealed, and there a guard will be maintained. The interment was held in the vault chosen for the final resting place of the body. The management of the cemetery closed the gates before the arrival of the casket, and excluded from the grounds all who were not of the funeral party.

spected at the factory, where any alterations can be made instead of having the building erected on the field. The county engineer was asked to investigate the request of Mr. Root, a painter, who took the contract for Byrn bridge, and found himself many times in the predicament of being asked to alter the contract, and he knew that the county was not losing money at such a price.

The city clerk's notice that the council had agreed to take up a new building of erecting joint municipal buildings was filed without comment.

E. J. McMartin's request for $15 for the bridge over the creek was down was sent to the board of road directors.

Alterations to Court House.

On motion of C. M. Macfie and W. D. Moss, a committee consisting of Messrs. Hodgins, Glass and Miller was appointed to consider ways of proceeding with the alterations to the court house and to call to which the council committed itself in the report of the jail committee at the June sessions. A report will be made at the January session.

The special committee on the renewal of the fire insurance on the county properties made their report, which was adopted. An inventory of the different county buildings and their contents had been made and having been submitted to the committee, they were of the opinion that the insurance covering the risks of the county, according to the schedules, did not adequately protect the property. A new schedule was drawn up, with the assistance of the engineer, increasing the insurance from $54,000 to $66,000.

The new schedule, adopted by the committee and endorsed by the council, places the risk on the court house and contents at $12,000, $4,200 on the jail and contents, and $5,000 on the county building. The amount placed on the contents of the county buildings, while $50,000 was placed on the House of Refuge and contents, live stock, etc., $800 was placed on the residence of the night watchman of the jail.

The peculiar properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have been thoroughly tested during epidemics of influenza, and when it was taken in time we have not heard of a single case of pneumonia. Sold by all dealers.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Simcoe, Dec. 7.—The Children's Aid Society met last evening in the office of the county clerk, Mr. E. Boughner. Among other things discussed was a circular sent out by Mr. J. J. Kelso, of Toronto, the superintendent of the Neglected and Dependent Children of Ontario. In the circular Mr. Kelso asks the opinion of the societies as to the advisability of a law prohibiting children under sixteen years of age from attending moving picture shows.

owing to the fact that many of the pictures are obscene in appearance and immoral in their tendencies. It was the unanimous opinion of the Norfolk society that many of the pictures shown are not only beautiful to behold but educative and uplifting in character, and that strenuous efforts should be made to stop the manufacture and sale of all others.

Rev. Canon Davis gave an interesting lecture last night in St. George's schoolroom on subjects of Archbishop Machray and what it meant to Manitoba. Many interesting episodes in the life of the late archbishop were recalled, most of them being stories of the very earliest times of the Northwest, when ordinary travel was a hardship not now experienced by the loneliest homesteader. Boys sent to school reformatories in Great Britain are now taught the science of gardening. Each boy is given a small plot of his own to cultivate, where he raises plums, gooseberries, rhubarb and other fruits and vegetables. The farming area of 100 acres is divided among 100 boys, and in their zealous competition for the best results they raise shelters of old clothes and sticks and fragments of glass and find their services in demand. The result is that in 90 per cent of all cases it is possible to record success in finding and retaining a steady occupation.

FLORIDA'S WONDERFUL TREE.

"There is a tree in Jacksonville which has a history as interesting as that of the charter oak, although it does not seem to have gained the fame of the historic tree of the north. It is a giant live oak, and it stands in Dixieland Park," said a Florida native to the Washington Post recently. "The branches of this remarkable tree extend 160 feet," he continued. "When the sun is low it casts a shadow almost an acre in extent. The great age of the tree is shown by the fact, accepted as historical by many people, that Ponce de Leon once rested beneath it. It is known that Osceola, the chief of the Seminoles, camped in its shade while negotiating the treaties that followed the Seminole war. The directors of the park have decorated the giant branches of the tree with incandescent lights, and the sight at night is very impressive."

GONE ARE SHRINERS

Ceremonial Session of Mocha Temple Best Yet Held.

WERE MANY CANDIDATES

Noble C. W. McGuire Elevated to the Post of Illustrious Potentate.

The Shriners have come and gone. The red fez of the Arab pilgrim will be seen no more until spring, when the annual pilgrimage will be again made to the Oasis of London. That the ceremonial session was the best yet held was the unanimous opinion of visitors and local members. In every event, it could not be surpassed, and the maximum of fun was passed by the minimum of time. The afternoon was devoted to business.

Donations were made to a score of charitable institutions, and other matters of importance decided. Then followed the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Illustrious Potentate—Noble J. Milton Pike.
Chief Rabban—Noble Dr. R. W. Shaw.
Assistant Rabban—Noble Thomas Rowe.
High Priest and Prophet—Noble Henry C. Chalmers.
Oriental Guide—Noble H. W. Lind.
Treasurer—Noble A. A. Campbell.
Recorder—Noble W. H. Abbott.
First Ceremonial Master—Noble Henry Rowe.
Second Ceremonial Master—Noble W. W. Gammage.
Marshal—Noble Dr. A. Roy Rutledge.
Captain of the Guard—Noble J. L. Richmond.

Delegates to Imperial Council—Nobles C. W. McGuire, John Clunis and Lt.-Col. Elliott, Sault Ste. Marie.

The Imperial Council will be held in Rochester next June, and the sum of $500 was voted to the Arab Patrol to take the trip.

In the evening the initiation of the candidates took place. There was very large class, about 80, from all over Ontario.

They were taken over the hot sands by the nobles, and given all the degrees and marks that characterize this part of Masonry.

It was a great time for all concerned. If any visitor did not have a good time it was his own fault. Nothing was left undone that would add to the pleasure of the evening.

Then followed the banquet. Quite the presentation of a past potentate's jewel to Ill. Noble A. L. Davis. It was due to his efforts largely that Mocha Temple was organized, and when Ill. Noble H. Rowe made the presentation, the nobles did not forget to honor their old chief. It was a triumph for the latter.

Then followed the toast list. Ill. Noble J. Milton Pike presided, and presented the speakers. There were many visitors from all parts of Canada and the United States, and a considerable number of them responded to the toasts.

CORNSTALK PAPER AT LAST.

The day of paper made from cornstalks has come. The experiments of the department of agriculture having proved the process can be made a commercial proposition. For some time these experiments have been under way, and now the department is utilizing some of the cornstalk paper for its correspondence, and operates a mill which turns out the new paper of a high grade, by the hundred-pound lot. The experts of Uncle Sam say that a small commercial mill can be kept busy through the entire year by the stalks from the corn fields within a radius of eight or ten miles.

Perhaps it will not be many years before the farmer will look upon his corn crop as the most valuable part of his crop. If he can realize but half a cent a pound, he will get more for them than for his corn at 60 cents a bushel. The problem of making cheap paper to compete with the woodpulp article used for printing newspapers has not been solved yet, though the investigators are hopeful. What this will mean can readily be realized when it is stated that about $35,000,000 worth of raw materials—woodpulp—is used annually in the papermaking business in this country. That means a great many trees cut down. The stalks are pressed until the juice—a very rich stock food—is extracted, then shredded and dried. In this form they will keep sweet a year, insuring a steady operation of the paper mill. Only two-thirds of the fiber is utilized for print paper, the remainder making a sort of parchment, water-tight for a while, but not absorbing the ink.—Progress Magazine.

When raindrops are very large they have fallen from a low altitude. The smaller they are the higher the altitude from which they have fallen. The profits of the New York Horse Show were $50,000. The first Scottish settlement in America took place on Nov. 2, 1698. The population of San Francisco is 416,212; Knoxville, Tenn., 36,346, and Memphis, Tenn., 131,105. Exports of manufactures from the United States will this year for the first time exceed $500,000,000 in value.
