THE CONCENTRATION OF BRITISH FORCES.

In as good shooting practice as they were when they won their victories, Jameson's forces, however, could testify that the Boer farmers still know how to shoot.

While the despatch of 2,000 fresh troops from India and England is described as definitely an offensive measure, it is evident that ample resources for coercion will be available when the military forces are increased to 20,000 men. While this is nothing less than a menace to the Boers, the superior Boer goes on, but with a distinct reminder from the Chamberlain that plain answers must be given when questions are asked about the precise efforts of the franchise proposals.

"Krugers' evasive and distinguished method of conducting negotiations has had the effect of sifting English public opinion, and Mr. Morley's talk about a pirate code and the rights of the Transvaal as a foreign and independent country falls flat. Nevertheless, England is a country whose moral force lies behind public opinion, and war cannot be justified unless it is generally felt to be righteous and necessary. There still remains a searching of heart on this question of morals, and the moderating influence of the Queen and Lord Salisbury ever Mr. Chamberlain are timely. The door is still left wide open for peace."

War Arrangements Are Good.

"George Wyndham and other officials of the War Office have gone out of town satisfied with the splendid evidence of organization shown in the arrangements for conducting a strong army in South Africa without delay, and with the smoothness with which all the machinery of the department is working. No new developments are expected in the Transvaal situation for a fortnight, unless the Boers take the initiative and invade Natal."

THE BOERS STILL MASSING.

General Sir Redvers Buller Expected to Start for Cape Town Saturday Next.

London, Sept. 11.—It is understood that General Sir Redvers Buller will start for Cape Town next Saturday. The Indian authorities are chartering steamers to transport troops to South Africa as rapidly as possible.

Although the aspect of affairs is more favorable, the special despatches from Johannesburg report that the greatest anxiety there is still remains for the Boer army. A dispatch from Bloemfontein reports the capture of arms and a considerable quantity of ammunition, and it is understood that there is no abatement of war preparations in the Transvaal.

LIEUT. PEARY IS ALL RIGHT

No Mishap to Either Himself or Any of His Party Had Happened Up to August 26.

SEVENTY DEGREES BELOW ZERO

Was the Mildest Weather During the Season, With Little Snow and Continuous Calm.

British, Nfld., Sept. 10.—The Peary-Harshorn steamer Windward, Capt. John Bartlett, from Etah, North Greenland, August 26th, arrived here to-day, reporting all well on board. She will be followed in a week by the Peary Arctic Club's steamer Diana, Capt. Samuel W. Bartlett, also from Etah. The Windward reports that all on board the Diana were well at the time the vessels separated. The two steamers met at Etah on August 19th, and worked in company under the personal direction of Lieut. Peary, in collecting supplies for the winter and the equipment for next spring's campaign.

Icebound Nearly a Year.

The Windward was icebound in All Man Bay, on the west side of Kane Basin, about 50 miles north of Cape Sabine, from August 25, 1898, to August 2, 1899, being in a sort of eddy undisturbed by wind or current. The season was one of continuous calm, with very little snow, the minimum temperature of the ship being 70 degrees below zero. All of the Windward's company, including the ten Esquimaux, were exempt from illness, accident or casualty of any kind.

Lied a Lot of Good Work.

Lieut. Peary and his party were in the field almost continuously from October, 1898, to August of this year, and have effected an extraordinary amount of important work, not only bearing on the future of his own expedition, but adding much to the geographical knowledge of the coast line and the interior of Ellesmere Land, the southern portion of Grinnell Land. His sledging journeys aggregated more than 1500 miles, not including several trips repeated over portions of the track.

More Boerett Proposals.

Rome, Sept. 10.—Proposals have been made to both Austria and Italy to boycott the Paris Exhibition, as a protest against the verdict at Rome. Demonstrations in denunciation of the verdict occurred to-day in several Italian cities. At Naples the demonstrators tried to attack the French Consulate and the police were compelled to intervene.

WHO IS THIS DEAD MAN?

A Body Found in the Bay Yesterday, But Has Not Yet Been Identified.

Lying on a mark on the Morgue is the body of an unknown man, which has been there since yesterday at noon. It was found by Thomas Barker, a fisherman, street meeting in the bay at the foot of Bathurst street. Barker loved the body to the shore and notified the police. In the patrol wagon the remains were taken to the Morgue, where they now await identification.

Nothing would lead to the man's identity was found in the pockets, there being only a handkerchief with the letter 'W' worked in silk, a two-foot rule, a knife, a blue lead pencil, a C. P. R. time table and a business card of J. H. Higgins, horseholder, of 238 Arthur street. On the back of the card was the name "Givan, 57 Morgue street," and was addressed "West Queen street." Mr. Higgins visited the Morgue last night, but failed to identify the body.

The man was of the age of a man about 35 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches in height, brown mustache and light complexion. The clothes consisted of a blue bicycle suit, lined boots, with cloth tops, a pair of green and black checked socks. A warrant for an inquest will be issued to-day.

QUICK DEATH OF A FIREMAN

Charles Broadbent Stuck His Head Out of the Window and His Skull Was Crushed.

STRUCK AGAINST A WATER TANK

His Neck Was Also Broken—Sad Affair Took Place at Myrtle, on the C. P. R.

Charles Broadbent, a Canadian Pacific Railway fireman, left on his train at 6 o'clock last night for the east. Three hours later he was a corpse in the little village of Myrtle, having been killed almost instantly.

He was on the run from Toronto Junction with a passenger train. As the train was passing the station at Myrtle Broadbent looked out of the caboose window. Directly north of the tracks is the large water tank from which locomotives get their supply. No sooner had Broadbent leaned out than his head went with a thud against the side of the tank. The engine driver, who was an eye-witness, stopped his train as quickly as possible and picked up the unfortunate man, who was leaning out of the window. He was carried to the ground, but expired almost at once. A physician was called, but on his arrival the man was dead. Broadbent's skull had been crushed in a dreadful manner and his neck an undertaking establishment pending an inquest.

Broadbent was 30 years of age and unmarried. He boarded on Vine street in Toronto Junction and had been employed on the C. P. R. for a number of years. His parents reside in Hamilton.

ROSEBERY ON RAILROADS.

The English and American Systems Discussed Before a Crowd of Railroaders.

BOTH PEOPLES ARE SATISFIED.

Americans Object to Aristocracy, But Do Not Mind Plutocracy
—A Comparison.

London, Sept. 9.—Lord Rosebery presided this evening at the dinner of the Caledonian Railway employs at Carlisle. In proposing a toast to the railway interests of the United Kingdom, he alluded to the recent correspondence in the Times on the relative advantages of the American and British systems of traveling, and said the American system suited the Americans and the British system suited the British. One difference, he said, was that the railway companies in the United States did not like the aristocracy, but did not mind the plutocracy. "But America," he continued, "has an aristocracy so exalted that one product can hardly compare with them. They are the railway presidents, who are little more than equivalent to English Dukes, but they have almost despotic power, travel in a style that no English Duke could aspire to, and exercise a control unparalleled in England." Lord Rosebery declared that he preferred the British form of director and chairman.

The Indian, who was shot to home he was shot in the back by Frank De Marco, the proprietor, who, after learning that the Indian was seriously wounded, assisted in taking him to Fort Covington for surgical treatment. This morning the doctor had only slight hopes of Terrance's recovery, whereupon his assailant came to Malone and entering to him in a state of grief. He will make no statement regarding the shooting. A number of like affairs have occurred on the reservation during the past year.

The 66 Key West passengers were passengers when they boarded the steamer, and died from the infected city. Their number are now patients at the Swinburne Island Hospital. J. M. Burley was sent there on Friday morning and has since developed yellow fever. The other patients have not as yet developed the disease, but their illness is very suspicious.
