BANKERS HERE LET GIRLS GO BY YEAR'S END

Orders from Higher Ups Must be Obeyed and only Stenogs Remain

SENIOR MEN FIXED UP Managers Here Regret the Situation Which They However Cannot Alter

A local banker today ventured the prediction that by the end of the year there would be few girls left on the staffs of the banks of the country, with the exception of stenographers. Already the decision of the Canadian banking authorities to replace the girl members of the staffs has been felt here. In one bank alone in Belleville five out of the nine on the staff have gone. In other institutions in the city slight reductions have already taken place. Some of the banks which employ few girls will, however, scarcely experience any change.

The reason given by the banker, who was interviewed on the situation, was that there was a shrinkage in the business of the banks, not so much in Belleville, but throughout the country and that there were many senior men who had to be accommodated with positions.

The managers generally regret the situation. The girls have proven themselves quite competent in the work of the banks.

The day of the junior has again come and more may be seen of this branch of the human family from now on. There will be a constant stream of the girls through the various institutions.

"What becomes of the members of the staffs who are leaving?" the manager was asked.

They go into offices, or devote their attentions to their homes. Some ventured upon matrimony. Indeed this question of matrimony has been one of the drawbacks to the employment of girls in the financial houses of the country, there being the ever present possibility of the girl throwing up her place in business in order to undertake the duties of a household.

Dan Cupid has been to blame for much in the past, and evidently he is jointly responsible for the present situation. If a man marries, he naturally holds to his job tighter than ever; on the contrary when a woman marries, she usually forsakes her former occupation for good and all. She may have been an employee in good standing for many long years, when, presto, she falls in love and business and ambition are alike forgotten.

The majority of women also, do not care to be transferred from one part of the country to another at a moment's notice. Notwithstanding her boasted rivalry with man, a woman is not ready on a few hours' warning, to pack a suitcase and jump from Belleville, probably to Vancouver or to some little place in the Maritime provinces. So there's the rub, and that's why, although the ladies were received with open arms in war time, they are now quite welcome to seek other employment and leave the way open for fresh young juniors who regard the banking field as their chosen sphere in life.

And still another objection to the women bankers is the fact that a woman who wishes to go ahead and attain to the higher positions, and is desirous of gaining the benefits of the pension fund, must submit to a severe physical examination and her subsequent rate of pension payments is different from that of the masculine members.

Some of the local banks have received no instructions whatever along this line. Others say there will be a gradual weeding out process until only the girl stenographers remain as a relic of war-time feminine activities in banking circles, and only one maintains that its women clerks were engaged on a permanent basis.

ALBERTA'S NEW BOARD.
EDMONTON, Nov. 8.—Premier Greenfield has announced the southern Alberta survey board as follows: C. A. Margrath, chairman, Judge A. A. Carpenter, G. R. Marnoch and W. H. Fairfield. The headquarters will be at Lethbridge.

NEW SCALE OF PAY REDUCTION

C. N. R. Wage Dispute One Step Farther by Award of Arbitration Board

HOW REDUCTIONS COME Sliding Scale for Those Making Less than $125.00 Per Month

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—The award of the arbitrator in the wage dispute between the Canadian National Railways and the employees, handed out today, maintains the reduction in salaries of the employees paid more than $125 per month, and reductions in wages of stenographers, dining, parlor and sleeping car employees.

For employees receiving less than $125 monthly it recommends a railway schedule which provides a monthly reduction of $5 for those receiving $80 monthly; $7.50 for those receiving $81 to $95; $10 for those receiving $95 to $125; $12.50 for those receiving $125 to $150 and $15 for those receiving $150 and over.

MODEL TOWN TO ARISE
Brittania Beach, B. C., to be Moved to Safer Ground

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 9.—Another model settlement will replace the ruins of Britannia Beach, B.C., but the site of the town will be shifted slightly to avoid the old creek bed on which the residential part of the town stood. This sturdy hollow was swept by flood waters a fortnight ago, to the destruction of a good part of the town, and loss of 36 lives.

Two young men were today fined ten dollars and costs for being intoxicated.

DELIVERY MOTOR COLLIDES WITH DEMOCRAT; HORSE RUNS

An accident occurred on North Front street near the intersection of Motra Street last evening about eight o'clock where a delivery motor, owned by Mr. R. L. Zuffelt and driven by Mr. Sam Colden, collided with the rear wheel of a democrat wagon driven by Mr. Mabes of College Hill. A car was standing at the side of the road which made it impossible for one to see the other until too late Mr. Colden did everything he could to prevent a collision and threw on the brakes. When the collision oc-

MR. CRERAR IS AT PICTON
Head of Progressive Party with Premier Drury and Mr. Morrison to Speak

This afternoon at Picton Armories there was a big rally of the Progressive Party followers in the County of Prince Edward in the interest of the candidacy of Mr. James R. Anderson, of Mountain View. Slated to address the meeting were the Progressive leader, Hon. T. A. Crerar, Premier Drury, J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario. This was Mr. Crerar's first visit into Prince Edward County.

The candidate addressed the meeting at some length.

POORER GERMAN BEER RESULT OF BAD TIMES
BERLIN, Nov. 9.—German beer here has been adulterated. The Reichsbrot has over-ridden the Bavarian deputies' objections to altering the beer stamp law so as to allow the use of corn and rice in brewing.

Speaking for the Bavarian people party, Deputy Jand said: "The practice of adulterating beer must come. It's purity must be preserved."

His protest met with only scattering applause.

Allege U. S. Officers Brutal To Privates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The private soldiers and sailors' legion today in a letter to Secretary Weeks declared that "unless the records of the war department have been tampered with a scrutiny of them will furnish all the evidence necessary to prove conclusively that cruelty, brutality and abuse were the rule and not the exception in the attitude of officers towards enlisted men in the American Expeditionary force."

JAPAN WILL CUT NAVAL PROGRAM

Her Safety Assured, She is Ready to Enter Into Agreement

STATEMENT OF KAYTO Head of Delegation to Washington Defines Position of Oriental Power

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—After reiterating that Japan is ready to cut down her naval program in agreement with the powers, provided the safety of Japan is assured, Admiral Baron Tomosaburo Kato, minister of Marine and ranking head of the Japanese delegation to the armament conference, here in a statement today, explained why the oriental Empire had a big navy.

Owing to Japan's insular position, he declared, naval force alone must be relied on for her defence. "The smallness of the bigness of a navy depends upon the point of view of each nation concerned," said Admiral Kato. "I do not consider the navy of Japan a big one. The plans already adopted are much inferior to the program adopted by Great Britain and the United States."

Japan, he added, goes into the approaching conference with the willingness to cut down the so-called "eight-eight" programme provided agreement with the other powers can be obtained. He explained that the "eight-eight" program will be completed in 1923. It was adopted years ago, and the Japanese Diet had made appropriations from year to year to carry the work forward.

The "eight-eight" program signifies that each of the "eight dreadnoughts and eight modern battle cruisers making up the program is to be replaced after eight years service. This means that Japan must build two super-warships every year, each at a cost of about $30,000,000 and that simultaneously she must make further tremendous expenditures in replacing the auxiliary ships and aircraft necessary to round out her main fleet.

DEER PLentiful In North Country
Deer are plentiful in the north country, according to the reports which are arriving here. Already several slain monarchs of the wild have been shipped to this city, so that no time has been lost by the marksmen.

In the hunting grounds there is about an inch of snow.

There are more hunters in the woods this year than ever before, which fact alone may militate against some of the hunters getting their count this season.

JAPAN HAS BIG DEFICIT.

TOKYO, Nov. 9.—Cabinet was told today that Japan faces a deficit of thirty million yen for the present fiscal year. Baron Takahashi, Minister of Finance, who made the statement, declared that the revenue showed that the deficit may be even greater.

PUBLIC TO HAVE AMPLE DETAILS OF CONFERENCE

U. S. Senate Passes Resolution Urging That Press be Admitted

DELEGATIONS OF ONE MIND American Proposals for Limitation to be Presented Early in Sessions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—While the Senate was adopting a resolution urging full publicity of the deliberations of the approaching Conference on Limitation of Armament, the Administration gave assurances that there would be no complaint on this score.

"You may rest assured," said one of the highest officials of the Administration, "the public will be informed of the progress of the Conference with an unprecedented amplitude of detail. This is the sentiment prevailing not only in the American but in all the foreign delegations."

The American proposals for the limitation of naval armament will be presented to the Conference at an early session and immediately made public.

President Harding, in his address of welcome to the delegates when the Conference convenes next Saturday, will refrain from submitting any program, but will dwell upon the war-shattered condition of the world and upon the vital necessity of reducing the burdens of armament and of endeavoring to avoid war by composing international differences which might lead to war.

The Secretary-General of the Conference probably will be John W. Garrett of Baltimore, who for many years was in the American diplomatic service, and represented the United States in numerous international arbitrations.

The resolution adopted by the Senate without a dissenting vote is that introduced some time ago by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, Democrat, requesting the American delegation to use its influence to procure admission of the Press to the meetings of the Conference and to have the Conference maintain and preserve a record of its proceedings.

MARK STILL SLEEPING

Rate Will go Still Lower—Where is Vanishing Point

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Financial experts called attention to the fact that the German mark today reached the point where the Austrian kronen was exactly a year ago.

The German mark continues to fall on the London exchange market, breaking to a new low record of 1.225 to the pound sterling before noon today under heavy offerings, according to advices. There were few buyers, the belief prevailing that the rate will depreciate still farther.

BALFOUR RELIES ON CANADA'S AID AT CONFERENCE

Leader of British Delegation Appreciates Dominion's Interest in Pacific Issue

NOT EMPIRE PROBLEM Canada a Factor Because of her Geographical Position—Must be a Success

QUEBEC, Nov. 9.—Arthur J. Balfour, who in the absence of Premier Lloyd George will be head of the British delegation at the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armament passed through here last night. He arrived on the Empress of France.

Mr. Balfour was accompanied by Lord Cavan, who commanded the British army in Italy during the war, acting as military adviser to the British delegation; Air Marshal Higgins, Flight-Lieut. Arnold; Sir Maurice Hankey, chief of the Cabinet Secretariat; Commander Moore, Capt. Burgess, M. S. Lamson and Sir John Jordan, Chinese authorities and numerous secretaries and stenographers.

AT WASHINGTON TOMORROW
The party numbered twenty-one in all. Mr. Balfour was welcomed by Sir Arthur Willert, Publicity Officer of the British delegation, formerly a correspondent of the London Times in Washington, and Maurice Peterson, Secretary of the British Embassy at Washington, who will act as the ex-Premier's Secretary. Lord Cavan was welcomed by Lieut-General Lacey and the officers of the Fifth (Quebec) Military District.

Mr. Balfour, after being photographed, boarded a private car attached to the C.P.R. boat train, which took him and his party to Montreal. It was planned by the delegation to spend the night there and continue on to New York and Washington in morning. They should reach the United States Capital on Thursday morning.

Mr. Balfour said "In a few hours we are to celebrate the third anniversary of the signing of the armistice. With the signing of that armistice a terrible episode in the history of the world came to an end. This conference is as much concerned with the war as if it had taken place in 1917."

DANGERS TO SUCCESS
"What the world's statesmen have now to do is to try and restore what is admitted to have been a most irrevocable breach made in civilization by the events which passed from August, 1914, to November, 1918. In that task all are concerned. There is no nation, belligerent or neutral, which is not acutely suffering from the events that took place. The conference of President Harding, which is now about to meet to do what lies in its power, not to bring back the world to pre-war conditions, but to better conditions than those which prevailed before the war, is liable to suffer from two opposite dangers—those who have pitched their expectations of what the conference will accomplish too high, and those who say with a despairing and cynical spirit: 'Conferences are often called, often meet, but don't do much good.' Of the two the cynical and despairing is far more dangerous and the farther removed from the truth than extravagant hope."

OF INTEREST TO CANADA

"If I find among my colleagues at the conference the same spirit which animates the Government I represent, depend upon it a success it will be. And nobody will, I am sure, be more glad if this end is achieved than Canada, for one of the greatest problems, the great problem, the central problem, is that of the Pacific. In that Canada is immediately interested, not as a member of the Empire, but because she immediately abuts on the Pacific and is deeply concerned in the questions that touch the Pacific problem. Therefore, I know that Canada will not fall behind us and not be less energetically desirous than I am myself that this great business shall be brought to a successful conclusion."

A German View
BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Belief that the Washington conference will result in cancellation or postponement of the payment of war debts owed to the United States by the entente nations is expressed by Dr. Rosen, former Foreign Minister. In this event he believes German reparations terms will be revised.

IRISH STUMBLING BLOCK British Ministers Cherish Very Gloomy Forebodings of Outcome of Negotiations

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The gravity of the issues at stake over the Irish Conference remains unrelieved, and civil war in Ireland, dissolution of Parliament and the resignation of the Government are regarded in political circles as real possibilities of the situation which has developed.

The members of the Ulster Cabinet left Belfast for London to confer with Lloyd George on Thursday evening, when it is thought a crisis will be created by a decision one way or the other, whether Ulster will or will not accept a compromise. It is likely, however, that the Ulster Cabinet will adjourn to another meeting, and the real decisions may hang in the balance for several days.

Gloomy Forebodings
Conversations so far held with Sir James Craig have given no promise of any modification of Ulster's attitude. It remains to be seen whether the Ulster Cabinet Ministers in their conference with Lloyd George will maintain this attitude, but it is learned that the preliminary meetings with Craig have given rise to gloomy forebodings in the minds of the British Ministers. In particular, it is stated, are stumbling block in the way of suggested compromise is that Ulster will object to the proposal that an all-Ireland Parliament with Dominion status—of which Ulster would be a Province with certain independent powers—should be established on an electoral basis. An ordinary electoral basis would, of course, place Ulster in numerical inferiority to the South. In the case of the fiscal autonomy powers which were proposed to be given to an all-Ireland Parliament, Ulster argues that she, being in the minority might be subject to adverse tariffs passed against her by the Southern majority.

More "Shriners" Freed.
BELFAST, Nov. 9.—Twenty-nine more Sinn Fein prisoners were released yesterday.

Lloyd George May Resign.
LONDON, Nov. 9.—Forecasts of the King's speech proroguing parliament which it is thought will be delivered tomorrow, are to the effect that it deals almost exclusively with the Irish situation.

The premier presided last night over a cabinet council at which the terms of the speech were said to have been discussed. It is said that if the Ulsterites do not reconcile their views with those of the premier, he will resign.

LIONS EAT AND SING

Listen to Short Speeches and Behold Dressed Porter

The Lions' Club today listened to a short address by Mr. A. G. Davie of the Intelligencer. Among the guests were Mr. J. R. Flank, of Los Angeles, who made a few remarks. Mr. John McGie presided at the piano and Mr. Harold Barrett led in the community singing. On the table reposed the dressed little pig which came by reversion to Dr. O'Callaghan as a prize in the "Y" bowling tournament.

The... Prairie Mother By Arthur Stringer

(CONTINUED) "It seemed to bring us so gloriously close together. It seemed so homy and happy-go-lucky and soul-satisfying in its completeness, and we weren't forever fretting about the balances and taxes and over-drafts. I was just a rancher's wife then—and I can't help feeling that all along there was something in that simple life we didn't value enough. We were just rubes and hicks and clodhoppers and hay-tossers in those days, and we weren't staying awake nights worrying about land-speculations and water-fronts and trying to make ourselves millionaires when we might have been making ourselves more at peace with our own souls. And now that our cardboard of high finance has gone to smash, I realize more than ever that I've got to be at peace with my own soul and on speaking terms with my own husband. And if this strikes you as an exceptionally long-winded sermon, my beloved, it's merely to make plain to you that I haven't surrendered to any sudden wave of emotionalism when I talk about migrating over to that Harris Ranch. It's nothing more than good old hard-headed, practical self-preservation, for I wouldn't care to live without you, Dinky-Dunk, any more than I imagine you'd care to live without your own self-respect.

months. I'd worried, in secret, about that fog. I'd tried to tell myself that it was the coming of the children that had made the difference, since a big strong man, naturally, had to take second place to those helpless little mites. But my Dinky-Dunk had a place in my heart which no snooty aristocrat could fill and no infant could usurp. He was my man, my mate, my partner in this tangled adventure called life, and so long as I had him I could take the house with the laundry-chute and the last acre of land.

"My dear, my dear," I tried to tell him. "I was never hungry for money. The one thing I've always been hungry for is love. What'd be the good of having a millionaire husband if he looked like a man in a hair-shirt on every occasion when you asked for a moment of his time? And what's the good of life if you can't crowd a little affection into it? I was just thinking we'd all terribly like children in a Maypole dance. We're so impatient to get our colored hands wound round a wooden stick, a wooden stick that can never be ours, that we make a mad race of what really ought to be a careless and leisured life. We don't remember to enjoy the dancing, and we seem to get so mixed up in our ends. So, my dear, say I am, perhaps you remember that sentence from Epictetus you once wrote out on a slip of paper and pinned to my bedroom door: 'Better it is that great souls should live in small habitations than that abject slaves should burrow in great houses!'

Dinky-Dunk, as I sat brushing back his top-knot, regarded me with a sad and slightly acidulated smile. "Not if I knew you loved me, O Kalkobad," I very promptly informed him. "I wouldn't care to live without you, Dinky-Dunk, any more than I imagine you'd care to live without your own self-respect."

"I sat back, after what I suppose was the longest speech I ever made in my life, and studied my lord and master's face. It was not an easy map to decipher, for man, after all, is a pretty complex animal and even in his more elemental moments is played upon by pretty complex forces. And if there was humility on that lean and rock-ribbed countenance of my soul-mate there was also antagonism, and mixed up with the antagonism was a sprinkling of startled wonder and tangled up with the wonder was a slightly perplexed brand of contrition, and interwoven with that again was a suggestion of allegiance revived, as though he had forgotten that he possessed a wife who had a heart and mind of her own, who was even worth sticking to when the rest of the world was threatening to give him the cold shoulder. He felt awkwardly down in his coat pocket for his pipe, which is always a helpful sign.

"It's big and fine of you, Chadde, to put it that way," he said, rather awkwardly, and with just a touch of color coming to his rather gray-looking cheeks. "But can't you see that now it's the children we've got to think of?"

"I have thought of them," I quietly announced. "As though any mother, on prairie or in metropolis, didn't think of them first and last and in-between-whiles? And that's what simplifies the situation. I was there to have a fair chance. I'd rather they—"

"It's not quite that criminal," cut in Dinky-Dunk, with almost an angry flush creeping up toward his forehead. "I'm only taking your own word for that." I reminded him, deliberately, of the compassion that was trying to dissolve it. "And I'm only taking what is, after all, the easiest course out of the situation."

BEAT UP GUARDS IN JAIL CORRIDOR TAKE TO HEELS

Prisoners at Guelph Who Waited Trip to Kingston Caused Sensation

THREE FLED; 2 CAUGHT Governor over 70 and Turnkey Beaten on Head by Heavy Weight

GUELPH, Nov. 8.—All efforts to trace the whereabouts of John Bedard, the Frenchman, who succeeded in making his escape from the Guelph jail after he and two companions awaiting transportation to the Kingston Penitentiary had beaten up the jailer and turnkey, have so far been unsuccessful.

GUELPH, Nov. 8.—An investigation is on today and also a man hunt as a result of sensational Thanksgiving happenings here.

After "beating up" Jailer John McNab and Turnkey George Everson at the Wellington County jail here shortly after five o'clock Monday afternoon, three prisoners, Sam McArdle, Joseph Hobson and John Bedard, made a sensational get-away from the local institution. McArdle and Hobson were captured within ten minutes after their escape by Constable Brash of the Guelph police force, assisted by a crowd of citizens, who joined in the pursuit immediately the alarm was spread that the convicts had succeeded in breaking custody.

Bedard, a young Frenchman, successfully evaded the police. The trio who made their escape were prisoners from the Ontario Reformatory who only last week broke away from the provincial lockup, and who, after two days' freedom, were captured and brought back to Guelph. They were arraigned before Magistrate Watt here on Friday, and after pleading guilty to breaking custody, were sentenced to a term of two years each in the Kingston Penitentiary. Pending their removal to Portsmouth, they were being detained at the county jail.

Beaten Over the Head The get-away had apparently been well planned, and was carried out just as the two jail officials visited the prisoners' corridor about 5.10 o'clock to give them their supper. Although all three had been occupying individual cells, they had been permitted during the afternoon to take a little exercise in a small, barred enclosure adjoining the cells, and referred to by the jail officials as a "corridor." Just as Jailer McNab unlocked the heavy iron door leading to the corridor the three men made a leap for liberty, two attacking Everson, while the other grabbed Jailer McNab. Both of the officials put up a desperate fight, but immediately the prisoners saw they had to battle for freedom, Hobson and McArdle who are powerful men, shouted at Bedard to "slug them," and as the two stalwart prisoners tussled with the officials, Bedard drew out a heavy weight, which he had wrapped in a handkerchief, and wielding it with great force, struck both Jailer McNab and Turnkey Everson over the head several times.

After receiving three or four vicious clouts, McNab, who is a man over 70 years of age, dropped to the floor, while Everson, who continued the fight single-handed, was finally overpowered and, as he staggered to the corridor in a half-dazed condition, the three men made their escape.

Woman's Quick Work Unable to find their bearing in the building, they first went to the cellar and finding no source of exit dashed upstairs, only to find Mrs. Everson, wife of the turnkey, notifying the Guelph Police Department. McArdle, as he passed Mrs. Everson on the run, grabbed the phone receiver from her hand, tearing the wire completely from the wall, after which the three convicts made their way upstairs, through Mr. Everson's private dwelling, and down the front stairway, making their exit through the front door of the turnkey's residence.

Luckily the alarm given by Mrs. Everson over the phone had been heard by Constable Brash, who was on duty at the time and by using a bicycle, he was in the jail grounds an instant after the prisoners had made their escape. Tracing the three men through the jail yard onto Quebec street, the constable learned from a number of small boys who had seen the prisoners running away, that they had leaped a fence and were making their way into Woolwich street.

Two Recaptured A minute later the officer spotted two of the prisoners crouched under an old wooden structure, used as a children's play house in the back yard at the home of Thomas Darnell, 42 Woolwich street, and when he drew his revolver on them, both were willing to accompany the officer without a struggle. Accompanied by a mob of excited citizens, who had gathered in the meantime the constable escorted the two men back to the jail and they were returned to their cells within ten minutes after their getaway.

The weapon which the prisoners used to "slug" the jail officials was discovered to be the metal top of a tap from one of the cells, which they had placed in the centre of a ball of soap and wound into a handkerchief.

Highway Work Closing for 1921

The Provincial Highway east of Belleville is having the finishing touches put upon it today. The preliminary work will be completed by Monday. It will then be ready for the surface, but when that will be done, no one can tell, as this has not yet been authorized. The surface may not be put on for some years and for all purposes the highway is now completed.

On Monday there will be an informal inspection of the highway by provincial officials, members of the legislature and the county and city councils, who will go over the road in motors.

Farmers Assured of Another Season's Work

Kingston—It is not expected that any doplar pulp wood will be taken out this season about Calabogie as the most of that produced for the American market last year is still awaiting shipment in the yards here. The demand for spruce, however, is likely to be brisk. Ferguson & Findley will operate as usual, and farmers will be assured of another season's work on this line. The latest quotation for railway ties is seventy cents for number one cedar, as against ninety cents for the same grade last year but it is not certain that the present price will hold. The cost of production has fallen off, it is claimed, in a greater proportion so that ties can be got out at an even lower figure than that which now prevails.

COST HIM $400.55 Point Anne Man Who Had Liquor in Illegal Place

Damiski Tomits, of Point Anne, who was brought from Montreal by Inspector Naphin on a charge of illegally having liquor in a place other than his usual place of residence at Point Anne, was today fined three hundred dollars with costs of one hundred dollars and fifty-five cents. In default he will be called upon to "do" six months in jail.

NEW YORK IS VOTING

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—This city today is voting on a new city administration; one state senator, 52 assemblymen and several county judges and county officers. The choice for mayor is between Hylan and Curran.

MIDGETS ARE ALL TOGETHER

The Lindsay Midgets will be held together intact, for another season. If the plans of the promoters materialize. All the boys still fit in under the O.H.A. age rule and are all anxious to be in the game once more. A number of excellent subs will be added to the list this year. These boys have worked up from the juvenile teams and will make excellent material for future use.

Mr. Jas. Barrett of Brantford, is a visitor in the city.

WORLD PRODUCTION OF WHEAT CONSIDERABLY EXCEEDS 1920

Favorable Reports From Europe With Exception of France Which is Suffering From Drought. Normal Increase in South Africa—Increased Acreage in Australia will be Harvested.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Total wheat production this year of the 29 leading wheat growing countries of the world, excluding Russia, reached 2,352,325,000 bushels, or approximately 190,000,000 bushels more than in 1920, according to latest available estimates reported today by the department of agriculture. For next year's crop the department reported generally favorable conditions throughout the northern hemisphere for winter wheat sowing. Seedings was said to be nearly completed in Canada and all but the far west section of the United States, where it has been seriously delayed by drought, and a similar condition was reported for Central Europe, where favorable conditions in all countries except France which is suffering from drought, should tend to increase acreage, it was said. Favorable growing conditions and increased acreage were said to promise a large crop for Australia. In Argentine spring planting was said to have been seriously delayed by insufficient moisture with the result that the 1921-1922 acreage would be approximately a million acres short of the 14,947,000 acres planted last season. Favorable sowing conditions and prospects for a normal acreage in India and South Africa were reported, while the condition of the wheat crop in China was said to be generally disappointing with prospects of below average in volume.

6,400 NAMES ON NEW LISTS FOR BELLEVILLE

Others Will Yet "Get on" by Way of Revision Court Shortly

FISHERMEN INVOLVED Experts Consider That Very Good Showing Made Here—Local Population

Those citizens who neglected to get their names on the voters' lists last week will soon have the opportunity of going before the opportunity judge to have them added. Among these will be some fishermen who were out last week on the lake.

Saturday night closed the formal registration by the four registrars throughout the city, with about 6,400 names put on the lists made up as follows: Foster and Samson wards, 1341; Baldwin and Ketcheson wards, 1670; Coleman and Bleecker wards, 1800; Murney, 1609.

These figures are subject to change in duplication on the lists and an error in numbering may have occurred.

There was, contrary to expectation, no great last minute rush.

The registration is considered very good, in the opinion of those who have worked over lists in the past. It is not likely that there will be very heavy work for the judge to perform.

The population of Belleville, according to the last census was 12,240, made up as follows: Foster and Samson wards 2524; Ketcheson and Baldwin, 3567; Bleecker and Coleman, 3343 and Murney, 2797.

The population between the ages of 5 and 21 was 3101. Nine sixteenths of the population is considered a good proportion to have on the voters' list. This would give Belleville 6,885 voters, a little above the registration so far.

It is said the highest estimate of proportion of voters to the population is five eighths. That would give Belleville 7,650 voters. That figure is considered extreme.

CATCH RIVER PIRATES

Windsor Police Think They Have Caught Prize Package

WINDSOR, Nov. 8.—Five men, all heavily armed, and believed by authorities to be a band of river pirates, arrested by Riverside police, are held on the technical charge of being in possession of concealed weapons, but this charge, the police say, may be changed later to a more serious one. The men gave their names as R. Howrey, L. Hill, R. Saverus, James Hudson and Thomas Mier. All claim residence in Detroit, but declined to give any addresses. There was another man in the party when the police arrived, but he escaped after throwing away a revolver, which was discharged as it hit the bottom of the launch in which the men were seated at the dock.

CUBS THREATEN TO KAT PRAIRIE FLOWERS

As the Rotary Club's "Prairie Flowers" are growing wilder with the hours, the Lions' Cubs are going to sharpen their teeth Tuesday evening at 8.15 at Y.M.C.A. by a practice game of indoor baseball in preparation for the game with Rotary. All cubs are notified to be on hand so that Cub Gran. Sinclair can make a good report at the Wednesday league feed.

U. S. ABANDONS TONS OF SHIPS

Tonnage of 40,000 Authorized, But Not Commenced, Involved

ARMS CUT PROGRAM Washington Preparing for Program of Powers' Meeting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The first definite and concrete preparation in the United States program for limitation of armament involves abandonment of about 40,000 tons of ships "authorized but not yet commenced." This information was obtained from authoritative sources today.

The proposition to abandon 40,000 tons of authorized construction is the United States' contribution to a tri-partite program, which also includes abandonment of tonnage authorized and started, and abandonment of existing ships available for war, but now out of commission.

From this it can be seen that primarily the program does not effect any of the American first line battleships now afloat.

The construction the United States proposes to abandon is that of seven 2,000 ton submarines, 12, 1,200-ton destroyers, and one 1,000 ton transport.

The submarine type referred to is that which the Naval Construction Bureau has concentrated its ingenuity and ability for the past five years. It was designed to be the last word in submarine building for many years. The destroyers were to be the last vessels built in the 1916 program, and were considered a highly important item.

Looted Train, Wounded Men in Charge, Set Fire to Car

PAXTON, Ill., Nov. 8.—Hundreds of men in a posse are searching today for the ten bandits who held up the New Orleans express two miles south of here last night and stole two pouches of registered mail, wounded four train employees, and escaped after setting fire to the mail car.

A SONG OF HARVEST HOME

Praise God for blessings great and small. For garden bloom and orchard store, The crimson vine upon the wall, The green and gold of maples tall, For harvest-field and threshing-floor.

Praise God for children's laughter shrill, For glancing hands and tender eyes, For looks that lift and words that thrill, For friends that love through good and ill, For home and all home's tender ties!

Praise God for losses and for gains, For tears to shed, and songs to sing, For gleams of gold and mists of rain, For the year's full joy, the year's deep pain, The grieving and the comforting! —Jean Biewert.

BRITAIN'S AIM TO SEEK PEACE AND ENSURE IT

Policy Government Will Pursue and Promote at Washington Conference

CHAMBERLAIN DECLARES Discussion in Commons Indicates Strong Sympathy with Objects Sought

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The unanimity with which this country welcomes the opening of the Washington Conference and the great hopes it entertains of it were expressed today in a brief debate in the House of Commons. A resolution approving the conference and calling for a supreme effort to secure substantial and progressive reduction in armament was put down by the Labor party, but it received support from every quarter of the House, and was carried unanimously.

Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Leader of the House, spoke for the Government. The invitation of President Harding, he declared, had been welcomed here with a unanimity difficult to express in words, and he hoped the debate might impress on the people who had not realized the importance of the conference how vital it was to the world that its deliberations should reach a successful issue.

He had but one regret concerning the conference. The Government attached so great importance to it that it had unanimously requested the Premier to be the principal British delegate. It regretted profoundly that circumstances of immediate gravity of internal politics made it impossible for him to do so, but the Premier still hoped it might be possible before long for him to visit Washington and assume the leadership of the British delegation. As it was, the Government had a chief delegate a statesman of unrivalled experience, who as principal British representative on the League of Nations, might help to link the proceedings of that body with the deliberations of the conference.

"I am asked," said Chamberlain, in conclusion, "what is the policy of the British Government at Washington. It is to seek peace and ensure it."

MISSING AFTER MINE EXPLOSION

One Man Thought Lost, 5 Others Gassed—Rescuers are Held up

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 8.—Robert McEwen is missing and five other men are reported more or less seriously gassed as the result of an explosion this morning at No. 12 landing of No. 3 colliery, Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, at Florence, two miles from North Sydney, this morning. Rescuers are experiencing difficulty in their search for McEwen on account of the after damp.

HIGH WINDS WRECK BOAT

Crew Taken off by U. S. Coast Guard Men, All Safe

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 5.—The three-masted Nova Scotia schooner, "Epithereuse" was driven ashore at Race Point, Fisher's Island, at 10.30 this morning by high winds. The crew was taken off and is at a United States' coast guard station on Fisher's Island.

HUNTING SEASON ON AGAIN CAMPS FULL OF DEER-SLAYERS

The north country has swallowed up a large number of male citizens and residents of the surrounding country, besides dogs, for the next ten days. The hunting season opened this morning and most of the hunters have been in their camps for several days getting arrangements completed for the pursuit of the deer.

No less than thirty licenses were sold in a few hours by Mr. S. J. Fisher to Bellevillians and there were many who got their authority to slay the fleeing deer at points in this vicinity and in the north country. Local ammunition merchants report heavy sales of ammunition for the chase.

North stations for the past three days have been scenes of the usual fall expeditions, only this year the hunters are more numerous than ever. The fine weather has impelled many who would otherwise have stayed at home to prepare for the north. The dogs are said to be quite plentiful. This year hunters are being asked to reply to a questionnaire as to the desirability of having canines in the hunting districts.

Bellevillians have no deer hunting clubs. There is in the north a social club to which many go during the year but this is more for fishing and for the summer months. It does not cost so much to hunt this year as it has in the past. Guns are cheaper and ammunition is somewhat lower. Food is down and that used to be quite an item in the accounts of the hunters. Reductions in ammunition amount to 10 per cent because of the lifting of the luxury tax, otherwise the manufacturers have made no reduction. The 303 cartridges, used considerably, are selling at $2.25 a box of 20. Shot gun shells are reduced 25 cents a box of 25, which costs now from $1.50 to $1.75. Classing all the other hunting paraphernalia, such as knives, water bottles, etc., together, it was said that on these prices were from 10 to 15 per cent below last year's level.

THE CHURCH PARADE

On Sunday morning at ten o'clock the Argyle Light Infantry paraded to St. Thomas Church where a short service was conducted by Major the Ven. Archdeacon Beamish in the presence of a number of worshippers. The rector spoke of the importance of thanksgiving at the present time and urged the need for prayer that the conference on disarmament now gathering at Washington may have results that lead to a limitation of the rush for preparation for war.

Fortune for Man in Exchange Puzzle

GENEVA, Oct. 20.—(By mail)—The collapse in Austrian exchange turned a police court fine into a fortune for an Austrian army officer who has just been sentenced to pay 50 francs at Buchs for assaulting a customs official before the war. The officer then was released upon cash bail of 5,000 Swiss francs, deposited at a time when the crown was equivalent to the franc.

When he paid his fine and received the bail he deposited years ago, he found that he had what would be changed into more than 2,000,000 Austrian crowns.

LORD KITCHENER AGAIN

FRIENDS and admirers of Lord Kitchener were shocked and pained some time ago on the appearance of Viscount Escher's book, "The Tragedy of Lord Kitchener," in which the attempt was made to show that the task imposed upon him as secretary of state for war was too big for him, that he failed, and that he came in the end to recognize his failure. Naturally such an estimate of such a man was not allowed to go unchallenged.

Among those who have already come to the defence of Lord Kitchener is General Sir Henry M. Lawson, a soldier who served with distinction in the Egyptian and South African campaigns. General Lawson believes that history will vindicate Lord Kitchener rather than justify his critics. Apparently he is not convinced that Lord Escher is the man to pronounce final judgment, in any event, for Lord Escher was a member of the committee of imperial defence, which was responsible for working out that war policy which Lord Kitchener ultimately overruled. "For one so placed," General Lawson adds, "it was difficult to discern even-handed justice as regards Lord Kitchener, and to give their full weight to criticisms which involved not only his friends but himself." Finally General Lawson declares that in the absence of more authoritative testimony he prefers to hold to what is known as against unexamined impressions of men swayed by many motives, as against, in fact, what may be termed cabinet and society gossip.

No doubt the true and complete story of Lord Kitchener's life, and especially of its closing years, is yet to be told. Some of those who could write with authority will refuse to write. Some of those who would write may be qualified. It will probably be a good many years before the requisite material is available for the competent writer.

POLICE COURT FINES

A DEPUTATION representing several Ontario municipalities waited on the government a few days ago to ask that the municipalities be allowed to retain all police court revenues, excepting those arising out of cases instituted by provincial or federal officers, and that the government's edict, by which all such revenues must go first to the province, with the proviso that fifty per cent. of the total be given back, be withdrawn.

According to Toronto reports the delegation received little encouragement, it being the evident intention of the government that the order be stand. Members of the delegation emphasized the heavy expenses of the municipalities at the present time on the administration of justice. The prevalence of crime, due to the activities of armed bandits, makes an unusual demand on the municipalities, especially on cities with organized police forces, and it seems unfair that individual municipalities should be compelled to bear a burden that belongs so largely to the province as a whole. The use by the bandits of motor cars has made the task of running criminals down an exceedingly difficult matter, and one that requires co-operation. Many of the crimes are committed in small places which are without sufficient police protection to deal with such cases, and the responsibility is thrown on the police forces of the neighboring cities.

If the financial burden becomes too great and if there is little evidence of co-operation, there is likely to be a lack of energy in the enforcement of the law.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES

A SHORT time ago there was published in the United States a book bearing the title "Three Soldiers," from the pen of John Dos Passos. It is a war story, and professes to deal with life in the American army during the war. It has shocked some of the critics and puzzled others. It has been denounced as a libel on the American army, for while it deals chiefly with the experience of three men, the fear is expressed that this experience will be accepted as typical. However, it was not put forth as a history of the war or as an authentic statement of actual facts, but as a novel, a novel with a purpose, no doubt, but still a novel.

The astonishing charges made by Senator Watson of Georgia must be regarded in a different light. They are put forth as statements of facts, and the senator has undertaken to make good on the floor of the senate. What Senator Watson undertakes to prove, among other things, is that American soldiers in France were sent to the gallows day after day without trial of any kind, and presumably at the bidding of superior officers.

There is no need to take either the senator or the novelist too seriously. The novelist wanted to make a book that would attract attention. Evidently he succeeded. Senator Watson wants to attract attention too. He says so. He will not give his evidence in the privacy of a committee room; he will state his case on the floor of the senate, and he promises that his revelations will be of such a character that the newspapers of the country will be full of them.

Well, let him go ahead.

THE WAR MOTHERS

THE meeting of the two War Mothers—the one from Great Britain with a wreath of flowers for the grave of the Unknown American soldier and the other from the United States with a message of welcome—was one of those little incidents that deserve to live in history. There is something in it that appeals to the heart and the imagination.

It is the sincere belief of the wisest men and women in the British Empire and the United States that the friendly co-operation of the two great powers is necessary for the peace of the world and the safety of civilization. Every influence that tends to strengthen that co-operation is therefore an influence for good. And what influence could be more potent than a bond of human sympathy holding all the mothers together in a common cause.

Arthur Macdonald was home from Belleville for the week end.

A number of people took Thanksgiving dinner with their friends on Monday.

The Methodist church had their quarterly service and communion on Sunday morning. At morning and evening services the minister dealt with the subject of Thanksgiving, and the Armistice.

The Friends minister at the meeting house spoke on Thanksgiving in the morning meeting, also made appeal for special prayer on behalf of the Disarmament Conference to be held at Washington, beginning on the 11th. In the evening meeting James Wild spoke on Peace. Quoting from the Friends Advice and Queries he said Friends believe that true Christianity is a life lived in the spirit of Christ. A life based on the principles of love and helpfulness, sympathy, peace and unselfishness. A life in the spirit of the Master, with duties and privileges. In the queries individual Friends are asked if they are faithful in maintaining their Christian testimony against all war, as inconsistent with the precepts and spirit of the Gospel. We are not only to live in peace with all men, desiring the true happiness of all, but we are to let the peace of Christ rule in our hearts. Peace follows love, and love follows understanding. The love of Christ will constrain us to love all men. In conclusion Mr. Wild quoted some words that were printed on an envelope he received from some one: "If you would help to make peace between all nations, peace between all races, and peace between all classes, then join the scientific peace league by doing unto others as you would have them do unto you."

SHOWS HONEY IN ENGLAND.
 Mr. A. A. Walker, Whitby, Sends 1000 lbs. Honey to Exhibition.
 WHITBY.—Mr. A. A. Walker, of Hillcrest Apiaries, Whitby, has shipped 1,000 pounds of honey to a buyer in London, England, who is to show it at the Exhibition of Canadian Food Products in Crystal Palace, London. This gentleman to whom the shipment was made was recently in Canada, taking samples of honey from various apiaries and selected that obtained from Mr. Walker as the purest and best from all he had obtained. He therefore ordered 1,000 pounds to be shipped to London, Eng., and thus it comes that honey produced in Whitby will be shown at this great exhibition in Crystal Palace.

GLEASON MAY MANAGE YANKS WORRIED OVER FUTURE OF RUTH

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—There is an atmosphere of mystery associated with "Kid" Gleason's early visit to New York for a conference with the owners of the Yankee team. Probably he jumped over from his hometown, Philadelphia, to open negotiations for a trade between the White Sox and Yankees. But there is believed to be another reason for his meeting with Jacob Ruppert and T. Hustin, who control the affairs of the American league champions. These men have directly permitted it to become known that a change in the management of their team is likely to take place, despite the fact that Miller Huggins led it to its first pennant.

Reports from the east indicate that the owners of the Yankees feel that they need another experienced outfielder. They fear, it is said that Judge Landis will suspend Babe Ruth for one year for deliberately violating the law against world's series participants playing in exhibition games after the season and want to be prepared for this. It is almost a 10 to 1 bet they are not expecting Landis to do anything of the kind and it is not Harry Hooper they are after as much as Gleason himself, a man they are confident can handle Ruth and other recalcitrant players on the team.

Yankees After Gleason
Information has come from different sources recently that Gleason could get one of the biggest salaries in the American league from a certain club. The name of the team was not mentioned, but it is thought to be New York. The outfit that Gleason defeated in the majority of games contested this last summer with the White Sox. It is known that Ruppert and Hustin have the greatest admiration for the managerial ability of Gleason, and that they would gladly offer him a contract at triple the figures he is getting from President Comiskey. Tampering with players and managers is prohibited in baseball. Therefore, if Gleason contemplates a change or has opened negotiations with New York for a trade he has done so with the permission of the owners of the White Sox club. The manager of the South Side machine has not signed a contract for 1922 and has never publicly signified a desire to quit Comiskey. Had he entertained an inclination to leave he could have done so a year ago, as he was offered a flattering proposition from one of the western teams in the league, but he was too loyal to the owner of the Sox to desert him after the scandal that disrupted a great club.

Huggins is Criticized

With all due respect to Miller Huggins, sentiment seems to be against him in New York. Throughout the summer he was severely criticized from all directions for the manner in which he ran the club and particularly handled the pitchers. One heard time and again of difficulties with his players and that he would have won the championship in

GLIMPSE AT THE WORLD OF SPORT

MAIDENS STOPPED YOUNG AFTER LONG RUN FOR SCORE; HOW B. H. S. LOST TO PETES

In its account of the rugby set-off there last Saturday, the Peterboro Examiner says:

Breyfogle kicked off for the Petes, and Belleville immediately assumed the aggressive. They gained on a couple of line plunges, and then Maidens went around the end for twenty yards on a third down when P.C.I. were expecting a kick. Peterboro braced and forced the visitors to kick, the ball going into touch close on the line. P.C.I. worked their way out to their fifteen yard line and then Young pulled off his great run. With Belleville wings drawn out to stop a combination run around the end, the Petes' quarter back, Young, shot through a hole in the line, dodging through the Belleville backs, and set out for the distant touch line. He ran 35 yards before Maidens pulled him down from behind a yard out. On the first down Hay bucked over for a try, which Breyfogle converted neatly. Peterboro, 6; Belleville, 0.

P.C.I. continued to press and another fine run by Young carried the ball to Belleville's 15 yard line, and Grime kicked over and Risher forced a rouse. Peterboro, 7; Belleville, 0.

In the second quarter the Petes maintained their advantage. Young's runs through the line and good work by the back division kept Belleville on the defensive, and twice in succession Grime kicked to the dead line for singles, bringing the total up to 9 to 0.

Getting outside lost them a try in the next few minutes and spoiled the effect of some of the prettiest work of the day. With the ball in the middle, Rishor took a long pass, and tore off thirty yards before being downed. Fanning fifteen more on a neat pass from Young, and then another long pass to Rishor enabled that player to carry the ball to Belleville's one yard line. P.C.I. bucked over in the first down, but one of the wings was dislodged and the play was not allowed, Belleville gaining possession of the ball and a golden chance was lost.

Play was much more even in the last half, and for the most part was confined to midfield. The Belleville line tightened up and stopped Peterboro's end runs by good tackling, while the backs kicked more frequently and gained ground as a result. The Petes had no chance of scoring in this third period, when Breyfogle tried to drop goal from the twenty yard line he kicked low. Dies saved a rouse by running the ball out in good style.

Neither side succeeded in getting within scoring range in the last period and the end of the game found the figures still 9 to 0.

The P.C.I. have had but one point scored on them in three games.

CARPENTIER COMING BACK

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Those winds that carry tales over the water have consistently lately that Georges Carpentier has shown his Greek god-like shape in America for the last time.

"That's not so," Captain Thjerry Mallet, personal friend and American adviser of the Frenchman said here today.

"I have not received a letter from Georges," he went on, "and I can say emphatically that he will be back in February to fulfill his contract to meet Tom Gibbons."

a canter had he not wrecked his pitching staff. He was even accused of stupidity in the operation of his twirlers. On arriving in New York before the world's series I heard that it was lucky for Huggins that the Yankees won the pennant, and that if they had not he would have been ousted. It was ever said he would go despite that.

Rumors have come from St. Louis, too, that Huggins would not lead the Yankees in 1922. He managed the Cardinals for many years and has lots of friends there in whom he might have confided the possibility of his detestation. Predictions are that he is to be given the bounce, which inclines one to suspect that Gleason held his conference with Ruppert and Hustin for another purpose than to arrange a deal for outfielder Hooper.

Q.A.S. WON 19-11

An interesting basketball game was played between Q.A.S. and the Maidens of the High School, on the B.H.S. grounds, the score being 19 to 11 in favor of Q.A.S. The lineup as follows:

Stella Melchior, G. Gilbert, Midgets.—Forwards, E. Robertson, E. Kily; guards, H. Lattimer, H. Foster; centre, Stella Melchior, G. Gilbert.

Anne Street School.—Forwards, M. Holloway, L. Currie; guards, Ruth Cronk, Emily McGlashan; centre, M. Holloway, L. Sprague.

"Carpentier starts training today at La Guerche to meet some Australian heavyweight named Cook. Of course we know he isn't much but the English wanted to see Georges in action again and there was no one else in sight.

"The training for the bout, which is to be staged in London on December 8, and the fight itself, will get Carpentier into the best condition after his long rest. His hand is better now and according to his letter he will be able to put all his strength behind it."

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

In last night's bowling league fixture, the K.V.A. Club Team started out well against the Excelsiors by winning the first game but from on they weakened and Rns. Woodley's plan finished up 72 points to the good. This game was a very fair sample of good average bowling, both teams rolling well up over the two thousand class. The game scheduled for today is Bowlers vs. Shops.

Two Men Killed Tearing Down Mill

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 9.—Walter Shaw and John Clark were killed almost instantly yesterday afternoon while helping to wreck an old grist mill on the Indian river about four miles from Owen Sound. The next to the last bent was being lowered, and the two men were standing on the sill beside the last bent paying out the rope to let it down when the bent beside which they were standing suddenly swerved. One end shifted from the tenant, and the whole section swung around and collapsed.

John Clark was struck by the heavy timber and knocked to the ground, thirty feet below. When picked up he was dead.

Walter Shaw was near the outer end of the bent, and was struck by the timbers. He died about five minutes later.

An Expert and A Reliable Car

UNUSUAL FEAT PERFORMED BY J. ROBINSON OF NIAGARA FALLS, ONTARIO

From the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, to Niagara Falls, Ontario, in one continuous trip is the amazing feat performed by J. Robinson of Niagara Falls, Ontario, in his McLaughlin-Buick 44 Special Roadster. This record of performance has seldom, if ever been equaled and would do credit to any car or any driver.

Mr. J. Robinson, of Niagara Falls, arrived back at his garage at 1.30 in the morning of Monday, October 17th. He left the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, the day before at 7 o'clock in the morning and driving himself the whole distance of 513 miles, made the trip at an average speed of a little over 25 miles per hour in daylight and dark.

The point which is deserving of notice is that he drove a Master Six, 1919 Model McLaughlin Roadster which already had 40,000 miles to its credit. He lost an hour in the country when he ran out of gas and another hour with tire trouble. He made a stop of an hour at Malone, N.Y., and forty-five minutes each at Rochester and Watertown, N. Y.

QUEEN CAN BEAT M'GILL AND HAND VARSITY THE TITLE

MONTREAL, Nov. 9.—The Herald's sport editor, E. W. Ferguson, says:

The football expert's weekly routine, so far as concerns the Intercollegiate series this season, is to prophesy Tuesday; amplify Wednesday; rectify Friday, and Alibi Monday. This being Prophecy Day, it seems timely to forecast that Queen's is likely to whip McGill up in Kingston Saturday, and that all the discussion as to the locality for a play-off between McGill and Varsity seems to have been so much wasted air.

Queen's almost upset the apple cart Saturday when they gave Varsity a tussle that the Blue and White will remember for many a day. On this form, they will beat McGill at Kingston, and Varsity will then be winners of the Intercollegiate title. McGill will have to show vast improvement to defeat Queen's at Kingston. The Tricolor stunned Varsity when adopted an open game, the peculiar forte of the Toronto team, and the wider the game was opened up the better Queen's appeared. Varsity easily defeated McGill through the use of an aerial attack. If McGill should beat Queen's Saturday, it means a play-off, but if Queen's wins, Varsity will be champions without a play-off. Queen's cannot become champions, or even get into a tie by winning, but should they defeat McGill will hold the unique honor of having beaten both the other clubs on the circuit.

The McGill team gets down to work this afternoon on the frozen stadium gridiron, to put in four days of grueling work.

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 9.—Calgary will be represented by one team in the professional hockey league this winter, as the Tigers and Canadians at an executive meeting, decided to amalgamate, subject to the sanction of the league.

UNITED STATES PLANS FOR NAVY EQUAL BRITAIN'S

Proposal to go Before Arms Conference to Make Two Fleets very Similar

HALT BUILDING OF CRAFT Abandon Much Naval Construction Already Provided for by 3 Nations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The American proposal for the limitation of naval armament, by the big powers was completed today, and will be submitted to the delegates from Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy as soon as the international conference gets under way.

Under the plan worked out by the Navy Department and approved by the American delegation, the great naval powers would agree to halt competitive building of battle craft and keep their navies within limits strictly defined in the agreement.

The capital ship is taken as the unit of naval strength in the American plan. Each party to the compact would maintain not more than the number of capital ships fixed in the agreement, and would construct no additional capital ships, except to replace those obsolete vessels actually scrapped.

To Fix Number of Ships—Each nation would be permitted to maintain not more than a fixed proportion of destroyers, submarines and other subsidiary ships. Limitation of the number of naval aeroplanes is recognized as a difficult problem because of the ease in evasion of an agreement in this particular.

Under the American plan practically a parity of the British and American navies would be established, with a wide gap between their strength and that of Japan. This would mean the abandonment of considerable naval construction already provided for by all three nations.

OBITUARY

J. W. MALLORY.

J. W. Mallory, who for years was a resident of this city and who some fifteen years ago moved to Calgary, Alta., after a prolonged illness, died in that city Tuesday, 2nd Nov. 1921.

The funeral will be from the C. P. R. station, Belleville, on the arrival of the noon train Thursday next.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Catharine Donovan wish to express their appreciation of the kindness and sympathy shown by their friends on the occasion of the death of their mother and of the spiritual and royal offerings.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. John Judy and Robbie wish to thank the kind friends, also the teachers and pupils of Cannifton School for the fruits and flowers and also the post card shower given to Robbie while in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston.

FUNERAL OF MISS HAM.

The funeral of the late Miss Sarah E. Ham took place from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Deacon, Queen street, Rev. Dr. S. Cleaver officiating. During service Mrs. Keober sang. The burial was made in the Belleville cemetery. The bearers were C. H. Grass, J. Caldwell, F. E. O'Flynn, C. Bogart, J. A. Camplin and H. A. Morgan.

LATE MRS. DONOVAN.

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Catharine Donovan was laid to rest on Monday morning in St. James cemetery, Rev. Father Killen officiating. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Father Killen at St. Michael's Church which was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased lady and her family.

Mrs. Catharine Donovan, whose residence was on the Cannifton Road, was the widow of the late Michael Donovan and was born in Belleville in the year 1857, being a daughter of the late Thomas Mangam. All her life was spent in this city. Her last illness was of three months' duration. She was a faithful member of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church.

Mourning her loss are three daughters, Mrs. T. W. Harris, and Misses Mary and Helen, of this city; and five sons, William, of Alberta, Eugene, Leo, James and John, of Belleville.

The floral and spiritual offerings were as follows: Sheaves—Miss Hanna Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes.

Wreath to be Assembled in Montreal for Placing on American Grave

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—Both at Quebec and at Montreal the reception given to Mrs. Amelia Emma McCudden, Britain's War Mother, who arrived Saturday evening on the Metagama was such as is tendered only to the greatest and the war mother who is to lay a wreath of flowers from every part of the British Empire on the tomb of the Unknown American Soldier, was profoundly touched.

Mrs. McCudden, who lost three sons and her husband in the war, felt it incumbent to give out first a message before talking on more general topics. "Please tell the war mothers of Canada," she said, "that all their sisters of Great Britain send them their deepest love and sympathy."

PROF. ROY AT ROTARY On British Commission in Silesia—Tells of World Affairs

Prof. Roy of Queen's University staff in English Literature today addressed Belleville Rotarians at their luncheon at Hotel Quinte on the problems facing the Washington Conference. Prof. Roy was one of the British representatives on the Allied Control Board in Lower Silesia and spent two years in considering the problems of European settlement. He was accordingly fully qualified to speak on the world issues which will be under discussion this week.

He spoke for some forty minutes. He was not pessimistic, neither was he overly optimistic as to the world situation. He was somewhat hopeful of the Washington parley on disarmament in that Washington was far away from the Old World centres of intrigue, and that a more dispassionate view of things would therefore be taken.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS JOIN IN GIVING FOCH WREATH

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—Canada joined with Michigan in welcoming Marshal Foch of France. Windsor sent a number of the Maple Leaf soldiers to participate in the parade in the U.S. city, including a Highland band. It was one of the few times Canadian soldiers have crossed the international line here, the last being when a contingent came over to extend a welcome to Col. Roosevelt on the occasion of his visit here about a year before his death.

G. W. V. A. Dance a Fine Success

The Armistice at home under direction of the Belleville branch of the Great War Veterans last evening at the Bennett Academy was one of the most successful assemblies of the season. Three hundred of the veterans and their friends, with a large number of guests from outside points attended the function and made the night joyous with the dance. The hall had been prettily decorated for the occasion and looked its best when the dancers took their place on the floor.

Letters to the Editor

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

Editor Ontario:—This is a repetition of a great many appeals that have been made for Old Age Pension. All the other appeals have been made to the Government at Ottawa. This one is made to the people, and will say to the people that all the nations under the British flag have adopted a national system of Old Age Pension except Canada, and although the Government has been appealed to by nearly all classes of the community, nevertheless they remain deaf to our prayers, and our communications, and after the Government has broken all pledges and promises they have checked enough to come to the people to be returned. There is one thing sure, they cannot get my recommendation. We want a Government at Ottawa that will represent the people and the whole people, which their unequal policy called "Protection" fails to do. The word "Protection" is intended to deceive the electors by making it appear that their disastrous and unequal tax is a protection to our Canadian manufacturers. On the other hand it closes down our industries and makes unemployment, and every move they make is a proof that they are making unemployment. There are probably about 5,000 old people over 65 years old, and if the Government knew enough to give 5,000 old people a rest on Old Age Pension, it would take 5,000 unemployed young people to take their places, which would make a circulation of the earnings of 5,000 younger people to boost business, as well as the circulation of the Old Age Pension. Now sir, the time has come when we must be up with the inventive world and do away with the old fogey policy of the Conservative party, which has a record of ruination to Canada, by adopting the platform of the Labor party which is an up-to-date policy, as it is my impression that the laboring people have produced everything in this world excepting the bare earth and will have to get in the Legislative Assembly and finish the whole work in adjustment of the statute.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—United States and Canadian prohibition authorities have entered into a "gentleman's agreement" designed to reduce the smuggling of liquor across the border to a minimum, it was announced today at federal prohibition headquarters.

SMUGGLING OF LIQUOR

Smuggling of liquor across the border from Canada has reached such proportions, it is said, that it requires a special campaign to be snuffed out to check the evil. Steps to organize such a campaign are believed to have been discussed at the Saturday conference.

Information obtainable was that over the 150 roads leading into Vermont, across the Canadian border, high-powered limousines are constantly bringing liquor into the United States. In some cases, it was said, these automobiles are equipped with a special body and tank so designed as to attract no attention from the casual observers, yet arranged for carrying a large quantity of liquor. Even the spare tires, it is said, are often filled with liquor.

HOCKEY AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—The lid is off! Aura Lee, Granites and Varsity, assisted by about three hundred ralhirds, pried the top off the local hockey season at the Arena last evening between the hours of five and seven, and while the thirty odd athletes who sported themselves in assorted sweaters contended themselves with skating up and down the ice and taking an occasional shot at goal, there was enough to the work-outs to raise enthusiasm and predictions amongst the spectators. The managers of the teams did not produce any new players, but all claim to have surprises in store for the fans shortly.

BELFAST PRESS ALLEGES "PLOT" TO BEAT ULSTER

"Careful Canning of Lloyd George Made Successful Thru Unionist Treachery" BIG PARLEY THURSDAY Ulster Cabinet to Meet in London to Discuss Demands from Sinn Fein

LONDON, Nov. 8.—An important meeting for the consideration of the phases of the Irish question was held in Downing Street this morning, the participants being the Premier, Winston Churchill, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead and Sir Gordon Howard. It is believed that the meeting concerned itself with the legal steps necessary for the functioning of Ulster's parliament.

BELFAST PAPER SORE BELFAST, Nov. 8.—The Northern Whig presents the typical Ulster view of the present Irish parley. In commenting on the summoning to London of the Ulster Cabinet, it says: "Dragging Ulster into the picture is not an impulsive act; it is the essence of the careful, cunning plot which Lloyd George hopes to make successful through the treachery of men calling themselves Unionists."

It concludes that the "plot" will fail and that its authors will be driven from power. ULSTER CONFERENCE THURSDAY LONDON, Nov. 8.—The discussions on an Irish settlement are nearing a climax. After a long conference with Mr. Lloyd George, Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, summoned the members of his Cabinet from Belfast for a meeting in London to consider the proposals made by the British Government.

The members of the Ulster Cabinet, who will attend the meeting include John Milne Barbour, the Marquis of Londonderry; U. N. Andrews and E. A. Archdale, Thomas Moles, chairman of the committees of the Ulster Parliament, will also join in the conference.

The official announcement of this action also stated that there would be a further conference with Mr. Lloyd George, Thursday afternoon.

The Irish situation, it was frankly admitted in official circles, is in an extremely critical stage. It is understood that the Ulster Premier informed Mr. Lloyd George that he could not possibly think of shouldering the responsibility of accepting the proposals made to him by the Prime Minister, and would be compelled to consult his colleagues in the Ulster Parliament and also the representatives of the Ulster Parliament group in Westminster.

Sir James Craig authorized the statement that Mr. Lloyd George had consented to meet the Ulster delegation after their meeting meeting with Sir James. Everything, it is said, now depends on Thursday's meetings and if the Ulster representatives definitely reject the compromise proposals it is regarded as possible that Mr. Lloyd George will carry out his threat to resign from office.

TABLET WAS DEDICATED At St. Thomas' Church on Sunday morning service there was dedicated a bronze tablet to the memory of Thomas Wragge and his wife, Amelia Wragge. Mr. Wragge was for many years a warden of the church and is remembered by the older residents of the city. The tablet was erected by the family and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Wragge. Ven. Archdeacon Beamish performed the dedicatory ceremony.

SOMME WOUND HASTENS DEATH

William Alfred Blaind, Who was Invalided Home Now Succumbs in New York NATIVE OF BELLEVILLE

Treated in Toronto and Elsewhere for Injuries Gained in Action—Leaves Family

William Alfred Blaind, a native of this city and son of Mr. Thomas Blaind, Mary street, died today in the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, New York City, according to a telegram received here.

His death was indirectly due to wounds received in the Battle of the Somme in 1916. He was invalided home in January, 1918, and spent some time in Euclid Hall, Toronto, later going to visit a brother in Rochester. While there he was taken ill and went to New York City for treatment. He had been there for some months.

The late W. A. Blaind was born in Belleville January 7th, 1878 and spent his early life here. For some time he lived in Toronto, in the early days of the war he enlisted in Toronto and went overseas with the 74th Battalion, C.E.F.

He followed the occupation of painting and decorating. He is well remembered here for his association as drummer with the bugle band of the Fifteenth Reg't, A.L.I. and the Johnstone Pipe Band.

Surviving are his widow and one daughter, Emily, living in Toronto and his father, one sister, Mrs. H. Andrews, of Belleville and two brothers, Thomas of Rochester, N.Y., and Ernest of Belleville.

The body will be brought here for interment. Mrs. H. A. Horton, of West Moira is spending a couple of weeks in Deseronto with her daughter, Mrs. G. M. Campbell, while Mr. Campbell is deer hunting.

'GET-RICH-QUICK' SCHEMES IN WEST

Prairie Province to Hold Convention to Discuss Preventive Measures LAW INADEQUATE

Gang of Stock Gunmen Broken up—Cleaned up in Ontario

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 8.—Plans to prevent "get-rich-quick" schemes on the part of dishonest persons will be discussed at a meeting of representatives of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Ontario, which opens at Regina November 10th.

"The recent invasion of Manitoba by professional stock gunmen, from the United States, after clearing up a million in Ontario, clearly shows that existing legal machinery must be strengthened to prevent the operation in the provinces of financial crooks of this character," A. Wilson Smith, secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, said today.

"Fortunately" the Public Utilities Commission became aware of what was being attempted in time to warn every company by letter who had a certificate under the Sale of Shares Act to be on their guard against employing these unscrupulous sales-agents.

"With the assistance of the attorney-general's department the gang was broken up, and one of the operators arrested and convicted. The remainder, seeing the game was up, left the city."

Dufort was putting up a double window, when the framework to which he was holding gave way and he fell fracturing his skull.

Four Drank Poison in Champagns and Die at Suicide Banquet

LONDON, Nov. 5.—London has switched her interest in the Irish negotiations for a few hours to absorb the details of one of the grimmest and most cold-blooded tragedies of her recent history.

The story of a terrible death feast which resulted in the extermination of four persons in a suburb of the city shows that one of the victims, a former actress, who was noted not only for her striking personal beauty but for the individuality of her acting, lived in many cities in Canada.

David Townsend took his bride to the Dominion by way of the United States about seven years ago, and the couple spent several years in Toronto, Calgary, as well as on the Pacific Coast. About two years ago the mother of the bride, who was then in comfortable circumstances, brought her daughter home, the husband not accompanying her. Since that time the family fortunes have taken a turn for the worse until last week the mother, step-father and

INCH OF SNOW FOR HOLIDAY

First Real Fall of the Year Comes Over Month Later Than in 1920 MADE FOOTING POOR

Folks Now Look for the Arrival of Indian Summer After First Snow

The first real snowstorm of the season was experienced on Monday morning when Belleville and district were found wrapped in Nature's white mantle. It was over a month earlier than this last year when the flakes first visited the city.

On Saturday afternoon there were a few snow flakes visible in the air, and on Sunday a few more were to be seen, but they did not constitute a fall such as that of Monday morning.

The footing early yesterday was none too pleasant for those who had to get out. Fortunately for a greater part of the population there was no need of stepping out into the slush. By noon the walks and roads were clear.

Many are now looking for the arrival of Indian Summer, which is said to follow the first snowfall.

Starch in Moscow Tones Up the Crowd

MOSCOW, Oct. 15.—(by Mail)—Boiled shirts made their reappearance here at the opening performance of grand opera. There were seven of them and not one was the sort that one scrubs with a sponge.

This extremely bougeois attire was an announcement that starch has arrived in the Moscow markets with the changed economic policy.

The entire audience in the great opera house heralded the advent of a new era in Russia. Seats were sold in the old-time way. It cost 34,000 rubles to have an excellent seat in the pit or first balcony and the seats were all full as well as the galleries. The mammoth auditorium is just as brilliant in its dull gold and red interior as it was in the days of the Czar.

The initial opera was Glinka's Russian and Ludmilla. It was brilliantly staged.

There was a marked difference between the opera crowd this year and that of three years ago. In the opening months of the Soviet regime, Bolsheviks of both sexes nearly all wore black leather coats, which they dramatized very heavily at the opera and in all public places. The absorption of a large bourgeois population and three years of experience in government have changed the dominant party. The members have softened and become more conventional.

The percentage of bobbed-haired, masculine looking women is smaller. Femininity is reasserting itself. The old-time Russian courtesy is reappearing in all gatherings. Red army soldiers are now generally shaved and have their boots polished.

The constant lecturing of the imbeculate Trotsky has sunk into the army. He is a great stickler for proper care of clothing and equipment and the same word has been generally passed along in all government departments.

NAVAL BASES IN PACIFIC PERIL TO PEACE OF JAPAN

Establishment of United States Naval Bases Obstructing Disarmament HUGE ALLIANCE

Alliance of Colored Races Might Nullify White Superiority

TOKYO, Nov. 8.—An inspired political article published in the Asahi outlines what is believed to be Japan's stand on the subject of fortifications. It indicates that a reduction of the Hawaiian forts are necessary to the limitation of the Japanese fleet, while the abandonment of other bases is vital.

The article, which is attracting much attention in official circles, says in part: "From the standpoint of the Japanese navy, the establishment of Hawaii as a base for a fleet twice as large as the Japanese navy is a menace to Japan." The reason Japanese naval authorities have dismissed with a smile the talk of war with America was because the distance between Japan and America rendered naval operations impossible. "The bringing of a naval base 2,100 miles nearer Japan than San Francisco adds just so much to the possibilities for such a war. For this reason Japan's naval standard will have to be changed from one of a minimum essential to the national defense to a standard based on America, as a hypothetical navy. Therefore, it is proper for our delegates to bring up a proposal prohibiting the establishment of a naval base at Hawaii as well as in the Islands in closer proximity to our seas."

After citing the fact that the mandate forbids fortifying the Islands of the South Sea while the Bonivis have not yet been fortified, the article resumes: "Therefore if America removes the fortifications in the Philippines and Guam we shall be one step further in reaching an understanding which will permit an agreement on the limitation of armaments. If America declares that she will not establish further fortification in Hawaii then an agreement can be reached. If America insists that fortifications in Hawaii are absolutely essential, it is certain that the discussion will become heated."

Lord Northcliffe's condemnation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and his warnings to the Australians and Filipinos to be on their guard against Japan are evoking a large amount of criticism from all sections of the Japanese press.

Bartholotte is held by the police on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. Paulina, the mother, and a two-year-old child may recover.

A dense cloud of vapor, pouring from the second storey of Bartholotte's home, attracted a passerby.

RETURNED MEN ORGANIZE TO ENTER POLITICAL ARENA

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Another political party has entered the arena in Toronto, and may have to be reckoned with in the coming general election. At a meeting of returned soldiers held in St. Paul's Hall last night it was decided to enter the campaign, and to call conventions at as early a date as possible for the purpose of selecting veterans' candidates to run in the ridings of East Toronto and West Toronto.

One or two of those present suggested that soldier candidates should be selected for all the ridings in the

BASE REDUCTION ON BRITISH UNIT

Naval Requirements of Great Britain Will Be Standard for World

DELEGATES HOPEFUL
British Admiralty Will go far To Ensure Understanding of Policies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Both reduction and limitation of naval armament—this is the ultimate purpose of the United States Government in approaching the arms conference.

"What does it mean?" is the question asked by many including representatives of those participating powers who already have reached Washington.

It means in the first place the establishment of a unit strength which Great Britain would regard as the minimum compatible with her national safety and her extraordinary needs for protecting her marine trade. In this connection it must be remembered that England produces on her own islands only about ten per cent. of the products she requires for existence. Ninety per cent. of her living necessities are brought from foreign countries.

In this connection, too, it cannot be forgotten that England through the power of her great fleet was largely responsible for saving civilization in the last war. So, in estimating the minimum naval force with which England might feel safe, these things are taken into consideration.

Once having established this standard there would be offered a general program of dismantling a certain amount of tonnage in different classes—battleships, cruisers, and less important craft. Retirement of these vessels is what is meant by "reduction" of naval armament. There remains then the problem of "limitation." This is being worked out on the following basis:

The standard having been fixed, future building would be limited to replacements. All powers would know exactly what all other powers had or contemplated. National budgets could be accurately forecasted far ahead and the removal of the uncertainty of armament burdens would be reflected immediately in lowered taxes.

This is what is meant by "limitation" or naval armaments. In connection with such a program however, there would have to be created a commission on new agencies of warfare. To keep all nations informed of modern inventions and improvements in order to keep their naval, as well as land equipment, equally up to date.

FOR NAILS WHICH SALT WATER HAS ROBBED OF BEAUTY

PARIS—Such a lot of fun and good times but—your hands! Whoever supposed you'd come home from your vacation with the skin around your nails so tough and all of the pretty pinkness gone?

Of course it's the salt water that did it. You just about lived in your bathing suit, you said when you came home, and those dreadful nails are the result.

Salt water does harden skin and it will destroy the translucent pinkness just as much immersion in water promotes the growth of the cuticle.

And it's this cuticle that we're going to talk about, especially after it has been treated to so much salt water that it is unyielding.

Mustn't ever prod and push the cuticle as if to lift it. That produces rough uneven edges and makes a place for soil to gather.

The one really good way to treat hardened cuticle is to let it soak in cold cream. Of course this is impossible for the girl who is employed or the woman who does her own housework unless she does it at night. To scurry up an old pair of kid gloves, fill the finger tips with cream and then put them on just before you retire. A few days of such treatment and the skin will be soft and pliable. And there'll be a lot of it just about ready to come off. Clip all of the loose skin away, being careful not to cut down too far.

Then, in the future, when you wash your hands put a drop of glycerine on them; rub it in, and with a soft linen cloth wipe over the nails while they are still damp with the glycerine. Follow the line of the cuticle with a gentle pressure. This tends to loosen and soften and eliminates a great deal of cutting.

HEAR ALL PHASES OF DAIRYING AT FIFTEENTH ELLIOTT DINNER; HON. MANNING DOHERTY A GUEST

Mr. John Elliott Reviews Situation Affecting Cheese and Dairy Industries in This Section—Dozen Speakers Give Views on Different Angles of the Business—The Details.

Ontario will in the course of the next generation devote its attention mainly to dairying, declared the Hon. Manning Doherty, guest of honor at the fifteenth annual dinner tendered by Mr. John Elliott to the Belleville Cheese Board. So Mr. Elliott has in his efforts to stimulate agriculture in general and dairying in particular been following the path of progress for the past decade and a half.

Thursday's dinner at the Hotel Quatre was one of the biggest affairs which ever graced that hostelry. One hundred and ninety guests accepted the invitation of Mr. Elliott and enjoyed the spread of choicest delicacies the least among them being some old cheese of the Belleville district.

Mr. F. E. O'Flynn was chairman and toastmaster for the fifteen years. He never failed to preside over the functions. Yesterday he occupied the chair with his usual grace and put through the comprehensive program with expedition.

Introduced by the chairman as the man who had revolutionized banking and established the annual dinner to the men and rendered the most signal service to agriculture, Mr. Elliott was received with cheers as he rose to address his guests. After extending a warm welcome to his many friends, the host referred to this year's dairymen would have an opportunity of hearing the Minister of Agriculture.

ERRATIC CHEESE PRICES
The season's prices in cheese have been very erratic, declared Mr. Elliott. The price opened in May at 20 to 22 1/2c. and during the month declined to 18 1/2c. In June it went down to 14c. but before the end of July it had sold as high as 24c. In August it was selling at 21c. and 22c. From September 1st there has been a gradual decline until 14c. was reached a week ago.

"Fortunately for the dairymen the highest prices prevailed when the milk was the greatest."

The host referred to the steps which had been taken to get the cheese of the district before the British buyers. The government, and the city and county councils had operated in the effort with the result of better prices in the overseas markets for Bay of Quinte products.

It was pointed out that the cheese business had received a mighty impetus in the winning of the Empire prize at London by the Mountain View Factory exhibit, made by Mr. J. A. Beckwith.

QUINTE CHEESE AT HOTELS
In Canada the market had been cultivated for the product of this section with the result that the Toronto Board of Trade served it at their dinners and that one of the leading hotels in Canada served it on its tables.

How trade has been opened up in the cheese and butter business with Newfoundland, was told by Mr. Elliott who read extracts from letters to show the favor with which the Belleville district dairy products were received in that colony.

He also referred to the objection to the Montreal inspection which would mean the loss of the identity of the Bay district.

EXPORT SITUATION
Interesting figures were quoted by Mr. Elliott to show the increase in production of cheese during the past season. Receipts at Montreal for the period of May 1st to Oct. 29 increased 129,502 boxes over the same period in 1920. Exports this year from Montreal increased 8,806 boxes. There is still in storage at Montreal or shipped to the U. S. 183,749 boxes.

Mr. Elliott compared the amount of Canadian cheese in England on October 1st, 1913, 298,000 boxes, and Oct. 1st, 1921, 271,000 boxes. New Zealand cheese totalled 60,900

TRADE CONDITIONS

Trade conditions were reviewed, showing that the total trade of Canada from March 31st to September 30th, was in 1920, $1,261,000,000 and in 1921, $1,210,000,000, a decrease in six months of $547,000,000.

Mr. Elliott stated that there was an improvement in the excess of imports over exports for March 31st to Sept. 30th. The total trade of Canada in six months of $547,000,000.

Interesting facts are that government deposits have declined $4,300,000 in a year and that bank deposits have declined $214,000,000 for 1921, while still $985,000,000 above the year 1914. There are additional savings of government bonds of $1,500,000,000.

The net national debt in 1914 was $38 million, in 1921 it is 2,332 million, as against 2,276 million in 1920. In September the debt increased 22 million, and in Sept. 1921 decreased 11 million.

Of the cheese produced in Canada 62 per cent is made in Ontario and 34 per cent in Quebec.

On his trip to Prince Edward Island Mr. Elliott found one factory with 213 patrons producing $109,000 in cheese annually.

"There is one great need," said Mr. Elliott. "That is for old cheese. There is none on hand to fill orders." He told how he had a scheme which would make possible a supply of old cheese a year hence. He advised such factories to put away perhaps ten boxes and he would see that the money to finance the retention of these was forthcoming as a loan.

Then next season there would be about the same number of boxes of cheese which would be marketed at a good price.

"Although the national debt in Canada is very heavy, we are solvent. Do not sacrifice your cattle that time for the security of money because there are banks that will help you through. We shall have need of the cattle for many purposes."

"My object in having this dinner to bring our urban and rural citizens together that they may better understand other's needs, and cultivate the spirit of co-operation which is so essential in the proper development of the Bay of Quinte district, and further, that they may join with me in extending a cordial welcome to our esteemed guest, the Honourable Manning Doherty."

A comprehensive address delivered with all the earnestness of which he is capable was that of the Hon. Manning Doherty who was received with a warmth of welcome by the company. His subject was dairying and the best methods to stimulate the industry which he said was ultimately to be the main pursuit along agricultural lines in Ontario. He spoke emphatically in favor of co-operative marketing organizations and system inaugurated by the Ontario government.

Mr. Elliott, the minister declared, had been the founder of a method of bringing agriculture into prominence the fame of which has spread all over Ontario. He called the guests the members of the family of Mr. Elliott. They he said delighted to do honor to a man who saw his duty so clearly.

HOSTS CO-OPERATION IN IMMIGRATION

"I appreciate the co-operation of our host," stated Mr. Doherty, "in our immigration work. He had co-operated on land and sea in an effort to bring the best class of farm help to the Ontario farm." The minister stepped aside to remark that he did not believe in a policy of immigration to leave their native land, and from foreign countries to enter whether they were desirable or not as future citizens. He then passed to a consideration of romantic days of pioneering in this province.

He would like to see in every text book taught in our schools, I would like to see emblazoned everywhere the deeds of our pioneers.

How shall the national debt be reduced, he asked. In two ways—by increasing the number of those on whose shoulders the load must rest, and by increasing production and the gaining of new markets in the present war for markets which will continue for the next generation. Mr. Doherty stated that he had now under way a campaign to bring over five thousand British farmers for five thousand Ontario farms this winter. He did not believe in urging British to leave their native land, but if they are determined to emigrate he wanted to see them come to

RURAL CREDIT HELP TO BANKS

"Some regard me as an enemy of the banks," declared the speaker, praising Mr. Elliott as banker and citizen. "If the banks of the country were managed as Mr. Elliott manages his, I doubt if there would be any crying need for the introduction of the rural credit scheme into Ontario."

"As Minister of Agriculture I deem it my duty to take every occasion to go here and there to discuss problems, so as not to lose that intimate touch that is required if the department is to serve the needs of the people of Ontario."

MORE AND MORE INTO DAIRYING
"The province has with each succeeding year gone more and more into the branch of dairying and my prediction is that in fifty years it will be largely a dairy country, because as time goes on land will grow more and more valuable and as dairying is one branch of agriculture in which the turnover is greatest, the farmer is inclined to it to meet the needs that face them."

The production of dairy products in Ontario is from one third to one half that of the whole of Canada. Last year the output was worth $24,615,290, butter $21,245,664; in condensed products $14,000,000; in ice cream, etc. $11,000,000; consumption in city and town $35,000,000, a total of over $106,000,000 while the total for Canada was $236,000,000.

"To my mind it might be just as easily $200,000,000 in Ontario, producing up to three hundred dollars of products can be disposed of and a profitable price prevail."

The national debt of Canada imposes an annual interest burden on a family of over three hundred dollars. Canada will pay her debt. Hon. Mr. Doherty declared. It is up to every one to see that our public men realize that they shall so conduct affairs that production shall not be discouraged. There is no other way of paying the debt except by increasing exports over imports. To agriculture we must look for the discharge of the obligation. In the main, we must open up channels of trade for dairy products.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING
"In the matter of getting markets I am one of those who feel that a government can do much and too much. Canada must be prepared for this war for markets and take the most up-to-date method of marketing her products. The outstanding method of holding a market is standardization of quality. Canada must accept responsibility for the quality of her exports. It is up to hold out against other countries in the matter of foreign trade."

The best method of getting new markets is by the formation of strong co-operative marketing organizations, not pay-fed industries. These can adopt standards and grading that can be enforced on those that use this system of trade, which a government cannot well demand.

The minister argued that domestic markets must be looked after. "It would be better in Canada, if we could consume two or three times as much cheese."

The government stands ready to assist in every way, but believes the industry should stand on its own feet.

Mr. Doherty devoted some attention to suggestions as to how to improve the situation. "Today it takes one pound more of milk to make a pound of cheese than it did 20 years ago. We can never be efficient with 2.6% milk from a four thousand cow," he emphasized. "Nearly nine hundred herds under test showed milk running from 1.6 per cent to 5 per cent or an average of 3.44%. Intelligent weeding out of herds is necessary. There is no reason why 10,000 pounds per cow should be brought up to the standard of 20 years ago."

ONTARIO LEADS IN DAIRYING
Because the department had gone to the trouble of sending cheese to the show in London this fall, Ontario had swept everything in prizes. Mountain View factory taking first and Madoc (G. H. Baird) taking second and a Perth factory third. Ontario in the fruit shown in London took the challenge trophy, four gold and five silver medals.

A MANUFACTURING CENTRE
That the principles enunciated by the minister would be applied to industry in Belleville result in a phenomenal growth here was the view of Mr. R. J. Graham, who spoke as manufacturer and farmer. He related how in the old days there were seventeen sawmills in and about Belleville and the population one third French speaking. That phase of Belleville's life has passed because conditions are different. The raw materials are at the doors of the city and Belleville can be made a great industrial centre.

The toast to the Belleville Cheese Board of Trade was spoken to by President, Mr. Robert M. Mitchell. He spoke of greater home consumption of cheese and praised Mr. Elliott's work in the dairy interest.

President Jameson Bone of the Chamber of Commerce spoke a few words.

PRIZES IN CHEESE
For the city of Belleville, Ex-Mayor H. F. Ketcheson declared that Belleville appreciated the efforts of the host as a citizen, as the dairymen did. He thought if there were good live dairy commissioners there would be no difficulty with the export business, citing how Mr. Elliott had opened up trade in cheese and creamery butter with Newfoundland.

"Remember that eighty per cent of the farm produce is consumed at home and you must see to it that you build up the consumer in the cities to consume your product."

Manager R. Bushnell of the Kingston Fair offered nine prizes for cheese to aggregate one hundred dollars. "If that does not attract the cheese makers of Belleville direct to our fair, tell me what you want and I will see that you get it. We want you at our fair."

Prof. Hunt presided at the piano playing the accompaniment for a solo by Mr. W. H. Wrightmyer. In respect to the memory of the late Dr. H. A. Yeomans, whose funeral was in progress at the time, there were no community songs at dinner.

THE HORRORS OF INDIGESTION

Relieved by "Fruit-a-tives" the Fruit Medicine

Indigestion, Weak Digestion or partial digestion of food, is one of the most serious of present-day complaints—because it is responsible for many serious troubles.

Those who suffer with Indigestion, almost invariably are troubled with Rheumatism, Palpitation of the Heart, Sleeplessness and excessive Nervousness. "Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Indigestion because these tablets strengthen the stomach muscles, increase the flow of the digestive juices and correct Constipation, which usually accompanies Indigestion.

ABE LINCOLN STORIES

Chansey M. Depew, former United States Senator, in the opening installment of "Leaves From My Autobiography," in the forthcoming November issue of Scribner's Magazine, a retrospective of his childhood, youth and public service covering a period of 80 years, tells some new anecdotes of Lincoln.

"I had a long and memorable interview with President Lincoln," Depew writes of a visit he paid to Washington in 1863, when he was Secretary of State for New York. "As I stepped from the crowd, in his reception room, he said to me: 'What do you want?' I answered: 'Nothing, Mr. President. I only came to pay my respects and bid you goodbye, as I am leaving Washington.' 'It is such a luxury, he then remarked, 'to find a man who does not want anything. I wish you would wait until I get rid of this crowd.'"

"When we were alone he threw himself wearily on a lounge and was evidently greatly exhausted. Then he indulged, rocking backward and forward, in reminiscences of his childhood, and of his administration and how he had met them. In nearly every instance he had carried his point, and either captured or beaten his adversaries by a story so apt, so on-all-tours, and with such complete answers, that the controversy was over."

Lincoln was always on the lookout for a good yarn, and he told Depew he never "invented" one. One night there was a reception in the executive mansion. Rufus C. Andrews, Surveyor of the Port of New York and a controversial adviser of the President on New York affairs, attended the reception with Depew. As the procession of handshakers moved past, Lincoln stopped Andrews and, leaning over, spoke very confidentially to him, delaying the ceremonies for some time. Momentous issues were impending. Lincoln was in the midst of the campaign for re-nomination; his Cabinet was inharmonious; the war was on and decisive battles were about to be fought. Newspaper men and politicians had snatched Andrews on his return to his hotel.

Mystery About Conversation.
Depew writes: "Andrews made a great mystery of his confidential conversation with Lincoln and so did the press. He explained to me when we were alone that during his visit to the President the night before he told Mr. Lincoln a new story. The President delayed him at the reception, saying: 'Andrews, I forgot the point of that story you told me last night; repeat it now.'"

"I am accused of telling a great many stories," Depew quotes Lincoln. "They say that it lowers the dignity of the presidential office, but I have found that plain people (repeating with emphasis plain people), take them as you find them, are more easily influenced by a broad and humorous illustration than in any other way and what the hyper-critical few may think, I don't care."

TO SUPPRESS OUTBREAK.
Benios Aires, Nov. 4.—In order to suppress an outbreak of violence and banditry among sheep shearers and other persons in the Patagonian territory of Santa Cruz, a regiment of Federal cavalry will embark today on a transport bound for Rio Gallegos.

SMUTS DEMANDS PARIS PRECEDENT AT WASHINGTON

Dominions Have Been Ignored in Preparing Conference. He Says NOT REPRESENTED Wants Empire Representation Through Constituent and Equal States

WOODROW WILSON

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Reuter's correspondent at Pretoria, South Africa, cables that the Premier, General Smuts, has issued a long statement in connection with his recent speech on the status of the Dominions. Owing to some misunderstanding both his attitude and the constitutional point raised were not reported previously.

The status of the Dominions, he says, is a matter which is not only fundamental for the present critical Irish negotiations but also for the future peace and welfare of the whole British Empire. "It was with the larger point of view that I was concerned in making my original statement," he says, and adds:

"To make the position of the Dominions status clear, it is necessary to compare what happened at the Peace Conference with what is now happening in connection with the disarmament conference at Washington. At Paris the Dominions had all the advantages of recognized individual status and consultation and mutual support. In the British Empire delegation our individual standing was unquestioned while our team work made us really an effective force. This is a great precedent which has settled our international status, and which I feel, should be followed in future. But now at the first great international conference called after the Paris meeting, the Dominions, despite the position on the Pacific of three of them, have simply been ignored. At Washington there will be only a British delegation in which the Dominions as such will not be found. Hence the Empire will not be represented there in its full authority as a group of States and the full weight of the Empire will not be exerted."

After denying the remarks that he desired to play a lone hand, the Premier declares: "I want the Paris precedent to be followed at Washington and at every subsequent conference. I want the British Empire represented through its constituent and equal states. There is no other way of giving it representation."

Premier Smuts says he does not intend to strike a jarring note but is merely standing up for that Dominion status, "which to me, and I feel sure to the other Dominions, is the reality and the basic constitutional reality of our free imperial commonwealth."

General Smuts says he wishes the American Government to understand the Dominion viewpoint and to recognize the status of the Dominions as others Powers recognized it in Paris with the whole-hearted advocacy and support of the British Government. General Smuts concludes by expressing a most fervent wish for the success of the Washington conference.

Heaven! How mad men are! Live and let live, is there anything better or easier? When the world is so beautiful, when charming objects abound everywhere, when men can make such a pleasant and easy use of their time, their minds and their hearts.—Gobineau, "The Renaissance."

WICKHAM STEED

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Lloyd George has not cancelled his passage to New York on Saturday, and indeed will not do so in any case until he has known whether the Irish Conference has broken down or not. He is still most anxious to win a personal triumph at Washington.

The general impression here is that Michael Collins still believes the conference may reach a settlement if the Ulster frontier can be rearranged to meet the position of the Catholics in Fermanagh and Tyrone. The Ulster government stands by the boundaries of Ulster as defined by the 1920 Act. The vital question is, will Ulster concede enough to satisfy the Sinn Fein? The government cannot, and will not, coerce Ulster; it must be her concession to peace. A plebiscite is talked of.

Another London expectation is that Lloyd George means to foreshadow an immediate general election in the event of a breakdown of the conference when he said in the House of Commons Monday: "I am not asking the House to face anything which someone at this box might be fainting to face in a few days." That is to say, before committing the country to civil war, Lloyd George would demand a specific mandate from the electorate.

De Valera and his colleagues seem to contemplate continuance of the semblance of the truce even if the conference fails, but pro-British M. P.'s who recently have been in Ireland doubt if any of the Sinn Fein leaders could restrain the Irish Republican Army of 500,000 young Irishmen who are equipped with modern war material and would not hesitate to risk all for their ideals.

WE CAN'T MAKE IT IN ONE STEP

Few stains are too obstinate to yield to some medium if the right one is arrived at before so many have been tried that the stain is hopelessly set. It would be well to paste the following cleaning methods in your kitchen scrap book so that you can refer to it immediately and thus apply the right removing medium instantly instead of experimenting with the stain:

COFFEE—Sprinkle a little borax on the spot and soak in cold water. Then apply boiling water from a height, having laid the material over a pan. If this proves ineffective and the goods are white and may be boiled, put a piece of borax on the spot. Make a knot in the material and put it in to boil. On delicate silks dust a little glycerine and then rinse with carbon tetrachloride.

COLLARS—The yellow stain that appears at the edge of the collar, especially the soft ones worn so much now, is due to albuminous matter which comes from the skin. This is boiled and coagulates and is obstinate. A good eau de Javelle bleach every few weeks will keep the collars white. COCOA—Use cold water with a little borax. Hot water invariably sets the stain. GRASS—If the stains are fresh, cold water with no soap will be effective. Alcohol and ammonia and water, equal parts, will remove a stain which has become slightly set. If the fabric is white and the stain obstinate, rub it with a little butter and then wash out with soap and water.

SHIPPED APPLES Beulah Cheese Factory Continues Operations This Week. 3RD OF HILLIER—Mr. Harold Troumpoor, of Toronto, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Troumpoor. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benway and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Benway spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eaton of Woodville. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Clapp entertained company on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Will Demille spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Demille. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clapp spent Monday at Rose Hall. Mr. Will Bedell shipped his apples this week, drawing them with his truck to Hillier Station.

Mr. Ralph McDonald and Mr. Will Benway were to the raffle at Ernest Plebion's on Friday evening. Mr. Clark Clapp has a very sick horse. Dr. B. Weeks of Concession is attending it. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Leavens spent a day recently at Trenton. Mr. and Mrs. Will Miller entertained Mr. M. Troumpoor on Saturday at the dinner hour. Mr. and Mrs. Baker of Allisonville are moving to Mr. Troumpoor's. Mr. Ralph McDonald spent Sunday with his father, Mr. H. McDonald, Orléan. The work on the county road is progressing fine. Mr. Clark Clapp has finished the packing of his apples and has them all shipped.

PRESERVING OUT ROSES There are a number of chemicals which give more or less success in prolonging the life of cut roses. A little saltpetre or carbonate of soda sprinkled in the water will prolong for several days the lasting time of cut roses, says rose experts. Tincture of Nux vomica in the water answers the same purpose. A little ammonium chloride or camphor also keeps the rose petals from losing their turgidity. All these chemicals act through cell stimulation. The amount to be used depends on the amount of water, and in number of roses, and is easily established by experiment.

FIREMAN FINED $100. ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 2.—Harry Dormer, a member of the city fire brigade, was fined $100 today by Magistrate Campbell on conviction of sending in false fire alarms. Dormer was caught after a constable had fired a shot after him. No circular lines for stout women, as triangles for thin, is the rule announced by a Chicago expert, who said the figure was a matter of lines, not diet, so far as clothes are concerned. The Crawford County Horse Thief Detecting Society met at Middletown, N.Y., and voted to disband. Increasing number of automobile thefts, however, suggests a new field.

FIRST ARREST IN MAIL ROBBERY

Broker Gives Self up After Hearing Police Were Looking For Him IS NOT RECOGNIZED Chauffeur of New York Truck Could Not Identify Assailant out of 12 NEW YORK, N.Y., Nov. 3.—The first arrest in connection with the hold-up of a mail truck at Broadway and Leonard street, October 24, and the theft of cash and securities valued at more than $1,000,000 was made last night when George De Mangle, 30, a broker, was held on a charge of being implicated. The man, accompanied by his attorney, walked into the Beach Street police station and said to the officer in charge: "I understand you are looking for me for the mail robbery?" After twenty minutes of questioning a formal charge of having been implicated in the robbery was made against him. He was then placed in a line of about a dozen men and the chauffeur of the rifled truck, Frank Havrenck, was asked to try to identify him. Havrenck looked up and down the line several times, but said he could not identify any of the men as one of his assailants. The prisoner took his arrest coolly, stating that the police had "nothing on me."

Police information which started the search for De Mangle is said to have been based on the fact that he had been seen near the scene of the robbery on the night it occurred. De Mangle admitted, police said, that he had gone out of town soon after the robbery, but he denied emphatically that he had anything to do with it or that he had any "inside information" concerning it. Police records show that De Mangle had been arrested twice for homicide, once for felonious assault and once for burglary, but never convicted.

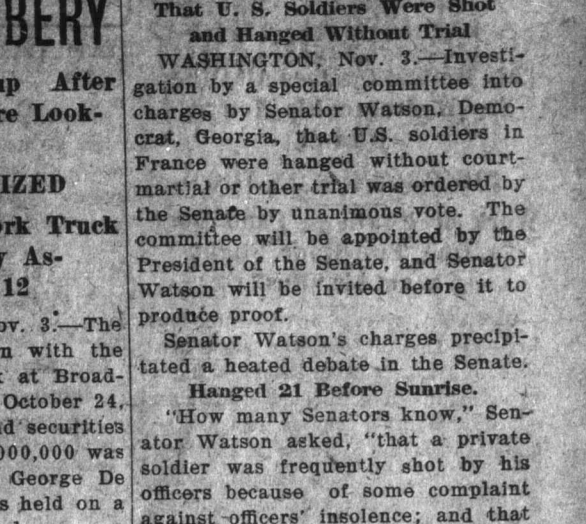

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING Frank V. Samwell Meets Death While Fishing KINGSTON.—Frank V. Samwell, one of Kingston's widely known young business men, met death by accidental drowning while fishing off the Syndicate wharf about one mile west of the village of Collins' Bay. When the body was discovered floating about twenty feet out from the wharf at 3.30 p.m., the fish that he had hooked and thrown into his automobile which stood nearby on the bank, were still flopping about alive. It was a case of accidental drowning, as shown by the circumstances. Mr. Samwell was alone fishing off the wharf and apparently fell or stumbled off into the water, and being unable to swim, and encumbered with the weight of his clothing and rain coat, sank without being able to call for help.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES Local Minister Preaches Services at Baltimore MADOC JCT.—Rev. G. C. R. McQuade has returned from Baltimore, a former circuit, where he had been invited to conduct anniversary services on Oct. 30th. Rev. USE AIRPLANES TO MAKE MAPS

This Method Outdoes All Others Say Hydrographic Men at Ottawa

BIG PROJECT ON FOOT
Work of Month in Canoe Done in One Two-Hour Flight in an Air "Bus"

OTTAWA, Nov. 5 (By Canadian Press).—That he obtained more general information in a two hours' flight by aeroplane than he could have learned in a month's trip on foot is the statement of an engineer of the Reclamation Service who recently made a survey from the air in connection with a drainage project in the hinterland. Reports being received by the Air Board here show that co-operation of aircraft with the different federal departments is becoming increasingly valued.

This latest example was a special reconnaissance undertaken by the Reclamation Service of the Department of the Interior in the vicinity of Le Pas and Cumberland House, lying on the boundary between Northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The survey covered the Carrot River Triangle for a drainage scheme involving the reclaiming for productive purposes of from 800,000 to 900,000 acres. It had been found that a large part of the area was inaccessible owing to floods; reeds and willows made canoeing impossible. The Air Board was accordingly requested to arrange a flight over the region, so that an engineer might secure the desired information from the air.

Reports from the Victoria Beach, Manitoba, air station, which was the main base, indicate that the operation was a complete success. Most valuable data was secured in an infinitely shorter period of time than would have been possible by any method of ground transportation, and by no other method could the same general perspective have been arrived at.

The hydraulic engineer of the Reclamation Service, commenting on the trip, says it is impossible to speak too highly of the benefit derived from a flight of this kind for survey on a project of such magnitude. Much of the district, he says, is unsurveyed, and very little information of the topographical features is obtainable without running a traverse survey. From the air one may see the various drainage channels in the interior quite distinctly, and information of this kind would prove of great value in determining where to run the interior traverse lines, and where lines would not be necessary, thereby saving time and money. Information regarding the timber in the interior could also be obtained.

"I do not wish to convey the idea," he says, "that numerous flights of this kind would offset the necessity of making a detailed survey of a large drainage area. The rise and fall in land could only be obtained by running traverse lines and levels over the district, but I do think, in possibly half a dozen flights, the whole Carrot River Triangle could be covered, thus familiarizing the engineers engaged on the work with a general idea of the interior in a short space of time. This would be of much value in planning the general layout of the work there."

Advantage of the fact of the hydroplane being in this neighborhood was taken in order to enable R. C. Wallace, Commissioner for Northern Manitoba, to make a demonstration flight. The Commissioner was equally enthusiastic as to the value of aircraft in making topographical surveys. "More than anything I had previously imagined," he writes, "this trip impressed me with the future of the air service in northern territory. I obtained a grasp of the topography and water system in the Saskatchewan River Valley that I had not had any clear conception of. I have had considerable experience in mapping territory from the canoe, and feel satisfied and more than ever impressed with the conviction that the only way in which northern territory can be mapped is by camera from the air. I quite appreciate the fact that as a freight carrier, even in northern territory, it may be many years before the air service will supplant water transportation; as a patrol agency, however, and more particularly for systematic mapping of the whole northern territory, I feel that there is a great future for this service."

SCOPE OF WORK UNDERTAKEN BY THE SOCIAL WORKER AND INDIGENT COMMITTEE.

Many citizens think that the principal work of this department is only to furnish material relief, such as groceries, fuel, meat, milk, and various other things of that kind. As a matter of fact this is the smallest part of our work, and the easiest to handle. We do furnish material relief, but in addition—

1. We place old people in the Belleville Home for the Aged.
2. Sick people in the Belleville Hospital.
3. Epileptics in the Woodstock Epileptic Hospital.
4. The mentally diseased in the Rockwood Sanitarium, Kingston.
5. Find out the ability to pay, or otherwise) of public ward patients admitted to our Hospital.
6. Find out the ability to pay, or otherwise, of public ward patients of this municipality admitted to out-of-town institutions.
7. Widows with children are directed to the Mothers' Allowance Board through our office.
8. We settle family quarrels by bringing husbands and wives together, and parents and children together.
9. With the assistance of the police department we compel restreant husbands to support their wives and children.
10. We secure legal aid from lawyers for those unable to pay for this service.
11. We give general advice on many questions not needing a lawyer's expert advice.
12. We arrange for the deportation of undesirable citizens.
13. We send back to their homes in other cities, the aged and sick people who are stranded here.
14. We investigate cases for other local organizations.
15. We investigate cases for societies in other cities.
16. We direct the unemployed to the Employment Bureau and often secure employment for them ourselves.
17. We place applicants in touch with the social agencies in our city, best able to give them the specialized service they require.
18. We try to co-operate with all other organizations and societies in the city in order to prevent overlapping of time and effort.
19. We secure material help for many of our clients from relatives, employers, and other sources.
20. We help both men and women who have been improvident, immoral, or dissolute, to make a fresh start, usually on the outskirts of this proand live better lives. These are some of the things we do that take a big part of our time, and that cannot be shown in dollars and cents, or in statistics.

The Indigent Committee is the recognized civic organization for the purpose of rendering material relief and general service. It is our aim to establish a confidential exchange for the benefit of all benevolent societies as well as our own. We find that at various times much confusion, misunderstanding and overlapping has been the result of private citizens giving relief without reporting the case to us. We thoroughly appreciate your interest and sympathy and we need your assistance, but you will work more effectively if you will co-operate with us. Therefore if a relief case is drawn to your attention will you kindly communicate with us in order to find whether or not the family is already on record? Please telephone Miss Lynch, Chairman of the Indigent Committee (Tel. No. 585), or Miss Smith, Social Worker (Tel. No. 1047). All of which is respectfully submitted.

MYRA H. SMITH,
Social Worker.

SHANNON FUNERAL MONDAY.

The funeral of the late Peter Leo Shannon, who died as a result of an accident at Niagara Falls, Ont., will be held on Monday morning from the home of Mr. William Cassidy, his father-in-law, to the Roman Catholic Church; mass at nine o'clock. Burial will be made at Stocco. The first account said that the funeral would take place today, but it was not until six o'clock last evening that relatives here were made aware that the obsequies were to take place on Monday morning.

Will the United States and Japan Go to War?

Lord Beaverbrook in an Alarmist Article, in London Express, Predicts Certain War Under Present Policy, With Canada and Australia Involved in it

LORD BEAVERBROOK, who is now on his way to the United States and this country, as was stated on Tuesday last, holds very strong views in regard to the forthcoming Disarmament Conference. In a special article in a recent issue of the "Daily Express," which though unsigned, is generally attributed to his pen, a strong effort is made to force Mr. Lloyd George to take part in the conference.

"Is there going to be war between Japan and America for the mastery of the Pacific?" says the writer. "The statesmen, the merchants, the bankers, the diplomatists of the world believe that these two countries are heading straight for war. They go building ships in a naval race against each other. Each party alleges self-defence."

"The Triple Entente and the Central Empires indulged in defensive armaments from 1905 to 1914, and the British public has reason to remember the consequences. The Pacific is as much a powder magazine today as Europe was in 1912. The echoes of the guns have hardly died away, the bitter griefs and hardships of the late struggle still remain with us, and yet the nations are tottering on the edge of a new precipice."

"Will the Washington conference avert the peril? The information at the disposal of the 'Daily Express' does not warrant any feeling of optimism. The public must understand that the country is standing once more on the verge of an abyss, and that our Imperial interests in Canada, Australia, and the Far East are vitally threatened."

Lloyd George "The Necessary Man" The writer then proceeds to deal with the position of Japan and points out that the British Empire is the natural intermediary between that country, which is its old ally, and America, which is its friend and cousin. Great Britain, it is stated, is also third party to the Pacific dispute, with no mean power to enforce its verdict.

Its representation at the conference for peace and modified armaments at Washington therefore, is a matter of vital importance. Both his personal powers of persuasion and the prestige of his office point to Mr. Lloyd George as the Imperial spokesman. But the Premier is unwilling to go. He thinks himself committed to the Irish conference and is doubtful of a successful issue at Washington. The very fact that the Pacific is the real danger point is the more reason why the most powerful personality in British politics, robed with the official trappings of a secular prestige, should step into the breach. Ireland is a matter of little moment compared to the risk of another world war.

After discussing the alternative representatives in case Mr. Lloyd George is unable to get away, it is stated that "we come back to the Prime Minister as the necessary man."

The general position of Japan, from a military point of view, and from the Chinese point of view, is then discussed and the writer makes the startling statement that "unless the ambitions and impulses that drive the United States to push its tentacles towards the western Pacific, and the military ambitions of Japan can be reconciled the rival building will go on—and when the naval building has reached a certain point, probably about 1923 there will come war."

pective fray. There are only two clear things about its policy: (1) The whole Empire will rush to the defence of any menaced part. (2) In the ultimate resort the Empire should stand firmly with the United States. But the interest of the Empire is peace and a settlement in the Pacific which will put an end to the system of competitive armaments.

"Few people realize how difficult has been the inner course of our Pacific policy in the last few years. Canada and Australia both front that ocean, but their geographical positions explain a marked difference in their mental attitude. Although President Harding's administration has been bitterly hostile to Canada and has kept out the products of the Dominion from the U. S. A., on the question of the Pacific slope Canada must think with America. Many prominent Canadian statesmen believe that every battleship the United States builds is an extra protection to Canada."

"How different is Australia's position! It is shown by the inner history of Great Britain's decision not to terminate the Anglo-Japanese treaty. The British Foreign Office, under the conditions of the Treaty of Versailles, gave notice to the League of Nations to terminate the treaty. Canada approved, but Mr. Hughes, speaking for Australia, made a vehement gesture of protest. So effective was his appeal that the Lord Chancellor was brought down to declare that a notice to the League of Nations was not a valid denunciation of the treaty, which, therefore, continues until it is really denounced."

Australia's Safeguard "What was the reason for Australia's action? Not, certainly, a desire to assist Japanese expansion in the Pacific, but the sure knowledge that the treaty was her safeguard if or when the Eastern and Western Powers sprang at each other's throats. Otherwise, the first rush of the Oriental onset, taking the Philippines and Guam in its stride, would fall on Australasia. The United States are far away, and American battleships, for strategic reasons easy to explain, are almost powerless to help her at the outset."

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Hector Weaver, of Cobocook, Probably Fatally Injured by Gun

Lindsay—Terribly injured by his own rifle, Hector Weaver, a resident of Cobocook village, lies near death's door at the Ross Memorial Hospital. The accident occurred a few miles from Weaver's home. He had leaned his loaded rifle against the veranda of a house, when the gun apparently slipped and the contents lodged in his abdomen. He was rushed to the Lindsay hospital by motor, and everything possible is being done for him, but very little hope for his recovery is entertained. His relatives are in close attendance.

EFFECT ON ARMS PARLEY
London Greatly Interested and Press is Sympathetic—Hara Progressive Politician.

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—Cablegrams expressing horror over the assassination of Premier Hara poured into the capital today from the capitals of virtually all nations. The attack on the premier was made by a demented youth, aged 19, and there is no definite knowledge as yet that it had its genesis in the political rancor, which actuated bitter assaults upon Premier Hara and his government in the recent past.

London is Interested London, Nov. 5.—Public interest in the assassination of M. Hara has intensified consideration of the influence his death may have upon Japan's attitude toward the Washington conference. Newspapers here express deep sympathy with Japan in the loss of a minister who was regarded as an enlightened democrat.

WHOLE OF CITY PAYS RESPECTS TO LATE M. H. O.

Funeral of Dr. Yeomans Today Attended by Men of all Classes in Community

A MASONIC FUNERAL. Rev. Drs. Cleaver, Scott and Baker officiate in services at Family Residence

Universal tributes or respect to the life and work of the late Dr. H. A. Yeomans, Medical Officer of Health for Belleville for the past eighteen years, were paid by all classes of citizens, both in private and individual capacity, at the funeral which took place this afternoon from the family residence, 224 Pinnacle street.

The casket was banked with a profusion of flowers, the offerings of various bodies and of personal friends of the dead physician.

The obsequies were under the direction of the Masonic fraternity in which the deceased had held office as master while he was a resident of the town of Deseronto. There was a very large turnout of the brethren.

At two o'clock the service began the officiating minister being Dr. S. Cleaver, of Bridge Street Methodist church, of which Dr. Yeomans was a lifelong member and for many years a valued official. Dr. Cleaver was assisted by Rev. Dr. C. T. Scott, of Toronto, former pastor of Bridge Street church; Rev. J. P. Wilson, and Rev. E. N. Baker, of Albert College, former pastors of the deceased.

Dr. Scott delivered an eulogy of the life and character of the deceased physician and citizen, referring to his unselfish devotion to those to whom he ministered in body and in mind, to his simple faith and to his fine social and intellectual qualities.

The Masonic service was taken by Wor. Bro. Leon Walmsley, of Eureka Lodge, No. 283, A.F. & A.M., who was assisted by Bro. Dr. Baker as chaplain.

The cortege was then formed, hundreds following the hearse on foot and in motors. At the Belleville cemetery the last sad rites took place. Rev. Dr. Cleaver officiating at the committal service and Wor. Bro. Walmsley conducting the fraternal rites. The burial was made in the Yeomans family plot.

The bearers were members of the medical profession of this city. Six Masons acted as pall bearers: Rt. Wor. Bro. Jno. Newton, Rt. Wor. Bro. L. R. Terwilliger, Rt. Wor. Bro. F. D. Diamond, Rt. Wor. Bro. W. O. Adams, Very Wor. Bro. J. O. Herity, and Wor. Bro. C. N. Sulman.

Boy of Tender Years Said to Have Caused Noontime Fire

A little boy, playing with matches is believed to be the cause of a fire which at noon today destroyed a barn with contents in the rear of the premises of Mr. Fred Burke, Highland avenue. Mr. Vallance, owner of the property, endeavored to extinguish the flames but found they had gained too much headway. The building was practically ruined. The loss is about three hundred dollars.

The fire brigade were on the scene in a few minutes.

No Fear of Aridity Now: 67,000 Cases of Scotch for Montreal Palates

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—The largest single consignment of Scotch whiskey ever brought to Montreal port is for the order of the Quebec Liquor Commission and aggregates 67,000 cases.

The whiskey is en route to this country and it is unofficially reported that the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama, reported today east of Belle Isle, is bringing a considerable proportion of the order.

It was learned today that a very favorable offer has been made to the Quebec Liquor Commission by the Harbor Commissioners to store the cases in the new storage warehouse at the foot of Berri street. This plant is much the biggest of its kind in the Dominion and is only slightly in cubic capacity than two largest cold storage warehouses in the United States, built during the war.

Large as this consignment is and indicating as it does that the prohibition liquor stocks in Quebec are running low, it is now bigger than many of the pre-war shipments to Montreal when all Canada was wet. The famous gin boats which came here twice during the season used to bring in as much as one hundred thousand cases of gin in a single trip.

It is expected that two Montreal ships will suffice to bring the Quebec liquor, the Metagama being a big cargo carrier as well as passenger liner. Shipping men in Montreal state that for storage purposes the new cold storage warehouse of the Montreal Harbor Commission is the logical place having ample car and cartage facilities on the water front and Place Villeray railway yards.

INDIANA MINES ALL LIE IDLE; STRIKE SPREADS

Protest of Men Against Check-off System

NO SHORTAGE OF FUEL Chicago Says Two Months' Stock is in Sight—350,000 Men Involved

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 3.—Practically every mine in the Indiana coal fields was idle today as a result of the strike of the miners in protest against the injunction issued Monday by Federal Judge Anderson, prohibiting the use of the "check off" system. Frank Farrington, head of the Illinois miners, wired his chiefs that while a stoppage of the "check off" system would be a violation of contract, he would not order a strike until it had actually occurred. It was understood he had received his instructions from headquarters in Indianapolis.

The Illinois miners will not be paid for two weeks, and until that time they will not know what action has been taken by the Illinois operators on Judge Anderson's injunction.

Illinois miners were reported ready to strike and 400 quit work in the Central Iowa district. They were the first to go out in this state. It was not expected there would be a general walkout before next pay day.

Approximately 350,000 miners would be idle if a general strike is called. The mines of Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Michigan, Missouri, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Wyoming, Iowa and Montana would be tied up. The "check off" system prevails in these states as well as Indiana where the miners have already gone out.

Under the "check off" system the mine operators deduct union dues from the men's pay and turn it over to the union treasurer, Judge Anderson held money raised in this way was being used to prolong the West Virginia mine war.

Danger of a coal shortage was not regarded as serious by Chicago mine operators and coal dealers. It was estimated Chicago had a supply sufficient for two months. Supplies of both bituminous and anthracite were reported above normal, due to the industrial depression. Similar conditions, it was said, exist throughout the country.

Ulster Premier Going to London to Discuss Specific Plans of Sinn Fein

PLEBISCITE IS RUMOR Tyrone and Fermanagh to Declare by Vote for North or South

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Sir James Craig has accepted the government's invitation to come to London and consult with the cabinet on the Ulster situation. He will likely leave Belfast on Friday and will remain in London until November 16 when he goes to France. He will discuss the specific plans submitted by the Sinn Fein, which the government thinks feasible if Ulster agrees.

An Ulster Plebiscite. Reports that the government has asked Ulster to agree to a plebiscite in the counties of Tyrone and Fermanagh are current today in connection with the Irish parley. The counties would be asked to declare adherence to Ulster or Sinn Fein. The government is declared to have been careful to make clear that the request did not come from the British alone but from the whole British cabinet.

WEDDINGS

EVANS—BAILEY. A very pretty wedding was solemnized Nov. 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Bailey, Moira St., when their only daughter, Rose Mary, was united in marriage to officer William T. Evans of the Belleville Police Force, third son of Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of Stamford, England.

To the strains of Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. C. M. Ashley, cousin of the bride, the groom took his place under an arch of evergreen. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a dress of white duchess satin, very daintily trimmed with silk braid and ornament of silver beads and pearls and the usual bridal veil with wreath of orange blossoms, carrying a bouquet of carnations and chrysanthemums and wearing the gift of the groom, a handsome necklace set with pearls.

Little Misses Patsy and Isabel Turner, cousins of the bride, made charming flower girls gowned in blue silk and carrying baskets of orange, blossoms and carnations. The Rev. A. H. Foster performed the ceremony in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends. During the signing of the register Miss "Mollie" Spencer sang very sweetly "Because" and Master Ralph Shaw gave a very pleasing recitation.

Then luncheon was served by girl friends of the bride. The bride received many costly and useful presents, among them being an envelope of money from the groom's parents and a cheque for one thousand dollars from her parents. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful hair pin and to the flower girls silver rings.

The happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes in a well decorated car to catch the 5.30 train for Detroit where they will spend their honeymoon.

Queen's Park Aims to Take all Police Court Fines and Also the Fees

A POSSIBLE REFUND May be Arrears of These Fees and Fines to Pay to the Government

The civic deputation which visited Toronto yesterday returned home after taking part in the presentation to Hon. Mr. Raney and members of the Provincial Government of the objections to the provincial treasury taking all police court fines and fees. Mr. Raney gave little encouragement and there was a feeling among some that the government would turn down the objections, although some were optimistic. If so, Belleville may lose from $7,000 to $9,000 per year, the municipality getting back only 50 per cent. in refund. It is understood the government was entitled to the fees and fines for some years and that there is a possibility of arrears being collected.

OTHER EDITORS' OPINIONS

Excerpts from the press of Canada, Great Britain and from the leading papers elsewhere for "Ontario" Readers.

ONE CAUSE OF UNHAPPINESS. Atcheson Globe: Two-thirds of the people are unhappy because they are worrying about things that should concern them.

THE UNAVOIDABLE LAW. Hamilton Herald: And now Lenin tells his followers that "hard work is the only way out of the troubles, which afflict the Russian people. Economic law is the same in Russia as elsewhere.

COURTESY DEFINED. National Railway Magazine: "Courtesy" is a good line to follow. It is politeness, with a little kindness added, and when practiced makes good friends out of casual acquaintances—and more business for the road.

SIR LOMER GOULDIN AND LEGISLATION. Montreal Gazette: Sir Lomer Gouldin in parliament will speak with authority. Possibly he will speak as a minister of the crown. Behind him will be a large Quebec representation, influential enough to shape the ends of fiscal legislation, and with that support he may be able to command the situation.

CHURCH UNION. Collingwood Bulletin: Church Union is making wonderful advances in Canada. The Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregational bodies already have taken such steps as will within the next few years bring them as one body into the work of the Great Master.

IMMIGRATION. Oshawa Reformer: A complaint comes from Montreal Immigration authorities which, if correct, is most unfair. It is stated that Poles, Italians and other foreigners are being allowed to enter Canada, while English, Scottish and Irish immigrants are being turned back because they have not the amount of money required under the regulations. Further, it is said that the money required by foreign immigrants is advanced by friendly societies who are paid back as soon as the immigrants gain access to the country. Canada needs population, particularly in the West, but the better kind of immigrants are those from the British Isles, rather than those from Southern Europe and Asia.

"THE IRISH DAMES OF YPRES". A good many ex-servicemen who spent part of their time in the Gallent, will be interested to hear that "The Irish Dames of Ypres" have made an appeal for support with the view to establishing their new quarters, which are situated in the Castle of Kylemore in Connemara, which they have transformed into an Abbey. For nearly two centuries and one-half this little community lived quietly and peacefully in the old Flemish town, which is now bound up with the history of Canada, and which is still a heap of rubbish. The institution was founded in Ireland under the rule of Lady of Ormonde in the days of the Stuarts; and in 1883 the revolution sent it abroad, where, after a time, it built the beautiful Abbey of Ypres, which, after weathering the wars with the Austrians, the French, and the Dutch, succumbed at last to the Germans. The "Dames" found themselves homeless; and in seeking shelter they got out of one difficulty only to fall into another—they went back to Ireland! A good many readers have reason to thank the Dames in the early days of the Canadian army's activities.

Several members of a party of 13 young people riding on a truck at Trenton, N.J., were injured when they collided with another motor.

VICTORY BOND ISSUE Gov't. Will be in Need of Money Owing to Decreases in Revenue, Financiers say

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—Although the Ottawa despatches carried a prominent denial of an early intention of the Dominion Government to float a loan the subject is one of great interest in local financial circles.

It is not believed here that a new Dominion loan is probable until well into 1922, because its chief necessity would be to meet the Victory bond issue maturing in December of next year.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Definite plans for the re-building of the city of Soissons have been advanced during the last few days by the action of the Soissons Municipal Council which has begun actual negotiations with a French Canadian named Stuard who is believed to be acting on behalf of the Banque Provinciale du Canada and an organization known as the Corporation des Obligations Municipales for a loan of ten million dollars.

According to information gained by the Dominion News it is proposed to advance one and a half million dollars immediately and to advance such further sums as are needed up to the limit of ten millions during a period of ten years.

SPRIED AWAY IN CAR Was Not Under Arrest—Her Own Mother Blamed for Disappearance

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The California police, through District Attorney Matthew Brady, of San Francisco, today were requested to find Alice Blake, one of the main witnesses for the State in the manslaughter charge against Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, due to be brought to trial here November 14.

Sharp Difference of Opinion Much interest is taken in the suggestion that the money be raised in the United States, and on this point there is a sharp divergence of opinion.

Her disappearance, according to Mrs. Duffy's story to the district attorney here, came after a visit by Miss Blake's mother, Mrs. John Westphal, of Oakland, and an attorney whose name District Attorney Brady did not obtain.

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Expeller always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

Me and Puds Simkins and Mary Watkins was setting on her front steps talking about different subjects and some kid went past on a bicycle with no hat on, and his hair was all shiny and strate back, looking as if it was painted instead of brushed.

Well that the only kind of hair I admire, I just love the kind of hair, see Mary Watkins.

Giving me a idea, and after supper I went up to the bath room and started to try to brush my hair strate back, only the nearest it would come to strate back was strate up, so I put a lot of vaseline on it and it went back much better and I put a lot more vaseline on and it went back grate, me thinking Hersey for me.

And I snuck down stairs and put my hat on and went out and started to walk around to Mary Watkins and who did I meet on the way but Puds Simkins, me thinking, Heck, what he doing around all the time?

And we started to walk together, me saying, Ware you going, Puds?

O, nowgare special, sed Puds, ware you?

No, ware special, I sed, Wich jest then our teacher Miss Klitty started to go past, me thinking, Heck I got to tip my hat.

And Puds tipped his, and his hair was back as strate as it could go, and all shiny like as though it had a pound of vaseline on it, me think, ing, Holy smoke, if mine looks anything like his I better go home again.

Wich I did and pop was in the front hall, saying, Well, young man, do you keep your hat on in the house now?

And I sed, No sir, and he sed, Then why dont you take it

VIVID HUES FOR EVENING IN N. Y. SHOPS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—In view of the approaching opening of the opera and the formal social season comes an interest in the more elaborate evening gowns, which is reflected in this week's displays in the smart shops.

As was suggested earlier in the season, there is a decided inclination to the brighter hues, and, while white, used alone or in conjunction with black, is still holding its own, the all-black dress is scarcely seen.

Underskirts in pastel shades are much seen as well as sashes of gold and silver, and girdles of flowers.

The Spanish influence is still felt. Many of the gowns adopt the cape or long cape sleeve of black Chantilly lace in place of the scarf of

Society Women to Deliver Milk In Face of Bandits' Operations

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—With milk bandits in high-powered cars stealing and selling milk, and prominent New York society women organizing to drive trucks, Manhattan's milk strike entered the third day with striking drivers and employers locked in a finish fight for the open shop.

Gunmen, stealing trucks or unloading milk cans into their cars, did a rushing business selling milk at exorbitant prices in different parts of the city.

Marries His Mother-in-Law After Divorcing Her Daughter

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Nov. 5.—Geo. E. Bider, 44, well-to-do farmer, has married his mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Davis, 48 years old.

Davis is the mother of Mrs. Eva Bider, divorced wife of Bider. Bider obtained a divorce from his wife a few weeks ago on grounds of inhuman treatment.

And I took it off and pop started to laff all his mite, me thinking, G, I but I know at he's laffing at. And I ran up stairs and got the vaseline out, taking much longer than what it took to put it on and its not all off even yet.

EXHIBIT TRAIN

Canadian National Grand Trunk ALL STEEL TRAIN

HERE SATURDAY, NOV. 12TH

An unique opportunity will on November 12th, be afforded the residents of Belleville and vicinity of inspecting one of the trains which the Canadian National Railway employs in its daily across-Canada service.

The train is of outstanding interest—a two-fold sense. In the first place it shows the kind of locomotive and cars that are being used in the transcontinental service, while in the second place it is an ocular demonstration of the high class locomotives and railway cars which are being made in the factories of the Dominion.

The train is complete in every respect, being composed of sleeping car, dining car, day coach, tourist car, colonist car, and express car. Each car is the embodiment of the latest and most up-to-date ideas designed to secure for the traveler the maximum of comfort and safety.

Practically all the comforts of home life are provided by the sleeping car attached to the train. Those who desire more than the usual measure of sleeping car privacy can be accommodated with individual sections. The interior of the car is finished in mahogany.

The dining car has seating capacity for 100,000 people. The train is accompanied by a staff of men efficient in the various

What Shall I Do?

Why Keep Steady Company?

Que.—Dear Miss Page: I am a young man 19 years old. I kept steady company with a girl 17 years old for six months.

As young as I am, I think we both loved each other but couldn't agree. So I quit going with her and went with other girls, and she went with other fellows.

The natural and proper outcome of a love affair is marriage and the establishment and building of a home, where the two lovers shall be mutually helpful.

Falling in love should mean providing for a future, a willingness to assume responsibility, a purpose to do one's best in solving together all the many problems that must surely come to a husband and wife, and to parents.

AS YOUNG AS YOU FEEL. Que.—Dear Miss Page: I am a girl of 18 years old, but my mother says I could easily pass for 16 and have often been guessed as 16.

Whenever I meet an acquaintance, every girl friends of my own age, they see that some of my own age, that a grown woman would use to a child of 10.

Am.—I'm awfully sorry for you because I've always had difficulty in persuading people that I'm as old as I am.

"Kids"—You are young enough, my dear, just to let the "boy question" take care of itself and you put your time and thought and study on preparing yourself to do that "something great," which you so much desire.

The profession of a teacher of domestic science is a fine one. It should have a four-year college course after your high school, in which you will also gain poise and wisdom for your contact with high school girls and their problems.
