Saint John Sale Stables.
A CUMMING, Veterinary Surgeon, begs to inform his intimate and public having HORSES to dispose of, that he is about to open a Sale Stable, those premises next the Catholic Chapel, head of King's Square, St. John; where Horses will be kept ativery, and bought or sold on commission.
There being no well-understood place in St. John where those having Horses, and those wanting Horses, know where to find each other, M. A. C. has taken himself that a HORSE BAZAAR, or Sale Stable, properly conducted, may in some measure supply a want often felt by the public; while from the knowledge of horses derived from his profession, he may be able at times to give useful advice both to seller and purchaser.

ARCHIBALD SCOTT, Esq.
SIR.—As the Agent of various Fire Insurance Companies, I beg to bring under your notice my PATENT ARTIFICIAL SLATE. This composition has been prepared, three years extensively used in New Brunswick, Newfoundland, and Prince Edward Island, the Canada and Nova Scotia, principally for covering shingled roofs, as you will perceive by the accompanying circulars of certificates.
It has been severely tested, and proved most successfully its fire proof qualities under most extraordinary circumstances; so much so, that I am of opinion that Fire Insurance Companies should discourage its general application to all kinds of wood building (where the roof would be so objectionable to its being used, such as the back walls of dwellings in the city, out houses, ware-houses, &c., as well as the roofs) by lowering the premium of insurance on such buildings as are covered.
I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
J. W. ROSS,
Patentee and Manufacturer.
Halifax 14th July, 1853.

SIR.—In answer to your note of the 12th inst. I consider the use of your "Artificial Slate Paint" on shingled roofs, as greatly diminishing the risk against Fire.—I have frequently reduced the premiums on Buildings in the Country, upon its application.
I am, Sir, your ob't servant,
ARCHIBALD SCOTT,
Insurance Agent.

PLAN OF PETER THE GREAT FOR THE SUBJUGATION OF EUROPE

The following remarkable document, bequeathed by Peter the Great to his successors on the throne of Russia, possesses at the present moment peculiar weight and significance. The original testament is deposited in the archives of the Palace of Peterhof, near St. Petersburg. Read by his light the recent movement of the Autocrat are alarming to all but the incapabilities who rule and influence the councils of Western Europe, and of Britain in particular. The document was first brought to Europe in 1757, by the Chevalier d'Eon, who being in the good graces of the Empress Elizabeth, was enabled to obtain a copy. On his return to France, charged by his Imperial mistress with the ratification of a supplement to the treaty of Versailles, he communicated this extraordinary document first to M. C. Abbe de Bernis, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and subsequently to the King himself. This stupendous scheme of European dominion, as sketched out by Peter, seemed however utterly chimerical to the minister of Louis XV. In the "Vie Politique du Chevalier d'Eon," published in 1779 by Lafortelle, we find the following observations:—

"This communication was treated as of slight importance by the ministry of Versailles; they considered the plan impracticable and the views chimerical. In vain from my bed of pain (d'Eon had broken his leg on his return from Russia) did I transcribe it, write explanatory memoranda, and send special memorials to the King, to the Marquis de l'Hospital, who was just appointed Ambassador to Poland, to prove to them that the secret intention of the Court of Russia was at the impending death of Augustus III., to fill Poland with her troops, to make herself the arbitress of the election of the future King, and to possess herself of a portion of her territory, in accordance with the plan of Peter the Great; all my disclosures were considered unworthy of serious attention, doubtless because they came from so young a man, but in 1778 they found the dreadful results of the prejudice they had against so young an informant."

It will be seen that Peter the Great asserts his views to be the decrees of Providence; and that he regards the Russian people as called to the future supremacy of all Europe. This idea is based upon a theory that the majority of the European nations have reached an old age which is next to decrepitude, and that they are rapidly going down hill; from all which it is a fair deduction that they may be easily and certainly conquered by a young and new people, when this latter shall have developed its strength and resources.

The Russian Monarch accordingly regards this coming invasion by the North of the countries lying to the West and East as a peribic movement fixed by the design of Providence, which, as he observes, regenerates Rome by the incursions of barbarians. He compares these immigrations to the flux of the Nile, which at certain seasons enriches the exhausted soil of Egypt. He adds that Russia, which he found a brook, but leaves a noble river, will become, under his successors, a mighty ocean, destined to fertilize over Europe, and that its waves, despite all the barrier which feeble hands may raise against them, must spread, if his successors have wisdom to direct their course. For these reasons, he leaves the precepts which are subjoined, and which he commends "to their constant attention and observance, even as Moses commended the Jewish people to the observance of the table of the law."

THE TESTAMENT OF PETER I.
In the name of the holy and indivisible Trinity, we Peter, Emperor, or Autocrat, of the Russians, &c., to all our descendants and successors in the throne and government of the Russian nation.
Almighty God, of whom we hold our life and our crown, having constantly enlightened us with his wisdom, and sustained us by his mighty arm, &c., we leave in charge to our successors—I.—To keep the Russian nation in a kind of warlike readiness, and the soldiers prepared for battle, and in full activity; not to allow them to repose unless for the recruiting of the finances of the State, continually to renew the constitution of the army, and to choose the most opportune moments for aggression, thus to make peace serve the ends of war, and war promote the objects of peace in the interest of the aggrandizement and growing prosperity of Russia.
II.—To gather together, by every possible means, skillful generals during war, and learned men during the peace, from the several most intelligent nations of Europe, that the Russian nation may profit by the advance of other countries, without losing any of their own home supplies.
III.—To mix themselves on all occasions in the negotiations and disagreements of the people of Europe, and show all in those of

THE VIENNA NEGOTIATIONS. PEACE AND WAR PROBABILITIES.

(From the London Times, Sept. 6.)
It is perfectly true, that since the Turkish government has made its acceptance of the note proposed by the conference at Vienna to depend on the adoption of certain changes in the text of that document, the question which has kept Europe in suspense for so many months, and which appeared to be approaching a termination, is still a matter of marvellous doubt and unabated apprehension. But it is not true that the subject is at this time enveloped in great mystery and reserve, for on the contrary, the game is being played, as the French say, cartes sur table. The note of the conference, and the alterations required by the Divan, are before the world, and have been variously discussed by the organs of public opinion, as well as by statesmen and cabinets in every part of Europe. Everybody knows what those terms are which have been transmitted to St. Petersburg, and that the 4 courts have strongly urged the Emperor Nicholas to finish this tedious and dangerous negotiation and accept them.
Whether he will accept them or not, is entirely a matter of opinion, and the reasons on both sides are so nearly balanced that we do not suppose any politician, be he minister or journalist, would undertake to express a confident expectation on the one side or on the other. But on that decision, whatever it may be, rests the whole question of Europe. Although, therefore, we are now in possession of the materials for this discussion, we must be content to wait for the positive result; and in the mean time the question continues to excite as much anxiety and uncertainty as it has ever done since the month of April. Under these circumstances the leading members of the cabinet who are concerned in the direction of our foreign relations have not left town for a single day, and there cannot be stronger proof of the entire unanimity prevailing in the ministry on these questions than the fact, that at this important juncture, Lord Russell and Lord Palmerston have returned to London to hold closer communication with Lord Clarendon and Lord Aberdeen. Attempts to sow division in the ministry and to shake the confidence of the country were never, in fact, more entirely out of place.

From the moment that the alterations and additional conditions required by the Turkish government became known, we deplored the delay and the danger which those changes were likely to occasion.— For, even if it were demonstrated that the alterations are unobjectionable, and even desirable in themselves, we should hold that the value of these modified expressions is incomparably below that of a prompt settlement of the dispute. It is notorious that these changes were put forward by a party in the Divan who are not favorable to any diplomatic settlement, but are still eager for an appeal to arms; and if the opposition they have offered to the terms of agreement should lead to its rejection by the other side, the violent faction at the Porte will prevail over the more prudent and judicious advisers of the Sultan. The Porte itself, which began by throwing its cause into the hands of its allies, when it had taken the firm resolution to reject Prince Menschikoff's demands, and which obtained for several months the united support of Europe on these conditions, will have destroyed the union of its own policy with that of the mediating powers; and we have reason to believe that the French cabinet has already signified to the Sultan that the ulterior steps he may adopt, contrary to the advice of his allies, must be taken at his own peril.

Upon the immediate subject of the greatest interest at the present moment, the acceptance or rejection of the alterations by the Emperor of Russia, we are reduced to mere conjecture, and each of our readers will form his own judgment whether, under all the circumstances of the case, the Emperor Nicholas will be most actuated on this occasion by motives of ambition and passion, or by the rules of policy and the desire of peace. We cannot conceal from ourselves that the policy which has been rashly pursued at Constantinople has a tendency to lead to fresh and very serious dangers.
The note adopted by the conference was intended to meet, as far as possible, the double difficulties of the present situation of affairs. It was not more than Turkey could honorably concede—it was not less than Russia could fairly accept, though, if any one will take the trouble of comparing it with Prince Menschikoff's demands, it will be seen that all the most objectionable expressions and articles of the Russian note have been carefully excluded. Such as it is, this draught was not willingly accepted by Emperor Nicholas, though he submitted to it out of deference to the opinion of the allies and from an apparent desire to escape from the embarrassments of his isolated and aggressive position. It will be remembered that the intelligence that the note had been accepted at St. Petersburg was received throughout Europe with universal satisfaction, as a thing more to be desired than expected. After all this, which certainly amounted to an abatement, if not a surrender of the Russian pretensions, the note is sent back with further alterations not originating with the conference at Vienna, but with the Turkish government. To yield a second time to this sort of appeal, especially after the Emperor had assumed a few weeks before, in a defeat amounting to humiliation; and, although the Russian government has brought these evils upon itself, it is by no means clear that a sovereign in the position of the Emperor Nicholas is prepared to endure such a result. Grave doubts may therefore be entertained as to the acceptance of these terms at St. Petersburg in their altered form; though we trust that a more mature consideration of the whole question has, ere this, brought the Emperor of Russia to a just sense of what is due, if not to Turkey, to general interests of Europe.

On the other hand, there are some strong practical arguments in favor of the acceptance of the terms and the restoration of peace. The season is already too far advanced for the Russian army to undertake any operations beyond the Danube with the least prospect of decisive success; and the position of the Turkish forces under Omar Pasha is such as to render any advance whatever an undertaking of great risk and danger. But the prospect of a prolonged Russian occupation of the principalities, even if Europe could submit to it, is not much less unfavorable. The troops have already suffered to a prodigious extent from the climate. The price of provisions in Bucharest has quintupled, and the military hospitals are encumbered with the sick.
In a few weeks the rains will have converted the country for the most part into a pathless swamp, and it will become equally difficult to withdraw the army and to keep up the necessary supplies, for the stores of the country are already exhausted. At this time of the year, and with the Danube between the two camps, neither the Russian nor the Turkish army could attack in antagonism with effect. It may be doubted whether there is any military advantage in the occupation of such a position, and the Russian generals are said to have given evident indications of desire to withdraw from their miserable cantonments. The occupation of the principalities has failed to subdue the resistance of Turkey; it has, on the contrary, roused her to more energetic efforts. It has irritated Europe by a breach of treaty, and it has placed Russia in a position which she cannot hold without immense sacrifices of every kind. The acceptance of the note is the only way by which the Emperor Nicholas can extricate himself from this position, for this events of the last three months have given him no additional claim to dictate conditions beyond his frontier. The evacuation of the principalities ought to be the first step in the arrangement, and that alone can relieve the combined fleets from the necessity of passing the winter near the scene of these occurrences. The rejection of the terms and the refusal to evacuate would, on the contrary, probably be followed by a declaration of war or some violent ebullition at Constantinople; and as the war party in the Divan would then gain the upper hand, having already frustrated the conditions of peace tendered to the Sultan by Europe, they must be prepared to abide by the consequences of their violence, while the Governments which have hitherto supported them would be entirely at liberty to deal as they might think fit with this state of affairs.

THE THIEVES AND THE NEW HATS.
An elegantly dressed gentleman ordered some time ago, at a hatter's, twenty-five hats of an entirely new form. The maker, when they were finished, tried one on, and finding that it became him, made a twenty-sixth for his own personal use. The individual who had given the order called punctually for the hats, and paid cheerfully.
The next Sunday, the weather being very fine, the hatter gave his new head-piece an airing in the Champs Elysees. When at the Road Point, he observed several persons adorned with the coverings he had made. "One came up to him, and said, with a peculiar wink, "A good day for booty this, and no beads about!" Dear me, thought the hatter, I should not wonder if I had been making hats to serve as a rallying signal to members of a secret society. Rather concerned, he kept on his walk. Under the Arch of Triumph, he saw other individuals sporting other specimens of his late new style. "One came quickly behind him, and said, "Here, put these in your pocket; and these," and these." He handed him three watches with broken chains, two purses, and five handkerchiefs. The hatter saw clearly enough the sort of society with which he was in league. He pushed to the nearest commissary of police, and the twenty-five pickpockets were speedily lodged in jail.—Paris Cor. of N. Y. Times.

GERMANY, WHICH, FROM ITS GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION, INTERESTS HER MOST IMMEDIATELY.

IV.—To sow division in Poland, by continually fomenting jealousies and disturbances; to buy over the powerful with gold;
to influence the members of the Diet, and to corrupt them, so as to hold the control in the election of their kings; to obtain the nomination of partisans, to support them, and whenever possible, to take the opportunity of marching Russian troops into that kingdom, and to remain there until the time shall come for permanent occupation. If the neighbouring powers oppose difficulties, soothe them for a time, by apportioning them shares in the country, in such manner that the gift may be revoked.

V.—To take the most you can from Sweden, and cause her to attack you, which will give the pretext for subjugating her.
It will serve this view to isolate her from Denmark, and Denmark from Sweden, or to foster carefully their rivalry.

VI.—Always to take the wives of the Russian princes from among the German princesses, so as to multiply family alliances, to draw the bonds of interest closer, and even to join Germany in our cause, by this continual extension of our influences.

VII.—To cultivate in preference to all other, the alliance of England, in commercial matters, as that is the power which has most need of us for the extension of its maritime interests, and which can be most useful to us in developing our marine. We should exchange our timber and other products for her gold, and establish with her merchants, her seamen, and our own the most intimate communications, which the people of that country form for the purposes of navigation and commerce.

VIII.—Never to relax in the extension of your territory northward, on the shores of the Baltic, and southward on those of the Black Sea.

IX.—Encroach as far as possible in the direction of Constantinople and the Indies.
He who reigns there will be the true ruler of the world. To work this out, raise war continually—at one time against Turkey, at another against Persia; make dockyards on the Black Sea; by degrees make yourself masters of that Sea, as well as of the Baltic; hasten the decay of Persia, and penetrate to the Persian Gulf; establish,
if possible via Syria, the ancient commerce of the East, and rush onwards to the Indies, which are the entrepot of the world. Once there you need not fear the gold of England.

X.—To seek and cherish with care Austrian alliances; seem to encourage her ideas of future sovereignty over Germany, but secretly foment jealousy of her among the Princes. Endeavour to induce each by turns to ask the aid of Russia, and exercise a sort of protectorate over the country, which may pave the way for future dominion.

XI.—To attach and unite around you all the scattered and schismatic Greeks who are spread over Hungary and the south of Portugal; to make yourselves their centre and support, and to establish, first—a universal dominion by a sort of sacerdotal kingship or supremacy; this will make you many friends in the very homes of your enemies.

XII.—Sweden dismembered, Persia
vanquished, Poland subjugated, Turkey conquered, our armies concentrated, the Black Sea and the Baltic swept by our fleets—it will then be time to propose separately and secretly, first to the Court of Versailles, and then to that of Vienna, to share with them the Empire of the world.
If either the one or the other fall into this scheme, which they cannot fail to do at a proposition so flattering to their self-love and their ambition, make use of the acceptance to crush the other; you may in turn crush the remaining one; by entering upon a struggle which cannot be doubtful in the result, Russia possessing already all the East and the major part of Europe.

XIV.—If, which is not probable, each of the Powers refuses the offer of Russia, it will know how to excite quarrels between them, and make one exhaust the other.
Thus seizing a decisive moment, Russia will pour down her armies, already concentrated, on Germany, and at the same moment two immense fleets of transports, the one sailing from the sea of Azof, the other from the Port of Archangel, loaded with Asiatic hordes, under the convoy of the armed squadrons of the Black and the Baltic Seas. Advancing along the Mediterranean and by the Atlantic, they will overwhelm France on one hand, while Germany will be overrun on the other, and these two countries, conquered, the rest of Europe will pass easily and unresistingly under the yoke. Thus may and should Europe be conquered.

Germany, which, from its geographical position, interests her most immediately.
IV.—To sow division in Poland, by continually fomenting jealousies and disturbances; to buy over the powerful with gold;
to influence the members of the Diet, and
in the election of their kings; to obtain the
nomination of partisans, to support them,
shall come for permanent occupation. If
the neighbouring powers oppose difficulties,
that the gift may be revoked.

will give the pretext for subjugating her.
It will serve this view to isolate her from
to foster carefully their rivalry.

princesses, so as to multiply family alliances, to draw the bonds of interest closer,
this continual extension of our influences.

VII.—To cultivate in preference to all
other, the alliance of England, in commercial matters, as that is the power which
ducts for her gold, and establish with her
of navigation and commerce.

Black Sea.

direction of Constantinople and the Indies.
continually—at one time against Turkey,
at another against Persia; make dock-
yards on the Black Sea; by degrees make
yourself masters of that Sea, as well as
of the Baltic; hasten the decay of Persia,
and penetrate to the Persian Gulf; establish,
if possible via Syria, the ancient commerce
of the East, and rush onwards to the Indies,
which are the entrepot of the world. Once
land.

ideas of future sovereignty over Germany,
turns to ask the aid of Russia, and exercise
a sort of protectorate over the country, which may pave the way for future dominion.

are spread over Hungary and the south of
enemies.

conquered, our armies concentrated, the
rately and secretly, first to the Court of
share with them the Empire of the world.
If either the one or the other fall into this
and their ambition, make use of the accept-
East and the major part of Europe.

them, and make one exhaust the other.
will pour down her armies, already concentrated, on Germany, and at the same mo-
one sailing from the sea of Azof, the other
Baltic Seas. Advancing along the Mediterranean and by the Atlantic, they will over-
rope will pass easily and unresistingly under the yoke. Thus may and should Europe be conquered.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A GENTLEMAN?

To THE EDITOR OF HASZARD'S GAZETTE

Sir,—My former communication having failed to elicit any remark, worthy of notice, I now take the liberty to forward you, for the special benefit of the worthies abroad, the recent decision of an eminent English lawyer on the above subject.

In the recent case of Wag v. Kelton, tried at the late Bristol Assizes, Mr. Justice Talford thus defined the character of a gentleman. The evidence proved that the defendant, while in the theatre, had said to the plaintiff "Do not speak to me; I am a gentleman."

AYER'S PILLS.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC.

There has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as safe and perfectly safe in its operation.

This has been prepared to meet that demand, and is a safe and reliable remedy, which will be found to be the best of its kind.

It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of its kind—one which should have the effect of a cathartic, but not the effect of a purgative.

This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is so irritating and so much so.

This is not. Many of these produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from their use.

These pills produce no irritation or pain, they are gentle and pleasant in their operation, and they are so prepared as to be taken at any time, and in any quantity.

It is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use are given on the box.

The Wonder of the World!

Devine's Compound PITCH LOZENGE.

THE Great Remedy is at last discovered, and COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, COSTIVENESS AND CONSUMPTION have lost their terror, and vanish as if by magic before this Sovereign remedy. Was it ever before known that, Lozenges of Consumption cured for less than 5s?

Try it. If any individual is to be pined, and needs sympathy, it is the consumptive,—always expecting to get well, and yet the painful evidence of decay almost "makes the inner soul shrink with the outer flesh."

"Some bloom as roses bloom, And live as roses live, A single morning space"—by some impudence and a slight cold neglected,—in the hectic breath, the painful cough.

"The priests of their parting spirit appear." All we ask is this one question:—If you have got meous membranes, or any other members of the body that are "red as the lily,"—are you not interested in this great remedy, DEVINE'S COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE.

THE LAW OF UMBRELLAS.

A correspondent of the New York Register says, he wishes to lay down the moral law on the subject of Umbrellas, which Christian people will observe. Some who make great pretensions have a slender appreciation of the law and turn in particular cases. The very Judge who condemns a criminal to the penitentiary, if the law were rightly executed, which he expounds, is often himself a thief! Will he tell us in what code it is laid down, that umbrellas are a thing in common—that they may be seized upon and appropriated, wherever found, without consideration? This, then, O honest, honest! is the Law of Umbrellas:

"Section I. If you are away from home, and caught suddenly in a shower, and you see an umbrella standing in some corner, for which there appears to be no owner, and being much in need of it, to save you from a wet jacket, you take it sans ceremony—that is stealing."

"Section II. If you have a cotton umbrella, and in your haste to get away, or because the lights in the hall are dim, exchange it for a neat silk one—that is stealing."

"Section III. If, in stress of weather, you borrow one from an obliging friend, who insists on your taking it, and do not impress it upon your recollection to restore it to him the next day—that is stealing."

"Section IV. If you find a stray umbrella in your house, which has been accidentally left, and you give it house-room, without making any effort to find the bereaved owner—that is stealing."

How to RAISE FRUIT EVERY YEAR. If rightly understood, few trees, unless absolutely dead or rotten, need occupy any ground without yielding a plentiful crop. After long and varied experiments, I gradually adopted the following mode: As soon as winter has sufficiently disappeared, and before the sap ascends, I examine my trees. Every dead bough is lopped off; then, after the sap has risen sufficiently to show where the blossoms will be, I cut away all the other branches having none on, and also the extremity of every limb the lower part of which bears a considerable number of buds—thus concentrating the sap of the tree upon the maturation of its fruits, and saving what would be a useless expenditure of strength. In the quince, apricot, and peach trees, this is very important, as these are very apt to be luxuriant in leaves, and destitute of fruit. You may think this injures the trees; but it does not, for you will find trees laden with fruit which formerly yielded nothing.

Of course all other well-known precautions must be attended to—such as cutting out worms from the roots, placing old iron on the limbs, which acts as a tonic to the sap, &c. Try it, ye who have failed in raising fruit.

PAKAS YOU GO.—This is a charming proverb. A sixpenny loaf of bread without butter, and no debt on it, has a better relish than your best dinner that is to be paid for to-morrow.

ALWAYS do as the sun does, look at the bright side of things. For while it is just as cheap, it is three times as good for digestion. The melancholy man don't even relish wedlock.

A HIRE AND CRY.—When an advertised dye turns your hair a bright green!

TO PICKLE CUCUMBERS.—Wipe and put them in salt water, strong enough to bear an egg, in which let them remain six or seven days; then scald them in vinegar to green them, after which, put them in cold spiced vinegar. Beans are done the same way.—Home Cookery.

It is proposed to establish in some of our Eastern cities an institution in which the science of Spiniology, Weavology, and Cookology may be taught to young ladies, and where, after obtaining these accomplishments, they may receive a regular diploma with the honorary degree of "F. F. W.—Fit for Wives."

JEALOUSY is one of the meanest, but not the least powerful, of the unclean spirit that plagues modern society. How rarely is it that we hear sincere, unqualified praise flowing from the lips of a rival. In order to begin hatred, it seems only necessary that two men should start on the same path. They may be friends at first; but in a very short while afterwards we are sure to find them "foes" the success of the one being gall and wormwood to the other.

Mr. Partington, in allusion to the many advertisements headed, "Hot for California," thinks a speed would be more useful to the diggers.

They have got a pig in Ohio on the eighth of October that he has had to man. They regulate his time by twisting his tail—the greater the twist, the higher the notes.

Mechanics, Inventors & Manufacturers.

2450. IN SPLENDID PRIZES. 2450.

VOLUME IX of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN commences on the 17th of September. It is chiefly devoted to the advancement of the interests of Mechanics, Inventors, Manufacturers, and Farmers, by the diffusion of useful knowledge upon these important branches. It is edited by men practically skilled in the arts and sciences, and is widely regarded as a sound and able journal. Nearly all the VALUABLE PATENTS which issue weekly from the PATENT OFFICE are LABORATED WITH EXPLANATIONS, and the CLAIMS of all the PATENTS are published in its columns; thus insuring the paper a perfect SCIENTIFIC and MECHANICAL RECYCLOPEDIA for future as well as present reference. The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is very extensively circulated in the last volume exceeding 18,000 copies per week. It is in form for binding; each volume contains SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS and over FOUR HUNDRED PAGES of Reading Matter, with an Index. The practical receipts alone are worth to any family much more than the subscription price.

The Publishers offer the following valuable prizes for the largest list of subscribers sent in by the 1st of January next:—$100 will be given for the largest list; $75 for the second; $50 for the third; $40 for the fourth; $30 for the fifth; $25 for the sixth; $20 for the seventh; $15 for the eighth; $10 for the ninth; $5 for the tenth; $3 for the eleventh; $2 for the twelfth. The cash will be paid to the order of the successful competitor, immediately after January 1st, 1854. TERMS:—One copy one year, $2; one copy six months, $1;

VETERINARY PRACTICE.

Under the Patronage of His Excellency Sir ALEXANDER BARNBERN, Knight.

GEORGE LORD, begs leave respectfully to intimate to his friends and the public in general, that he has resumed his practice in the VETERINARY LINE, under the patronage of His Excellency Sir ALEXANDER BARNBERN, Knight. After a successful practice of 27 years—14 in England and 13 in America—in the course of which he has been directly instrumental, through his skill in saving for the owners the lives of many valuable Horses and Cows; he hopes that, in now soliciting a renewal of PUBLIC PATRONAGE, he may be permitted to say that he considers himself to be as well qualified to prescribe MEDICINES and perform OPERATIONS in the capacity of a Horse and Cow Doctor, as any individual who has ever practiced in that line in this Colony; and he, therefore, presumes that he may confidently look forward to a renewal of that patronage which he formerly enjoyed in this Island.

RESIDENCE—Next door to the Victoria Hotel, Water Street, Charlotte.

REFERENCE.—Messrs. DesBrisay & Co. Apothecaries' Hall. At the Depot of the Royal Agricultural Society. June 15th, 1853.

The subjoined is a copy of the Certificate which Mr. Lord has received from His Excellency GEORGE LORD, has attended, and prescribed for some of my Cattle at Government House Farm, he has done so successfully, and I shall readily supply him again. A. BARNBERN, Lt. Governor.

BELLS! BELLS! BELLS!

THE Subscribers manufacture and keep constantly on hand, all sizes of Church, Factory, Steamboat, Ferry, Locomotive, School House and Plantation Bells, with the best description of Hanging. These Bells are made from the best stock, and the small sizes undergo the same process in manufacturing as Church Bells. An experience of thirty years, with a great many recent improvements, and an entirely new method of casting, enables us to obtain the most melodious tone, combining also, in extraordinary vibration. Nearly 9,000 Bells have been cast and sold from this Foundry, which is the best evidence of their superiority. We have fifteen Gold and Silver medals at our disposal, which were awarded for the best Bells for sonority and purity of tone. We pay particular attention to the getting up Pails of Chimes, and can refer to those furnished by us. Our establishment is contiguous to the Erie and Champlain Canals, and enables us to send direct to any place, which is within four hours of New York. Cash paid for old Copper, Old Clocks, Levels, Compasses, Transits, Theodolites, &c., for sale, of superior workmanship. All communications, either by mail or otherwise will have immediate attention.

The back numbers of the first volume will be supplied.

Astonishing efficacy of the Oxygenated Bitters.

IN A CASE OF EIGHTEEN YEARS' STANDING. From Fitzhugh Homer, Esq., of Boston, Mass. DEAR SIR—It is now eighteen years since I was first troubled with the water-brash and derangement of the stomach. I have taken advice of the best Physicians in this city and New York, in London, Paris, Germany, and Italy, followed their prescriptions, and visited the several waters and other springs in this country, the watering places of Germany, and elsewhere in Europe, and had found no relief. Since taking the Bitters I have never had a return of the Water-brash, which daily troubled me of late years to a very great degree. My appetite has returned; the extreme flatulency, severe constipation of the bowels, general debility, and sleepless nights, which I suffered, have entirely left me. Having found so great relief from this most disagreeing disorder, I have recommended a trial of your medicine to many of my friends, who are now using it to great advantage. And I cannot refrain from writing you in my favour and praise; for the good you have bestowed upon the community; and trust that what little is in my power to offer in extending the circulation of your Oxygenated Bitters, will be done with grateful pleasure at all times. Yours very respectfully, FITZHENRY HOMER.

Twelvrees Brothers' Soap Powder

(An entirely new invention.) IS the cheapest, safest, best, and most effectual article for all washing purposes, a packet of which is equal to ten Pennyworth of Soap! The saving of Time and Labour is so astonishingly great, that a WEEK'S WASH can be accomplished BEFORE BREAKFAST—no rubbing being required.

THEIR ARTICLES are MORE SERVICEABLE THAN SOAP, as it produces a better and much quicker lather, and is adapted for purposes for which Soap cannot be safely or effectually used. It will not injure the hands, or the most delicate material; and whilst it is incomparable for permanently whitening Linens, &c., after they have become discoloured by age, or injured by bad Washing, it is also unsurpassable for improving the colors of FLANNELS, BLANKETS, WOOLLENS, COLORED PRINTS, MUSLIN and LACE.

A CARD.

MRS. WINSLOW TO THE LADIES. MRS. WINSLOW, an old and experienced nurse, has prepared a Syrup for the relief of the Ladies to her Soothing Syrup for children teething. It will immediately relieve them from pain, allay all spasmodic action, soften the gums, reduce inflammation, and in some to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, others, it will give rest to yourselves and relief and health to your children. Price, 25 cents per bottle. We have sold very large quantities of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup during the past six years, several thousand the last year. We believe, it is the best medicine in the world for children teething, or for the cure of Dysentery and Diarrhea in Children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause. It gives universal satisfaction—never heard a complaint from any one using it; never sold a medicine so universally successful in relieving pain and effecting cures—relief is a beautiful cure. CURTIS & PERKINS, Druggists, Bangor, Me. WONDER OF THE WORLD. Great Cured of five years' standing. Messrs. CURTIS & PERKINS, Bangor, Me. Gentlemen,—I have been entirely cured of the Gravel, by the use of your Cramp and Pain Killer. I commenced using it, I began to grow better. I continued to use it for a year, all the time improving until I was entirely cured. MILES STAPLES. Prospect, Me., Jan. 25, 1851. We, the undersigned, are well acquainted with the above case, and certify to the above statement of facts. CHARLES CLIFFORD, HANNAH CLIFFORD, STAFFORD KELLIS. Doctor Tully, a regular practicing Physician, of East Machias, writes us under date of March 20, 1847: "Please send me half a gallon of your Cramp and Pain Killer—it is the best medicine to cure what it is represented to, that I ever used." The Doctor first made use of it in his own case, for a severe sprain in the shoulder, caused by the upsetting of a stage, and found immediate relief, and has since used it in his practice. Read the following: It speaks for itself. EREUNA TULLY OUR E. D. I certify, that I was afflicted with a violent Rheumatic pain in the small of my back, which entirely disabled me, so that I could not get up without the greatest pain and effort; nor could I walk without a cane, and but very little with. I applied Doctor Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, or Liquid Opium, and several other remedies, without any relief. After suffering in this way about a week, I purchased a bottle of Cramp and Pain Killer, prepared by CURTIS & PERKINS, Bangor, and after three applications was entirely relieved and free from pain, and am now entirely well. I have cured a friend of mine, who had been suffering for a long time with a lame side, with the same bottle. I believe it the best medicine in the world, and am happy to add my testimony in its favor to the many others already on record. JOHN TULLY. N. B.—Desire and call for CURTIS & PERKINS' Cramp Pain-Killer. All others bearing this name are false imitations. Price 25 cents per bottle. For Sale by Geo. T. HAZARD, Queen Square, Charlotte, June 14, 1853.

LIST OF British Periodical Publications.

FORWARDED by mail, under the provisions of the late Post Office Law, at merely nominal rates.

- 1. The London Quarterly Review (Conservative).
2. The Edinburgh Review (Whig).
3. The North British Review (Free Church).
4. The Westminster Review (Liberal).
5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).
These Reviews have been in successful operation in this country for twenty years, and their circulation is constantly on the increase, notwithstanding the competition they encounter from American periodicals of a similar class, and from the numerous Eclectic and Magazine made up of selections from foreign periodicals. This fact shows clearly the high estimation in which they are held by the intelligent reading public, and affords a guarantee that they are established on a firm basis, and will be continued without interruption.

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns, both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Castles" and "My New Novel" (both by Bulwer), "My Peculiar Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by these publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs. Scott and Co., so that Subscribers to the Report of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

TERMS. For any one of the four Reviews, For any two of the four Reviews, For any three of the four Reviews, For all four of the Reviews, For Blackwood's Magazine, For Blackwood and the four Reviews, For Blackwood and the four Reviews, 10 00 12 00 15 00 24 00 24 00

Payments to be made in all cases in advance. The following table will show the great reduction which has been made in these Periodicals since 1844, and the very trifling rates now charged.

Prior to 1845, the postage on Blackwood was $2 40 on a single Review 1 12 From 1845 to 1851, on Blackwood 1 00 " " " on a Review 6 00 In 1851-52 (average rate) on Blackwood 75 " " " on a Review 38 " " " on Blackwood and the four Reviews, 12 12

The rates are now uniform for all distances within the United States. At these rates supply no objection should be made to receiving the works by mail, and thus ensuring their speedy, safe, and regular delivery.
