PRINCE OF WALES SAILED ON THE INDOMITABLE TODAY

Departure from Portsmouth
Was Without Formality—
The Warship May Try to Make a New Trans-
Atlantic Record

LONDON, July 15.—The Prince of Wales and his suite sailed from Portsmouth today on board the indomitable Great Britain's newest destroyer battleship, for the coming fete at Quebec in honor of the founding of that city, three hundred years ago by Champlain. Among those who bade farewell to the Prince at Waterloo station were Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner for Canada. The Earl of Dudley and Sir Francis J. Hopwood, are traveling with the Prince. Sir Francis represents the Colonial Office, while the Earl of Dudley, who is going to take up the governor generalship of the Australian Commonwealth, will represent Australia at the Canadian Celebration. The departure of the indomitable from Portsmouth was without formality, beyond the firing of a salute from the old flagship Victory, as the new battleship, followed by the escorting cruiser Minotaur, left the harbor. There has been some talk of the indomitable which is capable of doing 27 knots an hour, trying to give the trans-Atlantic a new record to emulate but it is understood that if anything in this direction is attempted it will be on the return journey.

ASSAULT ON A WHITE GIRL STARTS A RACE WAR

Innocent Negro Shot by Southern Mob—
Places of Amusement Burned

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 15.—Last night a posse of over 1000 scoured the woods in this vicinity in an effort to capture an uneducated negro, who early yesterday attacked and beat to insensibility a thirteen year old white girl, Ada Bell Hopkins, inflicting injuries which may prove fatal. It was the intention of the mob to inflict quick punishment, late yesterday a quick posse was mistaken for the one sought and shot to death. Last night the mob burned two negro places of amusement and threatened to destroy other buildings occupied by negroes in the vicinity of the scene of the crime.

THANKSGIVING DAY WILL BE ON A MONDAY

OTTAWA, Ont., July 15.—In Commons this morning Sir Wilfrid Laurier in reply to a question by Mr. Kemp, stated that Thanksgiving Day this year would be on a Monday instead of a Thursday as usual. The change had been specially requested by commercial travelers here, and the government had decided that in the interests of business men and the public generally Monday would be most convenient for Thanksgiving.

NEW ORLEANS COFFEE COMPANY BURNED OUT

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 15.—Between $100,000 and $200,000 damage was done early today by a fire which destroyed the plant of the New Orleans Coffee Company, Limited. The fire destroyed a small triangular block between South Peters Avenue, Howard street and the River front. Pallen walls and broken electric wires which fused and sputtered in the street, made the fire a brilliant and dangerous spectacle. The flames were not gotten under control until the entire interior of the block had burned out.

PARK AUTO CAN GO AS FAR AS THE SHOOT-THRU CHUTES

At a meeting of the Horticultural Society held in the Board of Trade rooms this morning it was decided to allow the park automobiles to run as far as the shoot-thru chutes. The cars use the Mount Pleasant or the Wright street route, whichever the owners please either going or coming. It was reported at the meeting that arrangements had been made to plant white water lilies in one of the new lakes. They have taken root and are now in full bloom, adding greatly to the attractiveness of the scene at that point.

DYNAMITE BOMB IN APARTMENT HOUSE

Fashionable Centre Now
Receives Black Hand Attention

Forty Two Families Thrown Into a Panic
This Morning in New York—No
One Was Seriously Hurt.

NEW YORK, July 15.—A dynamite bomb, exploding in the stairway of a fashionable apartment house in West 14th street today, hurled scores of occupants from their beds, shattered many windows and threw the tenants into a panic. None was hurt. There were 42 families living in the apartment house, but as far as the police could learn, none of them had received threatening letters. The only clue that the police have is one furnished by a bell boy of a nearby apartment house. He said that immediately before the explosion, he saw three men carrying a small bundle and walking in the direction of "Watts' place, where the bomb later exploded. He heard the report a few moments later and saw the three men running down the street. Detectives on the case say that if the attack proves to be the work of the Black Hand, it will be the first in New York directed towards the weather class.

STEAMER CARRIED AWAY WELLAND CANAL GATES

Rush of Water Swept an Attendant Away
Up on a Farm—Several Narrow Escapes.

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., July 15.—The steamer Mary Horton, of Liverpool, chartered by the Dominion Lumber Company and commanded by Captain Edward Brown, carried away the head gate of Lock 13 on the Welland Canal last night. The steamer was bound from Port William to Montreal and was about to leave the lock but Engineer Collins reversed the engines instead of going ahead. Water from the upper level rushed in and carried the steamer down to lock 12, where her captain ran her ashore. John Shrum, assistant at lock 13, was the only man on board when the accident occurred. The flow of water carried him over the bank and five hundred yards into a neighboring wheat field. Shrum was badly injured, and had to be removed to his home. A barn containing a horse and wagon was also carried away but the horse escaped without a scratch. Lockmaster Wm. Strong suspended drawing by hanging on to the railing of the lock. The steamer is held pending a deposit of four thousand dollars to cover the damage done to the canal and a thousand dollars damage done to wheat fields. A large number of men worked all night and navigation was resumed this morning.

WOMAN JEWELER STRANGLER BY THIEVES

Another Mysterious Murder Committed in the Very Heart of Paris

PARIS, July 14.—Another mysterious murder has been committed in the very heart of Paris, and as in the case of the Steinhil and Remy murders, the police have as yet no clue.

The murdered woman was a widow, Mme. Sauvezon, aged 48, who lived in the Rue de Bondy, just off the Place de la Republique. She was a dealer in precious stones and jewelry, carrying on the business from her late husband's shop. Mme. Sauvezon did not appear this morning, and the concierge went upstairs with her husband to get word, but got no answer, he sent for the police, who broke into the flat.

Mme. Sauvezon was found dead on the floor of her office. She was lying on her back between her safe and her writing table. Her ankles were tied together and a cord had been drawn tightly round her neck. There were no other signs of violence on the body except a slight bruise over the left eyebrow. The safe was untouched, but the drawers of the writing table were open, and a little bag in which Mme. Sauvezon carried her precious stones was lying on the table empty. The police believe that the crime was committed yesterday afternoon in broad daylight. The criminals, who were two or more in number, were, they say, people who knew Mme. Sauvezon, for they went straight up without asking any questions of the concierge.

WILL CONSIDER CONTRACT WITH STREET RAILWAY

A special meeting of the Board of Works will be held this evening. The matter of chief importance to come before the board is the contract to be arranged between the city and the St. John Railway Co.

Under its charter the railway must keep the streets over which the rails run free from snow in the winter. When rails are laid the street must be restored to its original condition and kept in repair for a certain distance on each side of the rails. When double tracks are laid the company is liable for the repair of the whole street. Under the last contract the street railway company paid the city to do this work, thus avoiding the confusion which would arise if two contractors were working on the same streets. There has been considerable doubt as to whether the city's interests in this matter have been fully protected. The committee tonight will have before them the full figures as to the length of the railway and the cost of the work and will go into them thoroughly before fixing the contract. One feature of the contract that has not been given much attention is the fact that if the city takes the contract to keep the streets in repair they make themselves liable for any accidents that may occur through the car rails being insufficiently covered. The city now has on its hands a lawsuit for damage done to a delivery team and its contents owing to the wagon being upset by the rails. Other matters relating to street repairs and permanent streets will be

After a pursuit of many blocks and when the automobile had almost reached Coney Island, he overtook it. "You are under arrest" he said to the man sitting at the wheel. There was no response. Carly climbed into the automobile and found the chauffeur dead. The other man in the machine was John D. Lord, of Jamaica, L. I. He managed to bring the automobile to a stop. The driver was Stephen W. Anderson, of Brooklyn. He purchased the car he was driving earlier in the day and this was the first time it had been out.

THE SHAH'S EFFORTS TO CRUSH THE REVOLUTION

Times Correspondent Says Europeans are In No Danger—Fighting
Continues in Tabriz.

LONDON, July 15.—A correspondent of the Times at Tabriz under yesterday's date says: I arrived safely after a most desperate vicissitudes, and find the situation here one of great gravity for the inhabitants, but there is no direct danger for Europeans. On my way to this city I myself was seized and carried four miles by Racheh Khan's horsemen, but was eventually released and conducted to Tabriz. The Shah has placed Racheh Khan in chief command of the troops with exceptional powers to disarm the rebels and restore order. The latter has 1,500 men under his arms and is expected to see this month's fighting are still indelinite.

HALIFAX HAS A STRANGE MURDER CASE

Frank Burke Dead from Stab
Received While Wrestling

And William Perrin is Under Arrest—
Knife Projecting from a Shelf
Caused the Injury.

HALIFAX, July 15.—Frank Burke, died this morning from a stab wound received on Monday night while wrestling in the Intercolonial depot and as a result Frank Perrin who was locked up pending the outcome of Burke's inquest has been charged with murder. The case is a most peculiar one. Burke and Perrin are both employed in the I. C. dining service, and on Monday evening were having what is said to have been a friendly wrestling bout in one of the rooms at the station. Burke was rather forebly thrown against the side of the room. A sharp pointed carving knife was lying on the shelf projecting several inches and this was driven into Burke's abdomen, piercing the intestines. He was hurried to the hospital, but from the first the physicians held out little hope for his recovery. He gradually grew worse and died this morning.

Before his death he made a statement to the police in which he declared that no blame could be attached to Perrin, as several of the boys were skylarking and the sound was received in a purely accidental manner.

Perrin is a son of John Perrin a porter employed at the North street station. Burke came to Halifax about a year ago from South Africa and has since been living with his aunt, Miss Mary Tobin.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE DROWNING ACCIDENT

Yacht Club Boats Took No Part in Search for the Body—Dynamite to be Used Today.

After two or three days' hard work trying to rescue the body of George in the worst is feared. Mails for Back Bay, Letete and Mascarene are held up Sunday near Fox's wharf, his companion, T. H. Edwards and George Vaughn returned to the city last night accompanied by J. A. Hughes, S. Hart and A. Cox who have also been untiring in their efforts to locate the remains.

J. Hughes, Albert Cox and Mr. Corbett, the latter an expert in the handling of dynamite left for the scene of the accident this morning. Mr. Corbett will discharge a number of shots in an endeavor to raise the body and this morning he made last night and this morning to secure the services of a diver to go up river and examine the bottom in search of the body. Doyle and Doherty are so engaged that they cannot leave their work.

One of the gentlemen who arrived from the scene last night informs the Star that considerable help was given them in the search by the residents in the vicinity of the accident and all speak in the highest terms of the heroic effort made by young Edwards to save his companion. He says that Mr. Edwards managed to get word to Messrs. Patterson and Hamu, who were on the yacht cruise and were placed the matter before Commodore Thomson, who had a conference with other yachtsmen, and it was decided to continue on the cruise. Messrs. Patterson and Hamu then left the squadron and returned to Fox's and aided in the search for the body. There were three yachts anchored across the river from where the accident occurred but although they did not leave until eleven o'clock the next morning there was no offer from the crews to aid in the recovery of the body. The place where the young yachtsman lost his life is most difficult for grappling as the water ranges from fifteen feet to forty feet deep and the bottom is full of old logs and rocks. Part of the grappling outfit was lost by being caught on the bottom. There is also quite a strong current running which is another disadvantage in the work.

The yacht Myrtle while not attached to the R. K. Y. C. squadron, intended following the squadron on the cruise. LATEL

A brief message was received at 2.15 today stating that Mr. Cooke's body had been recovered. The body was directly in front of Fox's wharf and was secured about 11 o'clock. It was found by Messrs. Cox and Chase who went up this morning.

300 LIVES LOST BY IGNORANCE

Investigation Into Explosion in Russian Mine. Colliery Always Was Known to be Dangerous and Men Had to be Paid Double Wages.

YUSOVO, Russia, July 14.—An inquest into the fatal coal mine explosion of last week has revealed a terrible picture of the archaic methods of mining in vogue in Russia.

It has been a matter of common knowledge for years past that the Rikovsky mine was dangerous. The workmen called it "The Inferno" because of the prevalence of stifling gas in the workings and they would only consent to go down at double wages.

He was overcome by the damp and brought to the surface. He had to be revived after which he drew a rough sketch of the interior of the mine, and it was on this that the rescue parties went ahead.

It would have been possible to save all but one dozen of the men below if prompt measures had been taken, as fully one hour elapsed after the explosion before the flames burst.

He was overcome by the damp and brought to the surface. He had to be revived after which he drew a rough sketch of the interior of the mine, and it was on this that the rescue parties went ahead.

PREMIER ASQUITH DEVELOPING INTO A FINE TACTICIAN

Naval Intriguers are Trying to Force Beresford's Resignation.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The London correspondent of the Tribune cables as follows: Premier Asquith's management of public business is complimented by the foremost opponents of the Liberal policy. The ministry will have a good record for legislative efficiency when Parliament rises on August 1, and will have the important measures so well advanced that an autumn session can be easily managed. Yet it is a crude measure which has not been thought out in detail is markedly inferior to the German insurance system and will require many modifications when it is in operation. No body knows what it will cost now, but the money can be raised, nor does any one doubt that the scheme will be enlarged in the near future, and made more burdensome to the taxpayer, even if some adaptation of the German contributory method be incorporated. A leap in the dark follows a game of blind man's buff, yet Mr. Asquith has the prestige of a successful leader, receives adulation from his former associates at the bar and is generally regarded as a clever tactician. The season's efforts have been made by naval partisans to goad Lord Charles Beresford into an indication of some degree of disaffection from his former associates at the bar and is generally regarded as a clever tactician. SHOULD WIDOWS BE LABELLED.

(By a Nervous Bachelor.) Should husbands wear wedding rings? is a question that is frequently debated in the correspondence columns of the Press, and undoubtedly the topic is an interesting and debatable one, though there would seem to be many good reasons why a married man should proclaim his estate to the world and no particular reason why he should not. But, so far as I know, none has yet publicly advocated what appears to be an even more necessary social innovation, namely, that widows should bear some distinguishing mark of their former condition. Of course, in the early days of her widowhood, the poor woman, of whom I have no wish to make fun, does not wear her hat and lot to all sundry. And for long after the weeds have been put aside, she wears colors which to the seeing feminine eye, speak as plain as words of her widowhood. But what does the average man, who is not a "divinity" met at dance, dinner, "At Home," or hotel, recall of the fact that the said "divinity" is a widow? Nothing, sir, absolutely nothing.

Foreign Trust Intends to Usurp Entire Trade of Great Britain. LONDON, July 14.—According to the Iron and Steel Trades Journal, out to-day, the proposed international combination of foreign steel firms, which intends to usurp the entire trade of the United Kingdom, is now completed. It is composed, according to this announcement, of American, Belgian, Russian and German concerns, including the Carnegie trust, three Russian concerns, and four German firms. The trust will be represented throughout the United Kingdom, it is said, by highly paid agents, who will be instructed to make a strong bid for the British home trade at prices below those at present ruling in the market and lower than the British manufacturers can afford to make.

BODIES OF MURDERED AMERICANS ARE FOUND

Filipino Guides Slay Two Men Engaged in Country's Research.

MANILA, July 14.—The bodies of H. D. Everett, a government forester and T. R. Wakely, a school teacher, who were murdered several weeks ago by ruffians while on an expedition into the unexplored mountain regions of the islands of Negros, have been recovered by Lieutenant Ahearn, of the consular, after a difficult and dangerous search. Lieutenant Ahearn tells of finding the bodies in the following telegram which has been received here: "While returning with bodies of Everett and Wakely, which we found near their last camp in the Bayual mountains. At first our guides were apparently afraid to lead us into the mountains of the interior island along the route traveled by the two men. "At length we succeeded in getting guides who were acquainted with Ayhan, the leader of the murderers and who took us to the last camping place of Everett and Wakely. "While gambling with the other guides he dragged the entire party with the fumes from a plant Ayhan and some followers killed Everett and Wakely and five guides. The only excuse given by Ayhan was that he felt like killing some one."

BANK INSPECTION. Last week's issue of the "Monetary Times" contains two articles of more than ordinary interest. One of these is a suggestion of banking inspection to be established and conducted by the Canadian Bankers' Association.

Hor Husband—If a man steals—no matter what it is—he will live to regret it. His wife—During our courtship you used to steal kisses from me. Her Husband—Well, you heard what I said.

A FAILURE. "You always seem to be on the losing side at election, George." "Yes, I generally have to eat crow."

Publican—"And how do you like being married, John?" John—"Don't like it at all." Publican—"Why, what's the matter with you, John?"

John—"Well, first thing in the morning it's money; when I go to my dinner it's money again; and at supper it's the same. Nothing but money, money, money!"

John—"Well, I never! What do you do with all that money?" John—"I dunno. I ain't given her any yet."

A NEW HOUSEHOLD HELP. A Powder That Sterilizes Everything That is Washed.

A soap powder that cleanses clothing without injury to the most delicate fabric and perfectly sterilizes in the process of washing is the latest soap product on the market.

"Assept" is called and it is having a large general sale in the United States. The Dr. Scott's White Lintment Co. of this city, have secured the sole Canadian rights for the distribution of "Assept," and they predict that the Canadian household will be delighted with its many household uses.

There are many points in which knowledge gained only by experience is required, and these could not be decided better than by an Association composed of practical men.

THE FAILURE OF THE WARDENS. A few weeks ago the Hazen government appointed at large salaries, a number of fire wardens. These appointments were made as rewards for assistance rendered politically, but it was expected that the men whose abilities in the electoral campaign were so recognized would devote at least a portion of their time to the duties for which they are being paid.

Since these faithful ones were chosen from the clamoring swarm of office seekers, the forest fire situation in St. John county has assumed a most serious aspect. When fire is first observed, that is the time it should be attacked.

Later on, when it has spread over miles of woodland, the task of controlling it becomes much more difficult. The wardens have so far absolutely failed. Fires which are now causing an immense amount of damage were permitted to burn for three or four days before the wardens even took note of their existence.

The opportunity of preventing loss was allowed to pass, and even now practically nothing has been done. Property owners in different sections are carrying on a desultory campaign against the flames, but it is the duty of wardens to organize and direct the efforts of all who are willing to work. The Hazen appointees have failed absolutely in the first work which they have been expected to perform.

THE FLY NUISANCE. The exceptionally warm weather of the past two months has made the fly nuisance in St. John and presumably in other places, somewhat worse than usual. These pests, being so common, are not generally regarded as dangerous to the public health, yet more diseases are carried by flies than most people would suppose.

WANT BRICK SCHOOLS. HALIFAX, N. S., July 15.—Petitions are being circulated here asking the executive council to erect a brick or concrete school buildings at Chebucto Road and Oxford street instead of the wooden buildings which have been decided on.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 15.—The three mile open professional bicycle record was broken last night by P. A. MacFarland, whose time was 1:55. The former record, 2:12, was established by Oleg Larson in 1905.

SHARING IN THE UNREST OF ASIA

"Persia is sharing in the general unrest of Asia," said Mr. Robert Fitzmaurice, a representative of a large British mercantile house at Teheran, to the Standard at the C. P. R.

"Curious things have been happening in the East," said Mr. Fitzmaurice, who is on his way to England, "during the past year or two."

"The Japanese war has altered the whole idea of life to many hundreds of millions of people. It has awakened China. It has caused India to ask questions. The late Shah of Persia, in an unliking moment, gave his people a constitution, and then he died. He had been a great traveller. He had studied European politics. But he evidently did not know the genius of his own people."

To give a people accustomed to despotic rule for immemorial centuries, a full-fledged constitution after the British model, was a large undertaking. "Had he been spared, he might have made some success of the experiment. The present Shah, in the first place, has not the smallest desire to introduce the modern parliamentary system into his kingdom. He wants the old regime to remain. So all the wealthy classes, the old families, those who have benefited by autocratic power, who have been the ministers of the court to rule the people."

"There is in Persia a certain youthful liberal element which has imbibed modern ideas through travel and education. The men representing this element thought that all you had to do was to make out your constitution on paper, and it would go itself. In the one hand you have a ruler who is opposed to modern ideas, as these are hinted in his own kingdom; on the other, you have an aspiring and hot-headed youth, imbued with a desire for a constitution. The Shah is weak. He is not respected. He would gladly let things alone, and take his ease. He is poorly inclined, indolent, dreamy."

"Besides, his brother has been intriguing against him. Before I left the storm was brewing."

"That was a queer idea of demanding from Parliament, at the point of the sword, certain members who had offended the Shah?"

"There you have the mixture of the old and the new. The Shah thought only of absolutism. The Parliament was concerned with its rights. And then you have bombardment. You can see the grotesque humor of the situation."

"What about the position of England and Russia in Persia?"

"The new convention appertained to each a sphere of interest in Persia. Russia was thought to have, by the terms of that convention, a preponderating influence, and doubtless she will use this to her own advantage."

Asked as to the character of the people, Mr. Fitzmaurice said that they had been kept so long in sloth and ignorance that the bulk of them did not desire any other form of government than that which they had been accustomed. At the same time, modern ideas had penetrated into the kingdom. There was a young population class, which desired to see the modern ideas carried out in their native country. Education was spreading.

The people were naturally intelligent, and when educated showed great activity. The trouble was that so great a reform could not be accomplished at once, which the more youthful spirits hoped would be the case.

"It would need a ruler at once wise and strong and tactful. A few years ago the idea of opposing the authority of the Shah would have been shocking to the Persian mind."

"Large events will follow. Indeed, it is impossible to predict the amazing changes which will take place in those countries in Asia which have been profoundly asleep for forty centuries."

BOY'S EFFORTS TO WIN BURIAL FOR MOTHER

Begged and Told Day and Night to Save Her From a Pauper's Grave.

CHICAGO, July 14.—George Hanley, 14 years old, who since the death of his mother last Monday, in the one hospital, has resorted to every means known to raise money, except stealing, to give his mother a decent burial, yesterday in his own lot in Elmwood.

The boy, whose home is in two adjoining rooms, has been collecting cents and nickels from the poor people in his neighborhood in an effort to save his mother's body from the Potters Field. Those who contribute are in as much need of money as George, and he succeeded in raising only a few cents.

George's father, William Hanley, has been missing for the last two weeks. After the wife's death a search was made for him with no results. Neighbors are taking care of George's mother, brother and sister while he is looking for a home.

MRS. HORNER WILL FACE JUDGE TODAY

NEW YORK, July 14.—When Mrs. Horner is arraigned in court at Northport, L. I., tomorrow morning, and charged with the shooting of Dr. James W. Simpson, her son-in-law, the victim of her act will not be present to press the charge against her. Dr. Simpson is lying in Roosevelt Hospital in a critical condition, and the surgeons who have made two unsuccessful efforts to remove the bullet from his liver, say that the patient will be fortunate indeed if he recovers from the wound. Justice Hawkins will presumably adjourn the hearing to some time in the future when Dr. Simpson can be present to give his testimony. In the event of his death, the charge of felonious assault that has been made against Mrs. Horner will be changed to one of homicide. The council, however, reserved the right to permit the city to give an "official display" in the public parks if it so desires. The distance was the result of the deaths of ten persons in this year's Independence day observance.

BOSTON GETS RELIEF FROM HEAT AT LAST

BOSTON, July 14.—The four weeks of extreme heat which has resulted in fourteen deaths, scores of prostrations, and great suffering to Bostonians, was effectively broken late today when the high humidity and uncomfortable heat turned into a heavy rain storm, which brought the temperature down some 10 or 15 degrees, while a 24 miles an hour wind started up from the west. The rainfall continued from 8.30 until after eight o'clock and continued, even longer in surrounding towns and cities, ending a drought of six weeks, during which great damage has been done to crops, and by forest fires.

GIRL, PROTECTING BABY, BADLY BITTEN BY DOG

NEW YORK, July 14.—While protecting her baby sister from a big Newfoundland dog which had attacked her today, 8 year old Rose Eisenberg was terribly bitten by the animal. Despite her terror and the pain the child kept her body between the infant and the dog, until a policeman had placed the animal into submission. Rose was wheeled a baby carriage occupied by her baby sister, while the dog sprang at the infant. Rose was too quick for him, however, and throwing her own body across the path to guard against just such an attempt, she succeeded in raising the dog.

SIX PERSONS HURT IN AN AUTOMOBILE SMASH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 14.—Six persons, five of them well-known society people of Louisville, were seriously injured in an automobile accident early today at Smithville, 23 miles out. The injured included Miss Elizabeth Sherry.

DOES NOT COLOR THE HAIR

The party was returning from Bowling Green. Reaching Salt River they started across the bridge, not knowing that a portion of the structure was recently blown away by a storm. The automobile dashed 25 feet into Salt River, turning completely over. In some miraculous manner one end of the car rested on an obstruction, thus preventing the party from being drowned.

GERMAN PREDICTS WAR WITH JAPAN

BERLIN, July 14.—A brochure published in Leipzig tomorrow, under the title "Hanzai," by an author who conceals his identity, paints a curious picture of a coming Japanese-American war. The American fleet is on its homeward voyage when the cables are cut to Manila. This is explained by a steamer which arrives with a Hong Kong newspaper describing how a typhoon has interrupted telegraphic communication. Not till two days later does the American garriçon discover that war has broken out, and simultaneously the American monitor Monitor No. 1 is blown up by a Japanese tramp.

THAT FISHES CANNOT DANCE IS TRUE

They cannot dance at all. The question is, What do they do? When they get invitations to a stylish codfish ball?

THE FLY NUISANCE

The exceptionally warm weather of the past two months has made the fly nuisance in St. John and presumably in other places, somewhat worse than usual. These pests, being so common, are not generally regarded as dangerous to the public health, yet more diseases are carried by flies than most people would suppose.

WHOLE CHINESE CREW TRIED TO LEAVE SHIP

NEW YORK, July 14.—As the British steamer Strathgry was about to depart from her pier in the Erie Basin, Brooklyn, Saturday afternoon twenty-five desperate Chinamen, who constitute her crew, made a concerted effort to jump overboard, determined, they said, to drown rather than to take another voyage with Captain D. M. Gunn, the steamer's commander. Ten of the number succeeded in the attempt, of whom two were drowned. A newly signed crew of the Strathgry was to guard against just such an attempt, the whole ten would have drowned. Only two of them could swim, and those two fought desperately against rescue. The other fifteen taken in charge by the police.

SYMPATHY. Sympathy is a form of service. It is not a favor granted by one and received by another; it is that action by which one life enters into another's life, takes up a portion of the burden, shares the joy of success, becomes for the time being a part of that life, and contributes to it some of its own strength.

Strength. Sympathy does not weaken the individuality of the life it helps, it rather strengthens it. It does not lessen its responsibilities, it helps to bear them; by relieving the tension it gives opportunity for development; by companionship gives new courage and fresh ability for advance when the assisting presence is withdrawn.

TWO NAVAL CHIEFS ARE STILL AT ODDS

No Reconciliation Yet Between Beresford and Scott.

Beresford's Enemies Say He is Out of Date—Must Not be Allowed to Impair Efficiency of the Navy.

LONDON, July 12.—A thousand and one reports have found publication regarding the imminent resignation of Lord Charles Beresford and Sir Percy Scott, and other probable developments of the quarrel between the chiefs of the British navy.

Developments in the way of Parliamentary questions and editorial discussion throw no new light on the matter. Beresford, it may be noted, however, does not stand so well with the public generally as he did become the public enemy because of his attitude towards the fleet.

During the recent manoeuvres the first cruiser squadron of the Channel fleet was arranged in two lines, led respectively by Sir Percy Scott's flagship Good Hope and the Argyll. The distance between the lines was 1,000 yards, exactly the distance which separated the Victoria and Camperdown when the latter rammed Tyro's flagship in the Mediterranean.

Admiral Beresford gave the signal, "Lines turn inward." The Argyll obeyed, but the Good Hope turned outward. Beresford signalled to ask why his order had not been obeyed. Sir Percy Scott replied that in his opinion exact obedience to the signal might have been dangerous. Beresford promptly signalled back to Scott that he was quite right to act as he did.

BERESFORD CRITICS SPEAK PLAINLY. The man who is authority for this report of the incident argued that it indicated an excellent spirit of cooperation between the two admirals, and declared that their personal relations could not but be improved by it. This optimistic view, however, is shared by few, and even were Beresford and Scott to shake hands, there is little expectation that Beresford and Sir John Fisher would smoke the pipe of peace.

Beresford has revoked not a few unofficial imitations that his resignation from the navy will be accepted with relief. His critics have not missed language.

MAKE KING'S SNUB A PARTY ISSUE

Keir Hardie Decides to Ask for Explanation.

Generally Understood That Socialist Leader's Disloyalty on India Troubles Led to King's Action.

LONDON, July 14.—It is a curious political anomaly that an invitation to the King's garden party should raise a grave constitutional question in the House of Commons.

Keir Hardie's extreme radical views are notorious, and his friends pretend to be in some doubt as to what particular feature thereof offends the throne so bitterly. Some of them assume that it was his opposition to the King's visit to the East. This is disposed of by the fact that the member who opened the opposition debate in the House of Commons was invited to attend the garden party.

While it is quite true that the King must hold himself aloof from all questions of domestic politics, there is no obligation, moral or legal, upon him to ignore sedition or treason. If the King's announcement, which, of course, he will not do, that he had refused to invite Mr. Hardie to Windsor because of his disloyal conduct in India, the whole country would applaud him.

The Socialist members of Parliament decided to make all the political capital possible out of the King's failure to invite James Keir Hardie to attend. Addressing a meeting of East-end laborers today, Hardie said: 'I shall allow no interference with my political conduct in or out of Parliament by the King or the court.'

William Thorne, M. P., secretary of the Gas Workers' and General Laborer's Union, spoke in a similar vein. He repudiated the right of the King, or anybody else, to curtail his tongue inside or outside of Parliament, adding: 'I hope the time will most speedily arrive when there will be no room for Kings and Queens who threaten to govern ourselves better than now.'

The audience were in thorough harmony with the speakers, and they roared William Crooks, M. P., by trade a cooper, who spoke later, taunting him with having attended the garden party. Crooks did not deny the fact, but jollied his hearers into good humor.

MUSIC'S CHARMS ON THE FEEBLE-MINDED

Brass Band Effects Cures Even in Obstinate Cases. LONDON, July 14.—An illustration of the efficacy of music treatment on feeble-minded persons has occurred at the Home for Feeble-minded Boys at Witham, in Essex, where a decided change has been effected since the introduction of a brass band.

It is better to right a little wrong than write a long poem. It takes two to make a quarrel, and then a hundred times two to mend it. Arguing with a fool is only augmenting folly. The fruits of truth are not gathered by beating about the bush. If you are a true friend you never need to put on an air of friendliness. He who is never satisfied with anything satisfies no one. Be true to yourselves, and then you will be true to all men.

WEDS HIS COOK AFTER A SIX DAYS' WOOING.

SCRANTON, July 14.—George H. Marsh, of Honesdale, has married his cook after a six days' wooing and on the heels of his wedding comes that of Jules A. Dunn of the same place to his "next best friend."

Marsh advertised for a cook a few weeks ago and he received a reply from Amanda Orilla Sampson, of Honesdale, a repressing woman, who admitted that she was 31 years old. She arrived in Honesdale and was such a success that yesterday they were married. The Rev. Dr. W. H. Swift presided at the ceremony.

Mrs. Cora May Edwards-Mills was recently divorced and Jules A. Dunn figured in the case as her "next best friend." Last night they were married by Justice of the Peace W. H. Ham.

THOUGHTS.

Go forth into the busy world and live; interpose yourself in its life; mingle kindly with its joys and sorrows; try what you can do for men; rather than what you can make them do for you, and you will know what it is to have men yours, better than if you were their king or master.—Brook Herford.

THE STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B. WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1908

His Incomplete Romance

By BRUCE REEBERS.

They were sitting on the verandah of the largest hotel at The Pines, in the twilight of a summer evening, enjoying themselves in that lazy, companionable way which is possible when two friends understand each other perfectly. The evening was unusually quiet, even for this quiet little summer retreat: the stillness broken only by the clamor of childish voices playing somewhere in the distance. Suddenly, the shriek of the incoming passenger train was heard, and, as if by magic, the place was transformed into a hive of activity; for this was one of the events of the day, when old and young felt called upon to go to the rustic station to welcome husbands, brothers, sweethearts and friends who had been away in the neighboring city during the day, looking after business interests. The increased activity served to rouse the friends from the reverie into which they had fallen. "Tom," began the younger man, "did you ever have anything remind you of something else, without being able to see any connection between these two things?" The other regarded him laughingly. "Accept my congratulations on the profound wisdom of that remark." Then, aside, "I'm afraid it's the young moon over there gone to his head; it may be his extreme youth, or again, it might be the atmosphere. In that case, I think I had better seek the shelter of my own room; it might be infectious," and Tom Grayson made as if to rise, and then sank back laughing, into his chair. "Maybe it's the atmosphere, but I'm inclined to think it was the whistle on

"Suddenly my attention was drawn to a young woman who had come the full length of the car, and had paused uncertainly beside the half-seat opposite me. At once, I proffered half the seat I occupied, but instead, she dropped into the half-seat. At her side, evidently her escort, was a man who, because of his striking contrast to his companion, caught my attention at once. He was the best type of villain I have ever seen. Looking again at the young woman, I was struck by her uncommon loveliness and evident distress. The sweet innocence of her face, in contrast to the man, excited my curiosity, and I fell to studying the two from beneath the brim of my hat. He kept talking to her in an oily tone, which was nauseating to me, and apparently a source of distress to her, for she answered only in monosyllables or not at all, while her troubled glance swept here and there, as if seeking a means of escape. I was the only one near enough to hear what was said, and all at once the true state of affairs flashed upon me. "He was taking advantage of her defenceless position, judging rightly that she was too timid to expose him and so attract attention to herself. Presently she turned away from him where he stood over her with a proprietary air, and gazed persistently through the window into the darkness, ignoring the questions and remarks which he directed to her. I caught the glimmer of tears in her eyes. At the risk of committing an unpardonable blunder, but unable to endure it any longer, I leaned forward. 'Pardon me,' I said, 'but is that fellow annoying you?' "She gave me a grateful look. 'I have never seen him before,' she answered. "The fellow in question stared at me malignantly for a second, then, turning to her with a half-smiling smile and a profound bow, said, 'I see that you have found another friend, so I will ask you to excuse me.' "I wanted to choke him for his unbecoming insinuation, but for her sake I had to ignore it. She sank into the seat with a murmured 'thank you' on her lips, and we rode in silence till we were well out of the city. The other passengers were settling themselves to get what comfort they might out of the long night's journey. She, alone, sat bolt upright in the most uncomfortable seat in the coach, while I had a wide, comfortable seat to myself. At length, at the risk of displeasing her, I told her she must exchange seats with me. At first she refused, but I insisted, and she smiled as she said demurely, 'I'll not exchange, but suppose I share your seat with you. I think that would be better.' "I thought so, too, but hadn't dared to suggest it, with the memory of the other fellow still fresh in my mind. After taking the seat by my side, she sat in stony silence, with her eyes riveted against the window-pane, though I felt, instinctively, I suppose, that she wished to explain some things to me. Finally, she turned abruptly and began in a sweetly hesitating manner to explain how she happened to be travelling alone. I was more impressed with the manner of the telling than what she actually said, but, as I remember, she had intended visiting friends in Chicago, and had arrived unexpectedly, only to find them out of the city. The hotels were full, and there was nothing to do but continue her journey by night. The stranger had accosted her as she was making her way to the train, and she hurried aboard, only to find that he had followed her. 'I don't know what I should have done without your help,' she added with a shudder. "I am treating you as I would want some fellow to treat my own sister, simply placed, I responded, 'right gallantly, and I realized that I had said the right thing, for she gave me a grateful smile, which established us on a friendly footing at once. "She did very little of the talking, but I told her everything, including my family history, my work, college days, even my hopes and aspirations; everything that any other man is likely to tell when inspired by the sympathy and tact of a lovely woman; for she was beautiful. There was an inexplicable charm to me in the piquant features, the demure expression and the wholesome good cheer revealed in every line of her face. "The other passengers were dozing in their seats, while we talked on and on, until suddenly I realized how tired she must be. My conscience smote me, and I insisted that she must try to rest. Against her protest that she was not tired, I propped a pillow from my top-coat, and arranged it comfortably for her. She declared that she meant to remain wide awake, but presently I had the satisfaction of seeing her eyelids droop and quiver, and finally close, as she sank to sleep like a tired child. "I do not know how long I sat there, studying her face, but I know that every line was graven indelibly in my mind. I fell into a reverie, dreaming of the days to come, and I knew not how it was, but always her face was before me, sometimes as if to mock, and again filled with the ineffable tenderness of which it was capable. It seemed impossible that in a short time our lives thus brought together by accident, were to be severed ruthlessly. Her head slipped gradually from the side pillow I had made for her, until it rested lightly against my shoulder. I scarcely dared to breathe, for fear of waking her and dispelling my own illusion. I had the sensation that, somehow, the unvarying rumble and roar of the train must go on and on till we two were ushered at last into eternity. "I was rudely brought back to things of earth, however, a series of nasal disturbances from a sleeping passenger two seats away from us culminated in a loud snort which aroused his fellow passengers as well as himself. My little friend raised her head and smiled at me, without seeming to realize her attitude. She was greatly rested, she declared, and was in the best of spirits. I, on the other hand, was unaccountably depressed. To be aroused from such a reverie was in itself, however, and on consulting my watch I found that we were but a short distance out from the city which meant the parting of the ways for us. She would board her train and go her way, while I should linger in her memory, if at all, (To be continued.)

QUEBEC POLITICAL LEADER IN TROUBLE

BOSTON, July 14.—Charged with violating the alien contract labor law by providing employment in mills for two French Canadians, Hermaida Bellisle, a political leader in the province of Quebec, was held in $5,000 bonds for a hearing on July 19 by United States Commissioner Hayes yesterday. As it involves the legal problem of whether an agreement equivalent to a contract or a verbal contract can be considered a violation of the law, the case will be of great interest and importance. Inspector John W. Dolan, who arrested Bellisle, felt satisfied that the law had been infringed upon, but Bellisle declared that without documentary evidence against him he was within his rights. Numerous other such pertinent questions about why they were coming to Uncle Sam's dominions, they answered in such a straightforward way that they could not be suspected of violating the law. It is alleged that immediately upon their arrival in Manabang positions were ready for them. Manabang is a mill hamlet near Worcester, inhabited chiefly by alien workmen. When asked how he happened to hit upon the two young French Canadians, whom they made no complaints, Inspector Dolan was reticent, but he pointed out to a reporter Bellisle's record. J. H. McCauley, secretary of the Bangor Fire department, is in the city.

ONLY ONE BODY RECOVERED

CATUMET, Mass., July 14.—The body of one of the four victims of the explosion on the yacht Dolphin in Buzzards Bay Saturday night was washed up on Scraggy Neck today and was identified by Edward E. Pecker, one of the two survivors, as that of John P. Trull of Weoburn. Mr. Pecker, who has remained in this vicinity for the purpose of assisting in the identification of any bodies that may be washed ashore, came here from Marion this afternoon and positively identified the body by means of a seal ring as well as by the features, which were well preserved. After Medical Examiner Dr. Henry Hanly had viewed the body he gave permission for its removal and it was given in charge of an undertaker at Bourne by relatives of Mr. Trull. Although launches and yachts have been patrolling Buzzard's Bay diligently for three days, Mr. Trull's body is the only one that has yet been recovered.

BIG SAVINGS
Men's and Young Men's Clothes

Every dollar you spend for clothes at this sale will bring you at least two dollars worth of wear and satisfaction in return.

There's no getting away from the fact that our regular prices are at least 25 per cent. under those of other stores. It has been proved so often that even the other stores must admit it. And when you consider that as makers we have no middleman's profit to pay, you can readily understand why we can sell for less than others. But in this sale the savings are from our own prices. We're clearing our stocks at 1-3 to almost 1-2 less than regular. It doesn't take much figuring, therefore, to realize that we are giving you remarkable values. And every garment is new this season, is right up-to-date in style and is guaranteed for satisfactory service. So if you want to get good clothes and want to save money--this is your opportunity.

HERE ARE SOME PRICE HINTS:

Table with columns: MEN'S SUITS, MEN'S FURNISHINGS, BOYS' TWO-PIECE SUITS. Lists various clothing items and their reduced prices.

CLOSED TODAY.

OPEN TOMORROW.

These prices must convince you that we mean business. We do! And our advice to you is this — don't allow this opportunity to pass to buy reliable up-to-date Clothing and Furnishings for yourself or boy at such large savings from prevailing prices without taking advantage of it.

Remember sale commences Thursday, July 16th, and remember also that it will positively end SATURDAY, July 25th.

A bon fire on Erin street was put out by the police last night.

A key found on Union square can be had at Central police station.

The steamer Pontiac left port at one o'clock this afternoon with a cargo of deals for the U. K.

If in the market for a good $5 shoe buy Pidgeon's $3.33 special and save $1.67.

The fire department was called out at 4.35 o'clock this morning by an alarm from box 411. Spontaneous combustion caused considerable damage in the slack coal in Gibbon and Co.'s sheds at Gilbert's Lane. The firemen worked for about an hour before the fire was extinguished.

In view of the exceeding dryness of vegetation, Mayor Bullock and Chief Clerk have arranged with Frank White that there will be no display of fireworks at Rockwood Park tonight. It is felt that all possibility of fire should be avoided.

Seven thousand people attended the Orange tea in Mount Herbert, P. E. I., yesterday, in aid of the Wallace Orphan Home. The amusements passed off successfully but for an accident in the afternoon, when a large machine for testing strength fell, striking Mrs. Buchanan of Rosedale, and cutting her head open. At last accounts she was resting comfortably.

In the equity court this morning the case of Mullin vs. Corkery was continued. The defendant occupied the stand and from his books read the accounts he had paid for the Mullin family and alleged that he had not been entered in the books. M. G. Teed was cross-examining the witness when the court adjourned.

CHILDREN AT THE PARK; GUESTS OF MAYOR BULLOCK

This afternoon Rockwood Park is overflowing with happy children who are the guests of Mayor Bullock at the most elaborate children's picnic that has ever been held at the city.

Yesterday afternoon the mayor visited the playgrounds and distributed tickets to about six hundred fifty children. Only those who were regular attendants at the playgrounds were supposed to receive the tickets.

There were many requests for other members of the family; one child even asking for a ticket for her aunt. The children met at the two schools at 1.30 and marched in a body to the park. Here they disbanded and commenced their strenuous afternoon amusement. The Ferris wheel, the shoot-the-chutes, the merry-go-rounds were all crowded with children and the ice cream stands were almost overwhelmed with the hot and ice cream hungry children.

The children are having the time of their lives and Mayor Bullock is coming in for many good words for his generosity.

JUST-FANJOY

STONEY, July 15.—A pretty wedding took place this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fanjoy, George street, this city, formerly of St. John, when their daughter, Catherine May, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Hooper Jost, of this city. The drawing room where the ceremony took place was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns for the occasion. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Smith, pastor of the Falmouth street church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few friends of the contracting parties. The bride who was unattended, was given away by her father, Mr. W. T. Fanjoy. The bride was gowned in heavy cream silk elaborately trimmed with baby Irish lace with medallions. She also wore the customary bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a showed bouquet of roses. The bride's going away costume was of brown broadcloth with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Jost left on short wedding trip through the Bras d'or Lakes. On their return they will reside in Sydney.

ST. JOHN GIRL TELLS OF WORK IN HONOLULU

Miss Elizabeth Colwell Returns After Six Years in the Pacific, to Visit Parents in This City.

Miss Elizabeth Colwell, who has spent the last six years in Honolulu, talked to the Star this morning about her work there. Miss Colwell has returned to St. John to spend a year's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Colwell, Paradise Row.

For the past half dozen years she has been connected with the Kawaiahoi Seminary for girls of white, Hawaiian and other nationalities. The school was founded by the Park St. Congregational Church of Boston and is now under the control of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association.

Mission work was first started in Honolulu in 1818 when the missionaries had to travel around the Horn in sailing vessels to get to their destination. In 1850 the islands were supposed to be fully evangelized and the American Board withdrew. At that time the Evangelical Association took over the churches and other missionary work, the seminary among them, and has since then carried on the work.

The Association is formed of the white people of the islands and the churches of the Evangelical Association look over the churches and other missionary work, the seminary among them, and has since then carried on the work.
