A Positive Cure For Rheumatism

For many years, both during Father Morrissy's lifetime and since he passed away, his No. 7 Tablets have been curing many of the worst cases of rheumatism in Eastern Canada.

During his lifetime it became the custom, when people could not get relief from other sources, to consult Father Morrissy, and few indeed did so in vain. His standard prescription came to be called and it can now be procured from any druggist or dealer in medicine.

No. 7 Tablets act directly on the kidneys, stimulating them so that they can remove from the blood all the Uric Acid, which alone causes the rheumatism. Two or three weeks' treatment cures ordinary cases, while with the worst chronic cases it seldom takes more than three or four boxes of No. 7 Tablets to thoroughly eradicate the rheumatism from the system.

In every case, right from the start, the sufferer gets relief from the torturing pains and aches.

We would be glad to refer you to one-time rheumatism, now well through taking Father Morrissy's No. 7 Tablets. 108

My Preference.

It's so much easier to be kind than rich, and so much better, too. That I would rather put my mind to making friends the whole year through.

Then making money as I go. And hoarding yellow gold away; For him who seeks the yellow stuff, Life's sweetness is the bitter, too. And though he wins his fortune great, He sees the good he'd like to do.

The Wooing of Nesta.

"I struck on a ripping girl last night," said Bird, leaning over to Dalrymple, who was taking out his balance.

"Where, Dicky?" asked Dalrymple.

"At a dancing class my sister attends. It was an open affair at the end of the course—Parents and friends invited."

"Did you get an introduction?"

"No; worse luck. She was so keen on dancing that I only got the name, Nesta Gaythorne. Her dad is a big gun in shipping. What would you do? The jolly class is over for the season now."

Dalrymple thought awhile. "I don't think you dare do it, Dicky; but I should hold introductions and write her—then see how she took it."

"Oh, Dimple, she would think me horribly ill-bred."

"Rata! She may pretend to be shocked, but girls like unconventionality in their love affairs. Besides, he knows your sister."

Bird shook his head doubtfully and returned to his daybook, but in the afternoon he handed Dalrymple a paper and said: "Will that do?"

"Dear Miss Gaythorne,"—he ran— "I have excuse my writing to you, but seeing you at the Misses Prim's dancing exhibition last night, I tried hard to get an introduction, but in vain. Still, you know my sister, if you are not offended with me for writing, please say where and when I could see you."

Yours very sincerely,
Richard Bird.

"Beautiful!" said Dalrymple, returning the paper. "It is to the point while it doesn't give the show away. Bird blushed with pleasure. "I'll write it out nicely and post it tonight," he said.

For once Dalrymple spent the greater part of the evening in his rooms. The task on which he was engaged seemed to afford him great pleasure for each time he lit his pipe he chuckled gleefully. Next day he asked the girl in the tobacconist's shop to copy out a letter for him.

The following morning Bird, wearing with excitement, took Dalrymple into the strong room and closed the door. "Read that," he said producing a letter.

"Dear Mr. Bird," Dalrymple read. "I was surprised to receive your letter, and I think it very daring of you to write me without being introduced. As you say, however, I do know your dear sister, so why should we remain strangers? I saw you at the dancing evening and thought—what, I shall not say. I can believe that you really noticed me among so many girls, and I dare not arrange a meeting until I am sure you really care for me."

Yours very truly,
Nesta Gaythorne.

"By Jove, Dicky, you've landed her!" said Dalrymple.

On Monday Bird entered looking black as thunder.

"What's up, Dicky?" asked Dalrymple.

"Don't speak to me, lest I say something I'll be sorry for later. I've had my eyes opened, that's all, and I'm done for."

"Excuse me, sir, but I was."

"And I suppose those young scamps were going to watch the fun when you called to-morrow, eh?"

"Don't you think it would be a pity to disappoint them?"

"I don't understand you, sir," said Bird in bewilderment.

"No! Then listen. I like the main way in which you have come to apologize for your foolishness. I sympathize with you in being the victim of a practical joker. I went to school with your father, and it is his son's half as good a fellow, my wife and daughter will be delighted to make his acquaintance. Your friends have arranged for 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, so we shall not disappoint them. No excuses—you have already accepted, you know," he added as he saw Bird attempting to speak. "It will be all right, I shall explain everything to home if you will leave me the letters. Now I am busy." He rose and extended his hand.

"Dimple," said Bird one morning six months later, "would you like to hear the end of your practical joke?"

"I would, Dicky. I feel a pig even now."

Knighthood.

The press, without respect to political party preferences, has wondered about some of the royal honours bestowed at the coronation. The note of interrogation has been plain in nearly every reference to at least one of the Canadian Knighthoods. Nobody seems to know why it is. And probably the wherefore and the wisdom of others of the honours have been questioned. Distinguished public service is supposed to be the reason for their bestowment, and when nobody is able to recall the service the public is naturally a little puzzled. The majority of the Canadians who since Confederation have received some form of royal recognition are some worthy public service to their credit—though not all. There is, however, a question about the wisdom of conferring any of the titles—ever those fairly won and worthily worn by Canadians. For ourselves, we have always felt that old-world titles do not well fit new world men and conditions. Canada is a democratic country—democratic to the hilt,—to use an oft quoted phrase,—and should remain so. The creation of an aristocracy here cannot be any advantage to the country. Sir this and Lord that may behave very well, and be very much in sympathy with the people notwithstanding their high sounding titles, but it is likely that a lot of people may foolishly fancy themselves superior beings because descended from or in some way related to titled men. We could wish that every Canadian offered an old world title would do as did Alexander MacKenzie and others—decline it. Let the Sirs and Lords, with all the class distinctions, etc., which attach to the possession of such titles, be confined to the land in which they originated. The 'Beyond the Seas,' dominions of the Empire would be better off without such things.—Maritime Baptist.

July Rod and Gun.

'Following the Fur Trails' is a story of the far North of interest to every Canadian, opens the July number of 'Rod and Gun in Canada,' published by W. J. Taylor Ltd., Woodstock, Ont. In this story Mr. R. J. Fraser, who is engaged on the Hydrographic Survey, relates interesting incidents of the eight months' stay of the party engaged in survey work in the neighbourhood of Hudson Bay and tells of an attack upon the Camp of Polar bears. He gives particulars of the fine trapping in which the party engaged and the excellent results of this portion of the work. The strenuous outward journey from Fort Nelson to Winnipeg supplies excellent reading. There is much variety in the other stories, both fishermen and hunters receiving due attention, and stories and experiences from the far East as well as from the far West are included. They hunt on horseback in British Columbia showing the difference in the conditions between those prevailing in that province and those existing in Eastern and Central Canada. There is much more of interest to every sportsman in this number. It should be found in every summer camp, no pleasure companion for whiling away a pleasant hour is needed.

Child Peeress.

Probably the daintiest personality at the coronation will be the Baroness Clifton of Leighton Bromsward—a child of eleven years. This will be the second occasion on which, young though she is, she has taken part in the coronation of a British Sovereign, for nine years ago she wore a peeress' robe and a miniature coronet in Westminster Abbey when King Edward VII was crowned. She is the seventh holder of the barony, the title dated back to 1638.

Forest Wealth of Canada.

The central line of the forest belt of the Dominion may be described as starting from the vicinity of the Straits of Belle Isle and following a west-south-westerly course till it passes to the south of James Bay; then turning northwest it follows this course all the way to the border of Alaska.

The average breadth of this belt, on the basis of measurements at ten almost equal intervals is 700 miles, giving the approximate area of the northern forests, in which the black and white spruces are the prevailing trees, of 2,500,000 square miles. Bearing in mind that the great bulk of the paper consumed in the world is made from spruce wood, Canada has in the area mentioned the raw material to enable her to become the centre of the world's supply of paper. This subject will be reverted to later. For the moment some figures relative to the present values of Canada's forest crop are worthy of notice.

A recent estimate of the amount of energy derived from Niagara Falls places it at 273,140 horse power, divided in its applications as follows: Electro-chemical industries, 126,000; railway service, 56,200; lighting, 36,400; various industrial purposes, 54,540. The total energy of the falls is estimated at 3,000,000 horse-power, so that not much more than 5 per cent is at present utilized.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N.S., JULY 28, 1911.

Editorial Notes

Preparations were begun on Monday morning on the site for the government building. A staff of men is now engaged clearing away the old wall and excavating for the foundation.

If friends visit you or leave you, if you go anywhere yourself, if there is a party or a reception at your home, a wedding, a birth or a death in your neighborhood, or anything that is a matter of news, THE ACADIAN will be glad to hear of it.

The first section of the new street was completed on Wednesday. While there appears to be considerable difference of opinion among citizens the general verdict is that the street is a fine looking one and will be found to be equal to every demand upon it.

The Winesap Free Press, the great liberal organ of the west, says: "It is again reported from Ottawa that Sir Frederick Borden will succeed Lord Strathcona as High Commissioner to Great Britain. This would not be regarded by the people of Canada as a suitable appointment."

Owing to the heavy demand upon our space this week by advertisers we are unable to furnish the usual quota of reading matter. These announcements are of such an interesting character, however, that we make no apology, and advise our readers to study carefully the special offers made. It will be worth your while to do so.

Now that Summer street has become for the time such a thoroughfare owing to the work being done on Main street, THE ACADIAN would be glad to suggest to the proper authorities the cleaning out of the luxuriant growth of weeds from the centre of the street and the gathering up of loose stones, etc. We know this is a busy time with the street department, but a little energy expended here would be profitable just now.

The service at the old church at Grand Pre last Sunday afternoon was well attended, the seating capacity being taxed to the utmost. In addition to residents of the community—descendants of those who built the church and worshipped there in former years—there was a goodly number of tourists and Wolfville people present. Rev. Mr. Miller preached an earnest sermon from the words: "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ." The occasion was one of deep interest, and at the close many of the older generation enjoyed the privilege of meeting with old friends and talking over events of the past. During the remainder of the summer service will be held in the church fortnightly.

A Clever Entertainment.

The new opera house made a very fine appearance on Tuesday evening, when 'the Wolfville girls' presented an excellent entertainment to a large and appreciative audience. Manager Black has had most of the scenery installed, and the whole effect is most pleasing.

The program began with a Scari Drill in which the following took part: Missie Godfrey, Stella Bleakney, Edith Thompson, Rita Boates, Marguerita Elderkin, Ada Johnson, Evelyn Johnson, Ora Woodman, Evelyn Woodman, Violet Sleep, Fern Woodman, Gladys Elderkin, Ruth Elderkin, Vesta Pick, Hilda West.

Mrs. (Dr.) Moore, to whom much of the success of the entertainment is due, presided at the piano, and directed the drill, which was an exceedingly attractive feature. Attired in white, with scarfs of various colors, the young ladies performed the difficult movements with skill and precision and received well-merited applause.

Miss Edith Woodman, the talented young vocalist of Grand Pre, rendered two solos, 'If I but Knew' and 'Sunbeams,' and in response to an enthusiastic encore gave 'The Little Irish Girl.'

The piece derisive of the evening, however, was the comedy, 'Miss Fearless and Company,' which was put on in a manner which elicited the highest praise. The following comprised the dramatis personae:

Margaret Henley, an heiress—Hazel Woodman
Euphemia Addison, her chaperone—Margaret Murray

Sarah Jane Lovejoy, from the lost nation—Henrietta Crandall
Katie O'Connor, Miss Henley's servant—Flora Chambers
Barbara Livingstone, Bettie Cameron, Marion Reynolds, Miss Henley's Guests—Elmore Eaton, Grace Crandall, Myra Chambers

'Just Lizzie' the Ghost—Doris Chambers
Miss Ahas, Miss Alibi, The Silent Sisters—Eula Pitt, Esther Vaughn

The play was most interesting throughout, and all the parts were exceedingly well taken. Great credit is due to the Wolfville girls and to all who had charge of the direction of this fine entertainment.

The death of Mr. John Bresnan occurred at the home of his brother, Mr. Thomas Bresnan, at an early hour yesterday morning. For some months Mr. Bresnan, who has never enjoyed robust health, has been gradually failing. He was 64 years of age and a highly esteemed citizen. Although of a retiring disposition he had many friends who will learn with sorrow of his demise. The funeral takes place this morning.

Maitre Labouri.

(From the Manchester Guardian)

The famous defender of Captain Dreyfus, Maitre Labouri, has been elected Batonnier (or head) of the French Bar, a position which the ignominy consequent upon his great exploit prevented him from reaching before. The news has been cordially received in English legal quarters, where he is well known. Burke said that the practice of the law was not calculated to liberalise the understanding, and much contemporary evidence can be cited to support his dictum. But the admiration and sympathy which the English Bar felt at Labouri's great achievement was genuine, and much of its warmth still remains. Soon after the Rennes trial Labouri came over to be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Hardwicke Society, where he delighted everyone with his vivacious eloquence and cultured wit. It is interesting to note the contrast between an advocate like Labouri and the counsel who comprise at present the chief ornaments of the criminal Bar. Since Sir Charles Mathews went to the Treasury eloquence akin to Labouri's has not been heard in our criminal courts. The self-renderer of which eloquence is the expression at the Bar is entirely wanting in our present-day advocates, who are always clear headed and cautious, seldom inaccurate and untechnical, and never eloquent enough to be wrong. Labouri, with his fast-kindling sympathies and hot-blooded eloquence, was the man to right a great injustice, and his English confreres welcome the honor bestowed upon him.

OUR INTEREST IN YOU

Does not cease when we have sold you a Kodak. Picture taking is very simple now but if there are any little points that bother you, we are cheerfully ready to help you out. The very complete little instruction books that the Kodak company issues, show that they too are interested in your success. But we are here on the ground. Let us show you how simple it all is.

"At Home with the Kodak" is the title of an illustrated and clearly written little book that the Kodak people have issued on home portraiture.

Whether you have a camera or not we will be glad to give you a copy. Drop us a postal, or if convenient call at the store.

Sudden Death.

The death occurred at Halifax on Wednesday of Mr. George Taylor, a well known stock broker of Boston, who was 73 years of age and a son of the late Maurice and Mary Lee Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were both well known in Wolfville, having spent several summers here. They remained during last winter guests at Evangeline Cottage, and went to Halifax about four months ago.

The funeral took place from St. Paul's church yesterday, the remains being taken to Boston for interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

Many Wolfville friends will join THE ACADIAN in tendering sympathy to Mrs. Taylor.

E. B. Armstrong, M. P. P., of Yarmouth, and a native of Kingstons, has been appointed commissioner of works and mines in the Murray Government in succession to Hon. C. P. Chisholm, who was defeated in Guysboro county in the recent elections.

PIANO FOR SALE.—Apply of Prof. Ringwald, Highland Avenue.

Wedded in London.

The marriage took place on July 12th at St. Andrew's church, London England, of Miss Josephine Mary daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Heales, of Cornwallis, and Mr. Norman Brown, of Vancouver, B. C., son of the late Christopher Brown, of Belfast, Ireland.

The bride, who is a graduate of Dalhousie University, was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude, the groom being supported by his friend, A. Lewelyn Jones, of Swansea, Wales. After a few weeks' sojourn on the continent Mr. and Mrs. Brown will return to Montreal, where Mr. Brown is completing his last year in medicine at McGill University.

Prof. M. S. Read, Ph. D., of Colgate University, with Mrs. Read, was visiting in Wolfville last week, guests at Kent Lodge. Dr. Read was graduated at Acadia in the class of '93 and was for some time principal of the Wolfville school. Old friends were glad to welcome him back to Wolfville.

Dr. D. P. McMillan, consulting psychologist in the Chicago public schools, with Mrs. McMillan (nee Miss Evalena K. Patten, formerly vice-principal of Acadia Seminary), were visiting in Wolfville last week. Both Dr. and Mrs. McMillan were members of the class of '95 at Acadia and are remembered by many friends in Wolfville.

The boys of the Andover baseball team were so pleased with their visit to Wolfville that after finishing their games at Halifax they returned here on Monday morning and have been spending the week at Acadia Villa. Two members of the team, Roland and Laurie Gibbons, were formerly Wolfville boys, and no doubt appreciate the opportunity of again visiting their old home.

Mrs. (Dr.) P. C. Woodworth, well known as associated with Acadia Seminary's musical staff, accompanied by her daughter Marguerite, left for Boston on Saturday last where she will visit her mother a day or two before leaving for Paris, France. Mrs. Woodworth, who by the way is only convalescent from serious illness for some weeks past, and her daughter Marguerite are to be the guests of Mrs. Woodworth's sister, Madame Labord, wife of Mary Labord, the subject of the sketch published by the Manchester Guardian which we republish in another column.

Presentation.

A large number of the friends of Sheriff John R. Tompkins met with him at the Armory on Friday evening last when he was presented with a handsome collection of silverware on the occasion of his recent marriage. The presentation was made by His Worship Mayor Ketchum, who speaks of the high regard in which the sheriff is held personally and as an official. Addresses were made by Col. Vice, Coma, Gibson and Dibbles, County Constable Brown, J. C. Hartley, W. B. Belyea, Major Fields and others.

The Sheriff, who was taken by surprise, spoke of the uniform kindness he has always met with since coming to Woodstock. He could not find words to express his appreciation of the kind sentiment which has led to the presentation to himself and Mrs. Tompkins. After the formalities refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening spent.—Woodstock, N. B. Dispatch.

[Mrs. Tompkins is a sister of Mrs. (Dr.) Bowles, this town.] For summer diarrhoea in children always give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil, and a speedy cure is certain. For sale by all dealers.

Miss Sophie Jordan is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Jordan, for a short time before going to her sister at Long Beach, California. We are sorry to have our young people go so far from home.

Mrs. Saunders, of Sherbrooke, Quebec, and her sister, Miss Bertie Cleveland, of Wolfville, spent last Tuesday at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Daniel Coldwell.

When Summer Comes Guard Your Baby.

The summer months are the most dangerous of the year for the little one. The complaints of this season come so quickly that often a precious little life is beyond aid before the mother realizes baby is ill. Colic, diarrhoea, cholera, infantum are all rife at this time. The mother must guard her baby's health every minute. She must be careful of his food and careful that his stomach is kept sweet and his bowels move regularly and freely. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets—they are sweet, your friend at all times of the year, but more especially in the summer, when, if given occasionally, they act as a preventive of those dreaded summer troubles, or, if they do come on suddenly, the Tablets will just as quickly remove the cause and baby will soon be well again. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sealed Tenders.

Will be received up to and including August 3rd, for erecting a Baptist church in the Village of Gasperau, Kings County, N. S.

Tenders are asked for including grading, excavation and foundation ready for superstructure, and separate tenders for superstructure. Plans and specifications at the residence of the undersigned, Gasperau.

The lowest or any tender need not be accepted.

J. D. MARTIN, Chairman Com.
