WAR LOAN MADE.

America Takes Half of England's Bonds in the Latter's Efforts

TO RAISE FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS.

Queen Praises Military Heroism in South Africa.

ROBERTS SCORES WARREN.

Latter Will Come Home—Canada Wins Paris Exposition Prize for Butter, Eggs and Cheese.

London, Aug. 11, via Skagway, Aug. 16.—Half of the bonds for the war loan of £10,000,000 have been taken in America. In high financial circles here the negotiation is regarded as a good one, considering the present condition of English banks. The Bank of England advised the acceptance of America's offer, which was made through the Morgan Company and Barings.

The Queen's Speech.

London, Aug. 11, via Skagway, Aug. 16.—In a short speech made by the queen, she referred to the high military qualities and heroism of her soldiers in Africa, and authorized the annexation of Free States as the first step towards the union of the races and the securing by them of their rights and privileges.

Referring to China and in how far the Chinese authorities are accomplices to the atrocious crimes lately committed there, the queen said:

"Whether or not the British minister and his family are among the victims is yet a matter of uncertainty. The utmost efforts of myself and allies will be to visit punishment on the authors of these unexampled crimes."

Setting an Old Score.

London, Aug. 11, via Skagway, Aug. 16.—Ambassador Choate has been appointed arbiter between the British and Chinese governments in the matter of the sinking of the British dispatch boat Kowshing during the China-Japanese war.

Roberts Scores Warren.

London, Aug. 11, via Skagway, Aug. 16.—Lieutenant General, Sir Charles Warren has been most severely criticised by Roberts and has retired from the administration of Buchananaland and is coming home. He will probably be succeeded by Forrester Walker.

Roberts wires his fears that the Eland river garrison has been captured by the Boers after 10 days' resistance.

China News Scarce.

London, Aug. 11, via Skagway, Aug. 16.—No direct information of importance has been received from China since last reports. All cablegrams are mere conjectures.

The appointment of Waldersee as commander general meets universal approval.

Canada Wins Prize.

Paris, Aug. 11, via Skagway, Aug. 16.—At the exposition Canada has been awarded the grand prize for butter, eggs, cheese and other cold storage articles.

Bryan His Own Manager.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The Record tomorrow will say: William J. Bryan, in a large measure will be his own campaign manager this year. Directly after the notification ceremonies at Indianapolis next week, the Democratic candidate for president will return to Chicago and with the help of the party's leaders, will formulate plans for the campaign. According to the program, as outlined by J. G. Johnson, chairman of the national executive committee, Adlai E. Stevenson will come back with Mr. Bryan to this city and the two will have a share in arranging the lines for the coming political fight.

Practically the full roster of Democratic leaders will go to Indianapolis for the notification and will return here with Mr. Bryan for a session that will determine in its broad lines the way the campaign is to be conducted. It is said at headquarters that Mr. Bryan is not dissatisfied with the way the campaign has been run thus far, but he feels that he has learned a good deal about politics since he was a candidate before and wants to put it to practical use.

FREIGHT FOR A. E. CO.

Two of Her Steamers With Barges Arrive From St. Michael

WITH PASSENGERS AND BIG CARGOES.

Power of Attorney Everett Created Market for His Services.

FLORA DUE FROM STEWART.

Sybil Sails Tomorrow—Bonanza King Due This Evening—Other River News.

The steamer P. K. Gustin, with barge Bear, and the Linda, with barge Fox, heavily loaded with freight and passengers from the lower river arrived yesterday evening. The Gustin left St. Michael the 21st of July, the Linda preceding by two days. The freight carried by both boats and barges amount to nearly 2500 tons, all consigned to the A. E. Co. The company operating the boats anticipate that another round trip will be made by these boats, and possibly the Arnold which is following up stream with the cargo of the Mary Graf, that boat being disabled near the mouth of the river.

The Linda, while making the trip without any particular mishap was unfortunate in having aboard a "Dr." Everett, of power of attorney fame here last fall, who stamped the boat by declaring every ailment which was experienced by any of the passengers to be of the most startling character, including smallpox, yellow fever, varioloid and other contagious diseases. He did a thriving trade for awhile in inoculating the passengers with virus which he obtained at the quarantine station near St. Michael. The passengers, however, soon caught on to the wily Everett and gave him a wide berth.

News of an alarming character was circulated in Dawson yesterday in reference to the health of the boat and quarantine officers were sent down the river to intercept her. After examination it was found that the passengers were all in good health without a trace of any disease of a contagious nature and a clean bill of health was given, the passengers being allowed to land soon after the boat tied to the dock.

The following passengers arrived on the Gustin: L. G. Couter, Capt. A. E. Graves, C. E. J. Baumgarten, J. S. Rutledge, Mrs. Rutledge, N. L. Demar, Mrs. Kuhlman, A. McDaniel, Chas. Bayan, E. L. Dion, Wm. Carver, Louis Lager, Dave Thomas, M. Martin, Chas. Carver, Sam Means, J. James, Chas. Austin, Louis Armstead, O. Vege, Thomas Manning, J. M. Moey, S. Sternberg, A. Murray, O. H. Berg, J. Goldrich, Mr. Nelson, L. D. Gray, P. Miller, R. H. Morrow, O. T. Vogt, Q. F. Jenkins.

The Linda brought the following 79 passengers: M. Izzo, Mrs. Izzo, G. H. Baldy, Dave Monroe, Mrs. A. Ashchwander, Mrs. A. Lampert and boy, Jos. A. McDonald, W. Smith, H. R. Pratt, W. S. Palmer, G. E. Cavender, Dave Thomson, J. M. Jackson, J. C. Hayes, John Cahill, E. Lampert, W. C. Clark, H. Willeke, —, Joel, —, Blumenthal.

The steamer Ora arrived today at 7 a. m., and will sail for Whitehorse tomorrow at 4 p. m. She brought the following passengers: J. S. Woodrow, Geo. Hegel, Chris Plummer, Mrs. S. Freeman, Carrie E. Hammond, John Brown, Mrs. A. Klyner, Mrs. F. Leverick, Mrs. C. Nelson, J. E. Hawkins, J. McNiff, C. H. Bates, Mrs. Bullard, Henry Snowin, C. P. Scroggins, Miss A. Beam, Frank Banks, D. Mabrin, F. K. Norris, L. W. Rogge, J. M. Ring, C. E. Rostad, J. M. Horner, G. J. Jones, J. M. Hutton, Mrs. Martin.

The Flora is due to arrive from the Stewart river tomorrow.

The steamer Sybil with the vice-regal party is billed to sail tomorrow at 5 o'clock p. m.

The Bonanza King was reported coming down this morning at 4:30 at Selkirk.

Five Fingers reported the Zealandian going up at 3:30 a. m. and the Gold Star coming down at 7 this morning.

The Lightning passed Hootalinqua going up at 7:30 this morning. The Canadian also was heard from at that point going up at 8 p. m. yesterday. The steamer Tyrell passed lower Lebarge at 10 o'clock last night.

In Bad Condition.

The very few roads of which the Klondike boasts are now, in many places, practically impassable for freight wagons, the recent heavy rains having had on them a most disastrous effect. The moving of freight now is entailed with such enormous expense that but little more will be handled until snow falls. It is said that, except for foot passengers who wear gum boots, Harker is practically shut off from the world as the trails to and on that creek are said to be in a frightful condition.

They Keep Posted.

A late issue of the Salem Oregon Statesman contains a thrilling account of the breaking up and going out of the ice from the river "in front of Dawson." While the paper does not say so, it infers that the event was of recent date, about the Fourth of July or thereabouts. If the people of Salem will attend to the harvesting of the luxuriant crop of weeds that makes the capital grounds a wilderness in the summer season, Dawson will take care of her own ice.

They Felt Honored.

When the Susie arrived from St. Michael yesterday with several dozen passengers from Nome, many of whom left here in June and were coming back wiser but sadder by several hundred dollars, they alighted from the steamer and reached First avenue before they noticed the present holiday attire of the city, when one of them was heard to exclaim: "By Jove, this is a royal welcome we are getting. Really I am sorry that the people have gone to all this expense in our honor, but it shows that they anticipated our return and have prepared for us. I hope I will not have any trouble in borrowing a few 'bucks' until I can get a job at boosting."

More Smuggled Whisky.

The Whitehorse Star says: "A member of the N. W. M. P., stationed at Tagish Post, is under arrest at Bennett charged with being implicated in whisky smuggling between Tagish and Whitehorse."

TRIP TO BONANZA

Was Greatly Enjoyed by His Excellency and Lady Minto.

SAW NORMAL CONDITION OF ROADS.

Breakdown Causes Ogilvie, Wade and Girouard to Pedestrate.

ATE ON KING SOLOMON'S HILL

Where Mr. McGillivray Received the Party Royally and Showed Them a Cleanup.

Yesterday forenoon the governor general accompanied by his lady and about 20 officials and citizens started on a visit to the McGillivray claim on King Solomon's Hill.

The governor general and Lady Minto went of horseback, as did a large number of others, and some of those who rode in wagons wished they also had taken the other means of traveling. When the party had proceeded some two or three miles upon its way, the wagon in which were Messrs. Wade, Ogilvie and Girouard, broke down and the three unfortunates had to walk the rest of the way. Other members of the party who rode in the wagons also walked a considerable part of the distance, finding it easier to walk than to withstand the jolting of the wagons over the roads, which, though generally accounted good, are not calculated to please excursion parties, or for the use of light rigs.

The party on arrival at the base of the hill dismounted and climbed to the McGillivray claim, where a very pleasant hour was spent in the discussion of a tasteful luncheon, provided for the occasion. Twenty-six people were at table, and after the good things of the table had been disposed of a Klondike cleanup was witnessed, which was very interesting and instructive to those of the party who had never before seen the process of separating the yellow metal from the gravel. About 150 ounces were taken from the boxes.

After the cleanup had been made the party was shown the mine and its workings, the entire party being conducted through the various cuts and drifts, including the present scene of operations, where, against the face of the bank, a pan of gravel was taken out and washed. It contained about $2.50.

After this the visitors returned to town, where they arrived, tired but not regretting their trip, about 6:30.

Only one incident occurred on the homeward ride to mar the pleasure of the trip. When still some distance from town a party who had been going the other way was met, who had met with a very unpleasant experience. They were driving a fine large horse, which in stepping into a mudhole had stepped upon one end of a pointed stick in such a way as to drive one end of it into his body, bleeding to death as a result. When the governor general's party arrived on the scene the animal was just being removed from the road. Those who accompanied Lord and Lady Minto yesterday were: Aide de

A HARD BLOW.

The Victoria Times, a staunch supporter of the present government, has devoted considerable space of late to the discussion of affairs relating to the Yukon. In the course of an extended article, which, to any one who is posted, only goes to show that the Victoria paper is decidedly lacking in its facts, the following paragraph occurs:

"The very best men available have been selected to administer the affairs of that famous gold-producing region, and on their recommendation such taxes have been imposed as will meet the expenses of carrying out this work."

To our way of thinking the above is a little bit the hardest slap that ever has been aimed at our local contingent of federal office holders.

We do not imagine that many of them would object to the first line or two of the paragraph, but as to the balance of it, we apprehend that there is not a man in the entire government service in the territory who would not stand up and plead "not guilty."

The Nugget has at times had occasion to refer to different officials in terms which would not be regarded as being altogether complimentary, but never to our recollection has anything been said quite so mean as the attack contained in the clipping from the Victoria Times.

To accuse the officials of recommending the present regulations! We cannot imagine a greater calumny.

INTERESTING FACTS.

The condition in which the vice-regal party found the trail leading up Bonanza creek is described in the local columns of this paper. It is interesting to note that since the original discovery of gold on Bonanza creek gold dust to the value of about $40,000,000 has been brought down the creeks over that same trail. It is quite edifying also to consider the fact that during the same length of time supplies and machinery to the amount of not less than 25,000 tons have been packed, sledged, dragged or hauled over the same road.

The aggregate number of miles covered by miners and prospectors of the district on that identical stretch of trail will run easily into the hundreds of thousands. Still we have estimable gentlemen in our midst who classify all who object to this state of affairs as "agitators."

The quarantine has at length been raised at Nome and people are leaving the famous beach city by the hundreds. A fairly large proportion are heading up the Yukon, and the towns along the way, more particularly Circle City and Eagle, are receiving their quota. The sourdough contingent who left Dawson during the winter and in the early spring are returning to this city. We do not think there is danger of any serious invasion of Nomads who have left all their visible means of support at the ruby sand metropolis. It costs more money to travel up the Yukon to Dawson than it does to take an ocean steamer to Seattle, and the "busted" element among the Nome stampeders will doubtless decide to take the latter course. Before the close of navigation a good many hundred old timers will return to this city. Dawson will be ready to extend the glad hand to all of them who come.

Minister Sifton evidently thinks that the time has arrived for him to "stand firm under." Consequently he is sending out messages of good tidings for the Yukon Territory at a rate which scarcely enables us to catch our breath between times. However, we shall not be disposed to question the motives of the Minister of the Interior if he only continues the good work until all his promises are redeemed. All we are interested in is the advancement of the welfare of this territory, and we shall be just as appreciative of reforms granted under pressure as we would be if they were granted willingly. The main thing is to get them.

The visit of the governor-general has served temporarily to draw attention away from a number of carefully nurtured booms of local celebrities for the two coveted seats on the Yukon Council. Never mind, gentlemen, there will be plenty of time a little later on for setting forth your peculiar qualifications for the office you seek. You must not forget that a real, live governor-general does not come down the Yukon every day.

Ninety-nine out of every hundred men in the Yukon Territory will support the memorial addressed to his excellency by the citizens' committee. The remaining per cent either hold positions under the government or have profited by reason of the conditions which have caused such universal opposition to the present regime.

Colony in Nicaragua.

Dr. Carlos Bovallius has purchased from the Nicaraguan government 52,000 acres of public land for colonization purposes. These lands are at the head of Tepenaguasape river, in the department of Chontales, and about six leagues from the town of San Miguelito, on the eastern shore of Lake Nicaragua. Dr. Bovallius agrees to colonize not less than 100 inhabitants of northern Europe, the first year bringing not less than ten families who have a knowledge of agriculture and stock raising, and four years being given to complete the total number of 100 colonists.

In addition, there must be established within the limits of such land schools of agriculture and stock raising, in which the cultivation of coffee, cocoa, vanilla and other products tending to the enrichment of the country shall be taught.

For the stock raising, branch Holstein and Durham cattle must be imported for the purpose of improving the breed of the cattle of the country. There must also be established the Swiss or Danish system of making cheese and butter.

Twenty boys of the country who can read and write are to be taught, tuition free, in these schools, and boys who render practical assistance are to be maintained for five years gratis.

The colonists are exempt from all military or public services for the period of 15 years and from all direct taxation during services at school. The government admits free of importation duties all agricultural implements necessary for use in the schools and for the manufacture of cheese, also the cattle referred to, and the baggage and furniture for the use of the colonists.

The faithful performance of the contract shall be considered violated if the contractor does not bring 100 immigrants within the term stipulated, if the schools are not established within the specified time, if fewer than 10,000 rubber and 10,000 vanilla trees are cultivated within the first five years, and if the cattle are not imported during the first year. For each infraction a fine of $2170 will be imposed and collected by the government from the amount deposited, and, in default of compliance with all of the conditions of the contract within the period of five years, the lands shall revert to the government.

A Printer's View of Nome.

Mr. Allan X. Grant, a former typo in the Nugget office who left in June for Nome, writes back to his friends in the office a long and interesting letter, to which he appends the following note:

"In looking over the foregoing I realize that I have omitted saying anything about Nome, which perhaps you would be more interested in than anything I have said. I shall never forget how Dawson appeared to me, when I first saw it in August of 1898—tents, tents, tents. That was as we came around the bend at Klondike City. It was the same old scene when I first viewed Nome, several miles from shore, the only difference being that the area of tents seemed so much larger, owing to so many being camped along the beach. When we arrived at St. Michael we heard all kinds of stories about Nome. In the first place, a large portion of the population had the smallpox; then the beach diggings were positively no good, and nobody believed that any of the creeks would amount to anything. In fact, it was believed to be another big company fake, so everybody told us.

Well, when we got into Nome, as a matter of fact, there were about a dozen cases of smallpox. So far as the beach is concerned, hundreds are working upon it, but it has been worked over several times, and has ceased to be a paying proposition, generally considered. Some report an average as low as 50 cents, while others claim to be making something like $4 a day, although I know of some individual cases in which more than $10 a day are made, in which latter cases the individuals understand the method of saving the gold. There are hundreds—yes, thousands—of disgusted, discouraged people here—alike same Klondike, 1898. Many of those having the means have already gone or will go, while others lacking the iron dollars are scheming for their salvation the best they know how. Conditions are largely a repetition of those existing in Dawson in 1898, so far as the howling and kicking go. The crowd will have to get out before winter comes, and the quicker and faster they go the better it will be for the camp, for, like Dawson of '98, there are many thousand more here than the prospects of the country warrant at the present time. For my own part, I believe the country is all right, and I think it will be a better camp next year than it is this—that is, for actual results."

Rebuke.

Weary Willie had asked for a cup of coffee, and Euphemia had icily informed him that she had only cups of china, but she could give him some coffee in a cup.

"Thanks, miss," said the traveler, "and please be kind enough to drop into the receptacle a cube of sweet, crystalline vegetable substance, with a small quantity of bovine juice." He got it.—New Lippincott.

Worthless Pup.

"Your dog bit me," said the irate victim, "and I want to know what you are going to do about it." "Do!" cried the owner. "Shoot the dog. I won't have an animal about me who shows such poor taste."—Philadelphia North American.

HER IDEAS FORMED OF NOME

Miss Robins of London Tells What She Saw on the Beach.

She Represents the Review of Reviews and Will Write Her Experiences for the Magazine.

Miss Elizabeth Robins, a traveling representative of the Review of Reviews of London, England, was one of the passengers to arrive by the steamer Susie Tuesday night.

"My time is very limited here," said Miss Robins this morning, "and I regret it very much, too, because I wanted to divide my time as equally as possible between the places of principal interest between St. Michael and Skagway. The quarantine at Nome, however, kept me three weeks after I was ready to leave for here. Personally I do not regret the time spent there, because it was all very interesting and instructive.

"I don't think anyone can say yet, what Nome's future is apt to be, because the conditions have been so unfavorable. What little I could learn of the country before leaving London was to the effect that when the country was not ice bound it was being deluged with rain. My experience was that it rained about two hours in forty-two days. That, of course, made it very pleasant for those who were there as tourists, but for the miner it was the chief of many drawbacks, because it made a shortage in the water necessary for mining purposes. I know of claims where water has been carried in buckets by hand for a distance of half a mile, and others where $3 per barrel was paid for water for rocking."

Speaking of the thousands of people who rushed to Nome this spring Miss Robins said: "There are thousands of people in Nome who had nothing when they went there, and landed on the beach without the slightest notion of what they were going to do. I have seen men come ashore from the barges and set their satchels down the minute they landed, to pick up a handful of sand to examine it. They would let it run through their fingers slowly while they looked for gold, and when they found none they at once pronounced the whole country a fake.

"Just as I was ready to leave Nome got the smallpox scare and we were held in quarantine for three weeks. There was nothing of interest in the quarantine so far as Nome was concerned, beyond the natural inconveniences arising from the conditions."

Miss Robins is a very pleasing young lady who shows by her conversation regarding her Alaskan experiences that she is a close observer and has stored her mind with matter that will eventually be of great interest to the readers of the magazine she represents.

Bad Report of Tanana.

Charles Sheik is an arrival on the steamer Susie who has spent considerable time in the Tanana country, visiting the different creeks and making a critical examination of the diggings. He left Dawson last June on the steamer Barr and had packed in for him from Circle City to the diggings about 100 pounds of grub, for which the price of packing was $1 per pound. He reports that the creeks in that district, Faith, Hope and Homestake, are all very shallow summer diggings, the gravel not carrying any gold to pay for working, and such as is found is taken from bedrock and that in small quantities.

On 7 below on Faith creek he panned on bedrock and got but two colors in four pans, although it was claimed that from that claim the pans on bedrock showed $1 to the pan. This he claims was got by scraping the bedrock a distance of six feet square. At No. 2 on Homestake Pat Connelly had just started shoveling in the sluice boxes and had made a cleanup when he was there, but the result could not be ascertained, as both Connelly and his partners, Wheeler and Loper, refuse to give any information on the subject.

No. 1 Homestake was let out on a lay by the owner, Pat Lynch, but he sold a half interest later for $1000.

Mr. Shiek says that no preparations were in progress along the creeks for winter work, there being no cabins built and the owners evidently not having enough faith in the country to make any expenditure of time or money to make a permanent camp on the creeks. Jack Carr was heard from in that district and it was said he had 25 claims in which he offered a half interest for $250, the buyer to do representation work. The offer had not been accepted during the time Shiek was in the country.

The country is staked for miles in all directions and a party is in there with five horses who do nothing but stake the creeks, being followed by pack animals with provisions.

It is said that some good quartz ledges have been uncovered on several of the creeks and the impression seems to be that the district will turn out to be rich in gold bearing rock, but as a placer camp the prospector thinks it does not amount to much. The opinions expressed by Mr. Shiek will carry considerable weight as he is a conservative man and an experienced miner.

A large number of people returned from that district on the recent boats, particularly on the Gustin, which had some forty men, from the Tanana, all satisfied to take another chance in the Klondike.

Cost of City Lots.

The amazement of the bucolic mind at the extraordinary prices paid for a city lot in cities as populous as Chicago or New York is brought out by this yarn, told in the Chicago Times-Herald:

Tom Nicholl, the artist, was talking to an old negro down in Georgia a few days ago, whom he had told that he lived in Chicago.

"Whar is dis yer Chercargo" the ancient darky asked. "Ees dat b'yant de sea?"

"No, it's up north above here, 1400 or 1500 miles."

"Teb, O! Dat's too fur fur me. Kin you ride all de way on de kyars?"

"Oh, yes, and much farther."

"I s'pose you got a big fahm up dar in dat Chercargo, what you call hit?"

"No, I don't own a foot of ground there."

"Wharf'dis?"

"Costs too much."

"Bout how much, sub?"

"Well, if you just wanted a place to put a home, you could probably get it for $250 or $350 a foot."

The old fellow leaned over and looked incredulously into the artist's face.

"Huh?" he asked. "Is yo' talkin' sense to me, white man?"

"Certainly, and if you wanted a place to put a store or something like that, it would cost $4000 or $5000 a foot front."

The negro was paralyzed. He could not even comprehend the cost of a foot of Chicago.

"Listen it dis, ole 'oman," he said to the dusky mammy who was broiling a young chicken and fixing the artist a savory meal, "litsen it dis! Dar's nig-gahs gwinter come cack heah if dey's got sense ernuff to grease'er gimlet. Whar dey gwinter git' groun' ernuff to raise wottermillyuns, much lessen place fur taters en cabbages en mustud greens en goobahs? 'Scuse me, is you makin' a meal?"

Something New In Surgery.

"I see," said the old man Pimpernel the other evening, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "that they've mended another broken neck for a feller. He had a fall somewheres out in the country, an' when they got him to th' hospital th' doctors found that his upper spinal column was cracked clean across. Feller couldn't hold his head up, an' his voice was clean gone."

"How did they patch him up?" inquired John Bowman.

"You'll be s'prised when I tell you," replied the old man. "It was so dead easy. Fust, they crowded over th' left phalanx till it lapped the right verticrle, an' then they stuck th' two ends together with anty toxum glue. That's ter blood pisenin', you know. Then they got the broken ends of the medulla together an' fastened 'em in place with strips of adhesin' plaster. After that they nailed narrow rods of zinc up and down his back bone and clinched 'em together with rivits. When this was all fixed the surgeon sent out an' got an old fashioned boot-jack, an' they tied it on his chest so that the openin' at the top would just catch under his chin—an' hold it up till the glue hardens. An' as soon as it does harden the young feller'll be just as sound as 'ever, with a few rivits thrown in."

"Thunder!" cried Josh Bowman.

"Ain't it wonderful?"

"You jest bet it is," said the old man.

New Transportation Co.

The contract for carrying the United States mails down the Yukon to the American cities along the river to Nome has been awarded to the Yukon Transportation Company. This is an American company organized for this purpose by Leon Brock, of Dawson, who introduced fire insurance into the Klondike capital.

Mr. Brock got away on the City of Seattle for Washington City and other eastern cities. At the national capital he will confer with the postmaster general and complete arrangements for his company.

"I will bring back with me," he said yesterday at the Dewey hotel, "200 horses which will be used by us this winter in connection with the through service to Dawson. These horses will be distributed along the Yukon and we will make relay trips all winter. In addition to the mail we will carry express and passengers.

Our operations extend from Whitehorse to Nulato on the Yukon, and across from there to Nome. We believe that we have solved the problem of rapid and convenient winter express and passenger service for the interior. Our methods for this branch of our contemplated work are in such shape that I am now at liberty to mention them, but I will say that this is one of the principal objects of my eastern trip. Our scheme is one of the biggest ever conceived with respect to northern development and I confidently believe in its ultimate success.

Mr. Brock expects to be back in Skagway with his horses and accoutrements early in September.—Alaskan.

Bank Notes Stolen.

An investigation is in progress by the secret service officials of the treasury in an effort to unravel a mysterious theft of two sheets of national bank notes from the bureau of engraving and printing. The theft was undoubtedly committed by an employe of that department about three weeks ago, and was discovered by one of the counters in going over the sheets of notes. When the loss was first detected an immediate search was begun for the two sheets, believing they were simply mislaid and that being incomplete no one would take them. They were not numbered or signed, and did not contain the great seal.

Despite all this the notes were passed in the city and made their way back to the treasury, where they were refused on the ground that they were not currency of the country. None of the banks of the city, through which the notes passed, are in any way able to assist in the identification of the person who passed them. The notes were of the ten-dollar denomination, and there were four notes on each sheet, making the amount of the theft $80. The loss does not fall upon the government, but upon those who accepted the notes.

Every effort is being made to capture the thief, who, the officials say, is one of the 160 clerks—most of them girls—working in the counting room. The bureau has been in existence since the war, and this is said to be the second theft that has occurred.

Queen Victoria's Long Reign.

As illustrating the wonderful long reign of Queen Victoria it may be stated that her majesty has seen 11 lord chancellors, 10 prime ministers, 6 speakers of the house of commons, at least 3 bishops of every see and 5 or 6 of many sees, 5 archbishops of Canterbury and 6 archbishops of York and 5 commanders-in-chief. She has seen 5 Dukes of Norfolk succeed each other as earl marshal and has outlived every duke and duclless and every marquis and marchioness who bore that rank in 1837. She has outlived every member of the Jockey club and every master of the hounds who flourished in 1837. She has seen 17 presidents of the United States, 10 viceroys of India, and France successively ruled by one king, one emperor and seven presidents of a republic.

SENKLER WAS REVERSED

When the Case Was Carried To and Heard at Ottawa.

Original Locator Werbus Awarded Hillside Claim on Lower Bonanza as Against Joe Vincent.

The decision of Gold Commissioner Senkler rendered last March in the case entitled Werbus vs. Vincent has been reversed by the higher court at Ottawa. The case was one involving the ownership of a hillside property opposite the upper half of 78 lower Bonanza, which was bought by Joe Vincent from Fred Parker, the original locator. After his purchase Mr. Vincent expended a sum nearly approaching $10,000 on the development of the ground, after which his title was assailed by Mr. Werbus who said he was the original locator of the ground in question.

After hearing the evidence in the case Mr. Senkler decided that while Werbus had staked the ground in question and applied for a title under a different description to that of Parker, the latter had procured his title first and disposed of the property, and all this without any objection having been raised by Werbus, till after the purchaser had expended a large amount of money and located the pay streak. For these reasons the decision was given in favor of Vincent.

What grounds the higher court bases the present decision upon are so far unknown, as news of it is very brief, having been received in a telegram this morning.

Quiet at Tanana.

A. L. Agee, proprietor of the Colorado barber shop and a colored man of rare intelligence, returned yesterday on the Susie from Circle City at which place he was in direct communication with the Tanana, where he has three men engaged in the work of prospecting. Agee says there will be but little more prospecting this fall as the country is quite wet and muddy from the frequent rains. Owing to the excessive charges on freight from Circle to the mining field comparatively little freight has gone into the country, but when snow falls it is probable more will be moved. When Agee went to Circle 40 days ago almost any plug of a horse would sell for $300 or more, but before he left he says the same plugs could be bought and were readily selling at from $30 to $50. There is, he says, plenty of feed for animals in that country, and the reason horses can be had so cheaply is that there is nothing for them to do. Agee is of the opinion that the Tanana will be a good country by another year, although he says it has as yet been but partially prospected.

Renewed Zeal.

The impetus which the dogcatcher has lately given to his business is worthy of emulation in more elevated pursuits of life. Of late, in fact since the successful auction of dogs on last Saturday, the dogcatcher is abroad at all hours of the day and night and the pound is again rapidly filling up. In the language of the poet, Romulus and Remus, "Lay on McDuff." Its what you are there for; but don't overlook curs and mongrels in your zeal to capture thoroughbred malamutes and full dress huskies.

Anarchists Not Sorry.

New York, Aug. 2.—Several hundred anarchists held a meeting in Bartholdi hall, at Paterson, N. J., tonight for the purpose of discussing the situation in Italy. There were many Frenchmen, a number of Spaniards and a few Austrians in the assemblage, which consisted for the most part of Italians.

Pasquale Frank presided. At the opening he denounced the newspapers in general and claimed that they were misrepresenting the anarchists. He said the papers made anarchists out as bad men and pictured them as revolting in actions. He said this was untrue and that anarchists were the same as other people.

Pedro Esteve, the Spanish leader and editor of a Paterson anarchist publication, was the principal speaker. He discussed the situation in Italy from his standpoint, claiming the country was bad to the core. He said the poor people of the nation were oppressed and overburdened by taxes and because of the latter the poor people could not stay in the country. He reviewed the work of the socialists in Italy and claimed their propaganda had done no good; their intentions might be good, but their methods were not productive of results. He said Italy's only hope was in the anarchists. They had no secrets, he said, and took no part in plots.

They did not select by lot or otherwise to kill. Bressi, he said, had not been sent to kill the king; he did the act of his own accord. An anarchist was free to do as he pleased. An anarchist, he said, might decide to kill a king and know when he had done it that he would have to give his life for it, but he would give his life gladly. Bressi, he said, had killed the king, and he was glad, although he knew he would have to suffer for his act. Esteve said that he was not sorry. He asked if anyone present was sorry. This was greeted with laughter and applause.

Resolutions were adopted as follows: "We, here assembled, intend to state that Bressi's deed was the result of a present serious state of affairs, and therefore we are trying to establish one where violence would not be possible. "We deplore as foolish the idea that there could have been or existed a plot in this city (Paterson) and protest against those who attributed it to and are trying to make the Italian colony of Paterson responsible for Bressi's deed."

Sir William's Hot Speech.

New York, Aug. 2.—A dispatch from London to the Tribune says:

The war in South Africa is clearly approaching an end. Hunter has reported that he will have fully 4000 prisoners among the hills south of Bethlehem, and that Oliver alone has succeeded in breaking away toward Harrismith with a thousand men.

Forty thousand British troops ought to be able to catch that commando with its five guns. The Free State forces now consist of two columns of 1000 men each, under Dewet and Oliver, several hundred miles apart and enveloped with British troops, and when these surrender the Transvaal Boers will not have any justification for holding out, especially when the campaign has become one of intolerable suffering on both sides. The Boers are fighting in rags and barefoot, and are suffering from hunger, cold and every conceivable privation. The British troops are badly clothed and fed, owing to the wretched work of the transport service.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt made a speech against the government yesterday in the house of commons, and displayed a semblance of his old time fighting form. He referred to the estimate of $15,000,000 for operating in China and intimated that the ultimate cost of British operations in that quarter might exceed that in South Africa. He also assumed that the war in South Africa would cost fully $400,000,000 and commented on the fact that consols, which used to stand at 115 had gone below par. He even ventured to predict that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, if he were borrowing, would emulate Mr. Goschen's achievement in sending them down to 95.

This speech was the most effective attack which has yet been made on the government. The war has not been well financed. A tax of a penny a pound on sugar would have yielded more revenue than the new schedule of increased taxes imposed by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach at the expense of payers of income dues and other direct taxes.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

In Capt. McDonnell's court this morning the case up for hearing was that against Wm. H. Robertson, charged not with smuggling liquor, but with having liquor in his possession without a permit. Had the liquor come from the United States it would have been smuggling, but as it was from Canada, a portion of the country of which the Yukon is a part, the term of "smuggling" does not legally apply. Sergeant Wilson conducted the case for the prosecution, the defendant being represented by an attorney. Constable Piper was the only witness examined. His testimony in substance was that he had seen a team engaged in hauling boxes which were being stored in the A. C. Co.'s warehouse; that Robertson was there and was asked the contents of the boxes, replying "That is for you to find out;" that witness and inspector had opened what purported to be an egg case, when 18 bottles were revealed; that there were in all 25 egg cases, 10 boxes labeled "Tomatoes," and 25 cases labeled "Assorted Jams"—jun jams, probably; that when witness and the inspector were going ahead to open the other boxes Robertson admitted that they all contained whisky, gin, etc. Witness had not sampled the goods, but was certain it was liquor. In all, there were 908 bottles of the total value, $5 per bottle being a fair appraisal, of over $4500.

The defense did not introduce any evidence, but resigned itself to the court, who ordered that the goods be confiscated and that Robertson pay a fine of $75 and costs. The fine and costs were paid, but the court was requested to fix an appeal bond and no time given that an appeal will be taken for the recovery of the goods. In the meantime, the "oil of joy" is in the possession of the police and is destined evidently to be "put in circulation" no matter if Robertson does not recover it, as in that case it will be sold as contraband goods by the officials. The defense will have 10 days in which to perfect and make an appeal, during which time the hooch will gather the beads of age and maturity.

Tragic Ending.

Hermann Bloomingdale, one of the best known of Victoria citizens, was found dead in one of the bathrooms of the Dryard hotel this morning with a bullet in his brain and a revolver lying at his side.

Deceased has been ailing for some time past, and so severe had his malady, neuralgia of the heart, became that his life was one of almost continued suffering. Recently this became more intense and to numerous acquaintances he intimated that he had almost reached the limit of endurance.

Yesterday he was about as usual, and retired last night about the regular time. This morning Mrs. Sealig, his niece, found a note from him saying that he would be found in the bathroom and a Chinaman was dispatched to search the rooms.

On the second floor at the back of the building the deceased was found sitting as though asleep on the edge of the bath. A small pool of blood was on the floor as well as a new Ivey-Johnson revolver, containing one empty shell and two cartridges. A hole in the cranium, back of and above the right ear, showed unmistakably the cause of death.

Mr. Bloomingdale was dressed merely in underclothing, and had evidently got out of his bed when suffering became acute, and gone to the bathroom to perform the fatal act.

The pistol had been held close to the head and death must have been instantaneous.

Hermann Bloomingdale was at one time a prominent figure in business circles on the Pacific coast. He was formerly in business in San Francisco with his brother, and afterwards represented Strauss & Co. in London. He was, until a short time ago, the local manager for the last mentioned firm, and had the respect and confidence of his contemporaries in the commercial world. A short time ago he went to California in the hope that the change would benefit him, but it failed to do so, and he returned to Victoria, the climate of which seemed to be more suitable for him.

He was about 60 years of age and unmarried. He was of the Jewish faith. —Victoria Times, Aug. 1.

Will Be at It Again.

The lease of the Orpheum Company upon the building now occupied by them will expire in a short time and the company are preparing to wind up their affairs. Manager Alex Pantages has been most successful in looking out for the interests of the company and has made an enviable reputation not only among the profession but also among business men of the town.

It is hinted that it will not be long until he is again at the head of a similar enterprise.
