WAR CLOUDS HOVERING OVER EUROPE

Muslims' Massacre Likely to Cause War Between Turkey and Bulgaria—Frontier Fighting Already Reported—Post Office Wrecked by Bomb

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 12.—The Bulgarian press is clamoring for war against Turkey. The inhabitants of Southern Bulgaria are extremely bellicose. They are holding meetings to protest against the massacre in which 140 Bulgarians were killed, and demonstrations against Turkey are being organized in all parts of the country. The Bulgarian Government has been asked to abandon the national festivities on Aug. 15th on account of the mourning at Kosehana, but it is probable that they will not comply with the request.

London, Aug. 12.—No news has yet been received here as to whether the renewed fighting on the Sarko-Montenegrin frontier is of a serious character. It probably is in defiance of orders from the two capitals. Advice from Constantinople continues to describe the situation as improving. The extreme vigor of martial law at the Turkish capital has been relaxed. No developments growing out of the meetings of the committee of Union and Progress are reported from Salonika, and it is understood that the Porte is able to acquiesce in most of the demands submitted by the Albanian insurgents. The strong feeling of the Bulgarian populace on account of the Kosehana massacre, it is felt here, is the worse danger point, but it is announced that the Bulgarian Minister, in deference to Austrian wishes, is resisting popular clamor, and is seeking to arrive at an amicable settlement with the Porte.

Salonica, Aug. 12.—The Austrian post office here was wrecked today by a bomb. It is believed that the perpetrators were Turks or Bulgarians.

London, Aug. 12.—The Albanian insurgents, according to the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Constantinople, are not only complete masters of the Ushak, but they have decided to march on Salonika and a detachment of three rebels already has occupied the city of Kefirain.

"On receipt of this serious news," the correspondent says, "a hasty meeting of the Turkish cabinet was called and it was resolved to resist the insurgents' advance. The government telegraphed to the military authorities the necessary orders to this effect.

"The situation in Albania is most grave. The assassinations of officers continue. The insurgents are making forced levies on the inhabitants for supplies. According to my information, it is the insurgents' intention either to force the government to accept their full demands or to restore Abdul Hamid, the former sultan, to the throne. Another cabinet crisis is considered to be impending. The government is seeking a loan of $7,500,000 from the Ottoman Bank, but is meeting with difficulties."

Moschelle Man Assaulted

As Harry Hardwick was driving to his home in Moschelle from Annapolis Royal on Wednesday night last, he was attacked by a crowd of Moschelle toughs. Mr. Hardwick was accompanied by his wife and sister. In the assault both ladies were covered with mud and dirt from the sods which were thrown at Mr. Hardwick. He got out of his wagon and attempted to thrash one of his assailants but was prevented from doing so by being held from behind by four or five toughs. Mr. Hardwick was badly mauled. Much indignation is felt by the people here about as this outrage happened in the generally peaceful village of Moschelle just in front of the residence of John Williams, Spectator.

Tennis Tournament

On Friday afternoon last a very interesting tennis tournament was played between the home club and Yarmouth Tennis Club on the grounds of the former, and the day being beautifully fine much interest was evidenced therein. Play commenced immediately after the arrival of the visiting players, and was continued and finished on Saturday morning, the local club being the winners in nearly all the events. The Courts were in a perfect condition, the Yarmouth players considering they were the best they had ever played on. The visiting team left in time to catch the train to convey the party to Annapolis to witness the celebrations there. The following were the results:—

SPURR-WOODWARD.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Woodward, Greenville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, Aug. 14th, when their daughter, Lola Moxey, became the bride of Mr. William Voobes Spurr, a popular young merchant of Torbrook Mines. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The parlors were prettily decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. At ten o'clock, to the strains of Elsa's Wedding Procession from Lohengrin, well rendered by Miss Carrie Spurr, sister of the groom, the principals took their places under an artistic arch of vines and white flowers. The ushers of the groom were Messrs. Edgar S. Spurr and W. C. Woodward.

The bride, who was given away by her father, presented a most attractive appearance in a lovely gown of hand-embroidered white chiffon over silk and carried a bouquet of cream roses, astors and maiden hair fern. Little Grace Forster, niece of the bride, made a sweet flower girl daintily gowned in white batiste and carrying a basket of sweet peas.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. N. A. MacNeill, Mendelsohn's Wedding March was played.

After a dainty collation was served an automobile conveyed the happy couple to Bridgetown en route for St. John, the first stopping place in their trip through the Eastern Provinces. The bride's going-away gown was of electric blue cloth with hat to match. The reading gifts included a generous cheque, cut glass, silver and linen. The groom's gift to the bride was a necklace of pearls and amethysts, and to the flower girl a gold chain and locket.

Shooting Case at Parker's Cove

The preliminary examination of Policemen McDonald, of Annapolis, for being an accessory before the fact to the crime of shooting Willard Guest, was concluded on Monday before Stipendiary Messenger, and resulted in his being sent up for trial to the Supreme Court. Ball was fixed in two securities of $150 each, viz. Edward Anderson and Milton Brooks. The arrest of Miller has not yet been accomplished.

Rural Science School at Truro

The sessions of the Rural Science School held at the Normal and Agricultural Colleges from July 24th were completed on Friday last. The School is provided by the Government for the purpose of affording the teachers of the primary schools an opportunity to study, especially in subjects such as Botany, Entomology, Chemistry, etc., so that they can teach the rudiments of these subjects in the common schools.

Whatever view may have been held in the past, it is now pretty generally accepted that the schools of Nova Scotia can prove much more effective in interesting the pupils in farming and horticulture and other industrial lines than they have. The difficulty is to provide a class of teachers who know enough about plants and insects and soils, things that pertain to the industries, to teach something of them. A special years course, similar to that required for pedagogic training at the Normal College, might supply the need. But few teachers could afford this. Neither will a fragmentary one-year course, beneficial as it might be, provide as thorough a training as is required. The only solution seems to be a vacation school, which provides a curriculum of studies similar to that offered by any other school or college that may hold its sessions throughout the year, and this is the place which the Rural Science School at Truro fills.

The Directors of this School, who comprise the faculties of the Agricultural and Normal Colleges, have laid down a course of instruction in the sciences and when completed the graduates are awarded a Rural Science Diploma. The teacher who holds this Diploma and who puts this teaching into practice, satisfactory to the School Inspector, will be recognized by a substantial extra grant from the Government.

Such a course cannot be completed in one year. A teacher, previously trained in the sciences, might complete it in two, but the average teacher requires three years. However, when the teacher has completed the course, he will have a grasp of the natural sciences of value in themselves and also of value because it will make possible the teaching of these practical subjects in the schools.

While the full Government Grant to the holder of a Rural Science Diploma is not given until the course is completed, the Government does recognize the work done from year to year. Provided a teacher satisfactorily completes one year's course at this Rural Science School and teaches effectively along this line during the next term in his school, he is entitled to an extra Government grant of $15.00. Such a teacher holds a "Temporary Diploma" of the Rural Science School.

In addition to the above recognition the Government shows its interest in this work by paying the travelling expenses of those teachers who attend the School.

The Halifax Memorial Tower

(From the Toronto Mail and Empire) The dedication of the National Memorial Tower at Halifax yesterday by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught puts the seal of completion upon a patriotic duty comparable with that performed four years ago in the Tercentenary proceedings at Quebec. The Chamberlain celebrations looked back upon an event of far earlier date in our history than that upon which the Halifax celebration fixes our remembrance. Chronologically the establishment of representative government in Nova Scotia, which is commemorated by the erection of this tower, lies exactly midway between the date of the founding of Quebec and the Tercentenary anniversary thereof. Quebec was already 150 years old when the first Representative Assembly in the country known today, as the Dominion of Canada was constituted. In 1908 was celebrated the founding of Quebec three hundred years before, and in 1908 was laid the cornerstone of the Halifax Memorial to the 150th anniversary of the institution of Representative Government in Nova Scotia.

As the founding of Quebec inaugurated French rule in Canada, so the establishing of Representative Government in Nova Scotia is a process exactly concurrent with the termination of French rule and the inauguration of British rule in Canada.

"Between the Acts."

The people of Bridgetown witnessed one of the cleanest comedies ever given by amateurs in this town. The very humorous and many funny situations caused loud applause and reflected much credit on the performers. It may be said that every one really enjoyed themselves. This play is composed by a well-known composer and requires a real snappy cast as was seen Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, well-known for their stage acquisitions throughout the town and County, held together grandly their role in the performance, they being the ones upon whom the whole play itself became involved. Mr. Mitchell and Mrs. Harlow as Mr. and Mrs. Meander, performed in an exceedingly amusing manner the trials and events of an unhappy married couple. Many were the amusing scenes carried out by these two as they so often endeavored to become as loved ones again.

Mr. Hiltz, the Butler of Mr. Comfort's apartments, gave a very striking example with much amusement in that line. Mr. Comfort himself showed great tactfulness by the way in which he tried to conceal his many difficulties. Miss Louise Ruggles carried off the part of the French maid in a very amusing manner. Mrs. Comfort, the one around whom everything is entangled by her husband and by which she is thus mistaken and insulted by others, showed that she was fully able to fight her own troubles and win a happy reunion of her husband and herself again. Mr. Merrigale, with his very entertaining manner, showed how some people can successfully effect the affairs of others.

Great credit is also given to the orchestra under the supervision of Mrs. Mitchell, and to Mr. A. Dodge for his solos, which were highly appreciated. We must not forget to mention that Mr. H. LeMoine Ruggles fully carried out his part as "an unfriendly friend," his drooleries being exquisite.

The following was the cast:— Dick Comfort, married yet single friend. Mr. H. B. Hicks George Merrigale, an unfriendly friend. Mr. H. L. M. Ruggles Alexander Meander, Dick's Uncle, blamed but blameless. Mr. S. C. Mitchell Harris, Comfort's man servant. Mr. A. F. Liltz Mrs. Clementine Meander, Dick's Aunt, blameless but blamed. Mrs. D. G. Harlow Edith Comfort, Dick's wife, unknown, unhonored and unused. Mrs. H. B. Hicks Sally, Mrs. Meander's maid. Miss L. Ruggles.

The proceeds, we understand, will leave a clean surplus of $50, which will be devoted to two worthy objects, viz.—the local Boy Scouts Association and the County Hospital Recreation Hall Building Fund.

Starratt vs. D. A. R.

In the case of Starratt vs. D. A. Railway a motion was made about three days before the last term of the Supreme Court in Bridgetown before Mr. Justice Graham in Halifax for a change of venue, or, in the alternative, to strike out the jury term of the Supreme Court in Bridgetown, and was heard by Mr. Justice Russell, who was then Chambers Judge at Halifax, and he decided that the jury notice should be struck out. Mr. O. S. Miller, who was counsel for Mr. Starratt, appealed to the Supreme Court in banco against the decision of Mr. Justice Russell. His appeal was heard on the 10th August before a special session of the Supreme Court in banco held for the purpose of hearing this appeal. The Judges were Messrs. Graham, Meagher and Ritchie. The case was argued by Mr. O. S. Miller and Mr. Ralston, of Halifax. At the conclusion of the arguments, although the Court had met on purpose to hear this appeal from the judgment of Judge Russell, to the astonishment of all Judge Graham announced that no judgment would be delivered in this case in time for the special term of the Supreme Court to be held on the 27th August at Bridgetown.

ROYAL VISIT THROUGH VALLEY

Middleton and Annapolis Royal Town Council Present Loyal Addresses to the Governor-General—Unveiling Memorial Tablets at Annapolis Royal

Saturday last was in very truth a royal day—King Sol having fully made up his mind that nothing would be lacking on his part to make the day an ideal one. The Valley from end to end was on the quiver of excitement, for was not their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, and their charming daughter Patricia going to pay their long-expected visit? Middleton, Annapolis and Digby were to be visited, and at all these towns large and enthusiastic loyal crowds were present to show that they in loyalty and love were at least equal if not better than the other portions of the Province already visited.

At Middleton at 9.30 a. m. the Mayor and Town Councilors, in conjunction with the Mayor and Councilors from Bridgetown and an assemblage of three thousand persons, were present at the station to witness the Royal visitors' arrival, which took place amidst vociferous cheering.

The Royal party at once proceeded in automobiles to the McDonald School Building, which was most charmingly decorated with flags and bunting. An arch upon pillars of red, white and blue bearing the Union Jack formed the entrance, while a detachment of the 69th Battalion of Infantry lined the driveway to the building as a guard of honor, under the command of Major Bishop.

A specially constructed platform, profusely decorated with flags, had been erected, and here a Royal address of welcome was read by Mayor Goucher, and replied to by the Governor-General in most felicitous terms. Several presentations were then made, and the Royal visitors were then conveyed in autos around the fruit section of Middleton, returning to the station at 10.45. "God speed" was here bid the Royal visitors, and the train proceeded on its way to Annapolis Royal amidst rousing cheers. At Lawrenceton, Paradise and Bridgetown crowds had gathered upon the station platforms and as the Royal train swept by cheers were raised again and again by the assemblages, to which the Royal party invariably responded.

The splendid bands of the 75th (Lunenburg) and 69th (Halifax) Regiments, discoursed most beautiful selections during the Royal visitors' stay in Middleton.

AT ANnapolis ROYAL.

This old historic town was gaily decked out with bunting, flags, mottoes and arches, welcoming their Royal Highnesses, and if quantity and quality bespeak success, then Annapolis Royal's was deservedly so. Many of the buildings displayed beautiful taste. The town was crowded with, not only its own inhabitants, but numerous visitors from far and near, and special and regular trains bringing in their thousands to swell the royal welcome.

Promptly on time (12 noon) the special containing their Royal Highnesses arrived at the old station, where they were received with loud and continuous cheering from the vast assemblage present. Upon alighting, the Royal party were received by Mayor Hawkesworth, Council and Town Clerk and proceeded in autos to the Garrison, by way of Church and St. George streets, their progress being accompanied by round after round of cheers. Upon arrival at the Garrison a most interesting and loyal address was read by the Mayor, recapitulating in a brief manner the history of the town, and referring to the visits of the Duke of Kent, the King, H.R.H. the Princess Louise and her husband (now the Duke of Argyll) and concluding with the most keen expressions of loyalty to the throne. The address was signed by the Mayor.

The Governor-General referred to the history of the town, also to the loyalty of the people, and hoped that it would never be visited with the dread realities of war again. Presentations were then made to their Royal Highnesses of the leading members present, at the conclusion of which Judge Savary invited His Royal Highness to proceed to the Royal Bank and there unveil memorial tablets to the famous General Sir William Fenwick Williams, Bart., of Kars, and Sir William Wilmitt.

Here another immense crowd had assembled, and although His Royal Highness spoke in very clear tones in reply, after unveiling the tablets, his words were not heard by many of those present. Mr. E. B. McDaniel, on behalf of the Royal Bank of Canada, in a brief speech acknowledged the custody of the tablets. At the conclusion of this most interesting function their Royal Highnesses re-entered the autos and proceeded to the station, their progress representing a great triumphant march.

Having boarded the train their Royal Highnesses departed for Digby, their departure being followed by vociferous cheering, waving of flags, etc.

AT DIGBY. Digby was en fete, the largest crowd ever seen in the town being assembled.

THE FARM

RENOVATING OLD FARMS

Work Out of Which an Ex-Bookkeeper Gets Health, Profit and Fun. (New York Sun.) One of the novel means of making a living which have sprung out of the back to the farm idea is that of a man and his wife who move about the country renovating old farms.

with a view to selling them, and we have never failed to find a buyer...

"My wife and I always make friends with the neighbors and join in all the life of the countryside, and we always pretend that the house is to be our home for keeps, and that we are planning and fitting it up for ourselves; so we get lots of fun out of our work all along the way.

WHAT A TOAD IS WORTH.

Science offers a new solution for the bug problem. It is to employ in its professional capacity, so to speak the toad—the ordinary hoptoad of the field and garden—as an insect destroyer.

In this business the humble toad is unequalled by any other living animal. He is the greatest bug exterminator in the world. It is entirely practical to utilize his services on an extensive scale, employing him systematically as an ally to keep in check the insects which levy an annual tax of more than $5,000,000 upon our agricultural resources.

There is no reason why the farmers of the country should not hatch and rear their own supply of toads for local service. With a pond or even a small pool insured against drying up during late spring, the creatures will breed of their own accord in any desired numbers up to the limit of the food supply available in the shape of insects.

It is estimated that an average toad is worth to the farmer five dollars a year for the cutworms which it destroys. But this is only one item. The amount a toad will eat is astonishing. A large specimen has been known to devour a hundred rose beetles at a single meal.

It is a common thing when the occupant of an ant's nest is swarming and the insects are emerging in large numbers to see an enterprising toad sit at the entrance of the burrow and snap at every ant that comes out.

Renovating farms has always been a good business with us. We take care to select our properties with a view to selling them, and we have never failed to find a buyer with in a reasonable time.

EGG-LAYING RECORD.

Barnyard Fowl's Wonderful Feats During Eight Years—Total 1,396.

Betty, a diminutive hen, which The Daily Mirror has discovered in the possession of Mr. J. A. Minchico, of Henfield, in West Sussex, is a rooster to poultry experts.

Her family tree is not included in the poultry "Bible," BETTY'S YEARLY RECORD. Betty is quite tame, probably because she has had a comparatively lonely life, and people have paid a good deal of attention to her.

She was hatched late in 1903, and, therefore, it is amazing that her laying record for 1904 shows the total of 218 eggs. This is her record of eggs laid during each year:

Table showing egg-laying records for Betty from 1904 to 1912, with a total of 1,396 eggs.

Betty has no motherly disposition. She has never evinced a desire to sit on, as poultry-keepers term it, or, as another hen has hatched her eggs.

SKIMMINGS. Although it is not always necessary to use starter for the purpose of ripening cream for butter, it is advisable to ripen the cream throughout the year.

Butter made from sweet cream has a mild, creamy flavor, but does not keep very well. It is, therefore, only advisable to make this kind of butter when it is demanded by the customers.

One of the most common ailments that hard-working people are afflicted with is lame back. Apply Chamberlain's Liniment twice a day and massage the parts thoroughly at each application.

President Taft now wants to repeal the Reciprocity Act, which is still on the statute books of the United States. He finds it so unpopular with the farmers of the United States that he fears it will work against him in the elections to be held this fall.

A Valuable Find

Farm life is often spoken of as monotonous but is there any reason why it should be? The environment of farming is far more varied, more interesting and more attractive than city life.

SPARKLING WATER, cool and sweet, refreshes the farmer who builds a Concrete Well or Tank

THE FARMER, above all others, appreciates good water. He drinks more water than the city man. The city-dweller is dependent upon the public water-supply for the purity of his water, while the farmer can have his own private source of water, and thus be sure that it is pure and healthful.

MAN hasn't found a better drink than cool water, properly collected and stored. But in order to keep water fresh and pure, a tank or well casing that will keep out every possible impurity must be used.

CONCRETE IS THE IDEAL MATERIAL FOR TANKS AND WELL-CASINGS. It is absolutely water-tight, protecting your water from seepage of all kinds. It cannot rot or crumble. It is easily cleaned inside. Time and water, in lieu of causing it to decay, actually make it stronger.

PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1912.

—In addition to other portions of the Province the Annapolis Valley has been honored with the presence of their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, their charming daughter. In 1884 our noble sovereign visited Annapolis Royal and was there received with a right royal welcome.
History repeats itself, inasmuch as the welcome accorded our visitors throughout the Valley last Saturday was of the most loyal nature. Although Governor-General for but a short period of time, His Royal Highness has already endeared himself to the hearts of all the King's subjects in this great Dominion. The same may be said of the Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia.
The Governor-General has held some of the most important commands in the British Empire, and has always been received with the greatest enthusiasm, but in no case could the welcome have been more cordial than in Nova Scotia, and we venture to say that the Valley has lived fully up to its reputation, and has added another gem to its history in its latest evidence of loyalty to the throne.

The weather on Saturday last was truly "King's weather," the vast assemblages at Middleton and Annapolis Royal were loud in their demonstrations of welcome, and everything passed off satisfactorily.

We sincerely trust that the visit to Nova Scotia will be productive of the best results to H.R.H. the Duchess, whose health of late has prevented her from taking part in other functions in Canada, and we also hope that at a not distant date their Royal Highnesses may see fit to visit our Province once again on a more extended tour, so that other towns may share in their expressions of love and loyalty to His Majesty, as well as to the youngest and only surviving son of "Victoria the Good."

Mr. Thos. F. Anderson, the well-known Boston writer, who has done so much for Nova Scotia, and especially Digby, as a summer resort, arrived here Tuesday from Boston via Yarmouth, and will spend a few days in this vicinity before leaving for Antigonish, where he has been asked to give an address on the opportunities in that part of the province.—
Digby Courier.

Cadets in Camp at Aldershot

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Aldershot, Aug. 17.—There are from 150 to 1800 boys under canvas here and the weather being favorable so far, all are well and enjoying camp.
These lads represent nearly every town and city in the Maritime Provinces, Sydney, St. John, Charlottetown, Woodstock and Halifax sending the largest contingents.
Bridgetown has eight scouts to her credit in command of Sergt. Albert Burns as follows:—

Gordon Charlton, Tom Forden, Primrose, Clarence Troop, Shirley Miller, Donald Messinger, Earl Craig and Clarence Kinney. Rev. F. Underwood is also in camp and one of the Chaplains. Bridgetown boys are attached to the 4th Battalion of Sydney. Capt. J. E. Morse is in command of No. 3. Bettelheim and Capt. Ritzky this is Battalion.

Aug. 18th—The church parade today was a novel sight. The Highlanders from St. John dressed in kilts with their bag pipes band were an unique sight. The moving picture man was along and got a good view of the brigade marching past, so no doubt, the Bridgetown people will have an opportunity to see them.
A silver band of twenty-four musicians from Sydney is a pleasing feature of the camp. The Y.M.C.A., under the direction of Fraser Marshall is doing a good work in their usual way.

The W.C.T.U. Canteen is in charge of Mr. Alfred Charlton of Port Lorne.

(Special to Monitor)

(4 p.m.)

A sad event in the drowning of a lad by the name of Martell in Kelly's
Lily Pond, took place this afternoon.
Owing to the double bottom of this lake it is considered a difficult task to recover the body. The lad falls from Halifax, age sixteen years.

(Aug. 18th, 5 p.m.)

The body of Martell was found in about three feet of water an hour after his disappearance. He did not suck to the surface, his body being sucked down by the muddy bottom.
The drowning of Martell will mean the enforcement of strict regulations in regard to leaving the grounds. No boys will be allowed to cross the lines without special leave of absence.

All but three of the Bear River contingents were sent home on Saturday on account of refusing to submit to the vaccination regulation.

Royal Visit through Valley

sembled to meet their Royal Highnesses. The Royal visitors arrived at 2.45, and conveyed to the band stand, where an address was presented by Mayor Short, to which His Royal Highness replied briefly. An auto ride around town, to the accompaniment of great enthusiasm by the populace, concluded the functions in Nova Scotia, and the Royal party boarded the Earl Grey at the Government pier and sailed at 4.15 p.m. for St. John.

On arrival the Digby battery fired a Royal salute, while a guard of honor, consisting of one hundred men and a military band from the Halifax Garrison under Capt. Howard, were present. Mayor Slater was also present.

The Royal Canadian Regiment Band returned from Digby yesterday morning, having accompanied the Royal party on the tour through the Annapolis Valley. The Band has gone to Petawawa, to go under canvas with the regiment, and will be absent for about a month.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Mr. Geo. C. Hutchinson of Boston, has purchased the Samiel Bent homestead at Granville and fitted it up for a summer home.

The public schools will reopen the second Monday in September. Teachers and pupils are requested to govern themselves accordingly.

Rev. Mr. Lewis of Yarmouth, a former pastor of the church here, had the services in the Baptist church on Sunday last in the absence of Pastor McNeill.

The Town is advertising for a policeman. Mr. George Witham is acting as policeman pending the appointment of a successor to W. E. Connel, who has resigned.

The town health officer, Dr. L. G. DeBlois, has been active in remedying some bad cases of neglect of sanitary conditions during the past week. Are your premises in a healthful condition?

A great many people from Bridgetown attended the celebrations at Annapolis and Digby, in honor of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, the Duchess and Princess Patricia.

The St. James' Church Sunday School picnic is scheduled for Tuesday next, 27th inst, the rendezvous being Hampton. If Tuesday is wet the picnic will take place the first fine day following.

Augustus Watkins, employed on the construction work of the railway at Deep Brook, had both ankles broken by the fall of a railway tie upon them while he was assisting in unloading from a car.

Mr. Beck, Mt. Allison University student, conducted both services at the Providence Methodist church last Sunday. Mr. Dickinson, also a Mt Allison student, was the preacher on the Sunday previous.

On Thursday afternoon and Friday morning the Bridgetown Tennis and Quoit Club will visit Colonial Arms, and compete with visitors there, known as the Colonial Arms Tennis team. On Saturday the local team will probably visit Middleton.

The preacher at the morning services in St. James' church on Sunday next will be the Rev. Wm. Inglis Morse, of Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Morse have been spending the summer vacation with Mr. Morse's parents at Paradise. They will return to Lynn next week.

Mrs. Lea of Port Williams, has sold the farm of the late Mr. H. K. Lea, at that place, to Mr. W. M. Spriggs of Birmingham, Eng. Mr. R. S. Starr will look after the place until Mr. Spriggs is ready to take charge, which will not be probably before next summer.

Probably no class can show a better record than the Grade XI of the Parrsboro High School. Principal Foster had thirteen in this Grade, two of which held only Grade IX certificates. Twelve of these received their Grade XI certificates with aggregates from 657 downward, and the thirteenth one received her Grade X certificate. The average aggregate of the class was over four hundred.

Don't forget Friday afternoon the tea-meeting on the school grounds at Bridgetown, the proceeds of which go to that most deserving object, the Riverside Cemetery Improvement Fund. If wet it will be held in the Methodist vestry, and meals will be served from four to seven o'clock. Come early and spend a pleasant afternoon in the grounds. In addition to the attractions as advertised, there will be the band present to discourse the sweetest of melodies. Given the weather the attendance should be a record one, and to those who may be unable to be present we would suggest that donations in support of the meeting be forwarded to Mrs. Jost or Mrs. Peters at their homes. A hearty welcome awaits all.

Accident to Steamer
"Prince George."

(Yarmouth Herald, Aug. 13.)
Last evening steamer Prince George was delayed from leaving her pier until about nine o'clock on account of the late arrival of the Biuenose and the H. & S. W. trains. It was nearly high water, with a dense fog, strong wind, and the tide was unusually high, some wharves being overflowed. The George proceeded down the channel until she descried a schooner anchored opposite Bunker's Island when her engines were reversed, and she grounded on the eastern flats a short distance above the north light on the island.

Three tugboats answered her calls for help, but she could not be pulled afloat. At high tide this morning efforts were made by three tugs to pull her afloat, but she still remains with her bow upstream, but lying upright. She will be lightered and another attempt made tomorrow. The Arthur will take over the belated passengers this evening.

There was no sailing from Boston this morning for Yarmouth. This is the second time, we understand, in a quarter of a century, that a scheduled sailing by this line has been cancelled.

LATER.—The Prince George was floated and left on her usual trip on Wednesday.

HERE AND HEREAFTER

A well-known minister of religion living in Brooklyn, N.Y., who is notorious for his unceasing efforts to keep himself in the limelight, under the disguise of attempts to deal with great problems sends out to the press of the United States and Canada, using as his mouth piece an organization controlled by him, a request to some pronouncement on the nature of reward or punishment in the world to come. That is to say, how are we to understand those passages of Holy Scripture which refer to the hereafter with language which speaks literally of material things.

The very transparent effort to play to the gallery which is obvious from a glance at the circular sent out will receive no support from that section of the press—much larger than the individual mentioned is probably aware of—which can distinguish clearly between men and issues. But as the wording and general nature of the folder, both highly sensational and misleading—are calculated to cause harm in certain innocent and over-credulous quarters, by placing matters of the greatest moment in the wrong light, it may not be out of place to state, on the authority of those who have in all ages been recognized leaders in the interpretation of the Word of God, what the Bible actually does teach on this important point.

They tell us, as they have always done that, in any effort to understand the message of Holy Scripture, we should bear in mind the fundamental axiom that the truth it conveys is stated in Eastern form. All light, physical, intellectual, moral, spiritual, has come from the east, appearing by divine ordering. The eastern method is to regard men as children of Nature and of God. From the laws, operations and conditions found all about us here in this world where Mother Nature guides as with her care and protection, we are directed to look upward to the wisdom and providence of our Father in Heaven.

In the education of children it is essential that truth should be presented in concrete form, in order to be intelligible. Only in this way, by a slow process, through years of advance, from childhood to mature age, can anyone obtain even a partial grasp of the great truths of life. Love for example, in the growing child, finds its ideal in Mother, and never ceases throughout life to find expression in attachment of various degrees, as life grows stronger and develops.

It has come about in the experience of Christian civilization, that the only way to make "real to the mind of the child the truth that because of the greatest Gift from Heaven to men, the spirit of good-will is abroad at Christmas, is to personify that abstract spirit or influence, which accordingly takes the form of the benevolent personage of our childhood who comes down the chimney and fills our stockings if we are good—otherwise not.

The prospect of a visit from Santa Claus is therefore used as an incentive to good conduct in millions of homes at yule-tide, and the annual commemoration of the birth of the Prince of Peace, Heaven's great gift to mankind, is for all children in the family of God the strongest of all incentives to right living.

The principle of our Lord's parables is just this. A story is told of which the actual literal meaning is unimportant. The point is that under the details of the narrative, generally very ordinary happenings which might have occurred anywhere at any time, there is truth for the regulating of life. If we see nothing more in such a narrative than a mere story, the force of the parable is lost on us.

This applies directly to the many places where the future life is mentioned, and terms the most vigorous and vivid employed to bring home the truth regarding it used. All life in this world is thought of and interpreted in terms of opportunity, which it is ours to neglect or improve. Every stage of life is preparatory to the next, and the whole of our existence here has that relation to the eternal life of the hereafter. In the maturity of our early life we regret bitterly the many wasted opportunities of childhood. In proportion as education is neglected during the years when we can get it in that proportion we are handicapped in the later years of life when we could use it.

Sometimes it is a man's misfortune, sometimes his fault that this is the case. So this whole life here is a period of opportunity for education to fit us for the maturity of the world to come. If we overlook this fact, eternity for us will be remorse. Language is entirely inadequate to describe it because language lags behind in the race for truth, while thought speeds ahead. The best that can be done is to stereotype with the resources at our command and thus make as real and as vivid as possible this truth by the use of such terms as fire, brimstone, etc. We are intended in the design of God for eternal happiness in the next world, but, like Judas, we may by systematic neglect choose, and reach our own place.

In the same way heaven is represented as a celestial city, the new Jerusalem, with gates of pearl, streets of gold, and the broad crystal stream of eternal life, forever issuing out of the Throne of God and of the Lamb. The description is quite inadequate, no doubt, but again language fails to catch up with thought, and only does the best it can. The lonely and rapt St. John, an exile on Patmos, looking out over the wide waste of waters which separated him from his friends, was assured in a vision that in heaven there would be more sea because sea was to him and is to men yet and will continue to be the symbol of separation and separation which with other evils will be forever banished in the glorious unity of the Eternal.

To sum up we are unable to express our thoughts of the next world and what it has in store for us, without using the language of this one. Expression of thought in language is, in this case however, only at the best, a temporary expedient to assist us, in making real the truth which the thought conveys and which struggles for, and to some extent demands, expression. What we are unable to realize, but what we feel nevertheless to be true beyond any words, is that time and space and material things, so indispensable here, will be unknown in the hereafter.

It is important that the organization we referred to at the beginning not only appears to take the material terms used of the future life in Holy Scriptures so seriously, when they are merely suggestive, but apparently assumes that Christianity does to a large extent the same thing. This is a very low estimate of intelligence of students of the Bible. If there is any notion that some important discovery has been made, the sooner it is given up the better. What does seem very clear is that the society which calls itself by the high-sounding name of The International Bible Students' Association, has adopted a title far in advance of anything it seems to have done. There is much hard work and patient investigation ahead before it will be near the stage which the name implies.—Coast Guard.

Change in Medicine Methods.

A week or two ago a distinguished doctor addressing a medical assembly congratulated it on the fact that the "old fashioned" poultice is as dead as the dodo. In fact during the past ten or twenty years the "mother" school of doctoring has altered its methods entirely.

The modern young mother knows that most of the old fashioned home remedies worked on her when she herself was a child, are practically gone.

The poultice is a very striking example. For any pain our mothers used simply to apply poultices whose only merit was that they save the sufferer another pain to think about. The modern mother simply keeps iodine handy and paints it on. Gatherings and boils, too, used to get poulticed. Nowadays the knowing young mother gets some horceicint from the druggist, puts a piece in a clean cloth, pours boiling water on it, and then, after wringing it out as dry as possible, ties it on, putting a bandage of flannel on top of it to keep the warmth in.

Goose grease is another home remedy that our mothers used to keep handy, but which is rapidly disappearing. Many a man still young remembers his mother energetically rubbing this peculiarly nasty stuff into his chest. But if he were a child again, and had a weak chest, the chances are that it would be the oil with which it would be rubbed.

Not many years ago any one afflicted with neuralgia used to be provided, by a sympathetic mother or wife, with small bags of hot salt, to be held against the cheek. But nowadays no one who has ever heard of aspirin would think of using bags of salt again. Aspirin tablets can be obtained at any druggists, and in nine cases out of ten work like a charm.

One of the most deep-seated of home remedies used to be that a sore throat must be wrapped around with a stocking or a piece of red flannel. Why the flannel should be red, or why any wrapping was wanted at all for an internal trouble, nobody knows. Nowadays the mother with a little medical knowledge never wraps anything around a throat at all, and instead of making the child spit honey and vinegar, or black currant jelly, gets in some form of tablets to suck, which not only soothe, but cure.

Burns are always occurring where children are about. The small boy who had burnt his hands fifteen or twenty years ago, used to have a very bad time of it, as the flour or oil his mother used to apply smeared nearly as badly as the burn itself. Flour and oil are quite good in their way, but their only merit was that they kept the air out and gave the burn a chance to heal itself. But the modern mother keeps a rag in a pint of hot water in which a teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda has been put, and wraps them around the smarting pain or laceration. This treatment not only compels the patient to keep the bicarbonate of soda being an antiseptic—but also eases the pain.

Responsibilities of Teachers

(From the Regina Leader.)

Statesmen may frame the policies to preserve and strengthen the Empire. Great soldiers and sea-fighters may protect it, but if the work of the teachers fail, all things else must in time prove vain. They lay foundations on which citizenship is built. They have responsibility in helping to mould character and shape destinies. They do far more than bring to their pupils the knowledge which comes from books and lectures. If their work is poorly done, if they do not teach of the right and honorable and noble—the citizenship of the future must suffer. Their opportunity is splendid. Their responsibility is great. Their tangible reward is slight. But they have the other, and higher reward of being forces for the upbuilding of citizenship with the consequent strengthening of "the best government" and the advancement of those things which are best for the world. It is failure in these things which would be dismal failure.

MENDS BROKEN LEG WITH STEEL BAND AND NAILS.

Doctors in Rare Operations Drive Screws into Bone of Miss Coffin, of Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 7.—Miss Mary Coffin, daughter of William C. Coffin, of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, had a broken leg mended today with a band of steel and some screw nails. The bone, fractured in an automobile accident, would not knit.

Dr. William O'Neill Sherman devised a band of vanadium steel and the screws. With these he fixed the fracture, driving the nails into the bone. These will be left in the injured limb and will cause no effects, Dr. Sherman says.

The operation, according to surgeons who witnessed it, is a revolutionary one in surgery. Its adoption will mean the elimination of deformities due to faulty knitting of bones.

"The plate will be left there permanently," said Dr. Sherman. "The steel is a kind that will cause no irritation and the bone will knit quickly and perfectly." Miss Coffin was driving a guest from the O-lan station to her father's summer home when her machine went over an embankment and rolled on her.

Terrible Explosion of Black Damp and Coal Dust in Lorraine Pit.

Bochum, Germany, Aug. 8.—An explosion of black damp and coal dust this morning in the Lorraine shaft of the coal field in the village of Gerthe, four miles from Bochum, cost the lives of one hundred and three miners, according to the official report. Two others were severely hurt and twenty-three slightly injured. Death was practically instantaneous in all cases.

THE HOME

THE CHILD'S FACIAL EXPRESSION.

Some day give an hour or two to strolling through the streets, looking at the faces of little children, and studying their expression. It will be a wonderful revelation to you, and you will go back to your own wee ones with a new insight, a fresh understanding of many things, perhaps which you had not thought about before.

The face of a healthy child in repose should be soft and rounded. The eyes should be wide open and clear, and able to look straight at you. The shrinking, timid child is seldom strong physically. The forehead should be perfectly smooth, the cheeks plump and pink, the lips softly set and full. No matter how widely diversified the types, if there is any noticeable departure from these general conditions of countenance, something is wrong. And you will see during your stroll that there is something wrong with a great number of little ones.

The first one that met my eyes one morning was a pale-faced little thing, with her forehead puckered to a point in the center. Her arms and legs were as thin as the proverbial pipe-stem. I looked at the mother, and saw that the sensitive little one was simply the reflection of a worried, nervous woman, and photographed the worried, nervous, old look of the mother's face. This mother evidently had little control of her nerves. She was one of those who believe they are doing their duty by providing the child with cleanliness in the home, clean clothing, cooking its meals, washing its face and sending it to school. But the woman forgets her duty when she allows her nerves to fly toward all points of the compass hitting the helpless baby as they go. They mother may see no cause why her child should be delicate, but this is cause enough. Perhaps she has been allowing her child to sip at her tea or coffee. If so, she must stop it. And she must stop drinking these beverages herself until her nerves are built up. The child needs milk, and quantities of it. It needs to abstain from sweetmeats of all kinds. It needs to live out of doots, and not go to school too early. And it needs that mother be calm and quiet, brooding and sweet.

Another little child has a dark, sallow complexion, with rings under its eyes. It needs, madam, to be restrained in the quantity of food which it eats, and to be given ripe fruit and vegetables as a dietary, with little or no meat, and no stimulants or condiments. It needs a great deal of merriment in its home. Here is a bonny lassie abnormally fat. The cause immediately presents itself. She carries in one hand an ice-cream cone, in the other a half-eaten cake. But eats with such evident enjoyment that it seems a shame to say, good mother, that you must check the young lady's alimentiveness. But you must positively stop her eating between meals. You must provide her with violent exercise such as daily tennis playing and long walks and hill-climbing. You must keep her mind occupied with studies, and away from her little "tummy."

Another child has a sly, furtive expression on his thin little face. He never looks at you directly, and seems constantly peering about to find some forbidden outlet for his energies. He does not look healthy in mind or body. Some good parent has contracted the habit of restraining this child's physical activities, depriving him too constantly, and forbidding him the things which he wants to do and to have. Do you ever stop to consider why you prohibit certain pleasures and activities to your little one? Are you sure that your prohibitions are perfectly sane and just not merely selfish? This child has found such a wide discrepancy between that which he wants to do and that which you allow him to do that he is taking his pleasures furtively. He is lying to you, and disobeying you. Loosen the tight rein you are holding upon him, and gain his confidence. Let him once see that you are not an embodied forbidding frown, and you will get it. You can buy new furniture and new clothing to replace that which your child wears out in his gambols, but you cannot buy the child himself a new character if you deform the one which he now possesses.

Mr. W. S. Gunealus, a farmer living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by druggists and dealers.

TO USE LATE RHUBARB.

Rhubarb jam or jelly to be kept for future use is best made in August, as the juice then will thicken a great deal better than that from the spring rhubarb. Pick a bundle of stalks, wash, and wipe them dry, but do not peel them. Cut into small pieces, weigh, to each pound of rhubarb, add half a cup of water, and let it simmer until the juice is extracted. Strain through fine muslin or cheese cloth, measure the juice, and allow a pound of sugar to a pint of juice. Put the juice on in an enamelled pan and let it simmer until it begins to thicken on the edge, then add the sugar previously warmed in the oven, and let it simmer until it "jellies" when dropped on a cool plate. Remove the scum carefully, turn the jelly into glasses that are fresh from the scalding water, and let stand until cold and firm. Pour melted paraffin over the top, cover with paper, and keep in a cool, dark closet.

An appetizing rhubarb preserve is made as follows:—Choose red stalks, wipe them clean, and cut into small pieces, removing the strings. Weigh the rhubarb and to each pound allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Put the sugar and rhubarb into a large bowl, stir them together and leave overnight. Strain off the syrup into preserving pan, bruise some root ginger tie it loosely in a piece of muslin and put into the pan with the sugar. An ounce of ginger to four pounds of rhubarb is sufficient. Heat the syrup to boiling point, boil up for two or three minutes, then pour hot over the rhubarb in the bowl and set aside in a cool place till next day. Then turn into the preserving pan and boil stirring occasionally but carefully so that the rhubarb will not be mashed. When the pieces look clear and the syrup thick remove the ginger, and seal the jam in glass or porcelain jars.

Chronic or recurring ill-health is often due to what may be an unworthy satisfying of a craving of the appetite. When any food, drink or stimulant cannot be resisted, and it is known to have a deleterious effect upon the system because of its qualities or the quantities in which it is used, it is time to expunge it entirely from the dietary. But nothing will be accomplished in this direction until we cease to deceive ourselves as to what is and what is not good for us, not allowing desire to blind the judgment. Go into the matter of correcting your wrong habits, not with a mournful sense of self-sacrifice but with the same pleasure with which you would enter a game, determined to win. You will begin to find a certain satisfaction in the exercise of mental and moral muscle, and in feeling the fiber of mastery over your own being. And so responsive is the system to any change given it to recuperate itself that you will begin to feel an immediate influx of new, clean-cut energies. The acquisition of good habits is not a formidable task, if a little attention be given to their regular and intelligent practice in time. And the practice of modification and regularity should not be limited to eating and drinking alone but should be applied in all of the exigencies of living.

A GOOD WORD FOR CHOCOLATE. Chocolate, as an agency for temperance, is doing much to destroy the appetite for intoxicating liquors inasmuch as it furnishes a wholesome substitute. Many saloon-keepers (so I am told) are serving hot chocolate across the bar today, who, a short time ago scoffed at the idea. Men who do not patronize the bar and who, a few years ago would not be seen at a soda fountain, are now the best customers the fountain has for hot or cold chocolate. The trade in this beverage is growing to such an extent, I am told, that the fountain men now purchase the chocolate in wholesale quantities. The wife, desirous of breaking the husband of the drink habit, no longer drops some mysterious substance into his coffee, but gives him a cup of well-prepared chocolate or cocoa.

MENDED HER SPINE WITH WIRE. New York, Aug. 2.—Mrs. Mary Marino, of No. 19 Orchard street, Orange N. J., who is in the Orange Memorial Hospital, broke her spine more than two months ago in a fall down stairs. Instead of using a plaster cast, usually resorted to, when a spine is fractured, Dr. Edward Calvin Seibert performed an unusual operation by reinforcing the fractured vertebrae with fine wire. The surgeons who are watching the case said yesterday that Mrs. Marino was able to move her legs and feet. Her recovery is now almost complete.

The British Coal strike has focused the attention of engineers on discovering some substitute fuel which shall be easily obtainable, and as cheap, or cheaper all over the world. A Swedish engineer has discovered a means of burning peat in locomotives as economically and as satisfactorily as coal, and other engineers are busy perfecting systems of burning crude oil. Petroleum is obtainable in nearly all parts of the world, and it is confidently expected that within a short time commerce will be independent of coal.

HAY FEVER.

Hay-fever is a nervous disease, and acid conditions throughout the body irritate the nerves and intensify the suffering. Everything must be done which will tend to reduce and overcome these conditions.

Cut out all nerve stimulants and irritants like tea, coffee, alcoholics and all acid drinks, vinegar and pickles. Let your dietary be of the simplest meats once a day or none at all; avoid all acid fruits. If you can obtain some good alkaline mineral table-water, drink it freely, if not then a heaping teaspoonful of Rochelle salts in a half tumbler of water, once a day preferably in the morning, is an excellent substitute. Keep the bowels free. Do not allow yourself to overwork, and above all, don't worry.

Take a cool-water bath with a little salt in every morning on rising, or on retiring if you prefer, but don't neglect it, for the skin must be kept in active and tonic condition. Do you realize that the mucous membrane of the bronchi is but an extension or continuation of the skin? Anything which will increase the health of the skin will help the irritable mucous membrane to withstand the assaults of the hay-fever irritants. Intermittent use of the cool baths is of little value and may do harm. Those who form the habit of cool water bathing grow in vigor and strength and power of resistance to colds and catarrhs and their attendant dangers.

Outdoor or fresh air exercise is most important. Strong and healthy muscles mean strong and healthful nerves. Fresh air at all times means more oxygen in the lungs, better blood, better health.—Hayes Institute.

WHEN SOMEBODY FAINTS

If somebody faints, this is what to do. If due to the effect of bad air in a close room or the shock of hearing bad news, loosen the clothing of the patient, sprinkle cold water on the face and chest, put a cloth, wet in very cold water, at the back of the neck, and lay the patient down with the head slightly lowered. If the victim happens to be sitting on a chair or has fallen back upon one in an insensible condition, grasp the back of the chair down near the seat and tip it back slowly until the head is well lowered and the lower limbs elevated. This treatment and sufficient fresh air will, as a rule, restore consciousness quickly. It may be wise to administer a stimulant such as aromatic spirits of ammonia, if obtainable; twenty drops in a tablespoonful of water is a dose, which should be repeated in ten minutes, if necessary.—Dr. Chas. Williams, in Woman's Home Companion.

INDIVIDUAL LOCAL PRIDE.

Nowhere does individual effort count more than in improving the appearance of a town. If every citizen would consider himself a committee of one to help beautify his home the question of a clean, attractive city would be settled. Too often one man waits for another, or individuals wait for some organization for the town authorities to move first, with the result that little is done. It requires no committee or organization for a man to sweep the sidewalk or trim the grass on the roadside in front of his house, keep the lawn, house and garden neat, to remove pots and pans, broken bottles and other rubbish from the back yard but it all helps to make the town more beautiful. One trouble is that here and there is a man who is too indifferent or too indolent to do these things, and one such man can mar the beauty of a whole neighborhood.

Another trouble is found in vacant lots. It is the owner's place to keep the weeds down and it is to his interest, but generally he fails to do it, and the lot is given over to weeds and rubbish. What is needed is local pride on the part of the individual and a general public spirit that will not tolerate disfigurements.—Exchange.

In rebuilding their destroyed churches in Regina, after the cyclone, the Presbyterians and Methodists of that city are seriously considering Church Union and are determined not to overlap each other's work in any scheme of rebuilding.—Ex.

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured Him

ST. STEPHEN, N.B., Jan. 17th, 1911. "I wish to tell you of the great good "Fruit-a-lives" have done for me. For years, I was a martyr to Chronic Constipation and Stomach Trouble. I was greatly run down and my friends feared I had Consumption. I tried numerous doctors and all kinds of medicines, but received no relief until advised to try "Fruit-a-lives" by Mr. McCready of St. Stephen, and am pleased to say that I now enjoy excellent health. "Fruit-a-lives" are the best medicine made, and I strongly advise my friends to use them".

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION AT PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAYTI.

Four Hundred Persons Killed or Injured.—When the Powder Magazine Exploded, Every House in City Shook Violently.

Port-Au-Prince, Hayti, Aug. 8.—At 3.15 this morning a formidable explosion shook violently every house in the city and caused all the population to rush into the streets. Every body rushed toward the National Palace where it was found that the powder magazine had blown up. A few minutes afterwards the Palace itself which was built of wood, and had been badly shattered by the shock, caught on fire and was destroyed.

SERIES OF EXPLOSIONS. During the fire a great number of explosions succeeded one another, caused by the enormous quantities of ammunition which had been stored in the cellars below the Palace, and these presented the large force of firemen who had been quickly called, and the population which was endeavoring to help, from fighting the flames.

MANY HOUSES DAMAGED. All the houses around the Palace were greatly damaged by the explosion, but as the Palace itself was isolated, the firemen succeeded in their efforts to localize the fire. The force of the explosion was such that it projected a number of small cannon to a distance of over two hundred yards.

PRESIDENT PERISHED. The members of the family of the President, all of whom were in the Palace at the time, were saved, but President Leconte himself was not seen again, having perished in the flames.

It is feared by many of our farmers that the wet weather which has continued for three weeks past, with only an occasional dry day will seriously injure the potato crop. Blight caused by wet ground and damp atmosphere, has already appeared in some places in the Valley. A considerable quantity of hay has also been hurt, or wholly spoiled, says a Kings County exchange.
