HORRIBLE CRIME.

Young Woman in Rochester Murdered and Robbed.

Her Body Found in a Vacant lot—No Clue to the Perpetrator.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 22.—A brutal murder was discovered at noon yesterday. Miss Theresa Keating, a highly respected young woman who resided with her two sisters at No. 171 University avenue, was the victim. The body was found lying in a vacant lot off Davis street in a lonely spot alongside the New York Central Railroad tracks, about a hundred feet from North Union street. The young lady had been robbed of about $30, which she carried with her, after being choked to death. She had also been outraged in a most horrible manner. Last evening Miss Keating left her home after supper to go to Davis street in answer to an advertisement to secure the services of a woman to do house work. Nothing had been heard of her by her sisters at a late hour, and as she did not return they notified the police at 1.30 o'clock in the morning. A search for Miss Keating was started, but it was not till nearly noon that the body was found. The police can find no clue to the murderer. Diligent search and inquiry in the neighborhood of the murder brings forth no evidence to show that Miss Keating was seen near the place where her dead body was found.

BOERS SURPRISE BUFFS.

THE BRITISH SUFFER ANOTHER MINOR DISASTER—THE CZAR STILL IMPROVING—ENVOYS IN CHINA CANNOT AGREE.

London, Nov. 22.—An outpost of the "Buffs" south-west of Batavia, was surprised on November 16. Six of the "Buffs" were killed and five were wounded. An officer and thirty men were made prisoners. The post has since been recaptured.

Lord Roberts cables the War Office that the Boers attacked a British outpost at Thaba Nchu, in the rich grain district east of Bloemfontein, in the Orange River Colony, on Nov. 16, and killed a British officer and three men. They allowed a prisoner to return to the British garrison with a request for an ambulance.

Lord Roberts states that the Boers are very active in the southern part of the Orange River Colony, and have repeatedly broken the railway and telegraph lines near Edenburg. He says the occupation of Klerksdorp by Gen. Barton is important, as it greatly hampers the burghers in their operations. The commander-in-chief also reports that the Boers have ambushed a wagon load of supplies and thirteen men at Utrecht, Natal. They afterwards released the men, four of whom were slightly wounded.

ANOTHER HIT.

Envoys Cannot Agree on the Terms to Offer China.

London, Nov. 22.—A Pekin despatch of the 19th says:—The meeting of the foreign envoys to-day unexpectedly developed a point of difference which brought the negotiations to a temporary standstill. The matter will be referred to the home governments. The conference adjourned without fixing a date for reassembling. It is said that the difference is such that will cause considerable delay. Li-Hung Chang is known to have unofficially approached certain ministers with a view of ascertaining the likelihood of the powers consenting to reduce the punishment of Chinese officials to degradation by banishment, but it is understood that he received no encouragement. Reports from Chinese sources say that a German and Italian column is burning villages to the northward.

SIPIDO'S EXTRADITION

Was Discussed by Socialists in the Belgian Chamber of Deputies.

Brussels, Nov. 21.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, the Socialists made an attack on the government in connection with the recent extradition from France of Sipido, the youth who attempted to assassinate the Prince of Wales in this city some months ago. M. Vandervelde, the Socialist leader in the House, declared that Sipido's extradition was illegal, and that it had been secured by the intervention of King Leopold, who was prompted thereto by a desire to propitiate Great Britain. M. Vanderveve, Minister of Justice, defended the government's action in the case, declared that Sipido had been surrendered to the Belgian authorities by France in virtue of the Franco-German convention of 1888, which provided that each nation should surrender to the other refugee minors who had acted without discretion.

TRIED TO SUICIDE.

Jasper Winters Attempts His Own Life

While Temporarily Insane—Slashes His Throat With a Pen-knife.

Jasper Winters, a fuller at the woolen mills, attempted to commit suicide last night by cutting his throat with a dull pen-knife. One wound extended from ear to ear and exposed both the jugular vein and windpipe without piercing either, and the other penetrated the jaw. Winters had been in ill-health for some time and has been under the doctor's care. Yesterday forenoon, Foreman Thomas Smith noticed Winters acting peculiarly, but had no idea that he was out of his head until towards noon when the unfortunate man came over to Mr. Smith and said: "Well, I suppose I will have to bear the brunt of the attack. The crowd are waiting for me."

"Where is the crowd?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Over there in the corner by the door," was Winters' answer.

Mr. Smith saw that something was radically wrong, and he sent the man to his home on Water street, with some of the other workmen. Dr. McKeeough was summoned, and he at once sent word to the T. H. Taylor Company that Winters was out of his head and that a couple of men had better be sent to look after him as the doctor was afraid that the man would try to do himself some bodily harm. Two men were sent over and a razor and knife that Winters had were taken from him.

Herman Bolide, an employee of the woolen mills, and Mr. Hughes, a neighbor elected to stay all night with Winters.

About 12 the demented man made a pretence of going to bed and, as soon as he got behind his bedroom door he made a vicious attempt to cut his throat with a pen knife that had been over-looked when he was searched. His wife discovered him in the act and screamed. Bolide and Hughes rushed to her assistance, and had all they could do to overcome Winters and take the knife from him. In the struggle Mrs. Winters had her hand badly lacerated with the knife. Dr. McKeeough was summoned and had the man removed to the Public General Hospital.

where he now is. The self-inflicted wounds are serious, but not very dangerous. The C. O. F., of which Winters is a member, will look after him. Mr. Winters came here from Seaford about two years ago, and his employers speak in the highest terms of his work and say that he has always been a faithful and efficient mechanic.

It is the cheeriest room in the household. With the window-seat battered and bruised; Where the carpets, the chairs and the table Are never too good to be used.

Here little ones come with their sorrows, Or bubble with laughter and noise; Bring sweetest caresses and kisses, And scatter their books with their toys.

There's an unceasing patter of small feet, An opening and shutting of doors; And the room that was swept and garnished Is covered with spoils and stores.

In the dawn of a summer morning, There's a scampering down the stairs, And everyone knows they are coming.

They whisper so loud their affairs, And when the day's lesson is over, They come with their chatter and song, To the sunniest room, where dear mother And all that is lovely, belong.

If the threads of their life get entangled, She quickly straightens them out, And gathers them, sweetly united, Her little low rocker about.

Dear mother, o'er all presiding, O' honored and beautiful queen, You gather your loving subjects, With a grace that is rarely seen.

Then you to keep spotless and tidy The carpets and windows and doors, Would lose the sweet laughter of childhood, And love from such beautiful stores?—Selected.

THE MARKETSCHATHAM GRAIN MARKET.

Planet office, Tuesday evening, November 20.

J. B. Stronger & Co., give the following grain gossip.

Wheat—Owing to the recent heavy rains, there has been no receipts. The market in the west has also been lower and there is in consequence very little demand for export, but the feeling is weak and buyers are still paying 65 cents standard.

Beans—There is a good lively demand among jobbers for handpicked; but as the process of picking is slow, it is hard to get about equal to the demand; but the common and greenish cattle were in excess, and sold lower by at least 10c.

Good to best smooth fat export cattle, desirable quality, $5.35 to $5.50. Shipping steers, $4.25 to $4.75. Yearling steers, $2.50 to $2.75. Fat calves, $4.25 to $4.50. Common and stock heifers, $2 to $3. Feeding steers, $1 to $1.25. Canada feeders, good to choice, $3.25 to $3.65.

Calves, choice to extra, $7.75 to $8. Good to choice, $7.25 to $7.50. Heavy calves, $3.25 to $3.75. Sheep and lambs—With 140 loads total sale of sheep and lambs, and the stock in wet condition, the market quickly declined to the basis of 5c extra choice dry stock, which was exceedingly scarce, sold at a premium, sales being at $5.10 to $5.20. The offerings included 18 loads of Canada lambs.

Native lambs, choice to extra, $5 to $5.10. Sheep, $3.75 to $4. A large proportion of the offerings were held over.

Hogs—Active, on the basis of 5c, generally, with a few sales of extra, at $5.05 to $5.10. Yorkers, $5. Pigs, $5.15 to $5.20, generally $5.15. Roughs, $4.75 to $4.79. Stags, $3.25 to $4. There was a fair clearance, about all the offerings being sold, but the late yarded.

WON ALL IN SIGHT.

Then This Millionaire Gave Back His Winnings.

Leigh Hunt, Korea's American mining magnate, who has made millions in Mongolia land, says a Vancouver letter, was the centre of attraction, with the steamship Empress of Japan, on the way over, owing to his eccentric conduct. He made ridiculous bets as to the wanderings of seagulls, on the age of a passenger, the velocity of the wind, the exact time by the gun, etc., always giving odds of ten to one, and always winning. Before the ship had reached port he engaged five of the crew to enormous wages to go to Korea with him. The ship steward will hereafter receive $400 instead of $65 a month, as at present, and of two waiters $80 instead of $50.

His most astounding performance, however, was over a little game of poker. It was a six-handed game, and the limit was the blue sky above. Leigh Hunt bet extravagantly and won every bet. Four players became frightened and quit, only the plucky little vice consul of Belgium, at Pekin, kept on. The Belgian kept steadily until he owed Hunt $5,100. Then Hunt said laconically, "You're only a Belgian, you don't understand our great American game. You had better stop." But the gray-haired foreigner would not stop, and when Leigh Hunt proposed to shake dice, double or quit, the Belgian consented.

They started at $100 a throw and doubled until the Belgian owed the American mining magnate $8,000. The Belgian sinned on his arm, saying he was ruined, that his losses were his life's savings.

Hunt got the ship's bible and said to the little foreigner: "Swear to me that you will never play American poker again as long as you live." The Belgian kissed the Bible and said, "I swear," whereupon Hunt handed the Belgian back notes and money amounting to $8,213 that he had won from him.

Luck comes to those who look after it.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKET.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Easier and plenty coming forward. Choice hand-picked beans are quoted at $1.40 to $1.45.

TORONTO DRESSED HOGS.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Although dressed hogs have eased off, somewhat provisions remain steady, owing to the limited supply on hand at the end of the season. Orders from lumbermen are coming in fairly well though some of them are disinclined to buy at the present high level.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKET.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Wheat—Western wheat markets continue heavy. Millers hold off and brokers find it difficult to make sales of Ontario, either to exporters or on local account. Manitobas held fairly steady. Quotations are as follows: Red winter, 68c.; and white 68c., middle freight; No. 1, spring wheat, east, 65c.; Manitoba, No. 1 hard, old, g. i. t., 59c.; and No. 2, at 58c. Flour—Easy. Ninety per cent patent is quoted at $2.60, and in wood at $2.90. Millfeed—(Scarce). Bran, $12 to $12.50 asked, and shorts $14 to $14.50 asked, 38c. Corn—Easy. No. 1 American yellow at 47 1/2c on track, here and mixed at 46 1/2c.

Peas—Demand quiet and easier. New peas, car lots, west, sell at 50c. and east at 60c. Barley—Easy. No. 3 is quoted at 38c.; and No. 2 at 39c.; feed barley, outside, 38c.

Oats, easier. New white oats, west, sell at 24c. and east at 25c. Rye—New rye, 46c. west, and 47 cents east. Buckwheat—Quoted at 40c. west, and 47c. east.

BUFFALO LIVE STOCK. Buffalo, Nov. 20.—Cattle—Total offerings were 300 loads and included a large portion of common and undesirable kinds. Strictly choice butcher cattle and export were comparatively steady, the supply being about equal to the demand; but the common and greenish cattle were in excess, and sold lower by at least 10c.

Good to best smooth fat export cattle, desirable quality, $5.35 to $5.50. Shipping steers, $4.25 to $4.75. Yearling steers, $2.50 to $2.75. Fat calves, $4.25 to $4.50. Common and stock heifers, $2 to $3. Feeding steers, $1 to $1.25. Canada feeders, good to choice, $3.25 to $3.65.

Calves, choice to extra, $7.75 to $8. Good to choice, $7.25 to $7.50. Heavy calves, $3.25 to $3.75. Sheep and lambs—With 140 loads total sale of sheep and lambs, and the stock in wet condition, the market quickly declined to the basis of 5c extra choice dry stock, which was exceedingly scarce, sold at a premium, sales being at $5.10 to $5.20. The offerings included 18 loads of Canada lambs.

WON ALL IN SIGHT. Then This Millionaire Gave Back His Winnings.

Leigh Hunt, Korea's American mining magnate, who has made millions in Mongolia land, says a Vancouver letter, was the centre of attraction, with the steamship Empress of Japan, on the way over, owing to his eccentric conduct. He made ridiculous bets as to the wanderings of seagulls, on the age of a passenger, the velocity of the wind, the exact time by the gun, etc., always giving odds of ten to one, and always winning. Before the ship had reached port he engaged five of the crew to enormous wages to go to Korea with him. The ship steward will hereafter receive $400 instead of $65 a month, as at present, and of two waiters $80 instead of $50.

His most astounding performance, however, was over a little game of poker. It was a six-handed game, and the limit was the blue sky above. Leigh Hunt bet extravagantly and won every bet. Four players became frightened and quit, only the plucky little vice consul of Belgium, at Pekin, kept on. The Belgian kept steadily until he owed Hunt $5,100. Then Hunt said laconically, "You're only a Belgian, you don't understand our great American game. You had better stop." But the gray-haired foreigner would not stop, and when Leigh Hunt proposed to shake dice, double or quit, the Belgian consented.

They started at $100 a throw and doubled until the Belgian owed the American mining magnate $8,000. The Belgian sinned on his arm, saying he was ruined, that his losses were his life's savings.

Hunt got the ship's bible and said to the little foreigner: "Swear to me that you will never play American poker again as long as you live." The Belgian kissed the Bible and said, "I swear," whereupon Hunt handed the Belgian back notes and money amounting to $8,213 that he had won from him.

Luck comes to those who look after it.

Sweet butter can't be made in a sour churn. The stomach is a churn. A foul stomach fouls the food put into it. When the food is fouled the blood made from it is fouled also. Foul blood means disease. Cleanse the churn and you have sweet butter. Cleanse the stomach and you have pure blood. The far reaching action of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its effect on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases that begin in the stomach are cured through the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin Co., Mass. "Prior to September, 1899, I had doctor for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1899, I had very sick spells and grew worse; could eat but little. commenced to take Dr. Pierce's medicine and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."

AIR AUTOMOBILE

Proved the Feature of the Show in New York.

With a Special Engine it Will Run Fifty Miles it is Claimed.

New York, Nov. 21.—Something of a sensation was created at the automobile show by the liquid-air runabout that has been an object of much attention since the show opened. The sensational feat that the automobile did was really to run, a thing of which most persons seemed to think it incapable. There has been a great deal of real interest as well as skepticism in regard to the liquid air "auto," and the announcement that it would go on the track drew an assorted collection of curious persons.

There were professors, mechanics, women investors, and rival "auto" makers so tightly jammed about the booth that many could not see the process of charging. Only liquid air was put in. It was forced under a pressure from a portable metal tank to the copper storage cylinder in the wagon. This is of double construction with a partial vacuum between the inner and outer chambers. From the storage chamber the air passes through a valve and a vaporizing tank to another cylinder that is practically the boiler, for the rest the machine is practically a steam engine, that uses highly compressed air instead of steam, in driving the pistons.

While the process of charging was going on many comments, facetious and otherwise, were heard, and several among their fingers feeling the ice on the pipes. It took about fifteen minutes to "get up steam," and when the machine really started to move there was loud handclapping. Every one wanted to ride in it, and many were accommodated. A reporter went several laps around the track and found that there was little vibration, no smell, and just a little puff from the exhaust. The distance the machine will run is stated variously. From seven to thirty miles has been stated by the exhibitors, but it is explained that a special engine must be built for it, and it will then run fifty miles. This "auto" was so much the feature of the night that a pursuit race schedule was called off.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Blonde Bros. & Co. have secured the contract for building a large stock barn for Geo. Stacy, of Dover.

James Clancy, M. P., passed through the Maple city yesterday on his return from Toronto.

A. E. Gammage, LL. D., Chicago, a cousin of E. C. Gammage, Raleigh street, returned to his home in the Windy City. He was accompanied by Miss Alma Gammage.

Barrister W. F. Smith has acted upon the suggestion of his friends and offered himself for reelection. Mr. Smith is a capable business man and will undoubtedly make a good man for the office if elected.

The high wind here yesterday, was general over the continent. In Tennessee and Mississippi it developed into a tornado, doing great damage. Sixty-four persons were killed and 51 injured at different points.

Gents' Glove Samples, lined and unlined, no two pair alike, all to go at factory prices. The 2 T's.

The marriage took place last night, at Windsor, of Miss Flossie Neal and Walter Spashett. Mr. Spashett formerly resided in Chatham.

Anthony Root was convicted at Windsor yesterday of securing liquor for his brother-in-law, George Morrison, who is on the "Indian" list. He was fined $25 or 15 days in jail.

NOW A WESTERNER.

Chas. F. Bunnell, formerly of Blenheim, but now of Winnipeg, was in the city yesterday en route for a visit home. He has purchased a string of horses from D. McLellan, of this city, and will arrange their taking over while here. Mr. Bunnell speaks very enthusiastically of the prosperity and growth of Winnipeg and the west and of the bright prospects for the northwest.

WILL KEEP IT THERE.

The offer made to purchase the plant of the Milner-Walker wagon works at Walkerville by several wagon concerns in Canada has been refused. It was made to John Curry and William McGraw, who have the sale of the stock owned by the two Detroit institutions. It is understood that the intention of the prospective buyers was to purchase portions of the plant and remove the same from Walkerville to other places, but the Walkers prefer that the plant remain in Walkerville, as its removal would be a great loss to the town. It is intimated that the offer was lower than it is thought the stock is worth.

NAPOLEON'S CLOCK.

Col. Pelletier Brings it as a Souvenir From St. Helena.

Quebec, Nov. 21.—Among the valuable souvenirs brought home by Lieut. Col. Pelletier from his trip to South Africa is a clock, formerly the property of Napoleon I, during his captivity at St. Helena. Upon leaving Cape Town with the first Canadian contingent Lieut. Col. Pelletier received instructions to stop at St. Helena to hand over 200 Boer prisoners to the military authorities in that place. While on the island Lieut. Col. Pelletier visited the Roman Catholic chapel at Longwood, and upon leaving the sacred edifice met Dr. Dames, the chaplain. The latter, upon learning that the brave colonel was a Canadian, seemed to take great interest in him, and escorted him over the place, showing him, among other things, the quarters formerly occupied at Longwood by Napoleon I, his bedroom and the bed which the French emperor occupied while a prisoner on the island. As the colonel was about taking his departure, Dr. Dames presented him with the clock, which is accompanied by a parchment which perfectly establishes its authenticity.

SLEW HER RIVAL.

Jessie Morrison Must Stand Trial for a Jealous Deed in Kansas.

Queer Little Western Romance Which had a Very Gory Ending

Eldorado, Kas., Nov. 21.—Miss Jessie Morrison, charged with killing Mrs. Olin Castle last June by cutting her throat with a razor, was placed on trial yesterday. The case is one of the most remarkable in the history of Kansas crimes.

Miss Morrison's alleged motive for the murder was jealousy, she having been a former sweetheart of Castle, a clerk in a shoe store. Miss Morrison, who is 25 years old, is the daughter of former Probate Judge M. H. Morrison, and the family has been prominent in Eldorado society for years. Mrs. Castle, who was Miss Mary Wiley, was the same age as her alleged murderer. Her family was also well-to-do. A short time before Castle's marriage to Miss Wiley, Miss Morrison, who had formerly clerked in the same store with him, is said to have threatened Castle.

One afternoon a few weeks after the wedding, neighbors, attracted by Mrs. Castle's screams, broke into her house. They found her lying in a pool of blood with several ugly and fatal gashes in her throat, and with Miss Morrison, razor in hand, standing over the prostrate woman. Miss Morrison was also bleeding from several cuts.

Mrs. Castle lived for 18 days. Before she died she made a statement declaring that Miss Morrison had attacked her without provocation, and sent word for her to come. The prosecution will contend that Miss Morrison deliberately planned the murder, going to the Castle home armed with a razor and purchasing her mission turned the blade on herself.

Miss Morrison will plead self-defense. Her side of the story is that Mrs. Castle had called her into the house and after starting a quarrel attacked her with a razor which she took from a bureau drawer in the room. In the struggle that followed, Miss Morrison declares, she wrenched the weapon from her adversary after receiving several cuts, and in defending herself inflicted several slashes in the victim's throat.

At the preliminary hearing last summer Miss Morrison was held without bail. Much of her time in jail since then has been spent in reading the bible. The trial will doubtless become a legal battle, as eminent lawyers have been engaged on each side. The defense won a point recently when it secured a copy of Mrs. Castle's dying statement, which was refused them at the preliminary hearing. Olin Castle, the man in the case, is younger than either of the women concerned.

SWEEPING DENIAL

Archdeacon Davis did not Influence Mrs. Burkholder

He Says to Leave her Property to His Children—The Trial, not yet Over.

The defence in the Burkholder case was commenced before Mr. Justice Meredith yesterday at Litch. The evidence for the plaintiffs was concluded after twenty-five witnesses had been examined. Archdeacon Davis was one of those called during the afternoon, and he made a sweeping denial of all the charges made against him by the relatives of the deceased. In no way, he said, had he influenced Mrs. Burkholder in disposing of her estate. He admitted, under cross-examination, however, that while he had positively refused to allow the old lady to leave her wealth to him, as she had proposed to do, he had no objection to it being left to his children. Not till a week after the death of Mrs. Burkholder did he know the contents of the will. Medical evidence was adduced to show that up to the time of making her last will, Mrs. Burkholder did not know the contents of the will. Medical evidence was adduced to show that up to the time of making her last will, Mrs. Burkholder did not know the contents of the will. Medical evidence was adduced to show that up to the time of making her last will, Mrs. Burkholder did not know the contents of the will.

Archdeacon Davis said he became acquainted with Mrs. Burkholder in 1889, when she first moved to South London. With the exception of the time she resided on Queen's avenue she was a regular attendant at St. James' Church. He never transacted any of her business affairs, except with reference to the placing of the memorial window in the church, which she agreed to have the window placed in the edifice. The witness denied ever having received a penny for himself or for any other person.

"It is said you wanted her to give $2,000 to two of your children."

"It is positively false."

"This said you told her it would be just the same as mission work."

"I never said so."

"Did you ever suggest to her that she should give any of her property to members of your family?"

"Never."

"Nor that she should not provide for her relatives?"

"On the contrary, I urged her to get some of her relatives to come and live with her, as it would have been a great relief to me."

The witness attempted to prevent Mrs. Burkholder from doing as she pleased in all matters. It was untrue that he told her that she would not have money left, if she gave away what she desired to.

The only suggestion he ever made to her was that in making her will she should make provision for her own proper care and nursing. He never made any attempt to induce her to change any intentions regarding the disposition of her money.

Archdeacon Davis denied having called on Mrs. Burkholder more than twice while she was living with Mr. and Mrs. Smith. He made no distinction whatever between Mrs. Burkholder and other members of the congregation with regard to the frequency of his visits. In 1899, the year of her death, the witness called on Mrs. Burkholder eleven times—twice in May and June and once in every other month up to September. He had nothing whatever to do with the sale of the Elmwood avenue property in 1892, neither did he know the contents of the will of May 3, 1899, by which the estate was left to his four children, until a week after Mrs. Burkholder's death. He understood the deceased had some relatives, but he did not know the names or addresses of them until he was making arrangements for the funeral. Mr. Smith promised to give him the names of the relatives in order that he could notify them of the funeral. He failed to do so. Witness did not look after the graves of Mr. and Mrs. Burkholder. The statement that he told Mrs. Burkholder not to keep money about her because she might be robbed, was untrue. He went to Mr. Fisher, by direction of Mrs. Burkholder, and told him he was wanted to draw up his will. Mrs. Burkholder repeatedly desired to leave her money to Mr. Davis, to which the latter objected. Witness told Mrs. Fisher, on the part of the deceased, and he also declined to take Mrs. Burkholder to Mr. Fisher, because of her desire to leave the property to him.

Mr. Davis was subjected to a lengthy cross-examination by Mr. Aylesworth, but his evidence was unshaken. He said he considered Mrs. Burkholder a very devout woman, and he knew she was not in need. He believed she had made a will in 1895, but he was aware that he was named as an executor. He considered that for a year and a half before her death, Mrs. Burkholder was able to go to Mr. Fisher's office unaided, and he declined to take her because she had been talking of leaving her estate to him.

You were quite content that she should leave it to your children?" continued Mr. Aylesworth.

"I was."

"Was her leaving it to them the outcome of your refusal to accept it personally?"

"At first I made no objection to the property being left to the children except that I urged her to make provision for herself in her old age."

Mrs. Burkholder and Mr. Fisher were not told the names of the four children by the witness. They were Llewellyn, Llanarth William, Gwendoline and Evans G. The witness said he expected the church, Mr. Robinson and his four children would benefit under the will. He did not hear Mrs. Burkholder say she was afraid her nephew, Dr. Payne, would poison her. He heard her say some of her relatives had either wronged or robbed her.

BOTH SIDES OF IT

A Complaint Against the Police And The Explanation Thereof.

To The Planet.—Please give space to the following in your valuable paper.—The Chief of Police and P. C. Darr were following on the trail of two tramps, who were begging, to arrest them. They sighted the supposed tramps crossing the bridge to King street, and halting them charged them with the offence. A crowd gathered round the two men protesting their innocence. The officers ordered them to go and as they were moving off the Chief by way of emphasis threatened them if he caught them begging again. One of the parties stopped was George Canby, so well known the last four years as first seaman on the City of Chatham, while the other was Jack Cornhill, jr., son of the well known tea and brick maker. These men were both well known and highly respected citizens and naturally feel hurt at being publicly treated in that manner. While the officers should be strict and vigilant yet they should be careful not to violate the law which allows that a man is innocent till he is proven guilty. These innocent men were entitled to respectful treatment even if they came under the suspicion of the officers.

While the Chief was passing down Dover street to the station the tramps they were seeking came out of a residence and followed in the footsteps of the Chief. They were neither seen nor molested. Yours,

JUSTICE.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT.

This morning The Planet interviewed the Chief of Police, and the other's statement of the case sheds some new light upon the whole matter of which our correspondent was evidently unaware.

"The facts of the case are briefly these," said the Chief. "A prominent citizen came to me that he had been annoyed by plainclothes men at his home. He pointed out and said he identified Cornhill as the man and with Mr. Darr I overtook the two men referred to on the bridge. They both gave us fictitious names and I am sorry to say did not appear to act on a most straightforward manner. I certainly told them that one of them had been complained of and warned them against begging. The statement concerning the two tramps that followed us down Dover street is simply inaccurate."

SETTLED FOR GLENCOE.

Wm. H. Brackin was in Detroit yesterday and as representative of the Chatham Football Club paid Referee Wm. McDonald the Glencoe share of his expenses, which the visiting club failed to settle on the occasion of their visit here last Saturday. Mr. Brackin also made application for the playing off of the ensuing deciding Chatham-Glencoe game upon neutral grounds. Glencoe has made strong representations to schedule the contest in their town.

Ladies and Gentlemen:
I am a candidate for mayor for 1901,
and I respectfully ask for your vote
and influence.

Faithfully yours,
W. E. McKeough,
Chatham, Ont., 19th November, 1900.

ALDERMEN.

To the Electors of Chatham.

Ladies and Gentlemen:
At the urgent request of several representative citizens, I have consented to offer myself as a candidate for alderman for 1901.

I would like your support.
Yours, W. F. SMITH,
Barrister.

To the Electors of the City of Chatham.

Ladies and Gentlemen:
It is my intention to again offer my services as Alderman for 1901.
I trust that my record as alderman during 1899 and 1900, and as chairman of the finance committee in the latter year is such as to entitle me to your confidence. If elected, I will, as before, strive to look after the city's interests to the best of my ability,
and I respectfully solicit your support.

Yours faithfully,

A LAKE OF SODAIt Has Dammed Itself up in Far-off ArizonaAnd the Wall is Composed of Pure Soda—A Freak of Nature.

Washington Star.

Probably few people ever heard of a soda dam, but such a freak of nature really exists in an unexplored part of the great west. A. O. Wright, of the Indian service, in speaking of strange things he has encountered in his tours alluded to this soda dam. Asked what he meant by a soda dam, he said:

"In Box canyon, just above the hot springs of the Jemez river, Arizona, is a dam extending from one wall of the gorge to the other. This dam is nothing more or less than a massive wall of pure soda, rising to the height of 100 feet, and probably 600 feet from end to end. Nature's forces, of course, started their work of construction away back in the dim and distant past, when deposits of soda contained in the water thrown off by the springs were made a base of what has since developed into one of the natural wonders of the west. Those deposits must have been made with remarkable rapidity.

Just 10 years ago the Jemez river rose to an unprecedented height, and under the abnormal pressure of the torrent a lower section of the dam gave way, leaving a breach in the wall of soda about 20 feet wide. When the water subsided, the lake formed by the dam was, of course, destruced, leaving the upper 80 feet of the dam high and dry.

"I passed through that section of Arizona this last summer, and purposely visited the soda dam. I was most astonished to see that the 20-foot breach had been nearly filled in. The soda from springs had made fresh deposits, and gradually patched up the hole made in 1890. At the present rate the breach will be entirely closed in another year and the lake will assume its former proportions.

"Previous to the break in the dam, the lake above was fully 600 feet wide, and extended up the canyon for at least three quarters of a mile. Scientists who have examined the dam are of the opinion that it will never attain a height much above 100 feet, for the deposits in the water seem to sink in that great depth before the beak is reached. As they fall, however, they will tend to strengthen the base of the dam, and will gradually decrease the depth of the lake at the lower end."

FIELD TRIALS.North Americans' Second Day Results at Ruthven.

Ruthven, Nov. 22.—The North American field trials were continued yesterday. The derby was finished as follows: First, Marshall Graydon's Top Gallant; second, W. B. Wells' Selkirk Hawk; third, Marshall Graydon's Hidden Mystery; fourth, William Revel's Lady Vassar. The all-age stake will commence to-day with 14 starters, as follows: J. Armstrong's Tony Bee, with W. Dobson's Nellie Brady; Perkins & Reynolds' Cal R., with Charles Tuttle's Antoinette; Perkins & Reynolds' Johnson's Mack, with Marion & Morton's Queen of Spades;
W. B. Wells' Selkirk Dan with A.
Wells' Selkirk White; E. Shelly's Timey Boys; Daisy, with Geo. Hendry's Queen; R. Bangham's Duke of Vassar, with Marion & Morton's Miss Miss chief; W. B. Wells' Selkirk Freda, with Dr. Campeau's Dan. Everyone is in good spirits and the prospects are good for a successful day.

The sequel to the story is, that at this season of the year, annually, for years afterwards the Jacobs family
would go away on a visit, leaving Albert, the eldest son, at home, to take care of the house. Albert would get thos. D. Williams or Frank Williams
to stop with him. Both these men were constant visitors to the Jacobs of Raleigh, and used often to tell the latter that, on these nights, there would be a noise like a scuffling or fight in one of the other rooms, but,
on investigation, nothing was ever found. Years afterwards, on her deathbed, a relative of Mrs. Jacobs stated that the girl had been killed during a quarrel with a smooching iron.

After this confession became public, the Jacobs family ceased to proper, although before this they had had a fine farm and were very wealthy.
Bella Jacobs, one of the sisters, and an exceedingly pretty girl, ran away with Robert Sisson, a manager of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, which stood where the First Presbyterian Church now stands. Sisson left his legal wife and one son, Robert, in Chatham, and never returned. Mrs. Sis-son lived here for many years afterwards.

John Jacobs died about 10 years after his daughter had run away, and he was buried at Pain Court. At the funeral a snake crawled from the grave into the house, to the great astonishment of those at the burial.
With difficulty the snake was taken out of the grave and the earth filled in. Many of those present looked on this as a freak of nature, and the eldest son, died shortly after his father, and was also buried at Pain Court. Mrs. Jacobs, who was a very kind and generous woman, was succeeded by her son, who was a man of great ability and a fine character.

HIS HORSE FELL.Lord Roberts Thrown and Severely Shaken up.The Accident Happened Sunday—Declared to be Suffering no Ill Effects.

London, November 22.—The Evening Standard, in a special edition last evening, said:—"Just as we are going to press the news has reached London that Lord Roberts was thrown from his horse and received severe injuries."
The officials of the war office say they are "not in a position to report anything in connection with the rumored accident to Lord Roberts."
This utterance is interpreted here as giving indirect support to the Evening Standard's statement.

Later—Lord Roberts' accident occurred on Sunday last while he was riding. His horse fell with him and he was shaken and bruised, but his limbs were broken. As he has since sent despatches to the war office, he is still performing his usual duties, especially as he has not mentioned the accident.

A despatch to the Standard says:—

"Lord Roberts' guard removed him to Government House, at Johannesburg.
He was badly shaken and bruised, but it is expected he will be able to take the field again in the course of a few days." The Daily Telegraph learns that Lord Roberts has been graphed privately to the Secretary of State for War, Mr. William S. Johnson, that he felt no ill-effects whatever.

GIRL'S PHANTOM.It Recalls a Dover Tragedy of
Many Years Ago.Poor Mary Jacobs and her Mysterious Death—Was it Suicide or Murder?

Ref. Mr. Knight, Methodist pastor of the Providence church during 1899 and 1900, had occasion every Sunday to travel between Jacksonville, Creek and Providence, Church, to preach.
Last winter, it is said he stated at a church social at Gilbert H. Dolson's that he had repeatedly seen an appearance of a young lady walking on waters of the Thames in the vicinity of the Jacobs farm, seven miles down the river. He always saw the phantom at night on his return trip, and said it wore a Queen Anne collar, which was identical with the collars worn in these parts 40 years ago.

Mrs. Robert Williams, Raleigh, who is still alive, resides on the old Drake homestead, is cognizant of facts which throw some light on the mystery. Mrs. Williams is now 80 years old and she was born and raised opposite the Jacobs farm.

In the early sixties, the family of John Jacobs lived seven miles down the river in Dover on the farm now known as the old Jacobs homestead.
They were amongst the early settlers and were much thought of in the township. There were three sons, Albert, George and John, and three daughters, Bella, Annie and Mary.
It is the last named who furnishes the details of this story. A man named Alex. Miller was courting Mary, and one day the young couple were sitting on the bank of the river talking. The Jacobs girls were very handsome.
Mrs. Jacobs, who had Indian blood in her veins, disliked Miller, and ordered the girl to leave him and go into the house. The next day Mary was missing. A search was made for her in the river, but no trace of the lost girl was found. The mysterious disappearance became noised around the neighborhood and William A. Crow, a constable, made a search for the lost maiden. He reported to Thomas Williams, a Raleigh Justice of the Peace, that there were blue flies around one of the stables on the Jacobs farm, and that the flies were coming from the stable door. Thomas Williams gave Constable Crow orders to break the stable open. When Mr. Crow went next morning, he discovered a body from the stable to the river, and the body had been dragged to the water.
On investigating he found the corpse of Mary Jacobs floating in the river with the head all crushed in and the body badly bruised about the shoulders. An inquest was held by P. P.
Lacour. The coroner thought the bruises and contusions on the body had been caused by the driftwood in the river. Thomas Williams, the justice of peace who was present, said it was impossible to bruise dead flesh.
But, nevertheless, the jury brought in a verdict of self-destruction.

The sequel to the story is, that at
this season of the year, annually, for
years afterwards the Jacobs family
would go away on a visit, leaving Albert, the eldest son, at home, to take care of the house. Albert would get
thos. D. Williams or Frank Williams
to stop with him. Both these men
were constant visitors to the Jacobs

SURPRISING RESULTS.A Simple Internal Remedy Makes Remarkable Cures of Catarrh.

People who have used sprays, inhalers, syringes and washes for catarrh and have found how useless and inconvenient they are, will be agreeably surprised at results following the use of a pleasant, internal remedy in the form of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which they sell at 50 cents for full sized treatment is the safest, most effective and popular of all catarrh remedies.

Nearly all these rough mixtures and throat lozenges contain opiate; these cheap medicines give a temporary relief, especially with little children, by destroying nerve sensation; the irritation in throat, which causes coughing, is temporarily removed, not by removing the cause but by deadening the nerves of feeling the irritation is not felt although it is still there and will promptly return.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is the best remedy to remove catarrhal secretion, whether in the nose, throat or stomach because they are composed of whole some antiseptics like Eucalyptol, Guaiacol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastis;
when you use these tablets you know what you are putting into your system and not taking chances with opiate, opiate or similar poisons found in so many catarrh cures and cough medicines.

Dr. Ramsdell in commenting on catarrh cures says: "I can heartily recommend Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because they contain no cocaine nor opiate or dangerous drug found in so many known catarrh cures. I have advised catarrh cures. I have known of many cases of long standing catarrh of the head and throat completely cured by the daily use of these tablets for several weeks. One case in particular, which I could not reach with an inhaler or spray and where the catarrh caused daily headaches and a noticeable loss of hearing was entirely cured by this harmless but effective remedy."

Dr. Wainwright says: "I never hesitate to prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets for catarrhal headaches and catarrhal deafness because I know them to be perfectly safe for child or adult and have seen many remarkable cures resulting from their regular use. Because they are advertised and sold in drug stores is no reason why any good physician should not use them because we should seize upon the means of cure wherever found."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are especially valuable for catarrhal colds in children because they are pleasant to the taste and may be used freely to break up severe colds and croup at the very beginning.

All druggists sell the remedy at fifty cents for full sized package.

Edward's Liniment Cures Burns,

The Face Behind the Mask.

A ROMANCE.

"With Sir Norman Kingsley!" repeated Leoline, faintly. "I am afraid I do not understand."

"Then you will not be much longer in that deplorable state," said George, backing out, "for there they are."

"Pardon this intrusion, fairest Leoline," began the count, "but Sir Norman and I are about to start on a journey, and before we go, there is a little difference of opinion between us that you are to settle."

Leoline looked first at one, then at the other, utterly bewildered.

"What is it?" she asked.

"A simple matter enough. Last evening, if you recollect, you were my promised bride."

"It was against my will," said Leoline, boldly, though her voice shook. "You and Prudence made me."

"Nay, Leoline, you wrong me. I at least, used no compulsion."

"You know better. You haunted me continually; you gave me no peace at all; and I would have married you to get rid of you."

"And you never loved me!"

"I never did."

"A frank confession. Did you, then, love anyone else?"

The dark eyes fell, and the roseate glow again tinged the cheek.

"Mutely!" said the count, with an almost imperceptible smile. "Look up, Leoline, and speak."

But Leoline would do neither. With all her momentary daring gone, she stood startled as a wild gazelle.

"Shall I answer for her, Sir Count?" exclaimed Sir Norman, his own cheek flushed. "Leoline! Leoline! you love me!"

Count L'Estrange, with a frown on his brow, said: "My word being pledged, I must submit. But, beautiful Leoline, you have yet to learn whom you have discarded."

Clinging to her lover's arm, the girl grew white with undefined apprehension. Leisuredly the count removed his false wig, false eyebrows, false beard, and a face well known to Leoline, from pictures and descriptions, turned full upon her.

"Sir!" she cried in terror, falling on her knees with clasped hands.

"Nay, rise, fair Leoline," said the king, holding out his hand to assist her. "It is my place to kneel to one so lovely. Instead of having her kneel to me. Think again. Will you reject the king as you did the count?"

"Pardon, your majesty!" said Leoline, scarcely daring to look up; "but I must!"

"So be it! You are a perfect miracle of truth and constancy, and I think I can afford to be generous for once. In fifteen minutes we start for Oxford, and you must accompany us as Lady Kingsley. A tiring woman, but I will wait upon you to robe you for your bridal. We will leave you now, and let me enjoin expedition."

And while she stood still too much astonished by the golden proposal to answer both were gone, and in their place stood a smiling lady's maid with a cloud of gossamer white in her arms.

"Are those for me?" inquired Leoline, looking at them and trying to comprehend what it was all real.

"They are for you—sent by Mistress Stuart herself. Please sit down, and all will be ready in a trice."

And in a trice all was ready. The shining jetty curls were smoothed; and full in a gossamer shower, trained with jewels, the pearls Leoline herself still wore. The rose satin was discarded for another of bridal white, perfect of fit and splendour of texture. A great gossamer like a fall like a cloud of silver mist over all, from head to foot; and Leoline was shown herself in a mirror, and in the sudden transformation could have exclaimed, with the unfortunate lady in Mother Goose, shorn of her tresses while in the balmy slumber: "As sure as I'm a living woman, this is none of it!" But she it was, nevertheless, who stood listening like one in a trance to the enthusiastic praises of her waiting maid.

Again there was a tap at the door. This time the attendant opened it, and George reappeared. Even he stood a moment looking at the silver shining vision, and so lost in admiration that he almost forgot his message. But when Leoline turned the light of her beautiful eyes inquiringly upon him, he managed to remember it, and announced that he had been sent by the king to usher her to the royal presence.

With a fast-throbbing heart, flushed cheeks and brilliant eyes, the dark-eyed Leoline followed him, wondering that she had never looked so incomparable before in her life. It was but a few hours since she had dressed for another bridal, and what wonderful things had occurred since then—her whole destiny had changed in a night. Not quite sure yet, but that she was still dreaming, she followed on—saw George open the great doors of the audience chamber, and found herself suddenly in what seemed to her a vast concourse of people. At the upper end of the apartment was a brilliant group of ladies, with the king's beautiful favorite in their midst, gossiping with knots of gentlemen. The king himself stood in the recess of a window, with his brother, the Duke of York, the Earl of Rochester, and Sir Norman Kingsley, and was laughing and relating animatedly to the two peers the whole story. Leoline noticed this, and noticed, too, that all wore traveling dresses—most of the ladies indeed, being attired in riding habits. The king advanced himself to her, and, drawing her arm within his, he led her up and presented her to the fair Mistress Stuart who received her with smiling graciousness; though Leoline, all unused to court ways, and aware of the lovely lady's questionable position, returned it with almost cold hauteur. Charles being in an unusually gracious mood, only smiled as he noticed it, and introduced her next to his brother of York, and her former short acquaintance, Earl Rochester.

"There is no need, I presume, to make you acquainted with this other gentleman," said Charles, with a laughing glance at Sir Norman. "Kingsley, stand forward and receive your bride. My lord of Canterbury, we await your good offices."

The bland bishop, in surplice and stole, and book in hand, stepped from a distant group and advanced, sir Norman, with a flush on his cheek, and an exultant light in his eyes, took the hand of his beautiful bride, who stood lovely and blushing and downcast the envy and admiration of all. And

"Before the bishop now they stand, The bridegroom and the bride; And who shall point what lovers feel In this, their hour of pride?"

Who, indeed? Like many other pleasant things in this world, it requires to be felt to be appreciated; and for that reason is a subject on which the unworthy chronicler is altogether incompetent to speak. The first words of the ceremony dropped from the prelate's urban lips, and Sir Norman's heart danced a tarantella within him. "Wilt thou?" inquired the bishop, blandly, and slipped a plain gold ring on one pretty finger of Leoline's hand.

Leoline gave one earnest glance at the ring on her finger. Long ago slaves wore rings as a sign of their bondage; is it for the same reason that she now wears them?

While she yet looked half doubtingly at it, she was surrounded, congratulated and stunned with a sudden clamor of voices, and then through it all, she heard the well-remembered voice of Count L'Estrange saying:

"My lords and ladies, time is on the wing, and the sun is already half an hour high. Off with you all to the courtyard and mount while Lady Kingsley changes her wedding-gear for robes more befitting travel, and joins us there."

With a low obeisance to the king, the lovely bride hastened away after one of the favorite's attendants, to do as he directed, and on a riding-suit. In ten minutes after, when the royal cavalcade started, she turned from the panic-stricken city, too-and-fairest, where all was fair, by Sir Norman's side rode Leoline.

Sitting one winter night by a glorious fire, while the snow and hail lashed the windows, and the wind without roared like Bottom, the weaver, a pleasant voice whispered the foregoing tale. Here, as it paused and seemed to have done with the whole thing, I naturally began to ask questions. What happened to the dwarf and his companion? What became of Hubert? Did Sir Norman and Lady Kingsley go to Devonshire and did either of them die of the plague? I ask myself when I said it, that the last suggestion was beneath contempt, and so a withering look from the face opposite proved; but the voice was obliging enough to answer the rest of my queries. The dwarf and his companion, being put into his majesty's jail of Newgate, where they all died in a week, and so managed to cheat the executioners. What happened to France, and laid his claims before the royal Louis who, not being able to do otherwise was graciously pleased to acknowledge them; and Hubert became the Marquis de Montmorency, and in the fullness of time took unto himself a wife, even of the daughters of the land, and lived happy for ever after.

THE LOVE SIGN OF THE ROSE.

She trained a little rose to grow
And grace the gate above.
And hence I love the pathway so
That leads me to her love.
And oft my heart before me goes
To read the love sign of the Rose.

Through fairer bloom for lovers' eyes
To me it seems as fair
As if an angel's lips had kissed
And blessed it blooming there.
For heaven's sweetest smile bestows
On the dear love sign of the Rose.

The patter of little feet
When shadows blur the light,
And rosy tinging arms that meet
And necks—sweet at sight,
These my glad heart enraptured knows
At the dear love sign of the Rose.

Not far away Love's steps shall stray—
In thorny paths to roam
While over the meadows life's May Shine signals sweet of home.
When night falls drear, one heart still knows Rest at the love sign of the Rose.

THE LOVE SIGN OF THE ROSE.

BEST GAMBLING SYSTEM.

The One That Will Surely Beat Faro and Roulette.

"Every gambler in the world has spent more or less time trying to figure out some system to beat the game," said a well known northern sporting man. "The commonest and most plausible scheme is the one known as 'progression.' It is simply a doubling of bets until a winning occurs, and theoretically it is perfect, but the trouble is that all gambling games have a limit, and the doubling process increases a wager with such enormous rapidity that it is apt to get over the stipulated amount before the winning takes place."

"I was at Monte Carlo last spring," continued the speaker, "and was surprised at the number of tourists who frequented the grounds peddling 'sure thing' systems to break the bank. The ludicrous part of it was that most of the peddlers were about as poverty-stricken in appearance, yet they purported to sell secrets which would infallibly enrich any purchaser. I asked one fellow why he didn't try his system himself and buy a new hat, and he replied very glibly that he was 'working for a syndicate' and under bonds not to play."

"Nearly all of these systems are based on progression and would be impossible in high play owing to the casino limit. Nevertheless, I saw a number of small progression players at the tables and was told that they have been a fixture there for many years. They were nearly all horrible looking, bloodless old women, who began with the smallest possible wager and quit when they won 20 francs, or less than $4. A house official informed me that they were tolerated about the place on account of age and infirmity and that their daily winnings were regarded in the light of a pension."

"In the days of open gambling in New Orleans I remember there used to be several broken down sports who were said to make a living off the games by 'progression playing.' I have my doubts about it, however. The best system and the only system that will beat faro and roulette is to stay away."

Read This Before You Write.

Never write poetry until you are at least 30 years of age. You will find it will come to you like the measles. You would better begin with stories—that is, if you have a leading idea and can invent situations. Do not attempt the novel until you have passed your fortieth year. A novel requires a knowledge of men and manners, a study of human character, and powers to create dialogue and invent surprises. I know that there are poets who, when very young, men have written clever poems and novels, but these were freaks of genius which do not often occur. Avoid attempts at humor. That mine has already been worked for more than it is worth, and the best of it seems to be labored. What the funny men do produce is not equal to the unintentional humor which is to be found in congressional speeches on the tariff, and in the old fashioned epigrams in the country churchyards.—Thomas Dunn, English Success.

Uses of Olive Oil.

Olive oil should be found in every nursery and on every medicine shelf. In time of crop it can be given frequently and will not disturb the digestion, as do many medicines. It is often given in place of cod liver oil and is as effective in building up the system and far less disagreeable. It is recommended by many specialists both as a food and a tonic. A certain young chemist never has a cold or requires any medicine except a spoonful of olive oil every night and morning, which he takes regularly. He seldom wears an overcoat.

Peculiar Musical Instrument.

A peculiar musical instrument is used by the Moros. It consists of a hoop of bamboo, upon which are hung by strings a number of thin pieces of mother of pearl. When struck with a small reed, these give forth a sweet, tinkling sound, a combination of which sounds is developed into a weird, monotonous fantasy, very pleasant to the ear—for a short time.

JOB ON MOTHER-IN-LAW.
Police Have Man Who Tells How Mr. Holmes was Robbed.
Detroit Michigan, Nov. 20.—Chas. S. Bingham, of Vernon, Mich., ex-senator of Chas. R. Holmes, admitted to the police this afternoon that he had had considerable to do with putting on the job whereby Mrs. Norton, or Mrs. Holmes was robbed of $700 on her wedding night in Windsor. Bingham was the husband of Mrs. Norton's daughter, who is now divorced from him.
The police say that he admitted putting the advertisement in the paper getting Holmes to marry his ex-mother-in-law, and expected to be rewarded for his work. However, he stoutly denies that he had anything to do with the dragging of the woman at Windsor, and he said he would swear that he knows nothing of the whereabouts of Holmes. Bingham will be held and the Windsor authorities will try to get him over there.

CHRISTOPHER GERY.
Ingersoll, Ont.

After a girl has once chased a man herself, she never gets any fun out of having the men chase her.

There's a story of a farmer and his son driving a load to market. Of the team they were driving one was a steady, reliable old gray mare, the other a fractious, balky black horse. On the way the wagon was stalled and the black horse balked and refused to pull. "What'll we do, father?" said the younger man. "Well," said the father, "I guess we'll have to lay the gad on the old gray." That homely compliment to women: "The gray mare's the better horse" suggests how often when there's an obstinate strain to be borne it is laid on the woman's back. How often she breaks down at last under the added weight of some "last straw." Women who are fringing along wearily through life can gain real strength by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts back in concentrated form the strength making material which working women use up more rapidly than it can be restored by Nature in the ordinary processes of nourishment and rest.

PAID 90 PER CENT.
Extraordinary Returns Yielded by Farmers' Binder Twine Co.

Brantford, Nov. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Farmers' Binder Twine Company a dividend of 90 per cent was declared. Last year the concern paid 100 per cent; this year before 60 per cent, and for five years before that 10 per cent. The officers, in their speeches, claimed that these extraordinary dividends were due to purchase of raw material at the right time and wise speculations. Joseph Stratford, the general manager, was voted a handsome bonus.

A DOUBLE CRIME.

It is Laid at the Door of a Pennsylvania Minister.

"Rev." D. E. Stuart has been Arrested, Accused of Killing His Wife and Babe.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 22.—Rev. D. E. Stuart, baptist clergyman, has been arrested in Philadelphia on the charges of murdering his wife and of practicing in causing the death of her infant before birth and has been sent to Wyoming and arraigned before a justice of the peace. Only the malpractice charge was preferred at his hearing. Stuart pleaded not guilty. He counselled at once waived a hearing and claimed the offense charged was a misdemeanor, and was bailable. The justice thereupon admitted Stuart to bail in the sum of $1500. The bail was furnished.

Mrs. Stuart was only 17 years old at the time of her suspicious death in Wyoming. Her physicians said her death was caused by carbolic acid poisoning. Who administered the poison was a mystery, and the minister's testimony gave color to the general belief that his wife, becoming pregnant, had taken it with suicidal intent. Since the coroner's inquest the authorities have been at work, and now claim to have sufficient evidence to show that Mrs. Stuart was given the poison by her husband. The evidence, it is claimed, will also show his complicity in another crime.

Until six weeks ago Stuart was pastor of the Baptist church. Three months ago he met and married Mary Harris, then living with her aunt, Mrs. Evans Johns, of Plymouth. Their evans Johns, of Plymouth, their unexpected marriage created a sensation. After their marriage Rev. and Mrs. Stuart went to live at the little parsonage in Wyoming.

A meeting of the trustees was held, and the young minister was threatened with arrest. He returned the money and resigned, but a week prior to his wife's death. After resigning his position, Stuart went with his wife to live with her aunt. A few days later the young woman was taken ill and soon died. Then came the sensation.

WOMAN EATS RAW FOOD.

Says Unbaked White Bread is the True Diet.

New York, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Rebecca Friedlander, fashionable club woman and humanitarian, recently startled the members of the Society for Food Study by delivering a lecture to them on the subject of raw foods. She asserted that it is possible to live well and keep in perfect health for the sum of one cent a day. Dr. Julian Thompson, who is Mrs. Friedlander's physician, goes even further in his statements in regard to proper diet, and says that one-half cent a day will furnish enough material to sustain human life. Mrs. Friedlander eats nothing but wheat bread that never passed through fire. She is healthy, happy and vigorous. In six weeks' time she has brought her weight down from 145 pounds to 130 without experiencing the slightest discomfort. "I have grown ten years younger," she said.

RUNNINGSORE
Solid Sore from Knee to Instep. Thought have to be Amputated. Walked with Crutch. Almost Wild with Pain.

Physician Said "Never could be Cured." Tries CUTICURA. Sleep after First Application. Cured in Eight Weeks.

I was afflicted with a terrible sore leg, caused by a cut. It became so inflamed that it was thought it would have to be amputated. My physician said that "it could never be cured, that it would remain a running sore on account of the poisonous state of my blood." When I got out of bed I could hardly stand the pain, and had to get along with a crutch. I tried all kinds of blood and other medicines without success, my leg getting worse until it became a solid sore. I was almost wild with pain, I gave up in despair, making up my mind that death would be relieved. I had been reading up an old paper, I noticed the description of a man who had been cured of a terrible sore leg by CUTICURA. I immediately procured the CUTICURA. I used it as directed, and in eight weeks I was able to sleep, and my leg was cured. I was able to walk, and in exactly eight weeks from the time I began the use of CUTICURA I was able to return to my trade (carpentering), well and sound.

CUTICURA
Begins with the Blood and Ends with the Skin and Scalp.

That is to say it purifies the blood and cures the skin of all kinds of eruptions, itching, scaling, and all other skin diseases. CUTICURA is a perfect skin and scalp cure, and is the only remedy that cures the skin and scalp of all kinds of eruptions, itching, scaling, and all other skin diseases. CUTICURA is a perfect skin and scalp cure, and is the only remedy that cures the skin and scalp of all kinds of eruptions, itching, scaling, and all other skin diseases.

SHOT HER CHILD.

Fatal Result of a Mother Carelessly Handling a Revolver.

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—While handling a revolver, Mrs. Donald McCormick, a young married woman of Diamond street, shot and instantly killed her two-year-old son Harold. The revolver was one the woman's husband, who is employed at night, had given her to protect herself with in his absence. The shock which followed the shooting so unnerved the mother that it was necessary to send her to a hospital. Her condition is serious.

TO-DAY'S LATEST.

BOERS SLAUGHTERED.

Bloemfontein, Nov. 22.—Boers, under Brand, were defeated Nov. 18 at Baderspan, with heavy losses, the Lancers charging through the flying Boer line, doing deadly damage, as a number of riderless horses demonstrated. Brand himself was wounded. The British casualties were not serious.

THEATRE BLOWN DOWN.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—A portion of the theatre, the musical composer, is dead, the result of heart failure. Sir Arthur Sullivan's death was very sudden. It occurred at 9 o'clock this morning. While he was laughing and talking in a house here he fell down and died in a few minutes, of heart failure. He had been ailing for some time, but it was not believed his heart was affected. Recently he had been in better health than for some weeks past.

BALLLOT BOX STOLEN.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 22.—A despatch from Charlottetown, P. E. I., says the missing ballot box was found in the gutter alongside the railway track, between Richmond and Wellington. It had been broken open and the contents removed. Not a ballot has been discovered. Under the circumstances, it is agreed that the official return from Green Mountain be accepted as correct, and the recount is in slow progress.

SIR ARTHUR SULLIVAN DROPS DEAD.

London, Nov. 22.—Sir Arthur Sullivan, the musical composer, is dead, the result of heart failure. Sir Arthur Sullivan's death was very sudden. It occurred at 9 o'clock this morning. While he was laughing and talking in a house here he fell down and died in a few minutes, of heart failure. He had been ailing for some time, but it was not believed his heart was affected. Recently he had been in better health than for some weeks past.

KRUGER HAS LANDED.

Marseilles, Nov. 22.—Paul Kruger, of the South African Republic, landed at 10.45 a. m., today. Kruger cannot but be elated at the warmth of his reception by the people. He may be said to have been borne on an irresistible wave of enthusiasm from the stage to his hotel.

HOGS IN THE CEMETERY.

A Citizen Complains That They Are Rooting Up The Graves.

A citizen writes The Planet as follows:—“The Harwich township hogs have it all their own way in the Maple Leaf Cemetery. It is about a week since they first found their way in through the fence between S. Anthony's cemetery and Maple Leaf Cemetery, the fence being rotten and broken down. It has not yet been repaired. The lots of Mrs. Robertson, J. F. Brooks, Rev. Mr. Colles, Mrs. Eberts and many others have been rooted over, the roots and bulbs devoured and graves tumbled down. A citizen has been trying to patch up the old fence to turn the hogs until the civic machinery can be got in motion. The plan is still almost at the mercy of the unclean beast and already presents a sorry spectacle. Surely there is no duty entrusted to our public officials as sacred as that of keeping inviolate the last resting place of those who have left us.”

MORSE S. T. SPATORY.

The Ocar's Physicians So Report His Condition.

Livadia, European Russia, Nov. 22.—The bulletin issued by the Ocar's physicians was most satisfactory. It read as follows:—“The Ocar passed a satisfactory day yesterday. His condition is good. Temperature last evening, 102.8; pulse, 78. He slept but little during the night though from no disturbing cause. His Majesty's general condition is satisfactory. Temperature this morning, 100.6; pulse, 70.”

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

MARRIAGES.

MONCK—VINCE—At Fletcher, on Wednesday, 14th inst., William H. Monck, of Chatham township, to Miss Lettie Vince, of Fletcher.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Dr. John Wiley, of Dresden, spent Wednesday in the city.

Guy Bros' Minstrels were in the city to-day on their way west.

Richardson Clarkson, of Romney, was in the city yesterday.

W. R. Smith, Esq., announces his candidature for alderman for the ensuing year.

Thomas Smyth, Jr., of Beloit, Kas., is visiting his aunt, Mrs. James Mitchell, Park St.

F. R. Lucas and J. S. Fraser, of Wallaceburg, are in the city to-day.

Neil Watson, of Mull, is a Maple City visitor to-day.

E. Wells, of the Bell Telephone Co., is in the city and, with local manager F. D. Laurie, is engaged in a special canvass in the company's interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ruthven will give a large party this afternoon in honor of the opening of their handsome new residence on Joseph St.

The small steamer Myrtle M. Ross, of Detroit, founded in Lake St. Clair during the height of the gale yesterday afternoon. Capt. Wesley Seales and crew of seven men took to the cable in roof, and after a perilous time in the sea were picked up by the Rutland liner Walter L. Frost, and brought to port.

To-day The Planet received a shipment of over six thousand pounds of book and writing papers from Glasgow, Scotland.

The Kent County Poultry Association will meet at the Merrill House, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, for the election of officers, etc. Bird fanciers are requested to be present.

Chaplain Lane, of the First Contingent to South Africa, will lecture in First Presbyterian Church, Dec. 3rd. Subject, “The War in South Africa.”

Hon. A. G. Jones, Lieut.-Gov. of Nova Scotia, says he could have listened for hours.

The funeral of the late Mrs. H. E. Brown took place this afternoon. The Rev. J. J. Ross, of the William St. Baptist Church, conducted the funeral services. Clifford Brown accompanied the remains of his mother from St. Charles, Missouri.

One man and two uncomfortable shoes is a very unpleasant combination. Comfort has been particularly looked after in the Slater shoes, although we cannot say that it has had more attention than durability, workmanship, style and material. The 2 T's Slater Shoe agents.

Alex. Mason arrived in the city from Allegheny, Pa., to attend the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Brown. (Mr. Mason left Chatham about eight years ago, and he remarks many changes in the city since then. His father, Thomas Mason, was formerly in the butcher business here, but is now in partnership with his son conducting a similar business in Allegheny, Pa.)

The latest prospective candidate for municipal honors is Herbert S. Clements. Mr. Clements is well-known in the city and his ability is undoubtedly. Should he decide to enter the contest for alderman his friends would be quite safe in expecting his election by a substantial vote.

Contractors Blight & Fielder yesterday began work on the new $3,500 addition to the Standard Bank. The red stone for the walls has been shipped from Marquette, Mich., and will be on hand in the course of a day or so. The work will be pushed as rapidly forward as the weather will permit.

TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL. John Lumsden, better known as the “Champion Shoemaker,” the unfortunate man who was yesterday remanded for a week at the request of his friends, was examined at the jail in the afternoon by Drs. Charteris and Buckus. Upon their report that his health was in a serious condition, Judge Houston gave an order for his release and he was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. It is feared Lumsden is suffering from monomania.

HOW THE CAP
BECAME POPULAR

Did you ever see a boy in a hat in the winter, except on some dress-up occasion and then under protest.

The boy understands winter comfort and universally wears the cap. Men have taken the cue from the boy, and manufacturers, knowing men, have gained good looks with great comfort and we picked the best out of the best.

NON-JURY SITTINGS.

Cases Settled, Withdrawn, Postponed and Brought to Trial.

The non-jury sittings of the high court opened at the Court House this afternoon before Justice Meredith.

Leitch vs. the Township of Chatham, the first case on the list, was postponed till the next court. It was a remnant from a former court, and neither party would give notice of trial. J. S. Frazer for the defence.

The Judge suggested that the case of Clarkson vs. Clarkson be settled between the parties. The suit was between father and son, in which a matter of only some $47 was involved.

F. E. Nelles for plaintiff; Baldwin and O'Neill for the defence. The parties to the suit withdrew to discuss a settlement.

The case of Jackson vs. Jackson, a suit for alimony, was settled out of court. O. L. Lewis for the plaintiff; Wilson & Co. for the defence.

The case of the Sydenham Glass Co. vs. the Capital Brewing Co. was settled out of court. J. S. Frazer for the plaintiff; Latchford, Macdougall & Daly, Ottawa, for defendants.

The case of Bothwell vs. Burnside was the first case taken up. Burnside was treasurer of the town of Bothwell from 1886 to 1900, and said is brought to recover $400 alleged not paid when the treasurer gave up his books. J. B. Rankin for plaintiff; Wilson & Co. for defence.

NEGLECTED HORSES.

Humane Officer Henry Dagneau visited a stable on Gray street this morning and found three horses in a bad condition. One was notably unfit to labor and the humane officer ordered that it be rested and taken care of all winter. The other two can be worked, but they must be used carefully. It is useless for the owners of horses to treat them cruelly around this city while the vigilant eye of the humane officer is upon them. It is cheaper for people to buy feed for their animals than to pay police court costs.
