MEMORIAL UNVEILED TO FALLEN

Middlesex Honors Valiant Dead Who Fell in Great War.

MILITARY PRESENT

Sir Arthur Currie Unveils Tablet—Great Throng Is Present.

The unveiling of the memorial tablet of the county of Middlesex in memory of 280 Middlesex heroes who gave their lives in the war was carried out at the University of Western Ontario this afternoon.

The service was one of the most impressive in the history of the county. Outstanding citizens of county and city, distinguished visitors from Canada and the United States, together with fathers, mothers, sons and daughters, brothers and sisters, were present to pay tribute to the glorious dead.

In a blaze of autumn sunshine, a silent throng with bowed heads stood before the memorial tablet of the county of Middlesex in memory of 280 Middlesex heroes who gave their lives in the war was carried out at the University of Western Ontario this afternoon.

Long before the appointed time for the procession at 2:30, members of the faculties, students, soldiers and citizens, made their way to Western's campus, there to share in the expression of the love borne to the soldiers of Middlesex whose names are enshrined within the tower.

The procession of the governors of the university, the senators, faculties, formed in room 112 of the natural science building.

Receive Salute.

As the procession left the science building, Gen. Sir Arthur Currie and Gen. W. B. King received a general salute by the Royal Canadian regiment. This was followed by an inspection. The regiment then moved from the lawn to the roadway leading to the main building while the staff officers and headquarters officers followed to take up their position on the steps of the arts building.

A moment after, the academic procession took its way from the science building, led by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, Chancellor W. J. Roach, and Warden C. C. Henry of the county of Middlesex. A position was taken up on the left of the steps, and the path in front of the tower.

Prior to the arrival of the university body, the county council, followed by civic officials, his worship the mayor and representatives of the city council, moved from the arts building and took up their position on the left side of the steps, leaving a space of six feet between them and the academic body.

When the procession reached the main building, a representative of the Masonville community club made the flag presentation to A. T. Little, chairman of the board of governors of the university. The union jack was then run up, while the first hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," was announced by Rev. Isaac Couch.

Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, together with the chancellor of the university and the warden of Middlesex, then passed between them to the memorial tablet.

As General Currie touched the tablet, please see Page 14, Column 4.

FRANCE MAY GET NEXT ZEPPELIN

New Proposal Would Postpone Dismantling of Works at Friedrichshafen.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, Oct. 17.—A scheme which would postpone the dismantling of the zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen, Germany, for at least two years, and by which the construction of the airship which was delivered to the United States by a trans-Atlantic flight this week, would be made here, is described in the Journal.

A French company which has purchased patent rights from the Zeppelin company with the intention of using them for commercial dirigible lines, according to the newspaper, has suggested that the zeppelin company build another ZR-3 for France to be considered on the reparation account.

The German government is understood to favor the scheme, which will be put before the reparation commission.

Germans Demand Classy Clothes

English Manufacturers Kept Busy Supplying Demand.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 17.—Continental Europe is no longer going about in tatters and has begun to put on swank in the gay manner of pre-war days. Germany in particular is acquiring huge quantities of the British cloth.

The German tailors are crying for merino wool, and only the finest quality will satisfy them, according to one British manufacturer. Orders are also increasing from France and Belgium. Suits and overcoats for men have risen in price in England during the last few weeks, due, the tailors say, to increases in the cost of materials. The tailors of Saville row and Sackville street now charge 11 and 12 guineas or more for an autumn lounge suit such as they made a year ago for 9 or 10 guineas.

CANADA TO WAIT ACTION OF OTHER DOMINIONS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—"We are awaiting developments and also waiting to see what the other dominions are going to do," said Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of immigration, and acting minister of finance, last night when asked if the Canadian government was going to maintain its exhibition at Wembley next year.

Mr. Robb said that strong representations had been made from Great Britain urging Canada to extend its share in the British empire exhibition for another year. It is also understood that the British government has put forward to the federal government reasons why Canada should be represented at the exhibition during another year.

ALL BANNERS BUT THREE WERE TAKEN DOWN TODAY

Three banners, advertising various commodities, were still flying above and across the business streets of London this morning. One was stretched across Fullarton street and the other two were at the corner of Richmond and King.

British Women's Vote Is Vital

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 17.—The importance of obtaining the women's vote in the election is emphasized by the publication of the new register, which shows a large increase in the number of women electors.

In South Kensington, one of London's fashionable districts, and in Cheltenham and Hastings, the number of women voters actually exceeds the number of men voters.

SLUSH FUND CHARGE IS BEFORE SENATE PROBES

Committee Has Not Been Able To Find Proof of Certain Statements.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Oct. 17.—Public interest in the election campaign today was directed toward the matter of party funds as a result of the sitting in Chicago of the Senate campaign fund investigating committee and recent charges and counter-charges in regard to alleged irregularities in the financial end of the campaigning.

These charges have been of a vague nature, but they have served to enliven a rather dull period in the campaign.

Statements submitted to the Chicago committee yesterday brought forth nothing of a sensational nature. The committee today extended its inquiry into the finances of the Republican organization and for that purpose called William Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the national committee. So far the sessions of the committee have been tame. They have really been occupied in laying the ground work for the investigation. Whether the charges which have been bandied about during the past few days will result in sensational disclosures before the committee is a subject of much speculation.

One of these charges was made by the La Follette leaders, who alleged that the Republican campaign fund had been collected by a "slush fund" which had been collected by the Republicans for use in doubtful states.

BRITISH CANDIDATE INSURES HIS DEPOSIT

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 17.—A cautious London candidate has insured his £750 deposit with the returning officer, which is forfeitable if he fails to secure the minimum proportion of the votes cast in the election on Oct. 29 as required by law. The insurance of the deposit cost him $15.

In the parliamentary elections in Great Britain each candidate must deposit the sum of £750, which will be returned to him or to her after the election except in the case of a candidate who fails to poll at least one-eighth of the total number of votes polled.

CAMPAIGN IS TELLING ON PREMIER'S VOICE

Ramsay MacDonald Unable to Make Scheduled Speech at Cardiff.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 17.—The unpopularity of Premier MacDonald's political campaign and speech-making tour has affected his voice, which was somewhat hoarse when he addressed an adjourned, reaching Cardiff this morning. Mr. MacDonald was entertained at a private luncheon, but was unable to make a speech because his voice practically failed. He proceeded late to his own division at Aberavon.

The pact between the Liberals and the Conservatives to avoid unnecessary contests, today produced the announcement that the Liberals had decided not to oppose Stanley Baldwin in the Bewdley division of Worcester-shire, thus giving Mr. Baldwin an unopposed return.

Speaking at Queen's Hall this afternoon, Winston Churchill took credit for the fact that the Liberals and Conservatives are co-operating in the advisory committee of the legislature on roads this morning. Mr. Churchill made his suggestion before the gathering of the wardens of the various counties who were present.

REDS CARRY OFF COLONY ON WRANGEL

Armed Transport, Red October, Removed Those on Island.

PROTESTS ENTERED

Washington Is Urged to Take Immediate Action on Soviet Move.

Special to The Advertiser.

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 17.—Charles Wells, an American citizen, and thirteen Eskimos left on Wrangel Island last year by Capt. Harold Noice have been taken to Siberia by a Soviet cutter. Steps have been taken here to ask Washington to act. The report of Wells' removal was brought here by Capt. Castel of the schooner Aarnout, wharved from East Cape Siberia, today. Capt. Castel said he was unable to learn whether the removal had been by force or by consent.

The Northwestern Alaska chamber of commerce has telegraphed a protest to the American department of state and to the Alaskan delegation in congress.

Lomen Brothers, Alaskan purchasers of Wrangel hunting and fishing rights, claimed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, also announced that they immediately would telegraph to Washington a request for governmental action.

According to Capt. Castel the Soviet cutter, which had the Wrangel colonists on board, passed East Cape, Siberia, en route to Emma harbor or Indian point, Siberia.

Possession of the island has been disputed by several countries or their nationals, including American citizens.

CLAIM NOT PRESSED.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—The colony on Wrangel island was a personal venture in spite of Vilhjalmur Stefansson to maintain a British claim of ownership of the island. It consisted, according to information here, of one white man and a number of Eskimos. The establishing of the colony was a sequel to expedition, which Mr. Stefansson sent to the island in 1921, under the command of Alan Crawford of Toronto, to reinstate British claims of ownership. A rescue party, under Harold Noice, which was recently sent to Wrangel Island, found the Crawford expedition with the exception of an Eskimo woman, had perished. Subsequently the colony was established.

Mr. Stefansson made efforts both in Ottawa and London to have formal recognition given to the claim of British ownership. His main argument was that the island would be especially valuable in the future as an air base. But neither the British nor the Canadian government have any active steps to press the claim.

RUSSIAN TRANSPORT IS BRINGING BACK VICTIMS

Associated Press Despatch.

Vladivostok, Oct. 17.—The Russian armored transport, Red October, which was recently sent to Wrangel Island to claim that bit of land for soviet Russia, is expected to arrive here shortly with the bodies of members of Stefansson's expedition, which were found on Herald island, east of Wrangel.

The Karluk, an exploration ship, went down in the ice sixty miles north of Herald island in 1914.

CUT IN ALBERTA COAL PRICES IS PREDICTED

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—Dealers here are of the opinion that the settlement of the Alberta miners' strike on the basis of reduced wages will result in a reduction of the price of Alberta coal in the west, although they would not estimate the amount of the cut. It was said that a conference would be held shortly at which the matter would be considered.

New Gasoline Tax To Help Road Maintenance Urged

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—The passing of legislation providing for application of a tax of one cent per gallon on gasoline or an increase in the cost of motor-vehicle licenses was strongly advocated by Warden W. J. Guardhouse of York county before the meeting of the advisory committee of the legislature on roads this morning.

Mr. Guardhouse made his suggestion before the gathering of the wardens of the various counties who were present.

Why I Shall Vote O.T.A.

ROWLAND HILL, Prominent London merchant, head of Rowland Hill shoe stores.

"I believe the proposal to lessen the restraint on the sale of intoxicating liquors to be a retrograde step. I would rather see a change in the opposite direction, which would prohibit the manufacture of the soil and body destroying stuff."

"If any liquor is necessary as a medicine (which many eminent physicians deny), it should be sold only under the same restrictions as any other dangerous drug."

"It is to Ontario's shame that we profess prohibition of the traffic and at the same time allow the manufacture and export, encouraging bootleggers to defy the laws of our southern neighbor."

"In regard to the O. T. A. 'What we have we hold' until we get something better."

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS PREMIER DOMINATED BY EXTREMISTS

Conservative Candidate's Withdrawal in Carnarvon Makes Prospects Brighter.

TAKING NO CHANCES

"Little Welshman" Is Waging Vigorous Campaign to Retain His Seat.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 17.—Lloyd George, with characteristic vigor and giving every indication that he is thoroughly enjoying himself, is devoting most of the week to his own constituency, Carnarvon, Wales. Labor is contesting the riding for the first time, the Labor party's nominee being Prof. Zimmern, formerly professor of international law in Aberystwyth university. The Labor vote in Carnarvon normally is estimated at about 5,000. Austin Jones, the Conservative candidate in Carnarvon in the last election secured 7,000 votes against Lloyd George, but Jones has finally withdrawn from the present contest, so Lloyd George probably will secure a substantial share of the Tory vote.

Sir Hugh Vincent, a former Conservative opponent of Lloyd George, was on the former premier's platform in Carnarvon yesterday, and this is regarded as a good omen, for Lloyd George, however, cannot afford to run undue risks in Carnarvon. When he was first elected to parliament for the riding, 34 years ago, his majority was only 18, and up to the war period he never obtained more than 2,000 of a majority. His majority last year, however, was 5,176.

In a meeting in Bangor, Carnarvon, last night, Lloyd George spoke for half an hour entirely in the Welsh language, and spoke English for the last fifteen minutes only. His speech was mainly a wholesale condemnation of the Russian loan proposals. He repeated his assertion that Premier MacDonald was dominated by the extremists in the Labor party, and declared that this tendency was apparent in all Labor governments. It had happened in Australia, where former Premier W. M. Hughes left the Labor party because he refused to be bullied by his wild men, Lloyd George said.

PRINCE IS NOW TAKING A MUCH NEEDED REST

No Engagements Have Been Announced For Today at Ottawa.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—No engagements have been announced for the Prince of Wales today, it being most likely that the royal visitor will take a rest during his last Ottawa visit, he may play golf.

This evening there will be a dance at government house, at which many of the younger set of the city will be present.

The most notable event connected with the prince's visit was the reception given by their excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Byng at government house last night, when upwards of 300 guests, representative of the parliamentary, diplomatic, military, civil and social life of the capital took advantage of the opportunity to extend their respects to the heir of the throne.

The condition of David Burnham, who received leg injuries yesterday while unloading a truck in East London, was reported by Victoria hospital authorities to be improved today.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED FOR CLARE

Will Not Be Allowed To Drive Car For Next Five Years.

BONDS FURNISHED

Mr. Justice Riddell Acted on Jury Recommendation and Prisoner's Pledge.

Thomas Clare, driver of the motor car which struck and fatally injured Charles Lane on June 4 last, and who was found guilty last Tuesday of manslaughter, was given suspended sentence by Mr. Justice Riddell today.

Clare, who had written a letter to his lawyers, told the court, "I was sorry for the accident, and that I would not drive a motor car for five years, was held to the promise by the court, and released on bonds of $10,000, $5,000 of which were to be provided by himself and his wife and mother-in-law, $2,500 each. Should he not live up to his promise he will be sentenced."

Clare was brought into court at 12:40, and smiled at his wife and little children who were sitting directly behind the prisoner's box. "Thomas Clare, have you anything to say why the judgment of the court should not be passed on you?" asked his lordship.

"No, sir."

"Thomas Clare, your case has given me a great deal of anxious consideration," continued the court. "You, by your negligence, have destroyed the life of a fellow-citizen, and thereby caused grief to his relatives and to our common country."

His lordship went on to point out that he might send Clare to penitentiary, but was not going to do so. He had discussed the matter with the crown counsel. He had arrived at the conclusion that the object of punishment was not to punish, but to warn. "You have had no part now in our law, and that the object of punishment was two-fold. (1) To make the criminal himself better, and (2) to hold out a warning to others."

Not to Drive for 5 Years.

"I don't think punishment will make you a better man. I don't think you need anything of the kind. The only thing to be considered is the effect on the public. The public at the conclusion of the public, but the conduct of the public," declared the court.

"You have given me a letter, in which you deeply regret the accident, and that is good as far as it goes. The jury have given a double recommendation to mercy, and that is a great effort on your part. I think if I release you now on the understanding that you may be called on for sentence, if there is any breach of your pledge, it would be a good thing for you and your mother-in-law, that possibly the ends of justice may be met."

"With the consent of crown counsel, I release you on security of yourself for $5,000 and two others for $2,500 each, that you will appear for sentence when called on, with this distinct warning that you keep your pledge."

Issues Warning.

"If you violate the law or the pledge, you may be assured that you will be called on to receive sentence and that sentence will be of such a character that you will not run a motor car for some time."

His lordship then called Clare, his wife and mother-in-law to the foot of the bench, where their bond was taken by Edmund Weld, clerk of the court.

"I am putting him in your charge," his lordship told the women. "You must look after him. This is a thing that I have never done before."

Howard Cliff, counsel for Clare, was present in the court room.

NEW YORK POULTRY HOUSE BOMBED BY BLACKMAILERS

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Oct. 17.—A bomb believed by the police to have been thrown by blackmailers, exploded on the roof of a poultry market in 55th street, Brooklyn, early today, blowing a hole through the roof, breaking windows and rousing residents of the neighborhood.

A Nathan Antzlie, owner of the market, told the police that he recently received a threatening letter, demanding money, which was turned over to the police. It was the theory of the police that blackmailers threw the bomb from a passing automobile.

QUEBEC GOVERNMENT BOARD TIES UP MILLIONS IN LIQUOR

Eight Hundred Different Varieties of Spirituous Liquors, Valued at Six Million Dollars, Is Stored at One Point—Is Closely Guarded.

BUILD LARGER AND LARGER VATS FOR WINE

The following is the second of four articles reporting the results of government sale in Quebec. These articles conclude the series of twenty which have described in turn the Advertiser's inquiries in Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia.

ARTICLE NO. 18.

On Monday, September 15, I made a thorough inspection of the Quebec government control liquor warehouse and wine cellar. The Quebec board officials were courteous and gave me all the information and facilities I sought.

There were convincing signs that the government is selling liquor on a tremendous scale. The old jail in the east end of the city near the waterfront which had been taken over has already been greatly enlarged, following three years of government control, and the foundations are being put in for a monster addition. In the courtyard cases of liquor are piled up in huge mounds, 25 feet high. The breweries in town also are expanding.

The government control board has assembled at this one point $5,000,000 worth of liquor of 300 different varieties. That is enough to supply $12 or $15 worth to every family in the province. All the burgundy and fire protective devices that man can devise have been installed to guard this treasure.

Huge Wine Vats.

The mail order department is located almost on the spot where scores of prisoners were hanged in other days. From this I passed to the wine cellar, where I saw innumerable 100-gallon barrels and larger, of French, Spanish and Portuguese wines which were waiting to be transferred to vats of 600 gallons. The government control board is having new wine vats built of 2,000 gallons capacity. The bulk of the wine is French. The courtyard held 3,000 barrels of liquor in addition to the cases.

I was shown 50,000 bottles of sherries, all labeled and sealed. In their cases, ready to go out. Further on I saw machines filling port and sherry bottles simultaneously by the dozen, only 15 seconds being required to fill each. Then I saw the corking and capping departments at work, and the wax being placed on one, two and five gallon wine bottles.

Passing to the part of the plant known as the federal bonded warehouse, I have the once-over to 600,000 bottles of whiskeys or spirituous liquors, on which the government control board owes the dominion one million dollars in duty. Then I saw a lot of heavy steel drums containing alcohol, and sacks containing corks from Portugal. Next I passed a stained glass window in which had been the jail chapel which Hon. G. A. Simard, once chairman of the board, had ordered preserved.

In one section of the warehouse were large quantities of special kraft paper used by the board. It is bought in quantities of five carloads at a time. I inspected the room where all kinds of liquor offered to the government board are tasted and analyzed, and another room where a water distilling apparatus is kept for forcing distilled water into overproof liquors. I passed the room where an expert Scotch taster determines whether the five malts all are present in liquor in the right quantities.

Bottled While in Bond.

Another department is devoted to liquor that has been bottled in bond. Here there were 480,000 bottles. Elsewhere were receptacles each containing 400 gallons of Scotch whiskeys and great copper vats holding 1,250 gallons of brandy, transferred to the vats from barrels. This was overproof liquor that has to be reduced to a drinkable strength.

Further on we reached the labeling and wrapping department, where girls in blue smocks were working. Nearby men were nailing up whiskey cases with iron bands. On each bottle the price was printed. The bottles are wrapped in paper through which run tiny pieces of blue and red thread and which carries the initials of the control board, "Q. G. L. C." (Quebec government liquor commission), in watermarks. The red and white threads, I heard, were the only things the bootleggers had not counterfeited. They had counterfeited the watermarks, labels, etc.

I saw many bottles being filled simultaneously with alcohol by the gravity process. I was told that the French-Canadians mix this with three times the quantity of lemonade and make a popular drink. The board has handpresses for making all its own labels.

A Fine Sample Room.

The sample room of the government control board, where the 300 varieties are kept on exhibition, is tastefully outfitted. The costliest liquor kept is "1804 Napoleon Grande Fine Champagne," costing $16 per bottle. Besides whiskey blanc, there were brandies and cognacs, champagnes, gins, liqueurs, all kinds of whiskeys, rums, clarets, wines, sherries, burgundies and vermouths.

One department was composed of goods seized from bootleggers. A considerable quantity of this liquor was in bottles tied up in sacks.

Wines Without Limit.

The official booklet and price list of the government control commission has the following under the heading, "Buyer's Guide":

"According to the Quebec liquor laws only one bottle of spirits may be purchased at a time, though this restriction does not apply to the sale of wines. Wines may be purchased without limit whether at the time of purchasing a bottle of spirits or not."

The purchase and sale of all alcoholic liquors is confined to the Quebec liquor commission, and any transactions involving the sale or purchase of these beverages by other parties are contrary to law and are punishable by fine or imprisonment. The commission's stores alone have the right to sell wines intended for home consumption, though hotels, restaurant-keepers and clubs, if holding permits, may sell wine and beer with meals to their guests within prescribed hours.

The commission will deliver orders of wine in the cities of Quebec and Montreal (including Notre Dame de Grace, Outremont, Westmount and Verdun) on the following terms, which include the cost of packing:

One bottle $.30
One case (or less) 3.50
One jar or cask (1 and 2 gals.)30
One jar or cask (5 to 10 gals.)50
One barrel 1.00

For purchase in bulk customers are charged for containers in addition to the cost of the goods, according to the following scale:

7-gal. barrels $3.00
10-gallon barrels 3.50
15-gallon barrels 4.00
20-gallon barrels 4.50

In the case of Canadian wines in original packages the charges are:

Barrels of 17 to 21 gallons $2.50
Barrels of 35 to 42 gallons 5.00

A refund in full is made to purchasers for all containers returned and delivered in good condition.

Two sample rooms are open to the public, one in Quebec, at 235 St.

To Offer Reward For London Man

Canadian Press Dematch.
Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 16.—It is expected that the city council at its next meeting will discuss the advisability of offering a reward for the arrest of Franklyn Barnard, London man accused of the murder of Smylie Muirhead, this city, by running over him in an automobile.

Paul street, and the other in Montreal, at the warehouse of the commission, Place des Patriotes.

"The retail stores of the commission open every morning at 9 o'clock and close at 6 p.m., except on Saturday, when the closing hour is 1 p.m. They remain closed on New Year's Day, the Epiphany, Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, the Immaculate Conception and Christmas Day. Stores will close on all days designated for federal, provincial or municipal elections in the districts in which they are situated.

Mail Orders Filled.
"Mail orders should be confined to one of the three following addresses, according to the district in which the sender resides, viz., Montreal or Riviere-du-Loup:

"The Quebec liquor commission, box 1800, Montreal.

"The Quebec liquor commission, Riviere-du-Loup, Quebec.

"The Quebec liquor commission, Merger building, Quebec.

"The Riviere-du-Loup branch can only ship by freight or express, consequently residents of this district desiring to have their orders sent by parcel post should write to the Quebec office.

"The regulations to the effect that the quantity of wine that may be purchased is not limited, but may include a bottle of spirits and that only one bottle of spirits may be sold at a time, applies also to mail orders.

"The commission will forward single bottles of spirits or one or two bottles of wines and one of spirits at one time to any part of the province, free of transportation charges, the only cost to the purchaser being 30 cents per bottle to cover the cost of packing. Larger quantities will be shipped freight or express charges collect. There is no packing charge on wines purchased by the case.

"All shipping is done at the purchaser's risk. He, however, has recourse against the express (or other forwarding) company in case of loss or damage in transit. Transportation companies will not carry liquors shipped on a C. O. D. basis. All sales are on a strictly cash basis."

Whether the government control system in Quebec is an effective temperance measure may be indicated by the writer's own observations, which will be detailed in tomorrow's article.

BANQUET IS HELD BY C.S.E.T. GROUPS

Winners Are Presented With Prizes at Conclusion of Program.

SEVERAL SPEECHES

The boys' council was in charge of the program, with Mayor Hartly Upshall chairman of the evening. The banquet opened with Rev. E. W. Jewett saying the blessing. During the banquet Councillor Howard Obey led the boys in a sing-song.

After supper Chairman Upshall proposed a toast to the king. He then called upon Councillor Scratch to propose a toast to the C. S. E. T. Councillor Johnston replied. Lincoln Orchard was then called upon to propose a toast to the church. Rev. COMES FROM AUSTRALIA AND LANDS IN THE JAIL

Fred Hardy came all the way from Australia to Canada to look for work. At Toronto he tried to get a job. His search for work led him to Stratford, where he made application at the employment offices with no success. So he came to London.

One week ago police arrested him in Victoria Park on a vagrancy charge. When he appeared in police court, he was remanded, and when he again made his appearance before Magistrate Graydon today, he was informed he must spend another week in jail. Hardy is at present undergoing an exorcism.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS SUPPORT TEMPERANCE

Church in London Works to Further Cause in Ontario.

That the Christian science church in this city is a strong advocate of temperance and a supporter of moral reform, was demonstrated at a recent session when steps were taken to strengthen the influence of the church for the cause of prohibition. "Because the local branch of the church of Christ scientist, does its work in a quiet manner, it should not be taken for granted that its members are inactive or indifferent to any movement that will promote general welfare," Peter E. McKay, president, declared.

"The Christian science church in London stands for the present campaign for temperance on the principle laid down by the Apostle Paul in his epistle to the Colossians, 'Touch not, taste not, handle not, which all are to perish with the using.'"

"Our church stands squarely upon the platform erected by Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian science, the planks of which are clearly indicated in paragraph taken from the work, 'Miscellaneous Writings.'"

"It reads as follows. The cause of temperance receives a strong impulse from the cause of Christian science; temperance and truth are allies, and their cause prospers in proportion to the spirit of love that serves the struggle. People will differ in their opinions as to the means to promote the ends of temperance; that is, abstinence from intoxicating beverages. Whatever intoxicates a man, stimulates and causes him to degenerate physically and morally. Strong drink is unquestionably an evil, and evil cannot be used to good; hence the only temperance is total abstinence. Drunkenness is essentially let loose, in whatever form it may be manifested."

EDUCATION HYDRO SHOW WILL BE HELD NEXT WEEK

The public utilities commission is completing arrangements for an elaborate education hydro show to be held in the commission showrooms, corner of Wellington and Dundas streets, all next week.

Many questions of interest to citizens which have hitherto gone unanswered will be answered. Representatives of manufacturing firms whose machines will be shown will be present to give any information desired concerning them.

The people who visit the show will see all kinds of electrical appliances in use, including a meter which registers directly the cost in cents of the power being used. Demonstrations will be given of both electrical and water power machines and pumps and the difference as to cost of the operation of the one as compared with the other. Visitors will be taught how to read meters and be given demonstrations of the waste arising from leaky taps, whether dripping or streaming.

City Churches

WHITE OAK L. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the ladies' aid of White Oak church, was held at the home of Mrs. Leonard McPherson last Wednesday. After the usual meeting arrangements were made for the fowl supper to be held in the White Oak church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 21. Sunday, an excellent program is being provided by the Flower City quartet, assisted by Mrs. Pearce, reader.

ST. JOHN'S SERVICES.

The Church of St. John the Evangelist is holding a dedication service for the unveiling of the memorial windows to the late Rev. Canon Craig on Sunday morning, Oct. 19, at 10:30 o'clock. In order, therefore, to observe children's day, and as a mark of appreciation and remembrance to the late rector of St. John's church, the children are asked to attend this service in a body. Pews are being reserved for them in the front of the church, and the first part of the service before the dedication of the windows, will be taken from the order of service for children.

ST. JAMES SERVICES.

St. James Anglican church, South London, will this Sunday hold their children's day, which is also being held in other churches throughout the Dominion. There will be special services both at 11 o'clock and at 7 o'clock in the evening. Rev. W. L. McVicar will speak at both times. There will also be a special communion at 8:15 o'clock in the morning for the Sunday school workers, the scholars and the parents.

KING STREET W. M. S.

The members of the King Street Presbyterian Church W. M. S. held their thanksgiving meeting last Wednesday in the church, with Mrs. McVicar, the clerk, Miss McVicar, a missionary to India, who is now in London, gave a very interesting talk on her work there. Dr. W. R. McVicar led the devotional part, and Mrs. Joseph Miller gave the Bible talk. Mrs. Wilkie gave a pleasing vocal number to the splendid turnout of members.

DR. W. J. BROWN WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Fred James Defeated For Hunt Club Honors in Close Game.

Dr. W. J. Brown won the golf championship of the London hunt and country club yesterday afternoon, defeating Fred James in the final round after he was four up and three to play at the close of the afternoon's play.

Dr. Brown survived the hardest section of the draw after he eliminated Frank Gordon, last year's champion, and Alexander Calder, winner of this year's Highland club golf title.

Fred James played brilliantly in his match with Dr. Brown, an older and more experienced player. He was two up in the first eighteen holes played yesterday morning, but Brown's 78, just two more than par, in the afternoon won the match for him. Dr. Brown's fours in the ninth, twelfth and thirteenth holes in the afternoon displayed remarkable golf. He forged ahead of his youthful opponent at the 27th hole.

Among those of the Hunt club golfers who are going to the Brantford club eight's invitation tournament tomorrow are: Archie McPherson, John Farncombe, Kenneth Greene, Frank Gordon, Dr. W. J. Brown, Fred James and others.

U. S. CONSUL-GENERAL DIES.

Zurich, Switzerland, Oct. 17.—George H. Murphy, American consul-general here, died today of apoplexy, aged 64 years. He entered the consular service in 1886 and has filled posts in many parts of the world, including a term at St. Catharines, Ont., in 1905 and 1906.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS SEE MAJORITY IN CITY

Will Be Satisfied If Lead of 5,000 Votes Is Obtained.

Officials at the Richmond street headquarters of the London temperance campaign committee are highly gratified with the reports the temperance canvassers now engaged in making a thorough canvass of the city.

"The reports are excellent," declared on official this morning. "Has the committee formed any opinion as to the majority London is likely to roll up for the O. T. A.?" "No, but we'll be satisfied if we have a majority of 5,000," replied the official. The moderation league claims that they will have a wet majority of 5,000 votes in ward two. "You don't agree with that?" "Not if we're to get our 5,000 majority in the city."

It is significant that the campaign is proceeding when the time has arrived for both parties to start taking majorities.

The seven directors who are just commencing their second year in office are T. W. McFarland, R. H. Dowler, Ray Lawson, Jared Vining, Gerald H. Pearson, Robert Greene and E. S. Little.

REV. J. D. MACRAE WILL TELL OF WORK IN CHINA

The special speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the London ministerial alliance next Monday will be Rev. J. D. MacRae, M.A., B.D., dean of the theological college at Shanghai, China. His subject will be "Christianity on Chinese Soil."

Rev. Mr. MacRae will deal with some of the really creative and constructive things which are being carried on in China today. He will give a piece of the apostolic experience.

It is quite possible that the alliance will discuss the questions of Sunday fund-raising and Sunday golf at the municipal golf course.

THEFT OF GRAIN BEING PROBED BY WHARTON

An unusual and somewhat baffling theft is now occupying the attention of High Constable Wharton of Middlesex. James Fox, a farmer residing on the first concession of West Nissouri, reported that while he was absent a few days ago someone drove away with 150 bushels of oats and 6 well-filled bags of wheat from his granary.

Employees Will Take Over Bank

Associated Press Despatch. San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—A plan whereby the 2,200 employees of the Bank of Italy, a $350,000,000 institution, are to take over control of the bank, has been approved by the board of directors, it was announced today to the press by A. P. Giannini, president. The plan will go into effect on Jan. 1.

OFFICIALS ON GUARD FOR IRREGULAR VOTING

Heavy Penalties Threatened If Persons Found Acting Illegally.

Every conceivable precaution is being taken by Ontario government authorities to ward off any suspicion of irregularity or scandal in connection with the liquor plebiscite vote to be taken next Thursday.

W. C. Fitzgerald, returning officer for the London district, was notified this morning that a person voting more than once or voting when he is not entitled to do so, will incur a penalty of $200.

Owing to the short time for the revision of the lists in some of the larger cities frequently appears more than once in the lists of additions. This is due to the lack of opportunity for checking over the lists after they have been passed by the revising officer and also because the same name has appeared on notices given by two or three different agents.

Officials point out that for these reasons the situation is intensified and a greater responsibility rests on returning officers and poll clerks to prevent offences and irregularities.

WESTERN STUDENTS PLAN BIG RUGBY FESTIVAL

Over four hundred of the students and faculty of the University of Western Ontario are expected to be in parade tomorrow when the annual march of the university to the opening game of its rugby squad will take place.

New yells have been introduced and cheer leaders Jordan and Bowen state that lung power of rosters is noticeably greater than it has been in the past.

The Western U. Gazette warns students to "don their war regalia, bring their courage and come."

Dr. George A. Smith, director of physical education, states that a band has been secured, and that in contradiction to the popular belief that the automobile has superseded the horse, the student and faculty parade will be led by horse-drawn vehicles.

As announced, the route of march will be as follows: Meeting-place, Victoria park at Dufferin and Clarence at 2 p.m. The parade will then go down Clarence to Dundas and thence to Tecumseh park.

CITY'S '$2,000,000 CLIMATE' ATTRACTS IN NEW YORK

The fame of London's two-million-dollar climate of October, 1924, has spread rapidly. It has gone as far as New York city. Western Ontario has been advertised by the glorious weather.

James Fox, a farmer residing on the first concession of West Nissouri, reported that while he was absent a few days ago someone drove away with 150 bushels of oats and 6 well-filled bags of wheat from his granary.

The agricultural robbers left few clues behind, and the motive for the theft is puzzling. The high constable made two trips to the farm yesterday, and will make another investigation to today in an effort to get definite trace of the miscreants.

CHARTING PLAN IS NEARLY FINISHED

Inspector Wheable Expects to Soon Put New System Into Effect.

SCHEME EXPLAINED

G. A. Wheable, inspector of public schools, has completed the preliminary statistical work in connection with his new charting system, which he plans to inaugurate in the public schools of the city during the coming months.

Inspector Wheable will chart on card number one information gleaned from the statistics he has completed pertaining to all grades. Thus on the card a straight red line will indicate the city average in any one subject for a certain grade, while a blue curved line will indicate the average mark of the corresponding grade in each school.

On card number two will be charted information pertaining to schools. Thus on the card a curved red line will indicate the city average in any one subject in all grades, one to eight inclusive, while a blue curved line will indicate the average for the same grade and will also show the progress any particular class has made throughout the school in any subject desired.

Card number two will compare the work in one class in any desired subject with the work in the same subject in all the other classes of the same school, at the same time comparing it with the city average.

Some idea of the immense amount of work to be covered may be gained from the fact that it will be necessary for Inspector Wheable to chart 63 grade cards, card number one, and 119 school cards, card number two.

The city average for grade 1 and grade 2 are as follows:

	Grade 1	Grade 2
Subject	1923 1924	1923 1924
Reading	68 72	72 73
Spelling	64 72	75 72
Writing	71 68	67 70
Arithmetic	66 72	74 69
Composition (not taken)	70	65

CHIEF'S ACTION LAUDED BY JOHN P. GARVEY

Upholds Aitken's Stand in Barn Fire—Is Not Censuring the Mayor.

Without censuring the mayor or fire chief, John P. Garvey has written a letter to Chief John Aitken, touching on the latter's action in going to a barn fire in Lobo last week.

The entire letter follows: "Dear Chief: Having seen some criticism over your action in responding to a request for assistance from one of the neighboring townships, I take this opportunity to state that I fully endorse your action, and I think all fair-minded citizens will. If you haven't this authority now, the council should give you this authority without further delay because if you waited for authority from the mayor, it might endanger lives as well as property."

"No doubt the day is not far distant when the London fire department will be expected to protect life and property within a radius of, say, at least 20 miles. The motor pump and motor-driven apparatus have enlarged the field for any fire department. Probably if the council would go about it in the right way they could secure grants from the townships and nearby places sufficient maybe to pay for the upkeep of the whole department."

"I do not write this as a criticism of the mayor, as I am a great admirer of Mayor Wenige. I am looking at it from a business point of view. 'You are at liberty to use this letter in any way you see fit and hoping that the mayor and council may see things in a reasonable light and let you have the necessary power in case of emergency. I remain, yours sincerely, 'JOHN P. GARVEY.'"

TWENTY-SIX PRISONERS NOW IN COUNTY JAIL

With the tang in the air distinctly autumnal and the call of the wilds in the winds, the guest list at Chateau Dawson is mounting. It now boasts as metropolitan a crew as in former years, though the most fastidious usually await the coming of snow before accepting the hospitality of the genial governor.

Host Dawson is more or less absorbed in supreme court proceedings and these days he has not enough time to spend on this morning to count his wards for The Advertiser. Twenty-six are now thriving on bastille fare.

The number who have heeded the call of the wild and who have run amuck in their enthusiasm, is very heavy for this time of year, the governor remarks.

Fears are entertained that congestion may result during the busy months if Middlesex headquarters continues to attract as it has in the past month.

STOLEN CAR IS RECOVERED IN SHORT TIME IN CITY

Local police received word late last night that an automobile had been stolen from Brantford sometime during the afternoon. Five minutes later through the prompt work of Motor Cycle Officer Gavin Monahan the car was sighted and the driver taken to police station, where he was placed under arrest.

Brantford police communicated to the London force at 11:50 last night that a touring car had been stolen from that city. Joseph Marsale, an Indian, was the man arrested by Constable Monahan. He will be taken to Brantford either today or tomorrow, where he will face a charge of theft.

Marsale was arrested by Constable Monahan for speeding in South London. Two other occupants of the car station made their escape at the corner of Carling and Talbot street, but Marsale was lodged in jail for the night.

Bandits Loot Mexican Train

Associated Press Despatch.

Mexico City, Oct. 17.—A Laredo-Mexico City passenger train, which left the border Wednesday morning, was wrecked by half a hundred bandits under Dimitorio Torres, a few miles south of Saltillo. The engineer, fireman and two soldiers of the military escort were killed. The express car was pillaged, and all the passengers robbed. According to the special despatches troop trains have been rushed to the scene from the two cities under orders to begin an energetic pursuit.

RUSSIAN STATESMAN WRITES BOOKS IN JAIL

Associated Press Despatch.

Moscow, Oct. 17.—Alexander Krasnokheff, former banker-lawyer and premier of the Russian Far Eastern Republic, who in February of this year was sentenced to six years' imprisonment for extending banking credit to private individuals, has written four books on banking and finance while in jail.

The soviet authorities have offered him $2,000 each for the volumes and have also offered him a position in a state bank. Krasnokheff has declined both tenders, preferring to remain in prison, where, he says, he is making more money in prison labor and enjoying more comfort than he could outside. His friends believe he will soon be released.

SOVIET PARLIAMENT CONVENES

Moscow, Oct. 17.—The all-Russian parliament, comprising 600 representatives from all the states existing in the soviet Russian union assembled tonight to begin a ten-day meeting, at which important matters concerning the entire soviet union would be taken up. Measures will be discussed for coping with the threatened famine.

When You Can Be Well, Why Be Sick!

Why Suffer Delay and Grow Worse?

Enjoy Life—Health—Happiness

To Have No Back Pains, No Nervousness, No Kidney Disease, With Plenty of Life, Energy and No Blood Disease, Is the Wish of Every Young, Old or Middle-Aged Person.

To you—if you are sick—if you suffer—if you are afflicted with any ailments of MEN—if you are worn out, tired or failing, if you need medical advice—if you are not in perfect health—if life is a dragging, miserable existence—if you lack energy, vim and vigor that make life worth living, to you—rich or poor—young or old—you need my treatment at once.

Nerves and Blood Are Life
The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Merchant and clergy are alike sufferers—no man is exempt from the ailment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

My Equipment
Is composed of the latest and best known agents in Electrical, Surgical and Mechanical Apparatus, and I am prepared by the knowledge of their uses and the experiences in prescribing them so as to get the greatest uniform results from them.

I Am Prepared to Give You
Returns, Bacterins, Vaccines and any and all forms of treatment of this character that have been tried and proved a success.

YOUNG MEN—THINK OF YOUR FUTURE

How about it, are you qualified to face it? Are others doing more and getting more out of life than you are? Find out, if you don't know already, what is dragging you down. No one can violate nature's laws and succeed. I have helped thousands physically, mentally, morally. I believe I (as I have thousands of other men), can help you. Just be frank and tell us your troubles. Let me help you to regain and maintain your health.

WARDENS FAVOR CHANGE OF TYPES

Administration of Ontario Highways Attacked at Toronto Meeting.

IMPROVE RURAL LIFE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Matters concerning the administration of Ontario's road system were given broad discussion today at the parliament buildings when county wardens from all parts of the province met in conference with government officials. The meeting was called in connection with the work of the advisory highway committee.

The most important suggestion which crystallized from the day's discussion was that the present scheme of road classification should be changed, and that in place of township, two types of county and provincial highways, there should be only one type each of township, county and provincial road. Under the present system the government recognizes two types of county roads and gives a 40 per cent subsidy to the one and a 60 per cent subsidy to the other. The feeling of today's gathering was that only one type of county road should be recognized, and that a subsidy of at least 50 per cent and possibly even 60 per cent should be granted it. At present the government gives an 80 per cent subsidy to provincial roads and a 30 per cent subsidy to township roads.

WATCHMAN CLEAR OF DEATH BLAME

Jury Finds Towerman Guiltless, Though Crossing Gates Were Up.

While finding that the crossing gates were up, the jury investigating the death of Wesley L. Standfield at the Rectory street level crossing on October 7 completely exonerated the towerman and train crew, but recommended that improvements be made in the handling of the gates and signals at the crossing.

The verdict of the jury was: "Wesley L. Standfield came to his death on October 7 by being struck by engine 2547 of the C. N. R. at the Rectory street crossing while the gates at the crossing were up. We are of the opinion that the system of signals at this point is defective, and that the man in charge is handicapped. There are five levers to control in this tower, one covers the movements of the street railway, another the railway traffic going east and west, and others control the crossing gates. We believe that this is altogether too much for one man to handle with safety."

Out 30 Minutes.

It required just 30 minutes for the jury to decide upon the verdict after hearing the testimony of a number of witnesses.

The inquest was in charge of Coroner Robert Ferguson, and Crown Attorney Albert Judd questioned the witnesses. D. F. McCarroll of Toronto represented the C. N. R. Detective Harry Down represented the police department.

The first witness called was Engineer W. Bayliffe, who was in the cab of the engine when the accident occurred. He said that the engine bell was ringing and that the semaphore on the track was "ok." The engine was going five or six miles an hour, and it was stopped in 12 feet after he heard the crash.

He noticed that the gates were down five or six minutes after the crash, but did not notice whether they were down when the engine started to cross the crossing. His evidence was corroborated by his fireman, Alfred Cornish, 424 Rectory street.

George Hayden, 383 Adelaide street, towerman at the Rectory street crossing, was next called. He said that the crash was the first thing that attracted his attention. As soon as he saw something had happened he dropped the gates. He had lifted the gates to allow a car that was standing on the north side to cross. Suddenly the engine came

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act as they should. Jad Salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate the kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means stop as the gates were down and a train was going past. Another engine was being cut off from a num-

HONOR DELEGATES AT CANADIAN CLUB

Dinner Is Given to Leading Educationists of the Dominion.

Canon Emile Chartier, vice-rector of the University of Montreal, was the principal speaker last night at a dinner in the Tecumseh house tendered by the Canadian club to visiting delegates to the opening ceremony at Western University.

Though representing a university differing in creed, he stressed the importance of a closer rapprochement between the people of Quebec and Ontario, and pleaded for a better understanding between the men and women who spoke the French and the English languages in Canada.

Justice Riddell, who appeared as representing Toronto university, the bar association, and the judiciary, and who was introduced as "one needing no introduction," urged on the club the extreme value of university training not only on the individual, but also on the country at large. While he was ready to admit that several great men had been without the benefits of university education, he thought they would have been greater men if they had had better opportunities of education.

A. Stanley McKenzie, president of the university of Dalhousie, Nova Scotia, the last speaker of the evening, representing the universities of the maritime provinces, echoed many of the addresses which had been made earlier in the day at the opening ceremony and congratulated the club on having a university so well backed up by public opinion in the community in which it stood.

Col. Ibbotson Leonard, who presided, brought the congratulations of the royal military college, of which he was a representative, to the governors, on the opening of the new buildings. Owing to the very brief time at the disposal of the club, the delegates were due at the Y. M. C. A. for the formation of the procession to

Sues Neighbor Then Forgives

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Oct. 15.—An amusing incident occurred in police court this morning, when a prominent railroadman was arraigned by his neighbors' wife, charged with inflicting chastisement on her children. After hearing the facts, his worship advised both parties to forget their grievances, informed the defendant that he would have to pay the costs, $2.50.

"Well, I'll pay half of them," said the complainant. "This man and I have never had a quarrel; it's just the children." And, suiting her actions to her words, she produced a dollar bill from her purse, then turned to the defendant and said, "Lend me a quarter till I get home."

LIONS CLUB TO AID IN LONDON POPPY DAY

Successful Meeting of Members Is Held—Cars Are Promised.

The Lions' Club will take its part in the holding of Poppy Day in the city this year, and the members will lend their cars for the day. Dr. Griffin asked for the members' last night at the weekly meeting of the club for this help and was answered enthusiastically by all the "cubs" present in the "den."

Ralph Presgrave, manager of the Acme-Hall glove company, gave an interesting address on the development of the glove industry in Canada. He stated that it had been making great strides lately in this country, and cited the case of one Canadian firm which exports gloves to seven foreign countries.

Musicians, all members of the club, held sway last night and added by Pep Master Harry Humeston, staged a little revue of their own that made the dinner all the more digestible. Col. Graham reported on the success which the new Lions' Club at Tilsonburg was meeting with. He stated that the club now boasts 60 members. On his suggestion a number of the local Lions will attend a meeting there tonight.

Lions club musicians, who contributed towards the musical program, were W. E. Young, Jack Peden, Reg. Hodgins, Scotty McCullough and Selby Young.

LONDONER HAS MEDAL OF KING'S MARRIAGE

Rev. Mark Turnbull Holds Treasured Piece Over 100 Years Old.

Rev. Mark Turnbull, former rector at Christ Church, Port Stanley, and now residing on Cheapside street, city, is the proud possessor of a gold medal, marking the anniversary of King Charles' England's marriage to a German princess, over 150 years old.

This medal, of which only twenty were made for the members of the royal family, was presented to Mr. Turnbull's son by the governor of Panama, when the former was travelling in that country.

Mr. Turnbull has had many offers from different concerns in the United States and Canada, who wish to purchase the treasure, but the owner has ignored all offers, keeping the medal as a keepsake.

Mr. Turnbull, who has had many adventurous experiences in Mexico and other southern countries, in the early days, when bandits overran the country, can readily recall the numerous rebellions and uprisings which happened during his visit in these countries.

He also has one of the largest collections of stamps in Canada, collecting most of them from the different countries he has travelled in.

Despite the fact that he has passed the four score years and ten mark long ago, Mr. Turnbull still retains his love for the outdoors and his garden.

THREE BADMINTON COURTS ARE ADDED BY CLUB

With the addition of three new badminton courts at the armories, making a total of nine playing courts in all, the London garrison badminton club becomes one of the largest badminton organizations in Canada.

A rearrangement of the courts at the armories has been made during the winter and now the whole of the drill space will be occupied on club days by the badminton players.

The local club is expected to open for the winter season on Nov. 1, and play, as in other years, will take place on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. With the additional courts an increase in membership is expected.

BOY FALLS FROM CAR WHILE CHASING BOOK

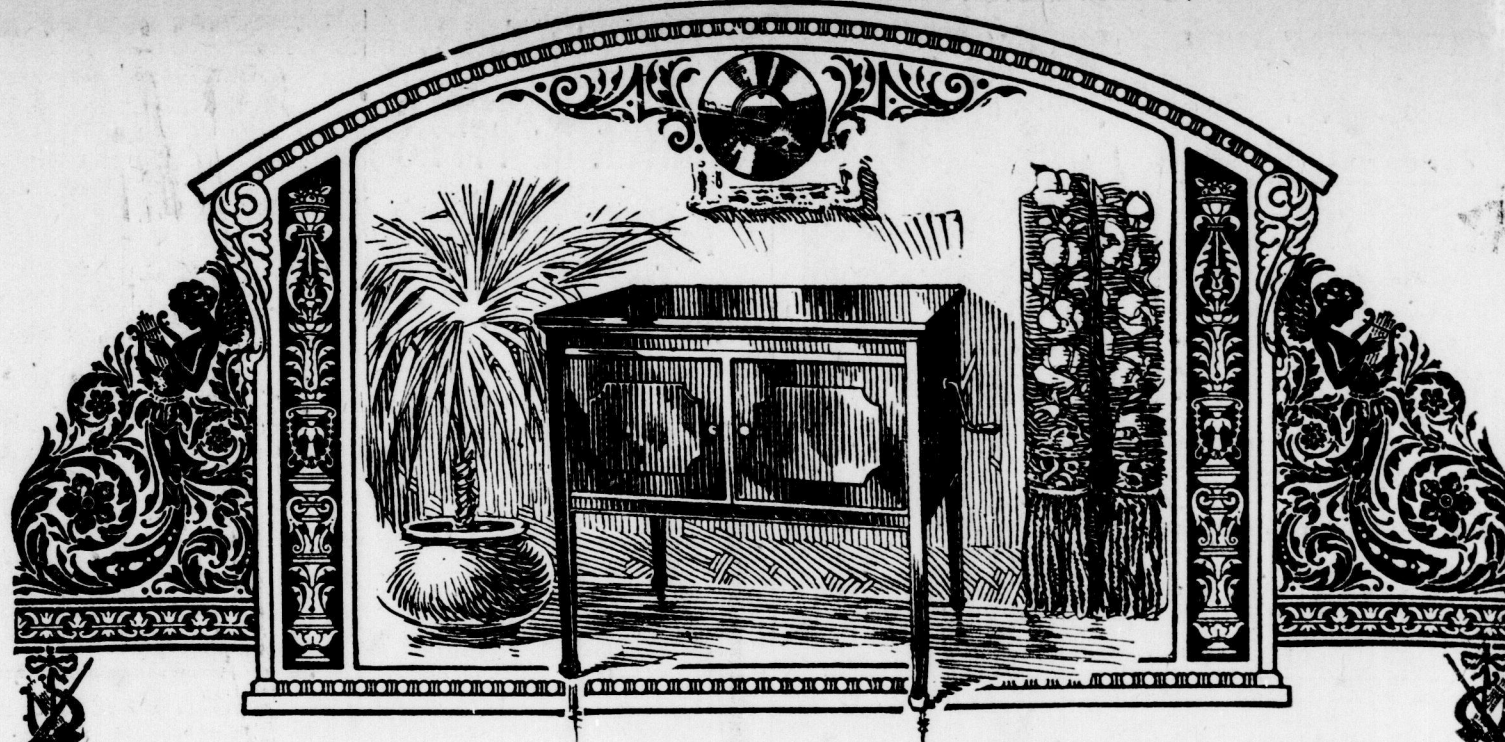

Falling off the moving 420 L. and P. S. train to recover a book which he had dropped, was the experience of a little lad from Glanworth yesterday.

With a number of companions he had been playing in the vestibule of the car, and while scuffling with them dropped his text book.

He made a dash to recover it, but fell over backwards on his head. Although he sustained no injuries, he was badly frightened.

PRODUCES MUSHROOMS.

Charles Maker, local market clerk, has cultivated one of the best fields of mushrooms in the district. Mr. Maker says that frequent visits are being made to the patch by petty thieves who have taken a goodly number to date. He intends watching for the offenders some night and proving his ownership.

TORONTO WILL PROBE PRICE OF BREAD, MILK

Mayor Names Committee To Investigate—Sift Cost of Coal.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Oct. 16.—On the suggestion of Controller Gibbons the board of control today decided to institute a probe not only into the price of milk but into the price of bread.
Mayor Hiltz named a committee, consisting of Ald. Risk, Controller Gibbons and Ald. Ryding to inquire into whether the price of milk is justifiable.

KING DECLARES EMPIRE REAL LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Victoria, Oct. 16.—Speaking in Nanaimo today, Premier Mackenzie King said Canada wanted all parts of the country and all races to contribute to the making of Canada and to secure that fundamental unity which makes for a happy and contented people. He described the British empire as the real league of nations, of which should be re-nations, of which should be re-nations, modeled the larger league of nations.

BUSTER KEATON BACK AT LOEW'S

"The Navigator" Offers Five Reels of Mirth-Provoking Comedy.

Buster Keaton, as frozen-faced as ever, and ably supported by Kathryn McGuire, in "The Navigator," offers five reels of the type of drollery that movie followers have been thirsting for ever since "The Three Ages." This film, "The Navigator," the headliner on the strong bill opening at Loew's theatre yesterday, takes its place as a good, clean mirth-provoker and for genuine punch along with any of the feature-length comedies of late years.

Yet it is novel because it has but two principals. Buster's company seems to be a one-man affair. The plot is introduced with the aid of a few supers, and at the finish flocks of cannibals are thrown on the screen. Then the side-splitter is crammed full of ridiculous mechanical devices. The background is facetious, the high spots teem with explosive fun.

Refreshing Breath.
"The Navigator" is, of course, a picture of the sea. You can feel the sea in your boots and pouring down your back and taste the salt brine in your mouth, but it has a pleasant flavor. The film is a refreshing breath for those who tire of society melodrama and those serious tales of the great open spaces.

Loew's have chosen a film program this week that is just about all laughs. Walter Heir's little one-reel skit, "Small Change," an Al Christie production, shows the fat boy to advantage. The scenic strips for the week include Lyman B. Jackson's "Studies of American Indians," some snapshots of naval activities and beauty spots in Hawaii, novel, amusing and educational. Earl Hurd's pen-pictures get increasingly funny with his "Hoboken Nightingale," a black and white study that is a tribute to the caricaturist.

Vaudeville Good.

Loew's vaudeville bill has quality this half. Jean Berrios, a wizard at female impersonation and dual voice work, appears in some flashy gowns, offers good singing and gets round after round of applause.

Murry Stutz and Octavia Blingham offer some sparkling eccentricities in their singing and talking act.

Obdalla and Adrienne has a dainty tumbling and acrobatic turn that has much merit and grace in its execution.

a colorful setting.

Do You Need Help? This Advice Is Well Worth Reading!

Kirkton, Ont.—"I have found Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets to be an excellent medicine. I have been troubled with inflammation in the neck of my bladder for about eight years. I doctored, but failed to get cured, so I decided to try Doctor Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets, and they have relieved me greatly."

"I also can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for expectant mothers. I have a fine, big baby boy. My nurse asked me what I ate to make him so strong. He looked like a child four or five months old when only three. I certainly would advise every prospective mother to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. John Simpson, R. R. 1.

DUMBELLS REVUE RETURNS TO GRAND

"Ace High" Back For Another Engagement by Popular Demand.

The return engagement of Captain Plunkett's sixth annual revue, "Ace High," found the Grand theatre well filled last night. Those who had before been unable to see this latest production of the Dumbells company, were delighted with the new and attractive program.

The only disappointment was the failure of Ross Hamilton to appear in his inimitable role of "Marjorie." But there was this compensation—the audience was privileged to see Jock Holland in the "Marjorie" numbers and so saw that much more of his very fine work as a female impersonator. It is hoped that by tonight Ross Hamilton will have suffered recovered from his illness of yesterday to be seen on the stage. But if "Marjorie" wasn't there, "Red" Newman, favorite comedian, was, not to mention Captain Plunkett himself and his famous Dumbells orchestra and Al Plunkett and Stan Bennett and all the rest.

The revue still shows a few of the famous scenes reminiscent of the days of khaki, dugouts and life under fire in France. And they are filled with the irresistible humor of a Dumbells performance.

There are some very elaborate stage effects also, as well as brilliant costumes in the more spectacular scenes of the revue. Perhaps the biggest of these is the closing cabaret scene, which has as its inspiration the night life of a large city. The gowns worn in this and other scenes in which Marjorie figures are very elaborate.

Some of the best moments of the whole production, however, are found in the simple scenes of the "Ace High." "Red" Newman's song, "Don't Let Them Scrap the British Navy," in which he strikes a strong patriotic note, was one of the best numbers. Very beautiful dance numbers are offered by Glen Allan, female impersonator.

BILL AT MAJESTIC IS OF HIGH ORDER

Roaring Seven Reel Comedy Added To Unusual Vaudeville Acts.

Three vaudeville acts, every one much above the average usually seen in London, plus a roaring seven-reel comedy, "Galloping Fish," and an equally funny Larry Semon comedy all go to make the show at the Majestic theatre for the balance of the week one of the best of theatrical offerings.

Sharka Brothers present something new in the way of pictures, putting together some wonderful portraits with nothing but colored rays. Such an act has never been seen here before and is well worth witnessing.

Lestra Lamont fools the men and even the women right to the last of his songs. "Mr. Lamont is a second Ross Hamilton of 'Dumbells' fame, and has a voice that compares most favorably with that of 'Marjorie'."

Points Out Moral.

The Hawley Wallace company present a little one-act playlet, "The Banner," which unlike most playlets point out a real moral. Walter Hawley as the proper son, a weekly newspaper, "The Banner," is an actor of some ability, and is ably supported by Fanchon Wallace, Evelyn Vinton and Charles Moody. Those who see these three acts will not be disappointed.

There's a trained seal playing the title role of "Galloping Fish." His name is "Freddie," and as a comedian so intelligent he is uncanny, and the tricks he pulls on the screen are as funny as they are spectacular. The producer, not satisfied with a star who is a whole show in himself, surrounded him with a scintillating cast of the cleverest "comics." Louise Fazenda, playing the role of an innocently ensnaring "Diving Venus," Syd Chaplin, as a timid little newlywed who accidentally gets all entangled with "Venus," Ford Sterling, trying to boss the whole show as the manager-fiance of "Venus," and Chester Conklin, as a dour-faced taxi driver rejoicing in the name of "Jonah."

Worthy of "The Follies."

The story, adapted from Frank Adams' clever yarn, "Friend Wife," begins in a theatre where a beautiful Diving Venus and her chorus of bathing beauties put on an act with a trained seal that is worthy of the Follies. A timid little bridegroom, in the agonizing throes of his first quarrel with wife, who has run home to "mama," wanders in, seeking a moment's oblivion from his woes. That happens to be just the moment chosen by a sheriff to try to serve an attachment for Venus' trained seal, and Freddie, when he is impressed to assist a beauty in distress, puts in twenty-four hours of most ridiculously complicated adventures.

A spectacular flood adds thrills to the laughs, and there is romance besides for those who crave heart-interest.

Metal Diet Girl Now Recovering

Associated Press Despatch.
Saginaw, Oct. 16.—Mary Doe, the 15-year-old girl in whose stomach physicians last month found 1,200 metallic objects, including coins, metal washers, safety pins, crucifixes, chains, brooches and bolts, was discharged last night from the hospital. Her physicians say she is completely recovered. Intelligence tests to which the girl has been subjected, according to her physicians, show that she is now of normal mentality. This indicates, they say, that the apparent sub-normal mentality at the time of her operation was a result, rather than a cause, of her diet.

CLUB NEWS

GIRLS' CANADIAN CLUB.

The Girls' Canadian club met on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Y.W.C.A. Miss Porter, the new president of the club, presided. Mrs. Douglas Omond gave an address on the plebeians, with references to her subject taken from the Scriptures and foreign countries. In speaking of the foreigner, she mentioned the people of India, and stated that those among the high castes considered drinking to be beneath them. She also said in this connection that Canada, as a Christian nation, should keep faith with those that are not Christian.

Last night's meeting was to have taken the form of a reception in honor of the teachers of the school, but this event was postponed on account of the special convocation in connection with the University of Western Ontario opening exercises. The teachers will be entertained at the November meeting of the club.

Conveners for the coming bazaar are as follows: Apron booth, Mrs. Davidson with Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Hartley as assistants; candy booth, Mrs. Crawford with Mrs. Blackwell and Mrs. Patterson; home cooking, Mrs. Mitchell with Mrs. James and Mrs. Pearce; fancy work, Mrs. Lumsden with Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Wilson; fish pond, Mrs. Thompson with Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Warren; tearoom, Mrs. Bradford with Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Jackson; ice cream, Mrs. Thatcher with Mrs. Barber; reception committee, Mrs. Carmo, with Mrs. Coyle and Mrs. Patterson.

The club is also planning a shower and tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Foster next Friday night, with similar showers in aid of the bazaar at the homes of Mrs. Lumsden, Waterloo street, and Mrs. Thompson, Little Grey street.

WEDDINGS

KEIRCE-ENSIGN.

In Detroit, Michigan, on Saturday, Oct. 11, Miss Ena Gertrude Ensign, only daughter of Mrs. J. R. Craig, and of the late James Clifford Ensign, formerly of this city, was united in marriage to John C. Keirce, of Detroit, Michigan.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. C. B. Allan, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church at Detroit. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, looked very charming in a brick dust colored crepe, with a hem of navy blue and overdress of navy blue crepe, with shoes and hat to match, and a cocoa wrap with cinnamon fox collar and cuffs.

Mr. and Mrs. Keirce will reside in Detroit.

LEAL-HURRELL.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's church this morning by Monsignor Brady, when Mary, daughter of the late Patrick Hurrell and Mrs. Hurrell of Port Glasgow, Scotland, became the bride of George Leal of London, England, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Leal of London, England.

The bride was smartly costumed in a navy tailored suit and gray velvet hat. Attending her as bridesmaid was Miss Mary Dunlop, who also wore a navy blue suit and hat. Mr. W. Vaughan acted as best man. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vaughan, of Laide street. Mr. and Mrs. Leal will reside in London.

MORROW-PATTERSON.

A quiet wedding took place at the manse, Walkers, Ontario, at 3:30 o'clock, on Saturday, Oct. 11, when Margaret Belle Patterson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Patterson, became the bride of John Clifford Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Morrow, of this city.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a lovely silver gray crepe with touches of Copenhagen blue velvet and lace, wore a sequin bandeau, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Louise Patterson, daughter of the bride's father, wore a dainty frock of pale green georgette over apricot crepe de chine, and carrying a bouquet of Sunset roses, attended the bride. Stuart Currie acted as best man.

After the ceremony a delicious dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. After dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Morrow left for points west, the bride traveling in a rust satin crepe dress, with hat and coat to match, and wore the groom's gift, a beautiful Isabella fox fur. The bridesmaid received from the groom an aquamarine bangle, and the best man was given a pearl tiepin. The bride was the recipient of many lovely gifts, and a substantial check from her father.

WOMEN and THE HOME
Hooty Makes a Great Mistake and
Loses His Appetite

By RAFAEL SABATINI.

CHAPTER XX (continued)

At last she was moved from her silence, and her voice came dull and hard.

"I have learnt how little there is to choose between you," she said. "It was to have been known that two brothers might have been so dissimilar in nature. Oh, I am learning a deal, and swiftly."

"You are learning?" he echoed. "What are you learning?" "Knowledge of the ways of men." His teeth gleamed in his smile.

"I hope the knowledge will bring you as much bitterness as the knowledge of women—no, to have believed me what you believed me—whom you conceived yourself to love!"

"If I have a mercy to beg of you it is that you will not shame me with the reminder."

"Of your faithfulness?" he asked. "Not your disloyal readiness to believe the worst of me?"

"Of my ever having believed that I loved you. That is the thought that shames me, as not even the slave market and all the insult to which you have submitted me could shame me. You taunt me with my readiness to believe evil of you."

"I do more than taunt you with it," he broke in, his anger mounting under the pitiless lash of her scorn. "I lay to your charge the wasted years of my life, all the evil that followed out of it, all that I have lost, all that I am become."

She looked up at him coldly, astonishingly mistress of herself.

"Here comes your supper. I hope your appetite is keener than your logic."

They set the vessel, from which a savory smell proceeded, upon the little Moorish table by the divan. On the ground beside it they placed a broad dish of baked earth in which there were a couple of loaves and a red, short-necked amphora of water, and a drinking-cup placed over the mouth of it to act as a stopper.

They sat down and ate. He padded softly out again.

"Supper," he said her shortly. "I want no supper," she replied. Her manner sullen.

"Henceforth, girl, you will consider not what you want, but what I bid you. I bid you eat; about it, therefore."

"Will not," he echoed slowly. "Is that a speech from a slave to master? Eat, I say."

"I cannot," she protested. "A slave may not live who can not do her master's bidding."

"Then, kill me," she answered fiercely, leaping up to confront and dare him. "Kill me. You are used to killing, and for that at least I should be grateful."

"I will kill you if I please," said he in level, icy tones. "But not to please you. You do not yet understand. You are my slave, my thing, and you are to be damaged save at my own good pleasure. Therefore, eat, or my Nubians shall whip you to quicken your appetite."

For a moment she stood defiant before him, white and resolute. Then quite suddenly, as if her will was being bent and crumpled under the insistent pressure of his own, she dropped and sank down again to the divan. Slowly, obediently, she drew the dish nearer.

Watching her, he laughed quite silently.

She paused, appearing to seek for something. Failing to find it, she looked up at him again, between scorn and intercession.

"Am I to tear the meat with my fingers?" she demanded.

His eyes gleamed with understanding, or at least with suspicion. But he answered her quite calmly.

"It is against the Prophet's law to defile meat or bread by the contact of a knife. You must use the hands that God has given you."

"Do you mock me with the Prophet and his laws? What are the Prophet's laws to me? If I eat I must, at least I will not eat like a heathen dog, but in Christian fashion!"

To indulge her, as it seemed, he slowly drew the richly-bitted dagger from his girdle.

"Let that serve you, then," he said; and carelessly tossed it down beside her.

With a quick indrawn breath she pounced upon it.

"At last," she said, "you give me something for which I can be grateful to you." And on the words she laid the point of it against her breast.

Like lightning he had dropped to one knee, and his hand had closed about her wrist, with such a grip that her arm felt limp and powerless. He was smiling into her eyes, his swarthy face close to her own.

"Did you indeed suppose I trusted you?" Did you really think me deceived by your sudden pretense of yielding? When will you learn that I am not a fool? I did it but to test your spirit."

"Then now you know its temper," he replied. "You know my intention."

"Forewarned, forearmed," said he. She looked at him, with something that would have been mockery but for the contempt that colored it too deeply.

"Is it so difficult a thing," she asked, "to snap the thread of life? Are there no ways of dying save by the knife? You boast of your mastery; that I am your slave, that having bought me in the marketplace I belong to you body and soul. How idle is that boast. My body you may bind and confine, but my soul—Be very sure that you shall be cheated of your bargain. You boast yourself lord of life and death. A lie! Death is all that you can command."

Quick steps came pattering up the stairs, and before he could answer her, before he had thought of words in which to do so, Ali confronted him with the astonishing announcement that there was a woman below asking urgently to speak with him.

"A woman?" he questioned, frowning. "A Nasrani woman, do you mean?"

"No, my lord, A Moslem," was the still more surprising information. "A Moslem woman, here? Impossible!"

But as he made a dash for the

"I do," he was very vehement. "Had you not lent a ready ear to lies, that whelp, my brother, would never have gone to such lengths, nor should I ever have afforded him the opportunity."

She shifted on the cushions of the divan and turned her shoulder to him.

"All this is very idle," she said coldly.

Yet perhaps because she felt that she had need to justify herself, she continued:

"If, after all, I was so ready to believe evil of you, it is that my instincts must have warned me of the evil that was ever in you. I proved to me tonight that it was not you who murdered Peter; but to attain that proof you have done a deed that is even fouler and more shameful, a deed that reveals to the full the blackness of your heart. Have you not proved yourself a monster of vengeance and impiety?"

She rose and faced him again in her sudden passion.

"Are you not—you that were born a Cornish Christian gentleman—become a heathen and a robber, a renegade and a pirate? Have you not sacrificed your very God to your vengeful lust?"

He met her glance fully, never flinching, and with denunciation, and when she had ended on that note of question he counter-questioned her.

"And your instincts had forewarned you of this? God's life, woman! Can you invent no better tale than that?"

He turned aside as two slaves entered bearing an earthenware vessel, and he said to her, "Here comes your supper. I hope your appetite is keener than your logic."

They set the vessel, from which a savory smell proceeded, upon the little Moorish table by the divan. On the ground beside it they placed a broad dish of baked earth in which there were a couple of loaves and a red, short-necked amphora of water, and a drinking-cup placed over the mouth of it to act as a stopper.

It seldom pays to do a thing without seeing exactly what you are doing.

Hooty the Owl found that out when he struck at something he saw moving behind an old log. He had hooted as only he can to frighten Whitefoot the Wood Mouse, so that he would move and rustle the leaves under which he was hiding.

Hooty's wonderful ears had heard leaves rustle back of an old stump, and instantly his great silent wings had carried him over there. His wonderful great eyes had seen something move, and he had struck without waiting to see just what that moving thing was. He hadn't the least doubt that it was Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

In less than a second later he had discovered that he had made a mistake, a dreadful mistake. It was one of the worst mistakes Hooty ever had made. If Hooty had started certain little people there in the Green Forest by his hooting, he startled them still more now.

He didn't hoot, but he did hiss and snap his bill and beat his big wings to get him away from there as quickly as possible. Straight to the top of an old stump from which he had come he flew, and there he stood on one foot and held up the other to look at it. Sticking in it were half a dozen little spears, the little spears of Prickly Porky the Porcupine. And oh, how that foot did smart and ache!

What had happened was this: When Hooty had hooted to startle Whitefoot the Wood Mouse he had startled Prickly Porky, who, unknown to Hooty, had been sitting behind that old log, trying to make up his mind which tree he would dine in that night. Prickly Porky was startled, but not frightened. He had no fear of Hooty the Owl. It was the suddenness of that hoot that had startled him. It had made him move, and in doing this he had rustled the leaves. By the time Hooty was over there Prickly Porky had decided to move on. The moving thing which Hooty had caught a glimpse of was the end of Prickly Porky's tail disappearing around the end of the log. If Hooty really had seen what it was, nothing in all the Great World would have tempted him to strike at it. But he was so sure that Whitefoot the Wood Mouse was there, and so afraid that Whitefoot would again escape, that he had struck instantly and hard.

My, my, my, how those little spears did make that foot smart and ache! Hooty knew what he must do. He knew that he must pull them out. Standing on one foot, he held the other up, and with his bill got hold of one of those little spears and jerked it out. It hurt. The pain made him hiss and snap his bill. How he did hate to pull another out! But it had to be done. He couldn't put that foot down with those little spears in it. So, hissing and snapping his bill between times, he pulled those little spears out, until only one remained. That one he couldn't get out. It broke off. That meant that he would have a sore foot for some time. By this time Hooty had forgotten that he was hungry. He had lost his appetite. Yes, sir, he had lost his appetite.

C. E. F. CHAPTER.

The regular business meeting of the C. E. F. Returned chapter, I.O.B.E. was held at "Lennon," on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. B. J. Dunlevy presiding. Arrangements were made for a banquet to be given on armistice night, which will also be the third anniversary of the reorganization of the chapter. Mrs. A. Henderson and Mrs. Malcolm Kerr are to be the conveners. The chapter also planned to assist the great war veterans on poppy day, and extended to the G.W.V.A. a cordial invitation to attend the banquet they are giving. A very interesting report was given by Mrs. J. Rawlings, the relief convener, on relief work during the past month.

The regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. mothers' club was held at the headquarters in Clarence street on Thursday, with Mrs. Douglas C. Omond and Mrs. Frank White as speakers. Both gave informative talks on the method of balloting at the coming plebiscite, much to the gratification of the large number of members present. The president, Mrs. W. F. Warren, opened the meeting, after which Mrs. A. J. Chapman took the chair. Devotional periods in which the subject of petition was the preservation of the O. T. A. were held during the afternoon. The meeting was concluded with a social hour, when light refreshments were served.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1924.

The Age Requires Sober Men.

When Canada was at war it was found necessary and advisable to suppress the liquor traffic; in Ontario the public bar went; the importation of liquor was forbidden.

Why? Because it was necessary that everything be removed that made the people less efficient. If liquor had been a contributing factor to top-speed efficiency and sustained effort, there would have been no barrier raised against it. The very fact that in the hour of a great national crisis the country pointed to the liquor traffic as something that had to go is proof positive that it was a weakening and a damaging force in the community.

Canada has no national strength to waste today. This young country, burdened with a debt, the honored legacy of its loyal participation in the world war, is capable of tremendous development if we are able to bring to the task the unimpaired efforts of our strength. If liquor had to be throttled as a war measure, it must be throttled in a post-war effort.

This is conceded by leaders in various activities. Warren E. Stone, executive officer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, says:

"We who have spent most of our lives in the cab of a locomotive know the infinitesimal fraction of a second that often means safety. That alcohol does slow down the brain action is conceded by all. So ten years before the churches began preaching prohibition, years before even the railroad officials began issuing orders, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was fighting the drink evil. A law of the organization that has been in effect during the 20 years I have been the executive officer reads:

"The use of intoxicating liquors either on or off duty is prohibited."

It is easy to understand why such a rule would be in effect. It is not likely that there would be many passengers boarding a train if they knew that the engineer was drinking liquor. If liquor had the effect of making him more competent, more trustworthy, then he should have it. The fact that he can't have it is just one more proof that it is too dangerous a thing to be trusted in a place where there is great responsibility.

If it is necessary for an engineer to be sober, how about the thousands of drivers who are in control of cars on the highways? Henry Ford's idea is:

"If the United States of America ever repeals prohibition, in the interests of public safety there should be enacted the next day a law prohibiting the use of gasoline vehicles upon the public highways."

Ontario voters would be well advised to consider the changes that have come over industry and traffic in recent years. They are all tending to call for greater efficiency on the part of the individual. Years ago a wheelbarrow was a means of locomotion, a horse and wagon was the commonly-used method; today it is the truck and the fast-moving motor car. The speed with which these machines move, the possibilities of danger, and the fact that a driver is held responsible for the damage he causes—all point to one conclusion only: the men of today must be clear-minded and quick thinkers. Alcohol has no place in this new order. It is too dangerous.

It is for these reasons it is necessary that Ontario retain the advance already made in temperance legislation. Government selling would make liquor very easy to secure, and government alcohol acts the same as any other kind. If the locomotive engineers do not use liquor because of its bad effects, the people of Ontario can well afford to bar it for exactly the same reason.

Two Questions Not Enough.

The finance committee of the city council has recommended to the council a ballot to be submitted to the electors at the municipal elections on December 1 in connection with the London street railway. The first ballot is "Are you in favor of the purchase of the London street railway at $1,295,000, plus the increase in capital expenditure since the first of January, 1924?" That would probably mean a price of $1,345,000. The other question would be worded: "Are you in favor of extending the franchise 15 years, with the city retaining the option of purchase at the end of any year?"

The trouble with these two questions is this: The price named is a company figure, and one which, unless there are very substantial reasons offered to back it up, would not be favored by the electors. There have been so many prices mentioned at times in various civic campaigns that the issue has been confused.

The alternative of a 15-year franchise with the option of purchase at the end of any year is an impossible proposal. It is hardly likely that the company would consider it at all. Neither is it desirable from the standpoint of the city. It would make financing by the company an impossibility; the knowledge that the franchise might be cut off at the end of any year would force a hand-to-mouth system of management that would give poorer service and worse conditions for the employees of the road.

The policy so far has been to let the matter stand, and in this way the franchise renews itself for a five-year period. If this takes place, what is likely to happen? In March of 1925 the special legislation by which the company gets a five-cent fare ceases to operate, and the old rates of seven and nine tickets for a quarter return.

Then what? The company can reduce its service; it may even threaten to cut the wages of the men, claiming that reduced earnings justify such a course. It is not likely that the men would accept such a reduction—they are not overpaid now—and that would mean a strike. A strike would lead to a cessation of service and the probable calling in of the Ontario railway board. If the railway board undertook to operate the road it could not go so at a loss, and has the power to investigate and charge a rate that will meet running expenses. That is what took place in 1920 when there was a strike over wages, and the present situation has the same possibilities.

If the people are going to vote at all, they should be allowed to give expression to their opinions on four questions:

1. Are you in favor of purchase at $1,295,000 plus inventory and value of improvements made in 1924?
2. Are you in favor of purchase at value of physical properties, determined by arbitration?
3. Are you in favor of granting company new franchise for 20 years at five-cent fare?
4. Are you in favor of continuing under by-law 916 for another five-year period?

Columbus and the ZR-3.

Zepelin ZR-3 is tied in an aerodrome at Lakehurst, N.J., having made the trip of 5,000 miles in 80 hours. This is the fourth time an air vessel has crossed the Atlantic, and the last trip was more successful and deliberate than the former. A British dirigible crossed to United States and returned, although battered by the worst weather of the season.

Already the despatches speak of this means of travel as being the coming plan of crossing the ocean, and no doubt there are those ready to try it. Each trip that is made adds to the sum total of knowledge about navigation of the air.

It's a long step from the gay old hulk in which Columbus sailed away in 1492 on the first trip to America. He could send no word back, nor could he even let the folks back home know he had arrived in a new land. The ZR-3 could keep the world informed at all times of where it was and how things were going. The world moves.

Discretion is the thing that makes some people say things behind a man's back that they're afraid to say to his face.

The handkerchief which a man carries in his upper coat pocket for appearance often answers the same purpose as a spare tire.

At a meeting of the Moderation league supporters the band played "It Ain't Goin' to Rain No More, No More." Meaning of course that it's going to be dry.

A rebel editor of an obscure paper in London, England, dissolved the British parliament. He's as famous now as the cow that kicked over the lantern in Chicago.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald fell through a platform in Yorkshire. Premier King did the same thing at Montreal and since then has won three by-elections.

Men and women in old London are living 20 years longer than their grandparents. It's a wonder some student hasn't advanced this as the cause of unemployment.

Montreal Gazette says: "The woman who fired four shots at her eloping husband without hitting him can claim for the rest of her life that she missed him terribly when he went away."

The New York money market still insists on pinching Canadian money to the extent of 1-64 of one per cent. Now, then, what's a $125 shirt worth in New York, paid for in Canadian money?

The Barber Shop

I went unto the barber shop to get the shrubs pruned from my chin, a-thinkin' for to rest a spell, removed from out the street car din, and after gettin' in the chair, a bib was stuck around my jaw, the barber man he went to work a-usin' just a tick and saw.

He says to me "Well how is you and how is business at your place, I see you got a little mole stuck on the left side of your face—and do you want your whiskers short and ain't that razor cuttin' fine, I got it at a bargain sale and paid just one buck ninety-nine."

And then he scratched away a spell and got some wind inside his lung, and started in to scrape some more as though he wanted to get done, when he got talkin' on again and sayin' how he wouldn't vote, and how a bootleg friend of his had bought a new fangled boat.

"That chap what just went out of here is sore as any man could be, he's bettin' money on the nags, he wouldn't take advice from me—say how's that razor pullin' now—he's bettin' like a man gone mad, I bet inside a month he'll lose more coin than most folks ever had."

"I tell you anyone's a fool—ye gads I almost swiped that mole—to go and strew his coin around instead of buying boots and coal—you like 'em cut off pretty close—I never knew a man, not one who chased the ponies for a month and found out at the end he'd won."

Another chap he comes in now and sits a-waitin' on a seat. "Say Bill ain't these October days the slickest things a chap could meet? I see you're paintin' up your house—do you want shavin' on your neck—there's houses all along the street what's lookin' like a certain wreck. If they was painted up a spell—too bad, I nicked your jaw a bit—why they'd be worth a hang eight more, it makes 'em look up pretty fit."

"Beats all about that Zeppelin, I never reckoned she'd get through, they couldn't hire me on a bet to go a-sailin' with that crew. Your hair's quite bald up on the top—but in ten years I guess somehow, the speck'll be as common 'hen as ridin' on a street car now."

"If I was you I'd get some stuff and rub that bald spot up each night—the Chinese war is still goin' on, a caution how some folks would fight."

So when I want to know the news I turn my paper up on end, and cart my whiskers out with me and listen to my barber friend.—ARK.

A THREAT.

Now I own a Lizzie, efficient and busy,
Which clugs along merry and bright,
I'm fond of it, too, for the things it will do;
I drive it with joy and delight.
But I'm a bit sick of the smart-aleck trick,
Which cannot be wholly ignored,
Of those who feel free to be ribald with me
Because I am driving a Ford.

You can drive an old hunk of scrap-iron and junk
Which was once called a "Regular Car,"
And you will not detect any rude disrespect
From people you meet, near and far.
Your brakes may be busted, your chassis all rusted,
Your cylinders leaky and scored,
But no one gets flip when you go on a trip,
—They save all that stuff for a Ford!

CHORUS:

For everyone yells at a Ford!
My feelings are mangled and gored;
And I'm getting weary
Of japes that are dreary,
Exhumed from the boneyard where they have been stored.
My wrath grows more hot as I chug-chug along,
A jake or two more and I'll tear through the throng.
And slaughter with poison, gun, bombshell and sword,
The boxes who yell at my Ford.

Our laundryman is not a golfer, but when we send our socks to him he always does a hole in one.

Careful Clarence says all well dressed young men should wear bow ties with Arrow collars.

After reading the prize play of the American theatrical season we have decided to write a play that will knock 'em all flat, not to say oblong. We have already finished the first act. It goes like this:

A SHRIEK AT MIDNIGHT.

(A Comedy by I. R. Anonymous)
Act I—The scene is the living-room of the Cuckoo estate in gorgeous Cuckooville. The furnishings are in good taste except for a garbage can which stands on the bear rug. The piano (left) has the initials of the whole Cuckoo family carved on it.
(Enter Lavinia Cuckoo with Capt. Percy).

Mrs. Castile—George, I wish you wouldn't slap me on the back. What will the guests think?

Roger—What will they think if I don't slap you, Mrs. Castile?

Mrs. Castile—That is neither here and certainly not there, Cuthbert. My husband says you are a brute if not a beast. Take that (pulls his tie out) and that (tucks it back in again).

Rudolph—You can't fool me, Miss. I knew your husband when he didn't have a Sioux, or a Muncie either, for that matter.

Mrs. Castile—It pleases you to jest, Ralph. It is a serious matter with me. Here I am barely nineteen and the mother of four children, all boys and girls. What will the duke say when he finds out?

Eggbert—You may rest easy on that point, Priscilla—may I call you Mrs. Castile? For I am the duke and shall say nothing.

Mrs. Castile (falling on his neck)—How can I ever repay you? Here, have a caramel.

John—There is something I've been going to say to you, Priscilla, for the past thirty seconds. I must say it. You are on my neck.

Priscilla—This is so sudden. You have taken my breath away, Frank. Give it back to me quick.

Max—Ha, ha! Likewise He, He! You will never get your breath back again.

(Priscilla tackles Leslie around the ankles in last desperate attempt to get breath and crumples to death while the band plays "Ain't We Got No Fun.")

WAR.

The chemists have declared war, and it is the kind of war in which everyone can engage.

It is a war against waste, disease, poverty, misery, sorrow and narrow-mindedness.

Dr. Leo Hendrik Baekeland, president of the American chemical society and professor of chemical engineering in Columbia university, says that "during the war, and previous to the war, it was supposed that Germany had a monopoly of the chemists of the earth. But the outbreak of the war compelled the public to realize the importance of the chemists of the United States and that Germany was not the only place on earth where chemists may be born and raised. German chemists have been remarkably advertised, but other countries have shown a very favorable comparison to them."

"Thousands of chemists in this country, excellent chemists, who, like the silent servant in the house, have been doing sterling work unnoticed, have been solving endless problems connected with the growth of our industries, our agriculture, the sanitation of our towns and the general development of the United States."

The war is now over, even if the allies in Europe keep quarreling among themselves. The chemist is back on his old job. The kind of war he prefers is a war of peace where he wears no uniform, although sometimes he risks his life as much as in the trenches.

This war is against waste, disease and ignorance, the breeder of all calamities.

Dr. Baekeland says that while the human idealism, it has suffered from knowledge without knowledge. It is the task of our schools and colleges and universities to teach this to our graduating chemists, and it is the duty of our chemists to work and live accordingly.

If there is any future war its success will largely be determined by problems of the chemists.

The average man becomes acquainted with the achievements of chemistry only as they have led to visible results in our industry. But he does not know that there exists in the United States numerous groups of men little known outside of their own field who are building up the very foundations on which future progress depends.

This is a work which may well merit the co-operation of all groups of people, since it is a war against the real enemies of the human race and has not to do with a war of one company or nation of people against another.

There are so many bank robberies in and around Sacramento that as soon as a man enters a bank the staff look around to see that the shooters are handy. It may even go on to where a man who sticks his face against the teller's window will get all his teeth shot out.

To the Editor

Increases Sales.

Reader Cannot See Much Weight in the Argument That Free Use of Liquor Would Be Beneficial.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—In your issue of today I find a letter over the signature of H. Howe, in favor of the free distribution of liquor. In his first paragraph he speaks of the issue at stake, viewed on both sides with feeling and sincerity. I fail to see any sign of either feeling (except for himself, for undoubtedly his reasons for supporting government sale are selfish) or sincerity, because he must know, as every man who reads and thinks must know, that the use of liquor to any extent is an incentive to lawlessness, and if he is at all informed on conditions in the provinces where government sale is in force, he is certainly not so naive as to believe that bootlegging has not diminished. So where is the sincerity of which he speaks? I have yet to know of a person, man or woman, who does not use liquor at all, being broad-minded enough to uphold the free sale of the same. Personally I know by experience what liquor can and will do with an otherwise perfectly sane person.

While Mr. Howe may not know from experience, he cannot fail to know from observation just exactly what it does do. Again, he says the prohibitionist knows not the words charity or love. Following his theory, if my boy has a desire for liquor it is his duty, if I love him, to supply the stuff. If my neighbor has a desire for it, if I love him I will help him get it. If he gets drunk and raises hell—generally, and he does not say (but we narrow-minded people can read between the lines), "I want mine, and lots of it."

He says liquor has given a lease of life to millions, and destroyed thousands. Reverse it, my friend, and still you're wrong. Our very best medical practitioners are finding every day less use for the stuff. He says again, it is for sanity to rule. If the sanity of which he speaks is the result of the use of liquor in even a moderate way, our asylums and jails are very largely occupied by the same people, because even the worst drunkard was once a moderate drinker and could take his glass or let it alone, but he chose to take it.

One thing more and I am done. I wonder how the man would feel who, being an owner and driver of a motor car, having his family out for a drive, and through the criminality of a drunken driver, he is obliged to sit down by the corpse of his little child or wife or both, and admit that by his vote and influence he caused that act? I bet you four dollars that his sincerity then will be of a different brand to that of which he speaks today. Yours for the cause, F. B.

Marking the Ballot.

Voter Says the Surest Way Is to Put an X After the First Question.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—Electors should avoid spoiled ballots on Oct. 23rd, by marking their ballots correctly. Attorney-General Nickle on Sept. 16, explained the ballot in these words: "There is an election as to alternatives. The elector should indicate by his preference by marking a cross after the question he prefers."

More than one cross or any writing of any sort on the ballot will spoil the ballot. Voters should not therefore, write "Yes" or "No" to either question on the ballot, and should not make any mark except a single cross, which, if it is to count for temperance, should be placed opposite the first question.

The second question should be left blank. The elector should not write his or her name on the ballot. This mistake has been made in some cases in previous votes.

Show this to every person in your community who you think may not know how to make the ballot correctly.

Call For New Conception of Education Is Sounded As University Is Opened

Many Speakers at Formal Opening of University of Western Ontario Vision Greater Conquests in Field of Knowledge To Bring Understanding, Sympathy and Tolerance.

DEGREES ARE CONFERRED AT CONVOCATION

The University of Western Ontario officially opened yesterday her beautiful new buildings, which cluster on the banks of the north Thames, when Chancellor W. J. Roche, accompanied by a gathering of scholars representing every university in Canada and many in the United States, and in the presence of a large representative gathering of visitors, formally declared the buildings open at 3 o'clock.

In the evening at a special convocation in the Winter Gardens, which was followed by a dance and a reception by the governors, honorary degrees of doctor of laws were conferred on several prominent men outstanding in the world of letters and education. Both ceremonies made colorful by hoods and gowns, had something of historical as well as picturesque interest to offer the bystander and the visitor interested in the growth and well-being of the University of Western Ontario.

Brilliant Assembly.
At the afternoon ceremony held in the auditorium of the main building of the university, the procession formed of governors of the university, senators, members of the faculties and visiting delegates gathered in the natural science building and marched across the freshly-seeded ground soon to be a wide campus, to the main building.

Here the ceremony was inaugurated with a prayer of invocation, asked by Rev. S. Lloyd, a graduate of Western in '17. The hooded figures took their positions on the black-curtained stage of the auditorium to strains played by the university orchestra, whilst the large audience remained standing. The procession, appropriately enough in a city which has made large contributions to the university, was headed by four aldermen representing the city. They were Aldermen Bottrell, Towe, Shaw and Hayden.

Those on the platform during the speeches were: Marshall, Professor N. C. Hart, Chancellor, Rev. Chairman of the Board of Governors A. T. Little, Hon. J. S. Martin, Provost Babcock, Principal Sir Arthur Currie, President Falconer, Dean Delury, Bishop Fallon, Dean Laing, President McKenzie, Chancellor Whidden, Bishop Williams, C. R. Somerville, Sir Adam Beck, J. H. Chapman, H. W. Hill, Dean P. S. McKibben, Dean W. Sherwood Fox, Principal C. C. Waller, Superior D. L. Dillon, Rev. F. J. Brennan, K. P. R. Neville, Executive Secretary Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown.

Vision New Education.
In all the speeches made during the day, whether in the afternoon or in the evening convocation, a note of appeal to the authorities of the University of Western Ontario as an institution yet young and with a wide horizon of future work and usefulness to the people of Western Ontario was heard, asking for a clear vision of the demands which education would be exposed to in the coming years and for a disposition now while there was time of such arrangements as would allow it to meet them adequately.

Gordon J. Laing, dean of the University of Chicago, having announced himself as an old London boy, delivered a witty and attractive speech, in which he laid emphasis on the imperative need for a new relationship between the faculty of arts in any university and the faculties leading to the professions. He made an eloquent appeal to the faculty of arts and the board of governors of the University of Western Ontario to take into consideration the needs of other faculties and of professional men for a wide culture in the foundation of the courses at the university.

Teach To Think.
He quoted the French system of education, in which the boy or girl can take the equivalent of our B.A. degree in their second year in the university before specializing in any definite work leading to their life.

Chancellor W. J. Roche, performing the opening ceremony, said that everyone interested in the university had long awaited with eagerness this opening. Now that it was opened it was with feelings of pride that the men who had stood behind it and fought its battles viewed the buildings and looked on the promise of the future.

At the convocation in the Winter Gardens degrees were conferred upon:

Provost K. C. Babcock, University of Illinois, representing the universities of the United States.

Principal Sir Arthur Currie, McGill University, representing a sister Canadian university and the distinguished sons of Middlesex county.

Dean Gordon J. Laing, University of Chicago, representing a well-known American university and a large group of natives of the city of London, who have achieved distinction in scholarship.

Dean A. T. DeLury, University of Toronto.

Chancellor H. P. Whidden, McMaster University, representing the Ontario universities conference. Dean O. D. Skelton of Queen's University was included in this group, but being in Geneva cannot receive his degree at the present time.

Professor N. C. James, University of Western Ontario, honored for many years of faithful service in the institution.

Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, Bishop of London, representing the affiliated colleges in arts, Assumption College and Ursuline College.

Right Rev. David Williams, Bishop of London, representing the affiliated college of divinity, Huron College, and the diocese that founded the university and maintained it for many years.

President L. S. Klink, University of British Columbia, representing the universities of Western Canada.

President Stanley MacKenzie, president of Dalhousie University, representing the universities of Eastern Canada.

Sir Arthur Speaks.
Sir Arthur Currie, speaking after the conferring of degrees, made an earnest plea for an ideal in education higher than the material things of life.

The supreme things which can be garnered from a complete education, he said, "are understanding, sympathy and tolerance. Every really successful graduate from any university must have these things. Let's have tolerance for each other's weaknesses, and the world will be a happier and a better place in which to live. The world today wants a quick response to its needs, and the graduate leaving his university soon finds this out. More than all mere knowledge is compassion, and greater than all knowledge is wisdom.

"The education of the Greek was based on reason, that of the Hebrew on righteousness, and that of the Anglo-Saxon on service. When we have rightly combined all of these conceptions of education we shall have reached the educational ideal.

Education is the desire to develop the whole man and to broaden one's outlook. When education is complete and all thought is mature, every man will think, speak and act the truth, and that is the finality of real education. It is not to be attained without work, and the hidden store of education is only to be had for the digging. I am afraid that the lesson of work has been and is now being largely lost. It must be regained if the best that education can yield is to become the property of the people."

Dr. H. J. Cody.
Dr. H. J. Cody, chairman of the royal Ontario university commission, declared the four chief characteristics of a university were, that it was the culmination of the educative efforts of a community, that it made its influence felt throughout the whole of the community, that it afforded a liberal education as opposed to the struggles through which the university is reached, and that it trained men in leadership.

Moderation, progress and a love of truth he gave as the essentials of character of all graduates of a university. He declared that in a small university, such as this, there was an important advantage in the ease with which friendships might be formed and maintained between students and members of the faculties. In a larger university this was much harder to achieve.

He warned the audience that in future the university would not be able to go ahead with any scheme for the construction of buildings or the institution of new faculties without the consent of the provincial government, in view of the large grants being voted each year by that body.

Provost K. C. Babcock of the State University of Illinois, compared the work of the state-supported university with the direct demand of democracy for higher education, and that in the United States at least it was meeting a whole-hearted support from the people.

Large Classes.
"In my own day I passed as one of a class of 26," he said. "Today in the State University of Illinois there were 1,400 taking their degrees last year. It is almost impossible to calculate the growth of the demand for higher education in this country today."

He issued a new definition of culture, which, he remarked, if not satisfactory, was at least his own and original. "Culture," he said, "is knowledge becoming wisdom operating effectively through personality."

He also defined culture as "personalized knowledge of all things, good, true and beautiful in the human spirit," and held up culture of this kind as the goal of all real and complete education.

"The basis of real democracy," he said, "is education, and the success of democracy depends upon the choice of the right leaders. Higher education today is one of the cardinal doctrines of democracy. The learning of the many is liberty; the keynote of everyone teaching in a university should be service to the public. That should be the Holy Grail of the educator today."

New Bantam Champion Faces Stiff Battle In Go With O'Dowd Here Tonight

Challenger Rangier Boxer and Has Weight Advantage

Mayberry Expected To Adopt Close-in Tactics in Tonight's Fight.

TWENTY-SIX ROUNDS

Every last detail, down to the resin, for tonight's boxing card at the Arena is finished, and unless some of the boxers change into the wrong subway at Brantford or St. Thomas on the way here, or fall in with a train wreck, the bill can't go far wrong.

Mayberry finished a week of light training today. It is feeling fit, says a wire from the new champion's pilot, Walter Obermeyer. The former Londoner will land here this morning with his new protegee, and the new champion will do up in a patent leather hat-box. O'Dowd was supposed to have arrived late last night, and will top off with a short hike into the country this morning.

O'Dowd, it develops, has as fine a left hand as the rapier-like paw that Eber once boasted, and which won him his title and most of the battles by the point route. He is a rangier boxer than Mayberry, and will probably have several pounds advantage when the two weigh in this afternoon. Mayberry follows the style of fighting he used against the ex-champion Eber, he'll seek close quarters tonight.

Plenty of Confidence.

The former U. S. sailor has plenty of confidence that he can sink any bantam in the division, if he gets close enough often enough. And if he wins, he'll apparently keep inside the range of the O'Dowd family's chief left. O'Dowd is a clever ring general, as his 156 fights must indicate, so whether he'll Mayberry lay to and shoot it out from close quarters, or try to keep him at the longer range, only tonight's bout will tell.

Neither one can afford to lose a bit of ground in tonight's mix. Mayberry is probably facing a stiffer bout tonight than the one in which he won his title, and there are just as stiff bouts to follow, if he doesn't get his new crown all gummed up with resin this evening. Tommy McDonald and Young Schmidt of Buffalo have been shoved into the semi-final event, and this six-rounder should set a fast pace for the main event of the night. McDonald stands at the crossroads this season, as far as a fight career is concerned.

Division Filled.

The flyweight division is filled right now with eager youngsters, and the tangle will have to be decided in the early days of a season which promises more ring action for the survivors than for some moons.

In the lightweight go Willie Farrell of Chicago has slightly more experience than Horn, but both are eager, willing mixers, and whichever comes out of this fiery standing will know he's in a fight.

Billy Falletti, a brother of the boy who appeared here in amateur bouts at the armories, meets Bobby Bell in a four-round preliminary bout.

Both youngsters have recently turned pro, crave action, and plenty of beans heaped as well, and the season's just starting.

Good Fight Seen.

They'll be in there proving the best action they know how, and inexperienced action is sometimes just as

Only One Loss on O'Dowd's List

PHIL O'DOWD'S RECORD.
Carl Tremaine, Columbus, O., win, 12 rounds.
Bud Taylor, East Chicago, Ind., draw, 10 rounds.
Harold Smith, East Chicago, Ind., 10 rounds.
Phil Verdi, Rochester, N. Y., draw, 10 rounds.
Joe Lynch, New York City, win, 15 rounds.
Kid Williams, Baltimore, draw, 15 rounds.
Carl Tremaine, Youngstown, Ohio, lost, first round.
*O'Dowd fell out of ring, striking his head on the floor.
Herbie Schaffer, Columbus, O., win, 12 rounds.
Terry McHugh, Lancaster, Pa., no decision, 10 rounds.
Abe Goldstein, Philadelphia, Pa., no decision, 6 rounds.
Kid Williams, Philadelphia, Pa., no decision, 6 rounds.
Johnny Buff, Newark, N. J., no decision, 12 rounds.
Johnny Russell, Lancaster, Pa., no decision, 10 rounds.
Mog. Pugh, Pittsburgh, Pa., win, 10 rounds.

Interesting as the other kind. The advance sale of tickets has indicated more interest in this card than any other the city has had. Probably the fact of the flat price possible because of the Arena seating arrangements, and very little above those charged for the amateur cards, has made the difference. At any rate, two box-offices will be in action at the Arena tonight in preparation for a Jan. 1. The Arena office, it was announced by Manager "Goldie" Proctor, will be open all day, so that the special tickets for women in the north-end gallery, not on sale elsewhere, may be procured there.

Central Drops From Series

Injuries Put Local Students Out of Running.

Central Collegiate has withdrawn from the senior "Wossie" series, according to an announcement made last night by Coach Doolittle.

Eight more or less serious injuries have put Central out of the way of fielding a team that could hope to promote any competition in the group at this stage of the race. The material available in the second team could not be used, and no other way out seemed possible.

Central C. I. is a much smaller school now with a new collegiate each a complete unit, and even Ingersoll has an advantage in numbers. It is expected that drills will be carried on, in the hope of getting a good start next season.

PRINCE MAY SEE GAME AT OTTAWA

Senators Carefully Guarding Plans For Play On Saturday.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Oct. 16.—When Ottawa Senators and Hamilton Tigers start away on their Big Four match here Saturday the Prince of Wales may occupy the vice-regal box in the center of the grandstand, together with Baron Byng, and a party from government house. The prince arrived here today from Toronto, and the Ottawa football club will extend an invitation to his royal highness and party to attend the feature game, which will likely be attended by the largest crowd of the season.

Coaches Dave McCann and Walter Gilhooley rushed the Senators through a long practice on the south side of the river yesterday, and the players were traveling in fine form.

Good football weather is all that is required to make the game one of the tit-bits of the season. Daily practices are aiding in putting the Senators in still better condition, and the officials of the club are quietly confident that the red, white and black gridirers will take a fall out of the Bengals.

The plans for the Ottawa play are being carefully guarded. While a number of new plays have been worked out, it is highly probable that the chief reliance will again be placed on the trusty boot of Joe Tubbman. Apparently enjoying his best season in years, the pudgy halfback will likely be the key-man of the local team Saturday. Confidence is placed in the ability of Connell and Miller to gain in broken fields, and the line plunging of Timmis and Starr are also relied upon.

It is at this time that the locals appear weak, and great efforts are being made to have the flanks strengthened for the contest with Tigers. Two youngsters, Chevier and Davies, are doing their best to guard the ends, but experience and weight are two big factors which are against them.

SARNIA C. I. INVADERS PETROLIA SATURDAY

Tunnel City Students Have Four-Point Lead Over Hard Oils.

Special to The Advertiser.
Petrolia, Oct. 16.—Sarnia C. I. rugby squad will invade Petrolia Saturday confident of ousting the local students from the "Wossie" race. The Hard Oils, on the other hand, do not look a bit unweathered with a four-point lead to overcome, but are counting on defending their shield against the much-touted blue and white team. This game should be one of the hardest-fought battles in years.

The locals sprang a big surprise on Sarnia last Saturday by holding them to a 7-2 score.

The Sarnia team relies on its weight, while the locals put their faith on the kicking of Hyatt, and general good tackling. It is estimated that the Sarnia squad outweighs the locals 30 pounds to the man. The local squad will be rather weakened on Saturday, due to injuries received in the game they played last night in Sarnia. Bill Bryant, center, whose defence work in the last game was spectacular, is nursing a bad knee, and it does not appear likely he will play.

Churchill, Pollard, Droupe and Kent have also minor injuries.

The Sarnia team is trying hard to obtain a neutral referee and umpire for the game here Saturday. Principal D. A. Campbell of Sarnia asked the locals to consider this, but the locals feel the expense would be too great, and will stick by the ruling made at the beginning of the series. Home teams will furnish the referee and the visiting team the umpire.

Emerson Hopper, who handled last year's championship game with Woodstock collegiate to the satisfaction of both teams, and Dr. Smith will likely officiate Saturday.

NOT OFF THE GRID

Ottawa Journal.—Ottawa found that Tigers have feet of clay and heads of brass. Senators, for a young team, gave a fine performance and expected to reverse the tables next Saturday. They have nothing to fear from the Bengals, who haven't shown anything yet that would justify their pretensions as kings of the rugby universe. "Bring on that Leadley-Bastone backfield," is the call issued in The Hamilton Herald. They won't have to shoot that high, and if they get by the Miller-Tubman backfield next Saturday then a lot of dilettante football experts will be surprised.

"Shag," the McGill coach, is nothing if not original. When the players appeared in the Molson stadium for practice yesterday, he sent all the back-field men, who tumbled in the Varsity game at practice catching the ball. So that the catches would be high and difficult "Shag" sent a relay of kickers to the high ground at the back of the concrete stand and they booted the ball sky-high to the men down below.

Hamilton Herald.—Ottawa players think they can defeat the Tigers in the return game. More than half the crowd present at the game on Saturday left the field with the same opinion. Tigers will have to improve their line plays.

From the sidelines it looked as if the Tigers' line plays were too open. The snapping of the ball to the ball-carrier proved to be "the bunk," for the Ottawa line just lay in wait for the plunger.

Harry Griffith, principal of Ridley College, saw five of his former pupils performing in the Toronto-McGill game on Saturday, when Eric Soanes, Sandy Somerville and Stru Snyder played for Toronto, and Glasco and Garden played for McGill.

DELAWARE BASKETBALLERS DEFEAT MELBOURNE 15 TO 9

Special to The Advertiser.
Delaware, Oct. 16.—Basketball teams from Melbourne continuation school came here yesterday to meet the local continuation school teams. The local boys won 15 to 9, while the Delaware girls were defeated by the visitors.

NEW CANADIAN CHAMP WHO APPEARS HERE TONIGHT.

Howard Mayberry, ex-Duke of Duluth, and now succeeded to the bantamweight principality of Canada, is but a week-old champion, and defends his title here tonight against the fast, clever Phil O'Dowd of Columbus, Ohio, in a 10-round session at the arena. Mayberry has a long, clean record, and before taking the bantam title from Eber he shaded Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champ, in Toronto, but that didn't help him get a bout with Abe Attel Goldstein, bantamweight king. Abe cut the duke off his visiting list.

On the Side Lines

With C. S. G.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS.

It was not thought that St. Thomas would play in the same association again with Galt a few weeks ago. Now St. Thomas extends the olive branch and invites Galt to join with the Saints in forming an association outside of the O. A. B. A. The O. A. B. A. may have its faults, but succeeding and forming a Western Ontario association might only localize the same faults unless the spirit of the competition is changed somewhat. Probably the winter of discontent will cool off all parties.

A FORGOTTEN ANGLE.

The Ontario athletic commission, which has accomplished the task of putting pro boxing on a basis of stability in Ontario were so busy converting the boxers and managers from the by-paths and protecting the public from bunk boxing that they clean forgot the boxers. Now the commission demands a guarantee from all clubs which is insurance against the promoters going out the back door, leaving the boxers to walk the ties home.

GREAT IN DEFEAT.

Epinaud, thrice beaten, first by Wise Counsellor at six furlongs, second by Larkin at one mile, and third by Sarazen at one mile and a quarter on Saturday, is no less a great horse. He has proved it conclusively in what has turned out to be a desperate test, even without earning any of the fruits of victory. One after another they came along to reach their top form in the very day most was required, and Epinaud, with all his quality, could not overcome the bad breaks of racing and at least one ill-judged ride. Pierre Wertheimer, a mighty good sportsman, has done much for racing here through his high faith in Epinaud. Unfortunately the conditions he accepted so freely were against his good horse and yet he has no word of complaint.

A matched race between Hallucinatio and Epinaud would more than pay a $50,000 purse either at Windsor or Toronto. But the next race, if there is one, will likely be staged at Pimlico or Louisville, and bring together Larkin, Wise Counsellor and Sarazen, the three conquerors of Epinaud. If the welcome sign was turned on for Epinaud, Mad Play and Atwood, it would go down in turf history as one of the classiest fields ever assembled.

FRANK NIGHBOR AT PEACE WITH SENATORS, IS REPORT

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Oct. 16.—With reference to a story published in a Montreal evening paper to the effect that "there are some difficulties between Frank Nighbor and the Ottawa club," it is stated here that so far as is known there are no differences between Nighbor and the club except a salary difficulty, "which can easily be adjusted."

PALMERSTON M. P. OFFICE TEAM DEFEATS CREAMERY

Special to The Advertiser.
Palmerston, Oct. 16.—In the local softball leagues the M. P. Offices won from the Creamery 16 to 13 while the Town beat the Businessmen 21 to 19. The High School defeated the Freight Sheds 24 to 13. The two games scheduled for tomorrow evening have been postponed until Nov. 10, owing to the arena being in use.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

LANDIS SUMMONS YDE OF PITTSBURGH

Pirate Pitcher Denies Making Statement On Bribery Scandal.

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, Oct. 16.—Published accounts of statements attributed to Emil Yde, Pittsburgh National pitcher, that "something more sensational may be sprung shortly" in connection with the baseball scandal of the New York Giants led Commissioner Landis to request Yde to appear before him with any information he may have.

"I am anxious to receive any information from any source which will develop whether the O'Connell-Dolan affair has been cleared up by their expulsion from baseball, or whether there are trails which lead elsewhere," said Landis. "But I have no information so far as Yde is quoted as giving, that Sand was not the only Philadelphia player to be approached, or that anyone else was involved."

"I welcome any such information as is attributed to Yde, or any facts that anyone can bring out to help clear this matter up."

YDE DENIES STORY.

Associated Press Despatch.
Pittsburgh, Oct. 16.—Emil Yde, Pirate pitcher, has communicated with Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Nationals, denying that he made any statements with reference to the baseball scandal, Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh club, declared tonight when informed that Yde had been summoned to appear before Commissioner Landis, Yde is at his home in Freeport, Ill.

The statements attributed to Yde were contained in an interview given by an unnamed fan to a Rockford, Ill., newspaper. In the interview the fan repeated what was purported to have been a conversation he had with Yde during one of the world's series games between the New York Nationals and the Washington Americans. The account was republished in a Pittsburgh newspaper.

WOODSTOCK COLLEGE TIES WITH ST. MARYS

Next Hough Cup Game Billed For Wagon City Saturday.

Special to The Advertiser.
Woodstock, Oct. 16.—St. Marys collegiate and the Woodstock college soccer crews battled to a 1 to 1 deadlock in the opening game of the series at the college campus this afternoon. Both points were registered in the opening frame, the local students netting the goal in the first minute, and the visitors in the second. However, the count was known seven minutes later when the visitors were awarded a penalty shot. Reddy, the Stone Town goalie, taking it made to the surprise of the players and fans.

For the remainder of the period and the entire part of the second half the two eleven engaged in a hectic struggle, but the college boys had a shade on the play. J. Dwyer and P. Smith at full back did not allow much to get past them, and Fisher handed out some severe body checks. St. Marys will be here on Saturday for their return Hough cup game. The line-up: College—Goal, Janes; backs, Fisher and Johnson; halfbacks, Tarr, F. Montes and W. Smith; forwards, J. Montes, Lane, Cohen, A. Montes and Harrington.

St. Marys—Goal, Reddy; backs, Copeland and Baker; halfbacks, Anderson, White and Jackson; forwards, McIntosh, Zurebig, Seale, McIntosh and Muma. Referee—Almark, St. Marys.

EMBRO QUARTETS WIN TWO TROPHY CONTESTS

Embrow bowlers were successful in defeating rivals from both Stratford and Thamesford today in competition for the Elliott and Cooper trophies, respectively. In the afternoon the local rink, including J. Riddell, McKinnon, J. A. McKay and D. Karn, defeated A. Newcombe, W. Muzelman, A. Cash and P. Day of Stratford, by a 25-18 count. In the evening Dr. H. Atkinson's rink, including A. W. Sutherland, H. Karn and E. Karn, defeated A. McMillan, R. Alger, A. Hogg and W. Hogg of Thamesford.

Connie Mack Pays $100,600 For Lefty Groves of Orioles

Will Make Athletics Flag Contenders Next Season, Says Pilot.

WON 26 THIS YEAR

Associated Press Despatch.
Baltimore, Md., Oct. 16.—Robert M. ("Lefty") Groves, the Baltimore international league club's pitching ace, was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics league club today for a sum announced by Manager Jack Dunn as $100,600. This price tops by $200 the former record sum paid by the Yankees to the Red Sox for Babe Ruth.

Groves, who hails from Lonaconing, Maryland, is 25 years of age, weighs 170 pounds, and is 6 feet 2 inches tall. He has been playing professional baseball for six years. In his five years as an Orioles pitcher he has fanned 1,100 batters, and has won 108 and lost 44 games. His part in winning the six straight championships for Baltimore this year was 26 victories, 6 defeats and 23 strikeouts. Lack of control has been his chief trouble and was the one and only thing which kept him from leading the international league every year in.

Connie Mack made the offer for Groves at Oriole Park after watching him pitch a game against the Athletics several weeks ago. Mack is quoted as saying: "A star finder will make my Groves the best big deal in 1925. I believe I have that hurler in Groves."

Since he bought the Baltimore club from Ned Hanlon in 1910, Jack Dunn has developed and sold players for high figures of $305,100. By a coincidence his first big deal was with Connie Mack, to whom he sold "Lefty" Russell for $11,000 thirteen years ago. Dunn's second largest deal was the sale of Jack Bentley, pitcher, to the New York Nationals for $75,000.

Champion of Last Season Sweeps O. A. C. Meet Again

Title, However, Awarded To George Thompson by New Ruling.

ONE MARK LOWERED

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, Oct. 16.—A. Jamieson, a fleet-footed athlete from the Indian Reserve at Brantford, carried off the grand championship at the Ontario agricultural college and Ontario veterinary college field sports for the second successive year today, when he scored a total of forty points, as compared to eighteen by his nearest opponent, George Thompson, of Belmont, Ont. However, according to a new ruling made by the college athletic association, one man cannot hold the championship for more than one year, and the college shield will be awarded to Thompson.

Although Thompson was broken and another equalled during the day, the events drew the largest entry list in years, and the field was very competitive. The record, which went to the wall was the 220-yard dash, won by Thompson, who elapsed a fraction of a second off the former mark of 22.1 seconds. Thompson also equalled his own 100-yard dash record made last year, by covering the distance in 10.5 seconds.

The feature of the meet was the splendid showing made by the freshmen athletes, who piled up a total of 70 points, against 40 points made by the nearest rivals, of fourth year.

The students were favored with excellent weather for the meet, and a large crowd turned out to witness the program.

The results:

Walter Johnson Still Undecided

"Old Barney" Uncertain As To 1925 Activities.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The major post-season problem of the world champion Senators—whether Walter Johnson will be on next season's roster—remained unsolved today.

"Old Barney," who has been Washington's pitching mainstay for eighteen years, and is the dean of American league hurlers, announced last February that he intended to purchase an interest in some minor league club. Immediately after returning from a barnstorming trip, Monday, he held a conference with Clark Griffith on plans for 1925, but after an hour's discussion no conclusion had been reached. No date has been set for further consideration of the matter, but it was intimated that he would resume their discussion soon.

BATTERY IN DECIDING GAME.

All the baseball world rejoiced when Walter Johnson, on the right, came through in the greatest work series ever played. Thrown into the deciding encounter with the score tied, he held the Giants in check and was credited with the victory. Catcher Ruel, on the left, who had not made a hit in any of the previous games, carried over the winning run on his own and McNeely's double in the 12th.

SHOOTS UP COURT KILLING 2 WOMEN

Worries Over High Cost of Legal Machinery Leads To Tragedy.

LAWYER WOUNDED

Associated Press Despatch.
Buffalo, Oct. 16.—Obsessed with the idea that his estate was being dissipated by court costs, Martin L. Warren, a retired farmer, today opened fire with two revolvers at a referee's hearing, killing Mrs. Anna Pilecki, his mother-in-law, and her daughter, Sophie, and wounding Irving Templeton, a lawyer. Four other prominent lawyers, the referee, a girl stenographer and Stephen Warren, the slayer's brother, escaped the bullets, at least ten of which were fired. Warren made no attempt to escape, surrendering without a struggle when two policemen rushed into the office with drawn revolvers. Warren is 53 years old and has been living apart from his wife for several years. He was in the state insane asylum for several months of his wife said, and was released about eleven months ago. Mrs. Warren told the police that her husband became violent during the progress of the hearing. When he began to rave about the loss of his estate, she became frightened and left the room. His face, she said, bore an expression such as she saw on a few years ago when he attempted to kill her with a knife. Mrs. Warren had reached an outer office when the firing began.

ROWELL WILL SPEAK IN LONDON SUNDAY

Address Will Be Given in Support of Ontario
Temperance.

Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell, K.C., Toronto, and Harold Barrum, K.C., Alton, have been secured by the London temperance campaign committee to address a public mass meeting in the Capitol Theatre Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Hon. Mr. Rowell, formerly president of the privy council, and former leader of the Liberal party in the provincial legislature, needs no introduction to London audiences. For several years past he has definitely allied himself on the side of the temperance forces, originating the "Abolish the bar" campaign in September, 1916.

Mr. Barrum is vice-president of the Western Ontario Conservative association and is a fluent speaker.

Ten Prominent Candidates Are Given Third Degree Test
by Team.

Last night Ulster hall rang with the merry voices of over 200 Knights of Pythias as they gathered from many points in Western Ontario, including St. Thomas, Wallaseburg, Kitchener and Stratford, to hold their initiation ceremonies.

The St. Thomas team, which ranked among the highest in the province, was destined to perform the third degree ceremonies on about ten candidates from various communities.

Grand chancellor Frank Lemon led the St. Thomas team, coming from the flower city.

Following the initiation ceremonies the crowd was banqueted by Myrtle lodge, No. 2, of this city. The St. Thomas knights supplied the entertainment for the evening in a capable manner.

Among the city's notables to receive the third degree were Mayor Wenke and Fred Asplund, the city auditor. Counsellors from St. Thomas and the other cities and towns also attended.

It was the best attended meeting the lodge has ever held, and we appreciate the co-operation of the St. Thomas knights and others who helped to make the initiation what it
