SETTLERS SWARM CITY FIFTY CARS OF EFFECTS

Tie-up on North Line Creates Congestion in Regina—City Lends Aid—Coal and Passengers go as far as Craik

Nearly fifty cars of settlers effects including mnd horses and cattle are in the C.P.R. yards here waiting to go north. The tie-up on the branch has caused a great deal of hardship to these settlers and in some cases loss of money and in certain instances that of stock. Horses being so long in cars have become leg weary and have weakened under the severe strain. Some were unloaded in a helpless condition. There has been a plentiful supply of water and they had lots of feed along with them. The conditions this year have been unfortunate the winter being exceptionally cold and lingering on into April has been very disappointing. The government agents should have warned these people not to ship so early in the spring knowing as they did the conditions of the weather. On the road, now, however, they have to make the best of it although the experience is costly and by no means pleasant. As soon as the line is clear these settlers will be rushed forward and there will be at least three solid train loads. The most of them are from the United States with a sprinkling of Ontario and Manitoba settlers.

Scene at the Station.
The scene at the depot for several days has been one that leaves no doubt to the immigration department but it is unfortunate that these people en route along the north line could not procure accommodation while in the city. They have had to stay in the station day and night with untold discomfort. There were many women and small children. All the facilities of the depot were at the disposal of these people but they were tired out after almost a week in such quarters.

Some of our citizens interested themselves in the condition of these unfortunates and Mr. and Mrs. McAra who underwent just such a experience in the early days, arranged to accommodate a few at their home, and meal tickets were given others to get food at restaurants. The mayor instructed the chief of police to visit the station so as to provide against any suffering or want. These strangers tied up as they were, have a kindly feeling toward the citizens of Regina for it was certainly a time when assistance was greatly appreciated.

At the immigration hall the people have been stowed in like sardines and Harry Zimmet, the agent, has had the time of his life providing accommodation. In a few days more, however, the congestion will cease, in fact the first train out yesterday made considerable room, but all the stopping places are crowded with the regular trade.

Baggage and Mail
The express and baggage rooms were a sight for several days, and mail was piled everywhere. The mail clerks have a few hard days' work ahead and it will take the officials at Prince Albert and Saskatoon a week to distribute the postal matter. Two assistant clerks for the train service have arrived from the Soo line.

Petitions Company
A petition was circulated among the north line passengers praying the Canadian Northern to recoup them for their loss during their stay in Regina owing to the blockade on the branch.

C.P.R. Helps
The Canadian Pacific sent out a plow on Saturday and she worked her way through to Craik, and when this was done a train of coal was made up here and rushed through. Fuel was getting very scarce, for the cold weather continues, and on the prairie there is no sign of spring. The passenger train which took out the gang of shovellers returned to the city Monday evening and left the following morning on time going as far as Craik. She took out about three hundred passengers. As the line beyond that point was blocked it was useless to attempt to take people for further points.

Main Line Also
The main line of the C.N.R. has also been blocked for some time and in fact it has been in worse shape than the branch. Wes Spiers, colonization agent for the Dominion government passed through east on Saturday. He had been here in the early part of the week trying to get to Battleford and west up on the C.P.R. to Edmonton. He failed to get through over the C.N.R. main-line and returned to Brandon. Mr. Spiers states that the settlers are coming in as though it were an early spring and the government agents are very busy trying to direct them. The recent storm has congested things badly and unfortunately the roads over which most of them must travel are tied up.

The big rush this season so far is to the Battleford country and along other C.N.R. points.

MORE IMPROVEMENT THAN CONSTRUCTION
Winnipeg, April 8.—"How much construction will be done on western lines this year?" was asked of Vice President Mann, of the Canadian Northern railway, who this morning arrived in the city from Toronto.

"We will see less construction this year than we have ever done," was the reply. "Rather, we will do less than for several years. The energies of the company will be directed to the work of betterment of the lines already constructed, and to the supplying of equipment for these lines in the west."

"How much is included in the work of betterment?" Mr. Mann was asked.

"The work which we are to do this summer is of great consequence to the company. It will include the relaying of hundreds of miles of track and the improvement of the roadway of the country in every regard."

"How about the equipment of these lines," was next asked, "is it not true that all the companies from whom cars are secured are crowded with orders, and that it will be impossible to secure all the cars that you require?"

"It is true," replied Mr. Mann, "that the manufacturing plants are crowded with orders, and it is quite impossible, except under previous orders, to get the Canadian Northern, however, is fortunate in this regard, and has had five million dollars worth of equipment under order for some time past. This order includes ninety-five locomotives which are to be delivered up to us this year, and about three thousand cars. The delivery of these cars will go on throughout the year, and we expect that by the end of the year they will be in use on the lines of the company."

BLEEDING CONSUMERS SAY WILKINSON AND TAYLOR

Witness at the Ottawa Lumber Enquiry Assert That Prices are Outrageous—Ald. Wilkinson Created Sensation

"On Saturday last the lumber dealers in Regina made 30 to 250 per cent on lumber sold in this city."

This was the statement made to The West yesterday by Ald. Wilkinson, who asserts that he is familiar with the buying and selling prices of lumber, and knows that the dealers are bleeding the consumers.

Ald. Wilkinson related to The West some of the evidence given before the parliamentary committee at Ottawa, and he promises that the official report of the enquiry will be an interesting document. He claims that the press reports of the enquiry do not reveal the weakness of the position taken by the lumber interests, and he promises in utter confusion.

Ald. Wilkinson produced samples from Regina to show that when a consumer buys 1000 feet of lumber he only gets about 900 feet.

With regard to prices all round Ald. Wilkinson says that the dealers make a profit from thirty to eighty per cent. on ordinary sheeting lumber, and 100 per cent. on a common class of finishings.

"You cannot," said he "get enough ship lap today to cover a thousand feet of space for $40."

Respecting the trouble over the supplies for the city sidewalks he says that he is not willing that the citizens should be held up and made pay long profits, and he will not stand for a profit of $12 a thousand for planks that should be purchased for $28 per thousand.

After the above interview E. E. Taylor of Calgary, who was a witness at Ottawa before the committee of the House, dropped into The West office and discussed at some length the lumber situation. He was in the lumber business until frozen out by the combine. He claims that there is an excessive charge of from two to four dollars per thousand on lumber over the increased cost of pro-

A young Scotchman working on the C.P.R. double tracking along at Schovill was brought to Kenora, the victim of a dynamite explosion. It is feared he cannot survive as the lower part of his face was blown away.

In answer to Dr. Reid, Sir Frederick Borden said all he knew about his name being connected with the high commissioner's was what he had seen in the newspaper. The position was not vacant and he hoped to see Lord Strathcona long adorn the position.

The Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, in the Dominion house, has given notice of a resolution to provide for the raising of the salaries of the judges of the court of appeal and the King's bench in Manitoba, and the salaries of the eleven judges and junior judges in British Columbia, to be $3,000.

The Dominion lands offices are now located in Estevan and are getting into shape for the transaction of business. There are numberless details to be arranged before the business can be working smoothly, but in a couple of days everything will be in good order. Mr. Kisbey is the agent.

A settlement of the western railway difficulty was affected Thursday. The compromise was agreed to by both sides. The men are to receive a very material increase in wages, and they in turn drop the nine-hour day concession. All concerned are pleased with the termination of the controversy.

Crown Attorney Dayton of Toronto will enter suits against certain railways for violation of the Lord's Day Act under direction of the Lord's Day Alliance. It is likely that different suits will be entered against the managers of every railway and against the officers directly responsible for the operation of the railroads.

A very sad accident occurred at Arden, Man., when A.H. Kelly, a well known welder, was buried alive by sand while working in a well. A son who was working in the well with his father had a miraculous escape. He was evidently helped to a point of safety by the father before the latter became entirely covered with earth.

"I am informed that J. J. Hill will visit Winnipeg to confer with the city council regarding the entrance of the Midland railway, as it affects the rights of the city of Winnipeg." This was the statement that His Worship the Mayor made to a reporter for the Free Press regarding the newspaper reports that the city would ask for six subways under the tracks located in the Ross avenue district.

A report from Taber says the C. Y. ranch has been sold for a quarter of a million dollars to parties whose identity has not been divulged. The property consists of about 38,000 acres. A McLean was the original owner and he disposed of it about a year ago to parties of whom M. B. Reid, the manager, is one. It is understood that the property will be sold in sections or half sections to farmers.

The annual live stock association events for the year closed at Calgary on Thursday afternoon when Auctioneer Paisley sold the last animal event. Generally speaking the events were very much more successful than were anticipated by the general public. The previous sales coming at six months later than this year's sales made many a contributor extremely doubtful as to the outcome. The actual number of bulls sold by auction was 189, and the average price realised was $76.78.

Judge Monck of Hamilton, Ont., has ruled that a wife has no right to leave her husband and demand alimony unless he beats her many times. James Morden of Bullock's Corners, who was ordered by the magistrate to pay his wife $3 a week alimony, pleaded against the ruling. Morden claims his wife's favorite term of endearment for him was "drunken brute" and that she said she hoped that his soul would shrivel in hades. Evidence was produced to show that Morden had beaten his wife because she refused to go to church with him. The judge allowed the appeal of the husband.

Three little children met death at Langdon, N.D., in one of the saddest tragedies that has visited the vicinity. The victims of the flames were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Henderson. Mrs. Henderson had left the children locked in the house for a few minutes, soon after her departure flames were seen coming from the house, and neighbors rushed to the scene to put the fire out. When the distracted mother informed the people that the children were in the house, doors were broken open and the little babies were found lying close together in one room, all dead and smoking-hot. The fire was extinguished before the remains were cremated. It is supposed the children got playing with matches after the mother had gone.

Gruesome is the story told of the finding of the body of Jas. Hosler on the prairie about forty miles west of Saskatoon. Hosler left the home of a friend on Christmas day and started for his homestead but never reached it. Alberta and Saskatchewan have been without Dominion statutes since the first of the year. The minister of justice at Ottawa has introduced a bill to remedy this state of affairs. The new bill fixes things by making the new statutes retroactive.

THE WESTERN WHEAT SITUATION

(From Toronto News)

Very serious is the state of affairs in western Canada in regard to transportation. At the beginning of this month only one third of the grain of farmers of Saskatchewan had been moved by the railways to the lake front, the other two thirds remaining either in the elevators or the farmers' hands. In the latter case a good deal of it is only poorly protected and may be damaged. The Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association, at its recent meeting, made two suggestions, for overcoming the difficulty, one that the banks should advance money on wheat in local elevators or even in the farmers' hands and, second, failing that, the government of Saskatchewan should erect a large interior terminal elevator at some central point in the province to which the grain might be shipped first, to be forwarded to Port William as traffic facilities permitted. Mr. William Whyte of the Canadian Pacific Railway, opposes this latter proposition, and says the remedy is to be found in the building of granaries by the farmers. Mr. Whyte says the interior terminal elevator would involve two handlings of the wheat, when the car in which it was first loaded might be forwarded at once to Port William. He also adds that to get their grain to an interior terminal elevator would do the farmers no good, because what they want is to get the money for it, and this could be done at such a place.

One would not care lightly to oppose the opinion of a man with such wide experience as Mr. Whyte, but as the matter was put by the grain growers, there is much to be said for their proposal. In the first place, it would be a necessary condition of the building of a provincial interior elevator that banks would advance money on grain held there as well as at Port William. If that could be secured the elevator, as we understand it, would not be built. Such an elevator would be six, seven or eight hundred miles west of Port William, according to the site selected, and cars carrying grain from Saskatchewan grain fields, would save a round trip of say, fifteen hundred miles. Thus the same number of cars would carry much more wheat in the short autumn season to say, Regina or Moose Jaw than to Port William. The farmers have made up their minds that only a portion of the crop is going to be taken out by lake before navigation closes, and it is therefore a question of storing the grain somewhere west of the great lakes. If the attempt is made to carry it to Port William at once the car service is so inadequate and the distance so great that congestion through the autumn and winter is inevitable for many years ahead. In the meantime the local elevators become choked and the farmer cannot team his grain out to his local shipping point during the idle months on the farm, but it remains to be drawn in during the busy time and bad roads of the early spring and summer. Besides with the present prices of lumber the building of large granaries would be a real hardship on the farmer. On the other hand, suppose the Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan grain to be forwarded to Port William as rapidly as possible in the fall, while the remaining sections of the country were drained into a terminal elevator at Regina. The return trips could be made quickly, the local elevators would be kept open, and the farmers could get all his grain off his farm before the spring thaws set in. On their own showing of previous years, the railways would benefit immensely. In the past, when farmers have complained that their grain was not moved to Port William before navigation closed, the railways have replied that it would be unfair to expect them to buy enough rolling stock to carry all the grain in three months, and then to have this rolling stock rust idle in the yards for the remaining nine months. That argument is not often heard these days, nevertheless it has been seriously urged. Keeping that argument in mind, the farmers reply that this is just what the railways want. The grain is got under cover quickly, the farmer gets his money for it, and the railways, instead of having all their east bound traffic crowded into three months, may spread it over the autumn, spring and summer—practically over the whole year. Moreover the railways complain bitterly of having to haul the empty wheat cars back from Port William to the prairies. The new method would obviate this to a greater extent by allowing west bound cars to be filled with coal and merchandise brought up by the lake carriers. The railways are going to have all they can do to keep pace with western expansion for the next ten years, and so far as easterners can see, they should have no objection to this proposition of the Saskatchewan farmers which promises some relief in the present situation.

ARE AGAINST LOW TARIFF

Western Liberals Vote Down Motion to Reduce Duty on Farm Machinery to Ten Per Cent

Ottawa, April 3.—The house went into committee on the bill respecting duties of customs. Mr. Shafler, of Souris called attention to the duties on agricultural implements. He said that in his constituency 7,344 mowers and a similar number of binders were required annually to take off the crop. That meant an expenditure of over a million dollars in Souris alone. He referred to past speeches of Liberal leaders in favor of the bill for agricultural implements. The best thing implement manufacturers could do was to get in closer touch with the farmers. He moved to amend item 445 so as to make the general tariff on all mowers, binders and harvesters and reapers 10 per cent instead of 17 1/2. Mr. Staples (Manitoba) seconded the adoption of the amendment. He declared that while duty had been reduced 2 1/2 per cent, yet the price of implements to western farmers had gone up. Yesterday he was offered a six foot binder for $125, whereas the price in Manitoba was $147. Such a wide discrepancy between Manitoba and Ontario should be investigated. Mr. Lake (Qu'Appelle) supported the reduction. Hon. Wm. Patterson opposed the reduction. He said that the government had met the wishes, so far as possible, of the farmers, and he was sure they would be satisfied with what had been done. At the same time the government had not done any injury to the manufacturers. Mr. Knowles (West Assiniboia) contended that the opposition was not sincere in bringing forward this amendment, and regarded it as a political dodge. William Roche (Marquette) strongly favored reduced protection on the farm implements and blamed the government for not having secured full information as to the actual cost of these machines so as to ascertain whether thereon profits were as large as they were believed to be. He contended that the protectionist by voting for the amendment. Shafler's amendment was defeated by 56 to 27. Western men who voted against it were Bole, Greenway, Burrows, McCraney, Cash, Adanson and McIntyre. Those who voted for it were Shafler, Staples, Roche, McCarty, Herton and Lake. On the third reading of the new tariff, R. L. Borden moved an amendment that the operation of new

RESIGNATION OF SWETTENHAM

London, April 6.—The Standard today declares that it is able to publish for the first time the circumstances leading to the resignation of Sir Alexander Swettenham as governor of Jamaica. The paper says that according to Sir Alexander's own statement in a letter to an intimate friend, he resigned in consequence of a preemptory demand from the colonial office to apologise to Rear Admiral Davis. To this Sir Alexander replied that it such a course were necessary, he would do so, but a compulsory apology carried with it his resignation. Sir Alexander denies emphatically that there was any dispute between him and the admiral at the time of the Kingston earthquake, saying, "We were the best of friends during the whole time the admiral was here. He had the use of one of my private carriages and drove around with my private secretary."

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine? Most intelligent and sensible people like to meet upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated. For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth and convalescence comparatively painless. The Favorite Prescription is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It checks a sickening and invigorating nervous and curbs nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neurasthenia, hysteria, spasms, diarrhoea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs. A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free extract from the leading authorities, to Doctor J. C. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

TEN MILLIONS FOR CANADIAN LINES

President Louis Hill Gives Important Interview Regarding Plans in This Country--West Story Confirmed

Minneapolis, April 8.—Louis Hill, new president of the Great Northern Railway in an interview stated that his company are now ready with plans for Canadian extensions. The following are the admissions by Mr. Hill: Ten million dollars acquired by the new stock issue will be applied on western Canadian extensions. The system to be projected will be the equal of the present lines in the States. Winnipeg will be the headquarters and vast terminals are being secured or have been purchased in Winnipeg, Minneapolis, Chicago, Vancouver and Seattle. Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Edmonton, Prince Albert and the Peace River valley will be ultimately covered by the Hill system. Thirty surveyors are now getting plans ready for the Canadian field. Five hundred men in the Minnesota woods have been getting out ties for the lines on this side of the border all the winter. Huge contracts for steel rails, equipment and general supplies have been made in readiness for the projected Canadian system of the Great Northern. The above story confirms the information given The West recently by T. C. Norris, M.P.P., of Manitoba, who while admitting that the charter for the Saskatchewan Central railway was in connection with the Hill system was not in a position to commit himself further regarding the interests he represented before the private bills committee of the Saskatchewan legislature.

At Brandon I had a whole regiment go past me at the gallows. You could have drawn a string across the line of the horses' heads and every man sitting like a war god. Col. Evans has instituted a method of inspection that struck me as being most effective. I have been practising decentralisation for years, that is, have each district command independently in war. It would be ridiculous to have the forces in Vancouver or even Winnipeg waiting for orders from headquarters. The sooner we in Ottawa get over the idea that everything should be executed here, the better. "Keep western Ontario, eastern Ontario, the Maritime provinces and the west independent. Red tape is all right. I believe in it up to a certain limit, but it must not be carried too far."

WHAT STORMS COST RAILWAYS

Montreal, April 4.—Some interesting statistics showing the cost to the railways of the recent hard winter in the west, and, in fact, all through Canada, have been set forth by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The gross earnings of that road were $49,754 more for the month of February this year than last year. This increase, however, in the gross earnings is much more than offset by the great increase in the cost of running the road due to the extremely severe weather suffered through-

At the meeting of the city board of works last evening a contract was recommended through a commission agent for paving for the city sidewalks at $25 per thousand. This is a saving of $8 per thousand to the city and the profit to the dealer is $25 per car. This report will be made to the council tonight.

PARENT WAS A BRUTE

Bad Tempered Father Killed his Children—Would not Shoot Their Mother

Montreal, April 7.—Farmer William Simpson, murdered his children near Hudson's Heights today under peculiar conditions. The people of Hudson's Heights were a hard working fellow and a good sort of man, who never took drink and was generally well behaved. He had, however, a very bad temper, and was a bit simple in his ways. If crossed he was apt to become very violent and fight without apparent provocation. It is related by one of his brothers that he hitched a coil to a rig, and the animal and his wife, he wished, he took an axe and brain-ed it where it stood, while other stories of Simpson to similar effects are current. Mrs. Simpson said that when she heard the shots in the room she ran in, and her husband said: "Don't bother me, I don't want to kill you." Mrs. Simpson asked why he did not kill her instead of these little children. He told her to go away as he did not want to hurt her. Mrs. Simpson ran to the neighbors. He followed her and fell in the porch. When Mrs. Simpson returned her husband said: "I have brought dishonor on the family and you must forgive me for what I have done." Mrs. Simpson said she could not imagine what had caused him to commit so terrible an act.

WHAT GREATNESS IS

The greatness of a country is not in size, its population or its wealth, but in the contributions it makes to the thought and happiness of the world. In course of time Canada will develop a literature which will be a monument and a glory to her. It will be a new literature, typical of the soil which gives it birth, a fine literature with a distinctive quality of its own. Remember how much there is in life besides wealth and success; how many pleasures there are which money cannot buy.—Ambassador Bryce, before the Canadian Club, Toronto.

NATURE'S PRUNING

This is All That Forest Trees Get—Artificial Pruning Too Expensive. One great difference between the forester's management of trees and that of the horticulturist or the arboriculturist lies in the manner in which the tree is pruned. The horticulturist does not let the tree to grow as it pleases; he carefully directs and prunes the branches so that it will best serve the purpose intended. The forester leaves all this to nature; he trusts in what is called "natural pruning." His theory is this: that, in the course of the growth of the tree, the light will be cut off from the lower branches of the tree as the branches are formed higher up. In order to grow in order to live at all—these branches must have light; (whether they require much or little depends on the species of tree and the conditions in which they grow.) When the light is cut off from them, they cease to flourish and finally die. At the point where the dead branch joins the main stem of the tree new layers of wood are put on the tree, owing to the yearly growth in diameter of the main stem, and the dead branch is gradually weakened at this point until, through the action of the wind, the whipping of other branches or some other cause, the branch is knocked from the tree. All that remains of that branch henceforth is the knot in the stem of the tree that is formed by that part of the branch that is still retained within the stem. In this way, as the tree grows it is cleared of branches to a greater and greater height until finally there is left a long stem, clear of branches to a height of fifty, sixty or even a hundred feet. Such a tree will produce the better grades of lumber. Trees from knots, and hence the kind of lumber most desired. The same result might have been attained by taking an axe or saw and lopping off the branches; but the original expense of this, together with the interest thereon, would amount to so large a sum that it would take a large proportion of the receipts of the sale of the timber.

Champion Ram

Trees and the Cold

It has long been a prejudice among fruit growers that trees should be encouraged to ripen their wood early, in order to make them withstand the cold weather, says The Country Gentleman. While there probably is some basis of fact for this notion, there are certainly some facts on the other side. The writer has observed peach trees during two recent cold winters, and found that those trees which made the latest growth were precisely the ones which stood the cold weather best. Prof. Waldron of North Dakota says that crows cropping in orchards in winter is a mistake for the same reason. The hastening of maturity in the trees is no advantage, he says, while the drying effect of the cover crop in a winter season. It will probably be necessary to revise the old theory somewhat.

For Early Tomatoes

For very early tomatoes, or indeed, for all those very early varieties, of which we now have several, that can be raised in a district, the best plan is to plant the earliest and finest plants in the district. For example, if you want to raise the earliest and finest plants in the district, you should plant the earliest and finest plants in the district.

Sheriff Duncan went to Edmonton, Saturday with Justice Grier, who will serve his life sentence there all the Saskatchewan penitentiary is built. Winnipeg papers have contained notices warning painters, decorators and bricklayers to keep away from Regina as there is a strike on here. This is the first intimation of such local conditions respecting these trades. A petition was circulated this week to get Oxbow made a judicial centre. Assurance was given by the government that the matter of the location would not be finally determined until the return of the Hon. Walter Scott.—Alameda Dispatch.

GIVE NATURE A CHANCE.

The strongest minds have gotten their inspiration direct from Nature. Nature is the great teacher of mankind, and we can look to Nature for all our needs. In the recent Russo-Japanese war the surgeons of the Japanese navy and army discovered that wounds would heal more rapidly and with better success if left to Nature. They were told that with water which had been boiled and then sterilized—then bandaged the wounds with clean linen—toward the end of the war, they were told that if antiseptics were used in their first aid to the injured, such methods resulted in the loss of only 25 out of 100 men treated in a naval hospital for their wounds. It is only from lack of observing Nature's laws that most of us suffer at one time or another from indigestion, impure blood and a generally run-down system. But remedy lies in Nature's laboratory—deep in the fragrant woods—where are many American plants, the roots of which when properly treated will supply a health-giving tonic. Twenty years ago a physician who had an extensive practice among the afflicted made a striking departure from the usual methods of his country in medicine—he went straight to Nature for the cure of those stomach disorders which resulted so often in an anemic condition, or impure blood, loss of appetite, pale or pimply skin, feeling of lassitude and weakness. He found that the bark of the Black Cherry-tree, the root of the Mandrake, Stone root, Queen's root, Bloodroot and other roots, made into a scientific, non-alcoholic extract by the use of glycerine, made the best alternative to the use of alcohol. The refreshing influence of this extract is at once apparent in the recovered strength of the patient—the vital fire of the body burns brighter and their increased activity consumes the usual rubbish which otherwise may poison the system. This extract, a tonic extract has been found to stand alone as a safe, invigorating tonic, as it does not depend on alcohol for its stimulation, but is Nature's own method of strengthening and cleansing the system. It tones up the stomach and the blood in Nature's own way. It is well known all over the world that Dr. Pierce's Golden Seal root, is a valuable tonic. The name was given to this vegetable compound because one of the important ingredients was Golden Seal root. Such an authority as Dr. Roberts Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, says "very useful as a stomachic tonic. Cures catarrh of the stomach and headaches accompanying the same." Dr. Grover Cox, of his book Organic Medicines, speaking of Golden Seal root, says that "as a liver invigorator it has few equals." Further he says, "in chronic inflammation of the bladder we deem it one of the most reliable of cures. As a tonic in the convalescing stages of fevers, pneumonia, dysentery and other acute diseases, drugging (Golden Seal root) is peculiarly appropriate." Dr. Cox continues: "We would here add that our experience has demonstrated the Hydrastis or Golden Seal root to be a valuable remedy in bronchitis, laryngitis, and other affections of the respiratory organs." Of service in chronic catarrh of the stomach and bowels following abuse of alcohol, a tonic after malarial fever. Has a distinct, anti-malarial effect. Good in all catarrhal conditions, as chronic catarrh, leucorrhoea, etc. Is a curative agent in chronic dyspepsia.—Hobart A. Hare, M.D., University of Pennsylvania.

C. P. R. EXEMPTION

By the recent decision of the Imperial Privy Council, that there is no ground for appeal against the findings of the Supreme Court at Ottawa in February 1905, the C. P. R. scores a sweeping victory against the people of western Canada in regard to the meaning of the clause in its charter exempting its lands from taxation for twenty years.

The above is the opening paragraph of a lengthy editorial from the Free Press on the C. P. R. exemption case. At the outset, in reply to the Free Press, we contend that they have presented the case in a bad light. In the first place there was no recent decision given by the Privy Council respecting this case except to refuse to hear a stated case.

Although the reasons given by the Judicial Committee for declining to hear the case have not come to our notice, it appears that in reality there was no case made out.

It will be remembered that in 1901 the Haultain Government of the North-West Territories took a case to the courts against the C. P. R., when the Balgonie school district sued the company to recover certain taxes. The case went to the court en banc, and while the judges were unanimously in favor of the company they all gave their decisions on different grounds.

Later, and when the negotiations were well under way respecting provincial autonomy, the Dominion Government, without co-operating with the western provinces, arranged as the Free Press says:

To determine the meaning of the exemption clause in the charter, the Liberal Government decided to defray all the expenses in connection with the test cases taken by three municipalities to compel the C. P. R. to pay taxes on its lands. The municipalities selected were North Cypress and Aggie, in this province and Springfield School District, No. 243, of the old North-West Territories; the first and third of these being wholly within the forty-eight mile main line belt, and the second wholly outside that belt but within one of the reservations set apart to make up deficiencies of first class land.

other property, rolling stock and other appurtenances required and used for the construction and working thereof and the capital stock of the company, shall be forever exempt from taxation by the Dominion or by the province hereafter to be established, or by any municipal incorporation therein; and the lands of the company, in the North-West Territories shall until they are either sold or occupied, shall be free from such taxation for twenty years after the grant thereof from the crown.

It will be noticed that the two municipalities of Manitoba mentioned in this case were in the North-West Territories when the C. P. R. contract became law. Manitoba has the right to tax the C. P. R. on all property except their farm lands, but according to the terms and mutual arrangements entered into at the time Manitoba's boundaries were changed they have no semblance of right to violate the compact confirmed at the time and which excluded that Province from taxing the C. P. R. in that part of her territory annexed from the North-West Territories. Stating the case as they did for hearing by the Privy Council their position was prejudiced from the beginning.

With the case of Saskatchewan, however, the case is quite different. The constitutional conditions have changed since the case referred to was instituted and therefore it does not apply to us in our present status, and as far as we are concerned, if the Privy Council had heard the stated case and had decided against the railway company the decision would not have applied to this province.

With regard to this exemption the contention of Mr. Haultain is that the Dominion Government cannot limit this province in its powers of taxation. What applied to the North-West Territories, outside of the school tax, does not apply at all today.

Mr. Lamont stated for the Government in the House a few days ago that they respected the C. P. R. exemption.

Mr. Haultain says that the province can take a test case on this point at any time and he stands pledged to make this test case if elected to office.

We say again that the refusal of the Privy Council to hear the stated case from the Dominion Government does not apply to this province and that a case will be presented to the Privy Council which they cannot refuse to consider, and the man who will take that test case is the HON. F. W. G. HAULTAIN.

There are some points of resemblance between the American land frauds and the Canadian land frauds.

SESSIONAL REVIEW

By Staff Representative

The session over the time is opportune to review the work of the legislature. It is a tribute to Attorney-General Lamont that he led the House so successfully in the absence of Premier Scott, for Mr. Lamont has the happy faculty of getting along well with both sides of the House. He takes his knocks with perfect "equanimity" and hands them out to the other fellow without the slightest compunction. The Attorney-General held up his end fairly well all the way through, but Mr. Motherwell in dividing his time between agriculture and public works was master of neither. Owing to his lack of knowledge of the province generally he could not discuss important questions with that familiarity and intelligence which is expected of his position, and in Mr. Scott's department he was entirely at sea, having in committee of supply, to depend entirely on the deputy, Mr. Robinson.

Mr. Calder knew his department of education well, but he shared some responsibility with Mr. Motherwell with respect to public works, and was equally unfortunate in his knowledge of that department. As provincial treasurer Mr. Calder has not inspired the country with confidence in his ability as a financier or as a prophet. He urged before the election that the financial arrangements with Ottawa were adequate to the needs of the province and yet at the second session he has exhausted every source of revenue and resorted to direct taxation. What the state of the public business will be in even two years from now, we must leave to chance, but hope for the best.

The current revenue is gone; there is a direct tax upon the farmers and ranchers (towns and cities exempt) of $330,000; there is an increase of $100,000 from Ottawa by reason of the Quebec Conference resolutions, and the Government has been empowered to borrow $2,000,000 on the provincial credit. The only money not spent is what they have not yet got their hands on. Mr. Haultain well named the policy of the Government as that of the "Rodrigal" $75,000 per year is paid to the R.N.W.M.P. Police in a lump sum, and the Government could not inform the House of the nature of the service rendered in return. Unnecessary provision was made for salaried game guardians, who will do work already paid for in the police appropriation money voted for wolf bounty has been spent among fur dealers, practically thrown away as regards the object of the vote. Many cases were cited where the public works department has given money to party heeling to spend on public improvements, and nearly fifty per cent has gone into the pocket of the "faithful" servant. Owing to the autonomy terms the University, Agricultural College, and Collegiate Institute, will be a burden upon the people and will have to be maintained by direct taxation. The Government's amendment admits the principle of direct taxation, but the Opposition could not kill the bill at the third reading, and if they could get the Government to refer the measure back to Committee to make the amendment proposed, which would modify many of the bad features of the act, they would have been doing a great deal for the farmers of Saskatchewan. If it is possible to revoke a bad bargain, then make the best of it, if a change is possible. This is just what was proposed in Mr. Haultain's amendments to the bill imposing direct taxation. With respect to the Government's taxation scheme the certain result will be that the tax will have to be borne for all time, either by the farmers as at present, or by the province as a whole, or be revoked as a tax and paid out of other general revenue, which the public treasury will not stand. The policy of the Government is that of a "neight stand showman," for they take no thought for the future.

This government is about the size of an inferior town council. They undertake to construct a land title office in Regina. All summer is lost in digging the basement by day labor, at an enormous cost. Then the provincial architect is verbally instructed to take a look at the hole and draw plans; the only stipulation being that the rear wall, next to Geo. Brown's property, must be as good as the front, this being a condition of the site purchase, and the land lots were not presented to the government either. Other officers of the department advise the architect what the plans should be, and as too many cooks spoil the broth, he brings in plans three times as costly as the Government can afford.

This is only a sample of administration under the present Government. They spend the public money on Government and party machinery and the machine is about all the country has to look at. That is as far as this Government has got yet. With regard to the broader matters of administration they have no policy. They are not ready to have their hands forced on the telephone question and will only commit themselves to an inquiry.

While they cannot view the transportation question with equanimity, they keep their arms folded until something happens, to either force them into action or to improve conditions and restore their composure. On the grain question the conditions they tell us are "intolerable," yet we must look with abiding faith in the future, for the present they have no solution.

The Government showed themselves much more capable of handling legislation this session, and if they had shown the same improvement in policy, they would be entitled to much more public confidence. Many important changes were made in legislation at the suggestion of Mr. Haultain, of course, in committee, but it is a credit to the Opposition that they improved as they did on much of the legislation introduced. With regard to the university bill this was particularly striking, but of course there was absolute harmony in the House with regard to this bill. With the act to supplement the revenues of the crown, or what is known as known as the direct tax bill, the case was different, and there was a disagreement at every point, and this dangerous bill went through as brought down.

The same is practically true of the liquor license act which contains provisions that enable the officials of that department to turn their system into a political machine. This is not a threatening danger, but it is a possible source of alarm, and while we have a great deal of faith in the officials at present in charge, party expediency might later drive the government to make an improper use of this department.

We believe that the session has weakened the government throughout the country and that the people realize that the present administration is unsafe and that their confidence in office will result disastrously in the future. It is apparent from the expressed sentiment of the country that Mr. Haultain enjoys the confidence of the electors. The Government has criticized him for attacking them when he has not given them a policy, and he can take the attitude of Sir Robert Peel, who once said that he would "prescribe when he is called in."

Mr. Haultain can, prescribe, and we believe that at the earliest opportunity he will be called in. His political record in this country contrasts well with the policy of the present Government, which in effect is: "Cheer up and pay your taxes."

In committee of supply the acting commissioner of public works stated in reply to enquiry that the government does not propose to buy teams in connection with their road gang system but will engage farmers and other workmen. There will be a government foreman and camping outfit, but the success of the scheme depends upon whether sufficient men and teams can be secured to do the work.

The acute question of water supply in certain districts came up for discussion in committee of supply in the legislature. J. H. Sheppard (Moose Jaw District) expressed his doubt as to the adequacy of the government policy in not continuing the operation of well boring machines, but instead voting assistance to private operators. The conditions under which the government assistance is granted are that after a private concern puts down five wells in which water has been obtained the government will pay the operators a sum equal to the amount of the freight and duty on the machine which practically amounts to half the cost. Mr. Sheppard contended that private concerns will only operate in districts where they can get water easily and in his district it is impossible to get water except by driving hundreds of feet and at present the situation is very acute. In fact there is no other matter of such importance to many of his constituents. The government stated in answer to

HAS PRINCE RUPERT BEEN ABANDONED

The Week Says That G. T. P. has Been Playing Game of Bluff and has cut Place Cold

The Week, of Victoria and Vancouver, in discussing the G.T.P. situation since the B.C. elections says that the new transcontinental will not make Prince Rupert the Pacific terminus. The Week says in part: "It is not yet two months since the election was held, and what is the position today? The journalistic enterprise has subsided, even the Victoria Times has ceased to publish the Hon. Wm. Templeman's predictions, but what is very much more to the point, as evidencing the actual conditions of affairs and the policy of the G.T.P. is the fact that today Prince Rupert is practically deserted. The last steamship from the north brought down forty Japs, leaving only six on the island and practically all the white labor that was rushed up to Prince Rupert six months ago. Even the surveyors have been taken off the work, and their assistants, who were hired for the coming summer, have been discharged and are back in Victoria. The steamship Camosun on her trip down carried no messenger who was instructed to do and actually did, cancel every order which had been placed by the G.T.P. for lumber, so that there is not even the pretence of continuing even the roughest kind of lumber building. As things stand at present the G.T.P. have pulled out of Prince Rupert, and The Week adheres to the opinion that it has held and expressed all along, that they have not and never did have the slightest intention of making it their terminus. The whole thing has been a huge game of bluff. It is just possible that if Premier McBride had been found more complaisant in the matter of a land grant, this unselfish corporation might have been induced to stay at Prince Rupert, but his public attitude on that question, coupled with the light that has recently been thrown upon the private relations existing between the federal government and the G.T.P., as evidenced by the negotiations for the Mistakenia Reserve, all tend to show that the game of attempted bluff is not yet finished. Whether the abandonment of Prince Rupert is only a bluff remains to be seen, but it is the duty of every paper published in British Columbia to make itself acquainted with the facts and to let the public know just what is being done and what is not being done by the Western Octopus.

a question respecting the big machine in Mr. Calder's constituency that the well at Wilcox has already cost the government $3000 and while they have gone down 1400 feet there is no indication of water.

In answer to an inquiry respecting the proposed bridge at Prince Albert Mr. Lamont said that the matter is in abeyance for the present as they cannot come to a satisfactory arrangement with the C.N.R., which company must have a railway bridge and if they will make theirs to accommodate traffic as well, the government would pay them the sum in the estimates, viz. $50,000, but if the company will not accept that amount the government will proceed to construct a bridge on their own account.

Regarding the extension of the C.N.R. west from Prince Albert, Mr. Lamont stated to the legislature that he had been negotiating with the railway company regarding this matter and has been assured that they will commence construction this spring and at least fifty miles will be built this season.

When the vote of $12,000 for criminal prosecutions was reached, Mr. Haultain took up the delicate matter of the relationship between the Attorney General and his law partners who have shared so largely in the emoluments from crown work during the past year. This question had come to the notice of members of the law profession and Mr. Haultain warned Mr. Lamont that the policy of his department in this respect approaches a public scandal and he cannot afford not to put himself right with the people and the profession. The attorney general said in reply that his partners are capable men and as he does not share in the profits from this work he does not propose to take the crown work from them. He went further and said that since he entered the cabinet he has not received any share of the business from his two law firms. Mr. Haultain asked him whether he considered he was entitled to any share in the profits, but Mr. Lamont made no reply. The leader of the Opposition urged that while this is a delicate matter in one respect there is a principle underlying it which must be respected and the attorney general cannot ignore that principle with impunity.

The R.N.W.M. Police are in a peculiar position with respect to their relationship to the province. During the discussion of the estimates it was learned that the attorney general's department cannot tell to what extent the force has aided the administration of justice during the past year. The province pays out $75,000 annually in a lump sum and yet it appears that is largely for the moral effect of the police. There is no reflection cast on the force, but this is considered expensive administration.

Mr. Motherwell got his bumps when his estimates were before committee. The appointment of a chief clerk has become necessary because of the dismissal of Mr. Honeyman, and the new deputy cannot supervise the office work through lack of knowledge and experience. Mr. Motherwell said he wanted a deputy who he can send out on the road to talk to farmers, and Mr. Haultain retorted that if the commissioner kept his deputy in the office and were to go out over the country himself he might be able to take a more creditable part as the head of his department when matters of importance came up in the house for consideration.

In committee of supply Mr. Haultain wormed out of the government important information concerning the preparation of the plans for the Regina land titles office and the replies to Mr. Haultain's questions show that Geo. H. Hutchinson the provincial architect was never given written instructions and several officials of the department butted into his work in such a manner as to render his work useless. The fact is proven that the error in connection with these plans are not the fault of the architect. However, he will be let out when Mr. Scott arrives home as intimated by Mr. Calder.

The last act of the legislature was the passing of a bill empowering the Government to borrow two million dollars on the credit of the province in the money markets of the world at four per cent. interest.

The bill and resolution respecting the taxation of corporations was amended whereby the banks will pay a tax of $400 for each head office, one hundred dollars for each of the first four branches, and $25 for each one over eight branches. Private banks will pay $200 for their head office if located in a city or town and half of that amount if located in a village.

Insurance companies with their head office in Saskatchewan will pay 1 per cent on premiums and 1 per cent on the funds invested in the province if the head office is elsewhere. The general provisions for insurance companies, a tax of one per cent of the gross premiums of life insurance companies and two per cent for other companies. Insurance companies that re-insure are provided for so that two companies will not pay a premium on the one sum of money.

CERTAINLY A SCANDAL

Important Document Withheld From Legislature by Mr. Motherwell—Up to Department

In committee of supply in the legislature Mr. Haultain asked why certain returns had not been brought down respecting the Regina land titles office. Mr. Motherwell replied that he had been busy, but that the returns asked for would be laid on the table next morning. Thus on Wednesday morning (before adjournment) the returns were brought down, but there appeared to be an absence of any document respecting the serious matter about which the country has heard so much respecting the plans as drafted by Mr. Hutchinson. Mr. Haultain asked Mr. Motherwell if he were sure that the returns as laid on the table contained all the correspondence and documents relating to the matter in question. Mr. Motherwell said that was all the papers on the files.

Mr. Haultain asked if he would state, as acting head of the public works department, that there were no documents or correspondence other than that presented to the House.

Mr. Motherwell said that the returns were complete. It now appears that on March 18th Mr. Hutchinson, provincial architect, wrote a lengthy letter to the department, addressed to Mr. Motherwell, protesting against them making a scape goat of him in connection with their blunders. This letter is a severe indictment of the department but it was kept back from the House and the purpose is obvious. Mr. Motherwell stands in a most unenviable position with respect to this matter and he will certainly have to explain.

NEW LIQUOR LICENSE ACT

The new liquor license act changes entirely the administration of that department. Instead of having the province divided into districts, the new law provides for one board of three salaried commissioners for the province who shall cease to hold office on December 31st of each year. There will be seven license inspectors under a chief.

In cities and towns hotels must have at least twenty-five rooms and in villages not less than fifteen rooms and each house shall have two sitting rooms separate from the bar.

Fire Protection
For fire protection proper ropes and fastenings shall be kept in each room.

Signs printed in large letters containing directions to the location of fire escapes, which signs shall be placed and at all times kept in conspicuous places in halls and corridors. A plan of all floors showing the location of stairs and fire escapes, such plans to be kept at all times exhibited on the walls of each bedroom.

Fire extinguishers to the number and of the quality or kind approved by the inspector to be kept at all times in accessible places in the hall or corridor of each flat.

Where an electric light is installed lights shall be kept burning all night in each hall and corridor.

License Fees.
In cities the sum of $400.
In towns the sum of $300.
In villages and rural localities the sum of $250.

For each wholesale license —
In cities the sum of $400.
In places other than cities, the sum of $300.

The principal speakers during the debate on the second reading of this bill were Mr. Lamont, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Haultain. The leader of the opposition strongly urged upon the government the necessity for inspecting all liquor as at present there is a great deal of impure stuff put up to the public. The bacteriologist's department could do this work in connection with their present duties. The great evil surrounds the treating system but the country is gradually growing temperate and even if the process be slow education will have good results.

"Preventives" will promptly check a cold or the Grippe when taken early, or the mucus stage. Preventives cures nested colds as well. Preventives are little candy sold cure tablets, and Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., will gladly mail you samples and a book on colds free if you will write him. The samples prove their merit. Check early, colds with Preventives and stop Pneumonia. Sold in 25 and 50c boxes by the Regina Pharmacy Stores.

R. S. Lake Moves in House of Commons That Western Provinces be Given Their Rightful Heritage

When the resolutions of the Provincial conference were before parliament recently for adoption, R. S. Lake moved the following amendment to transfer to the western provinces the lands now vested in the Dominion government:

We also humbly approach your majesty for the purpose of representing that it is desirable to amend the B.N.A. acts of 1867, all relevant orders of council made under the powers thereby conferred, and also the Alberta act and the Saskatchewan act being chapters 3 and 42 of acts of parliament of Canada, 4-5, Edward VII., so as to provide that all lands mines and minerals, all timbers, water power, and all other public domain incident thereto, heretofore arising within the limits of the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia respectively, and now vested in the crown in the right of Canada, shall hereafter be vested in the crown in the right of the said provinces and shall be administered by the provincial governments of the said respective provinces subject to any trusts existing in respect thereof and to any interests other than that of the crown in the same, except those portions thereof now used or occupied for public works, buildings and otherwise for the public of Canada and which shall continue to be the property of the crown in the right of Canada, and so as to provide that a reasonable adjustment shall, in consequence, be made of grants of money heretofore provided for compensations for said provinces in lieu of public domain, and we pray that your majesty may be graciously pleased to cause a measure to be laid before the Imperial House at its present session so amending said imperial acts and orders in council and authorizing such amendments of said acts of the parliament.

This was ruled out of order by the speaker on the ground that it had no relevancy to the financial estimates mentioned in the resolutions.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will strengthen the distorted limbs of chronic rheumatism, nor turn honey combs back to flesh again. This is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and purge of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Committee of the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredients with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I have found a cure for all cases of this heretofore incurable disease. These said ingredients were found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve the same, and I find the action of this remedy as free as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, which dissolved, this poisonous waste freely pass from the system and the Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse—no longer for suffering. We sell, and in each city recommend

THE GIANT OF CASTLE RUIN

A FAIRY STORY FOR THE BOYS

BY EUGENIE OLEUGH

(Written for THE WEST)

Once upon a time, long long ago, on so long ago that even the oldest inhabitant can't remember when, there lived a little boy who was a great deal of trouble to his parents.

He never wanted to learn his lessons and grow up to be a wise man; he never wanted to run an errand for his mother or to be of any little help to his father by carrying fagots to their cottage or helping him cut wood in the forest; he never wanted to do anything at all, except lie in the shade and sleep, or catch bugs and flies and pull their legs and their wings off, for he was a very, very cruel bad boy, as all boys are; never want to learn, or to help people in any way. His name was Laziness, but they called him Lazy for short; because "Laziness" was quite a long name sometimes when his mother wanted him in a hurry; but she might just as well have taken her time because Lazy would never hurry, not the least little bit.

So it went on like this for a long time; and of an evening after they had had their frugal supper of porridge and brown bread and cheese for they were quite poor and could not have many nice things to eat, the father and mother of Lazy would sit by the fire and talk and wonder what on earth they could ever do to make a good smart boy out of Lazy.

Now at the other end of the little village there was another family with a boy about the size and age of Lazy whose name was Dontcare.

Now Dontcare was almost if not quite as bad a boy as Lazy. They played together a great deal, and his parents could not make him learn anything useful at all. They would buy him neat, good clothes, but he never had them good or neat very long. He would get them dirty and then he would not care enough to brush them; if he saw any mud or water in the street he would walk right through it instead of around it and then would not clean or polish his shoes, and as to his face and hands he never kept them nice and clean. So really he was just as bad in every way as Lazy and they were the worst two boys in the village.

All the other parents had them as bad examples for their own children and would warn them against being like Lazy and Dontcare.

away. They hurried off because the brook kept saying "ker-splash, ker-splash," "come in, come in" and it and it sounded so much like the water in their mothers' tubs that they were afraid they would have to take a bath, so they ran as fast as they could go till they couldn't hear the pretty little brook any longer. They ate some more berries which grew plentifully along the way, and after a while, as they walked on and on, chasing strange birds and new, glittering butterflies, they came to the edge of a hill. Here they stopped and looked down. They wondered what road that was, they had never seen it before. How nice it looked; how easy, not a single hill to climb; in fact it looked one lovely, broad all-down-hill itself. If one slipped why he'd get to the bottom all the faster, no trouble at all. So they decided they would go down this road after resting at the bottom of a big tree for a while, for Laziness was sitting down and hated to get up just yet.

While Lazy was lying on the grass and Dontcare was throwing stones at a little green toad that was winking and blinking at him, they heard a rustle in the trees overhead. Looking up they saw a queer looking creature that looked very solemnly at them. Their hearts gave a queer little thump; not fear exactly, but a kind of little pain in it. They remembered feeling that same little pain once or twice before, but it was always when they were going to do something very wrong.

"Hello, Lazy and Dontcare! What are you doing here?" said the queer looking creature.

"Nothin'," said Lazy.

"Well you are always doing that; so I am not surprised," answered it; "whatever it was," said Dontcare for "He just came," said Dontcare for somehow he had to say something.

"We wanted to go somewhere," we didn't care where. We are tired stayin' at home and bein' told to do things and keep clean like those other fellows have to. Who are you anyhow?"

ainter and fainter as if he were fading away. Lazy and Dontcare started, hand in hand, down the hill on the road to ruin.

As they went along they are the fruit and pulled the flowers and thought how foolish people were to say it would hurt them, and they didn't believe there was any terrible Giant to destroy people. So all day they ran along, or stopped to rest. They ate the fruit and drank the sparkling water that tasted like wine and was better than any water they had ever drunk.

But bye and bye the road became darker, and there were stones that hurt their feet, and the fruit did not taste so nice and sweet as it had yesterday, a little further on some they ate tasted bitter; and once some thorns tore their clothing and pierced their flesh. They sat down to rest for they were very tired. Somehow the trees and grass and birds and flowers seemed less bright and joyous. The boys looked back half wishing they hadn't come; but lo! as they turned the hill was oh, so steep; and it looked all full of rocks and brambles. If they went back, oh, what hard work to climb and climb that great hill. Where were all the beautiful trees and the gurgling brooks that were there when they came down.

"Oh, I don't want to climb that old hill," said Lazy, and Dontcare said neither did he, it was far too much trouble. He don't care anyhow; so looking down the road again, it seemed ever so much nicer in contrast to that steep rocky hill, it was a lot easier to go down that go back, so they went on.

Well now I couldn't tell you all the awful things that happened to them as they went the fruit became, and how thirsty they got; because the water was never water at all, but just foamy and dark and bitter; till they had to drink and drink to keep that awful dry thirst out of their throats. Sometimes it was a long way from one spring to the other so they were often very thirsty.

Often when trying to sleep they heard strange noises like wild beasts and saw strange shapes around them in the dark; when they were afraid and covered their heads.

One day after they had travelled a great way down the road, Conscience appeared before them. They were more frightened at her this time than at anything they had seen, because she looked truly awful, much more crooked and dwarfed, and her voice hurt them, it pierced into their hearts so. She told them if they would go back they could, it was not yet too late, but they would have to be brave and toil and to get up the hill, some big rocks would have to be moved they had grown so since they passed over them. They looked back but the hill was far steeper, and more terrible than ever, it really seemed impossible to go back.

gence of the Giant Destruction. Their poor parents never heard of them again; people often wondered what became of them. Nobody but Conscience knows and she will always tell them that the last she saw of Laziness and Dontcare they were going hand in hand along the Road to Ruin.

Memorial From Legislature to Dominion Government—Initiative by A. B. Gillis

On the initiative of A. B. Gillis, M.L.A., the legislature unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the Dominion government to have the location of the C.N.R. line to Regina changed so as to afford better facilities for the people between the C.P.R. main line and the Reston-Wolsley branch. At present the proposed C.N.R. railway runs very close to the C.P.R. branch. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas the Canadian Northern Railway surveyed a line through townships 12 and 13 from the eastern boundary of the province to range 8 west of the third meridian; and whereas the Canadian Pacific Railway by the construction of the Reston-Wolsley branch have supplied the requirements in the way of railway facilities through the territory covered by such original survey of the Canadian Northern railway; and whereas it is rumored that it is the intention of the Canadian Northern to follow their original survey through the said territory;

O. W. KERR COMPANY, Limited F. E. McGRAY, 624-625 Bank Building, WEXNPECO Managing Director

And whereas the Canadian Northern Railway through and along such original survey would deprive a large section of the country between the Wolsley and Reston branch and the main line of the Canadian Pacific railway of proper railway facilities;

And whereas the territory which would be so deprived has been for several years past well settled by farmers who have been most successful in the development of the resources of the district settled by them.

Therefore be it resolved that this Assembly do urgently call the attention of the Dominion government to the rumors and conditions above recited and request them to take such steps as may be necessary with a view to securing such a change in the location of the proposed branch of the Canadian Northern railway as will meet the requirements of the community above referred to.

The Cravenettes and New Tweed Coat Models

Win the Admiration of Every Lady

SEE THESE COATS TODAY. We cannot guarantee that every style will be here for very long. The lines are still complete but just when they may be broken we cannot say. We are making record sales in these garments, this we are sure of.

NEW TWEEDS, CRAVENETTES AND SERGES Depicting every favored style

Hardly know where to start to describe these coats. They are such smart and dainty garments we hardly see why any one should make precedence over the other.

FOR $30.00. Several choice styles in Fancy Tweeds, a fairly coarse woven fabric with bulk enough to hold its shape nicely. These come in double and single breasted style with wide lapels. They have a novelty extension over the lapel and are trimmed with self buttons and braid. The patterns are single line stripes of green and brown and small dark checks. Eight Dollars is a very low price for these stylish garments.

One of the finest woven Broadcloths we've yet seen in pretty grey with a double hair line stripe of subdued green or brown. Dark olive velvet on collar, on fancy pockets and on buttons. The back is made with a single centre strap and three small vel- vet buttons at each side at the coat bottom. These coats are $15.00

AT $30.00. Fine Navy Blue Serge Long Coats, with fancy stitched down collar, black silk trimmed, silk covered buttons. Sleeves are neat and plain without cut and two short self straps in place of cut.

$5.50. Neat, "Quiet," Grey Tweed, more black than grey, with a simple white line over plaid. Neatly made. A very dressy garment and at the price it's doubly interesting. Be- sides, as is true of all our garments, the styles and fabrics are not, nor will they be, common.

$8.00. A novelty Green Grey Toned Tweed, coarse weave with a " splashy " but simple red check line.

GREAT CHOICE IN CRAVENETTE COATS Many " fetching " styles

We can only, as a matter of fact, give you a faint idea of the choice here.

Ladies' Cravenette Coats of dark olive shade, with " nifty " stripes and plaids made of a single strand of green or brown silk. The style is of two narrow pleats down each front, flowing from the waist to give the desired fullness. The collar is fancy double and scalloped and stitched down. The sleeves are neat with a few pleats at the cuff. The cuff is a turned-up double effect. The back is made with four narrow pleats. NO BETTER VALUE AT $10.

OUR $12.50 CRAVENETTES Offer splendid selections. Three or four effective new styles of Cravenettes in dark grey, light fawns and dark and light olives. These are in various lengths. The trimmings are of fancy nar- row or wide strappings and various widths of pleats. In all cases the cuffs are turned, some with fancy straps and self buttons.

But we didn't tell you of all the fabrics at this price—$12.50. Here's a grey with simple green stripes. Another is a dark fawn with plaid or red and green of a fine hair line, hardly noticeable.

OTHER STYLES AT $10.00 Light Fawn Cravenette Coats in light fawns. With or without pattern. Some in medium lengths, others extra long. Come and see these stunning coats. We can meet you at any price you desire to pay.
