EARTHQUAKE ROCKS WALES; POPULACE THROWN INTO PANIC

Violent Earthshocks Set the Houses Reeling and Chimneys Toppling—No Loss of Life.

Cardiff, Wales, June 27.—Violent earthquakes were experienced throughout South Wales at 9:45 this morning. Houses rocked, and many of the cheaper ones were damaged. Hundreds of chimneys fell, pictures were shaken from walls, occupants of dwellings were thrown to the ground, and people fled from their houses, shrieking, in panic, with visions of the San Francisco disaster before them. Though there were many narrow escapes from falling chimneys and copings, there were no casualties so far as known.

TARTE'S ATTACK ON LAURIER

Disgruntled Ex-Minister Accuses Him of Yielding to the Presbyterians.

Montreal, June 27.—"We hope," writes Hon. Mr. Tarte in La Patrie, discussing the Sabbath observance bill, "that such a Draconic measure will never be adopted. Never has the liberty of the subject been so disregarded. As a matter of fact, such a bill would not be accepted in a country governed by the most autocratic methods. There is no government or public man capable of carrying such a measure into force. We are asked how Sir Wilfrid Laurier ever consented to become the champion of so retrograde a measure. We believe that opportunism is one of the things which the Prime Minister believes in most. A violent pressure has been brought to bear on the cabinet, and particularly upon the Prime Minister by the alliance. The Presbyterians, who constitute a numerous and respectable element in Ontario and the Lower Province, have dictated to the Liberal party."

SHOOTING ON SUNDAY

Lord's Day Bill Will Prevent Practice at Targets.

Ottawa, Ont., June 27.—The Sunday bill was up in the Commons this morning. The clause prohibiting target shooting was under discussion. Mr. R. L. Borden and Col. Sam Hughes waited to know why the shooting of live animals was not prohibited. Mr. Aylesworth said if they desired such a prohibition they could move it themselves.

MOTOR BOATS STUDDING THAMES; BUT OWNERS HAVE A GRIEVANCE

Think City Should Help Them Obtain Better Aquatic Facilities.

There may be prettier spots for boating than the River Thames, but doubtless they are very few in number. Londoners are just beginning to appreciate the beauties of the trip to Springbank by the water route, and there is a more active interest shown in aquatic sports than in many years past. Every night fleets of boats are on the river, and the number is increasing at a rapid pace. Canoes are numerous, but there have been no accidents up to the present. The boats that rock the boat, and the graveyards, have also been absent. The number of rowboats and canoes has been estimated at from 100 to 150. Whit Lancaster has a large number, and the London Rowing Club has also a large number. Several owners have large fleets of them. The number of private boats is also very large.

One of the most pleasing features is the growth of the motor-boat fleet. The Thames offers large opportunities for this sport, and the lovers of a fast boat have not been slow to appreciate their opportunities. At present there are nine fast boats on the river. Jack Collinson owns two, Art Keene, Lorne Spry, Ben Morris, Jack Waugh, and Messrs. Henniger, Cooper, and the Racine, owned by Messrs. Rider, H. Pearson, Sussex and Pearson. At present there are two or three more being built. One of these is a 35-footer. It will be the largest on the river, and will also be one of the fastest. Several others have intended building, but have not done so on account of the condition of the river.

When all things are considered this is a very small number for a city the size of London. New Hamburg, a small town, has no less than a dozen motor-boats. Of course, they have an abundance of water. In Toronto the Humber fairly swarms with this sort of craft, and they are to be found in the bay in large numbers. In most of the cities where there are water facilities, the motor-boat has arrived, and has been enthusiastically taken up.

There is one serious drawback, however, to the sport in this city. There is not enough water up town. The Sanitary Board has made the authorities lower the water fully a foot and a half, and as a consequence it is practically impossible to get boats up as far as Dundas street. In some places there is not much more than six inches of water. One motor boat has been smashed already trying to get up, and several others have received smaller injuries. Art Keene's boat has been put out of commission and will not be used until there is more water. The matter could be easily arranged. There is plenty of water if the best use of it could be secured. The Sanitary Board seems some distance from solution, and until it is settled there will be no splash boards at Springbank to bring the water up to the proper level. In the meantime, however, it would be possible to get sufficient water for all practical purposes. If the river were dredged for one hundred feet below the London Rowing Club, a channel could be found that would allow all boats to pass up and down, and prevent accidents. There is no dredge in the river now, and there seems no prospect for one. But the fact still remains that if a dredge were used on the river a week a year, no better boating facilities could be found anywhere. A dredge would not cost very much, and would give a great impetus to this sport.

In the meantime the difficulty could be settled easily. At present there are several teams taking gravel out of the river. Where they are working at present only aggravates the trouble. They are deepening the side of the river and lowering the depth of the river in mid-stream. Now, if the teams engaged in this work were only made to take the gravel in mid-stream in the path of the boats, oarsmen would have no reason to complain at all. The gravel there is just as good, and there is no more trouble to get it. There would be no extra expense incurred.

Oarsmen complain bitterly of the treatment accorded them. They say that they cannot afford to do the work themselves as they receive no revenue. Some of them express themselves as willing to do something toward it, but they feel that the city should bear some of the expense.

The city does very little towards the encouragement of any kind of sport in the city. It does very little to support places where amusement can be had, and as a result the sport is classed as a dead one as far as sport is concerned.

In two years there ought to be one hundred motor boats on the Thames, involving the expenditure of a large sum of money, provided there is some encouragement given to this branch of sport.

HON. MR. HYMAN HAS SOLUTION FOR INTERSWITCHING PROBLEM

Clause Covering Trouble Adopted in Railway Bill—Phone Connection.

Ottawa, June 27.—Having disposed of the railway subsidies, resolutions concerning which were concurred in, the House devoted the remainder of the sitting to a consideration of Mr. Emmerson's bill placing express and telephone companies under the control of the board of railway commissioners. Clauses respecting express companies were adopted after a brief discussion, together with some general clauses, amending the railway act. Telephone clauses, however, proved a knotty problem, and talk upon the various clauses was continued until an early hour this morning. The principal bone of contention was the clause providing for a physical connection between the various telephone lines, to which an amendment was offered by the Minister of Railways, providing for connection of local companies with long distance lines. Mr. Maclean wanted to still further widen the provision for connection, but the sense of the committee was in favor of the Government's amendment, which was adopted.

Hon. Mr. Hyman offered a new clause designed to meet a case which arose at London, where, although the railway commission ordered a connection between the G. T. R. and C. P. R. by a spur line, it was contended that the board had no power to control switching operations on the private line or tracks of either of the companies. The clause was adopted.

At the suggestion of the city of Chatham, a clause was inserted widening the powers of the commission with regard to blocked highway crossings by shuttling or trains standing on tracks to apply to any unnecessary interference with public travel.

Telephone clauses were next considered, and a number of non-contentious clauses were quickly disposed of.

Swift Punishment

Cairo, Egypt, June 27.—The trial of the natives concerned in the attack on June 13 on the party of five British officers, while the latter were pigeon shooting in the village of Demshawal, killing one of the officers, Captain S. C. Bull, of the Sixth (Inniskilling) Dragoons, and the serious maltreatment of the others, has resulted in four natives being sentenced to death, three to fifteen years' penal servitude, six to seven years, and five to receive fifty lashes. Thirty-one of the accused were acquitted. The executions and the floggings will occur at Demshawal. All the men sentenced to death will be hanged by turns, on one gallows, in the presence of the villagers.

DIPHTHERIA CASES INQUIRED INTO BY PROVINCIAL HEALTH OFFICER

Dr. J. W. Stevenson and Dr. Hutchinson Air Their Differences.

Dr. Bell, provincial medical inspector, is in the city today. He spent a couple of hours in Dr. Hutchinson's office in the city hall, where he was seen by The Advertiser. The doctor stated that he was not in the city to investigate the personal disputes of Dr. Hutchinson.

"It was reported to the provincial authorities that there was a great deal of diphtheria in London," he said, "and that the disease was not being fought as it should be, if it is to be stamped out. I was asked to come to London and make an investigation, so that the provincial department will know what is being done here to report to the local board of health."

Ald. Stevenson and Dr. Hutchinson threatened their differences in the latter's office before Dr. Bell. It was evident that there is no love lost between the two. In a quiet way they "rubbed it in," and gave each other the worst of the deal as far as possible. Later they began to disagree in a somewhat lively fashion, and it looked as though the fur was about to fly, when Dr. Bell turned the conversation into other channels.

Dr. Hutchinson reproved Ald. Stevenson when the latter took the official records of the office to Dr. Bell to make a point against the health officer. "This is my office," Dr. Bell said. "I am not here to object to Dr. Stevenson acting in this manner."

"I'm going to put the doctor on to a few things," said Dr. Stevenson.

"Dr. Bell came to see me, I want you to understand," Dr. Hutchinson replied.

"He came to see me, too," Dr. Stevenson took the liberty of remarking.

"He says he didn't, and this is my office," Dr. Hutchinson repeated.

"I am a member of the board of health, and I can make in here when I want to," Dr. Stevenson retorted. "It will do you no good to object."

"I am not here to investigate your personal differences," Dr. Bell told both physicians.

Dr. Stevenson's Charges.

Dr. Stevenson then proceeded with his charges against the health officer.

He said that case after case of diphtheria, and the name of the milkman was not given. He alleged that owing to the officer's failure to investigate a case of diphtheria in the family of H. Nichols, of Westminster, many cases of diphtheria had broken out in London. He declared that Nichols' son, who drove a milk wagon in this city, died of diphtheria, and that the next driver, Taylor, is now in Victoria Hospital suffering from the disease. The driver had told him (Dr. Stevenson) that he had recognized five of his former milk customers in the diphtheria ward. Why did not Dr. Hutchinson investigate this case before so many people were exposed to the contagion? he asked. Five patients were sent to the hospital in twenty days, and all of them took milk from Nichols.

Dr. Bell asked who notified Dr.

Hutchinson of the presence of a contagious case in the city.

"The hospital does," Dr. Stevenson said.

Dr. Hutchinson denied this, but it afterwards transpired that the hospital does notify the doctor, and the doctors are expected to send in a written notice after the verbal notice has been given.

Dr. Hutchinson proved conclusively that he supplies the local physicians with blank forms for notification, bearing two-cent stamps, so that the doctors may have no excuse to evade carrying out the law on this point.

"I can bring twenty physicians to swear that they never notify you except by 'phone,'" Dr. Stevenson declared.

Dr. Hutchinson said this was nothing against Dr. Hutchinson. The doctors should be compelled to carry out the law.

"A notice over the 'phone is better than a written notice," Dr. Hutchinson explained to Dr. Bell. "I might have to wait twenty-four hours for a written notice."

"Do physicians take swabs of the nose and throat and isolate the patients at once, until they ascertain if it is really a case of diphtheria?" Dr. Bell asked.

"No," Dr. Stevenson told him. "They do not. We have no bacteriologist and no isolation hospital."

"Why do you not send the swabs to Toronto?"

"I could take too long," said Dr. Hutchinson.

"Wouldn't it be better to know what you are doing even if it took 48 hours to make the test, than to simply wait and see as you are doing now?" asked Dr. Bell.

The latter then explained that if the health department sent the swabs to a patient being isolated in his own home, without being sent to the hospital. In this way, an isolation hospital is not necessary.

He was not sure some patients must be isolated.

ARE STANDING BY SEVENTH OFFICERS

Non-Coms. and Men Think Bandmen in Error.

MONEY FOR NEW SEVENTH BAND

Citizens Will Subscribe to it, if Necessary

—Strikers Will Form a Band of Their Own.

The Seventh Band situation remains the same. That is, the officers say there is no regimental band, and the men are ready to agree with them.

It is quite evident that the non-commissioned officers and men of the regiment are prepared to stand by the officers. In fact, it is said that many of the rank and file are very angry at the band for what they allege to be its attempt to kill the outing to Ottawa on Saturday next.

Some of the men also object to the bandmen placing themselves in a class by themselves, and refusing to accept the same treatment as the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the regiment.

"If we could go to Ottawa without pay, the bandmen could have well paid to Ottawa without pay, as they didn't clip in a cent," one of the privates said today. "As a matter of fact the trip was arranged by the officers to give the members of the battalion a couple of days' enjoyment in a city which we all wish to see. It was downright unfair of the bandmen to step in and try to spoil our pleasure, by demanding pay for something which was intended for their pleasure as well as ours. If the band is to be paid it must come out of the regimental funds or be paid by the officers of the regiment out of their private pockets. The members of the regiment certainly object to the band coming on their funds in this way."

The bandmen say they will organize a citizens' band on Saturday next, and that it will be made the best band in the city.

On the other hand the officers of the Seventh have been assured by a very prominent citizen, who has no connection with the Seventh Regiment, that if the citizens of London will not raise a band, the Seventh will have to raise one for $1,000 to buy instruments for the new band which is to be recruited at once, he will subscribe the amount himself. "We must have a band which will stand by the regiment," said the citizen referred to.

It has leaked out that the sergeant met informally to discuss the matter at the present time. His claim that they have just as much right as the bandmen to be paid, but they would not think of asking remuneration for a pleasure trip.

The new armories have been a boon to the battalion, which was never in such good shape. It has become a credit to the city and its Monday night parades are looked for by thousands. A gentleman in close touch with military matters said the officers and men are indignant at the spiteful attacks upon the new band which a local newspaper has descended. The colonel has given unsparingly of his time and means to build up the Seventh, and is a favorite with the whole regiment.

The work of creating a new band will begin as soon as the corps returns from Ottawa.

LEAPED FROM DOCK

Hamilton Man's Strange Action Ends in His Being Drowned.

Hamilton, June 27.—Thomas Gladwell jumped from the Hamilton Steamboat Company's wharf into the water at the head of the slip yesterday, and was drowned. He and John Jones went down to catch the 2 o'clock boat for Toronto, and missed it. They decided to wait for the next boat, and while waiting Gladwell said he would go in for a swim. He threw off his coat, vest and hat, and jumped in. He rose part way to the surface once, then sank and did not rise again. Employees of the steamboat company dived for the body, but did not find it. The body was notified, and after a half-hour's work, found it. Deceased was 33 years of age, and is survived by a wife and two children. Coroner White was notified, but decided an inquest was unnecessary.

THE TRADES' CONGRESS

Will Gather at Victoria, B. C., on September Seventeenth.

Ottawa, June 27.—The executive of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress in session here have fixed on Sept. 17 as the date for the commencement of this year's congress at Victoria, B. C. It was decided to place an organizer in the Canadian West to secure the affiliation of the union there. Mr. J. R. McDonald, labor representative for Leicester in the British Commons, will visit Canada in August, and will tour the country under the auspices of the congress, visiting all important centers.

GERMANY DENIES IT.

Berlin, June 27.—The foreign office denies the reports that Germany and Austria are strengthening their military forces on the Russian frontiers, owing to the Russian disorders, adding that Germany does not need to increase the strength of her garrisons, as they are already ample for all purposes.

Committee Passes Bill to Balk Loan Sharks

STRINGENT ACT TO DO AWAY WITH EXTORTION

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 27.—The banking and commerce committee today took up the bill respecting money lenders.

Mr. Tremearke, of Toronto, was heard in opposition to the bill on behalf of the Toronto money lenders. He said that the act was more stringent than the British one. He complained particularly of the interest rate on contracts being limited to 12 per cent per annum.

In Toronto it was quite customary to give 25 per cent for one month, and at the end of the month to get $2.50 for the loan. This would be at the rate of 120 per cent per annum.

The rate of 12 per cent would be high enough for long terms. What he complained of was the rate being too low for short loans.

Mr. Schell—"What would you think was a correct figure?"

Mr. Tremearke—"Twelve per cent would be reasonable in some instances and 50 per cent would be high enough."

Mr. Schell suggested that there could be some other respectable business that a man could go into besides money lending.

Mr. Fielding asked what changes he would suggest in the bill.

Mr. Tremearke said that he wanted the word "regulate," and that clauses 1, 2, 3 and 4 be dropped. These clauses were practically the whole bill. Mr. Tremearke added that the bill would still be equal to the British act which the money lenders approved of.

Mr. Verville strongly supported the bill. He said that loaning money was the great evil of the working classes. He would, if there was to be any, allow the offender against the act to go to jail without the option of a fine.

Mr. Schell said that there were money lenders and sharks. The second class were a great evil.

Mr. Telford, North Grey, said that he was a money lender, but was strongly in favor of the bill. He gave instances of how a certain class of money lenders oppressed those who unfortunately got into their hands.

Mr. Tremearke was the only one who appeared against the bill. It was afterwards passed without any opposition. The only important change made was that the bill would not apply to any transaction the interest on which was less than 50 cents.

TO SPRUCE UP U. S. SOLDIERS

English Sartorial Expert Arrives at New York for That Purpose.

New York, June 27.—The Times today says: The Englishman who is to suggest improvements in the uniforms of the United States army arrived yesterday from London on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm. He is George B. Winter, and he came with his son, G. B. Winter, Jun.

As he is to do much for this country sartorially, his own appearance is pretty closely scanned by the reporters who met him at the pier. Mr. Winter is in the forties, blonde, and a little above medium height, and he has a mustache turned up at the ends. His accent would be easily distinguished as English. He was dressed in a blue serge suit. The trousers were rather tight, according to the American mode at the present time. His coat was of the type known here as box, fitting him very snugly across the shoulders, but without padding. His waistcoat was white, with a kind of lace effect. His cravat was dark, and he wore a turquois pin surrounded with diamonds. His hat was a gray derby. His hands were incased in yellow chambray gloves, and he swung a bamboo cane. His shoes were tan, and the leather which they were made of was uneven or braided, and seemingly light in weight.

"Can't you tell us what you will do for our army?" someone asked. "Well," said Mr. Winter humorously, "I am going to make your privates look like officers, and your officers—well, like gentlemen." To someone one board it was reported that Mr. Winter said that the new uniforms would cost each officer from $100 to $200 for his entire outfit. He was also said to have told a passenger that the American soldier was better dressed than any other soldier in the world. Several soldiers who were passing to and from Governors Island were asked what they thought of the proposed improvement in the uniforms, and here is what two of them said:

"It's all right; so long as they don't put ribbons on our rifles."

"Ah, the slouch hat and blue shirt is good enough for us."

RING OFF, PLEASE!

Especially When You Find Yourself Ordering Steak from Medical College.

A funny story of the complications which may arise from a mistake in a telephone number was told The Advertiser today.

A certain Princess avenue lady went to the 'phone, and as she thought called up her butcher.

"I want a couple of pounds of nice steak today," she said, as she heard somebody at the other end.

"What do you want?" a voice inquired.

"Two pounds of steak," the lady replied.

"Say, missus," said the voice, "this is the Medical College. About how much did you say you wanted?"

Upon the lady dropped the 'phone. Chicago packing-house scandal ain't nothing like this, she thinks.

A LITTLE WINDFALL

Chicago, June 27.—Mrs. Ethel Field Beatty, daughter of the late Marshall Field, will receive stocks and bonds to the value of $887,000, by a decree entered yesterday by Judge Walker, in the superior court. In the contest made by Mrs. Beatty it was shown that some months before his death Mr. Field told his daughter that he intended to turn the stock over to her. When he deposited the securities with the United States Trusts Company of New York he left them a memorandum that they belonged to his daughter.

DEATH SUMMONS "MAPLE LEAF" MAN

Aged Composer of Canada's National Anthem Expires Suddenly.

Toronto, June 27.—Mr. Alexander Muir, principal of the Gladstone avenue school, Toronto, died suddenly last night of heart failure at his residence, 60 Churchill avenue, at 11:20 o'clock aged 72 years.

Mr. Muir was the well-known author of Canada's national song, "The Maple Leaf."

Alexander Muir, poet, was the son of the late John Muir, teacher, and was born in Lanarkshire, Scotland, in 1834. Accompanying his parents to Canada when an infant, his early education was received at his father's school, at Scarborough, Ont. Later, he attended Queen's University, Kingston (B. A., 1851). He began teaching school at Scarborough, continuing there until 1860. He afterwards taught at Newmarket, Beaverton, and other places, and in 1880 went to Toronto, Mr. Muir was known to fame chiefly as the author of "The Maple Leaf Forever." It was composed at Leestville, 1866, and has been set to music by the author. It is now as popular in Canada, and is as often sung here as the "Red, White and Blue," in England, or the United States. Mr. Muir was the author of several other popular songs, among which may be mentioned, "Canada," "The Old Union Jack," "Canada Land of the Maple Trees," and "Canada Forever." Mr. Muir was a member of the Orange Order. He was elected president of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, Toronto, 1892, and bard to the Militia Veterans of 1866, in 1904.

SEEK AN ENGINEER

The Hydro-Electric Commission Will Advertise for an Expert.

Toronto, June 27.—At the first meeting of the new hydro-electric power commission of Ontario, held yesterday, Hon. Mr. Beck, the chairman, presiding, it was decided to advertise immediately for a chief electrical engineer to assist the commission. A man with experience in high tension power transmission is desired. It was also agreed that a member of the commission should be sent to the meeting of the Western Ontario Power Union, embracing a number of municipalities, including Toronto, about held at Galt's Hotel in regard to the request of the council of Madoc that the commission investigate and report upon the possibilities of a water power in that vicinity. The members of the commission, other than Hon. Mr. Beck, are Hon. Mr. Hendrie and Mr. C. B. Smith.

WELL-KNOWN IN MONTREAL

Stanford White, Victim of Roof Garden Tragedy in New York.

Montreal, Que., June 27.—Stanford White, murdered in New York, was well known here, having had charge of the improvements to the Bank of Montreal, and designed the Millinery Club, the Royal York Hotel. He was the designer of Madison Square, which he was shot.

WILL INSPECT THE PACKERS.

New York, June 27.—Lieut.-Col. Percy Byrd Hobbs, chief inspector of the English Army Service Corps School at Aldershot, who arrived here today as the representative of his Government to inspect the meat intended for use in the British army. His appointment was a direct outgrowth of the investigation of the packing industry made by the United States Government and the reports of the investigation which were published a few weeks ago.

MONARCH FAINTS AT MANEUVERS

Aged Austrian Sovereign on Verge of Collapse.

WANTS TALK WITH KAISER

Death of Francis Joseph May Plunge Constitutional Europe in Great War.

Berlin, June 26.—Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, on the verge of a collapse which undoubtedly is the forerunner of his death, it is whispered in diplomatic circles. Only by exerting all his will power was the aged monarch able to receive the Kaiser during his recent visit to Vienna, and that he did it was very much against the will of his physicians.

There is little doubt that the Emperor feels that the end is near and that it was for this reason that he insisted that he must have a last conference with the Kaiser, on whose shoulders a great burden is apt to fall at Francis Joseph's death.

No one dares to predict what will happen when the man dies, whose personality is all that holds the twin monarchies of Austria and Hungary together. A chaos will follow which in connection with the unrest in Russia will endanger the peace of Europe, and which will probably mark the beginning of civil war among the many nationalities inhabiting the Austrian Empire.

Francis Joseph has long been very weak, and it was noted by many, though the papers were asked to keep the fact secret, that he fainted while in the saddle reviewing his troops at Budapest.

Dr. Kervel now never leaves the Imperial palace apartments, which have been fixed up for him, next to the Emperor's private apartment.

While he is not suffering from anything more serious than acute catarrh of the stomach, his strength is fast ebbing away, and all the efforts of Dr. Kervel to strengthen his shattered system have so far been unsuccessful. Should he die suddenly it would not surprise anyone who is aware of his true condition.

Princess a Chicken Thief.
Robbing henroosts was the conlike habit of Princess Pelageta Taktakova, a handsome aristocrat, living in the Gurl district of the Caucasus.

Chickens had been a favorite food for her, so much so that the henroosts of her neighbors suffered depredations which were naturally never suspected to be the work of this noble lady.

But one day the little daughter of Prince Zizianoff came running to her father and said that the princess was taking away some of his chickens. Sure enough the missing fowls were found tied up in a sack under the seat of the princess's carriage, which stood waiting in the neighborhood.

The guilty lady was prosecuted for theft, and her own henroost was found to be stocked with chickens from her neighbors' roosts. Without benefit of the "extensive privileges" of the Russian aristocracy, she was sent to jail.

A Strange Story This.
The village of Schafhausen, in Wurttemberg, is the home of witchcraft and superstition. In order days it was a famous place for witch-burning and exorcism of the "evil eye."

A strange story of an alleged modern witch has now been discovered, the authorities having ordered the exhumation of one Frau Widmaler.

This woman had the reputation of being in league with the Evil One, and her practices had been inveighed against by the local minister. She was subject to trances lasting several days, during which her husband said her soul left her body.

Frau Widmaler disappeared mysteriously nearly 30 years ago, being carried off, according to the story of certain villagers, by the devil in a coach-and-four.

Her daughter now states that Frau Widmaler died of a sudden death, and that her husband, thinking she was in one of the trances, hid the body inside the sofa in the parlor. There the body remained for a year.

The corpse was taken out in a mummified condition, and kept for two years in another room. Widmaler was then satisfied that his wife was dead, and buried her behind the house.

Now, after nearly 30 years, the authorities are investigating the death of the reputed witch of Schafhausen.

Berlin's New Canal.
Berlin's latest municipal ownership enterprise is a suburban canal, 25 miles long, which has just been opened by the Kaiser.

The new waterway is of great commercial importance. It connects the River Havel on the west to the city with the River Spree on the east, and thus provides a convenient connection between the greater rivers Oder and Elbe.

It is the enterprise of the Teltow District Council, which has constructed and now controls this canal, the most up-to-date waterway in the world. Six years were occupied in the construction, and it is now 65 feet wide and over 8 feet deep. All canals recently constructed in Germany, and those now under construction, are of these dimensions.

The total cost of the Teltow Canal was about $10,000,000, and this included the building of eight railroad bridges and 42 new roads.

Electric haulage will be used on this canal, motors running on tracks along the towpath, and motor tugs also playing. The current for these, and also for the lighting of the canal, is supplied by the council's own power station.

STANDING OF FIRST AND SECOND YEAR CLASSES AT COLLEGIATE

Result of the Term's Work,
Just Ended—In the Commercial Class.

The following is a report of the examinations and standing of the first and second year Collegiate Institute classes for the term ending June, 1906. The names of the students in the appended list are arranged in order of merit, and they are divided into six classes. Class I. comprises those who made over 70 per cent, Class II. between 60 and 70 per cent, Class III. between 50 and 60 per cent, Class IV. between 40 and 50 per cent, Class V. under 30 per cent. Class I. shows very good work, while Class VI. is very bad. The others may be estimated from these:

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27.
THE MILITIA CAMP.

The people of London would like to see more of the camp militiamen. An odd battalion, or squadron, sometimes makes its appearance on the city streets, but for some years there has been no route march of the entire brigade. If this spectacle could be provided, and the time and route of the march announced beforehand, thousands of citizens would appreciate the courtesy, and get a new idea of the importance of the annual camps of instruction, of which two are held in London every year. This procession might be held on a Saturday, when the school children could enjoy it and receive a lesson in patriotism.

In militia headquarters there is some doubt of the feasibility of the scheme for the annual training of all the militia of Ontario and Quebec in one camp at some training ground in the Ottawa Valley, where a great body of men could be handled. Part of the attraction of the annual camp to the volunteers of this district is the visit to the city of London. To many it is their only outing in the course of the year, and they prefer to spend the time in a large center of population, where there is some diversion in their leisure hours. It is questionable whether the militia battalions would muster in anything approaching full strength if the camp were held in a remote place, such as has been proposed, although from the purely military point of view the plan has obvious advantages. It is not improbable, therefore, that London may continue for an indefinite time to hold the camp of this district.

BRITISH CONSULS WILL AID CANADA.

A stroke of enterprise by the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce has been the enlistment of the services of the British consuls in the United States in the interests of Canadian commerce. The facts are set forth in a special report issued by the Dominion department. Canadian commercial agencies have been established in Great Britain, France, Australia, Japan, Mexico, Newfoundland, Norway, South Africa and the West Indies, but this country has not a single commercial representative in the United States. The impression has prevailed among Canadian exporters and manufacturers that British consuls, because Canada contributes nothing toward the British consular service, do not interest themselves in Canadian trade. To clear up misconceptions, the Dominion department sent a circular letter to the British consuls in the United States, inviting a frank expression of opinion. The replies were entirely satisfactory, and made it clear that the British consular service exists for the benefit of British subjects everywhere. The British consul-general at Chicago, Mr. Alex. Finn, states the case clearly in this letter:

"I beg to remind you that soon after my arrival at this post I wrote you offering the services of the staff of the consulate at Chicago, with its vice-consuls at six large cities in other states, in any way that might be useful to you, as I have always considered myself as representing the whole Empire, and at the service of any and every British subject from wherever he might come. I consider that all parts of the British Empire and all departments of the government and its different parts should treat the British consuls as their representatives.

"I should like all portions of the Empire to supply the consulates with the fullest information as to the resources, manufactures, openings for capital, etc., so as to make them a place where information can be obtained immediately. Also I consider that all representatives of the departments of governments in the different parts of the Empire, on visiting a town, should make the consulate their headquarters, and if resident in the town should have their office with the consulate. In fact, what I want to see done is the consular service to be on a proper footing, so that it may be the center of representation in reality as well as in name, by everybody concerned, as well as of our Government work, and thus be of real service to everybody."

Sir Percy Sanderson, K. C. M. G., British consul-general at New York, writes:

"I know of no valid reasons why Canadians should not avail themselves of the service of British consular offices and commercial agents, although in practice they do less than residents in the British Isles. The services of this consulate-general are and always have been at their disposal, and the same is true of the commercial agency formerly at Chicago, but since April, 1905, attached to this consulate-general.

"I have little doubt that assistance should be given to Canadians to extend their market in this country if they would state their requirements." Gilbert Fraser, consul at Baltimore, says:

"I would be glad to assist Canadian businessmen in every possible way. Inquiries are never received from Canadian merchants, but I would be glad to furnish them on application, with the names and addresses of firms in this district with whom they might wish to enter into business relations."

Mr. Wilfred Powell, British consul at Philadelphia, replies expressing his personal pleasure at the prospect of helping Canadian trade, saying:

"Firms in Canada should address their requirements to the consul, taking care that the inquiry is made in fullest detail in order that the consul may be able to obtain if possible equally full information. We have had a considerable amount of correspondence on commercial matters with Canadian firms and businessmen, in some cases evidently with satisfactory results, judging from the letters received."

There are 53 British consuls and vice-consuls in the United States, most trained men, thoroughly acquainted with the commercial conditions in their respective districts. It is to be hoped Canadian exporters will make use of their services, which are thus cordially offered.

ANOTHER TEAPOT TEMPEST.

When Moncton, N. B., was a small town, the Government of Sir John Macdonald bought land at the rate of $2,000 an acre. Last year the Dominion Government bought the remainder of the plot for $1,000 an acre, or exactly one-half. Meanwhile, the town had become a city, its population had trebled and the neighborhood had been built up. But because a land dealer, whose price had been declared fair and reasonable by competent arbitrators of both sides of politics had made a commission on the land, prior to its coming into the hands of the Intercolonial authorities, the wiseacre on the Opposition side of the House of Commons have scented a scandal—they are quite sure someone grafted! And so the time of Parliament has been taken up with speeches dealing with assertion, suspicion and innuendo. And, by-and-by, so persistently will these unfounded declarations be repeated, that those ardent Conservative partisans will begin to believe they are founded on fact. This mud-throwing has been carried to so great length in this session of Parliament that were a really scandalous transaction now to be unearthed, reasonable people might be excused if they refused to credit it.

This should be a good time to bring forward the local abattoir project again.

London has many advantages as a manufacturing center. Better to advertise these than any drawbacks. The latter can be remedied.

Mr. Tarte accuses Laurier of being under the thumb of the Presbyterians. A year ago he was called the tool of the Roman Catholic hierarchy. If both these charges were true they would prove Laurier to be no bigot, at any rate. Which horn of the dilemma do his enemies choose.

Princeton University, N. J., last year received $500,000 in gifts from private individuals. Queen's, Kingston, would rejoice if half that sum came its way in a twelvemonth. And the Western University would be contented with even less.

The school holidays bring as usual a great deal of parental anxiety. The city makes no provision, as some municipalities do, for the boys and girls out of school, either in the way of play grounds or swimming baths.

Harry Thaw, who deliberately murdered a New York rounder, is the brother of the Countess of Yarmouth, and a son of one of the oldest and richest families in the United States. Needless to say he will escape the death penalty.

Alexander Muir, the author of "The Maple Leaf Forever," died in Toronto last night. He was a man of simple nature, jovial and warm-hearted. Though a teacher by profession, he was not remarkable for scholarship, which may be inferred from the literary qualities of his songs. "The Maple Leaf Forever" is poor poetry, but its melody was an inspiration. It found its way to the hearts of the Canadian people and has become the Canadian national anthem.

Mr. Thomas Murray, the Liberal candidate for the vacant seat in the House of Commons for North Renfrew, is described by an enthusiastic admirer as "a steam engine in pants." Mr. Murray is certainly a great campaigner, as he showed when, after many years of Conservative domination, the county of Pontiac was captured by him from so strong a politician as the late Mr. Bryson. If the Liberals get together, and do not countenance the attempt at disunion which gives their opponents at present so much pleasure, they can elect Mr. Murray over any candidate that may be put up by the other side.

ANOTHER DUDE IN TOWN.

[Sequatchie (Tenn.) News.]
Wander what George Marson is doing over here riding muleback. He passed by here Sunday with his two-story collar on and with both hands in his pocket up to his elbows, with his feet lying between the mule's ears. He had his shoes shined, and he didn't want to get them soiled. His mule was so small that his feet would drag.

AND ENJOYED IT.

[Life.]
"I heard you giggling in the library last night," said the stern parent. "I think you must have been beside yourself."

"Oh, no," said the pretty girl, blushing deeply, "I was beside Charlie."

CORRECT.

[Harper's Bazar.]
The New Waitress—Shall I say "dinner is served" or "dinner is ready, ma'am?"

Mistress—If that cook doesn't do any better, just say "dinner is spoiled."

THOSE DEAR GIRLS AGAIN.

[Woman's Home Companion.]
Ella—What would you do if you were in my shoes?
Stella—Stuff 'em with cotton.

IN THE KITCHEN.

[The Bohemian.]
Wife—Well, John, I don't see how I can suit you. You don't like my cooking, and you have complained of every cook I have hired. I can't get one to suit.

Husband, (stubbly)—You could if you went after the right one.

Wife—That's all you know about it. I telegraphed your mother yesterday offering her $10 a week, and she declined to come.

SOMETHING TO BRAG ABOUT.

[London Answers.]
Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown were bosom friends. It was astonishing what a lot they knew about other people's business. The conversation turned in the direction of a Mrs. Tittlebat, a new arrival in the next street.

"I hear she's suffering from appendicitis," declared Mrs. Brown. "Suffering!" echoed Mrs. Jones contemptuously.

"Why, yes; didn't you know that?" asked Mrs. Brown.

"Yes, I heard she had got appendicitis," replied Mrs. Jones, "but, Lord! judging by the way they bragged about it I thought it was some sort of piano player! What is it, anyway?"

THE REASON.

[Baltimore American.]
"You don't buy so much meat now, Mrs. Malaprop."

"No, indeed; since all these awful tales, our family has turned valetudinarian."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

[Washington Star.]
"You say that your friend was utterly prostrated by a mere case of mistaken identity?"
"Yes. He mistook a toaststool for a mushroom."

MARY HAD A LITTLE SLEEP.

[Philadelphia Ledger.]
"Mary," Mrs. Housekeeper called from the foot of the stairs, "how about breakfast?"
"Oh," replied the new servant, who had everlastingly, "ye naden't trouble to bring me any. I ain't very hungry 'this mornin'."

VEAL INSPECTION.

[New York Sun.]
The fattest calf had just been killed for the prodigal son.
"Very good," he sniffed; "but have you made a novelist pass on the slaughter?"
"Herewith, the father sadly realized he knew nothing of the world."

SILENCED HER.

[Chicago News.]
"John," began Mrs. Stubbs, after supper, "what in the world is that you have on?"
"That, madam," replied Mr. Stubbs, impatiently, "is a jacket. I bought it to lounge around the house in."
"But, John, it doesn't set right! It isn't straight, eh? Well, madam, do you expect to see your husband wearing a straight jacket in his own home?"

SO CLEVER OF HIM.

[Catholic Standard and Times.]
"Yes, when Dubley tells an Irish story there's no mistaking it."
"You know it's Irish right away, eh?"
"Yes, indeed, he says 'Be jabbers' after every sentence."

TWO BULLS.

[N. Y. Tribune.]
On the edge of a small river, in County Cavan, Ireland, is a stone with this inscription: "When this stone is out of sight it is not safe to ford the river." But this is even surpassed by the famous post erected some years ago by the surveyors of the Kent (England) roads: "This is the bridge path to Faversham; if you can't read this you had better keep to the main road."

OF COURSE.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]
Ned—May I say Jack Hanson went right up to her yesterday and kissed her?
Bess—Did you ever?
Ned—No, but I would if I got a chance.

AN AMERICAN TRIBUTE TO KEATS.

[From the Milwaukee Sentinel.]

Many Americans will be interested to learn of the project now on foot to raise a fund for the purchase of the house in Rome where Keats lived and died, and for the enshrining there of relics pertaining to the poet. R. U. Johnson, of the Century Magazine, is secretary of the commission to receive subscriptions.

America has not been behindhand in regard for the memory and the genius of John Keats. Editor Westcott of his gift to literature—small in compass but "infinite riches in a little room"—has found a ready welcome in our book marts. The American, even more than the English tourist in Rome is wont to make his pious pilgrimage to the Protestant cemetery where the poet rests beside the faithful Severn under the simple slab marked with the epitaph dictated in the shadow of approaching death: "Here lies one whose name was writ in water."

"Writ in water?" Graven rather on the imperishable brass of deathless fame. And Keats himself, when in health and with a dawning sense of his powers, sailing with the tide of the future (the tide of life and death) could not doubt, "I think I shall be among the English poets after my death."

He is among the foremost of them; and truer than his own dependent epitaph is the thought of Mrs. Browning's stanza where she calls him one who—

Enshored himself in twenty perfect years,
And died, not young—the life of a long life
Distilled to a mere drop, falling like a tear
Upon the world's cold cheek to make it burn forever.

The fantastic conception of Keats as a sickly sensitive plant, morbidly shrinking from the touch of criticism, who was as Byron said, "slain by an angel," has long been discredited by those who know the story of his life. A braver spirit than John Keats, whose last words in his dying agony were those of cheer and reassurance for his friends, never drew the breath of life. He was not "slain by an angel," though the malignant personal blackguardism with which his poems were assailed in the Edinburgh reviews, those bludgeoning, bullying arbiters of taste, must have given him pain.

As a specimen of what is called for literary criticism in these days the assault of Blackwood on the assumed "cockney impudence" of the surgeon's apprentice and medical student who presumed to write poetry and even to publish it, is worth examining. The frenzy of the "Poems" was bad enough, but it did not alarm us half so seriously as the calm, settled, imperturbable, driving idiosyncrasy of "Endymion." It is a better and a wiser thing to be a starved apothecary, than a starved poet; but to John Keats, as Mr. T. W. Higginson said, "back to plasters, pills and ointment boxes. But, for heaven's sake, young Sangrado, be a little more sparing of extenuatives and soporifics in your practice than you have been in your poetry."

Posterity long ago decided that the arrogant, cocksure critic was not fit to black the shoes of the youth he ordered "back to the shop." The one sleeps, nameless and discredited, in the potter's field of oblivion; the other "under the wings of renown," American lovers of Keats should be responsive to the appeal in aid of preserving and enshrining the personal mementos of his brief course in life.

BUSINESS GIRLS

Need Rich, Red Blood to Stand Worry and Strain of Business Hours

Business overtakes a woman's strength. Weak, languishing girls fade under the strain. They risk health rather than lose employment, and the loss of health means the loss of beauty. Thousands of earnest intelligent young women who earn a livelihood away from home in public offices and business establishments, are silent, suffering victims of overtaxed nerves and deficiency of strength, because the food supply is not equal to the strain placed upon them. Fragile, breathless and nervous, they work against time with never a rest, when headaches and backaches make every hour like a day. Little wonder their cheeks lose the tint of health and grow pale and thin. Their eyes are dull, shrunken, and weary; their beauty slowly but surely fades. Business girls and women look older than their years because they need the frequent help of a true blood-making, strengthening medicine, to carry them through the day. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are actual food to the starved nerves and tired brains of business women. They actually make the rich, red blood that imparts the bloom of youth and of health to women's cheeks. They bring bright eyes, high spirits and make the day's duties lighter. Twelve months ago, Miss Mary Cadwell, who lives at 49 Maynard street, Halesowen, N. S., was run down. The least exertion would tire her out. Her appetite was poor and fickle, and frequent headaches added to her distress. The doctor treated her for anaemia, but without apparent results. A relative advised her to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using but six boxes, she says she feels like an altogether different person. She can now eat her meals with zest, the color has returned to her cheeks, and she feels better and stronger in every way.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure bloodlessness just as food cures hunger. That is how they cured Miss Cadwell, and it is just by making rich, red blood that they cure such common ailments as indigestion, rheumatism, headaches and backaches, kidney troubles, neuralgia, and the special ailments which make miserable the lives of so many women and young girls. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

BEES EMPTY CAR; HOLD UP TRAFFIC

Four, Looking for Fight, Block a Trolley Line for Fifteen Minutes.

Bridgeport, Conn., June 27.—Four honey bees, today held up trolley car No. 66 on the down trip from Shelton to Bridgeport and tied up the Connecticut Street Railway and Lighting Company for fifteen minutes. One combative bee drove all six passengers from the car and into the bushes on the roadside, where they awaited developments.

The car reached signal light No. 3, a mile and a half north of the Stratford railway station, on time. Motor-man Will Owens stopped the car; the conductor, Peter Osterweis, jumped out to regulate the light so that the car following could pass a signal box two miles back.

As Osterweis approached the box a bee issued from a hole in it which had been bored to admit a wire not yet put in. The bee made a straight line for Osterweis's head, and while he was striking at it and retreating, another bee came out of the box, flanked Osterweis, and jabbed a good sized drop of poison behind the conductor's ear.

"Ouch!" yelled Osterweis, retreating behind the car.

"I'm late now," growled a passenger to Osterweis, "You're a brave man, you are, afraid of a bee."

At the street, a bee, looking for fight, entered the car, and the passengers nearly fell over each other getting out.

"Hey, Pete, throw over that signal!" yelled Motor-man Owens, pounding his bell to bring the passengers back.

"Not on your life!" retorted Peter, "I've taken chances with a mad bull, but no bees for mine."

Finally Owens cautiously approached the signal. Perhaps it was his sulphurous oaths, perhaps the blows from his rain-coat that drove away the bees.

They vanished, the brave passengers returned, the signal was made, traffic was resumed.

The nights along the Housatonic River have been exceptionally cold lately. The bees were attracted by the warmth of the electric lights in the signal box, probably.

Constantinople has six different sources of water supply. Some of these are dangerous, but the fountains constructed by the present Sultan made it possible for even the poorest to get pure water at any time. THE EFFICACY OF Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup in curing coughs and colds and arresting inflammation of the lungs can be established by hundreds of testimonials from all sorts and conditions of men. It is a standard remedy in these ailments, and all affections of the throat and lungs. It is highly recommended by and appreciated by all as a curative medicine vendors, because they know Try it.

THE MAN KILLS BIG FELLOW

Italians in a Deadly Midnight
Quarrel on a Quiet
Brooklyn Street.

Baldwin, L. I., June 27.—That a will of an Italian half an hour after midnight in a duel that was fought in front of the brown-stone houses of Harrison street, near Henry, in Brooklyn. All the odds were in favor of one man. He was six feet tall and strong enough to twist the other man's neck in his hand. He had a 38-caliber revolver and time to fire three shots from it to the other man's one. He was the man that died.

The body is believed to be that of Antonio Devel Camardo, of 149 Columbia street. The police assert that they know the little man, but they refuse to give out his name till they capture him or at least get close to his trail.

Many good citizens in the neighborhood were fast asleep, when four pistol shots broke the quiet. The explosions followed fast, like firecrackers on a string. After the last one came an instant's hush, the pause of a held breath, then, like echoes of the shots, the click-click of boot-heels on the pavement.

A hundred heads—gray, brown, night-capped or bald—popped out from windows. The first ones to see their heads out of the window had caught a glimpse of a short man turning the corner of Henry street.

Most of the spectators went back to sleep if they could. A few dressed hastily and ran out to see if any tangible evidence remained. They found six feet of Italy stretched on the sidewalk, a big gun held tight in one hand. The man was yet breathing, but he had ceased before the surgeon arrived from the hospital.

Three cartridges in the dead man's gun were empty. The useless bullets had been lost in the shadows. Forty feet away was a little 22-caliber pistol with one empty shell in its chamber. Its bullet had passed through the left arm and found the big man's heart.

In the pockets of the victim were found a bank book and papers, all bearing the name Camardo. A silver watch, $15 in cash, and a few trinkets made up the tale.

There is a Camardo, a "longshoreman," about 35 years old. He has been near the water front in company with a man whose head scarcely reached his shoulder. This is the man the police are hunting for. The two were known to have quarreled.

DISASTROUS FLIRTATION

Broke Up Two Wealthy Homes and Caused One Suicide.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 27.—A street car flirtation caused the destruction of two homes, the suicide of a disgraced husband, a continual chase by the frate wife and proceedings for divorce, according to the story told Judge Kennedy in common pleas court today by the wife of Wm. E. Clark, son of the late James H. Clark, one of the founders of the Standard Oil Company.

The suit of divorce involves a fight over the many thousands of dollars that Clark will inherit from the estate of his father.

Mrs. Mary A. Clark said she and her husband lived happily on Cedar avenue, Southeast, until he met Mrs. Nettie Diglow.

"He sold his Standard Oil stock for $30,000, and took Mrs. Diglow to Bakerville, Cal.," she testified. "I followed three years ago, and found them living there in fine style with three servants. My husband had bought the woman $10,000 worth of diamonds. I attached those."

Dr. John C. Hallock testified that Clark told him eleven years ago of a beautiful woman he had met on a street car. He was enraptured over her. When she was ill he sent the doctor to treat her.

"I tried to break up the love affair," said the doctor. "Clark acknowledged he had done wrong, and said he would never see Mrs. Diglow again, but his promise did not last long."

"Shortly after I treated her, her husband committed suicide. Additional testimony will be heard Tuesday. Clark did not appear in court, but may send depositions from California."

SPARES NEGRO'S NECK

Judge on His Own Responsibility Commutes Friendless Man's Sentence.

Kansas City, June 27.—Judge Wolford today saved the life of a negro who had been convicted of murder and appeared to receive a death sentence. "The negro was Wallace Cooper. He stood up, unintelligent and poorly dressed, and his black face looked troubled as he faced the judge."

"How old are you?" asked Judge Wolford.

"Twenty years."

"Well," said the judge, "you're guilty of murder all right, but you're a poor, ignorant black man and I don't want to hang you. You have no friends. You have no one to plead that you were insane when you killed this man. If I sentence you to hang you will hang just as sure as there's a God in heaven."

"There will not be a whole lot of women circulating petitions to save your neck. There will not be a lot of fool men writing letters to the governor to save you. No, one will send you money. You'll just be forgotten with the day set for your hanging, and then they'll hang you. I'll sentence you to 30 years in the penitentiary."

Cooper killed James Taylor, another negro, in a livery stable in the West Bottoms. Taylor had killed two men in his career and was known as a bad negro.

LURKS IN WOODS; ROOSTS IN TREES

Long Island Villagers Thrown in Panic by Antics of a Wild Man.

New York, June 27.—A little gnome man lurks in the woods hard by this village, there can now be no possible doubt. Constable Stephen Pettit led a posse into the haunts of the creature, but was able to find only a few deserted nests in the trees where the unwelcome visitor had lodged. Residents are in a state bordering on terror. They bar and bolt their doors at night, and two or three of the inhabitants have set spring guns on their front porches.

Because the creature has been seen perched like a wild turkey on the roof of a house, the story has gained circulation that he has wings. Miss Sempron Jenkins, principal of the Freeport high school, has called him Dracula, after the principal character in Bram Stoker's novel, and that watchdog of all Nassau is "Dracula, alive or dead."

Dracula has been wandering near the pumping station, which is used to supply a portion of Brooklyn. He has also appeared at dawn to Mr. Simpkin, who was gathering the products of his Plymouth Rocks. The wild man seized the rubber dating stamp, with which Mr. Simpkin was about to imprint an egg, and with a fiendish cry tore across the railroad track and disappeared in a clump of blackberry bushes.

Young persons who are accustomed to visit the kissing bridge at twilight now shun it, for the unpleasant experience of a Freeport couple there has alarmed the community. They were leaning against the rail, when the wild man approached and laid a heavy hand on the youth's shoulder, and then laughing in his face suddenly disappeared. It is believed he swung himself in the branches of a weeping willow which was on the overhanging bank of the stream.

Miss Conway, who lives in Oakview avenue, outside of the main portion of this village, declares that last Monday afternoon she saw a tall man emerge from the woods. His clothing, which was torn and tattered, was black. His hair was intensely black, and he also wore a black mustache. His eyes had a wild and restless expression, and she noticed also that his feet, which were incased in patent leather shoes, seemed small, and that he apparently had little or no toes. The wild man looked about him in every direction, and, catching sight of an automobile, gave vent to ribald laughter and receded into the underbrush.

Wild men have been seen from time to time in this vicinity, for several sanatoriums for the weak-minded are within a radius of ten miles, but this is the first one who goes to roost. He has been in the habit of sleeping, as in evidence.

Unless Dracula is treed by the end of this week, preparations will be made for a man hunt on Sunday. The wild man will be filled with determined sportsmen.

DROPPED DEAD

Worry Over Civic Investigation May Have Caused This Death.

Toronto, June 26.—Mr. Quarles Donald McCulloch, secretary of Bennett & Wright, Limited, dropped dead in the garden of his home, 623 Ontario street, this morning, heart failure being the cause. Dr. W. H. Alexander, Carlton street, who had been attending him for the last few days, was called in Saturday, but Mr. McCulloch was beyond help.

It is believed that the civic investigation had a good deal to do in hastening his end, as he was worrying a lot about it, especially in view of the absence of Clarke, the firm's bookkeeper, who was required as a witness.

Mr. McCulloch was at work yesterday and apparently was quite well. This morning, too, there was no intimation in any way of death being so close at hand. He had partaken of breakfast and had just stepped out into the garden when he fell to the ground dead. Mr. McCulloch would have been 50 years old next September, and had been with the Bennett & Wright firm for 20 years or more. He was an expert and enthusiastic curler and bowler, a member of the Prospect Club, and was on the committee which is arranging for the tour of the British bowlers. He was a Mason and a Canadian Fover.

In religion he was a member of St. Simon's Church, widow, two sons and a daughter survive him.

SUMMER DRESS AFIRE

Little Ottawa Girl Has Narrow Escape from Burning to Death.

Ottawa, June 26.—Little Marguerite Keyes, a three-year-old child, sustained a burning accident at the corner of Waverly and Elgin streets. She was standing there with her father when some careless smoker threw away a match which had not been extinguished. The match caught the little one's summer dress and a quick flame leaped over her. Her father seized her and, dragging the child, stayed some of the flames while he grasped her burning hair with his hands. This saved a serious situation.

The child's dress and two under-skirts were burned up, the silk bonnet strings went, and one-half of her hair was gone and her eyebrows only thick flannel underclothing saved serious body injuries. It was a very narrow escape for the child.

There is an increasing tendency on the part of large consumers of water in London to draw on the water reservoirs in the lower geological strata beneath the capital rather than to be indebted to companies for their water supply. The latest institution to show its independence in this fashion is the Clemons Inn, where, not 20 yards from the Strand, an artesian well has just been tapped, after three months' boring, at a depth of 450 feet.

A CRYING EVIL, THE WORLD OVER

Divorce Reform is a Burning Question on Both Sides of the Atlantic.

London, June 27.—It is a singular coincidence that almost simultaneously in America and England the question of divorce reform should have been raised by legal pronouncements. There is this striking difference, however: In America the proposed reform takes the direction of making divorces more difficult to obtain. In England it is proposed to make them easier of attainment. But the chorus of approvals which have greeted the suggestions of Sir Gorell Barnes, president of the divorce court, indicate that there is a general recognition of the desirability of making some changes in the present English law, which Sir Gorell stigmatizes as "full of inconsistencies, anomalies and inequalities amounting almost to absurdities." The Divorce Law Reform Association has since been formed to give effect to his recommendations.

Sir Gorell is in favor of abolishing the present practice of granting permanent separations between husband and wife, without freedom to contract another marriage, and substituting divorce thereof whenever the evidence justifies it. At present permanent separations, but not divorce, are allowed for persistent cruelty, wilful neglect to reasonably maintain a wife and her infant children, and misconduct not combined with cruelty.

The latter proviso reveals one of the most glaring anomalies of the English law. While infidelity alone is held to be sufficient ground for granting a husband a divorce from an unfaithful wife, a wife cannot obtain a divorce of the marital ties for misconduct unless the offense is accompanied by cruelty. Gladstone fought strenuously for a clause to be inserted in the bill of 1857 giving a wife the same facilities for divorce as a husband, but he could not carry it.

Sir Gorell holds that the same grounds for dissolution of marriage should apply to both, and that a particular misconduct by the husband should be sufficient ground for divorce as it is now in the case of a wife. That is the law in Scotland and in nearly every other civilized country in the world. In fact, that is the aim of the divorce law reformers, to make divorce just rather than easy—though in making it just it must of necessity be made easier than now.

Thomas Paynter Allen, secretary of the Marriage Law Reform Association holds the view that the stringency of the English divorce law is more productive of immorality than are the lax American laws.

A strong ground of complaint against the English law is the excessive cost of obtaining a divorce. It averages little short of $1,000. The result is that very few of the members of the community obtain divorce—not because they do not need or deserve the relief that the court affords, but because they cannot pay court costs.

This state of affairs operates as a direct incentive to immorality. There is a widespread feeling that inequity should be included among the grounds for divorce. At present a man or woman may be tied to a lunatic for a lifetime. The Earl of Durham's wife developed insanity soon after his marriage and has been a hopeless maniac for the last 25 years. Under the English law he can obtain no relief. It has named him to a lonely and loveless life.

IF THE KING COMES.

London, June 26.—Writing from Ottawa, E. Farrer, in a letter to the Tribune on "Education in Canada," being mostly historical, upholds Sir Wilfrid Laurier in regard to the Northwest schools, and adds that our experience in Canada teaches no finer lesson than the constitutional compromises between Protestants and Catholics.

The American idea is to train children as Americans rather than as members of this or that denomination. In Canada there are real Protestants and Catholics rather than Canadians. The constitution prevents any change.

The Standard comments on eagerness with which the Canadians are discussing the possible visit of the King. If he accepts the invitation, the progression procession for which history can furnish no parallel.

Improve Your Complexion.

Give Up Cosmetics and Seek the Cause of Your Bad Color

When it's so easy to bring back the bloom of youth, to remove the blemishes and fill the hollows, isn't it foolish to plaster on cosmetics?

Sallow skin and fallen cheeks are produced by disorders of the alimentary canal. Remove the cause—correct the condition that keeps you from looking as you ought. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and very soon you'll have a complexion to be proud of.

Just imagine how much happier you will feel when those pimples and murky look have gone.

Dainty looks came to Miss Vrooman, a well-known resident of Belfast, from using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Read what she says:

"My friends all admit that I have a very delightful complexion. This I owe positively to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I used to look so yellow I thought it might be jaundice. There was simply no color in my cheeks at all. Today my skin is clear and never gets that murky, dull appearance it had before. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have also given me a good appetite and improved my general health also."

Not only the complexion, but every organ of the body is strengthened, cleansed and made healthy by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Buoyancy, vim and a feeling of vigor invariably follow their use. Sold in yellow boxes by all dealers; 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Folsom & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

A Friend in Need—

THAT thin, little, 10-cent Box of Castorets.

When carried constantly in your Vest Pocket, or in "my Lady's" Purse it will ward off ninety per cent of Life's ordinary ills.

Eat one of the six candy tablets contained in that "Vest Pocket Box" whenever you suspect you need one.

It can't hurt you, and is sure Insurance against serious sickness.

Want of Exercise, Indoor Employment, weaken the Bowel Muscles, just as they weaken Arm and Leg Muscles. The Muscles lose tone, tension, strength, to force the food onward.

And the longer they stay in that state the weaker they become, because the less exercise they get through the slow passage of food.

Castorets contain the only combination of drugs that acts on the Muscles of the Bowels and Intestines, just as Cold Water, or Exercise, act on a Lazy man. They act like Exercise.

When you have Heartburn, Colic, Coated Tongue, Suspected Breath, Acid-rising-in-throat, Gas-belching, or an incipient Cold, take a Castoret.

Remember, all these are not merely Discomforts, but indications of a serious Cause.

Nip them in the bud—eat a Candy Castoret. Castorets don't purge, nor punish the stomach like "Bile-driving" "Physics."

They act like Exercise on the Bowel Muscles that propel Food, and that squeeze the natural Digestive Juices of the body into Food.

Castorets ward off, or cure, the following diseases:

Constipation Biliousness Bad Breath Diarrhoea

Indigestion Headache
Dyspepsia Diarrhoea
Torpid Liver Flatulence
Appendicitis Hives
Rheumatism Jaundice
Catarrh Nausea
Colic Vertigo
Scrofula Pimples
Womanly Troubles
Worms Blotches
Piles Eczema
Ulcers Dysentery

In such cases a little Castoret in time is worth fifty dollars' worth of Treatment later on, to say nothing of the suffering, discomfort, loss of Business Energy, and loss of Social Sunshine it saves.

A coming Headache can be warded off in short order, by a single Castoret, and the cause removed.

Heartburn, Gas-belching, Acid-risings in the throat, and Colicky feeling are sure signs of bowel trouble from food poisons, and should be dealt with promptly.

One Castoret will stop the coming trouble, and move on the Bowel load, if taken at the first signs.

Don't fail to carry the Vest Pocket Box of Castorets with you constantly.

A thousand dollars a year spent in amusements could not buy for you half so much hearty Happiness, solid Comfort, cheerful Temper and Health Insurance as that little Ten Cent Box of Castorets.

All Druggists sell them—over ten million boxes a year.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

A sample and the famous booklet, "Curse of Constipation," Free for the asking. Address Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

Waiting for weeks, Harry Pullman, president of the National Association, has reached the conclusion that the umpire is supreme. Great! The fight not to decide a game.

There is a scarcity of houses in Toronto, which makes it all the more imperative that Barrow's bruisers go to work.

Battling Nelson in his instruction on how to win a fight, says the first thing to do is knock the other fellow out with the first blow you deliver. He might have added that if you do this you will never lose.

The fashions for the open air horse show at Toronto called for open air hose, and peck-a-hoo waists.

Lou Dillon's doping case is progressing nicely. Preparations will begin soon to celebrate its first anniversary.

It is announced that, in view of the continued cool weather, the Irish soccer football players have challenged the Englishmen. The temperature generally rises when they meet.

Remarkable interest has been shown in the tennis matches in England. By cable we learn that tea was served at the courts and a Hungarian band discoursed music. The crowd around the tea tables was six deep, and—oh, yes, the English players beat the Americans.

Yale's football association received something like $80,000 last season. To the list of casualties should be added a number of sprained pistol pockets.

Now that the handbooks in Toronto are closed, they will probably charter a boat, as the Chicago sports did, and head for the wide sea, where they can play the best bets to a fair finish. Heck, in the Chicago Tribune, describes the journey of the City of Traverse as follows:

E. Barrow's bunch of Bruisers still continue to be the Dixie Andrews of the Eastern League.

The following London dispatch shows how baseball is doing in England: By 45 runs to 14, Woolwich Arsenal, playing before a small crowd, defeated Fulham in a friendly baseball match. The expression "friendly" is here used in order to supply a contrast between this match and the league contests which are to commence almost immediately. During the first innings of this match the Arsenal scored 10 runs against a solitary point earned by Fulham. The next time the "Reds" batted they earned 9 runs, while Fulham had to be satisfied with a "blob." In this fashion the game went on until both sides had batted eight times, when the Arsenal had scored 45 runs against 6. Fulham then took their ninth and final inning with practically no hope of making Woolwich bat again by equalizing the score, but they managed to score an additional 8 runs.

Fulham quite deserved to lose, because they have not yet learned as much of the newly-imported American game as the Woolwich people, whereas the Arsenal's, fielding, catching, and running between the bases were extremely bright.

The great fault which many found with yesterday's match was that they had too much for their money. Even the liveliest of pastimes is apt to pall when it lasts too long, and especially is this the case when you watch a team for two and a half hours defeating a side of inferior caliber.

Old Subscriber, Newbury—The baserunner is out. Such a foul tip is, according to the rules, not a foul tip, but a strike, and consequently the rule applying to strikes operates here.

Inquirer, Strathroy—In euchre game you describe, if A deals, and has neither ace, trump, nor face, he, of course, must turn down the trump card. If it goes around the second time without any of the other players making the trump, he can throw down his hand. In that case he loses his deal.

The Toronto Telegram opines that some men are so lazy that they marry a swell girl rather than hold 150 pounds of womanhood on their laps.

Miller's Landing, Ind., June 21.—Delayed in Translation.—The cities along the south and southwest shores of Lake Michigan are said to be strengthening their coast defenses against a threatened bombardment by the seafaring poolroom City of Traverse.

Great excitement prevails at Michigan City. A watch has been stationed at the end of the longest pier and equipped with a spyglass. Passing vessels are carefully scrutinized day and night. So far no craft suggesting the blige of the City of Traverse has been in sight. The dog watch last night made out something in the offing that resembled the dreaded invader, but on closer view it turned out to be a fishing smack loaded with net bound out from South Chicago.

The vigilance of the Russian admiral who fired on a bloater fleet in English waters, supposing it to be a detached squadron of the Japanese navy, conveys only a faint glimmer of the precautions which the commandant of the Michigan City forts has taken to keep the City of Traverse at a safe distance.

Great excitement prevails all the way up the coast. Howitzers are bristling on every sand hill and headlines in every newspaper. Citizens are greatly alarmed, some of them, because of the thought that the flagship of the Three-Pluck-One squadron may slip into Indiana waters, and others because of the thought that it may not.

Advices as to the movement of the City of Traverse are confusing. The Indiana consul at South Chicago reports to his Government that he has learned from Capt. Swanson, of the gasoline launch Hulda Petersen, that at eleven bells, Chicago time, the ship slipped quietly out of the harbor, and headed for the four-mile crib. The waste product of the Standard Oil Company's plant at Whiting, which imparts a salsaceous tint to the water in that latitude, facilitated the process of slipping, and the smoke from the steel works got into the eyes of Capt. Schubert, who had relieved the watch in the dock of the German building.

A tramp rowboat is said to have spoken to the City of Traverse in latitude 15.6 and 2; longitude 4 to 5.

The ship, he says, was painted a dull gray, the glim was doused, and it was drifting lazily at one-quarter speed.

As Helma Janzen, who was in command of the rowboat, sneaked up under the port quarter of the ship, he, according to his story, heard a voice issuing from the forward hatch. Listening attentively he made out the refrain of a song which was being sung in chorus.

As near as he could remember it went like this:

O, the shore to the south is bleak and bare,
And it ain't no place for us;
For if ever we land
On that barren sand
The Reubs will make a fuss.

Oh, there's guns on the hills that are full to the gills
With every kind of junk.
It is "Step to the chief,"
And the rest is brief,
For the rest of it is bunk.

O, the guns could belch and we would not wince
On that kind of a deal a bit.
Or that kind of a game—
For it is quite tame,
But we shrink at the outstretched mitt.

Argos Will Not Have Easy Task to Lift Challenge Cup

Rowing Authorities Express Doubt as to Staying Power of the Canadians.

Henley-on-the-Thames, June 26.—The Argonauts' morning practice today consisted of a good strong paddle over the entire course, but owing to a heavy head wind no trial was attempted.

The London R. C. did half the course to Fawley in four minutes. First Trinity did the same distance in three minutes five seconds. Magdalen only paddled over the course.

The Belgian crew have not yet arrived, but they are said to be a very dangerous crew for the Grand Challenge.

Some rowing authorities doubt the Argonauts' staying power, and think they will have no easy task to lift the cup.

Stroke Joe Wright, speaking to the Canadian Press re the proposed motion to be brought before the Henley committee, barring crews from the States competing at Henley, considered it unfair to the university crews and claimed that many clubs in the States were as straightforward and honest as the other countries.

It is not likely that the committee will agree on the motion proposed by Coach Fletcher.

It will not be known until the draw, late Saturday, which crew the Argos will row against in their first heat, but they will probably have to row a heat on Monday. The Argos' time last night over the course was 5.55 seconds, less than Third Trinity, and 11 seconds less than First Trinity.

Henley, England, June 26.—Owing to heavy winds only the most daring of the crews ventured out on the course today. The Argonauts of Toronto had a long practice row, finishing by covering the course, 1 mile 550 yards, in 7 minutes 54 seconds.

W. B. West, of the Undine Barge Club, Philadelphia, was out sculling, but the wind was too strong and shifty for singles. Reviewing the work of his opponents, Mr. West, who is to compete for the diamond sculls, said: "I guess I am up against a tough proposition, but I shall have a try."

AMONG THE ALSO RANS AT WINDSOR

Chappell Boy, Winner at London, Failed to Get in the Money Yesterday.

Windsor, June 26.—A large crowd was on hand at today's meeting. The weather was very warm and the track in perfect condition for racing. The third race, a handicap, brought out a small but select field, which proved to be an even contest. Chris. Fitzgerald, a former starter, now manager of the Brighton Beach track, was a visitor. Jockey Swain was in the saddle today. Summary:

First race, 7 furlongs, selling—Prestige, 105 (Pendergast), 5 to 1; Fanny Blazes, 10 (A. Murray), 30 to 1; 2: Winchester, 107 (Klenck), 8 to 1; 3: Time, 1:28. Amber, Weddell II, Vincides, Maribou, Runic, Stossel, Denise Dismore, Fred Mader, Request, Hamillar and Albulia also ran.

CHAMPION BEATEN. Orange, N. J., June 26.—In the Middle States lawn tennis championship today, R. J. James, champion of Vermont two years ago, was beaten by George H. Miles, of Orange, in straight heats.

SHIELDS' HALIFAX MAKES NEW RECORD

Goes Seven Furlongs on a Circular Track at Sheephead Bay in 1:24 4-5.

New York, June 26.—Alex. Shields' Halifax, carrying 119 pounds, made a new world's record for seven furlongs, circular track, when he won the Swift stakes at Sheephead Bay today. He was quoted at 7 to 1, and stepped the distance in 1:24 4-5, which is one-fifth of a second faster than The Musketeer's time at Saratoga in 1902, and Aeronaut's time this year at Belmont Park.

The event brought out only three starters, with Brookdale Nymph, favorite, at 6 to 5, and Ormondale next in demand at 13 to 10, after being played down from 2 to 1, while Halifax was the outsider.

Ormondale went to the front at the start, followed by Brookdale Nymph. This order remained unchanged to the stretch, where the leaders began to tire. Shaw then sent Halifax into the lead and won well in hand by two lengths from Ormondale. Prince Hamburg, in winning the first race, equalled the world's record for 6 1/2 furlongs of 1:18 2-5, held by Mineola and Martmas.

Red River won the Zephyr stakes. Two favorites won.

A LINIMENT FOR THE LOGGER.—Loggers lead a life which exposes them to many perils. Wounds, cuts and bruises cannot be altogether avoided in preparing timber for the drive and in river work, where wet and cold combined are of daily experience, cannot be cured. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, when applied to the injured or administered to the ailing, works wonders.

BLUES BATTING THE BALL HARD

Cleveland Has One-Third of American League Players in .300 Class.

The fact that Cleveland has two outfielders, three infielders and two catchers batting over .300 shows pretty well why it is that Cleveland is leading the league just at present. There are 23 in the .300 class now, Cleveland having seven, or nearly one-third. Philadelphia has six, including two pitchers, while New York and Washington have three apiece. St. Louis has a couple, while Chicago and Detroit have to be content with one apiece, while Boston has none whatever.

Elberfeld, by virtue of being out of the game for the last few weeks, is still the premier hitter of the league, with a .347 average. This trio of star hitters, however, are closely bunched, Larry being only three points ahead of Stone. Larry and Hemphill are tied with 77 hits, but Hemphill has been at bat five more times. Stone has made 76 hits, the three leading the league in number of hits. Harry Davis of the Athletics is still the leading run getter with Flick a close second and Hemphill as a close third, the three having scored 45, 44 and 43 times respectively. Hemphill continues to lead in stolen bases.

The list of 300 hitters, including Friday's games, are as follows:

	P. C.
Elberfeld, New York	.385
McGuire, New York	.371
Lajole, Cleveland	.355
Stone, St. Louis	.347

SECOND MONEY TO A DUTTON HORSE

Hazel Hunter Makes Good Showing at First Meet on Short Trip Circuit.

Monroe, Mich., June 26.—The Michigan short ship harness circuit opened here today with some of the finest sport witnessed in this state.

Numerous scratches in each event brought the expected big fields down to workable size, and Starter Walter J. Snyder got them away in fine shape in each heat.

Baby K., a beautiful going chestnut mare, after finishing back in the first two heats, came on and won the next three heats handsly, pacing the third heat straight and true in 2:16 1/4. Hazel Hunter, the Dutton, Ont. mare, was a contender in each of the five events.

The winner of the 2:17 pace turned up in the bay mare, May Fern, the property of W. Curtis, of Lima, Ohio. Lucky Jim won the first heat, but the effort was too much for the Detroit stallion.

It was Gale all the way in the 2:16 trot. The gelding won as he pleased, the principal interest centering in the battle for second position between Leeward Graves and Enchantress. Tomorrow's programme consists of a 2:14 pace, 2:19 trot and a 2:25 pace. D. Barr's (Dutton, Ont.) Stella B. and R. Kettles (Sarna, Ont.) Davey K. are entered in the last named event. Today's summary:

HARVARD TO HAVE FOOTBALL New Haven, Conn., June 26.—Football is assured for Harvard, and a Yale-Harvard game has been definitely arranged. Manager Hugh Knox, of the Yale team, said yesterday that definite assurances had been received from Harvard that the game could be played.

The last obstacle to the game at Yale was removed last night, when the faculty formally approved of the Yale schedule, including two minor matches which Manager Knox is negotiating, but which are not assured for the early practice evens.

Yale's biggest games will be: Nov. 3, West Point at West Point; Nov. 10, Brown at Yale field; Nov. 17, Princeton at Princeton; Nov. 24, Harvard at Yale field.

Annerst will be met for the first time in years, probably the last Saturday in October. The game will be played in New Haven. Other games certain are with the Springfield Training school and Holy Cross.

LAWN BOWLING. LOST BY TWO SHOTS. Tillsburg, June 26.—Four links of Tillsburg bowlers visited Aymer today in a friendly game and were defeated by two shots. Results:

Tillsburg: Aymer. A. P. Hare, 10; E. Clark, 27; J. H. Hare, 14; A. Love, 13; J. Aspinall, 20; W. Bingham, 16; E. P. Davis, 21; W. W. White, 8.

Total, 155. Total, 67. Majority for Aymer, 2 shots.

LACROSSE.

TIE AT UXBRIDGE. Uxbridge, Ont., June 26.—The Intermediate C. L. A. match played here today between Cannington and Uxbridge resulted in a tie, the score being three all.

THE TURF. CORRIGAN'S TINWARE INCREASES. Cincinnati, June 26.—Ed Corrigan's Planute, an added starter and a rank outsider, won the Cincinnati trophy at Latonia today. Zeal, which finished second, and Toward, the third horse, were coupled as the Gorse entry. The value of the stake to the winner was $4,440. In addition, the winner received a silver cup donated by Julius Fleischmann of this city.

YESTERDAY'S WINNERS. At Sheephead Bay—Prince Ham-

At Buffalo—Ruth W., 3 to 2; Ellicott, 2 to 1; The Scold, 7 to 5; Kassil, 5 to 2; Betsy Binford, 9 to 2; The Borgian, 7 to 5.

TENNIS. YANKERS HAD A WALK-OVER. Wimbledon, England, June 26.—In the second round of the singles tennis championship games here today, Raymond D. Little (American) beat P. T. C. Pilon by a score of 6-1, 6-4, 7-5.

In the third round, K. Powell beat Kreigh Collins (American), after a hard battle. The scores were 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

In the first round of the doubles, Kreigh Collins and Raymond D. Little (Americans) were given a walk-over. Little was also given a walk-over in the third round of the singles.

BASEBALL. TEN-INNING COLLEGE GAME. New Haven, Conn., June 26.—Yale defeated Harvard today at Yale field in the second of the championship series of baseball. The game went through nine innings. The victory gives Yale both games of the series, the Blue having defeated the Crimson at Cambridge last week 3 to 1. This makes a third game unnecessary. The score: R. H. E. Yale... 001010001—3 8 4. Harvard... 00002000—2 4 3.

TWO GAMES AT LUCAN. The Irish Nine Baseball Club, Lucan, will play two games of ball home on Dominion Day, Sunday, July 2, against a picked team from St. Thomas. The St. Thomas boys write to say that they are bringing the strongest aggregation in the city, consequently two fast games are assured. Morning game at 10:30; afternoon game at 2:30.

THE WHEEL. C. W. A. MEET. Waterloo, June 25.—The first C. W. A. old boys' reunion and provincial championship bicycle races, to be held here on Monday, July 2, has the following cycling programme at 1:30 p.m.: Mile novice, three prizes; quarter-mile championship, two prizes; half-mile championship, two prizes; five-mile championship, three prizes; two-mile handicap, three prizes; two-mile road race, three prizes.

George Sutton, who beat all balk line billiard records at New York, recently, was born in Elmira, N. Y., and first showed high-class form during his sojourn in Toronto. He was manager of the Rossin House parlor and also of the Mammoth for several years. His recent great game against Hoppe has caused the followers to recount the former records.

In a championship tournament in Paris in 1902, the best general average was made by Fournil, who was credited with 27 73-100, while the best average on record is 50, made by Vignaux. In the same year, while Sutton has an average of a fraction under 32, Frank Ives, as far back as 1896, in a 600 point tournament, which carried with it no title, had a high average of 50 6-100, while his highest run was 200; on this occasion, however, Ives disclosed the possibilities of the anchor shot, whereupon it was barred forever after.

The highest previous run in a championship under similar conditions was 200, by Sutton in 1903, at Paris, and the last named tied for first place with Cure and Vignaux.

In a 3,000 point match against Schaefer, in 1904, at Paris, Louis Cure ran 255, which of course was a finished break, in a continuous game taking a week.

The audience cheered him time and again for his grand work, and at this stage the records of former years seemed sure to go. After running up 134 he again sat down. In the meantime his brother had put up a brilliant game himself, getting in two runs for a total of 103, and everyone was looking then for records to be smashed. I myself predicted that the game would not last two hours, and it finished just 20 minutes and 10 seconds after having started. In the fifth and last inning Sutton brought the globes

But her quarters were small, and her state excited pity. Even Melville was forced to admit that it

550 TAKING THE ENTRANCE EXAMS HOLMES--ATKINSON A CHURCH WEDDING

Pupils from City and East Middlesex Writing for the High School.

Five hundred and fifty pupils from this city and all parts of East Middlesex, as well as those sections of the West Middlesex Inspectorate that are close to the city, are writing on the high school entrance examinations at the Collegiate Institute. The exams commenced this morning, and they will continue until Thursday.

Of the five hundred and fifty pupils, four hundred are from the several schools of London. This is about the same number as a year ago. The local examiners are Mr. E. J. Rudcliffe, principal of the Collegiate School, Inspector Edwards, Principal Gibb of Chesley avenue, and Mr. Power, representing the separate schools. From East Middlesex, there are in the neighborhood of 150 writing at the Collegiate. Inspector Thomson, Principal Wren, of the Lucan high school, and Miss Sprout, of the Lucan public school staff, are the examiners. All of the high school candidates in East Middlesex are not writing at London, but a class of one hundred are trying the exams before a board at Lucan. These are from the northern part of the Inspectorate, of which Lucan is the center.

There is a small sprinkling of West Middlesex students writing at the Collegiate, as they find it more convenient to come to London than to go to Stratford, for the exams.

Composition and spelling were the subjects written on this morning. The former was about as hard as usual, but the spelling paper was considered to be extra hard.

AN $800 BLAZE

Wagon Shop and Contents Completely Destroyed by Fire.

The wagon shop of Messrs. Hookin & Russell, on the west side of Adelaide street, between King and York streets, was completely destroyed by fire between 12 and 1 o'clock this afternoon. The origin of the fire is unknown. When the members of the firm left the building at noon everything was as usual, but in less than a half an hour the flames were discovered shooting through the roof and the windows. The firemen were summoned but when they reached the scene the fire had gained such a headway that it was found impossible to save either the building or its contents.

The fire is supposed to have originated from the large forge in the wagon shop or else it was caused by a spark from the setting of tires. Upwards of $800 worth of finished work was destroyed, together with $200 worth of paint. The building was old, and was not valued at more than $300. The firm carried out insurance. Sparks from the burning buildings ignited the roofs of a number of nearby places, but these were easily extinguished. The roof of the drive shed of the Adelaide Street Baptist church, a block away, was one of the buildings ignited by embers from the fire.

FINE NEW STREET CARS

Two of Most Up-to-date Model Arrive in the City.

Two handsome new street cars for the London street railway arrived in the city today. They will be at once taken to the bars, to be trimmed up and wired. They are of the most modern type of car, such as are now in use on the new set equipped lines of the Detroit United Railway. The platform is divided into two sections, by an iron rail, so that the passengers are never congested. At the rear end of the car the seats are placed across the aisle, so that room is given for people to stand up in large numbers, in case of a crowded car.

The other seats have an aisle between them after the manner of the cars in use on the South London belt. The cars are handsome. The sliding runs perpendicular, as is the case on many Toronto cars, and it is of British Columbia cherry, finished in the natural wood.

Manager King says the new trolleys will be put into commission within a week or so. It is the intention of the company to remodel the big cars on the South London belt after the manner of the new cars. The latter were built in Ottawa. Mr. King also stated to The Advertiser today that he has hopes that the new Edward street belt line, which in all probability will be known as the "Ridout," will be ready for business by Tuesday next.

Advertiser Correspondence

An Eyewitness.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: How much longer is our city to be disgraced by the unsightly piles of bricks on both sides of Richmond street between the G. T. R. and Dundas street? If the city officials are to blame, displace them and get some in their place who will attend to the duties properly. If the street railway is to blame, prosecute them forthwith, and let us have at least a decent roadway on one of our best streets. More anon. Yours truly, GEO. T. HISCOX.

PREVENT DISORDER—AT THE first symptoms of internal disorder, Parmenter's Vegetable Pills should be resorted to immediately. Two or three of these salutary pellets, taken before going to bed, followed by doses of one or two pills for two or three nights in succession, will operate as a preventive of attacks of dyspepsia, and all the discomforts which follow in the train of that fall disorder. The means are simple when the way is known.

NURSES FORM ASSOCIATION.

The graduate nurses of Victoria Hospital held a meeting in the reception room of the Nurses' Home recently, the purpose being to form an alumnae association in connection with the hospital. It was fairly well attended and the following officers were elected: President, Miss Whittier; first vice-president, Miss Tooley; second vice-president, Miss Hance; corresponding secretary, Miss Tooley; and recording secretary, Miss Hance. The next meeting is called for Tuesday evening, July 3, in the reception room of the Nurses' Home, to which all graduates of Victoria Hospital are most cordially invited to be present.

THURSDAY'S BAND CONCERT.

A young man who has lately invested in a automobile was before Magistrate Love this morning on a charge of violating the motor vehicle act. The offense consisted of neglecting to expose the number of the machine in large figures, and in a conspicuous place, as required by law. A tax of $2 was imposed. If the automobilist finds that his bank account is completely exhausted, he can do $2 worth of work at Castle Cart during the next five days. Myrtle Grills, 20 years of age, was remanded for a week on a charge of vagrancy.

A DELIGHTED AUDIENCE.

It was a very delighted gathering of ladies and gentlemen who assembled at the Conservatory Hall last evening to listen to a piano recital given by the pupils of Miss Kathleen O'Meara. For the most part the recital was a success, but if one did not see them it would scarcely have been imagined such finished playing to be the work of so small fingers. Particularly good was the sextette, in which three small boys and three smaller girls took part. The piano was played by Miss Annie Smith (soprano), vocal pupil of Mr. Barron. Miss Smith sang two numbers, "Love and Dreamland" and "Two Eyes of Gray," in faultless manner. The piano was played by Miss Annie Smith (soprano), vocal pupil of Mr. Barron. The death occurred yesterday afternoon of William Brennan, son of John Brennan, at the family residence, 468 Hamilton road. Deceased was 31 years of age, and is survived by one brother, Mr. Walter Brennan, of Chicago, and two sisters, Mrs. Fowler, of this city, and Miss Kate at home. The funeral will take place from the family residence to St. Mary's Church, on Thursday morning at 8:30. Mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock.

Windsor, June 27.—Mayor Wigle, Ald. Foster and George Bartlett, the committee appointed to go to Ottawa to represent the city in the negotiations by the ferry company for a renewal of its franchise, visited the officials of the company in Detroit. The company not only refused to make the concession asked, but also intimated they would continue to run their boats, whether a franchise was granted or not. The committee was so unsatisfactory that the committee will now look to Ottawa or to Toronto to secure what Windsor feels it is entitled to.

For the same amount of light, the Nernst lamp requires only one-half the current taken by ordinary in-running cost of electric lights has been reduced about 50 per cent by the introduction of the Nernst

LONDON AND DISTRICT

—Mrs. T. H. Mason, Stratfordville, is in London visiting her sister.
—Mrs. W. M. Goodwin, of King street, is visiting her son, Mr. A. W.
Goodwin, Tenth street, Port Huron.
—Mr. Michael Gleeson, of Duluth,
Minn., is the guest of his brother, Mr.
P. Gleeson, at his home in London township.
—Dr. W. B. L. McDonald, and Mrs.
McDonald, of Fort Saskatchewan, are the guests of Mr. W. A. Eastwood, 27
Peter street, at present.

—Lee Ford, the Town Line Sunday School, will hold its annual picnic at Springbank on Monday, July 2. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—It is now said that the electrical equipment for the St. Clair tunnel will arrive in Port Huron about July 5. A large gang of experts will be sent there and the work will be pushed rapidly.
—Large numbers of Londoners took in the garden party at Tempo last night. The cars of the Southwestern Traction Company were crowded on every trip. One trolley came to grief near Lambeth, owing to some trouble with the machinery, and traffic was delayed for quite a while.

BODE'S GUM IN DEMAND.
Londoners are enjoying a second week of the free distribution of Bode's gum by coupons. The first week was very successful, thousands of coupons being presented to the different stores.
Messrs. McEachern and McPherson, the general representatives, are again in London, and state that this city has become infatuated with Bode's gum.
Repeat orders are being received from many firms.

WANTS GAME WITH LONDON.
The Stratford Lacrosse Club wants a game with the local juniors, on either Wednesday or Thursday next. A definite answer will probably be given this evening. The local team had a good practice last night on the C. P. R. grounds, about a dozen players turning out.

PRESENTATION TO TEACHER.
Yesterday afternoon Miss I. E. Wal-has been teaching at Pond Mills school, was taken by surprise by her pupils.

Miss Mae Elliott read a brief address, and Master Vernon Beattie, on behalf of the school, presented Miss Walker with volumes of Longfellow and Burns, handsomely bound in burned leather.
Miss Walker made a suitable reply.

ing a rubber exhibition to be held at the Royal Botanic Gardens, Peradeniya, Ceylon, from September 13 to 27.
Exhibits of rubber in all forms, including rubber machinery, tapping, collecting, treating and storing apparatus will be on view. Power for machinery to be erected in the exhibition grounds will be provided, and free railway transportation in Ceylon and exemption from import duties will be allowed for all machinery to be exhibited. Gold medals, diplomas, and other prizes are to be awarded. The advertisement will appear on Wednesday next, and also during August month.

SASKATCHEWAN'S FIRST MODER-ATOR.

Rev. J. Leishman, of Fleming, Sask., a prominent member of the General Assembly, which met in this city, has been visiting Rev. Dr. McCrae, Westminster, and other friends, previous to his return home. Mr. Leishman was born in Richibucto, N. B., where he spent his early life. He is a graduate of the Presbyterian College, Halifax. He spent some years in the pastorate in Ontario. In two instances he was recalled to congregations of which he had formerly been minister—in one case six and a half years, and in the other six years. In the latter case he accepted the call, returned, and remained nine years, or sixteen years in all. In 1900 Mr. Leishman went to the west, where he has since devoted his energies to the work of the church. He speaks in the highest terms of that new country, and thinks nothing too good for it. Mr. Leishman is one of the kindest of men, a sympathetic pastor, and an able preacher. The General Assembly unanimously appointed him to be the first moderator of the Synod of Saskatchewan.

A MASONIC SERVICE.
A union Masonic service, under the auspices of Belmont, Lambeth and Nilestone lodges, was held in the First Presbyterian Church, Westminster, on Sunday afternoon. A number of brethren from this city, Dorchester, Thameford and other places, also joined in the service. The D. D. G. M., R. W. Bro.
J. A. Tancock, and several past grand officers, were present. The attendance was the largest ever seen at a Masonic service of the country. The commodious and beautiful church was filled to the doors. The large choir of the first congregation, under Mr. T. H. Nicol, led the praise, and rendered the musical part of the service beautifully and impressively. The sermon by Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae was a strong, earnest and masterly discourse.
After the service the brethren met formally in the schoolroom, the D. D.
G. M. presiding, and expressed the most heartfelt thanks to all who had assisted in the service, and to Dr. Mc-Crae for his able and most helpful sermon. The day was an ideal one and the whole service will be long remembered by all who attended.

MAKE SECOND PROPOSAL

Keystone Company Very Anxious to Locate in Chatham.

The bylaw to grant a fixed assessment and make a loan to the Keystone Sugar Company (the firm which was negotiating with London recently), will be submitted to the people of Chatham on July 20.
The Keystone Company's proposition, in a different form, was put before the electors a few weeks ago, and by them voted down by 150 votes. The backers of the company were, however, anxious to have the company's plant located there, because of the many natural advantages, so another proposal was made, in which it was promised that the company would pay half the cost of submitting the bylaw to the electors. This was said, with the leave of the matter with the electors to vote on, as their conscience and common sense dictates. Ald. Austin and his friends, however, are working as hard to pass it as they did the first time, and this is said, with the consequence of the other opposition to count very favorably in the matter.
There are those, however, who claim that the bylaw will not receive as many votes either way as it did before, and that it will be as unceremoniously defeated as then.

WANTS TOWN TO HELP

North Midland Asks St. Marys to Guarantee $500,000 Bonds.

The North Midland Railway Company is continuing its negotiations to build a line to points north of London.
Mr. A. E. Welch, manager of the North Midland, last night addressed the council, in regard to the company's proposition, which was that the town guarantee the payment of interest on the bonds amounting to two-thirds of the cost of the road. Mr. Welch figured that the road would cost $750,000, and he proposed that the town guarantee interest on bonds amounting to $500,000.
Mr. Welch pointed out that he was not asking for a bonus, but merely for the town's backing. If the road paid, the town council would not have to put up a cent. The proposition was referred to the railway committee.

AN IMPORTANT DEAL

Messrs. R. J. Young & Co. Establish House in Woodstock.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review: As a result of a real estate deal completed this morning, through the firm of Ormsby & Clapp, the firm of R. J.
Young & Co., of London, will take possession of the store opposite the market square now occupied by Messrs. Trotter & Callan within a month, and will occupy the premises as a clothing store. Messrs. Young & Co. have purchased the lease held by Messrs. Trotter & Callan, and also the clothing section of the business of the latter.
Together with their goodwill, it is their intention to thoroughly renovate the store and make it one of the most modern in the city. Messrs. Young & Co. have been engaged for many years in the clothing and drygoods business in London.

Messrs. Trotter & Callan retain their boot and shoe business, and will in all probability continue in this business, although their plans are not yet definitely settled. They have already secured temporary quarters.

LINK ED FOR LIFE

Interesting Event at the Home of Mr and Mrs. McBain.

A very interesting event occurred at the country home of Mr. and Mrs.
Donald McBain, Beechwood Crossing, Caradoc, on Wednesday, June 26, when the marriage of their eldest daughter, Rosa McBain, to Mr. Charles J. Frank, of the transportation department of the G. T. R., Sarnia, took place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr.
Nixon, of Hyde Park, on the large lawn in front of the house in the presence of about 90 invited guests. After the ceremony the wedding dinner was served in the large dining-room, which was beautifully decorated with natural ferns and roses.
The bride looked very pretty in a handsome gown of cream satin, and carried a bouquet of cream bridal roses.
She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna McBain, who wore pale blue nun's veiling and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. Donald McBain, of Caradoc, and the wedding march was played by Miss Arvilla Farrow, cousin of the bride.
The marriage took place at 8 o'clock in the afternoon. The wedding dinner was served from 4 until 6 p.m., after which the bride and groom left for Komoka, where they took the C. T. R.
train for Niagara Falls and other eastern points, from which trip they will return to Sarnia, where Mr. Frank has a beautiful home prepared for the bride.
The bride received a large number of beautiful and costly presents, and the groom is to be congratulated on having secured for a wife one of the most popular young ladies in Caradoc.
Guests were present from Hagersville,
London, St. Thomas, Parkhill, Bridgen and Sarnia.

CHURCHILL'S PROBLEM

8,000 Applicants for Ascot Royal Enclosure, But Only 1,800 Tickets.

London, June 27.—Last week we were shivering from cold. Ascot's second day found the thousands of fashionable assembled there sweltering, for it was the hottest day of the year, also the longest. Lord Churchill is a man whose position at this time of the year is none too enviable. It is he who, under the supervision of the King, has been giving out tickets for the royal enclosure, and without those prized round red plaques Ascot is as nothing to the society woman.
The enclosure used to be much smaller than it is now. Eighteen hundred tickets are now issued, the price of each being 4 sovereigns. But pity poor Lord Churchill, for there were this year no less than 8,000 applications, so that 6,200 applicants left bitterly disappointed.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth have had a quiet time, such as must have been an intense relief to them and the King on the two occasions upon which the latter has met the President's daughter.
They have been all that they could be in the way of affability and tact and the lunch in the royal stand was one of the merriest, the King being in those high spirits which have characterized him of late, and Mrs. Longworth was full of life and animation. When the luncheon ended she retired to the large general royal enclosure, where she formed the center of the American coterie.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth left Friday for Kiel by invitation of the Kaiser, and will doubtless have a much more formal general reception than they have had here, where all society is formed into narrow cliques which even the King cannot move to change their ways.
This is not what would be called the American season in London, yet the new world show on the heath was quite good. It was led by the Duchess of Marlborough. She is recognized and accepted as one of the best dressers in London, and she lived up to her reputation. Her hand painted muslin of the first day and delicate pink of the second were stamped Paris all over.

Mrs. Adair, who almost has become English from her long residence in this country, brought over the greatest beauty seen, Princess Teanoll, nee Colonna, who is stopping with her at Englefield. The princess looked lovely in a black and white muslin.

Mrs. Adair was irreproachable in a pink and white striped and Mrs. Anthony Drexel in a white muslin with embroidery. She brought her pretty daughter, Consuelo, Duchess of Manchester, who presented each day, as were Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Bonyne, and Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, who lunched with the King. Mrs. Chaucery was looking a great beauty.
Moreton Frewen and his pretty daughter, Miss Clare, who came over from Foxhill, where they were guests of Sir Charles and Lady Rivers Wilson,
Miss Fink Mackay, and Mr. and Mrs.
Whitelaw Reid also were there. Miss Nellie Post came with Mrs. Adair. There were Lady Willoughby de Eresby and sister, Miss Breese, Lady Newborough, Mrs. Ogden Mills and daughters, Mrs. Newhouse, Mr. and Mrs.
Ridgely Carter, Mrs. and Miss Vanderbilt, who came with the well-known Misses. Mrs. John Leslie and Miss Harriet Daly, the great heiress and daughter of Marcus Daly, were included in the Almerie Paget party.

OIL KING "GOLD BRICK"

Indianapolis Baptist Minister Talks
Harshly of J. D. Rockefeller.

Indianapolis, June 27.—Rev. L. D.
Bass, pastor of the South Street Baptist Church and one of the well-known ministers in that denomination, referred in very uncompromising terms to John D. Rockefeller in his sermon last night, calling the oil magnate "the Baptist gold brick."

"Mr. Rockefeller," he said, "would form a trust on education. His plan, through the University of Chicago, is to have an affiliated college in every state. What does that mean? That we shall get our leading teachers from the University of Chicago. That this university shall mark out the course of study, and thus give color to the instruction of our young people, not only religiously, but politically. Is it safe that one man educate our political leaders?"

Rev. Mr. Bass then referred to a negro in the East who is middle-aged but has developed a strange disease, causing him to grow taller. "There is nothing remarkable about this sudden change in stature," continued the minister. "True, this negro is growing larger, yet we have some great citizens who are growing smaller under the light thrown upon them by President Roosevelt and others. We have no technical name for 'growing smaller,' although 'acromegaly' is given as the technical name for unusual growth.
Our scientists should conjure up a name for the disease that has so suddenly attacked a lot of erstwhile big men and reduced them to very diminutive size in our eyes. The time has come, especially among Baptists, when we should cease to worship the Baptist gold brick Rockefeller and turn our attention more to the poor Carpenter of Nazareth."

EMBRO LOSES
TWO GOOD MEN

The Rev. J. E. J. Millyard Takes Farewell of His Flock—
Death of a Pioneer.

Embroid, June 26.—Miss Effie Ross returned last week from Guelph, where she has been attending the McDonald Institute.

Miss Florence Sutherland is visiting relatives in Toronto.

Miss Eva Sutherland, of Ingersoll, is the guest of her brother, Dr. G. A.
Sutherland.
Rev. Gustavus Munro and bride of Blytheswood, paid a short visit last week to Mr. Munro's aunt, Mrs. Hugh Murray, 7th concession. Mr. Munro is a son of Rev. Dr. Munro, of Bryanston, a former pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church here, and spent his boyhood in this village. His friends here extend their best wishes to both him and Mrs.
Munro.

Rev. Mr. Schofield, of Sheffield, occupied the pulpit of the Congregational Church on Sunday. Mr. Schofield was one of the delegates sent by the United Brethren Conference to the Congregational Union held here early in June, when the United Brethren joined forces with the Congregationalists. Mr. Schofield preached two very able discourses that were much enjoyed by all present. Rev. W. T. Gunn took Mr. Schofield's word in Sheffield, explaining and describing, by request, to the United Brethren Church, the tenets, aims and purposes of the denomination with which they have allied themselves.

Mrs. Joseph Prentice, of Drumbo, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. H. Morrison.
Rev. J. E. J. Millyard preached his farewell sermon in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening to a large and appreciative audience. His subject was "Doubters, Believers and Procrastinators." Mr. Millyard's removal from our village is regretted by all, as he has during his three years' pastorate made many friends, not only in his own community, but throughout the community at large. Mrs. Millyard also has won the affection of the people. She acted as organist for some time, and at the conclusion of the Sunday evening service, the choir met in the vestry and presented her with a beautiful chocolate pot and a complimentary address. Mr. and Mrs. Mil-lyard leave on Wednesday for their new church at Blyth.

The death of the late Colin Sutherland, at the age of 82 years, occurred on Friday night. Mr. Sutherland was one of the country from Sutherlandshire, Scotland, about 75 years ago, and settled near Bennington. He lived in that neighborhood until some eighteen years ago, when he retired from his farm, and came to Embroid to live. Mr.
Sutherland was a staunch Presbyterian, and was connected with Knox Church for many years. He will be greatly missed from our midst, as he was a man of sterling worth, and one whose opinions and advice were valued.
A man of few words, he preferred to have his actions rather than his words speak for him. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from his late residence to North Embroid Cemetery. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev.
Dr. Munro, of Bryanston, who spoke feelingly of his acquaintance with the deceased, extending over a period of more than 30 years. The funeral was very largely attended, many friends being present from Woodstock, Stratford, and other neighboring towns, as well as the surrounding country. He is survived by four children, William, of the 10th line, East Zorra, near Woodstock; E. L., the township clerk, and treasurer of West Zorra; Mrs. Robert McIntosh, wife of the county treasurer,
Woodstock, and Miss Jessie, at home.

Love isn't so blind but what it can see all the defects in the other fellow who is hanging around the girl.
