Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XXVII.

SIR EDWARD was staggered by the suddenness of his ally's collapse—for Geoffrey had fought so well, even after his blow, and had concealed his weakness so admirably, that Sir Edward could scarcely believe that his stalwart rescuer was lying as one dead at his feet.

The gipsies had decamped; there was no one in sight, and Sir Edward, after examining Geoffrey's heart and finding it still beating, looked up and down in perplexity.

Presently, to his relief, he heard the sound of wheels, and a rough cart came trundling up. He stopped it, and, assisted by the astonished and bewildered driver, got the injured man into the cart and drove to the Hall, supporting Geoffrey as comfortably as he could.

It chanced as they made their way slowly up the drive, Eva was coming out of the house; and it need not be said that she stopped and stared in amazement and alarm at the sight of the cart, and the two men, her brother with a black eye and a blood-stained face, and the other lying apparently dead, in his arms.

'Edward! What is the matter?' she exclaimed, not loudly, not hysterically, but with that quietude under which nowadays we learn to conceal our emotions, whether it be of my land. They wanted my watch and chain, and I was holding up my end of the fight, and very nearly come to dropping it, when this chap came up with a rush and cut in. I never saw anyone fight better. He's as an ox, and his drives—well, you'd have enjoyed it!'

'It was magnificent, and we'd beaten them off, and though they'd got reinforcements, when one of the scoundrels crept behind my pal and hit him on the back of the head with a club. I heard the blow, half-unconsciously; but he stood to his guns and didn't let on, and swore that nothing was the matter. And then he dropped like a dead man—'

'Oh, Edward!'

'Yes; just like a dead man! If it hadn't been for him I should have been pretty well mauled, perhaps done for completely; for I'd got their blood up, and they were nasty. Isn't he a splendid fellow? By George! when I see a chap like that I haven't much fear of the Briton dying out!'

'Who is he?' asked Eva in a low voice, though Geoffrey was deaf to all sounds.

Edward shrugged his shoulders. 'Don't know. He's a stranger; I've never seen him before. Looks as if he'd come from abroad. Do you think you can do anything before the doctor comes? I can't get him to swallow the brandy, and his pulse—whew! I hope he isn't going to—to die, after all!'

'Oh, no, no!' breathed Eva, piteously. 'It would be too dreadful.'

'Such a waste!' muttered Edward, rather huskily. 'There aren't too many of his sort about, let me tell you!'

The doctor arrived, and Eva slipped away while the examination was being made. The doctor's verdict was quickly pronounced.

'Concussion of the brain,' he said, gravely. 'It was a terrible blow; heavy enough to kill an ordinary man, and in the worst place, too! He will have a bad time of it. His friends had better be communicated with.'

'But who are they?' said Edward. 'I never saw him before; and I should know him if he belongs to these parts.'

'We had better search his clothes,' was the doctor's practical suggestion; and Edward, though he made a gesture of distaste, did so.

'There is nothing but these notes,' he said. 'A pretty large sum of money for a man to carry about with him. What a haul it would have been for our gipsy friends! Here, Eva, you'd better take charge of them.'

He tossed the packet over to Eva, who was bathing Geoffrey's head.

'There isn't a card or a scrap of paper on him.'

Doctor Harvey nodded.

'He's too ill to moved, of course—he began; but Sir Edward turned upon him with a mixture of anger and indignation.

'Who said anything about moving him?' he demanded, sternly. 'I tell you the man saved my life! He can stop here for the rest of his days, and we'd be glad to have him, eh, Eva?'

She inclined her head eagerly.

'Cannot you find out even his name?' she asked in her low, soft voice.

'No, but it doesn't matter. We'll find out when he comes to. When will that be, Harvey?'

The doctor shook his head.

'I can't say. He may be unconscious for days, weeks even. There was a case with which I was associated of a man who had been dealt just such a blow as this being unconscious for six weeks.'

Sir Edward whistled soft.

'The devil! Well, so long as he pulls round in the end, it doesn't matter. But he's got to pull round if we have to get down the whole college of physicians.'

'But now let me look at you, Sir Edward,' said Doctor Harvey; 'for you have not come of scot-free, I should think.'

'Oh, I am all right,' Sir Edward declared. 'Mine's on the surface, and makes more show than hurt. When I've washed my face you won't be able to tell anything's the matter with me. We seem to be going in for strangers and wayfarers, eh, Eva? There was that good-looking young imp—what's his name?—Ronnie Bell—you picked up the other day, and now here is this fine fellow. Well, it's all in the day's work. What a good-looking chap it is, isn't it?'

'Yes, said Eva, with a sigh, looking upon the pale face from which she had removed the blood-stains, and upon which the cruel bruises were just beginning to show. 'It's a very handsome one, and—and it is a very good one. How heart-broken his people—anyone who loved him—would be if they could see him now. Think of it, Edward: to be here alone, wounded and helpless among strangers!'

'Strangers be hanged!' said Sir Edward. 'He's amongst friends. I tell you what, Eva. I feel like a brother to that chap, and I'd sooner hand in my checks than that anything should—should happen to him!'

'You will want a nurse,' said the doctor.

Eva looked round quickly. 'I could nurse him, with the help of Martha,' she said, quietly. 'Martha is used to nursing, you know, Doctor Harvey; she nursed Edward and me through all our illnesses as children.'

Doctor Harvey nodded.

'Certainly,' he said; 'but won't you find it rather a tie and a great responsibility? Someone will have to be with him day and night, Miss Eva.'

'Martha and I can manage,' she said as quietly as before, but with the gentle air of decision which characterized her.

'Martha has already offered to do it; she helped to carry him in. Besides—she hesitated a moment and looked at her brother—'we owe him a great debt, Doctor Harvey, and—and—Oh, please let me help nurse him! It's the least I can do!'

She had her way of course; and duly installed herself beside the sick bed. She and Martha shared the "watches," and probably no sick man was ever better nursed. But in this case the womanly devotion did not reap any immediate reward. The injured man, though kept alive by his two nurses and the doctor, showed no signs of recovering consciousness. He lay like a dead man, his eyes nearly always closed, his breathing regular.

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.

Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and drowsiness, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dosing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild, had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.

"Though I tried several doctors, it was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. I am simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment. Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box. 6 for $2.50, at all Dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

The Evening Chit-Chat
 By RUTH CAMERON

"In just a minute," I promised myself the other morning as I lay in bed vainly trying to make up my mind to abandon my comfy pillow.

By the time I had taken that minute it was fifteen minutes after my rising time, of course, and though I dressed in a hurry, breakfasted in a hurry and ran for my car, I missed it, was late to the office, late in everything I did all day, and at nightfall was still rushing vainly in pursuit of that fifteen minutes.

And I went to bed far more tired than I usually am after a day of twice as great accomplishment.

And the reason, of course, was simply that I had lived in a hurry.

It seems to me that few of us realize the vitality wear and tear of living in a hurry.

You take out your watch and say, "Yes, I think I can just about do that errand before the train goes if I hurry," and then instead of taking your leisurely way to the train you rush about that errand without realizing how much more it will take out of you to do even that little thing with the I-haven't-a-moment-to-spare feeling.

There is a vast satisfaction, of course, in tucking some bothersome duty into a stray moment, but if you have to crowd the moment to do it, I don't think it pays.

For I have noticed again and again that it takes just about twice as much out of me to do a thing when I have a limited amount of time than it does to do it at my leisure.

A newspaper man was telling me the other day how in order to save his paper expense of telegraphing a long story he travelled 600 miles, typewriting all the way, rushed to the office, delivered the copy, rushed back to the depot and took another train back over the 600 miles in about 24 hours.

"But I think I lop off at least six months of my life every time I try to live at that pace," he ended.

Of course he does.

Anyone who hurries like that always does.

Haste makes waste not only of materials, but also of vitality.

And the worst of it is that the most of the hurrying we do isn't a matter of necessity at all, but just a matter of habit.

I feel that especially when I am on a car that passes over a line where the cars run every moment or two, and see people run themselves out of breath and drop into a seat exhausted just to get a particular car, when the loss of it would mean not more than two minutes' waiting.

They chase after the car not because they need the two minutes, but because it's part of the hurry habit.

And it's that habit undoubtedly that gives America its absurdly large proportion of nervous breakdowns.

But the people who really accomplish the most in the long run are almost always those who never hurry.

They move right along. They don't dawdle, but they never rush.

For they know that he who makes haste slowly is pretty apt to make the most haste in the end.

And besides accomplishing more than the rushers they are very much pleasanter to live with.

For the rushers not only wear and tear themselves, but also everyone about them.

On the whole don't you think a little study of the fine art of unhurried living might be a good thing for a good many people?

And, maybe, you among them?

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fads and Fashions.

Earrings are very picturesque, particularly when worn with the quaint coiffures now in vogue.

The sleeve with shirring is a favorite style only with the woman whose arm is quite slender.

Embroidery flouncings and all-overs are to be very much used this season for pretty frocks.

Shirring of net over colored satin rat-tail appear on many of the new lace and net dresses.

Very few buttons, only sufficient to supposedly fasten something, and those very handsome, are seen.

Habitual silks are shown in the daintiest colors and in an amazing variety of stripes and small checks.

Both box and pleated skirts are seen, but they are rarely without a strap or bias to enliven the monotony.

The chiffon motor bonnet is finding a new use. The traveller dons it on the train on removing her own hat.

Tucked yokes are not used as much now as are plain ones of either fancy striped or dotted net.

Many dresses of serge or cloth are made with round gathered blouses and are worn with a patent leather belt.

A new thing in trimming is tailored costumes of wool, taffeta or voile embroidered in beads or dull coloring.

Many coats have continuous fronts but are cut off at the waist in the back and pulled into a satin or leather belt.

The English and French piques in white and the newest shades of plain colors are smart for tailored skirts and costumes.

It is to be noted that the corselet still obtains and that the skirts of walking suits scarcely reach the instep.

Many ankle length paletots in beige different shades of grey, bottle green or blue, are worn where a wrap is necessary.

There is a fancy for cashmere pattern silks and woolsens, utilized rather for tunics and garnitures than for the entire costumes.

Lovers of fine thread laces will rejoice at the marvellous flouncings and all-over designs in chantilly and other fine laces.

Coiffure ornaments are infinitely varied. Those set with pearls are particularly dainty and most suitable for the debutante.

Changeable effects are good in taffetas, linen and satin, while flowered voiles, covered with crystal raindrops look well for evening.

Nearly everything is clouded with chiffon or net through which polka dots dance, stripes gleam, and satins shimmer with dazzling effect.

Hopsaskings, serge, Scotch wisney homespun, diagonal chevots, mixed tweed and frieze are often preferred to cloth for walking dresses.

I consider MINARD'S LINIMENT the BEST Liniment in use.

I got my foot badly jammed lately. I bathed it well with MINARD'S LINIMENT, and it was as well as ever next day.

Yours very truly,
 T. G. McMULLEN.

Your Nerves

Your nerves must be fed with pure, rich blood, or there will be trouble. Poorly fed nerves are weak nerves; and weak nerves mean nervousness, neuralgia, headaches, debility. Weak nerves need good food, fresh air, and people. He will tell you why.

Desperate Attempt at Suicide.

Yesterday, I. G. Sullivan had information to the effect that a man named Fredrick Ackerman, who resides at the Canille side of Bonavista Harbour, made a desperate attempt to commit suicide by hanging on the morning of Friday last the 15th inst. He had been acting strangely for some time past and was heard to say after that he would make away with himself. His family and neighbours kept a close watch on him and did not think he would carry his threat into effect. He however slipped quietly and unobserved into a store house to his house where his daughter found him hanging from the beams. Making an entry he was quickly cut down but the breath was nearly gone out of him and Dr. Rutherford, with the assistance of Const. Fitzgerald, after one hour's hard work revived him. The man who is 63 years old has a wife and 3 daughters is still very ill from the effects of his act but it is thought he will recover.

A Thoughtful Act.

Before His Grace Archbishop McDonald left St. George's he was presented by Mr. W. D. Reid, President of the Reid Nfld. Co., with a first class ticket to take him to his destination, Vancouver, B. C. This entitled His Grace to a parlour car and the ticket has value for at least $250. His Grace highly appreciated, Mr. Reid's kind act.

Our trade.

Yesterday we drew the attention of our readers to our trade with Canada, as it is set forth in the December report of the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce. The main feature of the facts and figures we culled is the excess of value in goods we buy from Canada, as compared with the value of goods Canadians buy from us. In short, we buy from Canadians twice as much as they buy from us. A perusal of the items which are especially noted must convince anyone that much of the foodstuffs and manufactures we obtained from Canada could be raised or made in Newfoundland, and it is up to our enterprising business men and farmers and gardeners to make the balance of this trade far more even. Similar observations may be justly made in regard to much of our trade with the United States and the Old Country. For the eight months closing with November of 1907, 1908 and 1909, our exports to the United States were valued at $654,596; 696,934, and $781,396, respectively; while imports from the United States were $2,354,610; $2,824,433 and $2,849,250. Our trade is in this respect somewhat peculiar, we are forced to sell our main staple to countries which do not largely supply us with food or manufactures, while we purchase these articles from countries which are not the chief purchasers of our staple.

Backs Shannahan.

Some years ago it will be remembered that a picnic was held on the grounds of the Shamrock Cricket Club. It was the largest of its kind ever held here. Being non-sectarian it gave an opportunity for all the poor children of the city to attend and they thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing. A gentleman who was a principal in organizing this congratulates Tim Shannahan on advocating a repetition of this and he would be glad to cooperate with others in promoting a similar picnic the coming summer. People interested can have his name at the Telegram Office.

Coast Weather Report.

Tilt Cove.—Bay clear of ice; schrs. going north Cape John; first herring taken to-day.

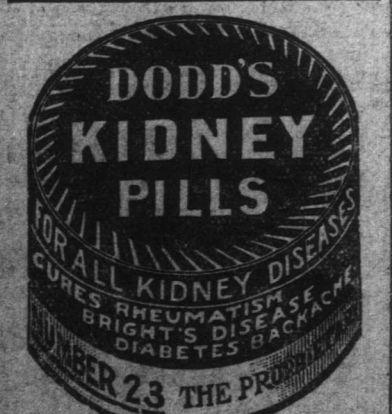

LaSalle.—Wind S., weather dull and cloudy; no ice in sight; the first Green Bay fishing schooner passed north yesterday.

Sound Island.—Calm and fine; very few herring; cod scarce.

Nipper's Harbor.—Calm dull; summer weather; bay clear.

Lark Harbor.—Wind S., fair; herring getting scarce.

Birchy Cove.—Wind S., light, fine.

SHOVING THE QUEER.

Look Out for Spurious Fifty Cent and Five Cent Pieces.

Yesterday it was noticed by certain people keeping business establishments on Water Street that several 50 cent and 5 cent counterfeit pieces have been put into circulation, but where they came from it is hard to say. Mr. Gus Wadden who keeps a confectionery store just west of Queen's Street, received 3 of the spurious 50 cent pieces, while one was received at McNeill's drug store with a counterfeit 5 cent piece. The counterfeit is an exact fac-simile and the "goods" would not be known from the real thing but for the dead sound they give out when rung on a counter. They are clever imitations of the issue of 1909, and whoever the "coiner" is he is an expert at the work. The Government having imported a large number of silver pieces of money, silver coins are now much more common, and counterfeiters should be looked for sharply by shop-keepers. It is not unlikely that the gang who are at work on this useless coin have an agent in St. John's and he has been distributing them cautiously for months, as a few were noticed in March. Emboldened by success it will seem that the St. John's agent has taken a plunge lately, and it is not unlikely that a sensational arrest will be made later. The coin has much the same weight as the genuine coin and can only be tested by judging it on a hard surface. It is composed of an alloy of some of the baser metals, its chief component being lead.

St. George's Night.

Those who have not already obtained tickets for St. George's Night Concert at the Methodist College Hall, ought to do so at once, as the performance promises to be a very attractive one, and the cause a worthy one. All old schoolfellows of the present Head Master of Bishop Feild College should make an effort to attend the concert, and incidentally help along the work that Mr. Wood is striving to carry out. His Excellency the Governor has kindly consented to give a Patriotic Address, and we are sure it will be a masterful one, judging from what we have already heard from him. As to the musical programme prepared for that night we need only give the names of those performing as a guarantee of the excellence of same. They are:—Misses Sybil Johnson, Herder and Berteau; Messrs. W. Moncrieff Mawer, F. J. King, Gordon Christian, John O'Reilly and the Cathedral Choir under Mr. A. H. Allen. A scene from Act II. of A Midsummer Nights Dream will be put on by some of our best talent as the 23rd is the anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare. Tickets now on sale at Gray & Goodland's.

Personal Notes.

Mr. Chesley Puddister, who formerly was engineer on the S. S. Bruce, has been telegraphed for to join the Dundee and will arrive here by to-day's train to take up his new position.

Mr. John Alexander Robinson, Editor of the Daily News, leaves by the Siberian this afternoon for England, accompanied by his wife. Mr. Robinson has not been enjoying the best of health of late, and takes this trip to the Old Country to recuperate.

Mr. Calvin D. Kenny, of Sheet Harbor, Nova Scotia, who has been studying at F. J. Doyle's Nautical Academy the past two months for an Only Mate's Certificate, has passed a successful examination.

FARMERS PLOUGHING.—All the farmers out on the Torbay Road are busy ploughing to-day, and with the advent of fine weather will be sowing their crops.

Real Work of Art.

Among the exhibits being taken to the Festival of Empire by Mr. Howley, F. G. S., are a series of paintings by Mr. H. Bradshaw. The subjects include landscapes and coast scenery. They are very beautiful and true to nature, and will no doubt be amongst the most attractive exhibits from this country.

Bonaventure's Trip.

The Bonaventure finished discharging at 1 o'clock to-day. She landed 15,584 seals; gross weight, 400 tons, 19 cwt. 1qr. 24 lbs.; net weight 388 tons 1 cwt., 1 qr., 4 lbs., gross value $34,808.67 net value $34,578.67. Her crew of 203 men shared $56.53 each. The Labrador will finish discharging this afternoon.

Injured by Fall.

While helping others to carry a sail on Jobs wharf just before 1 p.m. to-day, Mr. Kelly of Fox Hr., one of the crew of the Schr. Queen of Avon, fell over a stick and was hurt very severely internally. The man suffered intense pain. Dr. Mitchell was called and after doing all possible for him had him removed to Hospital.

SIBERIAN SAILS.

The Siberian sails for Liverpool at midnight, taking 1,200 casks of oil and two hundred tons of paper. Her passengers are, J. A. and Mrs. Robinson, Miss Gertrude Parsons, H. W. Cole, A. Tulk, A. Goodridge, Revs. Bros. Learning and Mallowney, J. P. Howley, E. Robinson, J. S. Fulton, G. Elliott, H. R. Pape, W. B. Grieve, E. P. and Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. B. Batter.

Society's Present.

The Star of the Sea Society of St. George's, presented His Grace Archbishop McNeill with two handsome walking canes, which are of ebony, one has a massive handle of gold and the other handle is composed of mother of pearl.

Scarlet Fever

and Diphtheria.

Two cases of scarlet fever occurred on Casey Street yesterday evening. Three cases of the same disease were also reported on Cabot Street. The patients are children, the oldest being 9 years of age. A young man, a resident of Howe Place, was removed to Hospital this morning suffering from diphtheria. A little girl named Irene Anderson, aged 6 years, in hospital since the 12th inst., died of diphtheria last night.

Geary Here.

Constable Benson arrived from Carbonar to-day bringing James Geary who attempted suicide there yesterday. The ambulance was at the station and took him to the hospital where Dr. Keegan will dress the wounds in his throat. His wife has been in the Lunatic Asylum for several years, and a daughter died in Boston a year or two ago by apoplexy.

Here and There.

MARINE NOTE.—The Checkers, Capt. Rumsey, left Vienna with a load of salt to-day for Bishop & Sons.

WEATHER UP COUNTRY.—Along the railway line to-day the weather is quite summery; temperature from 38 to 60 above.

THE S. S. KITE.—A report was current around town to-day that the S. S. Kite was on Canadian Labrador jammed in the ice with 4,700 seals on board—old ones, equal in weight to 10,500 young harps.

Sewing Machines.—We sell one make only equal to any in the world. Call and see them. Terms arranged to suit. CHESELEY WOODS, The White Piano & Organ Store.—mar26.

A BIG SEAL.—The Labrador has the distinction of landing the biggest seal this spring. It came ashore in the slings this morning. It was an old hood and weighed over 800 lbs.

BRANCH POST OFFICE.—It is said that Postmaster General will shortly open a branch post office in the West End, near the Railway Station. It will be a great convenience to the people there.

Master Jack Moore, 7 year old son of Mr. Philip Moore, of the train Postal Service, came here from Carbonar, Tuesday last to go to the Hospital. He is being treated for hip disease.

Sir William Bull, M. P., says:—"The English nation is essentially a nonpolitical nation. At present it is absolutely sick of politics, and the House of Commons is sick of politics too." Nevertheless politics will be predominant in the old land for some little time yet.

HOT TIME IN HOUSE OVER ANDERSON'S REVELATIONS.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, April 21. Memories of the turbulent scenes of Parnell's time were revived in the House of Commons to-night during the discussion of a motion by T. P. O'Connor to reduce the Civil Service estimates by four thousand five hundred dollars, the amount of Sir Robert Anderson's pension. In an autobiographic article recently Sir Robert Anderson admitted authorship of the famous Parnellism and Crime series of articles which appeared in the Times in 1887 and culminated in the public action of the Piggott forgery. The Irish members of the House announced their intention to obtain if possible a Government investigation of the affair with a view to depriving Sir Robert of his pension on the ground that his act was a breach of official confidence because he had been the Head of the Investigation Department of the State. Mr. Balfour agreed at to-night's session with Premier Asquith and Mr. Churchill in condemning Sir Robert's action as improper, but Mr. Churchill as Home Secretary declined to interfere to deprive him of his pension. The debate was proceeding quietly but with acerbity on the part of the Nationalists; one of the declared that Sir Robert's articles were an attempt to revive old charges against the Nationalists in order to help the Tories in the coming election when the Rt. Hon. Jas. Henry Campbell, member for Dublin University, in the course of his speech referred to the Phoenix Papers and Piggott Forgery called forth the highest resentment from the Irish benches. There were loud demands for Mr. Campbell to withdraw his offensive expressions. The chairman declined to interfere a perfect uproar ensued, Mr. Redmond shouting it was an outrage, while others cried send for the Speaker. The Chairman and Secretary for War Haldane vainly appealed to the House to allow Mr. Campbell to continue his speech. The Pandemonium was renewed on the part of the Nationalists, who shouted Piggott, Dublin Castle, we won't stand it and cheered for Parnell. The session was continued for several minutes and finally Mr. Churchill moved a closure and Mr. O'Connor's motion was rejected 164 to 94.

Sacrilege at the Kremlin—Half Million Dollars Worth of Jewels Looted.

Special to Evening Telegram.

MOSCOW, April 21. Diamond ornaments valued at hundreds of thousands of rubles have been stolen from the greatly revered image of the Virgin in the Cathedral at Kremlin. The theft was discovered to-day. The theft which was perpetrated during the night has thrown the Muscovites into great excitement and their emotion is pitiful to witness. Many precious stones out of the frames and out of the Pictures of the Saints are missing. The total value of the loot is estimated at $500,000.

Eight Voters Shot.

Special to Evening Telegram.

FORT DE FRANCE, MARTINIQUE, April 21. Furious disorders have occurred at several points as the result of the excitement and high partisan feeling over the elections. During an election disturbance at St. Joseph, last night 8 voters were shot. Three of their assailants were arrested at the town of Robertson on the East Coast. Several shots were fired at a clerk for one of the Candidates. Business houses in the interior have been closed by the proprietors who fearing further trouble have appealed to the Government, which will send troops for their protection.

Air Squadron Review.

Special to Evening Telegram.

BERLIN, April 21. The first Imperial review of airships belonging to the army will take place to-day. The Emperor ordered the 3 aerial Cruisers which recently engaged in manoeuvres to hold a review. The Airships are Zeppelin the second, Parseval the second, and Gross the second, constructed on a different system. They will leave Cologne before daybreak. A large detachment of the Balloon Battalion has been ordered to that place to assist in the landing.

Mark Twain Has Crossed the Bar.

Special to Evening Telegram.

REDDING, CONN., April 21. Samuel Longhorn Clements, Mark Twain, died painlessly at his home here at 6.30 to-night of Angina Pectoris. He lapsed into coma at 3 o'clock this afternoon and never recovered consciousness. It was the end of a man worn out by grief and agony of body.

Refused to Be Knighted

Mr. John Henniker Heaton, who has announced his intention of retiring at the end of the present Parliament, could have been knighted many times, and once his name was actually included in an Honours List. But he has preferred to remain untitled. "I am satisfied," he once declared, "with the freedom of the City of London, which I consider is the greatest honour it is possible for a man to receive." His avowed ideal is to enable inhabitants of our planet to communicate with any other for the sum of one penny.

ANNUAL TRIDUUM.—At the Chapel of Our Lady of Good Counsel the annual Triduum previous to the Feast of Our Lady will be held on Saturday, the 23rd.

Choral and Orchestral.

The second programme of this Society was given at the College Hall, last night. The first part was taken up with Colebridge-Taylor's "Hiawatha," a cantata not generally known here and in form different from the general run of cantatas, there being but one solo, the rest being taken by the full chorus of voices. The tone of the chorus has improved since the last concert but "Hiawatha," we think, was taken rather too loudly throughout. It is a long piece and without some light and shade it proved a bit heavy at times. While the very few soft movements showed more the imperfection of the voices they were infinitely more enjoyable than f. parts. The music is interesting and in many places showed its Indian character. In the Faust number a bit of Grand Opera was given; the chorus, Miss Fitzpatrick, Miss McKinley, Mr. Mawer and Mr. O'Reilly taking part. "The Long Day Closes" (Sullivan) was perhaps the most enjoyable of the chorus work; the difficulties of subduing such a big body of singers are great, and the expression which was put in this part song was good. The last chorus was in truly Wagnerian style and was given in a good broad manner. It was the well known "Hail, Light Abode," and the singers seemed to enjoy it to the full. The orchestra has been reinforced since the January concert and has improved, specially with the addition of Mr. Jas. Power, (Clarinet), who in the selection "Mignon," showed his mastery over his instrument, and added much to the number. The orchestra accompanied throughout the evening with the exception of one part song, and it was doubtless owing to this continual playing that Miss Johnson decided not to give her solo. Their selections were Inflammatus (Rossini); the familiar "Poet and Peasant" overture, and bits from Thomas' opera "Mignon." The last was very enjoyable, especially the pastoral opening by flute and clarinet, the whole selection being more dainty and light than the other numbers. Miss Strang sang "Love the Pedlar" (German), and Mr. Mawer in good voice gave "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind" (Sargeant). We shall look for even more improvement in the Society at the next appearance; unaccompanied chorus singing appeals to an audience as much as anything and we would suggest, that more of this be taken up, with benefit individually to the voices and pleasure to the listeners. Mr. Hutton and Mr. Mawer have gone through a great deal of work in getting up the concerts and the public should and we think does appreciate it. Might we suggest that the lighting arrangements of the Hall be made better; the present lights have done noble service but are far from sufficient.

MARSHALL BROS.

Bernier Wants Newfoundland Crew.

By yesterday's mail Mr. Thos. Doyle of this city, who was with Capt. Bernier to the Arctic for 18 months, received a letter from the explorer asking him to come on in June and join his ship the Arctic, for another season in the arctic regions. He also requested him to bring along his son William, who was with Capt. Bernier on his last trip. Will was then a mere boy being only in his 17th year, but proved to be intrepid and efficient and was considered one of the best men on the ship. Capt. Bernier is anxious to secure a crew of Newfoundlanders for his prospected cruise and as the men who were formerly with him were treated well, no doubt he will get them. Mr. Doyle will not be able to go this trip but his son Will, will go if he arrives here in time from Oporto.

Reported Missing.

A report was made at the police station last night by a woman that her husband had been missing since morning. She knew that he had been drinking and did not fear for his safety all day. But when night came on and he did not return home she became anxious and so reported to the police who might be able to assist her in finding him.

A REPRODUCTION.—The students play in St. Bonaventure's College which was so successfully given on Wednesday night will be reproduced as a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

POSTUM FOR MOTHERS

The Drink that Nourishes and Supplies Food for Mother and Child.

"My husband has been unable to drink coffee for several years, so we were very glad to give Postum a trial and when we understood that long boiling would bring out the delicious flavour, we have been highly pleased with it.

"It is one of the finest things for nursing mothers that I have ever seen. It keeps up the mother's strength and increases the supply of nourishment for the child if partaken of freely. I drank it between meals instead of water and found it most beneficial.

"Our five-year-old boy has been very delicate since birth and has developed slowly. He was white and bloodless. I began to give him Postum freely and you would be surprised at the change. When any person remarks about the great improvement, we never fail to tell them that we attribute his gain in strength and general health, to the free use of Postum and this has led many friends to use it for themselves and children.

"I have always cautioned friends to whom I have spoken about Postum, to follow directions in making it, for unless it is boiled fifteen or twenty minutes, it is quite tasteless. On the other hand, when properly made, it is very delicious. I want to thank you for the benefits we have derived from the use of your Postum."

Fell From Wall.

Yesterday afternoon while a lad named Parsons was playing around the old railway station, at Fort William, he climbed to the top of the wall which forms part of the basement of the hotel which was projected there, and slipping fell to the ground, a distance of 12 feet. He was rendered unconscious for a while and it was thought at first he was badly hurt. After being taken home a doctor attended him but found no bones broken, though the lad was badly shaken up. Boys playing around these walls run the risk of serious injury.

MARK HAMBOURG, the Eminent Pianist, whose Recital at the Methodist College Hall, next Monday evening, will be St. John's greatest musical event.

Became Insane.

Hugh Walsh, the man who some years ago so fiercely attacked Const. Stapleton with a shovel, and who has frequently recurring periods of insanity, became afflicted on Wednesday afternoon, while working in a cut on Cabot Street, but after a while became better and continued working there until yesterday. After returning from work he became troublesome at his home and his daughters had to ask the police to remove him. Sergt. Mackay with Officer Devine and another man after much difficulty got Walsh to come to the police station, whence he was taken to the Lunatic Asylum. This man, in the past, when finding mental trouble approaching has given himself up voluntarily to the police. He sometimes develops homicidal mania and at such times is a menace to the public safety.

The Star A.A.

A special meeting of the Star of the Sea Athletic Association was held last evening when matters of importance to the club were discussed. Negotiations are being now conducted with sister clubs in the city with the idea of having representatives of each take part in one special event which would have the effect of increasing the interest of the sporting public.

The Star Football team this summer will include amongst its members several of the "Old Guard" whose records are of the best and these will line up in the coming summer's matches. The meeting adjourned at 11:30.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DAN-DRUFF.

Western Notes.

(Western Star.)
The S. S. Active returned on Sunday from the South Coast, where she had been engaged in fishing during the winter. On the whole the voyage was good, and a good season's work, as a consequence was made by all concerned. She left for Port au Port on Tuesday morning, and returned again to port at a late hour in the evening. It is presumed that she will shortly resume the summer bay route.

The site for the Curling-Memorial School at Bay of Islands, was located last week and excavation work for the foundation commenced Monday.

The fleet of vessels prosecuting the winter codfishery from Belloram are meeting with favorable success. The following vessels have arrived with good catches. Grayling, Capt. S. V. Cluett, 700 qts. Azalea, Capt. Amb. Bond, 700 qts. Hazel L. K., William Tibbo, 800 qts. Monie & Memmie, G. T. Bond, 450 qts. Grace D. Day, Thos. Price, 400 qts. San Juan, Albert Pope, 250 qts., with reports from those not yet arrived as follow: Schr. Cayuga, Capt. J. M. Fudge, 500 qts., Demering, Capt. J. B. Dicks, 400 qts.

The fact of the herring returning to Fortune Bay brings the above good results in their train. With careful management we have untold wealth in those beautiful bait fishes; sometimes we hear a debate on the use of seines in capturing herring, it appears that the majority are in favor of abolishing the use of seines except exclusively for hauling bait for local bankers or a local fishery; barring herring for the local fishermen should be permitted, providing the herring are not too tightly enclosed or in shallow water, tacking or pursing them is more damaging to the fishery than herring. We hear of herring being in abundance from nearly all parts of the district.

PASSED THE NARROWS.—The schr. Dorothy Duff which had been harboured at Bay Bulls for several days past, crossed the Narrows last evening bound for Carbonear.

Worst Case Of Eczema

Cure only came when doctors gave up and DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT was used.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"My daughter Mary, when six months old, contracted eczema and for three years the disease baffled all treatment. Her case was one of the worst that had ever come under my notice, and she apparently suffered what no pen could ever describe. I had three different doctors attend her all to no purpose. Finally I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and to my surprise she immediately began to improve and was completely cured of that long standing disease. That was four years ago when we lived at Cornwall, Ont., and as not a symptom has shown itself since, the cure must be permanent." The record of cures which Dr. Chase's Ointment has to its credit have placed it alone as the standard cure for eczema and all forms of itching skin disease. Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes, 40 cents a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

Halley's Comet is now visible to the early riser, and the person who rises on a clear morning at about 2.30 can let his friends know what an early riser he is without boasting—by simply saying he saw the comet.

Minister of Justice Morison and A. H. Seymour, Esq., arrived from the city by last night's train.

The gentlemen of the Supreme Court are enjoying the delightful weather here, with no serious "cases" to mar their pleasure. Among the number we were pleased to see the genial Sub-Sheriff Carroll looking well. Mr. Carroll has many friends and well wishers in this town.

Farmers are now busy getting the ground in order, spreading fertilizer, etc. The interest in farming seems to be on the increase in this place at least during the past few years. May this be even more noticeable next and other years. Farming pays, and even in seasons when the crops fail, one can scarcely tell how much they save in doctor's bills by workers being out in the fresh morning air. Even doctors make farming pay.

The St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid intend holding a Sale of Work in Victoria Hall on the evening of Empire Day, May 24th. The ladies of the above Society are noted for successes in the above line, but on Empire Day, the birthday of our good Queen Victoria, and in Victoria Hall, too, we may look forward to something good.

The Cantata "Under the Palms," given by the friends of the Methodist Church on Tuesday and Wednesday was well patronized and thoroughly enjoyed.

Atlantic Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Last evening the members of Atlantic Lodge, I. O. O. F., celebrated their 91st anniversary at the British Hall. It was one of the most successful events of the kind ever held by the Lodge. The decorations of the hall were superb. Prof. Bennett's Orchestra furnished the music in the usual good style. Dancing was commenced at 8.30 and kept up till 11 when all repaired to the lower flat where the lady friends of the Lodge treated the members to a grand banquet. After this a fine programme of songs and dances was taken up. The event was kept up till the comet became visible in the south eastern sky, and was greatly admired by all who could see it. The singing of the National Anthem closed the proceedings. The sociable was voted by all who attended as the most successful ever held by the I. O. O. F.

Two Pyes: Which Lies?

Samuel Pye telegraphed from Musgrave town Wednesday last saying: "Big robbery committed: caught the thief; send on policeman right away."

The constable at Clarenville was ordered by Mr. Sullivan to proceed to the place and take the prisoner in custody and bring him on to St. John's. Next day while the policeman was on the road to Musgrave the Inspector General received another message saying: "False alarm; no robbery at all." Mr. Sullivan does not know which of the two Pyes is telling the truth. He expects to hear a reliable report from the constable to-day. The Pyes are all related and live in comfortable circumstances at Musgrave.

Siberian in Port.

The Allan Liner Siberian, Capt. Hall, arrived here from Philadelphia at 5.30 p.m. yesterday making the run in 6 days. The ship left there Friday and had splendid weather all the way down until 9 o'clock Wednesday night when she reached Cape Race. Here a dense fog was encountered and the ship was stopped for the night. At 11 a.m. yesterday the fog lifted and the ship made a quick run to port. She brought 700 tons of cargo and two steerage passengers for this port.

TAKE A COLD SERIOUSLY.

The possibilities of every cold are dreadful to contemplate. Bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption usually begin with a simple cold. Why not fight the cold from the start and ensure success by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It allays inflammation, keeps the cough free and loose and protects the bronchial tubes and lungs from danger.

Rugby Football.

We understand that Mr. Eric Bowring is moving in the matter of getting together a team to play the Cadets of H. M. S. Cornwall upon the arrival of that ship here. A series of matches will be arranged according to Rugby Rules, and as there are good players in the city interesting games should result.

Archbishop Howley at St. Mary's.

Archbishop Howley, of St. John's, Nfld., who is a guest of Archbishop McCarthy at the Archbishopial residence, leaves to-day for St. John's. His Grace on Saturday visited Mount St. Vincent Academy and the Convent of the Sacred Heart. Sunday morning he celebrated the 8 o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Cathedral, and preached at the High Mass on the Reverence of Christ, drawing a comparison between the real and the historical Christ. His Grace was present at Vespers at the cathedral Sunday evening.—Halifax Chronicle.

Early Salmon Fishing.

Saturday last while Dr. McDonald, of St. George's, was waiting for the express which was due to come along Monday, he had a try for salmon at Morris Brook and was surprised to find the fish plentifully for such an early season. He caught ten fish which weighed from 6 to 11 lbs. Trout are reported plentiful at Little River, and are a fine run of fish.

The Rev. Canon Smith, the Vice-President, occupied the chair at the regular meeting of the Historical Society held last night.

Mr. Gosling reported that he had written to Bristol giving a detailed account of what had been done in reference to the Guy celebration by the St. John's Committee.

A motion was put and carried that Mr. Gosling write the Bristol people to inform them that the celebration will take place in August—the second month in that week.

Mr. H. F. Shortis submitted a Bill of Exchange of the date 1806 which he had been given by Mr. E. H. Davy, M. H. A. for Burin. The Bill was drawn on Messrs. Wyse & Quans, Waterford, in favour of Sweetman & Saunders, of Placentia, and was endorsed by Ryan & Foley.

It was ordered that the Secretary write the Committee at Cupids instructing them to buy the land required as a site for the Guy Monument.

Mr. Nichols expressed the belief that it would be a good thing to have the Society incorporated. He advised that Mr. McNelly be consulted on the subject.

The Secretary will write the Committee at Cupids asking them what preparation has been made for visitors.

Mr. Munn read several important extracts from documents dated the 17th century with reference to the Cures and Thistles of Harbor Grace; also the date of the marriage of James Juer to Elizabeth Martin, by Rev. James Balfour in 1782. The meeting closed at 10.30.

HOW DOCTORS ARE USING MICROBES.

Sir Ray Lankester Points Out How Doctors are Using Microbes as Aids to Digestion and How the World Depends Upon Them.

Sir Ray Lankester explains the whole mystery of sour milk and lacto-bacilline and the romance of the world of microbes in a very lucid article in the Telegraph.

"What," asks Sir Ray Lankester, "is the purpose with which the lactic bacilli or microbes are nowadays so largely taken by all sorts of people whose digestion is in an unsatisfactory state? It must be remembered that what is aimed at—in this matter—is not the swallowing of a dose of lactic acid. That is another business, and is easily accomplished. Lactic acid has been and is often given as a drug. The object in taking lacto-bacilline, or the sour milk prepared with it, is to get the living lactic microbes to establish themselves in the intestine and to grow there for days and weeks, manufacturing lactic acid, so to speak, on the spot. The effect of this sowing or 'insemination' of the intestine with the lactic organism is to make the contents of the intestine acid, instead of neutral or alkaline. Now let me try to explain the importance of this result.

The Work of the Microbes.

"Few persons can realise at first what an immense number and variety of microbes there are, not only around us, in air and dust and water, but also in us, and on us, and in and on every living thing. The work, the huge system of chemical change and the circulation of the elements carbon, oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen and sulphur, which they carry on is incessant, varied and complex. These five elements are the main and essential constituents of all living things.

"Supposing there were no microbes, there would be no putrefaction, no breaking-down of the dead bodies of animals and plants which were once alive into gas and substances soluble in water. They—by a series of steps, in which different kinds of bacteria or microbes are successively concerned—convert the proteins and the fats and sugars of dead plants and animals into less elaborate bodies, organic acids, aromatic bodies and other compounds (some highly poisonous to man), and at last, when what were highly complex combinations of hundreds of atoms in each molecule have been reduced by the action of first one and then of another kind of microbe into comparatively simple substances of twenty or thirty atoms to the molecule, the coup de grace is given by certain special microbes, which convert these later compounds into still simpler combinations, namely, ammonia and nitrate, which are fairly stable, so that the whole elaborate chemical fabric of living matter in a few hours or days after death is broken down until it reaches the stable 'mineral' condition, practically carbonate and nitrate of ammonia—smelling-salts! If there were no microbes this would never occur.

If There Were No Microbes.

The earth would be cumbered with dead bodies of past generations of animals and plants—undecomposed. And very soon all the organic elements, all the carbon and nitrogen, if not all the hydrogen and oxygen, on the face of the earth would be fixed in those corpses, and the green plants would perish from the whole world for want of sustenance. For it is the green plants which feed on, and absolutely must have as their food, the carbonic acid, ammonia, and nitrates, into which the microbes resolve all living things when dead.

"It is the green plants which, from those simple compounds, build up again the more complex molecules, the sugars, fats, albumens, and proteins, and provide for the nourishment and increase of the most complex of all—the living matter hidden in protoplasm.

Investigating the Microbes.

"That being so, the investigations of a host of talented chemists and microscopists have been directed to these microbes. I should be sorry to say how many hundreds of kinds have been actually separated and studied, and their particular kind of chemical destructive work ascertained. As might be expected, the intestines of most animals are swarming with them. There are a dozen or more kinds in the human mouth, however much they may be kept in check by antiseptic mouth-washes. The nose and air passages contain nine or ten more, and the stomach and intestines so great a number and variety that no one would venture to say precisely how many kinds are present, but probably more than thirty. An enormous variety of kinds is swallowed with our food and drink, and survive for a longer or shorter time in the digestive tract.

The Sensitiveness of Microbes.

"Bacteria microbes are very sensitive to two conditions, which affect their activity and life. Firstly, some kinds will only live in an alkaline fluid, and are neither killed or rendered torpid by the presence of even weak acid (hence the value of vinegar with oysters); whilst, on the other hand, some other kinds multiply and cause chemical changes in the presence of acids. Now, the contents of the large intestine are, in civilised man, usually found to be neutral or alkaline. Consequently, certain microbes flourish there which will not tolerate or multiply in acid surroundings.

Acid-Fearing Microbes.

"Amongst what we may call the acid-fearing microbes are some which produce in the incompletely digested food in the large intestine a highly putrid chemical condition, and especially manufacture certain known chemical compounds which are poisonous. These compounds are absorbed into the blood and exert their poisonous effect. The name 'auto-intoxication,' or self-poisoning, is given by doctors to this result. In strong, healthy adults they merely produce lethargy, perhaps headache, and are of no serious consequence. But in the case of children, old people, and otherwise enfeebled adults, they often cause ill-health, and, if, owing to special causes (such as intestinal disorder), these poisons are produced by the bacteria in excess, they may lead to the gravest consequences. Now, since these poison-producing bacteria will not flourish in the presence of acid, why not try to produce acid in the intestine, regularly and constantly? That should stop them! And so it has come about that sour milk and tablets of dried lacto-bacilli are administered by medical men.

Why Sour Milk is Good.

"There is no doubt that the contents of the large intestine can thus be continuously rendered acid, and there is no doubt that the production of the parturient poisons due to acid-fearing microbes is abolished. That has been accurately demonstrated by chemical analysis and by the study of patients in hospital in Paris and elsewhere by competent scientific men. English medical men are beginning to hear of the serious work which has been done on this subject, and some have mastered the subject. But it is at present difficult for anyone to obtain proper advice on this matter in London, since a number of manufacturers are anxious to obtain a sale for their own special preparations of the lactic

His Majesty Roasted.

King Edward Made a Tremendous Noise When He Was Born.

"Is it a boy?" asked the Duke of Wellington, as the nurse came out of the royal chamber with the new-born baby in her arms.

"No, your grace," replied Mrs. Lilly, with immense dignity, quite crushing the Iron Duke. "It is a prince!"

As a matter of fact, though, the nurse was wrong. Queen Victoria's eldest son—our present King—was not born a prince; he came into the world a duke—the Duke of Cornwall. The higher rank was given him later.

Curiously enough, when the King was born, there had been some mistake about letting the state dignitaries—whose duty it is to be at the palace on such occasions—know what time to get there.

And so the Duke of Wellington was the first to welcome the little heir to the throne.

As he was leaving the palace he met Lord Hill tearing up too late.

"What has happened?" asked he breathlessly.

"All over," said the Duke. "A fine boy—a very fine boy! Very red indeed—nearly as red as you, Hill!" he added unkindly.

"If," he told another late comer, "healthy babies cry loudly and kick hard, then this is an uncommonly healthy baby!"

Our future King certainly seems to have distinguished himself on entering the world. He absolutely roared, and Prince Albert, his overjoyed father, said:

"Well, if his appetite is as good as his lungs, I pity his nurse."

Yet no fewer than seven hundred women volunteered for the post! Of course, it was a post worth having. Apart from the honour, it was a lucrative one. The nurse of the Princess Royal got $2,500, and for such an important personage as the heir to the throne the fees were doubled. The nurse and her charge were installed in a room next the Queen's, and that devoted father and husband, Prince Albert, divided his time between mother and baby.

Meanwhile London and the whole kingdom went mad with joy. Never was such a Lord Mayor's Day as Nov. 9, 1841. The Lord Mayor was almost forgotten. Great crowds gathered, cheering the Queen and the heir.

Forty-eight hours after his birth King Edward held his first official reception. The Lord Mayor and Sheriffs of London came in state to welcome him.

Then four weeks after his arrival he was created "Prince of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland

Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, and a host of minor titles were given him. Until then he had been known in the royal household as "the Little Duke."

He was not only created, but crowned Prince of Wales.

The proclamation runs:—"We do enoble and invest him with the said Principality and Earldom by girding him with the sword, but putting a coronet on his head, and a gold ring on his finger, and also by delivering a gold rod into his hand."

Poor baby! What a solemn and important ceremony! But probably his time was taken up by admiring the glittering objects as they were given him.

Just Plain Brag.

A German, a Frenchman, and a Yankee were shipwrecked and cast upon an island inhabited by semi-savages. The chief potentate of the place informed the involuntary visitors that the post of Supreme Chief Executioner was vacant and would be awarded to that one of them who could fill it with most credit. Three condemned men were brought forth for the trials.

The German stepped forward, swung the great two-handed sword, and performed the decapitation with considerable success, although he required two strokes in which to hack off the victim's head.

The Frenchman took his position and, with debonair grace, despatched his victim with one stroke.

The Yankee went to bat. After gently feeling the edge of the big sword, he drew it back, held it poised an instant, and—swish!—a flash, a hiss, and that was all. The Yankee wiped the sword and stepped back.

"Go ahead," said the condemned man. "This suspense is terrible."

"Cough!" commanded the Yankee. The criminal coughed—and his head rolled upon the ground.—Everybody's.

Another Queen in Trouble.

The club of amateur Thespians used to give theatrical performances which were distinguished by the local prominence of the actors. Once a social celebrity, with a gorgeous costume, as one of the lords-in-waiting, had only four words to say: "The queen has swooned." As he stepped forward his friends applauded vociferously. Bowing his hands, he faced the king and said, in a high-pitched voice:—"The swoon has quenched."

There was a roar of laughter, but he waited patiently, and made another attempt:—"The swoon has cooned."

Again the walls trembled, and the stage-manager said, in a voice which could be heard all over the house:—"Come off, you silly fool!"

But the ambitious amateur refused to surrender, and in a rasping falsetto as he was assisted off the stage, he screamed:—"The coon has swooned."

Sneezed at Her.

The court room was crowded. A wife was seeking divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty and abusive treatment. Guns, axes, rolling pins and stinging investives seemed to have played a prominent part in the plaintiff's married life.

The husband was on the stand undergoing a grueling cross-examination. The examining attorney said: "You have testified that your wife on one occasion threw cayenne pepper in your face. Now, sir kindly tell us what you did on that occasion."

The witness hesitated and looked confused. Every one expected that he was about to confess to some shocking act of cruelty. But their hopes were shattered when he finally blurted out:

"I sneezed." — Everybody's Magazine.
