

CIHM Microfiche Series (Monographs)

ICMH Collection de microfiches (monographies)

Canadian Institute for Historical Microreproductions / Institut canadien de microreproductions historiques

© 1994

Technical and Bibliographic Notes / Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

- Coloured covers/Couverture de couleur
- Covers damaged/
Couverture endommagée
- Covers restored and/or laminated/Couverture restaurée et/ou pelliculée
- Cover title missing/
Le titre de couverture manque
- Coloured maps/
Cartes géographiques en couleur
- Coloured ink (i.e. other than blue or black)/ Encre de couleur (i.e. autre que bleue ou noire)
- Coloured plates and/or illustrations/Planches et/ou illustrations en couleur
- Bound with other material/
Relié avec d'autres documents
- Tight binding may cause shadows or distortion along interior margin/
La reliure serrée peut causer de l'ombre ou de la distorsion le long de la marge intérieure
- Blank leaves added during restoration may appear within the text. Whenever possible, these have been omitted from filming/Il se peut que certaines pages blanches ajoutées lors d'une restauration apparaissent dans le texte, mais, lorsque cela était possible, ces pages n'ont pas été filmées.
- Additional comments: / Commentaires supplémentaires:

- Coloured pages/
Pages de couleur
- Pages damaged/
Pages endommagées
- Pages restored and/or laminated/Pages restaurées et/ou pelliculées
- Pages discoloured, stained or foxed/
Pages décolorées, tachetées ou piquées
- Pages detached/Pages détachées
- Showthrough/Transparence
- Quality of print varies/Qualité inégale de l'impression
- Continuous pagination/Pagination continue
- Includes index(es)/ Comprend un (des) index
- Title on header taken from: / Le titre de l'en-tête provient:
- Title page of issue/
Page de titre de la livraison
- Caption of issue/
Titre de départ de la livraison
- Masthead/
Générique (périodiques) de la livraison

This item is filmed at the reduction ratio checked below/
Ce document est filmé au taux de réduction indiqué ci-dessous.

10X	12X	14X	16X	18X	20X	22X	24X	26X	28X	30X	32X
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Metropolitan Toronto Reference Library
Baldwin Room

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'ex
géné

M E

Les plus de la conf filma

Les peupl par M dern d'impr ple, origi premi d'impr le de empr

Un d derni cas: l symb

Les c filme Lorsc repro de l'a et de d'ima illustr and thanks

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Library

Metropolitan Toronto Reference Library
Baldwin Room

Quality ibility he

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

is filmed g on Impres.
All on the res-printed

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

ne
CON-D'),

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

at to be id ft to as the

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. .
Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

MICROCOPY RESOLUTION TEST CHART

(ANSI and ISO TEST CHART No. 2)

APPLIED IMAGE Inc

1853 East Main Street
Rochester, New York 14609 USA
(716) 482-0300 - Phone
(716) 288-5989 - Fax

John Roaf

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY:

BEING

A LETTER TO THE EDITOR OF THE "PALLADIUM,"

UPON THE

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION OF HIS EXCELLENCY

SIR F. B. HEAD,

AND A SECOND TO THE EDITORS OF THE

"PATRIOT," "CHRISTIAN GUARDIAN," & "COMMERCIAL HERALD,"

IN REPLY TO THEIR STRICTURES.

By JOHN ROAF,

MINISTER IN GEORGE STREET CHAPEL TORONTO.

PRINTED AT THE PALLADIUM OFFICE, YORK STREET, TORONTO.

1838.

1

F
V

T

I G an by ho ou pe de to my to an de Ca or in ne

By

PROCLAMATION.

UPPER CANADA.

F. B. HEAD.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, &c. &c. &c.

To all our loving and faithful subjects, in our Province of Upper Canada—

GREETING :

K NOW YE, that taking into our most serious consideration, the merciful interposition of DIVINE PROVIDENCE, and that it hath pleased ALMIGHTY God to deliver us from the dangers and calamities of the unnatural Insurrection and Rebellion with which we have lately been afflicted : We have resolved, and by the advice of our Executive Council, for our Province of Upper Canada, do hereby command, that a day of PUBLIC THANKSGIVING be observed throughout our said Province, on Tuesday, the Sixth day of February next, so that all our people therein may humble themselves before ALMIGHTY God, and in the most devout and solema manner send up their Prayers, Praises, and Thanksgivings, to the Divine Majesty, for having removed the heavy Judgments which our manifold provocations have most justly deserved ; and for beseeching God still to continue to us His mercies, favor, and protection: and we do strictly charge and command, that the said day of PUBLIC THANKSGIVING be reverently and devoutly observed by all our loving Subjects, in our said Province of Upper Canada; as they tender the favor of ALMIGHTY God, and would avoid His wrath and indignation, and upon pain of such PUNISHMENT as we may justly inflict on all such as contemn or neglect the performance of so Religious and necessary a duty.

In testimony whereof, We have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province to be hereunto affixed : Witness our trusty and well-beloved SIR FRANCIS BOND HEAD, Bart, K. C. H. &c. &c. &c. Lieutenant Governor of our said Province, at Toronto, this Twenty-second day of Jan. in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty eight, and in the first year of our Reign.

F. B. H.

By command of His Excellency.

C. A. HAGERMAN, Att'y General.
D. CAMERON, Secretary.

To the Editor of the Palladium.

Sir,

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor of this Province has issued a Proclamation for the observance of the 6th of February, as a day of "Thanksgiving," and, as in this case, I most publicly refuse obedience to authority, I feel bound to submit my reasons for so doing to the government and the public. Will you allow me the requisite space in the columns of your next number?

It is with me a religious duty to "honour," "pry for," "submit to," and pay due "tribute to" the "powers that be," wherever I reside,—religious, because required by God. I also admit that every man in this country is under immense obligations to love and praise God for preventing conflict and slaughter in the late insurrection, and so soon restoring peace. I cannot, however, obey the present "command" to "humble ourselves before Almighty God, and in the most devout and solemn manner send up our prayers, praises, and thanksgivings to the Divine Majesty;" because I cannot recognize any secular authority in religion where "Christ is all and in all," and claims to himself our entire faith and service. The Lieutenant Governor bears the commission of the Queen—but not that of Christ. Conscience is not his province; and spiritual allegiance to him would be treason to Heaven, as a woman's affections to a second man would be unfaithfulness to the husband; and as a recognition of a rebel and usurper would be disaffection to our lawful Sovereign. The Proclamation requires that "the said day" be "reverently and devoutly observed," as we "tender the favour of Almighty God, and would avoid his wrath and indignation." I cannot for a moment admit the promise of God's favour, and threat of his wrath and indignation, by a human being and a mere political officer. If, too, earthly rulers may, according to their own views, select days of religious observance, and "command" our compliance it would be right in a Roman Catholic King or Governor to appoint the fast and festivals of his Church, and conformity would be our duty. Hence the necessity of keeping spiritual and civil jurisdiction distinct. To avoid an apparent concession to spiritual assumption, I must disregard the present Proclamation. I must do so, too, because a "command" cannot induce true devotion, and in most cases will only lead to a mere hypocritical semblance of religion. Reverence and devoutness do not come by orders and threats—they are the result of personal conviction and humility and love towards God. Shops may be shut, prayers said, and sermons delivered—but contrition for sin or gratitude for God's mercies be unknown. A general mockery of religion and God is thus all that I expect to result from this state—religiousness; and in it I cannot have any participation. I further object to this appointment—because "thanksgiving" should be preceded by humiliation and repentance. Our eyes, alarms and fears have been induced by sin, and the first step to be taken is an honest and a searching enquiry into the evils which have caused the displeasure of God, and hence the derangement of society. I do not refer to political errors—for as a stranger in the country I do not understand its politics, and as a Minister of Religion am indisposed to meddle with them. But political disorders are the consequents of moral diseases. We have lately seen the symptom only, not the malady—and it is a time now to ascertain (in good faith) what there is in the people or their rulers that has so early involved this fine country in trouble. God has suffered us to be afflicted because "we have provoked the Holy One of Israel to anger;" and he now pauses to say "Why should ye be stricken any more?"—"Wash you, make you clean, put away the evil of your doing from before mine eyes, cease to do evil, learn to do well." Before, then, we rejoice and have thanksgiving, we should ascertain whether allowed ignorance, or "a haste to be rich," or any other vices are the cause of the disorganization that has arisen.

I am,

Mr. Editor,

Yours respectfully,

J. ROAF.

Bishop's Buildings, 1st Feb., 1838.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE "PATRIOT," "CHRISTIAN GUARDIAN," AND "COMMERCIAL HERALD."

GENTLEMEN:

In your strictures upon my letter in the "Palladium," you appear, in several instances, to have mistaken my meaning, and in others to have advanced principles in which I cannot silently acquiesce. I therefore beg leave to submit to you a few explanatory remarks—sincerely regretting to associate your very dissimilar articles in one reply, which, however, is rendered inevitable by your rules for the management of your several papers. The article in the "Patriot" exhibits an anxiety for truth and a Christian courtesy—that in the "Commercial Herald" is apparently the very best the writer could produce—that in the "Christian Guardian" is evidently insincere and spiteful.

Before I proceed to the principal subject in dispute, I must put myself right with respect to His Excellency—for it is insinuated that my letter was an expression of disrespect to the Executive Government. Now I am ready to disavow every such feeling—nor can I see any thing in my expressions to justify the imputation. I honor Sir F. B. Head as the representative of my Sovereign, and if I knew of any thing that I had said or done either contemptuous or hostile to him, I would at once offer the most ample apology. The religious body to which I belong has been distinguished by a patient and uniform fidelity to the present royal family in Britain; and an equal devotedness to popular liberty and education. My intention in my letter was to explain, that in refusing to observe February 6th as a day of thanksgiving, I withheld from His Excellency only a spiritual allegiance—an allegiance which I maintain, was claimed by the Proclamation, and which no man owes to another. So long as I reside in the Province, its Governors will have my full submission in all matters within their jurisdiction; and if I do not mistake the character of Sir F. B. Head, he will give confidence to some who do not claim all the loyalty of the Province, or attempt to insinuate away the innocence of their neighbors.

With regard to my objection to observe February 6th as the day of thanksgiving, I wish to be understood before I offer a further justification. I have before admitted the duty of thanksgiving; I am ready to acknowledge, too, that His Excellency did well in selecting a day for general observance, and proposing that day to the community. But I maintain that His Excellency did more than this: he commanded that that particular day should be kept, thus making the observance an act of obedience to him—yea more, he commanded it "upon pain of such punishment as he might justly inflict!"—yea more still, he promised "the favor of Almighty God" to those who obeyed the vice-regal command, and threatened "his wrath and indignation" to those who contemned or rejected it. Now this seems to me to be an assumption of the power "to bind and loose," to make the observance of that single day binding upon the conscience, to claim God's favor and wrath to ratify Sir F. B. Head's selection and command. I am quite willing to follow a good example and good advice; but when authority and compulsion are employed, I dare not recognize in man what I believe belongs to Christ only. The command and threats in the case make a momentous change in the proceeding. Were I to be asked by a poor man to help him, it might be my duty to do so; but were he to demand my money and threaten me with "such punishment as he might inflict upon refusal," compliance would be not charity but cowardice. The proclamation was not "based upon the acknowledgement of the Divine Supremacy in the conscience"—it makes the observance imperative, not because of the propriety of the act, but because of Sir Francis's threats and commands—the compliance was to be not a mere performance of what was right, but a recognition of authority to appoint specific days and take cognizance of religious acts. To thank God and keep a day for the purpose, I consider to be good—to recognize any second legislator in Christ's kingdom I think to be wrong. Let this explain my supposed inconsistency in saying, that I "submit to" state authorities, and yet refusing submission in the case of the proclamation. I "submit to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake"—but a matter of faith or conscience is not properly an ordinance of man. Every separate officer in society has his own appropriate jurisdiction; and as in "the Church of the thirty-nine articles," a Governor would not be allowed to perform clerical acts, so in the Church of Christ, he should not be allowed to exercise spiritual authority. The very Apostles that tell us "to be subject to the higher powers," refused to obey Magistrates and Emperors in things spiritual, and died as martyrs to maintain a simple fidelity to Christ. The Magistrate is a "Minister of God for good;" but it is in the office in which he is "a terror to evil doers and a praise to them that do well"—it is in his judicial capacity, and not as a spiritual legislator or executioner. In short, the case seems to be this—that if "the powers that be" are to judge of holy days, or forms on behalf of their people, then Christ's authority is not single and absolute in his Church, our faith will enquire not "what saith the scriptures?" but "what saith the proclamations?" If they may appoint one day, they may appoint two, or fifty, according to their own discretion. We must look to, and submit to their authoritative dictation, instead of employing our personal judgment on the Christian canon; and thus Pretestantism will be a mere substitution of Kings and Governors for Popes, and Christianity will be (as infidels have urged) only a political engine.

But why be so scrupulous in these matters? Because I would not let the small end of the wedge be inserted, lest the large end should too soon follow. In religion every thing is of importance—and a quick sensitiveness is the first indication of a healthy conscience. Besides, amidst the confusion and violence incident upon the outbreak of a political conflagration, Christian guardians must be on the alert to protect and rescue religious principles and rights, which are liable to be removed by ecclesiastical robbers. Our rulers do not wish the spirit of religion or religious liberty to be bowed down and crushed, by the measures employed to quell insurrection; and those that do wish it will find conscience indomitable, and the present British Government just. Deplorable, however, is it to see Ministers and Churches offering to "sell their birth-right for a mess of pottage," trying to seduce the authorities to purchase their blood-bought patrimony, by a few acres of wild land. The outburst of ecclesiastical servility, occasioned by my letter, shows a present imminent danger to religious liberty, that dearest right of man; so also does the attempted punishment of myself, for daring to act as a watchman of Zion, in the quartering of six militia men upon my family—the very means employed by the French Papists to break the spirit of the Protestant Clergy after the revocation of the edict of Nantes. However, I can once for all tell my uproarious abusers, lay and clerical, that with secular politics I will have nothing to do; but if they mean to prevent my maintaining the full rights of conscience, they must not resort to obloquy or annoyances, or clamor, or bribery—they must take my person.

The "Patriot" has drawn into his argument the whole question of national religious establishments—a ground upon which on any suitable occasion I shall be happy to break a friendly lance or two with him. Dr. Owen and Matthew Henry (whose words are said to be quoted,) were great and good men, but not oracular, inspired, or perfect men—they lived in times in which popery (which has always loved state-religions) had been imperfectly eradicated—and their attention was given to the greater doctrines of salvation, and not to what is the appropriate work of present attention, ecclesiastical reformations. Now we Congregationalists have not "a faith standing in the wisdom of men," though they be even such men as Owen and Henry. We consider it to be a duty of Kings and Rulers "to promote the public good both civil and religious, by all such means as are not subversive of public and private right"—but we consider, too, that national religious establishments are subversive of civil liberty and corrupting to religion, prevent public freedom and crush a private right of judgment. I am told "that a general mockery of religion and God has been quite as much the result of sectarian fanaticism as of state-religiousness." Well then, let us have neither the state-religiousness nor the sectarian fanaticism. This latter evil is a curse whether in an established sect or an unestablished. That much fanaticism was exhibited during the commonwealth is true, and so was much religion; and wherever a religious spirit is general and active there will be much that is spurious as well as much that is genuine, just as a trading community will contain many crafty speculators, and much liberty will be attended with some licentiousness. There are checks which nature and Providence soon bring to act upon fanaticism, and if instead of leaving it to those checks we employ an established church, we shall extinguish religion itself, with perhaps its counterfeit. David Hume, the Deist, advocated national religious establishments upon the ground that they checked excessive religion—and we know that any religion was with him excessive—When the Episcopal Church was re-established at the restoration it immediately brought in the lethargy in religion and licentiousness in morals, which disgraced the reign of Charles II. As for the French revolution—an established church had previously rendered religion despised and hated. The English dissenters are blamed for joining in political proceedings with infidels, &c. &c., but the establishment robs and degrades all that do not belong to it, and all are driven into one common attitude of defiance. And if some general resistance be not adopted here the tyrant-church will seize the public property, lift up her mitred front in courts and parliaments; and the despotism of the English villages will be spread o'er all the land. But why do church people blame us dissenters for coalescing with men with whom they themselves unite in supporting the church by tithes and church-rates, and whom they are obliged to admit to the sacrament, whenever required. The church-publications were lately clamorous in their denunciations of the recent appointment of Infidels to Professorships and Bishopricks, and yet all are going on together in the church. Some men (like Dr. Paley) cannot afford to keep a good conscience. We love much of the spiritual part of the Episcopal Church, but are driven from her secular establishment—we say, “take away her battlements, for they are not the Lord’s.”

I remain,

GENTLEMEN,

Yours in the cause of Religion and Religious Liberty,

J. ROAF.

BISHOP'S BUILDINGS, Feb. 13, 1838.

