Address to the Synod

The Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Vancouver

His Views on Temperance Question and Marriage of Divorced Persons.

Following is the full text of Bishop Perrin's address to the Anglican Diocesan Synod at Nanaimo, a synopsis of which was published yesterday morning in the telegraphic despatches: My Reverend Brethren and Brethren of the Laity:

Six years have passed since the synod held its meeting in Nanaimo, but the members have still a pleasant memory of the happy occasion.

It is fortunate whichever way we look in which we have entered upon a new year, and once more the English throne is gloriously celebrating its jubilee.

The end of the century did not see the end of our race, as we have seen in the past, but it did see its diminution.

A sum of $1,500 was received from England, and applied to the reduction of the mortgage on the diocesan property, which now stands at $8,500.

A sum of $2,000 collected in the diocese was used for the repayment of the money which had been borrowed from the capital of the Clergy Endowment fund, leaving $650 still due.

It is not too much to hope that before long, with a very little enthusiasm, this incubus of debt will be entirely removed, and the diocese be free from debt.

In our mission fund, the amount collected for interest was considerably less than it has been for many years, but I am sorry to report that there was a reduction in the amount of the Lenten offerings.

Some more systematic appeal is necessary. We are asked to respond, complain of the apathy and indifference of others, and threaten to discontinue their efforts.

Two wrongs do not make a right. I have given liberally, to continue my good work. Mr. Robbins has given me more generous than for an advertisement.

The mortgage of $2,000 upon St. Barnabas' was paid off, and we received $500 from the S. P. C. K. for this object.

The church is now free from debt. A new parsonage has been built at Saanich, and through the exertions of Mr. Bradley-Dyne.

We have received help to the amount of $650 from the Domestic and Foreign Missions Society of Canada, for which our sincere thanks are due.

Next spring it is hoped that the meeting of the general synod of the Canadian church will be held in Vancouver, and that the delegates will be a much larger contribution to the mission funds of the west and North West.

The Church Missionary Society still bears the expense of a mission to the Indians at Alert Bay. After Easter I had the pleasure of visiting the mission, and I am sorry that the Rev. A. J. Hall is not able to be in England.

The winter months the heathen of the neighboring tribes had made Alert Bay the centre of a general "potlatch," which gave opportunity to the missionaries to do some good.

Notwithstanding this I had the privilege of baptizing many of the converts of the neighboring tribes, and of confirming to eighteen candidates.

Nothing could exceed the reverence and devotion with which the services were performed. I am also able to report that the Industrial Home, and the Girls' Home and day school, the intelligence of the scholars reflects the greatest credit upon the care and industry of the teachers.

Their knowledge of Bible history and the Christian faith would compare most favorably with those of any school in the province.

From the society for the propagation of the Gospel for work among the Chinese will expire next year, but I hope and trust that it may be renewed.

The mission room on Commercial street on Sundays is again re-opened, and the night school at the corner of the street is also re-opened.

At the present time, those who have been under instruction, only one has been baptised. To those who have been baptised, by results, this will sound disappointing. To those who really know, it will tell its true character.

The triennial convention of the church of the United States is to be held, for the first time in the Far West, at San Francisco, in October, and I have the honor of being appointed one of the delegates of the Canadian church upon this occasion.

The question of the so-called re-marriage of divorced persons is to be fully discussed. In the Eastern States the law is still in force, but in the Western States it is not.

The divorcees are granted on the ground of desertion, and incompatibility of temper, and persons thus divorced are prohibited from re-marrying. The American church is, of course, clear of any such offence, as all such persons are "ipso facto" excommunicated.

If in this province no public prosecutor appears against such bigamous unions, public opinion is its effectual test against the violation of the sanctity of marriage, upon which all social order rests.

The greatest care has been exercised by the clergy in this diocese lest they may unwillingly be led to use the marriage service in the case of parties coming from the neighboring States, who have thus been divorced.

Nothing can be done to alter the present most unsatisfactory way of issuing licenses until all the religious bodies agree to petition the legislature for the necessary changes in the act, which certainly should include (1) residence of a fortnight in the province; (2) the statement of the ages of the parties; (3) the absence of any other explanation of the hindrance to legal marriage in the Dominion.

A comparatively slight alteration in the laws in this respect would undoubtedly produce good results. In the other great social question of intemperance, it still remains far more a matter of education. If the total prohibition of liquor traffic were to be passed tomorrow by a small majority, it would be intensely difficult to make it an effective act of the legislature.

Meanwhile, surely something can be done, and ought to be done. Foolish customs are proverbial in the slowness of their death, but how long will we continue to tolerate the senseless and senseless practice of "treating" whether in clubs or saloons? What need can there be of allowing intoxicating drink to be sold in any form, except Sunday? Who can wish with any show of reason to pretend to think it right that there should be the number of saloons in Victoria, Seattle, or Nanaimo? Surely it is practical work for us all, whether total abstainers or not, to remove the stumbling block, and "lift up a standard for the people."

Let me conclude as I began. We want fresh energy and zeal and inspiration in our work. We are asked to respond, complain of the apathy and indifference of others, and threaten to discontinue their efforts.

Two wrongs do not make a right. I have given liberally, to continue my good work. Mr. Robbins has given me more generous than for an advertisement.

The mortgage of $2,000 upon St. Barnabas' was paid off, and we received $500 from the S. P. C. K. for this object.

We have received help to the amount of $650 from the Domestic and Foreign Missions Society of Canada, for which our sincere thanks are due.

The end of the century did not see the end of our race, as we have seen in the past, but it did see its diminution.

A sum of $1,500 was received from England, and applied to the reduction of the mortgage on the diocesan property, which now stands at $8,500.

A sum of $2,000 collected in the diocese was used for the repayment of the money which had been borrowed from the capital of the Clergy Endowment fund, leaving $650 still due.

It is not too much to hope that before long, with a very little enthusiasm, this incubus of debt will be entirely removed, and the diocese be free from debt.

In our mission fund, the amount collected for interest was considerably less than it has been for many years, but I am sorry to report that there was a reduction in the amount of the Lenten offerings.

Some more systematic appeal is necessary. We are asked to respond, complain of the apathy and indifference of others, and threaten to discontinue their efforts.

The Church Missionary Society still bears the expense of a mission to the Indians at Alert Bay. After Easter I had the pleasure of visiting the mission, and I am sorry that the Rev. A. J. Hall is not able to be in England.

The winter months the heathen of the neighboring tribes had made Alert Bay the centre of a general "potlatch," which gave opportunity to the missionaries to do some good.

Notwithstanding this I had the privilege of baptizing many of the converts of the neighboring tribes, and of confirming to eighteen candidates.

Nothing could exceed the reverence and devotion with which the services were performed. I am also able to report that the Industrial Home, and the Girls' Home and day school, the intelligence of the scholars reflects the greatest credit upon the care and industry of the teachers.

The triennial convention of the church of the United States is to be held, for the first time in the Far West, at San Francisco, in October, and I have the honor of being appointed one of the delegates of the Canadian church upon this occasion.

The divorcees are granted on the ground of desertion, and incompatibility of temper, and persons thus divorced are prohibited from re-marrying. The American church is, of course, clear of any such offence, as all such persons are "ipso facto" excommunicated.

Denial of Settlement

Mr. Bremner Says Cannery and Fishermen Have Not Yet Agreed.

There is Hope However That the Strike Will End on Saturday.

U. S. Consul at Vancouver Makes Interesting Report to Washington.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Vancouver, July 4.—Government Labor Commissioner Bremner denies the report that the executive committee of the Cannery's Association and Fishermen's Union met yesterday and favorably considered a suggestion that the price of salmon be on a sliding scale, according to the total pack put up for the season on the Fraser.

Mr. Bremner states that no authoritative discussion has taken place between the cannery and fishermen since the strike. Both fishermen and cannery, however, are working hard looking towards a settlement, and he hopes that by Saturday the strike will be declared off.

A member of the Cannery's Association stated to the Colonist that any negotiation with the fishermen would be made through Mr. Bremner. He also stated, however, that the cannery would consider an offer on the sliding scale principle only if the fishermen pack up.

One thousand sockeye were caught last night in the Point Roberts Cannery company trap. The run will be early, as the sockeyes are making for the Fraser. The Japanese will go to the cannery on Monday. This statement is made emphatically by several cannery, who deny the statement that the Japs have joined the union. One hundred non-union white men have also signed an agreement to fish, and will go out with the Japs.

The following report of the salmon industry has been sent to Washington, United States Consul Col. Edwin Dudley, in his official trade report. Although it is written in plain English, it is endorsed by the United States Consul at Vancouver, who says: Col. Warren's statements may be relied upon fully. He is not interested as a fisherman or a canneryman.

"The comparative failure of the salmon fisheries of the Fraser river by drift nets is likely to raise the question of altering the law which places the limit on the number of traps for the taking of salmon within the limits of British Columbia waters. It is asserted that there is much reason in the argument advanced by the fishermen, who are taken in the United States waters to so great an extent as to seriously affect the industry on the other side of the line, and it is further asserted that the use of traps is a better and less destructive mode of capturing the fish. Should this view of a large proportion of the British cannery men be adopted, it would result in a large number of traps being placed at the entrance of the Fuca Straits, and probably on the western side of the island of Vancouver, where the salmon industry is now established.

"It is in mind that the drift nets cannot be used in tideways, where the sea runs swiftly, as it does in the Straits of Fuca. It is held that the fishermen who entered United States waters in the same way that the traps now used south of the British boundary line now anticipate the catches made by the fishermen north of the line.

"But there are other very serious reasons why the whole question of the present fishing laws of Canada, as affecting the salmon fishing should be taken up. We can expect to see the law of altering these laws. It is held that there is a useless distraction of salmon caused by the drift nets in the years when the fish are scarce, and that the fish are thrown away in consequence of the cannery being unable to handle the large number caught. If traps are used, the fish are not so scattered, and proceed of their way to the spawning ground, but the fish when taken by nets and refused by the cannery are thrown down into the sea, and are lost. The fish are in a better condition, than can be the case when they are kept in scows or boats for an extended period subsequent to their being taken out of the net.

After referring to the strike of last year, the writer says: "A large proportion of these (fishermen) expect to make in two months enough to meet the needs of the family for the rest of the year. The consequence of this gambling, for it is little less, is sure to be injurious to the industry and to the welfare of the people engaged in it, who are fishermen for two months and carry on odd jobs for the other ten months. Last year they were present in such numbers that they were able to cross the straits from side to side for miles. Thus all entrance to the river was barred. If traps were used, the present would always be left, and the fishing the fishermen are employed for eight months in the year, and form a body of workers who can count on steady employment, and as fishermen to those who go in for two months gamble and find themselves adrift for the remainder of the year.

"It is said that there are too many fishermen to meet the supply of salmon needed by the cannery, and that the stretch of the nets rendered it difficult to get a sufficient number of fish to get to the spawning beds."

AN EXPANDING REVENUE.

The revenue of Canada from all sources during the year ending June 30 last was about $52,750,000. This shows that the country is in a very prosperous condition.

We hold to the opinion that the period of prosperity which the Dominion is now enjoying has in it the elements of permanence. It is certainly not due to any changes that have been made in the tariff.

We would like to remind the Times that in all it has said in regard to unions whether of capitalists or workmen, the Colonist has not stated that either the one or the other is wrong.

been killed and wounded, and the last report was that the Governor of the state was about to call out the militia and instruct them to use whatever force may be necessary to oust the strikers from the mine.

The Times disputes the claim made by the Colonist, that the effect of unions is not favorable to individual advancement. It says such an assertion is no more true now than it was when first made.

We have said above that the relations of employers and employed and the best way of settling differences between them form easily the greatest subject before the civilized world.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

The remarks made by some of the members of the Anglican Synod at Nanaimo on the question of Sunday observance created a mild type of sensation, and His Lordship Bishop Perin and the Rev. J. H. S. Sweet, clerical secretary, has felt it to be their duty to address us letters in regard to them.

Sunday observance is a subject upon which much may be said and upon which a wide diversity of view exists in Christian countries. We suppose not one person in a thousand actually keeps Sunday in accordance with the literal terms of the Commandment.

We do not believe there is a country in the world that is having better times than Canada is at present, but they have only begun. The immense resources of Canada have at last attracted the attention of the world.

The important question is as to how the day shall be observed. There is room here for great divergence of opinion, but we venture the view that the country would be better and all individuals improved, if Sunday were devoted to ethical development to as great a degree as is compatible with the maintenance of the usual conditions of life, if, indeed, those conditions might not with advantage be varied in order to permit such development to be as generally sought as possible.

some atmosphere of the country would not be appropriate. Nature can preach more eloquently than any clergyman, and it is a good thing for the soul to get the air of the forest or the sea into the lungs occasionally.

Before dealing with the principles involved in the enforcement of the decrees of courts, and an arbitration court is in no material sense different from other courts, we may be permitted to ask a question. It is slavery to say that a man must work for another, is it any less slavery to say that he shall not work for another?

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Sufficient interest is not taken by the people of Victoria in the Board of Trade. Let us look at the matter fairly. Very many people say that the Board is of no real value to the city.

In Mr. Elworthy's Board has a highly competent secretary, and if it were not for him the institution would not be nearly as efficient as it is.

We are of the opinion that much good would be accomplished by the Board, if it met more frequently, say once a month, instead of quarterly, or when specially called together.

tion of all questions the intelligence of a large body of business men, instead of only the small minority possible in such a body as the Council.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION.

Discussing compulsory arbitration as a remedy for labor troubles, the San Francisco Argonaut makes the very obvious criticism that a court without power to enforce its decrees may as well make decrees at all.

Before dealing with the principles involved in the enforcement of the decrees of courts, and an arbitration court is in no material sense different from other courts, we may be permitted to ask a question. It is slavery to say that a man must work for another, is it any less slavery to say that he shall not work for another?

But before we get as far as the enforcement of the decrees of a court of arbitration, it is necessary to settle what those decrees should be. At first thought we would be disposed to say that a decree that an employer should continue to run his establishment, whether he was willing or not, and pay certain wages, or one that a man should work for an employer, whether he wished to or not, would be beyond the reasonable jurisdiction of such a tribunal.

But some may ask: What is the use of making arbitration compulsory, if it is not made compulsory to obey the decrees of the court? The question is a fair one. Our answer to it is that the decrees might be simply declaratory. For example, suppose it should be declared that a certain rate of wage was proper in a certain case, the employer would be bound to pay that wage and any contract made by persons to work for less should be void and the full wage could be collected by the employee.

Of all the allied contingents the French were held in the lowest estimation by our Indian troops. This was due chiefly to the very unfavorable impression created by the huge and unwieldy mules, and the slouching, slovenly appearance of the men, all of whose signs of duties performed by officers and non-commissioned officers.

P. R. J. Hospital's New Officers

C. A. Holland and R. S. Day Chosen as President and Vice President.

All the Other Officers and Hospital Staff Have Been Re-appointed.

The newly elected directors of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital met last night for the purpose of electing officers and making appointments to the staff of the institution.

The election of officers resulted as follows: C. A. Holland, president, by acclamation. R. S. Day, vice-president, by acclamation. Thos. Shotbolt, treasurer, re-elected. P. Elworthy, secretary, re-elected. A. G. McGregor, auditor, re-appointed.

Several matters of interior economy were discussed and disposed of, and a number of communications were dealt with. The question of a direct telephone line to the doctor's residence was referred to the house committee with power to act.

OUR INDIAN TROOPS.

Criticism of the Men Who Served in China.

From the Daily Mail. An article like before me, published by a leading French paper, on "The French expeditionary corps in China."

That Frenchmen should magnify the deeds of their patriots in China is only human nature. No Englishman will quarrel with them for reiterating the statements that "under fire our soldiers proved themselves to be the best fighting troops that have ever been seen, and that the superiority of our artillery and of our gunners showed itself throughout the campaign."

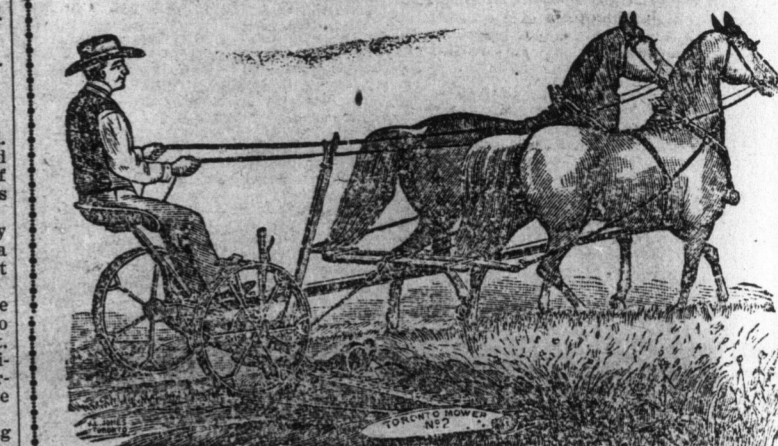

But the superiority of the French artillery does not extend to its personnel. The discipline of the battery in action is not to be compared with that of a British or German battery, and the neglected state of the guns and harness, the poor condition of the horses, mules, and the slouching, slovenly appearance of the men, all of whose signs of duties performed by officers and non-commissioned officers.

Men constantly broke out of the ranks to forage for food and vegetables, and it was quite a common occurrence to see half a dozen French soldiers firing at the village pig, an animal for which they had a great liking, in spite of its scavenging habits.

Of Interest To Horsemen

Description of Horses Required by the Imperial Government for South Africa.

Colonel Dent Purchasing Agent Will Buy at Kamloops and Vernon.

Further correspondence on the subject of Colonel Dent's visit to the province to purchase horses for the Imperial forces in South Africa, has been received by Mr. J. R. Anderson, deputy minister of agriculture.

Regina, N. W. T., July 2, 1901. My Dear Sir,—When writing to you on the 27th ult. respecting Colonel Dent's visit to Kamloops and Vernon, I omitted to state the class of horse which will be prepared to purchase, and now enclose a few copies of a circular which was issued by the Imperial Horse Breeders' association some time ago, and which fully sets forth the type of horses Col. Dent is looking for.

Your faithfully, (Signed) CHAS. W. PETERSON, Secretary.

The following letter has been received by Mr. C. W. Peterson, secretary of the Territorial Horse Breeders' association, from the chief stock inspector in Canada, real, Dr. McEachran, bearing upon the mission of the purchasing party sent out by the war office authorities for the purpose of obtaining remounts in Canada.

Colonel Dent will visit Alberta and other parts of the North West Territories for the purpose of purchasing horses for the army in South Africa. He will spend April in Ontario and Quebec; he will arrive in Alberta early in May. The dates and particulars will be arranged and published later.

Col. Dent will be at Kamloops on July 22, and at Vernon on July 25. Initial Steps Taken by the Committee of Management.

The general committee appointed to arrange for the reception to the Duke and Duchess of York and Cornwall at the city hall yesterday afternoon and took the initial steps toward a grand reception to the King's son.

It was moved by Col. Gregory and seconded that there be a review of the school children to take place in conjunction with the opening of the exhibition. This was carried.

A general discussion followed as to the programme, and it was finally moved by Mr. McPhillips that a committee of seven be chosen by the mayor to map out a programme. This was seconded by Senator Templeman and carried.

The members selected by His Worship are: Lieutenant-Governor Joly, Messrs. McPhillips, Templeman, Lugin, W. H. Price, A. J. Dallin, H. D. Helmecken and H. L. Deane.

A financial committee of five was appointed to report at a meeting to be held on Tuesday next. The committee is composed of Messrs. A. B. Fraser, Sr., N. Shakespear, Thomas Deaky, Thomas Earle and Ald. Williams.

Mr. W. H. Price was asked to seek the co-operation of the Board of the Friendly Societies.

A man's wife should always be the same, and her husband, but if she is the same and her husband is not, she is not his wife, and he is not her husband.

LABORERS STRIKE. Men at Esquimalt Marine Railway Want Advance in Their Wages.

Some forty of the sixty men engaged in the Esquimalt Colliery, which is on the Esquimalt Marine railway, went out on strike yesterday. They have been receiving 25 cents an hour, and asked that it be increased to 30 cents an hour. The dissatisfaction started through the fact that the longshoremen, who are organized and are receiving 40 cents an hour and have their fair share paid, were working at the same rate as the "chippers" though they do more work than the longshoremen receive, and consequently went out on strike.

A GREAT ATTRACTION COMING. If weather continues favorable no doubt large crowds of citizens will avail themselves of attending the Okay Bay next week to view the many excellent reproductions of the late British-Boer and Chinese wars, produced by the celebrated Wargraph Co. of London, Eng.

The company at present is attracting immense crowds in Vancouver and will arrive here on tonight's boat and will make their headquarters at the Victoria Hotel. The company comes very highly recommended by the Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg Press.
