Editorial

Our pulpits are our work clothes. Each of us live some kind of a sermon every day.

COMMERCIAL LECTURING IN HIGH SCHOOL

From a contemporary we learn of an enterprise which is being put over by one town in Canada, that might with profit be imitated by Wolfville. This is no more nor less than the arrangement of a program of addresses by local citizens to be given at intervals to the pupils of the high school.

BETTER RELATIONS BETWEEN WOLFVILLE AND KENTVILLE

The section lying between Wolfville and Kentville is one of the most desirable residential districts in this province. On the main trunk road between Halifax and Yarmouth these two towns are only seven miles apart, and are year by year gradually approaching each other.

THE OLD HOME SUMMER

In view of the proposed Old Home Summer next year it is none too early for the citizens of Wolfville to duly consider how it will be possible to make their town more attractive to the host of visitors who will be coming then to our province.

SARAH BERNHARDT'S IDEA OF HAPPINESS

"What is your idea of happiness?" A newspaper man once asked that question of Sarah Bernhardt.

"Realization that this happiness would never be mine," said the divine Sarah. Her answers were sound. The basis of happiness, the basis of civilization is family life.

Advertising to sell goods should not be merely letting people know that they exist; it should be telling them all about the goods.

NEIGHBORHOOD CORRESPONDENCE

I have before me as I write a letter written to the editor of this paper from a far town in Saskatchewan. The writer is speaking not only for herself but on behalf of that great number who once made this county their home.

But now look at it from the viewpoint of the readers of this paper living in different parts of the country. They have gone away for various reasons but they are building for themselves homes as their fathers did, faced with the same conditions, perplexed by the same problems and they are anxious to keep the old-time traditions and transplant the old-time ideals in the new places to which they have gone.

Now for some years after these people went away the weekly or monthly letter followed them. No one can estimate the inspiration or restraining forces of these letters, but one by one writers laid aside the pen or their eyes became dim and their fingers cramped with age, and the letters grew less frequent and finally ceased altogether.

Here is where the home paper comes in. It comes as a weekly letter freighted with the fragrance of the memories of bygone days. The first bit of news they look for is the news of their old neighborhood.

Well, well, he seemed an old man when they were still young. They remembered his rugged honest and the homely advice which from his desk as superintendent of the Sunday School he gave them. And so he is dead, but his words and influence which can never die come back to them and they live over again their Sunday School days, but now realizing what they did not as boys and girls, how necessary, how important, the need of a character built upon the ideal of the Holy Word.

The fallacy of tying up to Hard Coal

ALMOST the entire West burns soft coal in furnaces. The "anthracite" fallacy was exploded by necessity.

McClary's long ago built the ideal furnace for the West, and to-day it is the ideal furnace for the East. With the famous Air Blast Ring it burns soft coal or hard coal equally well.

Don't equip your home with a furnace that will burn hard coal only. McClary's All-Cast Sunshine will make you independent of fuel shortages.

A TIMELY CHEQUE

John Wesley, the founder of the great Methodist Church was a poor man but his disposition to do what he could led him to look for opportunities and find people to help. It was a habit with him when he saw the need to say: "This ought to be done and I must find the way."

In his early days at Newcastle-on-Tyne he endeavored, so Bishop Simpson once said, to start an orphan school, and made the arrangements with the builders who required one hundred pounds ($500), which he did not have in hand. He was obliged to take a train to meet an engagement. Just as he was starting off a Quaker in his own home town came in and said: "John, I had a strange dream about thee last night. I saw thee with a parcel of little children in a storm, and thee was trying to shelter them and had no place, so when I woke up I wrote thee this cheque for an hundred pounds."

PROHIBITION

Edward Price Bell of the London office of the Chicago Daily News, has written to the London Times as follows:
 Virtually everything that counts in the long run in America—everything best in mind and character—is against, if not all liquor, certainly hard liquor. Millions of determined men and women are fighting for prohibition. Their efforts will not slacken.
 "Now it is sinking ever more deeply into the consciousness of this host—this ardent multitude—that if prohibition shall be defeated in the United States, the defeat will be due to greed, and mainly to British intervention."
 "One does not need to labor the seriousness of the problem. It behooves the statesmen of the English speaking nations to come to grips with it, and to solve it, not in accordance with the interests of the English speaking family as a whole—interests that are the interest of humanity."

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR MOTORISTS

- Every automobile to be sold in the future, according to plans of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, will be tagged with the following Ten Commandments:
1. Always remember you are an engineer, fully responsible.
  2. Always test your brakes when starting; and have them inspected frequently.
  3. Never pass a street car when it is stopping, or, if the law permits, proceed very slow past it at the legal distance.
  4. Exercise especial care in crossing in front of a street car or in passing it, as you cannot tell what may be coming on the other side.
  5. Always signal with hand when slowing down, turning or stopping, even though you have an automatic or mechanical warning device.
  6. Look before you back, and sound the horn three times.
  7. Try to drive with using the horn as little as possible. A sudden noise may stop pedestrians in their tracks rather than warn them.
  8. Don't count too much on the common sense of the other fellow. No one is 100 per cent alert all the time.
  9. Drive slowly in streets where children are playing. Remember your own childhood.
  10. Cross crossings cautiously. Warning bells may be out of order, watchmen or gate operators may be off duty. Trains cannot stop as quickly as you can. Shift into second to avoid stalling on tracks.

It cost a California baker ten days in jail for calling down a telephone operator the other day. He asked for long-distance connection and, feeling that the service was slow, he proceeded to tell the operator so in emphatic language. To save herself a pair of badly burned ears, she switched the irate baker on to the phone of the sheriff, with disastrous results to the abusive baker.

Somehow our grandchildren do not seem to have faults that our own children did.

PROHIBITION IN NOVA SCOTIA

The Social Service Council of Nova Scotia is causing petitions to be circulated, addressed to the Provincial Government asking that certain definite measures be adopted for the enforcement of the temperance law of the province. Three requests are submitted in these petitions.
 One is that the Government of Nova Scotia ask the federal authorities to cancel the licenses under which wholesale warehouses for the exportation of intoxicating liquors are operating in Halifax. These licenses, the Dominion Government has assured the Social Service Council, will be rescinded as soon as the government at Halifax asks for their cancellation. Just why such a pre-requisite to their cancellation is necessary is not apparent. The Dominion Government should not issue licenses to private individuals or firms for the commercial handling of intoxicants in a province where both local and federal prohibition laws are supposed to be in force. But Ottawa having passed the buck to Halifax, prompt action on the part of the local government may be confidently looked for, if the hands of the members are not still tied by entangling alliances with those who are engaged in the liquor business.
 The second of the requests which the Social Service Council is presenting to the Government has reference to the Provincial Vendorship Commission. What is asked in this connection is strict and honest supervision of liquor sales through its agency. Under the law, alcoholic spirits may only be sold in Nova Scotia for medicinal and industrial uses, and sales of intoxicants as a beverage are prohibited and penalized. Yet the enormous trade carried on under the supervision of the Commission, through the various vendorships in the province, is conclusive proof to all that the law is being violated openly and shamelessly through these government agencies.
 Such a condition is entirely discreditable to the government, and is an open challenge to public decency. Illicit stills, bootlegging organizations and outlawed rum dives do not reflect anything like such a reproach on the province, as a state of facts which discloses the constituted authorities of Nova Scotia as an organization for the wholesale and methodical violation of the laws of the land.
 Finally the petitions which are shortly to be presented to the government pray that stronger measures be adopted for the enforcement of the N. S. Temperance Act. It is not necessary to enlarge upon the need and appropriateness of such a request. In Halifax, Sydney, Glace Bay, Yarmouth and other Nova Scotia towns prohibition enforcement has become more or less of a farce. In some cases collusion between inspector and dive-keepers is regularly practised. In some cases the civic or municipal authorities deliberately connive at the illegal trade, which they regard as a means of raising revenues by the imposition of just as many fines per year as the outlaw booze sellers can individually pay, without being driven out of business. These are facts which cannot be gainsaid; and they are humiliating facts to everyone having a decent conception of the dignity of British Law.

STORING FRUIT AND VEGETABLES

The time has come when vegetables must be brought in and stored for winter. Usually it would be very convenient if all these could be bundled away into the cellar out of the way; the difficulty is that some vegetables need coolness and moisture, while others need practically opposite conditions. Apples, potatoes, carrots, cabbage, etc., deteriorate rapidly when stored in a dry place or where it is warm. Pumpkins and squash on the other hand, will not suffer from some warmth, and must be in a dry atmosphere of they will mould and rot very quickly.
 A heap of potatoes, put in warm, from the field, is in the worst possible condition to develop rot. They should be allowed to cool and dry either in small heaps out of doors, when there is no danger of frost preferably remaining over night, or on a barn floor or some such place. It will be remembered that in early fall there is a good deal of heat in the ground and on sunny days the vegetables will not get thoroughly cooled.
 A hen is the only living critter that can still produce dividends.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1923

Remember that birthday when there were twelve candles on the cake and the big piece rested on the plate of that wonderful girl whose golden curls were the most beautiful in all the world—and then that birthday, when that girl with nut brown hair glanced shyly as Dad told you you were now a man. And then the birthdays came quickly, until there were no candles on the cake, but just a touch of thoughtfulness and love reflected in the making. Now in the mellow of years we can think of birthdays and their joys just as the mirror of the only birthday—the day we pass into life—into Eternity. Smile as the hour nears.

Cleopatra Washed Her Face This Way

She used Palm and Olive oils, the same rare oils which are blended in Palmolive. She knew that to have a fresh fine skin, thorough cleansing was necessary. The crude combination of Palm and Olive oils which was the best that soap-makers could then, obtain is now brought to perfection in Palmolive.
 The girl of today, if she would be beautiful, follows Cleopatra's practice. Every day she cleanses the skin thoroughly with mild Palmolive Soap. Never does she permit cold cream, rouge and powder to accumulate and clog the pores of the skin. She knows that this starts irritation and blackheads, pimples and other blemishes result.
 Palmolive with its mild creamy lather is lotion-like in its action. It freshens, revives and stimulates and leaves the skin delightfully fresh and rosy.
 Thus a great luxury may be enjoyed at the price of ordinary soap. You can pay more, but you can't get a finer, milder cleanser.
 You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first-class dealers.
