TWO CENTS

SUB WARFARE FALLING

Sixty Captured Subs Lie in Dover Harbor MARKS AN EPOCH

Traffic on South Coast Railways Suspended For Heavy Outgoing Movements of Troop And Munition Transports Into the French Battlefields.

(SPECIAL TO THE COURIER) Writing from England, a correspondent of the Courier on active service sends word as follows:

SAW SUB. TOWED INTO FOLKESTONE

"A day or two before my accident I had the pleasure of seeing a British torpedo boat destroyer tow a German captured submarine into Folkestone harbor. While the Germans will probably do a little damage with submarines, you can make up your mind that they have just about shot their bolt.

SIXTY OF THEM LYING IN DOVER HARBOR

"The British have taken over sixty German submarines since the beginning of the war, and have them right in the harbor at Dover.

GIVE THEMSELVES UP TO BRITISH

"There is no rumor about this, as anyone can see them. There is no doubt that many German submarines come near here to be captured purposely, as life on one is a terrible strain.

BRITAIN IS PILING UP MUNITIONS

"The railroad here is so busy carrying munitions that passenger traffic is entirely disorganized on South Coast railways.

MILLIONS OF TONS OF MUNITIONS

"One soldier here just returned from the front tells me that the British are storing up millions of tons of ammunition in France, and I believe they are, as the railroad here is overworked shipping them to Folkestone harbor."

CAPTURING SUBS. BY DIRIGIBLES

The writer also states that submarines are sighted by dirigibles, which then signal their presence. Upwards of fifty British destroyers then gather around the enemy, and escape is impossible.

Violent Artillery Duels

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Paris, Sept. 4.—Particularly violent artillery engagements took place yesterday to the northeast and to the south of Arras, and at other points between the Oise and Aisne, according to announcement made to-day by the French war office.

"Yesterday saw artillery engagements of particular violence to the northeast and to the south of Arras; in the sectors of Rollincourt, Wailly, and Bretecourt, as well as between the Oise and the Aisne in the region of Queenvievers and near Nouvion.

"In the environs of Valenciennes we exploded several mines which seriously damaged the works of the enemy.

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

RUSSIAN RETREAT IS TERRIBLE, MASTERLY AND DEVASTATING

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Geneva, Sept. 1. (Delayed in transmission)—The Lausanne Gazette publishes a letter from an Austrian officer fighting on the eastern front, in which he says:

"The Russian retreat is a masterpiece of terrifying, systematic devastation which recalls the retreat of 1812. There is an immense sea of flames behind the retreating Russian armies caused by burning houses and crops. General Mischenko is followed by well organized detachments of Cossacks whose duty it is to burn everything behind the army. They accomplish their task implacably.

"When the Honveds tried to enter Krylow, in pursuit of the Russians, every street was aflame. They were unable to pass through the huge furnace, and lost many precious hours in going round the town by indirect roads across fields.

"When the Austro-Hungarians arrived at Vladimir-Volynskiy, they found the town burning and the town of Verba also was blazing. Every village on the Volynskiy plain as far as Kovej was in flames. The Austro-Hungarian troops had no shelter for days.

"The roads are indescribably cut up and obstructed. Convoys arrived a day and a half late. Thousands of men worked upon repairs on the railway from Sokol to Vladimir-Volynskiy, and if the road had not been repaired in time we would have met with disaster."

There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

RECTOR OF ST. JUDE'S GETS HIS LEAVE

At St. Jude's Church vestry meeting a large and enthusiastic attendance was present last night when it was unanimously decided that the rector, the Rev. C. E. Jenkins, be granted leave of absence and a resolution of appreciation was passed, expressing pride in his patriotic action.

Mr. Percy Farnsworth was also the subject of congratulatory sentiments and appreciation, he having volunteered some time ago, but is only now declared fit to serve. His unstinting sacrifice speaks volumes for his devotion to his country's cause.

INVENTS TANGLE CUTTER

Mr. Charles Hothan of the Brantford Motor Truck Company has completed a new bayonet and automatic wire entanglement cutter. Mr. Hothan is to demonstrate his invention Monday before the military authorities at Toronto, and probably on the following day at Niagara Falls.

The mechanism of the new weapon is very simple. There is practically no weight added to the gun; the invention in no way interferes with the sighting and firing of, or charging with, the rifle. There is also an attachment by which the soldier is protected from the current of an electrified wire, no matter how high the voltage.

A Courier representative called this morning on Mr. Hothan, who gave a demonstration for his benefit. Barbed wire of the size used in warfare was stretched out, each end held in a vise, and it was cut with perfect ease. The Courier man took a hand at it himself, and with no effort whatever cut the wire.

The dangling ends were then attacked and cut off close to the vise, so that it was shown clearly that the wire could be cut in any place and thus be all cleared away.

The device is fully patented, and if it meets with the approval of the militia authorities, could be manufactured in Brantford.

Several well-known citizens know of the invention and are doing all in their power to help Mr. Hothan have it tested successfully before the proper authorities.

BRITISH AVIATOR SINKS SUBMARINE

Flight Commander Arthur W. Bigsforth, of the English air squadron, who last May disabled a German Zeppelin that attacked Ramsgate, has added another feat to his score by destroying a German submarine near Ostend. Flying out alone at dawn, making a reconnaissance of the Belgian coast, he observed the submarine awash and began dropping bombs upon it. One lucky hit completely wrecked the undersea boat.

CANADIAN MOUNTED FIGHTING

Courier Correspondent Sends Word of the C. M. R.

Writing from England, a Courier correspondent says:

"It will interest many local people to know that the cavalry brigade moved out some time ago, and that the Mounted Rifles from Canada are now on service in the Dardanelles."

With the Fourth C.M.R. are many local men and Lieut. Harvey Cockshutt.

The Ontario health record shows improvement.

REVIEW OF WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY LOCAL WOMEN

Patriotic League Has Done Marvels in Comparatively Short Time.

The Patriotic League, Y. M. C. A., has finished a heavy summer's work and has now launched more vigorously than ever into the fall work, in response to the urgent calls from headquarters. In a recent letter received from Mr. Noel Marshall, chairman of the executive committee, Canadian Red Cross, Mr. Marshall says in part: "Constant consignments are being sent forward by ships leaving Canadian ports, and our warehouses here are nearly empty. We are doing our best to keep our London warehouses well stocked up as the calls for supplies are very urgent." It appears as if the casualties at Langemarck alone nearly exhausted the supplies of goods sent over from Canada, although about a million and a half of articles had been sent. After a battle there is no time to send supplies from Canada for immediate use, therefore it is necessary that the London warehouse be kept full.

It is a source of great satisfaction to the Brantford workers to know that the shipments of all kinds of supplies from here have been received with great satisfaction and complimentary comments at Toronto, and London, England. In a recent letter from that place the workers were commended for the excellency of supplies sent out.

The society will take up on a larger scale with the fall work the making of hospital garments. Sewers who would assist in this department will be given out garments to make up. Church societies or others will be supplied with any number of garments.

A shipment of illustrated magazines will shortly be made to the Duchess of Connaught Red Cross Hospital at Cliveden which is a Canadian hospital for the Canadian wounded and any who have old papers and magazines of a nature to be interesting to these men will have them pass many a weary hour by sending them to the Patriotic rooms, Y. M. C. A. for shipment.

The following supplies have gone forward since June 1st.

- SURGICAL.
 - These supplies have been consumed about 25,000 yards of surgical gauze, 500 pounds absorbent cotton, and hundreds of pounds of wool batts. The pads, compresses and sponges are expertly made under sterile conditions and particular pains has been taken throughout that every article shipped be a credit to Brantford.
 - 3,120, 6 x 7 inch surgical pads.
 - 2,500, 9 x 12 inch surgical pads.
 - 1,050, 12 x 16 inch surgical pads.
 - 1,308 dozen compresses and sponges.

FIELD COMFORTS

- Given to men leaving Brantford for training camp.
 - 220 pairs socks.
 - 220 cholera belts.
 - 660 handkerchiefs.
 - 220 cakes castile soap.
- OTHER RED CROSS SUPPLIES.
 - 532 pairs hand knit socks.
 - 245 dozen factory cotton bandages.
 - 70 cotton sheets 63 x 90.
 - 62 cotton pillow slips.
 - 8 dozen surgical shirts.
 - To Belgian soldiers, 1,000 tins pork and beans and milk.

Fred Sanschagrin, at Cookshire, shot his employer, Robert Westgate, a sawmill owner, and when surrounded by a posse attempted to kill himself. He will probably die.

DIFFERENCES ARE OF TEMPORARY NATURE-- TO WARM PRESENTLY

So Feel Huns in Regard to Settlement of Lusitania and Arabic Incidents— Confident That United States Will Welcome an Understanding.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Berlin, Sept. 4, via London.—The news of the settlement of the crisis between Germany and the United States, by reason of Germany modifying her submarine campaign, has as yet evoked comparatively little comment in the German press. Public attention has been mainly concentrated on the victories in the east and rumors of an impending new campaign, so that little discussion on the American situation is being heard.

The Tageblatt and the Frankfurter Zeitung, however, print leading articles which evince hearty satisfaction that a conflict with the United States has been avoided, and express the hope that the relations between the two countries from now on will continue to improve.

The chief editor of the Tageblatt, after pointing out that the situation has been far graver than was generally assumed in Germany, argues that the understanding with the United States was highly desirable, not only because of the effect which a break would have had on the Balkan situation with its delicate negotiations, but because there could be nothing more illogical for Germany imaginable than a conflict with the United States over such a question.

"The submarine issue," says the Tageblatt, "which is capable of exercising a decisive effect upon the final outcome of the war, could scarcely have been modified, but the concession that passenger steamers will be torpedoed only after warning and after the non-combatants' safety has been assured, certainly will not affect so vitally the ultimate result."

The Tageblatt says it hopes and expects the American people will accept the attitude of the German government as trustworthy proof of its peaceful and friendly disposition. He hopes, too, that the American government will take this into consideration in future steps against England.

"It is further to be hoped," adds the Tageblatt, "that no one in Germany will fail to appreciate the motives which influenced the choice of understanding instead of conflict. Our friendship with the American people undeniably has suffered during the war and scarcely can be expected to regain its former warmth immediately, but the differences are of a temporary nature. There are no deep-rooted conflicts of interests to perpetuate them."

ROUMANIA READY TO ENTER WAR FOR THE ALLIES

Declaration of Hostilities by Austria Considered Imminent.

Athens, Sept. 4.—It is announced here that Serbia has accepted in principle the Entente proposals for territorial concessions to Bulgaria, with the reservation that the new Serbian frontier remain in contact with Greece in some part.

Rome, Sept. 4.—Despatches from Bucharest state that Austria's declaration of war on Roumania is considered imminent. Preparations for war are being rushed at fever heat in Roumania and the war fever is increasing throughout the kingdom. Volunteers are flocking to the colors in great numbers. The King, in alluding to wholesale arrests and persecutions of Roumanians in Transylvania, is quoted as having affirmed that the country is prepared "for any and every sacrifice in a war of redemption."

PUBLIC NOTICE

The public are requested to take notice that no more business will be transacted at the "Old" Post Office after 7 p.m. to-day. Boxholders should clear their boxes before 7 p.m. and after that hour no mail matter should be posted.

WHEN USING WILSON'S FLY PADS READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

BROOM-STICK COMPANY OF THE DUFFERINS

In Toronto, Miss McNab has started a women's brigade. This is not the first time, many persons will remember that in 1880 there was a company of young ladies who were known as the Lady Dufferin Guards, No. 7 Co. of the Dufferin Rifles. Their uniform was cream cheese cloth and turkey red, very pretty and effective. The weapons were brooms and dustpans, and the officers wore red caps and sashes, feather dusters as swords. They had four public drills in Brantford and one in the arms of Hamilton. It was a great success. Guelph afterwards had a company, known as the Child of the Regiment. We were a peaceful company, but I am sorry that we women now have to raise companies for real protection of our homes. The following verses were composed by the late Mrs. J. T. Gilkinson for the brigade, Oct. 11th, 1882:

We're the Dufferin Broom Brigade,
Our banners are bright and new,
Our arm ever raised in defence of our Queen,
And our hearts they are staunch and true.

We are loyal and trusty and brave
And ready our country to save,
If foes should molest you,
And none to protect you,
Chorus:
Then trust to the broom brigade,
The loyal broom brigade,
If foes should molest you,
And none to protect you,
Then trust to the broom brigade,
Then a cheer for the broom brigade,
On their banner is 'Trusty and True.'

Whose arm ever raised in defence of their Queen
And their weapons their foes shall rue.

We're Company No. 7,
We'll sweep our foes away
Our banners we'll wave
With three cheers for the brave,
And with glory we'll carry the day.

Chorus:
The officers: Capt. Miss A. Gilkinson; 1st Lieut. Miss Emily Curtis; 2nd Lieut. Miss Mary Johnson; Sgt. Major Barber, 7th Fusiliers, drill instructor; the company comprising 32 rank and file.

TANNER—CRANDALL
A quiet wedding took place on Saturday, Sept 4th when Rev. D. E. Martin united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Myrtle Crandall, the eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs. A. B. Crandall, to Mr George Tanner, of this city.

The happy couple left for Toronto, where they will spend their honeymoon. Many friends join in wishing them hearty congratulations.

MALCOLM—M'UTCHEON
Spring Brook Farm, Scotland, the home of Mr and Mrs. Robert M'UTCHEON, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday last, when their third daughter, Florence Gertrude, became the bride of Albert Malcolm, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Malcolm of same place. At 12.30, while the wedding march was being played by Miss Nellie Malcolm, sister of the groom, the bride entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her father, and looked very pretty in a white embroidered crepe with orange lossom wreath and veil, and carrying a shower bouquet of white asters and maiden hair ferns. The ceremony was performed in front of a huge bank of chrysanthemums, asters and ferns, by the Rev. Wm. Orr, pastor of the Congregational church. After congratulations were offered the young couple, all repaired to the lawn, where a splendid wedding dinner was served by a bevy of young ladies and gentlemen friends of the bride.

Afterwards the bride and groom left by auto for Toronto and other places, amid a shower of confetti and good wishes for a long and prosperous life together.

The bride's going-away suit was navy blue serge with white silk waist and white hat. The many and beautiful presents showed the esteem in which the young couple are held.

Guests were present from Alberta, Buffalo, Hamilton, Essex, Brantford and other places.

34th REGIMENT STARTS MARCH ON STRATFORD

London, Ont., Sept. 4.—The 34th battalion, C.E.F., in training here, left here at 10 o'clock this morning in heavy marching order for a tramp to Stratford and back, 84 miles in all. The battalion, 1,250 strong, in command of Lieut. Col. Oliver, bivouacked last night at Thorndale, and will camp to-morrow night outside of St. Mary's.

The men will put on a big military demonstration at Stratford on Labor Day and are due back in camp here on Thursday morning next.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD LIMIT

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.
Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.
In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.
Duties—Six months' residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 60 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.
A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $5.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 20 acres and erect a house worth $200.
The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

Still Afloat.

London, Sept. 4—Word was received by Lloyd's to-day that the British bark, William T. Lewis, owned in San Francisco, was still afloat. She is waterlogged.

A message received in San Francisco yesterday said that the William T. Lewis had been fired on by a German submarine off Queenstown and was believed to have been sunk. She sailed from Exeter, Wash., on Mar. 29, for Sheerness, England, with a cargo of lumber. A subsequent cablegram from Queenstown said that the vessel was reported to be a derelict and that her crew were saved.

The German army's monthly wastage is estimated at 300,000.

Recent rumors of peace are authoritatively denied by Great Britain.

Stratford citizens propose to raise $50,000 by direct taxation for the Canadian Patriotic fund.

Attention is called to the announcement in another column of Ontario Government Bonds yielding 5 per cent., and City of Toronto Bonds, yielding 5.05 per cent. These issues are so well known to the investing world that comment as to their value is hardly necessary. When, however, it is stated that these Bonds can now be obtained at prices yielding a higher rate of interest-income than has been obtainable for 30 years past, a yield of 1 per cent. more than in normal times and a per cent. better than bank interest, the wisdom of taking advantage of this opportunity for safe and profitable investment will be apparent.

THE COURIER

Published by The Brantford Courier Limited, every afternoon, at Dalhousie Street, Brantford, Canada.

The Situation.

The Germans still continue to capture Russian positions and to find practically nothing there for their pains, so complete are the dismantling methods of the troops of the Czar in retreat.

Bulgaria, it is announced, is preparing to send an army against the Turks and she cannot, from all appearances, remain out of the fray for very much longer.

The story elsewhere in this issue of heroic work in connection with the Dardanelles land forces will send a thrill even to the most sluggish heart.

The statement in the Courier of a correspondent that he has seen over sixty captured German submarines may be taken as thoroughly reliable.

The Woman Question.

What are we to expect of the woman of 1920? In 1915 we have a high school girl, Miss Ruth McCabe, of Tacoma, Wash., throwing a baseball 209 feet 5 inches; a woman trapezist, Mrs. Harold Almet of Chicago, breaking 46 of 50 flying targets; two girls students of Tulane University, New Orleans, boxing for the championship of Louisiana; Jacqueline Thompson, an Evanston, Ill., girl, swimming 40 yards in 30 2-5 seconds.

The above, of course, is only a humorous skit with reference to the activities of the fair sex, but the matter in a deeper sense is commencing to loom up in a large way.

In all ages individual women have been associated with notable achievements. It is a long list, and to recall only two or three instances will suffice.

Catharine 2nd was also a very notable figure. Her husband, who was most unpopular, was dethroned and later murdered. She ruled with an iron hand for many years. Went to war with Persia, and had a scheme on hand to overthrow British power in India when a stroke of apoplexy finished her remarkable career.

Queen Elizabeth comes readily to mind. She ascended the British throne amid dangers and difficulties calculated to appal the stoutest heart, but her long reign of nearly forty five years was one of unexampled prosperity. In fact, the true greatness of England began during her rule, and an almost unequalled literature arose. It is true that she owed much to her great minister, Cecil, the founder of the notable house of that name, including in later years Lord Salisbury and ex-Premier Balfour, but she had very keen and capable abilities of her own.

Queen Victoria was still another notable example of the extraordinary success attending upon a woman ruler. Succeeding to the throne when she was only eighteen years of age, the manner in which from the first she rose magnificently to the duties of her high position is a matter of world history as much as her exaltation of the domestic virtues. The Victorian era was also rich in literature.

In the matter of a war leader we have Joan of Arc. The daughter of peasants, she was neither taught to read nor write, yet in response to what she affirmed as heavenly voices she assumed male attire and warlike equipments and, sword in hand, rallied the wavering French troops to such an extent that she checked the English.

As a direct contrast there is Florence Nightingale, who during the Crimean war had to literally fight with the authorities before she could institute humane nursing methods, and whose wonderful work in this regard formed the basis of revolutionary procedure in this regard.

There would be no trouble to multiply such instances, but the present phase of affairs presents the matter in a general way. As the outcome of the war women have taken men's jobs and made good therein—in banks, as porters, in the production of munitions, the running of street cars, and so on. What is going to be the result of this when the drain of troops for active service shall cease?

Prior to hostilities, the women outnumbered the men to a vast extent, and this will be even more markedly the case when the big struggle comes to an end.

The consequence is that to hundreds of thousands the natural lot of a home and supporter becomes more and more out of the question, and the vast majority must live somehow by their own exertion.

They have shown themselves thoroughly capable in callings hitherto barred to them—at any rate, in the mass—and the resultant outcome is certain to create a very large and difficult problem.

Severe Gales.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Sept. 4.—A severe gale swept over Bermuda last night, uprooting trees and doing a small amount of damage to other property. The electric light, power and telephone services were disorganized. The steamer Bermudian, with 200 tourists on board, is delayed in port.

Hand Over Crown.

Detroit, Sept. 4.—Francis Ouimet, champion, prepared this afternoon to hand his crown to John G. Anderson of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., or Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, sole survivors of the national amateur golf championship tournament which began at the Country Club a week ago. East and West were lined up against each other in the final round of 36 holes for the cherished title. Eastern experts picked Anderson to win, primarily because of his steadiness and consistent performances throughout the tournament.

The Detroit Country Club offered a trophy for a medal play round between Francis Ouimet; Jerome Traver, national open champion and Charles Evans, jr., holder of the western amateur title.

MELTING POT FAILING, HE FEELS NOW

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Stockbridge, Mass., Sept. 4.—Oswald Garrison Villard, publisher of the New York Evening Post in an address before the Laurel Hill Association here to-day, declared that the movement among the American citizens of foreign birth, especially those of German descent, to form bodies apart from the citizenship presented a far reaching domestic issue which the American people must conquer as they have conquered other great evils.

Mr. Villard said that an important factor in the continuance of the "American melting pot," lay in educating immigrants to the proper duties of citizenship. He asserted that in most instances where naturalization examinations had been a farce, and that the award of "what ought to be the most highly prized of diplomas had occurred, in New York at least, in dim, dingy rooms under circumstances not as dignified as attend the registration of a letter."

Mr. Villard said he was "born on German soil, of a German father. Foreigners becoming American citizens should be made to understand, Mr. Villard said, that there can be no divided citizenship or loyalty or allegiance under the American flag; that no one can accept political obligations here while at heart loyal to another social system, another entity or another code of laws.

In opening his address Mr. Villard quoted from an address made by Carl Schurz at the celebration of the latter's seventieth birthday, 16 years ago, in which Mr. Schurz said that no matter how warm the affections German-Americans had held for their native land, they had never permitted their affections to interfere with their duties as American citizens, nor to seduce them to use their power in American politics for foreign ends.

"How amazed Carl Schurz would be to return to us to-day to find that that has come to pass which he deemed inconceivable," said Mr. Villard—"that German-American affection for their native land has interfered with the proper attitude of the great bulk of these toward the land of their adoption. He would find in his horror that at this moment their presence on this soil does not help to preserve peace and friendship between their two parent nations, but adds fuel to the flames of bitterness.

"The mighty convulsion we are witnessing here would ascertain to be due entirely to foreign complication, to a determination on the part of our German-Americans to stand by their fatherland through thick and thin, right or wrong; to a sudden self-revelation that unlike himself they, by the ten thousand, had not really transferred their allegiance to the country of their adoption; to a determination on their part to compel the government at Washington to adopt their point of view."

A considerable change is probable in the staff of the camp at Niagara.

KITCHENER WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Sept. 4.—(Montreal Gazette)—The Daily Chronicle says: "Lord Rosebery, in a speech at Glasgow yesterday, referred to the subject of compulsory service. We had established, he pointed out, after great effort, a national government in which we might put unlimited confidence positively because it was a collection of the most able men, and negatively because there was no other government to take its place.

MOVE TO-NIGHT. The postoffice officials and employees will start to move into the new building this evening.

DUFFERIN PARADE. The Dufferin Rifles overseas contingent will hold a church parade tomorrow morning and will go down to Elm Avenue Methodist church.

GET PAID TO-DAY. Alderman Calbeck, chairman of the Board of Works, has made arrangements with the City Treasury department whereby the corporation men may receive their pay cheques to-day on account of the regular pay day being a holiday.

BUILDING TOTALS. The total number of building permits issued in the month of August was 176, and the total value $181,885. This is an increase of $8,070 on August of last year, but on the total amount, from January to August 31st of this year, there is a decrease of $207,725 on that of last year.

NEED NOT WEAR UNIFORM. A recent military order received in the city states that all officers and warrant officers of the permanent force and staff in the 2nd Division at Niagara will appear in khaki while on duty, but may don civilian clothes during the following specified times: a. After 5 p.m. each day; b. on Sundays after 1 p.m.; c. when on leave of absence from the station.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL. The Township Council will hold their regular meeting on Wednesday next week, in the Court House.

OFF FOR WEEK. Fireman John Hartley left the Central station for a week's vacation this morning, on the return of Fireman O'Hanley of East end.

LAST TIME TO-MORROW. To-morrow in St. Jude's church the rector, Rev. C. E. Jeakins, will preach his last sermon before going on active service with the 98th. It is anticipated that huge crowds will be present to hear him.

TWO GOOD ONES. Two well known Brantfordites have joined the 32nd Battery within the last two days. Mr. Gordon Moffat, brother of Ernie Moffat, who runs the cigar store, and the other is Arthur Plant, depot master of the Grand Trunk, and a well-known baseball pitcher and hockey player.

LETTER FROM FRONT. Colonel Leonard received a very interesting letter this morning from Sgt. Rhodes, formerly of D Squad, and now on active service. He is serving under General Mercer, commanding First Infantry Brigade, 1st C. E. F. in France. He stated that he had seen both Captain Fred Miller and Sgt. Mounce just before writing and both were well.

CRICKET MATCH. There will be a cricket match on Monday at the O. I. B. grounds between Toronto St. Albans and Brantford, starting at 11:30 sharp. The following team will represent Brantford: W. West, G. Johnson, G. Whitwill, F. Shaw, A. Wood, H. Neal, G. Elliott, J. F. Van-Lane, C. Uniacke, J. Guy, W. H. Walsh, J. J. Deans, G. Hoe.

LIGHT LAYER OF OIL. Assistant Engineer Sutcliff stated this morning that 5,000 gallons of oil had been laid yesterday on the city streets. The Hamilton road was oiled from Workman's Hill to the Lock's Road. Oxford and other streets had also been given a light coat. This is the second layer that has been put on this year and it will be sufficient for the remainder of the year.

WILL BORROW $8,500. There will be a special meeting of the county council this afternoon at two o'clock in the Court House. The councillors have been called to pass a resolution which is for the purpose of borrowing $8,500 on debentures for the building of Puttowa and two hogback bridges. The other by-law will replace the old, obsolete medals by new ones. In the absence of County Clerk Watts, Township Clerk Smith will act.

LAKE ERIE NORTHERN. Says the Port Dover Maple Leaf: "Good progress seems to be made on this end of the above road. The rails are laid right down to the G. T. R. track, where a switch will connect the two roads. The new road will then run over the Grand Trunk tracks down to the station, and both will use the present station as a union station for the present. Just whether that will be a permanent arrangement or not remains to be seen. It would certainly prove a great convenience to the travelling public if a permanent union station could be agreed on. The present arrangement will, in the meantime, save considerable expense and enable the road to be opened for traffic sooner than it otherwise might. Where the road crosses Main street, that street will be lowered for about 180 feet on each side of the track of the company and put in proper condition. Ballasting is actively proceeding."

Pennsylvania Week. By Special Wire to the Courier. San Francisco, Sept. 4.—Pennsylvania week at the Panama-Pacific Exposition was to culminate to-day with exercises in commemoration of the first continental congress. The liberty bell, one of the principal attractions at the exposition was to play a prominent part in the ceremonies at the Pennsylvania building.

The Toronto Hotelkeepers' Association probably will hold public opinion and refuse to sell liquor to soldiers this fall and winter.

Women's Hospital Aid

The September meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid was held in Public Library on Friday morning, with a good attendance, the President, Mrs. Waterous, in the chair. The minutes were read and adopted. As the Treasurer was absent, no financial statement was made. Five money $1.75 was sent in by Mrs. George Taylor Paris.

Several small accounts were presented and passed. The President stated that during the summer the Executive had ordered six wheel chairs several of which had arrived. A writing-desk for the Superintendent's sitting room had been purchased and also two dozen dressing gowns for the use of patients in the public wards. Besides these extra beds were ordered for use in the nurse's home.

The Secretary reported the sale of all roses that had been left over from Hospital Day. The summer visitors at the Hospital reported that the patients were all quite happy and were enjoying their stay in the new wards.

Mrs. C. J. Mitchell with Mrs. Tisdale or Mrs. Mitchell Jr. visited July, and had taken up magazines, fruit, flowers and dainties and in August Miss Jones, accompanied by Miss E. Van Someren or Miss A. Winter were the visitors, from my study the usual things, had presented each of the 33 patients with a small bottle of perfume, through the kindness of Mr. Gordon Brander, who provided the much-appreciated novelty.

Mrs. J. H. Spence and Mrs. Newman were appointed to visit during the current month. It was resolved that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. Jackson, who is ill in the hospital.

BORDEN GETS FINE WELCOME AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Sept. 4.—Sir Robert Borden was welcomed to Montreal yesterday on his return from England and the battle front in France with a demonstration of patriotism and affection that probably never has been equaled in this city. Not less than a quarter-million of people turned out to give the Premier a reception, the warmth of which must have touched him deeply surfeited as he has been with public attention. From the moment Premier Borden alighted from his special car at Bonaventure Station until he arrived at Fletcher's Field, the scene of the speech-making, his progress was a prolonged triumphal parade through deep ranks of citizens.

From a temporary platform in front of the Grenadier Guards' army, Sir Robert addressed the throng. Probably few were able to hear him, but they all saw him and that seemed sufficient to arouse their enthusiasm, and they were unstinted in their applause. The local garrison had turned out in full force and the soldiers formed a guard of honor to the Premier.

His message was one of confidence in the outcome of the war and expressed a sincere belief in ultimate victory for the British Empire and her allies. "I come back to Canada," said the Premier, "with a truer sense of the unity of our empire than I ever had before. After seeing Canadians and men of every part of the Empire at the fighting lines, I come back to you with this message: They are determined that the great cause for which they are fighting—a cause which involves your liberties and the liberties of the whole Empire and the allied nations, as well as the future destinies of the civilized world—that cause shall be made good on the field of battle, and this war shall never terminate until the cause of the allies is crowned with complete victory."

ANTHONY WILDING PAID TRIBUTE BY AN AMERICAN

The following tribute came from an American daily and pays a tribute to a gallant life, that of Anthony Wilding, tennis champion of Britain, who laid down his life in Flanders. "Men who die in battle die very much alike. Few can comprehend the tragedy who do not see it, which is, perhaps, just as well since the actual circumstance is largely robbed of its dramatic vester and robbed of heroics that the artist and writer give it. The powers of visualization do not enable us to picture a man receiving a bullet for a principle, whose wound is cauterized by hope, patriotism, sacrifice, unselfishness and all those fine sensibilities that move men to death unafraid. Will Levington Comfort came more nearly to describing a soldier's death in battle than any other man of the pen guild, but used too many words. Verchtagen came more nearly representing the actual on canvas, but his colors were too bright. The standard of dying is then someone vague to us. But we should say the tennis champion, Anthony Wilding, died well. Though he was killed in action months ago, his story has just reached England. He commanded a trench party and because his range was imperfect he built a platform to raise the gun. Because he would not ask another to

BATTERY HAVE A HOLIDAY ON LABOR DAY

The 32nd Battery are going to give their men a holiday on Labor Day so that they can attend the Toronto Exhibition. This is the only time this year the men will have a chance to attend the Fair and many of them will avail themselves of the opportunity. The afternoon the 25th Dragoons will march to Paris, camping there for the night and attending divine service in the northern town to-morrow morning. The detachment will return to Brantford to-morrow afternoon.

The Dufferin Rifles Overseas force will parade to Elm St. church opposite Mohawk Park for morning service to-morrow. The speaker will be Mr. W. G. Raymond. Four men were signed up yesterday. Their names: 32ND BATTERY G. Moffat—27 Duke street, 21, Canadian, single. D. C. Dougherty—145 Nelson, 24, Canadian, single. 25TH DRAGOONS Geo. Atkinson—Canadian, Erie Ave, 32, single. F. H. DEEDS THAT WILL NEVER PASS AWAY

Mr. James Emmett, of 107 Spring Street, writes to Mr. Holmes of R. Feely and Co. that he is about to undergo an operation at the hospital in Sheffield. Mr. Emmett was wounded at Langemark by shrapnel, getting one wound in the head and seven in the back and the operation is to remove the shrapnel. Mr. Emmett will not be capable of further service until after the operation. Mr. Emmett, as stated above, was wounded at Langemark. He was being carried out of the danger zone by two soldiers, one of whom was Pte. Harry Davis of 80 Spring St., mentioned in these columns a few days ago. While on their way out, another shell struck them, burying the whole lot, and it was only with incredible difficulty that any of the party were saved at all. Mr. Emmett states that at

PEACE PROPOSALS STILL TALKED OF

Washington Interested in Pope Benedict's Endeavors Towards Peace.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Efforts of Pope Benedict to bring about peace in Europe continued an absorbing subject of discussion to-day in official and diplomatic circles here. Press despatches from Rome quoting the Pope as expressing the belief that the United States is now in a position to address both groups of belligerents in the matter of peace, with the probability of inducing them to take the preliminary steps which would lead to negotiations for the cessation of the war, attracted considerable attention here. The Pope also expressed gratification at the cordiality of the interview between President Wilson and Cardinal Gibbons on Thursday when the latter delivered a message to the president from the Pope regarding peace.

The Pope's statement confirms reports in Catholic circles here that he was hopeful that the United States might make an effort to get the belligerent nations to sign an agreement to enter a peace conference. The belief was expressed by prominent Catholics usually informed regarding affairs at the Vatican, that the financial condition of the leading belligerents would compel consideration of peace overtures before the opening of another winter campaign.

London, Sept. 4.—In the absence of marked changes on any of the battle fronts, the English public has again turned its attention to the diplomatic situation in the near East and to rumors of tentative efforts in the direction of peace negotiations. It is announced officially at Nish that the final draft of Serbia's answer to the note of the Quadruple Entente is ready, and will be presented shortly. It is presumed here that the reply on the whole will be favorable in regard to concessions to Bulgaria, although little hope is entertained that Serbia will grant her late enemy all the territory demanded in Macedonia. Advices from Sofia indicate that unless the whole of Macedonia is conceded there is little chance of re-establishment of the Balkan league.

It is pointed out in official circles at the Bulgarian capital that compliance with the programme of the Entente Allies means actual participation in the war, while agreement to the request of the central powers implies merely friendly neutrality, expressed in permitting the shipment through Bulgaria of arms and other war supplies for the Turks. Although it has been established rather definitely that London has no part in the initiation of informal peace discussions, it is plain that official circles are interested keenly in the news of activity in this direction. There are straws in the wind which indicate that what are designated as "proper peace overtures," on the part of the Allies, means actual participation in the war. However, the general public, not so well informed as is the government, probably would regard such overtures as premature.

World of Labor

Gleaned from Exchanges and Other Sources. There are 26,000 factories in New York City. Members of the San Pedro (Cal.) Longshoremen's Union have secured a wage increase as the result of conferences with employers. The London, Eng., "Grain, Seed and Oil Reporter" estimates the world's wheat production at 4,148,000,000 bushels, or 496,000,000 bushels greater than last year. A joint strike of railroad shop workers employed by the Kansas City (Miss.) Terminal has been satisfactorily adjusted. Nearly 200 workers were involved. Out of over 14,000 members of the Brassworkers Union in the Birmingham, Eng. district, less than half a dozen altogether unemployed. A national pension system was endorsed by the convention of the Massachusetts State Association of Plumbers, Glaziers, Painters and Helpers, held in Northampton. The U. B. Carpenters of Canton, O. have appointed a committee to act with the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Council in starting a forward organization campaign in that city. More than 500 union employees of the Levgar Structural Iron Company of Dunellen, N. J., are asking for an eight hour workday. The firm are lying low and the hands may get wise and organize a union. The United States Bureau of Labor statistics makes the startling statement that twenty-two per cent of the men employed last year in the smelting and refining of lead suffered from lead poisoning. The cigar-making and barber trades in Canada have been hard hit by the present industrial depression. Labor interests in Edmonton, Alta., ask the militia authorities in providing soldiers with meal tickets on Chinese restaurants in that city, and efforts will be made to try and have their patronage given to white caterers. The United Farmers of Alberta are asking that the Direct Legislation Act in the province be amended so as to secure a plebiscite upon petition by ten per cent of the electors. They also ask that the Legislature grant the ballot to women, and if this is not done the aid of the Direct Legislation Act, under which the prohibition vote was recently passed, will be evoked to get the question before the electorate. W. H. Reeve, Manitoba's provincial fair wage officer, received $3,424.72 last week on behalf of underpaid workmen, who were employed by Thomas Kelly & Son on the parliament buildings. This amount is made up of $749 on the parliament buildings and $2,675.72 on the store plant. He is now struggling with the other claims. It was the unions which insisted on the fair wage schedule being inserted in all government contracts, but it is largely non-union men who are reaping the benefit. Some idea of the rapidity with which the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters is growing in Canada may be gleaned from the fact that at the present time there are 45 local unions of the organization in the Dominion, of which 19 are in Ontario, 2 in Nova Scotia, 4 in New Brunswick, 2 in Quebec, 4 in Manitoba, 5 in Saskatchewan, 5 in Alberta, and 5 in British Columbia. The Winnipeg Co-operative Company will re-organize on a sounder basis than formerly. There are a great number of union men interested in the project, and they have made a good start in straightening things up. For some time the concern has been in the hands of an assignee, but a group of the more active and progressive spirits in the movement became the purchasers of the whole assets of the business, and will hold them in trust until the re-organization has taken place. Settlers in the vicinity of Iroquois Falls, Ont., will have a sure market for all the pulp wood they can cut hereafter. The Iroquois Pulp and Paper Company has installed new machinery that at present is turning out ninety tons per day, but other machinery is now being erected which will increase the production to 240 tons per day. These mills employ 700 men, and the population of the town has increased to over 1,500. This will mean considerable more work in the district and the employment in the near future of many additional hands.

IN SWITZERLAND

Every citizen is a member of the army. Before the law, all citizens are equal. The management of the army, including the clothing, arming and training of troops, is in the hands of the General Government. The Government regulates the railroads. The government has exclusive management of the postal and telegraph service. The government has a monopoly of the manufacture of salt and gunpowder. Members of the Supreme Court are elected. There is no capital punishment and no debt. There is a national referendum law. If 30,000 voters or eight cantons demand it, laws passed by the Federal Assembly must be submitted to the people. The President serves one year and cannot be elected twice in succession. The Federal Judges, the Federal Council or Cabinet, and the commander of the troops are chosen by the legislative power. The power to sanction international treaties, to appoint the members of the government and the General in Chief of the army in time of war rests with the National Assembly.

PROBLEMS THAT MUST BE FACED

World Can Never be the Same Again as It Was Before the War. Ten years hence and conditions in this world of ours will be changed that we shall be living amidst entirely different environments from any that have ever hitherto existed. In fact, we are now witnessing the passing of an old and outworn social system, whose certain downfall has but been accentuated by the present war. The forces that have been at work perhaps silently and unnoticed, none the less sure, however, even if they have seemed to work exceedingly slow, for evolution have been under way and making headway even though people have been unaware or ignorant of the fact. But new epochs have dawned; mighty events have hastened the inevitable and shortened the period intervening between the passing of the old and the advent of the new. The almost world-war, has broken down old traditions; it has created new conditions, and forced even upon reluctant politicians and rulers measures which they must have foreseen would be followed by results that spell the destruction of old ideals and cherished superstitions and that must make for the overthrow of a system that has clearly outlived its usefulness. The war has created new and great problems that must be faced and which it is moreover impossible to evade. There is the liquidation of the huge war debts that are being piled up; how to meet these crushing obligations and add them to the ordinary expenditures that even before the war were causing the taxpayers to grumble, may well cause serious reflection on the part of the present day and future legislators. If it is not raised on the unearned increment on land values, how can it possibly be raised without absolutely crushing the working class. And then as to the status of the women, it will hardly be possible after this war to refuse them the ballot on the same terms as men. With an equal ballot, what probable possibilities loom to view and what a tremendous new force that will be irrevocably opposed to the arbitrament of arms in all future controversies. And as to the ownership of industries, as the belligerent governments have already done in order to get the best results it was absolutely necessary for the nation to assume control and manage the private munition and armament plants, and as in Britain it is now proposed to tax the enormous profits that have accrued from private ownership, what may the people--the voters--have to say on the proposition of the Government assuming ownership, if not of all industries, of at least the big monopolies. And then the conservation of the food supply and the regulation of the prices in connection therewith, for in Germany the nation now controls the food output and regulates prices. If the government may do this advantageously in war times, why not after peace has been proclaimed, and perhaps the people may want to know why not? But these are only a few of the problems that the war has forced to the front; there are many others, not to mention that of the labor of women and children in the factory, all new and startling, all pending colossal changes. That old conditions can ever be again tolerated is simply unbelievable; the old life is dead, too dead to be ever resurrected, and the old economic system is now clearly in its death throes. And what of the coming system. It will assuredly be better than the one that now is passing. The spirit of democracy is abroad in the world, and new and progressive ideas are already overwhelming the old myths and absurdities of the past. The man or woman who does not clearly recognize that humanity is to inhabit a new world, and that old things are clearly passing has certainly not been observant as to what has been going on. These things would have been evolved without a war, but the war has pushed them into prominence and created conditions that have forced their growth. Eventually it may be found that not the least of the war's achievements will have been that it has advanced democracy a hundred years ahead of the time it would have taken to evolve had the great upheaval not materialized.

Boy Knight Notes

The Mothers' Guild held a most enjoyable picnic at Judge Hardy's farm last Thursday. The day was fair and bright, and the ladies came in such large numbers that another conveyance had to be secured. The day was certainly too short. Mrs. Hardy gave them a hearty welcome. Huge appetites were developed and the refreshments were quickly disposed of. The mothers' organization is certainly advancing with rapid strides. The Girl Companions have also had several enjoyable picnics, at which a general good time was had. They are securing quite a number of new members.

The Boy Knights are home from camp after having a truly glorious time. They regretted leaving camp, and the people of the beach likewise regretted this year to be proud of, every boy trying to do his best. The old Boy Knights had a meeting on Monday evening, when two leaders were chosen for campaign purposes. The juniors also held their meeting on Tuesday night and did likewise. Winning side will furnish refreshments and losers program at end of campaign. The men held a meeting on Thursday evening, when like matters were discussed. The matter of a skating rink for the boys and girls during the coming winter was also brought up. Major Gordon Smith paid a visit on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Much work is being arranged, and in two weeks' time everything will be in full swing.

The highest German military orders were conferred upon Gen. Von Mackensen. The ex-Premier and three other members of the late Cabinet in Manitoba, charged with conspiring to defraud the Province, were remanded to Wednesday.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

For 11 years--Completely Cured by Dr. Cassell's Tablets. The Famous All-British Medicine.

Pain and Wind So Bad It Nearly Choked Her. Palpitation, Faintness, and Extreme Nervousness. Was very Thin and Anæmic. Now in Splendid Health Through DR. CASSELL'S TABLETS. Those here in Canada suffering from Digestive or Nerve Troubles who read this true story cannot fail to get new hope from its perusal. Mrs. Rogers, of 344 Whitehall-road, Bristol, England, had suffered from acute dyspepsia for eleven years, ordinary treatment had failed to do her any good, yet Dr. Cassell's Tablets cured her completely. "Could more convincing proof of the value of this great British medicine be offered? Mrs. Rogers says: "Dr. Cassell's Tablets have cured me of dyspepsia that nothing I tried could even relieve, and I feel so pleased and grateful that I want to tell every sufferer about this wonderful medicine. It is quite eleven years since I first began to be troubled with pains and wind after food, and all that time I was never quite free from dyspepsia. Of course, I was better, sometimes, a little better than is, but never for long. Frequently I had frightful attacks of pain in my chest, and such in such quantities that it almost choked me. My heart would palpitate till I went quite faint. I was very nervous, too, so nervous, in fact, that my husband actually stopped the clock because I could not bear the ticking. "The result of all this suffering was that I became quite thin and anæmic, and so weak that if I tried to do my housework I simply fainted. I had to pay to have it done for me. Latterly I else I tried would, and enabled me to keep steadily at work. I had suffered for years from dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and had nervous attacks. I could do nothing while these attacks were on, and they were so frequent that I was as much away from work as at it. I was always pale or less ill, always had severe pain after food, with volumes of wind, and a dry sensation that I could not shake off. Headaches, too, were frequent and severe, and sometimes I had shivering terns like ague. I tried all sorts of things and had endless medicine, but it was only when I got Dr. Cassell's Tablets that I got any real benefit. It was really wonderful how they cured me. I got sleep at night, could eat without suffering, and now I am in splendid health."

LARGEST SALE IN BRITAIN. Popularity now World-wide. The STREETS of your TOWN

Are Lighted by Hydro Quality Lamps

REMEMBER the old arc lamps that hung at the corners of down-town streets before the days of Hydro. You remember how the corner was bright and the street was dark. What a difference between then and now. To-day the wonderful, even lighting of streets in Hydro towns and cities--which everyone admires--is made possible by Hydro Quality Lamps. All day long and all the night through these street lamps must stand the constant vibration of waggons, autos, cars and the throngs of passing people. Month after month they stand this strain; always ready to flood your streets with beautiful clear, White Light.

If Hydro Lamps give such excellent service in your streets just think how much more satisfactory service you can expect from them in your home.

To get the Full Measure of Light that you pay for insist on genuine Hydro Quality Lamps. Look for the Hydro Name on Every Lamp. BRANTFORD HYDRO ELECTRIC SYSTEM 303 Colborne Street Brantford

Of course, I had treatment, I even attended an institution, but I got no better. They always told me to have my teeth out, and that I did not want to do, but when I got Dr. Cassell's Tablets, what a change! They relieved me almost at once, and as I persevered with them all my pain, wind, headache, and other troubles gradually disappeared, and now

SKETCH OF C. CHAPLIN

The Little Englishman Who Gets a Record Salary in Motion Pictures.

A little Englishman, quiet, unassuming, but surcharged with dynamite, is influencing the world right now. You can feel him in the theatre; you read of him in the magazines;

THE INIMITABLE CHARLIE CHAPLIN

When you get a glimpse of his idiosyncrasies in some twist of fashion. Among the happy youths of the slums, or the dandies of clubland or college, an imitation of Charlie's flirt of the coat, or the little waddle of the comedian, is considered the last word in humor. To be Chaplinesque is to be funny; to waddle a few steps, and then look naively at your audience, is a recognized form to which successful comedy is trending. You are artistic perhaps. You were born with the gift of drawing or painting, or maybe you are a sculptor. Your gifts run to other lines. Maybe you are a poet or a writer. Very well; the thing to do now is to paint a portrait of

When you see Chaplin you laugh. Charles Chaplin in one of his characteristic poses, or to model him in clay. A poet can always sell a Chaplin poem; a writer finds a market for a Chaplin story. Any form of expressing Chaplin is what the public wants. The days of the minstrel's lay have come again. The world has Chaplinitis. Once in every century or so a man is born who is able to color and influence his world. There is a lame beginning in my statement that Charlie Chaplin can't explain his own humor. He has tried a couple of times, and he has said some very interesting things. He confesses that his humor depends almost wholly on contrast and timeli-

When you know him, or when you see him making his own pictures, you have a glimmering idea of why you laugh at him and his antics. But for the life of you you cannot analyze the reason for your laughter and for Chaplin's success in comedy. The fact of the matter is that there is some unlocated spot which Chaplin touches and which responds to that appeal by making you laugh. That is the best explanation you can get, even though you go to Johns Hopkins and get the results of a professional laugh-dissector's researches. Chaplin draws laughter out of you as the sun draws water from the sea. It is a matter of attraction, and that's all there is to it.

Then Chaplin's friend, after consultation with the hero of this tale, replied by wire: "The one big laugh of a life time is crowded in six reels of fast and furious fun. It starts with a big bang of surprise and laughter; and thereafter for one and a half solid hours, there is no let up to the whirlwind action, violently funny situations and ridiculous complications. Besides the well defined plot—the picture is an adaptation from Miss Dressler's tremendous stage success, 'Tillie's Nightmare'—which is screamingly funny, every stage trick of farce comedy is employed to say nothing of the many inevitable and purely personal and private mannerisms of Marie Dressler and Charlie Chaplin, who only have to make an appearance to provoke a riot of laughter from the most blasé audience.

In every city where the picture has been shown, it has smashed all records of attendance. In New York where the picture ran for two months it was necessary to have a squad of police to keep the people in line who stood for over two blocks waiting to get in the theatre.

This picture is presented by Bert Levey of San Francisco and the management of the Brant Theatre stands sponsor for this picture being the greatest laugh producer ever shown in this city.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE When Rowland and Clifford's play, 'The Rosary,' by Edward E. Rose, comes to the Opera House as the next attraction the discriminating public will be given an opportunity to see pictured before them the growing unrest and irreligion of our times. It is a faithful picture of the misery and unhappiness that surely comes upon a man who lacks faith in the supreme good and its triumph in our world.

Can one evil mind poison a whole household? Is the human brain capable of producing disastrous effects upon a household by adverse suggestive thoughts? Do we realize how adequately our mental attitudes influence our lives and the lives about us? And the answer? Well, the play is the answer.

'PEG O' MY HEART' AND OTHER LONG-RUN PLAYS Investigation of the records of long play runs reveals the fact that Oliver Morosco's production of 'Peg O' My Heart' soon to be seen here, is the holder of one world's record and stands high in the list of long runs. Its engagement of 601 consecutive performances at the Cort Theatre, New York, is the longest run ever achieved on any stage by a woman star, the longest previous run being that of Miss Maude Adams in 'The Little Minister' for 299 performances. 'Peg' has the third longest run in the history of the New York stage, the longest distance title being held by the Charles Hoyt farce, 'A Trip to Chinatown,' which ran for 696 performances, while 'The Lion and the Mouse' had 620 consecutive exhibitions to its credit before it ceased its Manhattan regime.

Henry E. Dixey in 'Adonis' passed the 'Peg' record by one performance. Although David Warfield in 'The Music Master' had over 630 performances in New York, this run cannot be put down as a record, as the company played 320 times, then laid off for the summer and returned the engagement in the early fall.

The history of long runs in London contains a much longer list of plays which ran up over the 500 mark. Runs of from 500 to 600 performances over there are a common thing. The longest run in the British metropolis, and for that matter in the world, was achieved by 'Charley's Aunt' which played 1,466 times. 'Our Boys' had 1,382 consecutive performances to its credit and both 'The Private Secretary' and 'The Chinese Honeymoon' over 1,000 each.

'Peg O' My Heart' will be the opening play at the Grand Opera House.

LONDON SECURED 16 HITS OFF WALKER AND CHASE

Brantford's Misplays Were Again Partly Responsible for the Score.

(London Free Press)

ers Walker and Chase served up to the Brantfords yesterday, their efforts were for naught as the Brantfords were properly scalped by a 13 to 5 score, incidentally bringing defeat in the sixth straight game to the men under Manager Warner's care.

Base hits seemed easy for the local partisans to get as they maulled Walker for six in one inning and one out in the second, when Del Chase made his debut of the season here. He, like Walker, was treated harshly in the fifth inning after the Brantfords had tied the score, the locals connecting safely for seven consecutive bingles, which, coupled with an error netted six runs.

ORGY OF ERRORS

The orgy of errors helped the Tecumsehns in every inning they warmed up the plate with their feet and the pitching of the Brant moundmen seemed just to the liking of the locals as they bombarded well with men on the runways when hits meant tallies.

Graham, hurrying for the Hartwellites, was touched for enough runs to win any ordinary ball game, but won out, the miscues by his help aided the Brantfords in tallying one of their five runs. Graham gave two bases on balls to Streeter and each time the Brant lead off man got on he started trouble for the local hurler. Graham pitched well in every frame but the

O'BRIEN'S THIRD HIT

O'Brien doubled to the fence in the seventh and Yelle walked. Graham filled the sacks by drawing a base on balls. Hartwell was called out on an infield fly, which three Brants failed to gather in but O'Brien scored and Yelle moved to third base. Graham told by Comstock that it was a foul ball, went back to first, but was tossed out by Chase. Yelle scored the final run on Chase's wild pitch. Whitcraft singled but was left when Lamy popped out to Chase in right field, as Ryerson playing first, replacing Ivers. The score:

IVERS' TRIPLE SCORES TWO

To relate how the Brants scored their runs starts with the first inning, when Streeter walked. Todd hit to the position Lamy left at short and two bases were occupied. Cooper's bunt advanced them and across the plate they went when Ivers tripled to Eckstein. Burrill was safe on his sacrifice bunt, when Barry dropped Graham's throw. Graham, however, retired the next two Brants, but Ivers scored on Burrill's squeeze play who went to third when Yelle threw low to Hartwell. A base on balls to Streeter in the fifth coupled with singles by Todd and Cooper gave the Brants sufficient runs to tie up the game.

SPEED ON THE PATHS

Hartwell was safe in the first inning on Fried's low throw. Whitcraft singled and Lamy went to second. Hartwell and Whitcraft worked a double steal and scored on Lamy's single to left. Perry grounded out and Barry hit into a double play to Fried who caught his liner and touched second.

Eckstein doubled in the second and went to third on O'Brien's safe bunt. Yelle singled to Burrill and Eckstein scored. Graham bunted, but Ivers tossed out O'Brien going to third. Hartwell drove in Yelle with a single to Burrill and went to second when the latter fumbled the ball. Whitcraft's long sacrifice fly to Ryerson scored Graham. Lamy's whiff retired the side, when Chase replaced Walker.

GUELPH LEAFS LOSE LAST HOME GAME OF SEASON

Guelph, Sept. 4.—The baseball season, so far as the Canadian League is concerned, came to a close in Guelph yesterday afternoon when Hamilton and the Leafs clashed in the last of a three-game series. The visitors walked off with the big end of the score, the figures being 6 to 3. The game was rather listless, a "don't care" style of play being the feature of the work of the Leafs, while the Hams. were up on their toes all the time and were out to win.

FULLER SCORES ONLY RUN.

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Ottawa made it two straight over St. Thomas by taking yesterday's game, 1 to 0. Fulton had the better of the duel against Roberts, but the latter received great support, and the Saints could not get tally of the match in the sixth when Fulton stretched a single into a double, and tallied when Shaughnessy cracked one over and Shaughnessy Toronto and Ottawa to Play.

SHATTERED ATHLETICS EASY FOR THE RED SOX

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Boston won its third straight game from Philadelphia yesterday, the score being 10 to 2. Six of the visitors' runs were made in the third inning after changes had been given to retire the side.

WELDER OF BRUSH

Washington, Sept. 4.—Washington's fourth victory of the series over New York yesterday was shut out, 2 to 0. Walter Johnson was threatened in the first inning, when Perkinpaugh's Texas leaguer was followed by Bauman's solid single, but Perkinpaugh was forced at third on the next play, he and Bauman being the only visitors to get as far as second base.

seems to take a peculiar delight in knocking Cooper, has another gem of thought regarding the Brant's catcher. Their item reads as follows: "The big league scouts have passed up the much touted Cooper of Brantford. One look was enough for them." It may interest the Ottawa scribe to learn that Scout Bobbie Gilks of the New York Americans looked over Cooper and stated that "he was good enough for any Class A league in existence." But possibly this particular scout doesn't know his business.

although the Free Press can hardly think so, seeing he recommends Shocker as a pitcher. Also the New York Americans were tipped off to Cooper by a certain player in the Canadian league—Freddie Payne, whom the Free Press has likely heard of.

The Brantford team is certainly sliding. Every pitcher they have has been knocked out of the box except Warner, and he lost his game. So there is not much chance of them doing much for the remainder of this season. Their pitching staff has been the weak spot all year, outside of that, their team was one of the best in the league not excepting Ottawa.

Sixty-eight rinks entered into the Scotch Doubles tournament for Labor Day, and given good weather, the tournament will be one of the best yet. It will be a fitting conclusion to an excellent season, although bowling enthusiasts in town keep up the game until the snow falls.

ENLIST NOW!

Here are the questions you would ask and their answers

Q. I am a married man. Must I have the consent of my wife to enlist?

A. Yes, the following must get proper consent in order to be able to enlist for active service: (a) Husbands, (b) men over 18 and under 21 years of age must get the consent of both parents, (c) sons who are the only support of a widowed mother or whose parents are dependent upon them for their support.

Q. What are the rates of pay?

A. The rate of pay is One Dollar per day before moving to camp. A further allowance of 75c a day is made to cover meals and lodging, making $1.75 per day while in Brantford. When in camp and on active service a field allowance of 10c is made, making the total pay $1.10 per day.

Q. What examinations must a man pass in order to be accepted?

A. The recruit must be over 18 and under 45 years of age. The minimum height is 5 ft. 3 in. and the minimum chest measurement 33½ inches, with the chest normally expanded. The eyesight must be good, teeth in good condition. He must have free use of his limbs and not be flat footed. It is also necessary for the heart to be strong.

Q. What is the reason in making a man assign at least one-half his pay?

A. The Government believes that if they are willing to allow a separation the soldier should be equally willing to assign at least one-half the pay received. It is hoped the families of soldiers will have the foresight and common-sense to put in the bank all the assigned pay received, so that when the soldier returns there may be a nest egg to help the family along until he receives employment.

Q. I am a married man. What provision will be made for my wife and family?

A. It has been found that a woman requires an income of $30.00 per month on her own account, $7.50 for a child between the ages of 10 and 15, $4.50 for a child between the ages of 5 and 10, and $3.00 for a child under 5 years.

Q. When does the separation allowance start?

A. Immediately upon being sworn in and enlisted in Brantford, but the first installment will not be paid until after the final acceptance for overseas service.

Q. To whom are Government Separation Allowances granted?

A. Separation allowances are granted (a) wives, (b) children of a widower if they are in the care of a guardian. Girls over 16 and boys over 14 years of age are not eligible. (c) Widowed mothers, if the son is unmarried and her sole support.

Q. What pensions are paid in case of the death of a soldier?

A. The widow receives $22.00 a month and $5.00 a month for each child. In the case of a soldier leaving a wife and three children the pension would be $37.00 a month or $484 a year. It would require $10,800 worth of Government Bonds, paying 4½ per cent. interest, to give a pension of $484 a year.

ENLIST NOW!

Here are the questions you would ask and their answers

Q. How much pay must a soldier assign to his wife?

A. Every man who receives a separation allowance for his wife must assign one-half his pay ($16.50 per month) and may assign as much as $25.00 per month, but not more.

Q. Is the assigned pay figured as part of the income necessary to support a family?

A. No. The assigned pay of the soldier is not taken into account by the Patriotic Fund in determining the amount to be paid to a depending family for support. In the case of the family described above, if the soldier assigned $20.00 per month, the total income of the family would be $69.50 per month.

Q. Are the requirements with regard to teeth as strict as before?

A. No. Arrangements have now been made at Niagara Camp to do the necessary work on teeth that are not in quite good enough state of preservation. Men are now being accepted with partial sets of false teeth, this being left to the discretion of the examining doctor. A great many men who were turned down for the first and second contingents may now join under the present regulations.

Q. How is Government allowance paid?

A. It is paid by check on the Bank of Montreal forwarded from Ottawa.

Q. How is the assigned pay of a soldier forwarded?

A. It is also paid by check from Ottawa.

Q. How is the Patriotic Fund allowance paid?

A. It is paid by the local branch of the Patriotic Fund.

Q. My wife is in England. Will she receive a Government separation allowance?

A. Yes, this will be forwarded from Ottawa regularly just as if the wife were living in Canada.

Q. Will the Patriotic Fund help dependents of soldiers living in England or out of Canada?

A. No. The separation will be forwarded, but any other assistance needed would be of a local nature.

All children under group ages 10 to 15 are carried at minimum of $3 per month, one child alone in each family between these ages being carried at $7.50; ditto between the ages of 5-10, $4.50 per month being paid one child and the minimum of $3 being allowed the others.

Thus, if a man leaves a wife and four children, aged 13, 11 and 7 and 3, the income would be $30 for the wife, $7.50 for one child between 10 and 15, $4.50 for one between 5 and 10, and $3 for each of the other children, being a total of $48 per month.

Q. How much of the family income does the Patriotic Fund pay?

A. The Government allowance is $20.00 per month to the wife of a soldier, the balance is made up by the Patriotic Fund. Thus in the above case $20.00 would be paid as a Government separation allowance and $28.00 per month would be paid by the Patriotic Fund. In no case, however, will the Patriotic Fund pay more than $40.00 per month, and in the case of large families a certain amount of discretion is allowed to the officers of the fund.

DEDUCTIONS

The following deductions have to be taken into consideration by all branches when giving patriotic assistance:

A. Amount of separation allowance.

B. Allowance from husband's employer.

C. Help from private sources.

D. Earnings of other members of family. Casual earnings as apart from regular wages should not be considered, otherwise self-help would be discouraged.

E. If living rent free and fuel free, the amount should be taken into consideration.

HESTER, AND A LEGACY

Why hold it at the Town Hall? she said, a nasty, stuffy place now that the weather was getting so fine and June would soon be upon them. Why not hold it out of doors—in somebody's grounds—in the Lynmouth grounds for instance? What situation could possibly be better? There was a delicious spot in the park near the lake where the stalls and booths could be erected, and she could have a fortune-teller in the cave on the island and the whole place illuminated beautifully in the evening with colored lights. Then for the tableaux they could get up A Midsummer Night's Dream, which would look lovely among the trees, and altogether it might be a sort of open-air fete such as had never been held in the neighborhood before, and she was sure people would flock to it from miles around and that the Cottage Hospital would be built in no time.

Her enthusiasm was not necessary to inflame Mrs. Cox's desires in the same direction. Here was exactly the opening she wanted. What could be better than to hold her bazaar in Lynmouth Park? She was immediately in her mind's eye the intimacy that must inevitably spring up from such a connection—how she would many times have to visit the Chase to make this arrangement, and to alter that, always taking Lily with her—Lily, whose good sense and lively manners and fashionable costumes could not fail to do their work. She closed at once with Mrs. Laing-Stonor's suggestion, and promised to drive over to the Chase at the earliest possible opportunity.

At this point in the proceedings Lynmouth society was electrified and delighted at one and the same time by the news that Lady Augusta Dovereourt was going to give a ball in honor of Lady Muriel's twentieth birthday. Nothing else was spoken of and for a time Mrs. Cox's bazaar was thrown completely in the shade. The Coxes girls were not invited to it, of course. Dovereourt was far too exclusive to give Towers an open tree to its stately halls, and, deeply to Mrs. Cox's mortification, no silver-edged card of invitation came to that mansion during the three days when other more privileged houses were receiving theirs. Harry Vereker was going, and the next time he strolled in Lily begged him by hook or by crook to procure her an invitation, she did not care how.

"Couldn't you manage it somehow?" she pleaded. "I am dying to go."
"No, I can't," he said flatly, stretching himself in a lounge-chair. "You mean you won't!" she exclaimed, with a pout.
"Well, won't then, if you like it better!" he returned indolently.
"I should have thought you would like Lily to go, being such a good friend of hers," said Mrs. Cox in aggrieved accents, "and she has a lovely dress—quite new—silver brocade with pearl trimmings! Being a cousin of Lady Muriel's, I should have thought you could manage it by just a word."
"I'm only a third cousin, and, any way, I couldn't dream of interfering with Lady Augusta's arrangements," he said, opening his sleepy eyes, with a flash in them that silenced Lily for the moment, but had no effect on Mrs. Cox.

"I don't know how she can go and invite Violet Langworthy and leave Lily and Trix out," she said.
"Violet can scarcely scrape enough money together to get a decent dress with; in fact I shouldn't be the least surprised if she went in that old pink she wore at Mrs. Laing-Stonor's dance, whereas Lily and Trix—"
"Lady Augusta does not choose her friends according to the cost of their clothes, you see, interrupted Mr. Vereker mildly. "The Langworthys have owned land here for five centuries, and Miss Langworthy would naturally be invited even if she came in rags."
"Well, if it's old blood she wants, I'm sure ours is as good as anybody's," cried Mrs. Cox. "Mr. Cox is descended in a direct line from a Crusader of that name, and an ancestor of my own, a Mr. Smith, came over with William the Conqueror."
"Why not write and tell her so?" he suggested, twirling his moustache to conceal a smile. "She would be sure to send an invitation if she knew. Then, looking round the room, "Where's Trix?"
"Here I am!" cried Trix from the open window, and in she came with Jip the terrier and Pounce the poodle and Punch the pug scampering round her in delightfully high spirits.
"Isn't it a shame?" cried Lily, claiming her sympathy. "Harry won't say a word to Lady Augusta!"
"Of course he won't," she replied; "and if he did I wouldn't go! One swell at a time is bad enough, but a collection of swells would be unbearable. I hate them!"
"What is a swell?" inquired Mr. Vereker, looking at her with a momentary interest from beneath his half-closed eyelids.
"You are one!" she cried, with a little stamp of her foot. "And you know I hate you, and all the other people who despise us! I wouldn't go to that Dovereourt ball for untold gold!" And she flounced out of the room.
"She'd go fast enough if she were asked!" said Lily spitefully, noticing the expression of Vereker's eyes.
"I don't think she would," he said. "She's a jolly little girl, is Trix, and she'd stick to her colors whatever they were, and I admire her for it!"
"Yes, Trix is very sweet—a most amiable nature, and so domesticated!" murmured Mrs. Cox, delighted to hear this praise from lips that were only too sparing of it as a rule.

He rose slowly with a view to changing into another chair that took his fancy. His handsome mouth was smiling a little contemptuously.

"It isn't because she is sweet or amiable or domesticated that I admire her," he said. "I shouldn't myself have thought she was any of those things. It's because she's an honest, straightforward little girl, which is saying a good deal in these degenerate days, isn't it Jip?"
He took the terrier on his knee and stroked his head gently, while Mrs. Cox's capacious bosom swelled with pride, and Lily felt that she had Trix for having earned such praise. But the Coxes girls were not the only ones perturbed in connection with this ball, although in most cases the subject of it gave supreme satisfaction. Mrs. Vavasour, for instance, was recalled to London to the sick bed of an aunt of her husband's, who had made a will in her favor and whose claims were laid on that account be cast aside. It was most annoying of course to miss the Dovereourt ball, especially as Harry Vereker had impressed upon her that he would go if it were solely for her sake, although the handsome scapegrace was not to be thought of for a moment in the light of a second husband, it would be extremely pleasant to play off her airs and graces upon a society and sit facing and chaffing at the bedside of an elderly, bad-tempered invalid who was as deaf as a post and whose death seemed as far off as ever.

Her position might have been supposed to exempt her from any interest whatever in the ball—was not without feeling its sting too. Lord Lynmouth was going to it, and it was only a few days before it came off that she first caught a hint of what was expected to take place on that eventful evening. It could not matter to her what he did or did not do, but there was the sting nevertheless. She was in the drawing-room pouring out tea for Lady Lynmouth when Lady Augusta was announced. The latter expressed herself delighted, and Lady Lynmouth alone, and, seating herself close beside her on the sofa, began talking in a confidential undertone while pulling off her gloves. Hester, whose place was at the table, did not of course pay the slightest attention to her presence.

Lady Augusta spoke first. "The poor child's name," she said, "is on the list of names, many of them with titles, and all totally unknown to Hester. Then came a description of Lady Muriel's dress for the occasion—'with silks of the valley'—'pearls'—in disjointed sentences. After that she sank her voice to a still more confidential whisper, and Hester only caught such phrases as, 'So looking forward to it, a poor child!—'So said Lord Lynmouth might not be well enough to come!—'Such a terrible disappointment!—'So good of him to make the effort!—'Not good at all considering the inducement!—'Lady Lynmouth's clear tones in reply. 'Dovereourt has a magnet powerful enough to draw him whatever the state of his health might be; but I am thankful to say he is fairly well again now.' Lady Augusta's plump face assumed a highly-delighted expression, and she laid her hand over Lady Lynmouth's and gave it a series of little squeezes as she poured forth a torrent of confidences in her ear—a sentence now and then travelling as far as Hester, such as, 'The poor child's happiness hangs on it!' 'Has been going on so many years!' 'Quite devoted!' 'Make us all so happy!' and so on.

say the least of it—their horses put to walking pace, their brides hanging loosely, he looking at her while she talked, she looking down. There was a lovely flush on Lady Muriel's face which might have been brought there by exercise, but which Hester read jealously as love's happy signal. A moment afterwards she met Miss Smith, who stopped to recount to her everything that had happened to everybody since they had last met. Among others she naturally mentioned the couple ahead, just disappearing around a bend in the lane.

"A most suitable place for them to take their rides in—Love Lane," you know!" cried the little lady, nodding her head significantly. "Of course, they are engaged—at least everybody says so. It has been going on for years you know—ever since he was quite a child. Such a romantic story of perfect devotion on both sides! They say she went as thin as a thread paper when he was ill, and if you remember she did not appear in the church for three Sundays just at that very time. Oh, they've been engaged for years between themselves, only she was too young for it to be given out before he went away! It will be made public at the ball, I expect; in fact Lady Augusta is giving it for that express object, so I have been told. But no doubt you are more behind the scenes than any one, Miss Phillips, living as you do in the very house."
"No, I have not heard of any engagement so far, but no doubt it will be given out at the ball, as you say," she replied calmly. "It seems to be a most suitable match in every way, and, if they have really been devoted to each other for years, I should imagine it will also be for their mutual happiness. You will excuse me if I hurry on, I am sure, as I am rather busy this morning."

With this very proper little speech and a shake of Miss Smith's woolen glove she hurried her escape, but as she walked so rapidly, her eyes intent apparently on the line of light above the hills behind which hands had set her heart rose up again in revolt and was clamouring against the match that her reason told her was to his advantage and that her lips just pronounced "most suitable."

CHAPTER XVI
Hester was expected to be present while Lady Lynmouth made her toilet for the Dovereourt ball, for, although Fanny, the maid, could do everything that was necessary for her ladyship, it was a companion's duty to be near at hand to superintend, to show an interest, to advise and give the casting vote as to which laces and jewels had better be worn.

At last the stately gown of black velvet was donned, the ancient lace was skilfully arranged, and the famous Lynmouth diamonds, which the family had managed to keep in spite of its misfortunes, were all in their places on brow and neck and arms, and her ladyship had gone down to the drawing-room to await her son, who, manly, was sure to be late and had not yet emerged from his room.

Hester, after locking the jewel-case, the key of which she always kept, left Lady Lynmouth's room and was going to her own when she met Lord Lynmouth coming down the few shallow stairs that led from one gallery to another.

There was a frown of vexation on his face when she first saw him—his ties had been obstreperous, and he had spoilt six in succession, and other small matters in connection with his jealousy had gone wrong—but when he caught sight of the frown changed into a smile, and he stopped midway on the staircase. He wore the severest of evening-dresses, always a becoming one to men, and as he smiled at her he looked very handsome. But her heart was hardened against both the smile and the good looks; she had no need to remind herself of her resolutions—her jealousy would do all that was necessary in the way of being unamiable.

The next day she met Lord Lynmouth and Lady Muriel riding together down Love Lane. Their manner and attitudes were suggestive, to
