The Closed Door.

I have closed the door on Doubt; I will go by what light I can find. And hold up my hands and reach them out To the glimmer of God in the dark, and call, 'I am Thine though I grope and stumble and fall I serve; and Thy service is kind.'

I have closed the door on Fear. He has lived with me far too long. If he were to break forth and reappear I should lift mine eyes and look at the sky. And sing aloud, and run lightly by. He will never follow a song.

I have closed the door on Gloom. His house has too narrow a view. I must seek for my soul a wider room. With windows to open and let in the sun. And radiant lamps when the day is done. And the breeze of the world's blessing through.

Intensive Cultivation.

ITS RELATION TO THE FARM LABOUR PROBLEM.
The development of a more intensive cultivation must carry with it a much more careful consideration of the labour problem. The difficulty of getting and keeping labour on the farm is a commonplace. I think farmers have not faced the fact that this difficulty is due in the main to their own way of doing their business. Competent men will not stay at farm labour unless it offers them continuous employment as a part of a well-ordered business concern; and this is not possible unless with a greatly improved husbandry.

To-day agriculture has to compete in the labour market against other, and to many men more attractive, industries, and a marked elevation in the whole standard of life in the rural world is the best insurance of a better supply of good farm labour. Only an intensive system of farming can afford any large amount of permanent employment at decent wages to the rural labourer, and only a good supply of competent labour can render intensive farming on any large scale practicable. But the intensive system of farming not only gives regular employment and good wages; it also fits the labourer to day—in a country where a man can strike out for himself—to be the successful farmer of tomorrow. Nor in these days of impersonal industrial relations, should the fact be overlooked that under an intensive system of agriculture, we find still preserved the healthy personal relation between employer and employee which distinguishes both to the pleasantness of life and to economic progress and security.—St. Horace Plunkett in The Life Problem of the United States.

TOO MANY CHILDREN

are under-size, under-weight with pinched faces and poor blood; they do not complain but appetite lags, they have no ambition and do not progress. Small children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion containing nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy frames.

If your children are languid, tired when rising, catch cold easily or find their studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion. It supplies the very food elements which nature lacks.

Scott's Emulsion contains no harmful drugs and is so good for growing children it's a pity to keep it from them.

Daring Surgery.

There appears to be no limit to the daring and skill of the modern surgeons, which are nowadays so amazing, that they verge on the miraculous. Within the last few months, says a writer in an English weekly, we have read of the restoration of a blind man's sight by transplanting sections of the cornea from a boy's eye which the surgeons had been obliged to remove; and of a girl, part of whose brain had been taken away, without the least harmful result.

In another case the heart of a woman, who had been stabbed, was sewn up at a Paris hospital; and a few minutes later she walked off as sound and well as ever. A Swiss surgeon has removed the entire stomach of a patient, who gets along just as well without it, eating and digesting through the gullet; and a noseless man has been provided with a new organ from one of his own fingers. The patient's arm was encased in plaster, and for four weeks he had to hold his 'live' finger to his face until it took root, when it was amputated to flourish as a nasal organ!

The Department of Agriculture is taking additional steps for the successful prosecution of its Greater Production Campaign. The publication of the 'Canadian Farmer' is one of the steps of this campaign. The 'Canadian Farmer' is a measure in itself calculated to stimulate production and help meet the needs of the allies during the coming year. The holding of agricultural conferences at which the farmers of Canada can have the benefit of such information as the Department, through its expert advisers, is able to furnish, will also produce good results. The Department is not stopping here, however. It will do what was done by Sir George Foster in his successful campaign for a home demand for the Canadian apple; it will advertise extensively in the newspapers of the Dominion.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Destructive Power of a Shrapnel.

The shrapnel is really a flying cannon which shoots its charge while in flight or explodes on contact. Its speed of 500 feet per second is produced by a pressure of from 30,000 to 35,000 pounds per square inch from the powder that expels it from the gun. Its bursting charge exerts a pressure of from 20,000 to 25,000 pounds per square inch. The metal of its case has a tensile strength of 135,000 pounds to the square inch, and an elastic limit of 110,000 pounds per square inch.

Wedding.

WOODWORTH—ELLIS.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis, 'Elm Cottage', Canard, on February 19th, when their only daughter, Josephine Smith, was united in marriage to Leonard Woodworth, of Cornwallis. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. H. Beals, pastor of the Baptist church, of Canard, assisted by Rev. C. F. McFall, of Summerset. Promptly at the hour of two o'clock, the strains of Lohengrin's bridal chorus, artistically rendered by Miss Edna Collins, of Aylesford, the bride entered the parlor, on the arm of her father, and took her place beneath an arch of evergreen and white flowers, from which was suspended a large white bell. Miss Ellis made a charming bride, being gowned in a handsome dress of white brocade silk, with chiffon trimmings. She was attended by Miss Elith Herman, of Dartmouth, as bridesmaid, who wore a gown of white silk voile over pink silk, with trimmings of shadow lace and pink rose buds. The groom was supported by his brother Cecil Woodworth.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held, at which there were present over sixty guests, luncheon being served in the dining room.

Both bride and groom are very popular, as was evidenced by the large collection of wedding gifts which included silver, cut glass, china, furniture, and several substantial gifts of money. The grooms present to the bride was a handsome sun-burst of pearls and two the bridesmaid a pearl pin.

The bride's going away gown was a tailored suit of navy blue, worn with black velvet hat and mink furs. Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth, amidst showers of conetti and good wishes, left on the afternoon express for a trip through the province. Upon their return they will reside in their new home on Church street, Cornwallis.

THAT AWFUL ACHE OF LUMBAGO RUBBED AWAY FOR ALL TIME

Horror! No More Suffering—Every Ache Goes Quick.
RUB ON NERVILINE

Lumbago is a peculiar sort of rheumatic trouble that effects the muscles about the loins and back. At times its agony is intense. Severe spasms of pain shoot in all directions, and become more severe in stopping.

In treating lumbago or stiff in the back, it is necessary to keep warmly covered to prevent a sudden chill. Attend to this, and then apply Nerviline freely.

Almost instantly you feel its warm soothing action. Right through the cords and muscles the healing power of Nerviline penetrates.

Quick as a wink you feel the stiff ness lessening. You realize that a powerful pain subduing remedy is er numbers, the supplies of produce will be larger, and competition will be keener. A further consequence of this larger attendance will be that more attention will be paid to the condition of the produce offered by those displaying it for sale.

In the present campaign for increased production, good roads will play an important part. Motor transportation is being rapidly developed and utilized by the farmers. By this means greater distances can be covered and farmers at a considerable distance from markets, with the advent of better roads, will be able to bring their produce to the consumer in larger quantities and at less expense.

Suddenly, in his fair young hour Came one who bore a flower. And laid it in his dimpled hand With this command: 'Henceforth thou art a rover! Thou must make a voyage far, Sail beneath the evening star, And a wonderful land discover. With his sweet smile innocent Oat-lit a kinsman went.

Since that time no word From the absent has been heard. Who can tell How he fared in answer to that? What the little one has found Since he left us outward bound? Would that he might return! Then should we learn From the pricking of his chart How the skyward roadways part. Hush! does not the baby this way bring.

To lay beside this severed curl, Some stary offering Of chrysolite or pearl? Ah, not so! We may not follow on his track. But he comes not back. And yet I dare aver He is a brave discoverer. O! climes his elders do not know. He has more learning than appears On the scroll of fabric three thousand years.

More than in the groves is taught Or from farthest Indies brought; He knows, perchance, how spirits fare,— What shapes the angels wear— What is their guise and speech In those lands beyond our reach,— And his eyes behold Things that shall never, never be to mortal hearers told.

—Edmund Clarence Steadman.

Good Roads.

The campaign for good roads being carried on through Canada is only part of the general awakening of the people to the causes which have led to the enormous increase in the prices of the necessities of life. That the transportation problem is an important factor in the making of reasonable prices for his products. For the consumer, good roads have an advantage in the fact that by enabling the farmers to reach the markets in great

THE SUPREME TEST OF A HEALING AGENT

Peoriasis or Chronic Eczema Defied All Treatment Until Dr. Chase's Ointment Was Used.

AFTER suffering with the terrible itching of Peoriasis for five years and being told by physicians that she could not be cured, Mrs. Massey turned to Dr. Chase's Ointment and was entirely cured.

You will find this letter interesting and will not wonder that the writer is enthusiastic in praising this ointment.

Mrs. Nattie Massey, Corner O. P. writes: "For five years I suffered with what three doctors called Peoriasis. They could not help Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this ointment enough.

My Auto 'tis of Thee.
My auto 'tis of thee, Short cut to poverty, Of thee I chafe. I blew a pile of dough On you two years ago, Now you refuse to go, Or won't, or can't.

Through town and countryside, You were my joy and pride; A happy day, I loved the gaudy hue, Thy white ties so new, Now down and out for true. In every way.

To thee, old rattle box, Come many bumps and knocks, For thee I grieve, Raddy thy top is torn, Prayed for thy seats and worn; A cough affects thy horn, I do believe.

Thy perfume swells the breeze, While good folks choke and wheeze As we pass by, I payed for thee a price, 'Twould buy a mansion twice, Now all are yelling 'ice.' I wonder why?

Gone is thy bank roll now, No more 'twould choke a cow.' As once before, Yet if I had the moon, So help me John—amen, I'd buy a car again, And speed me more.

Frank James the notorious outlaw is dead. He was a member of the celebrated gang of bank robbers and all-round bad men who terrorized several states of the union thirty years or more ago. After Jesse James was shot Frank turned over a new leaf, and went to farming. He has lived a decent life ever since. Strange to say the father of the James boys was a clergyman.

A company known as the Eastern Publishers Co., Ltd., under a Dominion charter, with a capital of $50,000, will take over the printing establishment of C. J. A well known preacher who had been preaching a begging sermon concluded it as follows: 'I don't want any to contribute who have not paid their subscriptions to the home paper, for country papers need the money a great deal more than do the heathen.' That minister knew what he was talking about all right. He is on the right track. Some day he will take the broader ground that 'Every man should pay his debts before contributing to charity or missions, or indulging in any kind of luxury or extravagance.'—E.S.

Farm vs. Prison.—a Successful Experiment.

The remarkable experiment of a reformatory farm in place of prison, inaugurated by the Ontario government at Guelph some years ago, has demonstrated its practicability, and the remaining population of the old central prison at Toronto is to be removed to Guelph and the prison itself demolished. At the reformatory farm the striped prison uniform, the armed guards, and to a large extent, prison locks, have disappeared. Instead of being confined within stone walls the prisoners, who in a sense are no more prisoners, are placed upon their honor. They work in the open fields and return to headquarters of their own accord for meals and their nightly rest. This treatment restores their self respect and their self reliance, and meantime, healthful out-door occupations rehabilitate them physically. This Ontario experiment bears out the truth of Mr. Henry Ford's statement in New York the other day that he could take the inmates of Sing Sing, put them in his factory, and make men out of them.

Interesting Manuscript.

EDITOR DIMOCK, OF TRURO NEWS, THANKS AN UNKNOWN WOLFVILLE FRIEND.

EDITOR ACADIAN.—Will you allow me space to thank an unknown donor, who has just sent me from Wolfville a manuscript letter, written by my late father, Rev. D. W. C. Dimock, when he was a student in Wolfville 75 years ago. This letter is addressed to—Mr. Hanes Chipman, Brooklyn, Clements, N. S., and is dated, Queen's College, September 17th, 1840.

I am much delighted to get this letter, especially as it is from 'Queen's College'—the first name that the college in Wolfville bore.

I wonder how many, reading these lines, can tell at whose instance and why this name was changed to 'Acadia.'

Yours truly,
W. D. DIMOCK.

Baby's Own Tablets the Home Doctor.

No home where there are little ones should be without a box of Baby's Own Tablets. They cure all the minor ills of babyhood and their prompt use when baby is ailing will save the mother many anxious moments and baby much pain. Concerning them Mrs. Paul Nelson, Tegaska, Sask., writes: 'We consider Baby's Own Tablets as good as a doctor in the home and every time our little one is ailing they soon set him right again. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.'

Sunk by Germans.

FIRST CANADIAN SHIP TO BE CAPTURED COMMANDED BY A FORMER WOLFVILLE CAPTAIN.

It is now learned that the first Canadian ship to be sunk by a German cruiser was not the Nova Scotian schooner, Wilfrid M., whose crew arrived at Buenos Ayres on Thursday on a German tramp steamer, but that a steamer hailing from Victoria, B. C., and commanded by a Nova Scotian skipper, Capt. J. C. Eagles, of Wolfville, was captured on December 2nd of last year by the squadron of Admiral von Spee just a week before that squadron met destruction off the Falkland Islands. The steamer was the Drummond and, although registered in Victoria, was owned in the United States. The first news to reach Canada of her sinking is contained in a letter received a few days ago by a Toronto man who is a cousin of Captain Eagles. The letter is as follows:

'The Drummond was captured by a German fleet of five ships and three colliers on December 2,' says Captain Eagles' letter. 'The ship was worth $75,000 and the cargo, $100,000, covered by war insurance. Our ship was towed in under the land of the Beagle Channel, South America, and anchored. The coal was taken out, and the ship looted of everything of value, and an explosion occurred at noon, the cable was slipped and she was towed off shore a few miles and sunk. I tried my best to save the ship, interviewing Admiral von Spee personally, and telling him that it was American property that he was destroying and that he was not doing harm to British commerce. All I could say, however, was of no avail. The Admiral pointed out that she flew the English flag and was of the Canadian registry.'

'The first night that we were captured and anchored I looked the cabin door to keep the Germans out. The next day carpenters were sent on board, and the door of that cabin and one of my sleeping rooms were taken off the hinges and carried away. Everything was taken out of the cabin, even to the bath. Not a thing was left. On December 5th the crew was transferred to the Seydlitz, of the North German Lloyd (which must not be confused with the battleship of that name). Three days later we met the British fleet off the Falkland Islands. Three of the German fleet, the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Leipzig, were sunk. The Seydlitz, with our crew on board, was just able to escape owing to her speed. We were eventually landed at San Antonio.'

Germany and Peace.

A cable from Rome says it is believed at the Vatican that Germany has somewhat modified her views as to the terms of peace to be 'imposed' upon her enemies, and that the Pope is understood to have sent another communication to the Kaiser asking his present views on the subject of peace negotiations.

The North German Gazette, however, in an article which is said to have been officially inspired, declares that the time is not ripe for a discussion of peace, which can only follow a German victory or a struggle 'until the enemy also is desirous of peace.' The King of Bavaria at a recent banquet asserted that the German people were resolved not to conclude peace 'until their enemies have been thrown to the ground and sue for peace,' whereupon Germany would dictate the terms; for, said he, 'we must take care that from this tremendously costly war Germany shall emerge so overwhelming great and powerful as to render impossible or futile any coalition against us.'

There is surely no German with any degree of intelligence who now anticipates that Germany will be able to dictate the terms of peace at the end of this war. It is true the German people are not yet feeling the pinch of famine, although it is asserted that in some towns in South Germany food is becoming scarce; but the shadow of starvation is beginning to fall, and with the knowledge that their trade has been strangled, and that their enemies are growing stronger instead of weaker in striking power, while their own armies are unable to gain any decisive advantage against Russia or her allies, the Kaiser and his advisors must surely realize that the dictation of the terms of peace will come from another quarter. Those terms will not be dictated from Rome or Washington, or by any neutral power or powers, but by fighting nations who are doing humanity so great a service by crushing Prussian militarism, freeing the world from the constant dread of war, and bringing emancipation to the German people themselves. On this point the Canadian Baptist well says:

'When the time arrives, it must not be a peace at any price, but at a price satisfactory to the allies who have poured out their blood in the interest of humanity at large. So far as making terms of peace is concerned, we do not think it should or will be left to neutrals, who, to save their skins, winked at the injustice and cruelties of certain belligerents and were awfully keen to the fact that they were also necessarily interested in the war only when sized with fear lest their commercial affairs might suffer.'

'Where will the American tourists go this year, the favorite European countries being closed on account of the war?' was asked of Jay Gould on a recent visit to Montreal. 'That is a very serious problem to us all, even if the war does close in early summer. I think that many will come to Canada, and especially to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.'

'Children's Protection Act' Should be Enforced in Every Community.

Any citizen can enforce the provisions of the 'Children's Protection Act' by laying information before the Stipendiary Magistrate or a Justice of the Peace. He does not require to have a special dispensation of Providence otherwise than to do his duty toward mankind.

There are citizens who seem to think that they can break laws of this kind with impunity. They openly and flagrantly disregard a measure of this kind because no person has enough courage to lay a complaint and impose the penalty. When laws for the protection of children are disregarded it means that the moral tone of the place is at a low ebb and it is time for the good people to get busy.

An Evangeline of To-day Goes West.

BUT SHE IS OUT TO BOOST NOVA SCOTIA INSTEAD OF SEARCHING A GABRIEL.

A hundred and sixty years ago Evangeline, daughter of Benedict Bilhontaine, set out from the ruins of Grand Pre on her wandering search across this continent for Gabriel L'Injuncte, bleeding, barefooted, over the sands and thorns of existence, going west till she came to a mission at the base of the Ozark Mountains; there, for a time, she found rest.

Today another young lady from Nova Scotia, who will represent Evangeline in the C. P. R. Pavilion at the San Francisco Exposition for six months, is travelling west on the 'Imperial Limited' to the Land of Missions, but under very different circumstances. With her Norman cap and her kirtle of homespun, she will spin at an old fashioned distaff and remind the exposition visitors of her own beauty at Acadia county on the shores of the Atlantic.

Russia's Example.

The chancellor said that Russia had increased her productivity from 30 to 40 per cent by suppressing the sale of vodka.

The foregoing extract from a cable despatch on Monday night in reference to the speech of the chancellor, David Lloyd George, is bound to attract world wide attention and to be used by temperance advocates everywhere. It will tend to make Canadian business men think seriously of the losses they suffer from the liquor traffic and to induce them to take a more active part in its suppression. If, within the short space of six months, Russia was benefited so greatly from the abolition of the sale of drink would not other countries benefit by similar action?

Law Enforcing.

Things have been quite lively in the matter of the enforcement of the N. S. Temperance Act during the past week.

Inspector Crowell secured a conviction against Stanley Murphy before Stipendiary Crowley on Tuesday and he was fined $50 and costs.

On Wednesday 'Ted' Bowles was up on eight counts and convicted on each. He was fined $400 and costs. He is now serving out his term at Kentville.

Last Sunday Inspectors Crowell and Davis and Constable Bond visited a number of places but were unable to find any evidence to convict.

Carnival.

The Fancy Dress Carnival held at Evangeline Rink on Friday evening last was a big success. A special train was run from Middleton bringing about 200 skaters. The Kentville band was in attendance and rendered its usual good program of music. The interior of the rink was festively decorated with flags which added much to the enjoyment of the skaters as well as the appearance of the lively scene. The ice was in excellent condition and crowded with gaily clad skaters. The lady's prize was awarded to Miss Hilda Fielding, who was dressed in the flags of the nations and did full justice to her subject. The gentlemen's prize was awarded to Mr. I. B. Boies, of Kentville, as 'I wish my donkey Mand'. This costume was particularly well gotten up and caused a great deal of amusement. Mand's fore and hind quarters were composed of Messrs. P. A. Barnaby and J. Smith.

Good skating along the river and on Mr. Miner's field is being much enjoyed by the young people.

We understand that Mr. J. D. Martin has received the appointment of postmaster at Gaspereau to succeed the late E. A. Davidson.

Mr. Bennett Cleveland, of Brockton, Mass., who came to Gaspereau two weeks ago in consequence of the death of his foster-father, E. A. Davidson, returned home Wednesday.

Gaspereau Division, S. of T., was invited to spend last Monday evening with the Evangeline Division. Eighty members enjoyed the drive to Grand Pre and were delightfully entertained by the fraternity there. We will visit Casard Division next Monday. Last Friday evening we had the pleasure of entertaining Avonport Division.

Wolffville 7, Windsor 5.

The two old rivals met at Windsor in a fast, clean game of hockey Monday evening. As Wolfville did not enter the league this season it was decided to arrange for a friendly game or two to try conclusions. A special train went down carrying a number of hockey enthusiasts expecting a good exhibition of hockey.

They were not disappointed; the two teams were well matched and good hockey was played throughout. Time up toward Wolfville two goals in the lead, the score being 7 to 5. B. T. Smith refereed in a satisfactory manner.

A return game will be played at Evangeline Rink tonight. It is expected that Windsor will bring even a stronger team and plenty of excitement is assured.

The Business Men's Class.

The attendance last Sunday was very good, fifty responding to the count. The choir was present, but as the large majority of the members were disabled by colds only five were able to sing. Better luck next time.

The lesson for next Sunday will be 'The Raising of Lazarus.' Read John, Chapter 11. Come and bring the other man. We were glad to welcome some new members last week.

Acadia Defeats Kings.

In an exciting game of hockey at Evangeline Rink on Wednesday evening Acadia defeated Kings by a score of 7-6. In the intercollegiate league Acadia defeated Kings by a score of 9-3. Kings then defeated U. N. B. by the score of 7-6 while Acadia defeated them by 2-1. In order to satisfy both colleges as to which was superior this game was arranged. The outcome would tend to still give Acadia the lead, although Kings are not much behind. The college band was in attendance and rendered a good program of music before the game and between the periods.

In the first period Kings played circles around the home team and scored four times to Acadia's none. Kings' play was fast with individual rushes while on the other hand Acadia played unnecessarily slow and lost many a good chance by not meeting their man half way.

Acadia opened the second period faster and Stackhouse started Acadia's score on an end to end rush after two minutes play. From this on the home team did better work and closed the period with Kings only one in the lead.

Acadia opened the third period tied to the second. N. Rogers tied the score after a few seconds play and Archibald put them one in the lead. Helbert, of Kings, was hurt and compelled to leave the ice for a time. Both teams worked hard but Kings were unable to take the lead. The game ended with a score of 7-6 in Acadia's favor. Harry Fraser refereed in a satisfactory manner.

A Music Festival.

The Acadia Glee Club, sixty-five members, boys and girls, is at work preparing for the presentation of Cowan's beautiful cantata, 'The Rose Maiden.' This will be ready late in March. Two soloists have already been engaged, Mr. Edward Raseley, tenor, whose work was so altogether delightful last year, and Mrs. Maud Allen, soprano, whose recital last fall was so enthusiastically received. The selection of a baritone will be made in the near future. It is hoped that arrangements may be concluded by which the Acadia Orchestra will be associated with the Chorus.

WOMAN'S BEST MEDICINE

Mrs. Kelly Advises all Women to Take "Fruit-a-Tives"

HAGERVILLE, ONT., AUG. 26th, 1915.
"I can highly recommend 'Fruit-a-Tives' because they did me an awful lot of good and I cannot speak too highly about them. About four years ago, I commented that 'Fruit-a-Tives' for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many doses of it, but it was money well spent because they did all that you claim for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other laxatives that I found out pleasure, as well as health, in taking them. They seemed to me to be particularly suited to women, on account of their mild and gentle action, and I trust that some other women may start taking 'Fruit-a-Tives' after reading my letter, and if they do, I am satisfied the results will be the same as in my own case."

Mrs. W. N. KELLY

"Fruit-a-Tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. or sent by mail on receipt of price by Fruit-a-Tives Limited, Ottawa.

Some Lonely Islands.

Though scientific progress has made it possible to do a double journey between England and America in a fortnight, there remains many leads with which it takes years to communicate. Off the Scottish coast are the group of islands known as the Hebrides, Orkneys and Shetlands.

Of these the most isolated island is St. Kilda, some three miles long and

DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Bradley's Health—Her Own Statement.

Winnipeg, Canada.—"Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth. The doctors said it was a tumor and would not be removed as it would cause instant death. My friends said that my organs were affected and said I could not live more than a month in the condition I was in."

"After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper, and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women."

—Mrs. ONILLA BRADLEY, 24 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba, Can.

Why will women take chances or drag out a sickly half-extended existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ailments, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been torn and shattered with such ailments as irregular menstruation, inflammation, etc.

two miles broad. The inhabitants lead lives of great loneliness, for it takes a month to get to the next island, and the sea often makes any communication with St. Kilda impossible for months.

The group of eight Phoenix Islands in the Pacific has a total population of only a hundred and fifty eight.

Another little island of the British Empire is Fanning Island. This is a landing place for the Pacific submarine cable, and usually there are about a hundred people in the place.

The loneliest of all parts of British territory is the island of Tristan Da Cunha, in the South Atlantic, which is also the smallest inhabited island in the Empire. It is eighteen hundred miles from land, has a population of seventy four Scottish Americans, and the inhabitants get news of the outer world usually once every two years.

Nickel too Much.

The story is told of a crooked street car conductor who was being watched by a spotter of the company.

The conductor divided the receipts on the fifty fifty basis—a nickel for the company and a nickel for himself, says the Kansas City Star.

At last he came to the last, an odd nickel, and couldn't decide whether it was to go to him or the company.

He undertook to decide it by the flip of the coin, assigning heads to the company and tails to himself.

The nickel came down heads up, the company winning.

"That's a horse on me," the conductor said. "I'll make it two out of three."

Up he flipped the coin again and lo and behold it came heads, the company winning again.

"Well, I'll take it," anyhow, the conductor said.

The spotter reported the incident and the conductor received this note from the management:

"We might have been able to stand for the fifty fifty arrangement, but when the company won that last nickel twice and you refused to abide by the result it was too much. You are discharged."

When the conductor was discharged, he flipped the coin again and lo and behold it came heads, the company winning again.

"Well, I'll take it," anyhow, the conductor said.

BRASS BANDS IN BATTLE

Napoleon I. was a firm believer in the inspiring effects produced by music on armies and utilized it with telling results.

During the peninsular campaign the British bands had a conspicuous part. At Busaco, when the English, weakened and starving, were hard pressed by the French, the Duke of Wellington sent forward the bands to play the national anthem.

Instantly the men fought with renewed vigor and the battle was won.

An officer said, "I saw one company waver, but a non-commissioned officer shouted that as long as the music lasted the fighting would go on and threatened to put a bullet into the first man who showed signs of cowardice. He did not have to fire."

At Talavera two bands were entrenched in a ravine and played stirring music to goad the men to fight against the enemy.

During the Schleswig-Holstein War of 1848, Prince Frederick Charles, the father of the Duke of Connaught, ordered his regimental bands to play a religious chorale praying for victory—and victory came.

During the Franco-Prussian War a general wrote to headquarters, "Send me a thousand men and the music of the 'Marseillaise' and I will guarantee you a victory."

Before Plevna in the Russo-Turkish War, Skobelev, a Russian general, was about to order a retreat when he caught sight of the Imperial Guard's Band standing in the rear. He at once ordered it to play the Russian national anthem, and the disheartened soldiers, with a great access of courage, swept over the Turks, utterly routing them.
