

London Medical Men Will Consider Increasing of Professional Fees

Matter Will Be Taken Up at the Next Meeting—Important Move.

At the meeting of the London Medical Association, which will be held in this city on Oct. 1, the question of revising the present tariff of fees will be taken up, and in all probability the schedule now existing will be annulled.

The medical men are practically unanimous in the opinion that owing to the increased cost of everything they must also charge more.

In a number of other cities a new schedule has already been arranged as follows: Day calls have been advanced from $1 to $1.50, and visits after 9 o'clock in the evening to 8 o'clock in the morning $2.

Died in London Hospital Alone; Pathetic Death of Henry Fretwell

Was on His Way From Buffalo to Adrian, Michigan But Became Stranded Here.

Henry Fretwell died at Victoria hospital last night.

In this announcement nothing is told of the inevitable end of all human life, but the story of his end is a very pathetic one.

On Friday afternoon last, a man, pale and weary, was found lying in Victoria Park by Acting Sergeant Harry Green. He tried to rouse the man, and discovered that he was no ordinary drunk, who had strolled into the park to sleep off his intoxication, but a man who was very sick. He was not fit to take to the jail—that was no place for him, for he had done nothing wrong—was just merely sick—some-times a crime in a big city.

Was Very Sick.

The man was taken to the city hall, where an attempt was made to get him into the hospital. P. C. Green laid the matter before the officials, and it was with considerable difficulty that the man was placed in the hospital. He hung around the city hall and the market for over an hour or more.

DIED AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Mr. Bert Macgregor, Popular Young Londoner, Has Passed Away.

Another of London's bright young businessmen has passed away in the person of Mr. Bert Macgregor, who died yesterday after an illness extending from the early part of last January.

The deceased was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Macgregor, of 322 Burwell street, and is survived by three brothers and two sisters, Mr. John A. William D., at home, Miss Margaret, Mrs. John Anderson, of Aymer, and Dr. Robert, of Detroit.

Mr. Macgregor, who was only 22 years of age, was well known for his connection with the Sovereign Bank, and the Seventh Regiment in which organization he held the position of sergeant.

Some time after the beginning of his illness the young man went to Michigan in the hope that the change would help him, but his condition grew no better.

The bereaved family has the sympathy of a host of the deceased's friends in this city and vicinity.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, at Woodland Cemetery at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Largest Coal Chutes in District Being Erected by the Grand Trunk

Just East of Adelaide St. and South of Horton Street.

Work was commenced in East London on Saturday afternoon on what will be the largest coal chutes in Western Ontario.

The structure, which will be of wood with a steel superstructure, will extend from a short distance east of Adelaide street to within a few feet of the big Grand Trunk roundhouse, in all a distance of over 400 feet.

The new chutes will be used exclusively for the engines that stop at London, and that are kept in the roundhouse until they go out again. It will be able to handle 350 tons of coal a day, and will be fitted with all the latest automatic coal-loading machinery.

London Man in Big Western Strike; C. E. A. Carr in Helena Trouble

Labor Men Decide to Tie Up the Road Managed by the Ex-Londoner.

A dispatch from Helena, Montana, states that because businessmen of Helena refused to discontinue the use of telephones, pending a settlement of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone Company's strike, the Helena Labor and Trade Assembly decided to call a general strike in Helena today at noon.

The result of this action, it is said, will be a complete tie-up of street car service and the closing of hotels, manufacturing establishments, business houses, and even saloons, where the use of telephones has not been discontinued.

Ministers Against Petitions Circulated for Sunday Street Cars

There was a strong appeal put forth by local ministers yesterday against the proposed establishment of a Sunday street car service in London.

It was announced that in all probability a counter petition will be circulated, and the members of the various churches were asked to refrain from signing any petitions until the matter has been gone into more thoroughly.

Piece of Dog Law Worth Knowing; Local Canine Case of Much Interest

Mother-in-Law's Dog Got a Thames Street Man Fined—A Peculiar Case.

Mr. Benjamin Blackstock of 340 Thames street, has a complaint about the fact that he was summoned to the police court last week and made to pay a dog tax as well as the costs of the court—$1.85 in all.

"I did not know I was liable for the dog at all," declared Mr. Blackstock, to the Advertiser today, "and the first thing I knew I was hauled into the police court. I think I should have been notified at least that I was liable. The dog was left at my place by my mother-in-law for about two weeks in the summer, while she was on a visit. It was not my dog, and I do not see why I should be held responsible for it. I do not see why I was forced to go to the police court on such a charge as that."

London Men in a Wild West Stunt

Thomas Fairbanks and James Fairbanks, London, and Michael McGuire, of Toronto, drunk and disorderly, and having in their possession $135, were, after a strenuous fight with P. C. Dawson and Constables Anderson and Rhodda, of Woodstock, taken into custody at 10:30 Friday night.

The three men were riding on a street car, and were put off in front of the post-office by Conductor Taylor. They then proceeded to make things unpleasant for merchants and pedestrians. They tore the banana stand from in front of an Italian fruit store, used profane and indecent language, and acted in a rowdy-like manner. Robert Kerr telephoned the police. Constable Dawson responded, and after a fierce struggle with James Fairbanks and McGuire, he succeeded in landing them in the cells.

Marshall Anderson and P. C. Rhodda got P. Fairbanks. The trio made a great noise when placed under the town hall, and at 3 o'clock Saturday morning they were removed to the jail.

The men came up on Saturday morning and were remanded by Police Magistrate Hall until Wednesday.

At the Woodstock police court they told the magistrate that they were employed

THE CROP OUTLOOK IN THE FAR WEST

Mr. Motherwell's View of the Situation—Substantial Return Looked For.

Winnipeg, Sept. 23.—Interview on Saturday here, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Saskatchewan's minister of agriculture, said, in part: "Although I cannot yet speak with absolute certainty as to the actual condition of the Saskatchewan wheat crop, still sufficient is known to indicate that a very considerable proportion of this crop will classify into commercial grades. For this reason it would seem eminently desirable that the standard boards should meet as soon as possible after average cured samples are obtainable, to set commercial grades for the west this season."

"During the past two harvests there has been practically no low grade stuff, hence the board has had occasion to meet since 1904 till the present time. Owing to the unusually high price of wheat, oats and other feed products, I am still of opinion that withstanding that the cream has unfortunately been taken off our crop, a very substantial net aggregate will yet be realized as a result of this year's operations."

IS WORKING HARD FOR THE POSITION

Wu Ting Fang Campaigning to Capture the Lucrative Post at Washington.

Pekin, Sept. 23.—Wu Ting Fang, who the native press for the past fortnight has spoken as the successor to Sir Chen Tung Liang-Cheng, as Chinese minister to Washington, has not yet been appointed to the post.

He has, however, made an active campaign since it was announced that Liang Ton Yen, who it was originally stated had been selected to head the Washington legation, had been appointed assistant secretary of the Chinese board of foreign affairs, in an endeavour to secure this the most lucrative position in China's foreign service.

China is especially anxious to send to Washington a minister who is persona grata to the American Government, and probably will nominate Wu Ting Fang. It is certain the views of Washington on the subject, however, for the state department has voluminous evidence of Wu Ting Fang's connection with the recent boycott of Americans and American goods, and while it is here regarded as Wu Ting Fang inspired and fostered. It is hoped here, and is considered not to be improbable, that Liang Ton Yen will yet go to Washington.

Advertiser Correspondence

Sunday Street Cars.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Are we to be compelled to have them? From a moral and religious point of view, no question involving such far-reaching issues has, perhaps, ever yet been pressed upon the attention of the citizens of London. It is a question which at once awakens sentiments of the deepest apprehension in the minds of truly Christian people. A very large proportion of our fellow-citizens are of this class, and are found in all the different churches. Though different in name, they are a solid unit in the general Christian faith. The majority take no prominent part in civic matters, nor is their voice heard beyond the home circle. Are they then to be overlooked? They could be reckoned up by thousands, and in virtue of their very character as Christian people are entitled to primary consideration. They are our best citizens, and are of one heart and one soul in deprecating the Sunday street car service.

Who are they, then, that are pressing for Sunday cars? If we look carefully for the origin of the call for them, we shall have no difficulty in fixing it at the correct point. There is a vast proportion of the population of our larger cities and towns, amounting to, probably, 70 per cent, who rarely—and most of them never—attend any kind of church services. They suffer from distressing ennui. They long for some entertainment, some excitement, something rousing. Sunday is to them a real "weariness," as it has ever been to those who banish from their minds the troublesome thought of the great hereafter and all its tremendous issues. This is the source—the fons et origo—of the demand for Sunday cars. Is this the class that should dominate the interests and utterly overrule the religious sentiments of the Christian majority of the city of London? As a Christian man, and on behalf of that estimable majority, I protest vehemently against such an outrage. We will not have the Sunday street car traffic, if by any fair and lawful means we can avert the evil.

In taking this strong ground, I place myself under the obligation to give some reasons. I will condense some of these and make them as brief as possible:

1. The Sabbath day was divinely given to be a day of rest, a day for the recuperation of energy run down by the previous six days' work. It was appointed specifically to be a day of cessation from all work. The Hebrew word, of which our English word is a sibilant rendering, means "cessation"—Shabbath. There would be no cessation from work, no rest for the men employed; they would be kept at work the whole seven days of the week. But the disadvantages would not end there. Untold numbers of persons—men, women, and children—belonging to other trades and occupations, would be deprived of the day of rest. Open shops for the sale of tobacco and refreshments of all kinds, would be indispensable; but the business that would be helped and made to flourish above all others would be that of the liquor sellers the dealers in strong drink.

2. There is no necessity for Sunday cars as far as concerns church-going. Wherever they have been put into operation they have never yet been found to be conducive to attendance at church. It is the general experience of all the churches in cities where Sunday cars are run that the effect is most certainly to diminish church-going. The object of those who are agitating for them is to go to Springfield or anywhere else as far away from church and church services as they can get. The young people—young men and young women, who are our hope for the future—are chiefly those who are drawn away from church by Sunday cars.

3. Entertainments, attractions and amusements of various kinds will in due course be provided, especially bands of music, to be followed with dancing and theatricals, besides many other forms of merriment of an objectionable and pernicious character. Then ensue late hours, dissipation, unfitness for the next day's business, and many other ills, as the outcome of Sabbath desecration.

4. In all the cities of this fair Dominion and of the United States where the Sunday street car traffic has become an established institution, the moral tone of the whole community has been lowered and deteriorated. The moral sense has become blunted to a noticeable degree. Open stores and general trading have been encouraged, drinking saloons have made their largest profits on Sunday, and a greatly increased police force has been necessitated to keep pace with the certain consequences of a general laxity of morals. When once the safeguards of a quiet Sabbath day are broken down, and innocent bands of music, open museums, street cars and entertainments are permitted, the far-reaching

ing consequences that ensue are truly unlimited and incalculable.

5. The human organism—the body—is so constituted that in addition to a nightly sleep, precisely one-seventh of our time must be set apart for quiet rest and thorough cessation from the ordinary activities of life. This is a physiological law, a scientific fact. The violation of this law is seen in early senility, mental deterioration, failure of the bodily energies, and very often premature death, at the very age when mind and body ought to be at their ripest and best stage.

6. The Lord's Day—the Sabbath—is a divine appointment of supreme value. When man was justly and rightly condemned to a life of toil, one day in seven was given back to him for quiet rest and for the special purpose of affording him an interval of withdrawal from life's rush and turmoil, for devout thought, for penitential retrospect, for growth in the knowledge of those sweetly solemn mysteries divinely revealed to us in Holy Scriptures and impressively presented to us actually and livingly in the person and saving work of the Lord Jesus Christ. The secularization of the Sabbath Day sweeps all this away with a destructive sweep like that of a tropical cyclone, leaving wreck and desolation in its path. We must beware of small beginnings. An Alpine avalanche is the final catastrophe of accumulated flakes of fine and feathery snow. The first step in a young man's career often determines his final issues as to whether his life will be honorable or will end in ruinous failure. The adoption of the Sunday street car service may be the first downward step in the civic life of London. The welfare of our young men and fair young women, and of the whole community, now and for all time to come, depends very considerably on the action the city is about to take on the momentous question before us. The quiet Sunday life which has hitherto distinguished this city from others is in jeopardy. It is, however, a cause for joyous encouragement that the better elements of the community are in the overwhelming majority. If they have the courage to put forth their strength in the interests of public morality, good order and the claims of an enlightened religious sentiment, a great victory may be accomplished, and London will carry off the palm for exemplary citizenship.

REV. J. W. BEAUMONT, D.D.

The Warton Case.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The verdict in the Warton unlawful assembly and shooting cases should meet with general approval, at least, by all who desire to see law and order upheld, and should be published as a warning from one end of Canada to the other, for certainly they have given mob rule and gang interference a lasting check.

There are many places and communities in this country about the size of Warton where a state of things bordering on the condition of affairs there are allowed to exist. Inoffensive people, even women and children, are hounded on the streets of small towns and villages, and being constantly annoyed and insulted by much the same class of loafers who brought the Warton fatality on themselves, and if more of such raiders were made to "bite the dust," the country would be well rid of them.

Persons who will not attend to their own business and let other people alone, must be taught the necessity of doing so, even though occasional doses of cold lead have to be administered to them.

This reminds the writer of a tragic incident which occurred in Washington, D. C., a few months ago.

A Southern visitor was staying at one of the fashionable boarding apartments facing the fine capital buildings, when one evening a rumor was gossiped around that he had offered an insult to some woman. The false report spread, and soon a crowd gathered in front of the house which had a balcony extending out from the second floor. The vile yelling mob demanded that the visitor be handed over to them to be dealt with according to their lofty ideas of morality.

They were proceeding to break open the doors when the visitor in question stepped out on the balcony with a loaded six-shooter in each hand, and in quiet but clear tones informed the mongrel mob that the rumors they had heard were false, and warning them to leave. Their derisive yells, and renewed attempts at violence brought swiftly on them the quadruple tragedy which immediately followed, for the "mobs" behind the guns" opened fire on the gang, shooting down four of them in their tracks, when all the other cowardly ruffians stampeded with fright and ran away.

The visitor quietly left the building, taking the next train for New York, and was not further molested.

LEX ET JUSTITIA.

Sunday Cars.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
I have been quite interested in the letters you published recently, on Sunday street cars. H. H. Wallace, apparently, fears the desecration of the first day of the week. There are some cars that desecrate any day, and so far I agree. But may not the Seventh Day Adventists and others as reasonably object to the cars running on their Sabbath day?

Your correspondent asks for a list of the clergymen, laymen, etc., signing the petition. It seems to me such people would not sign, or would be very inconsistent if they did. Only one other class can have as much interest in not signing, and that is the street car employees. People do not as a rule petition against their own interests if they know it. As to the question, "Where do working men spend the Saturday afternoon?" most likely they potter round the house and fix things, of which there is always something to be done. I am not prepared to say that a day and a half is sufficient for recreation. The trend of the times seems to point to two days out of seven before very long. R. R. K. Emery also takes up the subject from a religious aspect, and I rather like that idea of seven holy days. But neither of your correspondents seem to have got to the root of the matter, and since we realize Sunday street cars must come sooner or later, let us put the question this way: Is there any need at the present time for street cars to run on Sunday? I think so, and will endeavor to make plain my reason for so thinking. Some ten years or so has elapsed since our more or less rapid transit system was first installed. The public at that time were accustomed to walking, but ten years of the trolley has educated the people into riding, so that a factor that did not exist at the beginning, does exist now. Today if we have but three blocks to go we ride. The result is we have spindle shanks that refuse to carry us but short distances, and the long walk to church, or elsewhere, brings on that limp feeling, and while thinking we do not say it, "I wish the cars were running." There are probably plenty of other reasons, both for and against, and all as convincing ten years ago as now. It seems to me we might as well own up; it catches all cities sooner or later. The trolley habit is here. There is but one remedy, and that is a continuous street car service. Very truly yours,

ERNEST H. RUSSELL.

WIFE BURNS HUSBAND

Jealous of His Success, Frenchwoman Kills Spouse.

Paris, Sept. 23.—A tragic and dramatic story was unfolded, at Andre assizes, when Mme. Bassage, a young woman, was charged with the murder of her husband, Dr. Bassage.

For ten years of their wedded life the couple had lived humbly and happily together, but when they moved to another part of the district, and prosperity began to shine upon her husband, Mme. Bassage's attitude completely changed, and she became neurotically jealous of him.

On July 23 last, while he was in bed, she came to the bedside and burned him slightly with a flatiron.

A violent scene followed, and finally the doctor seized a revolver, whereupon Mme. Bassage rushed out of the house, and returned with a quantity of sulphuric acid, which she threw at her husband, burning him severely.

In an agony of torture the victim jumped out of bed and ran down to the kitchen in search of water.

Mme. Bassage then discharged her revolver at him, and he fled to his room. His wife waited for him, revolver in hand, and when he passed to his dressing room she fired again, and her husband fell dead.

He was greatly esteemed, and no justification was said to exist to justify his wife's suspicions of infidelity.

SHAKE THIS WELL IN A BOTTLE

How to Find Out If Kidneys Are Affected and What to Do.

A well-known authority states that there are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which is sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering; frequently resulting in deformity, often reaching the heart when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent, painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

The physicians for the insurance companies always carefully examine and report on the condition of the urine. It is a certain sign of sickness or health of the human body.

A test of the urine should be made by every man and woman at least once each year. A simple test is to void a small quantity of urine in a bottle or glass and let it stand overnight. Next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white, fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and if desirable the sufferer can mix it at home. Any good prescription pharmacy has the ingredients, which are harmless and inexpensive: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

AWFUL PERIL OF UNITED STATES

Officer Scents a War Cloud With Army and Navy Helpless.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—The United States army is in bad shape. The navy is even worse. War clouds are hovering thick and fast. The possession of the Philippines is bad, the Panama Canal an embarrassment, and the Monroe doctrine positively a peril. So declares Capt. William V. Judson, the corps of engineers of the United States army.

Capt. Judson is one of the officers who were sent to Manchuria to report on the observations of the operations of the Russian and Japanese armies. The scenes of carnage which he witnessed appear to have had a depressing influence upon him.

He has just made a report to the war department. It is more than a report. It is a lugubrious commentary on the awful hopelessness of anything. Foresees Shameful War.

Capt. Judson declares that only by adopting certain measures for the improvement of the American navy, which he outlines, can the United States be saved from a "shameful and disastrous war."

Incidentally the captain (corps of engineers) takes a fall out of military attaches. He declares they are "less dangerous only than war correspondents," and favors the policy of satiating public curiosity about a nation's wars by handing out typewritten statements from "some official channel."

Speaking further of military attaches, he says: "Many of them will be ill disposed for one reason or another. Some will try to make records in getting out information, and some even may try covertly to furnish information to the press."

If Russia Had Only Known.

Then Capt. Judson of the engineers explains that Russia would not have had to fight Japan if the Czar had kept his fleet at home instead of sending it three-quarters of the way around the world to be "shot up" by the Mikado's gunners.

He then incorporates in his report the following observations on the unwisdom of a nation scattering its naval forces.

"This is, to be sure, a naval question, but strategy is much the same on the land and on the sea and one is forced to wonder why we maintain several battleships on the Asiatic station, subject to destruction in case of sudden war."

Gloomy Hints at War.

It is apparent that Capt. Judson believes that Germany and Japan have designs upon the United States. He has a chapter on this topic, and although he does not mention either nation by name, he indicates them both, beyond reasonable doubt.

Capt. Judson's scheme for avoiding national humiliation at the hands of an enemy is the organization of a big army reserve. He has naval officers by the ears by slighting references to the utility of the navy. For instance, he says, "Despite the great importance we justly attribute to the navy, in the end it must be admitted that its principal features are to decoration or attack the lines of communication of armies where the same lead across the seas. In the last resort, to prevent the final catastrophe of war, it is after all the army that is required."

The Pure Food Movement

is very strong in Canada today. In no article of diet is purity so important as in flour, for flour is the basis of more than half your food. It is your duty, therefore, to see to it that the flour you use is pure.

"FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made by a process which insures absolute purity, in so far as it can be secured by the most scientific milling methods. From the time the wheat enters the mill until the flour reaches the cook it is untouched by human hands. The grain itself is thoroughly cleansed before grinding, whilst the flour is sifted, time after time, through the finest silk cloth, in order to remove the smallest impurities.

These processes render "FIVE ROSES" an easy and satisfactory flour to use, and insure better results on baking day than can be obtained with any ordinary brands.

Ask your grocer for it.

WITNESSED WILD SCENES

Spectator of the Vancouver Riots Gives Graphic Recital.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—"It was an awful riot. The Chinamen lost no time in getting away, while the Japanese defended their property and showed fight," stated Mr. John T. Newton, of Vancouver, this morning, when interviewed in connection with the rioting in that city several days ago. "A week ago Saturday and Sunday a meeting of the labor unions was held and paraded through the streets to the city hall. When they arrived at the city hall about half of the crowd secured an entrance and the rest were left in the streets. A crowd of rowdies, young men from 16 to 18 years of age, raided the Chinese on Shanghai and Canton streets, fighting with the Chinamen and hurling stones through windows on their way. The Chinamen did not show any fighting spirit and got out of the way as soon as possible.

"The crowd then turned on the Japs, attempting to do the same as they had done to the Chinamen. The Japs showed fight, drew out revolvers, knives and bottles, and went after the white men when they attacked them, injuring several, but not seriously.

"On Sunday night another riot was started, it is thought by the same crowd, on the Japs, but the Japs defended their property and prepared to fight the white men. When the rioting was going on in the Japanese section, a small riot occurred on the wharves, with the result that several Japs were thrown into the water. "In one instance a Chinaman, working in the front section of his store on Canton street, had several front teeth knocked out by a stone hurled through the window. "The police were practically helpless, being shooed around by the crowd, and could do nothing. Several arrests were made, but the prisoners were released. "On Monday every Chinaman went out on strike, even every servant in private houses and restaurants. They struck to let the people know that they could do without them. Everybody was after coals, and general restaurant business was disabled for several days."

In speaking of the general feeling of the people in Vancouver, Mr. Newton stated: "There is a strong feeling against the Japs. The Chinamen stick out for the wages, while the Japs will work at anything for anything. The Japs are going into the mines and taking positions from the white men."

"If the Government lets the Asiatics come into the country it will hurt labor. They live on practically nothing, and live in any house or shack."

The total production of automobiles in the United States during 1905 was 22,830 vehicles, valued at $26,646,064, against 3,723, with a valuation of $4,748,011, in 1900, an increase of 461 per cent. Of the 21,692 vehicles turned out by automobile factories 18,699 were propelled by gasoline, 1,563 by steam and 1,425 by electricity.

Professor Friedrich Mueller, the eminent German philologist, has succeeded in deciphering some of the manuscripts brought home from Chinese Turkestan by Dr. Leccocq. The main interest lies in the fact that they are fragments of books of the New Testament and that their copiers had access to versions which are now totally unknown and they differ considerably from all authoritative ancient versions recognized by the Greek and Catholic churches. Dr. Leccocq found these fragments near Turfan, buried in the sand.

MR. MACKAY'S PRONOUNCEMENT

The following statement of his position and the duty of the Liberal party in Ontario was issued by Hon. A. G.
MacKay immediately after his nomination as leader of the Opposition:

"We must consecrate ourselves to the ideals of Liberalism, what it means, what it stands for.

"One who accepts the Liberal leadership in Ontario puts on splendid shoes. But they are big ones to fill.
The Liberal party has a history, and it is no mean aim to seek to measure up to something of the standard of the Mowats, the Hardys and the Rosses.

"I am fully in accord with the policy established by Mr. Graham and shall seek to further develop it, not looking behind, but before. There is opportunity for a live and earnest Opposition to do good work. Mr.
Whitney and his colleagues are leaving some very vulnerable spots. The administration of the liquor licenses system must be improved and removed from the arena of partisanship; the education department is a failure and should be reorganized and improved; and the sports system should be permanently abolished.

"Put me down as unequivocally in favor of civil service reform. It must come. It will be the salvation of the whole internal economy of our departmental system. It will place politics—as we know them—on a higher plane.

"There may be difficult and embarrassing circumstances to be met with in inaugurating it, but it is the business of men who essay to devote themselves to the public interests to meet them and to triumph over them."

Mr. MacKay has indicated some advantageous fighting-ground for Provincial Liberals. Much depends upon himself. He has the gifts of leadership, and can rally the forces of Liberalism, and inspire the party with single-mindedness to the task which his associates have asked him to undertake. He has remarkable intellectual vigor and a genius for public business.

The Toronto News, which is friendly to the Whitney Government, says that he was the most useful member of the Legislature during the last session. In his own riding he is a popular hero,
and as he becomes better known throughout the province he will probably inspire the mass of Liberals with the admiration and affection which his fellow-townsmen feel for him. His future is in his own hands, and there is no public man who has more flattering prospects.

THE C. P. R. IN THE WEST.

Evidence that the Canadian Pacific Railway has been endeavoring to do its share towards improving the transportation facilities of the west is furnished in the recently-issued annual report, which shows that during the year ended June 30 last the immense sum of $5,347,305.98 was expended on betterments between Port Arthur and Laguan. For the three preceding years, the amounts expended for the same purpose between the same points were:
1904, $4,114,443.65; 1905, $5,440,361.66;
and 1906, $4,341,923.29. These figures refer only to such improvements as double-tracking, the building of bridges, sidings and stations, and there is further to be added the sum of $426,500 expended on branch line improvements. It will thus be seen that to the west last year the company devoted 63 per cent of the total expenditure of $9,518,979 on the entire system, the mileage included in this area being 51 per cent of the completed mileage.

There has likewise been a material improvement of the rolling stock equipment of the road during the past year, the company's hauling power having been increased ten per cent by the addition of 187 locomotives and 6,250 freight cars. This certainly shows some effort on the company's part to meet the growing needs of the rapidly-increasing population.

Also of importance to the west is the portion of the report dealing with the transactions of the company's land departments, which show enormous growth. In 1901 the receipts from this source amounted to but $667,128.11.
With the exception of 1904, when there was a slight falling-off, there have been increases each year since; in 1906
the cash receipts from land sales reached $5,168,501.63, and in 1907
they totaled the enormous sum of $8,- $16,335.45.

The mileage in the west was increased during the year by about 120 miles, and according to official figures
the extent of the two western divisions
is: Central division, 3,438 miles;
western division, 1,364 miles, or a total of 4,802 miles. Meanwhile double-tracking operations have been in progress, and it is expected 200 miles of the road between Winnipeg and the lake ports thus equipped will be ready for use this fall.

The report as a whole cannot but be regarded as satisfactory. Of course, the C. P. R. is having the same experience in one particular as all other great roads, and that is that the cost of operation increases more rapidly than do profits. Thus in ten years, without any general increase in rates,

the gross earnings have grown by 200 per cent; while the net earnings have increased by only 150 per cent. In 1897 the working expenses were 57.16 per cent of the gross earnings, and the net earnings 42.84 per cent. In the past year the operating expenses amounted to 64.96, leaving the 35.04 per cent as net earnings. Even this, however, leaves sufficient margin to pay interest on bonds and a substantial dividend on stock.

WOMEN IN PARLIAMENT.

The first session of the Finnish Parliament in which women have held seats has closed, and a writer in the Outlook says that that body does not appear to have been very deeply affected by the presence of the fair sex.
According to this authority the women displayed less initiative and spoke less frequently than the men, but it cannot be said that the latter fact is to their discredit. It was also found that they "failed to raise the average ability of Parliament, and none of them made any mark as a party leader." As has been the case with new party representatives who have found seats the Parliament and Legislatures of this country, the Finnish women members of Parliament have divided among the regular parties in the House just like the men, and have displayed a party loyalty equal to that of the sterner sex.

For instance, nine of the nineteen voted with the Social Democrats, six with the Old Finns, two with the Young Finns, one with the Swedes and one with the Agrarians. Even Baroness Gripenberg, the writer says, had but little to say regarding that movement which for many years she has led with distinguished ability, but preferred to speak of the aims and work of the old Finnish party which she supports in Parliament and in which she is clearly more interested than in the issue of woman suffrage.

As was to have been expected, the women took an exceptionally acute interest in social reform, and it is here that their good influence will no doubt be most felt. Especial support has been given by them to the temperance cause, all but one of the nineteen being total abstainers.

It was not to be expected that the women would at once forge to the front in debate and the initiation of legislation—few men of talent do that.
It may require many sessions before the real value of the innovation is fairly tested. Meantime, the prediction is confidently made, judging from what has been accomplished at the polls and in Parliament, that the participation of women in political work will prove a national blessing.

Natural gas has been discovered on the Free Press property. This explains some things in that journal.

The Liberal party in Ontario may be taking the rest cure, but there'll be no rest for the Government when
A. G. MacKay gets his war paint on.

The London News says that Premier Deakin has killed tariff reform in Great Britain by his pique preference.
In that case it may be a blessing
in disguise.

An inquiry into the sources of the Conservative campaign fund in 1904
might reveal the secret of David Russell's famous parlor car trip through the Maritime Provinces.

The Toronto World advises Liberals and Conservatives in London to stay out of the fight and allow William Gray to take the seat as the nominee of the labor party. The laborites will appreciate the joke as keenly as the Liberals. "Will you walk into my parlor?"

We are now told that there is a great chasm between Aylesworth and Fitzpatrick. According to the Tory press Fitzpatrick was a great step-down from Mills, and Mills was a fearful descent from Mowat. A Liberal politician never knows what a great man he is until he gets out of office.

INFORMATION FOR THE YOUNG.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"Pa, what's the difference between an investment and a speculation?"
"When you win it's an investment. When you lose it's a speculation."

NOT A BIGAMIST.

[Sketchy Bits.]
Begger—Please, sir, will you kindly assist a poor old man who has three wives to support?
Pedestrian—What! Do you mean to say you are a bigamist?
"Oh, no, sir. Two of them are wives of my sons-in-law."

A HARD SUM.

[Montreal Herald.]
The average price per mile of transportation on the C. P. R. last year was 1.75 cents. How nice it will be to have that reduced to 1 cent a mile!

THE BISHOP OF LONDON.

[Ottawa Journal.]
The Bishop of London in London in the west the other day saved an old lady's pet dog from death beneath the feet of the crowd at the railway station. Don't know whether the bishop secretly accepts the theory that some dogs are as good as some people. It is more probable that his act was prompted by that kindness of heart

which seems to have shaped his splendid career as a humanist. The old lady was in trouble about her pup. That was enough for the bishop. He saved the pup, put the old lady on her train and sent her on her way rejoicing. The moral is that unselfishness is a trait worth cultivating.

THE OTHER WOMAN'S OPINION

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"How well she preserves her youth."
"Yes. The stuff she puts on her face must be weatherproof."

HAPPY ADAM.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
Adam never drove a horse
That balked upon a railroad track;
And, furthermore, Eve never wore
A waist that buttoned down the back.

NO USE.

[Exchange.] Husband—You should be more economical, my dear, and save something for a rainy day.
Wife—What's the use? I can't go shopping and spend it on a rainy day.

A PAYING SPEC.

[Indian Head Prairie Witness.]
A Quebec man lost a $5 bill, advertised
it and a stranger brought him a five.
Later on he found the lost bill in another pocket. This may not be good morals, but it shows the effect of advertising.

SEPTEMBER.

[Archibald Lampman.]
Now hath the summer reached her golden close,
And, lost amid her cornfields, bright of soul,

Scarcely perceives from her divine repose
How near, how swift, the inevitable goal;
Still, still she smiles, through from her careless feet
The bounty and the fruitful strength are gone,
And through the soft long wandering days goes
The silent serene decadence, sad and sweet.

The kingbird and the pensive thrush are fled,
Children of light, too fearful of the gloom;
The sun falls low, the secret word is said,
The moldering woods grow silent as the tomb;

Even the fields have lost their sovereign
grace,
The cornflower and the marguerite; and no more
Across the river's shadow-haunted floor
The paths of skimming swallows interlace.

Already in the outland wilderness
The forests echo with unvoiced din;
In clamorous gangs the gathering woodmen press
Northward, and the stern winter's toll begins.
Around the long, low shanties, whose rough lines
Break the sealed dreams of many an unhappy land.

Already in the frost-clear morn awakes
The crash and thrum of the falling pine.
Where the tilled earth, with all its fields
set free,
Naked and yellow from the harvest lies,
By many a loft and busy granary,
The hum and tumult of the threshers rise;
There the tanned farmers labor without slack.

Still twilight deepens round the spouting
mill,
Feeding the loomed sheaves, or with fierce will Pitching waist-deep upon the dusty stack.

Still a brief while, ere the old year quite pass,
Our wandering steps and wistful eyes shall greet
The leaf, the water, the beloved grass;
Still from these haunts and this acoustomed seat
I see the wood-wrapt city, swept with light,
The blue, long-shadowed distance, and,
between,
The dotted farm lands, with their parcel-
ed green.

The dark pine forest and the watchful height.
I see the broad, rough meadow stretched away
Into the crystal sunshine, wastes of sod,
Acres of withered vernal, purple-gray,
Branches of aster, groves of goldenrod,
And yonder, toward the sunlit summit,
The crown

With shadowy boulders, crowned and
swathed with weed,
Stand ranks of silken thistles, blown to seed,
Long silver fleeces shining like the moon.

In far-off russet cornfields, where the dry
Gray shocks stand peaked and withering, half concealed
In the rough earth, the orange pumpkins
lie,
Full-ribbed; and in the windless pasture-field
The sleek red horses o'er the sun-warmed ground

Stand pensively about in the companies,
While all around them from the motionless trees
The long clean shadows sleep without a sound.

Under cool elm trees floats the distant stream,
Moveless as air; and o'er the vast warm
earth
The fathomless daylight seems to stand and dream,
A liquid cool elixir—all its girth
Bound with faint haze, a frail transparency.

Whose lucid purple barely veils and fills
The utmost valleys and the thin lake hills,
Nor mars one whit their perfect clarity.

Thus without grief the golden days go by,
So soft we scarcely notice how they
wend,
And like a smile half happy, or a sigh,
The summer passes to her quiet end;
And soon, too soon, around the cumbered
eaves,
Shy frosts shall take the creepers by surprise,

And through the wind-touched reddening woods shall rise
October, with the rain of ruined leaves.

BRITISH FAST TRAINS.

[Manchester Guardian.]
The quickest run in England is the Northeastern's, from Darlington to York, 44½ miles, at a speed of 61.7 miles per hour, but this can scarcely be ranked above the Great Western's, from Paddington to Bristol, via Bath, 118½ miles, at a speed of 59.2 miles per hour. The longest run is the Great Western's, from Paddington to Plymouth, 225½ miles, at a speed of 54.8 miles per hour, though the Midland have one nearly as good from Leeds to St. Pancras, 196½ miles, at 53.3 miles per hour.

OUR UNSEEN SUN.

[Pall Mall Magazine.]
No one has ever seen the sun. This is not an epigrammatic pleasantry, but the cheerless, scientific truth. A series of concentric shells envelopes a nucleus of which we know absolutely nothing, except that it must be almost infinitely hotter than the fiercest furnace, and that it must amount to more than nine-tenths of the total solar mass. That nucleus is the real sun, for ever hidden from us.

HAMILTON'S FILTERED WATER.

[Galt Reporter.]
In these days of bad water, why blame
Hamilton aldermen for taking to whisky?

OUTSIDE ADVICE.

[Hamilton Herald.]
The party leaders in London couldn't do better than agree to allow the Labor candidates for Parliament to be elected by acclamation. What is the use of putting up a big fight for the constituency at this time? The general election will be held a few months hence.

THE TRUE CRISIS.

[Toronto Globe.]
According to Mr. Borden, the shocking wickedness of the Laurier Government at Ottawa is sufficient to call down upon the Dominion the doomed cities of the plains. The four righteous men he puts forward to avert the judgment and save the Dominion are Mr. Foster, Mr.
Fowler, Rufus Pope and Mr. Bennett.

ONE OF MR. FOSTER'S QUALIFI-CATIONS.

[Brockville Recorder.]
Hon. George E. Foster excels in asking questions of the chap who is not present to talk back.

THE PURITY FUND.

[Toronto Star.]
And if Leader Borden did have a war chest of half a million in 1904, what's the odds? He may have spent it to purify elections. Honi soit qui mal y pense.

PERSUASION.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"I can't marry you," she said. "You are old enough to be my father."
"Don't hesitate on that account. Ten years from now nobody will suspect it."

NO SIDE.

[Toronto Star.]
No side, says Bishop Ingram. Which does much to disabuse carping minds of the impression that bishops are made up of equal parts of pride, gaiters and Roman collar.

WHITNEY AND LAURIE.

[Brockville Recorder.]
Mr. Whitney turned down every legislative follower of his from New Ontario and selected Mr. Cochrane as minister of lands and mines. Further, Mr. Cochrane had never been a member of any House, and consequently was totally without parliamentary experience of any kind. Further,
a New Ontario representative, the member for Nipissing, resigned to make a place for the new minister. The Tory papers have lauded and are still lauding Mr. Mr.
Cochrane as an efficient minister, and Premier Whitney on the floor of the Legislature delivered a stirring eulogy on the minister of lands and mines. Every time the Tory papers knock Sir Wilfrid on this point they are hitting Premier Whitney a trifle harder.

A PITIFUL CASE.

[Ottawa Citizen.]
A pitiful case has been discovered in London of a woman in the last stages of consumption, who has been left all alone in a house by her family and friends to die. Her husband makes her an allowance sufficient for her necessities, and she has the house all to herself, but no one goes near her through fear of contracting the disease. Occasionally a kind neighbor comes in some delicacy, but day after day, and night after night, she waits for death in solitude. The attention of the board of health has been called to the case, but nothing can be done, as there is no place to send her. None of the hospitals will accept consumptive patients in the last stages of the disease, and the city has made no provision for a consumptive hospital. It is to be feared that there are many cases all over the country in a similar plight. The people have been educated up to the point that they are almost as keenly apprehensive of infection in cases of consumption as in smallpox or diphtheria. On the other hand, municipalities and health boards have not been educated up to the point of providing for sufferers from this infectious disease in the way that they take care of smallpox or diphtheria patients. It has come to pass that these poor, often unfortunate in the last stages of consumption live
the life of a parish.

M'LEISH--LOOMIS

Very Pretty Wedding of a Popular
Couple at Mt. Pleasant Farm.

A quiet but exceedingly pretty wedding took place at high noon Wednesday, Sept. 11, at Mount Pleasant Farm,
the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Loomis, Sylvan, when their eldest daughter,
Cora M., was united in marriage to Dr. D. M. McLeish, by Rev. A. Graham, B.A., of Parkhill.

To the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" (Lohengrin), played by Miss E. Harvey, the bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father and took her place under an arch of evergreens and dahlias.

The bride looked sweet in a dainty gown of organdie, trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertion. She wore the customary veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white asters, maidenhair fern and smilax. She was attended by Miss Louise Barrett, who wore cream veil, trimmed with silk and insertion, and carried asters and maidenhair ferns.

Miss Hazel Barrett, the little flower girl, looked very pretty in white or-gandie, and carried the ring in a beautiful basket of flowers.

The groom was supported by Mr.
Edwin Loomis, brother of the bride.
The ceremony and congratulations being over the guests, about 40 in number, repaired to the prettily decorated dining-room, where a sumptuous repast awaited them.

Immediately after the wedding breakfast the happy couple left, amid showers of rice, confetti and good wishes, for Toronto, Niagara and other eastern points.

The bride's going-away gown was of green ladies' cloth, with hat to match.
The groom's gifts to the bridesmaid and organist were gold brooches, to the flower girl a pearl ring, and to the groomsmen a gold tie pin.

Upon their return Dr. and Mrs. Mc-Leish will reside in Parkhill on Hast-ington street. Mrs. McLeish was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

old receptacles.

TATTOOING CRAZE
AFFECTS ROYALTY

Princess Has Arch'or Pricked on Her Arm--Some New Designs Affected.

London, Sept. 22. — Whether the advent of the "silly season" has anything to do with it or not, a sudden craze has attacked certain sections of the smart set to have their skins artistically decorated and duchesses and countesses are showing a marked partiality for large, fiery dragons and speckled serpents.

A visit to the establishment of a west end tattooist revealed in the waiting room a Hungarian Baron, who is about to make a hunting tour through Central Africa, and two naval officers, while the artist was busily engaged in tattooing a young university graduate.

"The principal reason for the great boom in tattooing," said the artist, "is that the new designs are almost first class and the art colors used are delicate shades of blue, black, red, yellow, green and brown. Many persons also recognize the necessity of being tattooed with some distinctive device so that if some sudden accident befell them they could be easily identified. Parents are beginning to recognize this, and I have tattooed more than five hundred children recently.

"Women of title are very fond now of having their signatures, coats of arms
and crests tattooed on their skins, and the effect is very pretty. There is also now a craze for dragons and serpents, and I have just finished a four and one-half foot dragon winding its way round one of the limbs of a well known actress."

"One of the strangest tasks I have been engaged on lately was to tattoo
a will on a woman's back. It was a copy of the document drawn up in the usual way by a solicitor. It contained nearly five hundred words, and I had carefully to reproduce all the signatures.

"Some of the most extraordinary reasons for wishing to be tattooed are given by some of my clients. An Irish major comes to me for treatment whenever he gets an attack of rheumatism, and he assures me that nothing does his complaint so much good as tattooing. Then, again, a man who is just past eighty years is another constant visitor. He says the operation makes him feel years younger.

"Tattooing has an irresistible fascination for many medical men, and more than one thousand well known practitioners, many from Harley street and the neighborhood, bear samples of my handwork on their bodies.

"Among well known society women who are tattooed I may mention a royal princess who was ornamented with an anchor while on a visit to a naval port, but, of course, I am not at liberty to give the names of my clients."

Another craze among society women which is growing to quite extravagant dimensions is the scented bath. Leading perfume makers are working over time just now in manufacturing new perfumes for the autumn season. This is the time of year at which new preparations are put on the market, and the secret of each particular firm is most jealously guarded until the actual day of sale arrives.

Nowadays society demands in scents, as in everything else, a constant change, and manufacturers are agreed that the old fashioned and simple perfumes, except, perhaps, lavender water and eau de cologne, are doomed. Among the popular perfumes violet scents, which were until recently all the rage, and going quite out of fashion. The reason for this is that the cheaper varieties are not made from real violets at all and the odor wears off very quickly from the handkerchief or dress. The real essence of violets costs from 8s. 6d. for a very tiny bottle to 38s. 6d. for one of quite medium proportions, but society grows more extravagant in its perfume bills

every year.

One of the leading firms used to put up sixpenny bottles of its new perfumes
at Christmas time, but now it sells nothing for less than half a guinea.
Formerly it brought out a new perfume once every three years, and sometimes more. One of the leading West End retail scent merchants says that some of his regular customers spend from £200 (£1,000) to £400 ($2,000) a year on perfumes and scented soaps.

The perfume industry has now reached immense proportions and the amount manufactured here and also which comes from abroad is enormous.
"But," said a perfumer, "the palm duction of attar of roses. There more than six thousand pounds is produced yearly, at an average value of about a sovereign an ounce."

The White Cat

[BY GILBERT BURGESS, AUTHOR OF "VIVETTE"]
Copyright by Bobbe-Merrill Company.

After luncheon with Leah, we went up to Joy's private sitting-room, or study, as she called it—and it was really that, as I saw by the books which lined its walls. She had indeed time enough to read them! It was a woman's room, but it was expressive of virility as well as taste. Like most of the other rooms except the sleeping chambers and the dining-room, it was paneled to the ceiling—Joy confessed that she disliked plaster even when covered with paper. The wood here was a beautifully grained poplar and the general air of lightness and coolness was helped by the high, irregular, celled roof whose beams and ties stretched across from wall to wall. The shiplike bay window which I had seen from the outside was a nest of cushions of all colors of the rainbow—I speak literally—varying from violet, through blue, green, yellow and orange to red and purple again. There was a great table here where I saw a large microscope and case of slides. An upright piano stood in a corner. I noticed also a typewriter and a camera on a tripod. The place had an air of work and study quite different from Edna's clutter and disorder. It showed me in a glance how it had been possible for her to live alone, so far away from civilization.

Here we spent the afternoon discussing her condition and prospects. She asked me much about Edna, for, though she had always been kept informed of Edna's actions by Leah, and had attained by this time a pretty good comprehension of her alternate character, she was much interested in my opinions and conclusions, and I was able to cast new lights upon this second self of hers which gave her a new point of view. I could not yet bring myself to speak of Edna's coquettishness, for all this she had no suspicion. There had been few visitors to Midmeadows since she had lived there, only the doctor and her lawyer, I believe; for she had, of late years, become more and more retiring as Edna's appearances had become more frequent.

Whatever indiscretions Edna had permitted herself with the doctor had been well concealed as they were so much alone. I myself would never have suspected anything, had she not been so enough to come to me to the watch. And all this sort of thing, too, had evidently been only of recent growth—it was coincident with Edna's increasing "strength." I don't think that either Leah or I had, for an instant, any compunction on Edna's account against informing Joy of what might be going on. We were loyal to Joy alone—it seemed unquestionable that she was the rightful sovereign self, and that the other was an interloper—our devotion did not hesitate at any violation of confidence incident to such a revelation. But we wanted to spare Joy's feelings as long as possible. For, under whatever spell, it was still Miss Fielding, whose actions we must criticize, irresponsible as she was, she could not bear to think of herself as appearing in such a light, knowing what the picture must be in our eyes, and her own. Indeed, it takes a more than ordinary amount of philosophy to know that one has shown a lack of taste or delicacy even under the effects of an anesthetic or an intoxicant, without suffering from mortification and shame. Her embarrassment would be quite as poignant as her sensibility was exquisite.

Joy had kept a diagram of her changes, and she got it out from her desk to show me. The first appearance of No. 2 had occurred when she was about fourteen years old; the second a month or so later, and there had been this usual interval until she was about twenty-one. From that time on, the appearance of No. 2 had increased in frequency, until for the last few years it had settled into a fairly regular average of two days in every week. There had been in her early childhood, beginning when she was seven years old, some curious abnormal tendencies that had not been recorded; it seemed, therefore, that her development was progressing, roughly, in seven-year cycles.

If that were so, the present daily alternation of personalities, seemed to predict a gradual overthrow of her normal self, the original No. 1. The more I discussed it with her, however, the surer I was that this sudden access of strength on the part of Edna was chiefly attributable to the doctor's influence. I did not say so in so many words to Joy, for I wanted first to prepare my plan, but there was no doubt, in my mind, that whatever was his object in overthrowing Joy's control, and making Edna paramount, my coming had somewhat interfered with his experiments, and he had consequently increased his energy in a determination to succeed as soon as possible in his attempt at the replacement. How terrible this slow eclipse of her soul must be to Joy, I knew well enough.

It is hardly to be wondered at, therefore, that, thrown into intimate contact with so beautiful and so rare a character, I should bend all my will and powers toward helping her in her misfortune. I had decided already to make any sacrifice and devote all my time to the task. Nor is it to be wondered at, I think, that so devoting myself to her cause, and being so privileged to study her closely, I should by this time, have fallen deeply in love with her. Her very desperation, her hopeless, futile struggle against something outside any ordinary human experience drew me to her with an ever increasing fondness. Her reliance on my aid strengthened the bond day by day, hour by hour. How much the doctor's interest in her had given me the additional fillip of jealousy, I would not care to say.

We came back to the incident of the gold chain more than once. What did that phenomenon mean? It was almost the first, and certainly the strongest and clearest symptom of a common share in Edna's life that Joy had ever had. Was it, then, Joy's dim vision of Edna's experience, or was it more sinister and significant, an evidence of Edna's ability to reject herself into Joy's waking life? Did Edna, perhaps, have a coexistent subconscious life? That it meant something, that it marked some new phase in this last cycle of development, we were both sure.

So we talked and talked that afternoon and through dinner. In the evening, exhausted with speculation, we gave it all up. Joy played her violin for me for an hour or so, and we lost all thought of the problem in our common enjoyment of her music. Then we started a game of chess, which, hard fought, lasted till bedtime. Before we retired, Joy went out to see the dogs, and on returning she brought in Nokomis.

"I think I'll let her sleep in my room tonight, Leah, she's got such a poor, sore head," she remarked.

Leah looked at me as if to ask my help or advice.

"Aren't you afraid that—Edna may object in the morning, if she should be there?" I asked.

Instantly her suspicions were aroused. "Object to Nokomis? Dear old Nokomis, how could she?"

Nokomis whined anxiously, stretched her forelegs and waited.

I did not know what to say. Joy knew, of course, that Edna was not particularly fond of the collier, but she had no idea of the extent of her dislike. There was, I feared, some danger if, after what had happened yesterday, Edna and Nokomis found themselves together in the same room.

Still, I wished to spare Joy, as long as possible, knowledge that would, I was sure, make her extremely sad.

As Leah had tacitly left it for me to decide, I said:

"Leah, can't you call Nokomis out early in the morning, before Miss Fielding awakes—in case—"

"Yes, I think it will be all right," she replied.

If Joy suspected anything definite in this quick exchange of glances she did not inquire. She turned to bid me good-night, and went upstairs, Nokomis with her.

CHAPTER V.

I was aroused in the night by a growling in Miss Fielding's room. Wide awake in an instant, I sat up in bed and listened intently, but I had not had time to get up before I heard a short, angry yell, and then Nokomis' footstep pattering out of the room and going downstairs in hasty jumps. I struck a match and looked at my watch. It was a quarter past two o'clock. I knew well enough then that Edna would take Miss Fielding's place in the morning. It was much as if a ghost had entered the house and lurked in the darkness. For a long time I was too agitated to sleep.

The next day was cool and cloudy. I found a fire burning in the library when I went downstairs, and Leah was there, putting the room to rights. She looked up at me gratefully, as if it were a consolation to her to have someone to depend upon.

Leah had, by this time, begun to treat me quite as if I were her master. I had always tried to meet her upon terms which would prove that I had no prejudice on account of her color, but that very attitude of mine seemed to make her more willing to do me unlooked-for service. I am told that this is not, as a rule, true of negroes, and the southerners, by her sentiment and tradition hold themselves as superior in virtue of their birth, keep the respect of colored folk and receive a willing acceptance of subservience that no northerner, capable of no such race feeling, can achieve.

The Leah's gratitude, for my consideration did express itself in such devotion proves, perhaps, only that she was intrinsically finer—that she was, as I have already expressed it, ahead of her time. There was much pathos in it, nevertheless, for I was quite ready to regard her as a social, as she was, undoubtedly, a moral equal.

"Did you hear Nokomis?" she asked immediately.

"I should say! Didn't it awaken Miss Fielding?"

"Oh, no, she sleeps heavily at these times. But it awakened me—wasn't it horrible! It was Miss Edna coming in! Think of it!"

"How is she this morning?"

"Fretful and irritable—to me, at least. She asked for you, and she has been telephoning to the doctor again. Oh, I wish you might prevent that. What does she do for, Mr. Castle?"

"He is probably making her do it," I replied. "You see, he has attained a sort of power over her. I suspect, just how much, we must try to find out. Have you any idea what she said?"

"No; she sent me out of her room. But I think he'll probably be down to-day. How I dread it! Why does he come here so often?"

"He's coming down, Leah, because he realizes that we're bound to fight him. It will be open war this time, I expect. We don't like each other, and I strongly suspect that by tonight the cards will be shown down."

"He's trying to get rid of me!" she said hopelessly, going on with her dusting.

"Well, he'll have to beat me there, first," I said. "So long as Edna does not have two days running, I think I can keep her here safely. But we must be ready for the worst. Is there any place near here where you could stay, if necessary, for a day or so?"

She reminded me of the old cabin a little way down the road, and thought it might be fitted up well enough. She said she would stay there alone, and could probably manage her meals somehow, through King, who was always ready to help her.

"Have you a revolver?" I asked.

"Miss Joy has one, and I can easily get it."

"It might be well to have it at hand," I suggested. "I'll advise you to ask Uncle Jordon to clean up the cabin for you. And be sure that the collier is fastened up, too, won't you? Where's Nokomis now?"

"Nokomis came downstairs and spent the rest of the night in the kitchen. When King opened the door, she went out. She'll not come back, I think, till Miss Joy's herself again."

American and English women married to great Romans have done much toward refining life in the Eternal City. They discouraged the rough horseplay and the practical joking, so common under the old regime even in the best houses. They have introduced such amenities of life as open fireplaces, bathrooms and improved sanitation, and, in short, they exercised the same softening and humanizing effect upon the Roman nobility of the last half of the nineteenth century that the Greeks had upon the ancient Roman patricians.

FROZEN TO DEATH

ON MATTERHORN

Thrilling Story Told by the Survivor of a Tragedy in the Alps.

Geneva, Sept. 23.—Dr. Robert Helbing, of the Swiss army, has given a vivid account of the terrible experiences which he and two friends, Major Henri Spörri, also of the Swiss army, and Herr Karl Imfeld, an engineer, underwent near the summit of the Matterhorn last week.

"We started from Zermatt with the object of passing the first night at a hut on the Lac Noir," said Dr. Helbing. "Darkness overtook us two hours from the hut, however, and we spent the night on the Col du Lion.

"We continued the ascent at day-break, but as we climbed the weather grew steadily worse. Nevertheless, after a consultation, we decided to push on. Major Spörri was especially anxious to stand on the summit of the Matterhorn. For the first and last time," he said.

"At 2 p.m. we reached the dangerous portion of the journey, where ropes are attached to rocks overhanging deep precipices. Then the storm broke.

"It is impossible to describe the fury of an Alpine storm in the higher altitudes. The hail and snow forced us to seek shelter under a ledge of rock, watch was, however, exposed to the terrific wind. There was no other shelter near.

"There we crouched all night long, while the storm raged with increasing fury. We were being gradually buried by the drifting snow and frozen by the icy wind.

"Thunder and lightning added to the horror of our situation toward morning, and although we were not actually struck by lightning, we received many electric shocks. One was so violent that Major Spörri lost consciousness.

"About 11 a.m., realizing that if we remained longer under the ledge we would be frozen to death, I persuaded my companions to risk the descent.

"Major Spörri was in a state of exhaustion bordering on collapse, and after taking a few feeble steps he fell face downward in the snow.

"Herr Imfeld and I worked for several hours trying to revive him with brandy and massage, but he died without regaining consciousness.

"Both Herr Imfeld and myself were so weakened that we could only walk very slowly. We hoped that we might meet a rescuing party, but we did not see a living creature, and so we plodded on until nightfall.

"The snow was again falling thickly, but we did not seem to mind it. We continued walking as in a dream.

"Finally we threw ourselves under a ledge on the Epaule, utterly worn out and disheartened, and hardly caring whether we lived or died. I worked hard throughout the night trying to keep Imfeld from freezing to death. His feet and hands were gradually freezing, and he begged me to let him die in peace.

"At the first streak of dawn we again started the descent, which, under ordinary circumstances, should be accomplished in a few hours. But poor Imfeld, whose legs had been badly frozen, could scarcely drag one foot after the other.

"He finally insisted that I should go on ahead to the little hotel at the Lac

DEPOSE HARAHAN, IS FISH DEMAND

Bitterness of the War Between Latter and E. H. Harriman Revealed.

New York, Sept. 22.—The bitterness of the personal war between Stuyvesant Fish and E. H. Harriman was revealed today. Mr. Fish seeks nothing less than the expulsion of J. T. Harahan from the presidency of the Illinois Central.

Mr. Fish's famous resolutions which were read at the directors' meeting on Aug. 23, which resulted in Mr. Fish knocking Mr. Harahan down, were made public today.

In the resolutions Mr. Fish practically accuses President Harahan of juggling the books of the Illinois Central in order to show an increase of business that did not actually exist.

Mr. Fish further accused Mr. Harahan of using the private wire of the Union Pacific to carry on a telegraphic correspondence with E. H. Harriman concerning Illinois Central affairs.

He further accuses Harahan of falsifying the records and misleading the directors of the Illinois Central in regard to the business of the company.

So far in the struggle Mr. Harahan, supported by E. H. Harriman, has been able to sit tight and defy Mr. Fish's efforts to oust him.

President Harahan replied to the charges at today's meeting of the directors, but his reply is withheld from the public.

But the charges made by Mr. Fish are so serious that even the friends of Harahan have been compelled to take official notice of them. They are under investigation of a committee of the directors, appointed on July 24. That committee, composed of Directors Cornelius Vanderbilt, J. W. Auchencloss, and Walter Lüttgen—all Harriman supporters—has not yet reported.

Although the quarrel between Messrs. Fish and Harriman dates back to a year ago, when Harriman deposed Fish from the presidency of the Illinois Central and placed J. T. Harahan at the head of the company, the present struggle on the part of Fish to have Harahan dismissed under charges dates back only to July 24 last.

Goldman Woman May Not Be Allowed To Land in New York.

New York, Sept. 23.—It is declared today on seemingly good authority that the United States immigration bureau has decided to bar Emma Goldman, the high priestess of Anarchy, from the United States. She is returning triumphantly from the international congress of Anarchists in Amsterdam, and it is held that under any one of several counts she may be prevented from landing, for she is avowedly an Anarchist, a person of no visible means of support, an unnaturalized foreigner and probably would fall into the category of "undesirable citizen."

MISS MARRIES FORMER PLAYMATE

Now Brother Slain and Wedded Minister Who Preached Funeral Sermon.

New York, Sept. 22.—Miss Mary Frances Nichols, who saw her brother, Marcus Nichols, shot to death by burglars in his home in Trumbull, Conn., ten years ago, and who is the sole heiress of his estate of more than $1,000,000, has married the Rev. Dr. Nathan T. Merwin, a retired Congregational clergyman of Trumbull, her childhood's playmate.

The marriage took place at Hinsdale, N. H., the couple journeying there with friends, so that Rev. William S. White, formerly assistant to Dr. Merwin in Trumbull, and a lifelong friend of the bride and bridegroom, could perform the ceremony. The fact that Miss Nichols, now Mrs. Merwin, had lived single for 16 years, and that in the long ago Dr. Merwin as a sturdy boy had carried her books to school, lent a peculiar interest to this romance. The clergyman is only two years older than his bride, and exactly the age of the slain Marcus Nichols, whose funeral sermon he preached.

Marcus Nichols was reckoned the wealthiest farmer in Connecticut. Not only was almost the entire village of Trumbull included in the 5,000 acres that he was, but he possessed stocks, bonds and other securities that mounted his wealth to the million mark.

He lived alone with his sister in the great rambling homestead in Trumbull. He had just retired for the night of the murder when the house was entered through a window by Charles Bolney, who lived near Trumbull, and his brother-in-law, named Weeks. They shot the old man in his bedroom and wounded his sister twice when she came hurrying from her room. They told her if she screamed they would kill her. She was allowed to bandage her wounds, which were not serious.

At their command she descended to the cellar and brought up apples and cider, with which the thieves, who had taken $20,000 from the farmer's strong box, regaled themselves. She was also obliged to bring out cold chicken and other edibles, which they devoured, washing down the food with cider.

They left at midnight, after binding the wounded woman. She was found by a neighbor the next day, almost dead from exhaustion.

Ten months later both burglars were captured when Bolney ventured back to see his wife, and Weeks came with him. Bolney was convicted and hanged, and Weeks is still in prison serving a life sentence.

For two years after the crime the Nichols homestead was closed, and Miss Nichols lived in New York. Then she returned to take her place in Trumbull as the wealthiest woman there, a wealth she dispensed with a lavish hand to the worthy poor of the county. She was a member of the Congregational Church, and a liberal supporter. When Dr. Merwin's wife, also a Trumbull native, died, she was brought to that village for burial, and Dr. Merwin himself came back to close his days there.

There was the childhood's romance between him and Miss Nichols revived. But the prominence of both shut the tongue of gossip, and no one in Trumbull had the least suspicion of the truth until the announcement of the wedding.

Dr. Merwin and his bride will return to Trumbull to live in the old homestead. Dr. Merwin has two grown daughters.

JAPAN AND THE POPE

Serious Differences Said to Have Arisen Over Tokio University.

London, Sept. 22.—The Globe correspondent at Rome says that difficulties of a somewhat serious nature have arisen between the Japanese Government and the Vatican over the projected establishment of a Roman Catholic university at Tokio.

The correspondent says it is understood that Archbishop O'Connell, of Boston, rector of the American College at Rome, will be intrusted with a special mission to Tokio in the hope of overcoming the difficulties.

The establishment of a Roman Catholic university in Japan was authorized in a communication which the Pope sent to the chief of the Jesuits on July 15 last, intrusting the Anglo-American Jesuits with the work. It was remarked that this would tend to counteract French influence in Japan.

Archbishop O'Connell, at that time Bishop of Portland, Me., visited Japan in 1906, when he was the bearer of a letter from the Pope to the Mikado. He was received with great distinction at the Japanese court, and received high honors during his stay in Japan. The Emperor conferred upon him on the eve of his departure the Great Cross of the Order of the Holy Treasure.

It was understood that the letter he brought from the Pope suggested that a papal nuncio be sent to Tokio, and a Japanese representative to the Vatican.

A SMALL PILL, BUT POWERFUL.—Says that judge of the powers of a pill by the size, would be a fair estimate of the power of the little Pill to be taken. It is a little wonder among pills. What it lacks in size it makes up in potency. The remedy which is carried on its back in these small doses, because they are so powerful that only small doses are required. The full strength of the medicine is secured in this form, and do their work thoroughly.

Dr. E. D. Evans, the mental expert of the Thaw trial, was criticizing at a physicians' dinner the browbeating method of cross-examination that the courts permit. "But my criticism," Dr. Evans ended, "has been feeble, and what good is feeble criticism? The only way to score must be epigrammatic, unexpected, humorous. Thus, in my native Bridgetown, a candidate for congress spoke at a mass meeting and afterward a politician asked an old farmer, what he thought of the speech. 'Wal, I dunno,' said the old man, soberly, 'but I think six hours' rain would 'a' done us a lot more good.'"

FINANCIAL STRAIN IS LESS SEVERE

A More Cheerful Feeling Is Prevailing Business Circles in New York.

New York, Sept. 22.—A more cheerful feeling over the financial outlook has emerged through the clouds which remained over the prospect, as revealed in the movement of the stock market.

These clouds were gathered for the most part over the metal industries, especially copper, and even there the movement in the securities of that group has indicated a conviction that the unfavorable conditions had been adequately discounted and that a better situation might be forthcoming.

The price of copper has made further decline and plans for radical curtailment of the output have been officially announced by the great producers. The demand for the metal at the reduced price has not yet been emphatic, but hopes are expressed that the level of stability in the trade is near and that the withheld demand will develop and the market right itself.

Fears that a similar experience awaited the iron and steel trade have grown less acute and points of difference in the conditions in the two trades have been recognized, such as the less degree of inflation which has occurred in the iron trade.

A reviving demand for iron is already reported and the leading authority in the trade expresses the opinion that "it is clear that, for the time being, the market has reached its level." The most important factor in the improvement in sentiment which has occurred is the betterment in the money market and its prospects. With the passing of the special syndicate requirements of the New York City bond sale and subscription to the Union Pacific convertible bonds, the money market has shown an easing tendency, which has applied not only to call loans but to the time loan branch.

A feature of the money market is the unusually large offerings of mercantile paper and the continued high rates commanded by high grades.

This is the reflection of the sustained activity in general trade, as reported to the mercantile agencies from various parts of the country. The condition of the banks of the country reflects the same conditions to a large extent, the fact being revealed by the completion of reports of the national banks to the controller as of Aug. 2.

It is subject for surprise that during a period characterized by such drastic liquidation in the securities market there has occurred nevertheless an expansion in loans of the national banks of $47,440,277 over the preceding call on May 20 of this year, while the comparison with Sept. 4 of last year shows a loan increase of $79,600,652.

Turning to the statement of the New York clearing house banks for the same period, however, it is found that loans of those institutions on Aug. 24 were $38,237,500 less than on May 25 and only $24,412,400 more than on Sept. 1, 1906.

Meantime there has been an increase in cash holdings for the shorter period of over $10,000,000 and for the year of $77,000,000, the proportion of legal reserves standing on Aug. 22 at 21.33 per cent, compared with 21.22 per cent on May 20 and 20.70 per cent on Sept. 4 last year.

It is known that there has been a very extensive liquidation of the country's foreign indebtedness in the period under review and it is a question how far the transfer of these obligations to home institutions may figure in this loan showing. Government operations have conducted to the easier condition at present, the treasury statement showing a growth of some $8,000,000 in deposits with national banks since the process began.

The Government's excess of receipts over expenditures for the current month also is some $5,000,000 less than in the corresponding period last year. Foreign money markets have become so far reassured over the situation here that they no longer manifest anxiety over demands from here.

The money market at Berlin is in strained circumstances yet, but discounts are declining in London and a reduction in the Bank of England is considered a probability. Bills are appearing in the foreign exchange market again and future exports of commodities and foodstuffs are going out in a large volume in spite of the high ruling prices for grain. The outlook for cotton exports is not so clear and the better prospects for that crop have had a material effect on the price of cotton.

The sustained high level of the value of imports of merchandise is another modifying factor in the exchange situation, the result being to bring the trade balance in our favor for August down to near the finishing point.

A prime factor in the better feeling of the week was the large demand at the sharp rise in price developed for the newly-issued New York City bonds.

Statistics show that there are now in the United Kingdom 27,940,250 persons carrying life insurance for a total amount of nearly £2,000,000,000. The total amount of premiums paid is £27,000,000.

THEY ARE CAREFULLY PREPARED.—Pills which dispense themselves in the stomach cannot be expected to have much effect upon the intestines, and to overcome constipation the medicine administered must influence the action of those organs. Paine's Vegetable Pills are so made, under the supervision of experts, that the intestines are stimulated to operate on their own, and the medicine passes through the stomach to the bowels.

COUNTRESS ELOPES WITH PEASANT

Now Living With Her Lover in Hut Adjoining Her Father's Estate.

Vienna, Sept. 23.—A romantic story of the elopement of an 18-year-old Hungarian countess with a peasant seven years her senior comes from a village in Transylvania, Hungary.

The girl, who is the Countess Henrietta Kongracz, daughter of Count Edward Kongracz, is now living with her lover, Johann Andrasik, in a hut adjoining her father's estate.

The couple told the representative of a Budapest newspaper that they first met six years ago, when Andrasik rescued the countess from a ditch after a carriage accident.

The couple met frequently, and finally fell in love. Two years ago the countess' family discovered the attachment, and the girl was sent away to school for a time, while Andrasik went into the army.

When he completed his term of military service and returned to the village the clandestine meeting between the lovers was renewed.

At last they decided to elope. Andrasik brought a ladder to the countess' residence one night, and placed it against her bedroom window. She managed to escape without alarming the household, and the couple went to Andrasik's home.

The countess' family tried to force her to return, and even sent gendarmes to Andrasik's cottage, but she refused to leave her lover, and declared that she would marry him when she came of age.

Her father then wrote her a letter formally disowning her.

MR. WU TING FANG IS COMING BACK

Reappointment of Ex-Chinese Minister to Washington—A Popular Man.

London, Sept. 23.—"Wu Ting Fang has been reappointed Chinese minister to Washington," cables a Pekin correspondent, "and Liang Tsen, the minister-elect, remains in China as assistant secretary in the foreign ministry."

Washington, Sept. 23.—The news that Mr. Wu Ting Fang is expected back to Washington will be hailed with delight in most quarters of the capital. Breezy, frank, unconventional in his methods and having some of the strenuous characteristics of the president of the United States, he was a joy forever during the period of his service as the Chinese minister here.

From the standpoint of diplomatic observance, he was sometimes too unconventional to suit officials of this Government, but in the popular estimation he stood high.

Mr. Wu was recalled by his Government in 1902 after considerable service in Washington. It was understood at the time that the Empress Dowager and her advisers were dissatisfied with him and that his withdrawal from the United States was in the nature of a rebuke, although he was given office upon his return to China.

He was succeeded by Sir Chengtung Liang Cheng, who was very popular. Sir Chengtung had been a crack baseball pitcher at Phillips-Andover and had lived long enough in America in his youth to acquire the customs of the occidental.

When he left Washington to return to China much regret was felt throughout official circles here. Liang Tsen, who was appointed to succeed him, has now been transferred to the foreign office at Pekin, according to the advices from that place.

Mr. Wu's return will be regarded as a complete vindication and a restoration to imperial favor. Should his appointment be made soon it will not be long, therefore, before Mr. Wu arrives in this country, for he has never let grass grow under his feet in starting out to do what was expected of him. He is a hustler who could give cards and spades to many active Americans in any game that called for quick action.

"I work all the time," he would say, and then to the persons with whom he was talking: "I think you have it very easy." One of his favorite questions was: "How much money do you get?" If the amount named was high, Mr. Wu was likely to express the opinion in emphatic tone that it was entirely too much for the service performed.

There can be no doubt that Mr. Wu was, and probably is still, a very hard worker. He was here during the period of the Boxer troubles and labored night and day in the interest of his Government with which the United States was virtually, although not formally, at war. At the conclusion of hostilities, news reached Washington that Mr. Wu was to be recalled to Pekin and might be executed on account of dissatisfaction with his course at Washington.

The late John Hay, then secretary of state, made it plain that the United States Government would not tolerate any such disposition of the person of the picturesque Chinese, but would regard him as under American protection if he returned to Pekin. Mr. Wu was not recalled at that time.

GATHERING OF FISHERMEN

Conference of Anglers to be Held in New York, in November.

New York, Sept. 23.—A conference of anglers is to be held in New York City at the National History Museum on November 11. Dr. Henry van Dyke will preside at the meeting, when general discussion will be invited upon topics of mutual interest, particularly concerning conditions unsatisfactory to fishermen which can be best remedied by concerted action.

The vicious use of nets and spears, pollution of streams, inadequate game laws, sportsman-like tackle, etc., will be given attention. Papers will be read by Dr. van Dyke, author of "Little Rivers"; Dr. David S. Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, jun., University, California; Professor Barton W. Evermann, United States Fisheries Bureau; Professor Charles F. Holder, president Santa Catalina Island Tuna Club of California; Mr. Charles Hallock, founder of Forest and Stream.

Anglers in general are invited to attend and should find the proceedings interesting and profitable. Many well-known clubs are supporting the movement.

FORGOTTEN ONES RECALLED

Jas. D. Fisk and Oscar Wild Brought to Mind in Unique Way.

New York, Sept. 23.—On the triangular front of an apartment house and shop on Broadway, near Fortieth street, there are two architectural monuments that somehow bring to mind two men who were prominent figures in the world of their day, the date of which is easily ascertained by the date on the front of this building, which is 1882.

One of these bits of ornamentation is the monogram "J. D. F." which represents the name of the owner of the structure originally, and who is well remembered in Wall street, at least, if not in the theatrical district, as James D. Fisk. The other ornament is a metal sunflower that crowns the peak of the facade and which is a tribute to the influence Oscar Wilde had on the art of decoration in the same period.

There are not so many permanent records of the shady financier as there are of the degenerate poet in this country, for that metal sunflower still rears its imperishable bloom over many a suburban cottage that was erected in the days when Wilde's influence on art was felt in every phase of decoration.

Relics of the days when Booden conducted her campaign in the neighborhood of what is now King's Cross, or, perhaps, of even an earlier day, were turned up recently by some workmen at Crayford, Kent, Eng. The men were digging in sand pits on the Wantsum estate, when they noticed some metal articles. On examination these proved to be nine gold armlets of uniform shape but varying sizes. The articles were taken to a police station, where the police took possession of them on behalf of the crown as treasure trove.

SENATOR GOEBEL'S REAL MURDERER

Story of a Notable Tragedy Revised and Corrected—New Evidence.

Richmond, Indiana, Sept. 23.—Turner Igo, of Farmers, Ky., is charged with the killing of Senator William Goebel, of Kentucky, in an affidavit by Mrs. Lulu Clarke, which was published exclusively by the Richmond Evening Item today. In Mrs. Clarke's affidavit, which was taken at Indianapolis, April 11, 1907, in the law offices of ex-Governor W. S. Taylor, of Kentucky, she says that her maiden name was Lulu Williams, and she was born at Rothwell, Ky., but lived most of her life, and at the time of Goebel's murder, at Mount Sterling. She is a niece of Judge Frank Day, of Frenchburg, Ky., also of James Williams, of the same place. She has a cousin named Gertrude King, who lived at Maysville at the time of Goebel's murder, and was then "keeping company" with John Sanford, of Covington, Ky.

"Upon the day of Goebel's murder the two girls went to Frankfort, Ky. They started to enter the State House by the rear entrance and when on the steps a shot was fired. At the same time they noticed a man standing just inside the door whom they recognized as Sanford. In a minute a second man came running out of the building dressed like a mountaineer, and carrying a rifle. He ran to Sanford and said: 'I got the man.'"

That man was recognized by the affiant as her friend, Turner Igo. Both men ran out of the building to a fence, where Sanford gave a pair of shoes, which he was carrying, to Igo, who exchanged his boots for them. The men then disappeared.

The affiant states that Igo told her at Mount Sterling, Sept. 25, 1906, that he was going to kill Goebel, and that he saw him afterward at Jeffersonville, Ind., and he reminded her that he had fulfilled his promise. She also said that Sanford told Gertrude King, a few days prior to Goebel's murder, that he intended to kill Goebel, saying: "Here is my chance to get revenge. The legislature has met." The item also publishes correspondence between Caleb Powers, and the persons who secured the affidavit, and afterward investigated its allegations for verification, showing that the expenses for the information gained were paid from the Powers defense fund, through John Marshall, of the law firm of Gibson, Marshall & Gibson, of Louisville. The original correspondence of Powers and the copy of the affidavit are in the possession of the item.

Cincinnati, Sept. 23.—The John Sanford mentioned in the Richmond dispatch, is a son of the late Attorney Sanford, who was killed by William Goebel, during a political fight in Covington, Ky., several years ago.

RACING
ATHLETICSCity League Champions Apply
Kalsomine Brush to Ramblers

Although it was practically conceded in local sporting circles that the Ramblers were due for a bumping Saturday in that alleged championship affair, it was hardly expected that the clever McClarys would apply the kalsomine in the cruel fashion they did. The score of 11 to 2 tells the tale far more eloquently than a week's thumping on a typewriter could do, and there remains but a little summing up to finish with.

In the first place the Ramblers did not do themselves or their supporters justice. The boys from the other end safe on a field's choice which didn't work, and Ball hit, filling the sacks once more. O'Rourke and Pook both flew out.

Ramblers' Only Chance.

It was only in the first of the seventh that the East Enders had any semblance of a look-in, and a close decision which left some room for doubt in the minds of the average unprejudiced spectator then hobbled them of a run.

Delaney flew out to Phillips. Shannon hit and stole second. Gillies flew out, and it was distinctly up to Pete Penwarden, who was next up, to do something. Pete biffed to O'Rourke along the third base line, and was safe on a low throw, while Shannon romped over third and started for home. Apparently ball and runner reached the sack at the same time, but Umpire Smith decided against the latter.

The East End boys went off in easy fashion in the last two rounds, while four safe drives, three errors, and three stolen bases netted the Champions of the city an additional quarter of run in the seventh and ninth innings, combined.

In summing up, it seems only meet to say that the East Enders were apparently outclassed at every stage of the game, although such a statement cannot in justice be made objectively. It will be remembered that the McClarys have traveled to St. Thomas on a couple of occasions and been made to look like a lot of school kids, while the Stars, who by the way, were not fast enough for the Champions, turned the trick on the Saints on at least two occasions this season.

WORLD'S RECORDS
GO AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Sept. 21.—Two world's records and two Canadian records were broken at the federation championship meeting at the M. A. A. grounds this afternoon. Rose broke the 16-pound shot putting world's record by three-quarters of an inch, and McGrath shattered the world's figures for throwing the 16-pound hammer with 178 feet 1 inch, which was 8 inches ahead of the record. The Canadian records broken were the pole high vault, in which W. Hapenny, of the M. A. A., made 11 feet 5 1/2 inches, being 5 1/2 inches over the Canadian record of 11 feet, and the three-mile run, which J. J. Daly, of the New York Irish-Americans, did in 15 minutes and 15 seconds, being 18 seconds better than the previous Canadian record. The races were all well contested, the medals going to the New York and Irish-American clubs. The Canadian 120-yard hurdle race was also equalled. There was a very large attendance, and both weather and track conditions were ideal.

BACK IN O. R. F. U.

Tigers and Argonauts Again Placed With the Old Association.

Toronto, Sept. 21.—The Tigers and Argonauts are back in the O. R. F. U. The newly-born Inter-Provincial Union is practically a thing of the past. The affidavits of the five Montreal players proved unsatisfactory to the C. A. A. U., and the latter asked for further affidavits to cover points in question, chief among which was their intentions regarding remaining in good standing.

This move, made to prevent men reinstated from availing themselves of their restoration to grace as a means of playing football, only to drop back into the old order of things at the end of the Rugby season, did not meet with the approval of the easterners. Yesterday they notified the western clubs that they had gone as far as they would, and that they absolutely refused to send on the affidavits demanded. The Argonauts and Tigers had promised the O. R. F. U. to let it know definitely last night, and on the strength of the communication from the Montreal club they decided to return to their first love. No affidavits of any description had been received from Ottawa.

The question of grouping the intermediate and junior teams in the O. R. F. U. was held over for the winter before being able to walk.

The following senior schedule was drawn up after considerable discussion:

Oct. 5.—Hamilton at Victoria, Argonauts at Peterboro.

Oct. 12.—Peterboro at Victorias.

Oct. 19.—Hamilton at Argonauts, Victorias at Peterboro.

Oct. 26.—Peterboro at Hamilton.

Oct. 31.—Victorias at Argonauts, Hamilton at Peterboro.

Nov. 2.—Peterboro at Argonauts, Victorias at Hamilton.

Nov. 9.—Argonauts at Hamilton.

Nov. 16.—Argonauts at Victorias.

Those present were: Vice-President W. J. Slee, in the chair; Secretary J. B. Hay; W. A. Hewitt, Argonauts; W. H. Seymour, Hamilton; P. W. McDonough, Peterboro, and A. Hamilton, Victorias.

NEBRICH WAS EASY

Toronto, Sept. 21.—Alfred Shrubbs had no difficulty in defeating Nebraska, of Buffalo, in their four-mile professional race at the Island Saturday afternoon. 1: A. was Nebraska's first essay in the class. A crowd of old countrymen witnessed the event.

The Englishman won by about a quarter of a mile, in 20:15. His times were: 1 mile, 4:45; 2 miles, 10:10; 3 miles, 15:15.

OFF ON LONG JAUNT

Portland, Me., Sept. 21.—Edward Payson Weston, the old-time pedestrian, announces that he will start Oct. 29 from Portland, Maine, for a walk to Chicago, reckoning that he will accomplish the task in 25 days at actual walking. The route will take him through Boston, Providence, Troy, Utica, Rochester, Buffalo, Toledo and Cleveland.

THERE IS NO DUMP, MERCHANTS ANGRY

Businessmen Want a Place to Throw Things, But Are Foiled.

Draymen and merchants are protesting strongly these days about the dump problem. The board of health has refused to allow them to dump refuse on any of the dumps within the city, and in consequence there is no place for the refuse to be stored or deposited. Chairman Gillies of No. 3 was called to order by a number of them this morning, and he endeavored to find a place for them.

"Merchants in the city have their cellars full of refuse," said a merchant this morning, "and there is no place to put it. London has no garbage system; there is no incinerator; now there are no dumps. What are we going to do. It is a puzzle to me."

A temporary dump was secured on Rectory street, near Trafalgar street.

WILL APPOINT AN INSPECTOR

No. 3 Committee Will Deal With the Building Problem on Wednesday.

No. 3 committee will take up the building inspector by-law on Wednesday evening next and will in all probability finish it. It will be ready by the next council meeting, and it is also expected that the building inspector will be appointed at the next meeting of the council.

There is some speculation as to who the inspector will be, but nothing definite is as yet known. A large number of applicants have been received, and it is anticipated that one from the number will be chosen, although it is said that there is a possibility of a man who has not yet put in an application being named for the position.

BISHOP LEAVES AYLMER

Aylmer, Sept. 23.—When the 6:35 a.m. train pulled out from the C. T. R. depot this morning it carried His Lordship the Bishop of London, bound for Niagara Falls. A STORY OF BISHOP INGRAM

[By a Staff Reporter.]

Aylmer, Sept. 23.—An incident very characteristic of His Lordship Bishop Ingram occurred after the service here yesterday. Perhaps there is no man living more among his people than Bishop Ingram, and perhaps no man who so sincerely loves to be among his own people as he does. After the service, a splendid carriage was detailed to convey Bishop Ingram to the home of Mr. David Marshall, M.P., where he was to be entertained. When it was thought time for the bishop to leave the church he was hunted for high and low, but he could not be found. It was rather puzzling to know where he had gone, and the entertainment committee was visibly worried.

At last he was found a considerable distance up the street, with a couple of nieces, sitting on the railing of the old bridge that spans the creek, talking to a young Englishman and a very old man, like a brother. Little actions such as that during his whole stay in Aylmer have endeared him beyond measure to the people of that district. Sunday afternoon he spent quietly. He took his brother, Mr. Frank W. Ingram, with the latter's wife and family, for a stroll in the woods and fields, returning in the early evening. He attended the Aylmer church at night, and took part in the service.

Bishop Ingram left for Hamilton Falls this morning, where he will spend the day. He goes to Buffalo tonight, and from thence to Oyster Bay where he will visit President Roosevelt. He speaks three times next Sunday in Washington.

Is Not Worried by Murder Charge

Thomas Noah, the young Muncey Indian charged with the murder of Absalom Fox, a fellow Indian, several months ago, is taking life easy in the county jail.

Nothing seems to worry or bother him, and he gives the jail authorities no trouble at all. Each morning he sweeps his own cell, and makes himself generally useful about the place. Noah is one of the best educated Indians that the county authorities have ever had dealings with, and his handwriting is better than the average businessman's.

On rare occasions he has visitors, and up to date all of these calls have been from friendly-looking Indians. Looking at the prisoner in the jail yard one would never pick him for a man who would commit the brutal crime with which he is charged.

When spoken to he converses freely and with a fluency not always attained by people in higher walks of life.

Flannagan, the head of the Irish-Canadian Athletic Association, under whose auspices the meet will be held.

Mr. Harry Tozer Vindicated.

It is desirable to correct an error which appeared in a recent issue concerning the complaint laid by George Abell, jun., against the well-known contractor, Mr. Harry Tozer, charging the latter with assaulting the former's daughter. In the paragraph in question it was stated that Mr. Tozer was placed behind the bars and that the alleged assault occurred in Mr. Abell's orchard. Both these statements were entirely untrue. The fact is that Mr. Tozer was not behind the bars, but simply appeared before Squire Chittick, who readily accepted Mr. Tozer's bail for his appearance, and the Abell complaint was that the alleged assault occurred on Mr. Tozer's own premises. The foundationless nature of the charge was shown from the fact that neither Abell nor anyone on his behalf appeared before the magistrate to substantiate the charge at the trial, and Mr. Tozer was honorably acquitted as before mentioned. It is almost needless to add that those who have the charge was shown from the fact that neither Abell nor anyone on his behalf appeared before the magistrate to substantiate the charge at the trial, and Mr. Tozer was honorably acquitted as before mentioned. It is almost needless to add that those who have the charge was shown from the fact that neither Abell nor anyone on his behalf appeared before the magistrate to substantiate the charge at the trial, and Mr. Tozer was honorably acquitted as before mentioned. CHULALONGKORN MAKING MERRY

All Homburg Invited to Honor the King of Siam's Natal Day.

Homburg, Germany, Sept. 21.—King Chulalongkorn, of Siam, today invited all Homburg to join him in celebrating the 54th anniversary of his birthday. Champagne and red and white wines of other descriptions were served at the Kurhaus (Carino) without limit, it being arranged by the chief minister of the visiting king that each person who paid a trifling fee should become temporarily a member of the kurhaus, and be entitled to three bottles of wine, one of champagne, and white and red wine, while in the grounds of the kurhaus, three pavilions were erected where free beer was distributed to all comers. The king decreed that this celebration should continue at his expense for three days.

He also distributing large sums of money to the poor, through the local benevolent societies, and the city authorities, and tonight he gave a banquet to 600 persons. Among the invited guests, who came from all parts of Germany, are merchants and others from whom the king has bought jewels, works of art, furniture and so on.

The people of Homburg are joining in the spirit of the king's hospitality. His majesty's portrait, in every shop window, the houses are decorated with the Siamese flag (a white elephant on a red ground), and an immense quantity of fireworks were burned tonight at the expense of the municipality of Homburg, whose citizens illuminated their residences in honor of the occasion.

The daily outlay of King Chulalongkorn in normal times, while traveling, is about $3,000 for the hotel bill of himself and his suite. It is presumed that the celebration of his birthday anniversary will cost $250,000, as the managers of the kurhaus have been hastily gathering in wine by the carload from neighboring cities.

It is estimated that the King of Siam has already spent $1,500,000 in Germany alone.

KING ALFONSO'S OUTING

His Majesty Will Visit Emperor Joseph and King Edward.

San Sebastian, Spain, Sept. 23.—King Alfonso, accompanied by his staff has left here for Galicia, where his majesty will attend the Spanish army maneuvers. Queen Victoria in the meantime remains at La Granja Palace.

Later the Spanish sovereigns will visit Emperor Francis Joseph and King Edward, stopping for a week in Paris, incognito, while on their way from Vienna to England.

PERILS OF MIMIC WARFARE

Frequent Prostrations While on the Line of March.

Vienna, Sept. 23.—Much excitement has been caused in Lower Austria by reports that during the present army maneuvers a large number of men have been prostrated, and that numerous cases have ended fatally.

During a forced march in the mountains in great heat at the end of last week, in Carinthia, two regiments of the line, one militia regiment and a rifle battalion, have several hundred men on the sick list. They were mostly reservists. Seven are said to have died of heart disease. In a march over Radberg a Bosnian soldier, who has not yet been discovered, fired a live cartridge, killing a lieutenant on the spot.

From Wiener Neustadt three cases of death are reported, and 200 men are sick. It is feared that the men who report themselves sick are accused of malingering and threatened with punishment. The officers in some cases refused to listen to the recommendations of the doctors and allow a rest.

Although it is officially stated that nothing is known of deaths among the men, there is every reason to believe that the main facts are correct. The official statement has by no means calmed the prevalent excitement.

WIRE CLAMPS IN FLESH

Breeder Sticks Pins in Fowl to Gain a Show Prize.

Berlin, Sept. 23.—At Sonneberg today a well-known poultry dealer named Morgenroth was sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment for having inflicted terrible suffering on a number of fowls exhibited by him at the recent great German poultry show held in this town.

Morgenroth hoped to secure firsts in certain of the highest classes with his birds, but the feathers of a number of cocks were not in accordance with the regulations governing the exhibits in those classes. He accordingly plucked the birds, and having procured a sufficient quantity of the correct feathers, fastened them skilfully to the flesh of the fowls with pins.

In order to keep the tail feathers of other cocks in an upright position Morgenroth attached to them wire clamps, driven into the flesh of the birds.

His exhibits made a striking show, and the judging committee was on the point of awarding him the coveted prizes when the frauds were discovered.

So indignant were the judges that they gave Morgenroth a severe thrashing before handing him over to the police.

MAY STAVE OFF IMPENDING STRIKE

Address of British Railroad Men's Movement Moderate in Its Tone.

London, Sept. 23.—The indications yesterday rather favored the idea that a strike of the railway employees will be averted.

Mr. Est. M. P., the leader of the strike movement, addressing a large body of railway men at Cardiff yesterday, adopted a very moderate tone. He explained that even if a majority of the working men favored a strike, the men would not be called out immediately, but renewed efforts would be made to induce the railway directors to reconsider their decision not to grant the demands of the men. He re-asserted, he said, that a strike would be a terrible calamity, and declared that he intended to exhaust every means to arrive at a peaceful solution of the trouble.

Large meetings of railway men were held throughout the country yesterday to discuss the situation.

PEASANTS ATTACK TOLSTOI'S HOME

Famous Author's Life in Peril From Object of His Benefactions.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—The jubilee of Count Tolstoy's literary activity was marked by an attack on his residence at Yasnaya, Poliana, near Moscow, made by peasants of the neighborhood, according to reports received here from Moscow. Several peasants on Sept. 17, it is stated, advanced to within 100 yards of the count's house, and opened fire on it with flint lock guns and pistols, but were driven off by the gardeners.

Although his family was much excited by the incident, Count Tolstoy refused to summon the police, saying he had no need of defense against the peasants, to whom he had devoted a whole life of labor and love. The next night, however, the same party of peasants again approached the Tolstoy homestead, and fired at the windows, breaking them and shattering the mirrors in the rooms. This created a great panic, and although the gardeners and others defended against the peasants, who sought refuge in flight, not one of the attacking party was captured. Tolstoy thereupon consented to call on the rural police for assistance, and latter searched the houses of the peasants in the neighborhood, and arrested three of them on suspicion of being concerned in the attacks made on the count's residence.

Tolstoy, it is said, remained calm throughout the affair, and simply explained that the action of the peasants was due to a mere spirit of mischief.

LABOR TROUBLES IN JAPAN

The Restrictions Against Employing Foreigners Disregarded.

London, Sept. 23.—A dispatch to the London Times from Peking says that the labor troubles at Vancouver are being followed with much interest in the Far East, where an analogous problem is now arisen between China and Japan.

A Japanese Imperial order, number 352, of July 27, 1906, rigorously forbids all foreigners, whether European, American or Chinese, from working in Japan as laborers in agriculture, fishing, mining, manufacturing and other classes of industry outside the narrow residential settlements defined in former treaties, except by special permission of the local authorities. The dispatch adds:

"Such permission we are informed, is never given. Article V. of the ordinance provides that any Chinese working without the necessary permission are liable to expulsion from Japan. Considerable numbers of Chinese laborers were recently introduced to work on the government railways, and Japan by certain Japanese contractors who had not previously obtained this necessary permission."

BIG FOREST CEMETERY

Munich Plans Burial Ground of Idyllic Beauty.

Munich, Sept. 23.—Munich is to have one of the most beautiful graveyards in Germany. The city has purchased about 300 acres of a romantic forest land about five miles from its borders, which will be used as a cemetery. It will be the first forest graveyard in Germany, and is to be so used that its idyllic character will be preserved.

Orderly disorder will be the rule in marking out the graves, and care will be taken that even in the matter of monuments and gravestones nothing will appear to disturb the rustic beauty of the landscape. White marble, for example, is not to be used. Preference is to be given to wooden crosses or to rough blocks of stone. There are to be plenty of flowers, but not in ordered beds and rows as in most graveyards. They are to be planted in such wise as to imitate the wildness and freedom of nature. The new cemetery is rich in springs, which are to be led in meandering streams through the woods or turned into cunningly devised fountains.

The bride looked exceptionally well in a suit of cream broadcloth, trimmed with silk braid, with hat to match. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Mary Caroline Traher, who looked charming in white silk, with trimmings of silk applique and lace, and white lace hat. The groom was supported by Mr. Walter Philip Rawley, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the rector of the cathedral, Rev. J. T. Aylward, in the presence of only the immediate relatives. The many and costly presents testified to the high esteem in which the young couple are held.

Miss Rose Coghan, one of our great local favorites—and perhaps America's greatest emotional actress, is the extraordinary feature of this week's bill at Bennett's. Miss Coghan is assisted by W. H. Sains, widely-known leading man, in a dramatic sketch of intense interest, "The Higher Law." Other features of this bill are Barry and Halvers, who will be remembered as the features of the original productions of "Babes in Toyland," "Wonderland," "The Wizard of Oz," etc. They offer a comedy singing and dancing act, which is clever in the extreme. Griger and Walters, who were such favorites at Bennett's last season, are returning, and will present their latest musical novelty, "In the Streets of Italy." The Chadwick trio have a great laugh-maker in "For Sale—Wiggins' Farm," which affords an excellent opportunity to Miss Ida Chadwick to introduce her remarkable buck dancing. Professor Foster and his dog "Wise Mike" have a unique specialty, offering "a little of everything that is good in vaudeville." The De Vole trio of expert Roman ring artists, Benier and Stella have a pleasing singing and dancing act, while Alexander and Scott have a real novelty in the black-face line. The Bennettograph has a new subject, which, as usual, will prove a strong attraction, to close the show.

Manager Elms has put in a full orchestra at the usual bargain matinee, which is a great improvement.

"A Desperate Chance" will be acted at the Grand tonight. The play contains incidents in the lives of those two notorious criminals, Ed and Jack Biddle, of Pittsburgh, Pa. The author has not exaggerated any of his scenes. The Majestic Amusement Company, who are presenting the attraction, have spared no expense in mounting the play. It is a melodrama that is known as one of the best ever written.

Undoubtedly the best popular-price farce comedy since the days of the old Hoyt plays, is "The Gay Mr. Dooley," which will be seen at the Grand next Saturday, matinee and evening. Brief and bright comedy, permeated with startling novelties, quaint originality and catchy music and presented by a cast of the highest-salaried artists possible to secure.

Otis Skinner has a new play, the first American performance of which will be given in Baltimore as soon as rehearsals, now in progress, will permit. It is named "The Honor of the Family," and is of French nativity.

Julia Marlowe will pass the month of October in Italy. She is expected to reach America about the middle of November.

The Detroit Free Press says "Margaret Daly Vokes, who, happily, did not die a few weeks ago in St. Peter's Cathedral for incurable consumptives, is performing in the vaudeville, with the help of honest and comical Harry Vokes."

When Miss Vokes was at Bennett's a couple of weeks ago, she was so ill one afternoon that she was compelled to remain in her dressing-room for two hours after her act was finished. She is very ill, and only her wonderful energy keeps her up. She is a sister of the famous Dan Daly, who was seen here last in "The New Clown," and who died a year or so ago of consumption.

"Jessie Left the Village" proved to be a melodrama of the Lincoln J. Carter type, and it delighted two-faced audience at the Grand Saturday. The mechanical effects in the third act of a ship at sea being shown. Previous to the explosion the boiler and engine room is shown, with the engines running. The cast was a very fair one. Geo. McKay as Jim Silverthorn, the hero, being an actor of much ability.

Bishop Williams Preached in The New All Saints' Church

Convincing Sermon Preached by His Lordship—Services in Other Churches.

At the new All Saints' Church, on the Hamilton road, yesterday morning His Lordship Bishop Williams preached a stirring sermon on character building, taking his text from Corinthians xi, 13, and Ephesians xi, 20-22.

"Character is necessary to all success in life," said his lordship, "and the surest foundation on which to build a character that will last and stand against everything, is Jesus Christ. The modern tendency is to make riches a basis and to judge a person from that standpoint, but such a foundation cannot stand the test of time."

"A good many modern persons wish to share in the rewards of church work without doing any of the labor necessary to build up the church. People of this kind will receive no reward for Jesus gave us a foundation to build upon and left us materials to raise a structure upon that foundation. Each church is a section of the great temple that the Lord is building, and each member is a brick or stone in that temple. One stone or brick may crumble and this causes the wall to weaken, but it is the duty of all to stand firm and see that no weakness in the wall was due to them."

Following the sermon Miss E. McBride sang a beautiful solo, after which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered.

"A Spiritual Wedding" was the subject of an eloquent sermon in Talbot Street Baptist Church last evening by Rev. W. A. Cameron, B. A., who took his text from Hosea xi, 19. The speaker drew a striking picture from his brother's farm, and enjoyed the sunshine very much. The little church faces east and over the pulpit was a window and all during the bishop's sermon floods of sunlight fell upon him. The elements all conspired to make the occasion memorable.

The seating capacity of the church is about 250, but on this day nearly four hundred were crowded into the sanctuary, and many more were forced to forego the pleasure of hearing the bishop, although many came hoping against hope that there would be given to them an opportunity of hearing his sermon. The church was filled to the top all the day, and in early morning the citizens were astir. The doors were open at 10:30, but at 10 o'clock there were enough people on hand to twice fill the church. Admission was by ticket and it was not long until the church was crowded to its utmost capacity. Many stood during the service, which was rather long.

Very Rev. Dean Davis, of London, took the service, and he was assisted by Archdeacon A. C. Hill, of St. Thomas; Rev. T. Merton Shore, of Warwick; Rev. W. T. G. Wright, of Tillsonburg, and Rev. A. B. Farney, rector of Aylmer. Rev. Canon Oddy, of Toronto, was present, and also took part in the service. He preached in the evening to a crowded congregation.

Bishop Ingram took for his text part of the 21st verse of Matthew vi, "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." "I want, dear friends, this morning," said his lordship, "to speak some personal words to you, heart to heart and soul to soul. During my visit to Canada I have spoken in large halls or churches in cities; and on many occasions on movements at commemorative services on movements and problems, and on my own work; but I want to talk to you as I do to my own people in London, on the mission of the Spirit in his call to service. This is just a heart-to-heart and soul-to-soul talk. And in looking back this morning, I thought of the words of the Master: 'Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.'"

"The subject is an old one, and the meaning is plain to everyone. It is a fact that where our treasure is, there will our heart be. That which he values most in life, that will his heart be centered upon. With the Christian, the faith of Jesus Christ is his treasure, and that is what he values most. Jesus Christ should be the test of our devotion, the inspiration of our love, the incentive to our work, and the spur to our generosity."

The first point dealt with by his lordship was "The test of our devotion." "Nothing saddens me more," declared the preacher, "than to see so many people who really are Christians, who really love Jesus Christ, but yet they have no joy, no 'spring,' no enthusiasm, no brightness in their lives. And I have often wondered why I have tried to find the reason of it." There are several reasons for it, said his lordship. Some are worried because they cannot tell the exact date when they became Christians. He found no warrant in Scripture for saying that there was a definite time in every man's life when he knew that he had been converted. It was true that many men were like Saul, who became Paul, and some with a sudden change. The time when boys and girls pass from being unconscious Christians to conscious Christians is not at all definite. The question was not, "When did the sun rise?" but "Is it morning today?" The day dawned gradually, as it did this morning over the lake, and it is day now. Others apply the test of feeling. They do not feel right, and worry about the amount of emotionalism. There is not every man a supreme consciousness of the nearness of God. Even Jesus said, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" The dark days are tests of man's devotion. The trees grow more in the dark days of November than in the sunny days of the springtime.

of the happiness which true love brings to those who have it, and compared the Lord, a lover who is ever ready to receive everyone and who loves them with a love greater than any earthly love.

Special anniversary services were held at Askin Street Methodist Church yesterday, and were well attended. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. In the morning Rev. Morley Madden, of Victoria College, preached upon "Our Life Work," drawing a comparison between a useful life and one that was a failure, taking as his example Paul and Judas.

In the afternoon a Sunday school rally took place, and addresses were given by Rev. E. E. Mallott and Rev. Morley Madden.

The musical service was in charge of the new organist, Mr. Quantz, and was beautifully rendered.

At Colborne Street Methodist Church, Rev. F. E. Mallott preached to a large congregation upon "The Threefold Endowment for Life," which he said, were power, love and self-control. These three were necessary to make a life as kindly and good as it should be.

Rev. W. L. Routledge, at the First Methodist Church, spoke upon the conditions of modern public life. He compared the results and showed the effects of having a different moral code for public life than was used in our every day life.

Harvest home services were celebrated at St. James' Church, South London yesterday. In the morning the place of Very Rev. Dean Davis was taken by Mr. A. L. Charles, while Rev. G. B. Sage occupied the pulpit in the evening. The church was beautifully decorated with grain, fruit and flowers, and the choir rendered appropriate music.

In the testing of man's devotion there were five points of view:

1. Are you trusting anyone else than Jesus Christ for forgiveness of sins. There must be absolute dependence on Jesus Christ. If you do not come to him there is no hope for forgiveness.

"I cannot and do not hope to understand the atonement," said the bishop. "Jesus himself said to his disciples, 'I have many things to say to you, but you cannot understand them now.' The test is perfect obedience. We are saved by the fact of the atonement, not by any theory of it."

"Is he your hope? A man cannot reach the age of 50 years and not be impressed by the fact that this is a world of dying men. There is absolutely no certainty unless Jesus came down from heaven. What a vain world this would be if after this life there was no hereafter."

Is Jesus your ideal? He was convinced that the people of Canada, whether they acknowledged it or not, were striving, perhaps succeeding very imperfectly, yet they were striving to be like Jesus Christ.

"I was struck with what a religious country this is," his lordship continued. "You all go to the church of your early training with a singular devotion. I know that you are aiming at being like Jesus Christ."

All men now were paying tribute to the wonderful life of Jesus Christ, even men outside the church—Story, Leckie, John Stuart Mill and such men. The New Testament created a new idea, as Archbishop Temple declares, "His life not only satisfies the conscience, but educates it."

A very enjoyable time was spent on Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Biggar, 596 Pall Mall street, city, when her daughter, Miss Lizzie, gave a party to about 25 or more of her friends. Miss Biggar proved herself a charming hostess, and entertained her friends to the best possible advantage, having spared no time or energy or left undone anything to enhance the pleasure of her visitors.

The evening was spent in games, music and dancing, and there was also a supply of excellent gramophone music. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Johnston and daughter, Miss Eve, and Mr. Ernest Hamilton, all of Springbank; Miss McKenna, Mr. F. Hees, Mr. and Mrs. John Biggar, of London; Mr. Frank Benenati, also of London, who sang some well rendered songs. Mr. Hamilton, violinist, furnished the music in his usual good style. About midnight all sat down to a sumptuous spread, to which all did ample justice. The gathering broke up at an early hour in the morning, all thanking Miss Biggar very heartily for the kind reception they had received.

A very enjoyable time was spent on Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Biggar, 596 Pall Mall street, city, when her daughter, Miss Lizzie, gave a party to about 25 or more of her friends. Miss Biggar proved herself a charming hostess, and entertained her friends to the best possible advantage, having spared no time or energy or left undone anything to enhance the pleasure of her visitors.

The evening was spent in games, music and dancing, and there was also a supply of excellent gramophone music. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Johnston and daughter, Miss Eve, and Mr. Ernest Hamilton, all of Springbank; Miss McKenna, Mr. F. Hees, Mr. and Mrs. John Biggar, of London; Mr. Frank Benenati, also of London, who sang some well rendered songs. Mr. Hamilton, violinist, furnished the music in his usual good style. About midnight all sat down to a sumptuous spread, to which all did ample justice. The gathering broke up at an early hour in the morning, all thanking Miss Biggar very heartily for the kind reception they had received.
