GOLD KING MADE THE SCENE OF A SERIOUS DISASTER

Six are Dead, Eight More May Die, Many Others Suffer, from Effects of Gases in the Mine Following a Fire

SILVERTON, Colo., June 8—Six men are dead, eight others in a critical condition from breathing foul air, and thirty more are temporarily confined to their homes by gas poisoning suffered in the Gold King Mine at Gladstone.

Thursday night fire destroyed the engine house of the mine and also the shaft house. Two buildings were near the doors of the main shaft and to prevent the spread of the flames and smoke to the workings of the mine, these doors were closed temporarily. The men working the night shift in the mine were informed of the conditions on the surface and instructed to withdraw. When the flames had cleared the atmosphere in the elevator shaft so that but little discomfort was felt. Soon after a score or more of rescuers had entered the mine, some of those last in appeared at the foot of the elevator shaft, carrying the unconscious forms of miners who had succumbed to the noxious air. Later a party reached the surface, bringing the dead body of Victor Erickson, and the almost lifeless bodies of John Sunston and Otto Johnson, the three men whose absence caused the necessity for rescue work. The others were of the rescuers party.

Gold King mine, mentioned in the above despatch, is largely owned by New Brunswick and Maine, the head office of the company being at Waterville, Me. In the past Gold King has gone through those periods of misfortune and uncertainty such as meet many such undertakings, but of late it has come to the road of prosperity, and has been profitably operated. Capt. E. C. Elkin, one of the directors of the company, speaking to the Star today, expressed the deepest regret over the loss of life noted in the disaster. As to the effect of the fire, Capt. Elkin believed it would be only a temporary setback, and that in a few days work would be resumed as usual. So far as he knew about one hundred men were employed at Gold King.

EMPEROR NICHOLAS GOES TO MEET KING EDWARD

Makes Journey to Reval by Rail Instead of by Boat—Calm Weather Prevails.

REVAL, June 8—The Russian Imperial yacht Polar Star, Standard and Tarevanna escorted by a fleet of torpedo boat destroyers, under command of Rear Admiral Von Essen, arrived in the roadstead here early this morning. The Standard during the day will accompany the yacht Emperor Nicholas and other members of the imperial family, accompanied by a numerous suite, will embark from the imperial train which is due to arrive from St. Petersburg, at 7 o'clock on the morning of June 8. The train will be met by the yacht and the yacht will be closed by troops.

As soon as the imperial party has embarked, the yacht will proceed to sea to meet the British Royal yacht Albert, which has King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria and a large suite on board.

The change in the plans of the Emperor's party is being made by the local population and the effects of the storm which has been prevailing in the Gulf of Finland for several days, was not felt here and the meeting of the two monarchs will not be attended by the discomforts of a rough sea.

PENSION OFFICE EMPLOYEE HELD OFF THE POLICE

Insane Clerk Fired Revolver Shots in all Directions—Took Dose of Cocaine and Killed Himself.

WASHINGTON, June 8—After holding the police at bay for six hours Mr. Joseph Pospisil, an employee of the pension office, shot himself through the brain yesterday while insane.

Laboring under a delusion that an attempt was being made to murder him, he fired at pedestrians, and at the homes of his neighbors and at the police. Altogether he fired about 30 shots, and revolvers, the Chicago men came before arming himself, Pospisil passed his three little children through the windows to persons in the adjoining house. When he shot himself, Pospisil was sitting in the second story window of his home. He first rolled up his sleeve and injected cocaine into his arm and then fired the fatal shot. He plunged forward to the ground and died on the way to the hospital.

BOURASSA THE CENTRE OF ALL EXCITEMENT

Small Vote Being Polled in Quebec Elections

Six or Seven of the Montreal Seats Will Remain Liberal—Several Changes Predicted.

MONTREAL, June 8—There is little excitement today in the elections. Except in the case of St. James Division, where Gouin and Bourassa are fighting, there is a small vote. In St. James, however, there will be 5,000 votes cast and the outlook is that Gouin is likely to get a majority of 300, chiefly through the fact that he is getting his men to the polls. St. Lawrence is likely to change color this time. Geo. V. Stephens was the member. Aid. Clearhouse, Conservative, has all the organization of the city hall at his back, while the Liberal man, Dr. Finnie, is personally unpopular and has little organization.

HAMILTON HAS AN ELECTION SCANDAL

HAMILTON, Ont., June 8.—What promises to be one of the most sensational election scandals in the history of Hamilton came to light yesterday, when Col. A. H. Moore, returning officer of the riding of West Hamilton, made an application to Crown Attorney Washington, for the arrest of a man, alleged to have violated the election act.

Recently she wrote to the Northern Life Assurance Company, Toronto, to try and get the insurance of $100. Mr. John Miller, agent of the company replied that the policy had been paid to Zeliger's mother, as Zeliger had died on November 3, 1905, of inflammation of the bowels, was attended by Dr. Sands, and was buried in Queen's Cemetery by Undertaker R. J. Reid.

SEVERAL WERE SHOT IN A FIGHT IN OKLAHOMA

EUFULA, Okla., June 8—In the fight between fifteen Checotah residents of Eufaula yesterday on the streets, P. M. Woods, deputy constable, and Joseph Palmer, of Checotah, were shot. Woods probably will die. He was shot once through the body. Palmer's wound is not serious. The trouble started when Constable Woods attempted to disarm Palmer. About fifteen shots were fired in all. With rifles and revolvers, the Checotah men came to Eufaula to remove the county state records by force. The county clerk is said to have furnished them the keys of the court house. Eufaula citizens were armed to prevent the removal before a temporary injunction had been granted by the court.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 8.—What promises to be one of the most sensational election scandals in the history of Hamilton came to light yesterday, when Col. A. H. Moore, returning officer of the riding of West Hamilton, made an application to Crown Attorney Washington, for the arrest of a man, alleged to have violated the election act.

The documents and the admitted facts indicate that Harry Dillabaugh, a poll clerk for Horace Tyler, one of the deputy returning officers appointed to conduct the election in West Hamilton, went to see W. S. McLaughlin, a chairman of the Liberal party in the fifth ward, on Saturday, and offered to sell a package of fifty ballots bearing the stamp of the returning officer, Col. Moore. McLaughlin agreed to see him on Sunday, and at once told the Liberal candidate of the corrupt offer made. He also notified the police of the proposed interview and its purpose so that the law could be set in motion.

MEET HEAVY WEATHER IN THE OCEAN YACHT RACE

The Dervish, Winner in Class B, Arrived at Bermuda About Midnight—All Boats Report a Hard Time

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 8.—The schooner yacht Dervish, owned by Commodore Henry Morse, of the Corinthian Yacht Club, has won the ocean race from Marble Head to Hamilton in Class B. She finished at 12:40 o'clock this morning. None of the competitors in her class was in sight at daylight. The sloop Marchioness, owned by John P. Crozier, of the Yachting Association of Philadelphia, crossed the finishing line here at 8:25 o'clock Sunday morning, 5 hours and 31 minutes after the Venona, owned by George E. Bliss, of the Eastern Yacht Club, Boston, the winner of the race in Class C. All three boats report that heavy weather was met with nearly all the way along the course. The feature of this year's race was the almost continuous weather which was especially severe when the boats were nearing the islands, and the crew of the Venona in getting wet to the eastward, which enabled her to make the finish first. The Dervish was carried by a strong southwesterly wind to the south of Nantuxet shoals and as a result of the heavy winds in the Gulf stream, which she reached at 10 o'clock Friday morning. It took her twenty hours to cross. She finished St. David's at 8:30 o'clock on Sunday night and brought up to the finish mark twenty minutes after midnight. Commodore Morse, owner of the Dervish, was surprised by the work done by the Venona and the Marchioness. In the first day's run the Dervish beat the Venona half down, and lost sight of her off Cape Cod. The Commodore said that a strong southwest wind prevailed for the first two days, but that it was fairly calm on Friday for a few hours. On the first two days she made daily runs of 112 and 118 miles. The boat met with no accident and proved to have excellent heavy sea qualities. The Dervish's official elapsed time was 109 hours, 26 minutes and 45 seconds. The Marchioness anchored in St. George harbor until morning and the Dervish had off until daylight. She then sailed to Hamilton where she was followed by the Marchioness. The weather this morning is more moderate and the wind still from the east. The other two boats in the race, the Esperanza and the Zuhrah, had not been sighted up to 9 o'clock this morning. This year's race was a very hard one on all the members of the three boats which have finished so far were very weary on reaching here.

HUNGRY MOOSE ARE FEEDING IN MONCTON

Fight With Householders for Grass in the Yards Many Fine Animals are Daily Seen Around the City and Along the I. C. R. Line.

MONCTON, N. B., June 8.—If moose are plentiful in the forests during the game season as they are reported to be at the present time, New Brunswick will this year more than ever be a paradise for sportsmen. Along the northern line of the I. C. R. not a day passes that some wandering monarch of the forest is not viewed from the car windows or sighted by the engineer, and moose have been seen on several occasions within the city limits. Particularly on the outskirts of the city report that on several occasions moose have been seen feeding in the fields with the cows. Yesterday morning the engineer on a shunter in the west end of the I. C. R. yard saw four fine large moose feeding on the marsh within a few hundred yards of the railway and well inside the city limits. Last week an I. C. R. driver saw a train approaching Red Pine, just north of Newcastle, saw four moose together feeding in a field a fence near the track. Another engineer on the western division of the I. C. R. between St. John and Moncton, reports an exciting race with a moose recently. The animal dashed along beside the train keeping on even terms with the train for some distance. On a recent morning an I. C. R. brakeman came near being run down by a moose at Donouche Jct. He had gone out to turn a switch when a big bull moose jumped across the track in front of him within a few feet. Water, Bog, between Kent Jct. and Rogersville, is a favorite place for moose and deer, and the sight of three or four big animals disporting themselves there.

When A. Metcalf, an employe of the water department, went home one morning last week, he found a bull moose and a cow moose feeding in his yard. The moose on Metcalf's appearance showed fight but Metcalf managed to get to the house and sprang the door.

REV. DR. SPRAGUE BIDS GOOD-BY TO CENTENARY

Severs His Connection This Week

Departing Pastor Refers to a Memorable Conference—

Rev. Howard Sprague, D.D., who this week severs his connection with the century Methodist church, bids farewell to the congregation of the church at the close of last evening's sermon.

Dr. Sprague said that he supposed many were present who had expected him in his sermon to make some reference to the fact that he stood in that pulpit for the last time as pastor. However, he never in his life had preached a funeral sermon. He was so constituted that it was absolutely impossible for him to do so.

There were few in the congregation, he thought, who could remember the conference of 1868 held in old Cemetery Church. He had been present at that conference and the occasion was marked in his mind by the fact that the pastor of the church at the time had been sent out from England by the Wesleyan conference of that country. There were also present on the occasion of which he spoke, several clergymen belonging to the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States, one of whom, Dr. Wm. Butler, had recently returned from missionary work in India and had been in the country during the Sepoy Rebellion.

The occasion of his saying what he did to the congregation, said Dr. Sprague, was unique. It marked the termination of a full pastoral term in the church, the beginning of a new pastoral term and in the ordinary course of events the end of all communication with the people in the capacity of minister of the gospel. His first pastorate had been from 1876 to 1878, the second from 1883 to 1889, the third and last from 1893 to 1898.

Memories of the days of his early work in the church were numerous and pleasant, but many of those whom he had known had gone to join the great congregation in the better land. Dr. Sprague had made most pleasant reference to his lifelong intimacy with Judge Tuck. It had been his pleasure in his younger days, he said, to spend many delightful hours in the home of a young lawyer of St. John— one who in after years recited the highest honor that it was possible for his native province to bestow upon him. That person all through his life had been one of the most regular attendants at the services of the church.

Dr. Sprague closed his remarks by thanking the members of the congregation, the quarterly official board and the choir for the pleasant relations that had always existed between himself and them.

The last sermon of Dr. Sprague's pastorate was on the subject God, Love, and was preached from Romans, 8:35: "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

On Friday evening the quarterly official board of the church presented Dr. Sprague with the following resolutions: "Whereas the Rev. Howard Sprague, D. D., having been appointed to the position of dean of the theological faculty of the University of Mount Allison, is about to withdraw from the pastorate of this church, he is resolved that the quarterly official board, desirous of expressing the feeling of the members and adherents of the Centenary church, hereby place upon historic record in the minutes of this meeting their sincere appreciation of the high value of the services of the Rev. Dr. Sprague in the three periods during which he has held the superintendency of the church."

"During his first pastorate with us, beginning July, 1876, occurred the great fire which, consuming a large portion of the city, swept away our church building. Through his faithful and energetic efforts in England and elsewhere was received a considerable part of the money spent in the erection of our present church. Again in July, 1889, he was called to preside over us, and for three additional years rendered brilliant and highly valued service. And now, since July, 1898, our people have been enjoying the fruits of his matured and ripened intellect. During all these years he has been true to the trust committed to him and his sermons, while of clear and simple expression, have also been of a character so high as to be best appreciated by the most refined and acute minds.

In clear, logical analysis, in solving of doubt, in defense and illumination of the truth, these discourses have been regarded by our congregation as of superior and eminent excellence.

The regard and esteem of our people have been manifested to Dr. Sprague by resolution and in other ways from time to time, and he now leaves us with the high respect and cordial good-will of every member of the church and congregation, and with our best wishes for his success in the important position he is about to assume, and for the health, prosperity and happiness of himself, Mrs. Sprague and family in the coming years.

Earlier in the week Mrs. Sprague was presented by the Women's Missionary Society of the church with some pieces of china as a token of the society's regard for her.

Time is money, but we can't pay our debts with money. A fighting chance is all the average woman requires.

GRATIFYING REPORTS AND FORGIBLE ADDRESSES MARK FOURTH CONVENTION OF 7TH DISTRICT UNITED BAPTISTS

The fourth annual convention of the seventh district United Baptists opened in the Fairville United Baptist church on Saturday afternoon, Rev. M. E. Fletcher presiding.

The afternoon was taken up with routine work, appointment of committees and the reading of church letters. Out of twenty-eight churches twenty-three sent in reports. These reports showed that the total amount of money raised was $15,450, a gratifying increase over last year. In the past year there have been 94 additions to the churches, but on a more careful review of the church roll it was found that there had been 229 removals. The present membership is 1,237.

The church property consists of 26 meeting houses, valued at $69,400, and parsonages valued at $13,150, making a total of near $83,000.

During the year ten ministers were ordained, who receive $7,200. Two of the ministers are licensed and are preaching in the district.

During the year money was raised as follows: For church property and improvements, $5,670; for denominational purposes, $180; by Sunday school missions and the Women's Missionary and Young People's Society, $2,200.

Twenty Sunday schools in the district presented their reports. The number of scholars enrolled in 1,710, with an average attendance of 1,055. There are 200 officers and teachers. During the year 44 of the scholars have been baptized and united with the church. The Sunday school alone has raised $22,000.

The evening session was devoted to foreign missions and was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society, Mrs. A. C. Smith, the president, occupied the chair. Two stirring addresses were given by Rev. W. Camp, pastor of Leinster street church and president of the Foreign Mission Board. His subject was "The Principle on Which Our Foreign Mission Work Rests." It was a forcible presentation of the subject.

Mr. Camp was followed by Rev. E. W. Kelly, a returned missionary from Burma, who spoke of the needs of the heathen nations and the soundness of the work already accomplished. Excellent music was furnished by the choir.

On Sunday three sessions were held. In the morning the annual session was presided by the Rev. W. C. Gouger of St. Stephen, from the text, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." The afternoon session was devoted to Sunday school work. A fine address was delivered by J. N. Harvey of the Portland Methodist Church, which was followed by a helpful discussion.

In the evening the session was devoted to home missions. The speakers were Dr. W. B. McIntyre, superintendent of home missions, and T. S. Simons. The first speaker showed the needs of the destitute field in New Brunswick and also pointed out the steps being taken to care for these needy fields.

Mr. Simons, who is chairman of the New Brunswick committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, explained the inception of the movement, which is sweeping through the Protestant churches of Christendom and showed what the movement proposed to accomplish.

The meetings will be continued today and will close with a temperance mass meeting to be addressed by the Rev. Dr. W. C. Kierstead of Woodstock. Several of the city pulpits were occupied by the visiting clergy on Sunday.

SATURDAY BUSY DAY FOR THE CABINET; IMPORTANT MEASURES TO BE CONSIDERED THIS WEEK

OTTAWA, June 7.—The cabinet spent a busy day on Saturday, holding three sittings of the council, morning, afternoon and evening. The list of supplementary estimates for the present session will be presented and carefully revised. They will probably be presented to the Commons early this week. Owing to the long continued blocking of supply this session it has been found that many of the public works originally contemplated for the year will have to be postponed and consequently curtailed from the original draft. According to present indications by the time the supply bill is passed it will be too late in the session to do much beyond merely making a start on the public works provided for in the estimates for the year. And unless the opposition cease their obstructive tactics very soon, work will have to be stopped on most of the public buildings, etc., now under erection. Contractors on such work which opens up the country are now daily applying to the public works department for payments due on work already underway, but no funds are available in the department.

The government measure to extend the boundaries of Manitoba will be brought down during the week. It is understood the bill will provide for an extension of the boundaries of "the province of Manitoba" so as to make it practically symmetrical with the other prairie provinces. The present boundaries of the province of Manitoba will be extended northward to the Churchill river and then follow the middle of the province of Ontario and Quebec; and ready for the extension of their boundaries northward to take in the balance of Keewatin and the territory of Unagava the further extension of boundaries will be made.

The board of conciliation appointed to settle the dispute between the Ottawa Electric Railway Company and its employees has brought in an award which contains an increase of one and a half cents per hour for the present year, a further increase of one cent per hour for the following year, and an increase of another cent in 1910. The men are now getting seventeen cents per hour, but will also allow an increase of two cents per hour for Sunday labor.

FREDERICTON, June 7.—Today was the hottest of the season, the mercury at 2 o'clock registering 86 in the shade. A cool breeze prevailed the entire day, so the heat was not oppressive.

RETURNS TO MONTREAL. MONTREAL, June 7.—The True Imperialism was the subject of an eloquent and able address by Principal Fitzsimon of McGill before the Montreal Canadian Club Saturday night. At the close he spoke briefly in support of the Quebecan nationalist movement, urging the members of the Canadian Club to take a part in making this a national work. Dr. Peterson left on the Maritime for Montreal.

A husband and five children survive. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, in the church at Kirkhill Cemetery, Rev. Frank Baird officiating.

Mrs. Andrews was twice married, her former husband being a Mr. Duncan, engineer on the Central Railway, who was killed a few years ago by his engine going through a bridge.

S.S. LADY EILEEN A TOTAL WRECK

DALHOUSIE, N. B., June 7.—A despatch received at noon today from one of the passengers who left here yesterday morning by steamer Lady Eileen for Newport, conveys the intelligence that the vessel is a total wreck on Newport Island and that the passengers and crew were safely landed.

Newport is about one hundred miles from Dalhousie and is a difficult harbor to approach during certain winds. This smart little vessel left the port of Campbellton and Dalhousie at her usual hour Saturday morning with a full cargo of freight and several passengers for Bay Chaleur and Gaspe ports, in charge of Captain McPherson of Port Daniel, P. Q. Yesterday was the hottest day of the season in the Bay Chaleur section and it blew a gale of warm wind in the afternoon. The gale grew so strong as the steamer approached the gulf that in entering Newport harbor she was blown against the island and struck so heavily upon the rocks that she soon filled with water. The Lady Eileen was a fine steamship, built by the company of Campbellton, Dalhousie, Bonaventure and Gaspe citizens. She was built in Glasgow, Scotland, expressly for the Bay Chaleur and Gaspe coast service, at a cost of $60,000. She is well insured.

The annual grant from the Dominion government to this service is $12,000. It is probable the company will acquire or build a much larger and more convenient boat for this route, which is fast growing in importance.

SATURDAY'S AUCTIONS.

At Chubb's Corner on Saturday the New Brunswick Woolen Mills at Golden Grove were sold at auction by auctioneer Frank L. Potts to A. A. Wilson for $1,800 to satisfy a mortgage of $2,000 by William Crawford. The property, formerly known as the Willis Woolen Mills, was purchased some years ago by William Crawford and Mackin and other parties for about $5,000. Mr. Wilson is understood to be acting for a client. It is rumored that the property will be resold.

The power boat Hobo, owned by J. J. Morrissette, was sold by Auctioneer T. Lantieri, for $165.

Five shares of Bank of New Brunswick stock realized 14 1/2 a share. Mr. Potts sold about one hundred and twenty building lots on the Sandy Point road near the Isolation Hospital which were offered for sale by the municipality. The sum realized was $11,312, which is regarded as very satisfactory by members of the building committee.

The prices realized from $49 to $88, according to location. The buyers were P. McCart, lots 1 and 2, E. Bates, lots 4 and 5, A. H. H. Pickett, lots 6 and 7, A. J. King Kelly, lots 8 and 9; John A. Davidson, lots 10 and 11; and K. Pederson, lots 12 to 15; A. McGoldrick, lots 17 to 18.

No. 10 on the plan was a two acre lot adjoining the old deaf and dumb institution, and failed to reach the reserve price of $100. Three other lots also failed to attract buyers.

FEAST OF PENTECOST OBSERVED YESTERDAY

Yesterday was the great church feast of Pentecost or Whitsunday. In the Cathedral pontifical high mass was celebrated at 11 o'clock by His Excellency Bishop Casey, with Rev. W. J. Holland as high priest; Rev. A. W. Moahan, deacon; Rev. M. J. O'Brien, sub-deacon; Rev. D. O'Keefe, master of ceremonies. The sermon of the day was preached by Father O'Keefe, who spoke eloquently on the Feast of the Day. At the close his lordship gave the papal benediction.

In the afternoon at 3:15 o'clock Bishop Casey celebrated pontifical vespers. There were also the rosary and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

In the evening the monthly meeting of the Holy Name Society took place at the home of Mrs. M. J. Conway. The time allowed for the making of the Easter duty ends on that day.

FOUGHT FIRE WITH MILK

Bucket Brigade Worked Hard to Save Reeve Pullin's House. WOODSTOCK, June 5 - The fine brick residence of Reeve Wm. Pullin, of West Oxford township, at Folders's Corner, was badly damaged by fire this morning early. Fire caught from an open stove in the kitchen and spread very rapidly. Neighbors and men from the cheese factory nearby came quickly and the flames were energetically fought by a bucket brigade, using water, milk and yeast as materials. The whole interior of the house was burned out and most of the furniture was destroyed, but the services of the volunteer brigade prevented total destruction. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

SHE DIDN'T ACCEPT

A little episode of a greatly delighted Calve, the famous prima donna. She was being escorted over a famous grotto when she suddenly thought of an opera and burst into song, to which the boy who was her guide listened with much satisfaction. When she stopped he seriously remarked, "If you asked the proprietor whether you might sing in here while the people are being shown over I think he would pay you well." "How much do you think he would give me?" asked the prima donna, entering thoroughly into the spirit of the adventure. After thinking carefully the boy replied, "About 5 francs a day."

FARMER BROKE HIS NECK

ATBURN, N. B., June 6 - The dead body of Frank Furbush, aged 49 years, a farmer who lived alone on College Road, Lovatton, was found beside his wagon at 12:45 this late today. The man's neck was broken and it is believed he met his death by tumbling from his wagon when alighting.

EVERY WOMAN

Between a democratic form of government and a democratic sentiment there may, however, be a great gulf. Fixed democratic sentiments are multi-form and some, it may be, thrive best under the Republic of France, or in Switzerland. Unluckily, I have never yet been in the United States, where a sect of equality from top to bottom

REMARKABLE MEMORIES OF SOME NOTED MEN

Never to have forgotten anything he had ever known or read, and the same is told by Hugo, Grotius, Leibnitz, and Euler. Both know the whole of Virgil's Aeneid by heart. And we have all read how the Athenian Themiocles knew the name of every one of the twenty thousand citizens of Athens. The great critic, Joseph Scaliger, is pronounced by Sir William Hamilton to be the most learned man that the world has ever seen. His knowledge was certainly prodigious. He used to say to himself that he had a bad memory, but that his good sense, which he could not learn by heart as fast as he could wish, but when he once knew a thing he never forgot it. This good man with his bad memory complains that it took him twenty-one days to learn three lines of Homer by heart; he had to devote three months in learning in like manner the whole of the remaining Greek poets, and that in two years he succeeded in getting by heart the whole of the range of classical authors. And this is what he calls a bad memory!

EXTRAORDINARY FEAT.

The most extraordinary feat of memory is one which Sir William Hamilton believes to be true without doubt, cited by him from the geographer, Maréchal, who witnessed it and had it solemnly attested by four Venetian noblemen. Maréchal, in Padua, he met a young Corsican who had gone thither to pursue his studies, but who must have succeeded in getting by heart the whole of the range of classical authors. And this is what he calls a bad memory!

A TRICK ON VOLTAIRE

The French critic, La Motte, is said to have played the same trick on Voltaire. When quite a young author, he once brought a tragedy, which he had just composed to read over to the great author. "It is all very beautiful," said La Motte, "but the second scene of the fourth act is copied word for word, from a previous author," and in proof he recited every line of the scene without changing a word. Voltaire declared his indignation at the trick, and in proof he brought a tragedy, which he had just composed to read over to the great author. "It is all very beautiful," said La Motte, "but the second scene of the fourth act is copied word for word, from a previous author," and in proof he recited every line of the scene without changing a word. Voltaire declared his indignation at the trick, and in proof he brought a tragedy, which he had just composed to read over to the great author.

MEANING OF DEMOCRACY IN MODERN TIMES

The following article by Mr. Birrell was contributed to the twenty-fifth anniversary number of the New York Times. "Time was in the modern world the word 'democracy' and 'democracy' as founders of dynasties of kings and emperors and the hearts of the brave men and fair women while in the ears of others equally brave and perhaps more so, they rang exultant as summons to battle. Today it is otherwise. For its democracy is no longer a word of power, but a word of weakness, to tell the truth, have become sadly dubious.

EXPENSIVE FAILURES.

Our Churchmen, as rulers, being hopelessly discredited by the unbroken testimony of history, and military history as founders of dynasties of kings and emperors and the hearts of the brave men and fair women while in the ears of others equally brave and perhaps more so, they rang exultant as summons to battle. Today it is otherwise. For its democracy is no longer a word of power, but a word of weakness, to tell the truth, have become sadly dubious.

IDEAS GOVERN WORLD.

One is tempted to enquire what is here meant by "all." The poor devil whose neck is broken for murder never was asked to assent to capital punishment, nor do any of us subscribe to the constitution of our respective countries as persons do to their creeds and articles. But still we do occasionally have a say on the matter and the majority in the long runs prevail. The distinction, however, must always be taken between forms of government in modern times. Ideas make themselves felt, and as the saying is, govern the world. The larger the number of folk who have a direct voice in the choice of their governors, the more pressing becomes the question, whether some of the ideas that govern the world are to be put into effect. Hence the phrase: "We must educate our masters."

POLITICAL WISDOM.

But who are the "we"? History does not lead us to believe that political wisdom is found only in the hands of the so-called democrats. Political wisdom certainly is not to be found in universities nor among lawyers nor the clergy. Gibbon composed a magnificent history of the decline and fall of the Roman Empire, but he had not enjoyed rare opportunities of studying the subject, took him completely by surprise. The common people are at least likely to be right in the matter of politics as anybody else. The true phrase, therefore, is not: "We must educate our masters," but "We must educate ourselves."

THE OUTLOOK.

Where, then, do we get our ideas? From books, newspapers, music-halls, stock exchanges, workshops, drinking-rooms, clubs, sermons, divorce courts, schools and universities - all contribute to the mental and moral outlook of democracies and generate and spread the ideas and notions which make men and women what they are and obtain for them the kind of government they deserve. It is a mistake to suppose that mankind can ever get rid of authority. We are all afraid of something, be it only public opinion. We all worship something, be it only money. We all look to somebody, be it only our favorite politician. Not many of us can hope to verify his formulas. Our political catchwords are at least as mysterious to most of us as once were our creeds. Great, as well as small, leaders will continue to sway our minds, form our opinions, and command our votes. It cannot be otherwise, nor need we wish it to be otherwise.

MONTREAL, June 7 - The finale to decide who shall represent Canada in the track and field events at the Olympic games in London, were run off here Saturday. One event, the hop, step and jump was captured by a Maritime Province man, J. L. Kerr, of Hamilton, already considered the fastest man in Canada, defeated the Montreal crack, in both short sprints. The feature of the meet was the broad jump of Bricker, who made an exhibition leap of 23 feet 3/4 inches, after he won the event with 23 2/8.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 8, 1936. IN ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

Provincial elections are being held today in Quebec and Ontario. On the whole the campaigns have been quiet in Quebec practically the only excitement has been caused by the entry of Mr. Henri Bourassa now posing as a Nationalist, who is a candidate in St. James Division of Montreal in opposition to Premier Gouin. Mr. Bourassa has been assisted in his campaign chiefly by Mr. Armand Lavergne, but has secured the support of several other candidates. He is himself an out and out Liberal although disagreeing with the leaders of the provincial party on some questions. It is improbable that even if elected Mr. Bourassa and his followers will attach themselves to the Conservative party but on the contrary they will prove to be little more than a disturbing element in the legislature. There is no uncertainty as to the general result of the Quebec election. The Liberal government has held sixty-seven seats and the opposition only seven. There will be no turnover. There may and probably will be a Conservative gain of ten or a dozen seats, but it is not claimed even by the most enthusiastic among the opposition that the Conservatives and Nationalists together will be strong enough to make any trouble for the government. There are no issues of importance before the people. Throughout the province generally the elections seem to be indifferent. They have had thoroughly satisfactory government and there is no reason why the present rule should not be sustained.

In Ontario several local issues are before the electors and the one which will perhaps have most effect is the three fifth clause introduced by Premier Whitney. In the general elections of 1926 the Liberal party under the leadership of Hon. George W. Ross found itself utterly disorganized. Mr. Whitney who during his whole career in politics, has been known as a fighter, made the most of his opportunity and succeeded in carrying the province. He has not lived up to expectations during his term of office and even many of those who are wont to take an independent view of provincial legislation now condemn the Whitney Government for the manner in which several matters of importance have been treated. The temperance party especially are offended by the amendment to the liquor act which makes it necessary for local option to be carried in any municipality by a vote of 70 per cent of the electors. The Liberals under the leadership of Mr. A. G. Mackay who was commissioner of crown lands in the Ross mission, are pledged to repeal this clause and will no doubt secure a large share of the temperance vote. Since 1926 the opposition has been effectively organized and this will no doubt affect the result. While it is scarcely hoped that the Liberal opposition will overturn the Whitney Government such a result would not be a great surprise.

TWEEDMOUTH'S CONDITION. Several peculiar incidents which have occurred of late in political Britain have recently been explained by the announcement that Lord Tweedmouth is suffering from temporary insanity due to personal grief and has been ordered to give up work for an indefinite period. A few months ago Lord Tweedmouth's correspondence with Emperor William almost created an international crisis and was followed by his removal from the naval minister's position when Premier Asquith reorganized the cabinet. In that charge Lord Tweedmouth was appointed Lord President of the Council a position which involved the preparation of educational questions for the government in the House of Lords. A few days ago in the course of an address, Lord Tweedmouth made the statement: "Of course Haldane's reorganization scheme was merely a big gamble with ten to one in its favor," which was regarded as remarkable as coming from an officer of the government. His colleagues in the House of Lords, suspecting that something was wrong, made no use of this strange remark. A few years ago Lord Tweedmouth possessed an income of half a million dollars annually and he and his wife were leaders in society. His income arose largely from a great brewery business, and when the brewery property began to decline his income of course dwindled. During the business crisis he sold his various residences and all his personal property, putting the receipts into the brewery for the benefit of the stockholders and to save the credit of the company. This sacrifice was useless for affairs went from bad to worse, and when Lord Tweedmouth was made naval minister he had practically nothing more to live on than his official salary. The last and hardest blow of all was the death of his wife from cancer. "Worry and overwork have had their effect."

There should be some valuable information handed out at the meeting of the Union of Canadian Municipalities which is to be held in Montreal commencing July 18th. Efforts are being made to secure as speakers on the various questions such men as are regarded as authorities on the points under discussion. The programme will include papers and addresses on city government by board of control, city government by commission, the advantages of provincial municipal boards, uniform municipal accounting, government supervision, sinking funds, uniform debenture forms, railway level crossings, bill boards and advertising monostroties, the criminal situation, criminals in the police courts, foreign criminals, juvenile criminals and the parole system.

"BE HAPPY."

This world is a bully old place after all. So be happy. Life's full of blessings in a measure not small. So be happy. Stop grumbling and kicking and trying to curse. At luck that might be a hundred times worse. Thank God you're alive in this great universe. And be happy. Forget all your sorrow, your horrible blues. And be happy. You'll find life worth living if only you choose. And be happy. Just smile on the people you meet every day. Drive all their gloom and sadness away. Then see if it really won't honestly pay. To be happy.

HER DYING WISH.

Donald Brinn of "The Merry Widow," is responsible for this libel on women-kind: "A pale, wan woman on her death-bed said in a weak voice to her husband: "Henry, if I die, promise me one thing: "Gladly, my poor darling. What is it I am to promise?" "Promise me that you will marry Mary Simpson." "The man started. "But," he said, "I thought you hated her." "I do, Henry," the dying woman whispered. "I want to get even with her."

THE GOOD FELLOW.

He cut a dash; No threat went dry; When he had cash He made it fly. But now that he is very broke, He's but a rather tiresome poke. He sought a crowd, (Not hard to find) Of talkers loud— You know the kind And for awhile he was the prince; But now he's just a human quince.

PLEASED EVERYBODY.

The good priest had come to his parishioner after the funeral of the latter's mother-in-law to express condolence. "And what complaint was it, Pa?" he asked sympathetically. "That carried the old lady off?" "Kumplaint," did ye ask, father?" answered Pat. "That was no kumplaint from anybody. Everybody was satisfied."

WELL HE HAD TO EAT SOMEWHERE.

Father had just euked the carving knife in the roast when there came the usual ring at the bell. "Look here, Maud," he said sternly, "if that young man of yours is going to call for me nights a week regular, tell him to come after dinner." "It isn't necessary, father," replied the young girl. "That's what he comes after."

THEY HAVE THEIR USES.

Yesterday in Rochester a girl who attempted to end her life by jumping from a high bridge, was saved by her Merry Widow lid, which acted as a parachute and let her down easily. As the Montreal school commissioners do not appear to consider fire escapes favorably, they might provide the children with merry widow parachutes.

WHY BE FUSSY?

The fussy man gets angry at The unpropitious weather; The wise man with a placid smile Forgets it altogether.

Some time ago there was a flood in western Pennsylvania. An old fellow who had lost nearly everything he possessed was sitting on the roof of the house as it floated along, when a boat approached. "Hello, John." "Hello, Dave." "Are your fowls all washed away, John?" "Yes, but the ducks can swim," replied the old man. "Apple trees gone?" "Well, they said the crop would be a failure, anyhow." "I see the floods away above your window." "That's all right Dave. Them windows needs washin', anyhow."—Philadelphia Ledger.

SCATTER JOY.

And if in thy life on earth, In the chamber or by the hearth, 'Mid the crowded city's tide, Or high on lone hill side, Thou canst cause a thought of peace, Or an arching thought to cease, Of a gleam of joy to burst On a soul in sadness nursed; Spare not thy hand, my child; Though the gladdened should never know The well-spring and the wild, When the waters of blessing flow. G. Macdonald.

VICTIMS OF COLLISION ARE RECOVERING

Gen. Manager Staughter May Lose an Eye—Young Woman Not Identified. ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 6.—The injured from the collision on the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis Electric line here last night in which eight persons were killed and a score more or less seriously injured were reported to be doing nicely this morning at the emergency hospital. All were expected to recover. W. E. Staughter, General Manager of the electric line, thought to be the most seriously injured, was reported to be resting easy. He may, however, lose the sight of one eye. The identity of the young woman in evening costume who was killed outright, has not yet been established. Her body was placed in charge of an undertaker. The initials "M. E. C." were worked on some of the underclothing. The responsibility for the accident has not been definitely determined, but there was a confusion in the orders as to where the cars should pass.

SHOT BECAUSE SHE WOULD NOT ELOPE

DANBURY, Conn., June 6.—Ida Postle (or Scherer), young woman, was shot and fatally wounded tonight while walking in the street with a man said to be Edward Schumann, of Middletown, N.Y. The man who is alleged to have shot the woman, is believed to be the police officer who located him and an arrest is expected soon. According to the woman's story, Schumann asked her to leave town with him and she refused.

RELATIONS STRAINED IN SOUTHERN EUROPE

CETTINIE, Montenegro, June 6.—The Servian charge d'affaires left this city today on indefinite leave of absence. His departure is considered in some quarters as liable to be followed by a complete rupture of the diplomatic relations between Servia and Montenegro. The departure of the Charge d'affaires is an outcome of the testimony heard in the trial of 42 persons accused of conspiracy against the Montenegro government. Two of the witnesses declared that George, Crown Prince of Servia, was directly connected with this plot, which came to light through the discovery of a score of bombs in Cetinje, and the overthrow of the existing regime in Montenegro.

GOAL MINERS REJECT PROPOSED WAGE SCALE

DENVER, Colo., June 6.—Though the coal miners of the northern district of Colorado have not yet voted, they have voted almost unanimously to reject the wage scale proposed by the operators. Representatives of both sides say that further negotiations may be opened at once and another effort be made to settle the matter without a strike.

IS IT A BOYCOTT?

Editor of the Star: When I read in your paper some days ago a complaint about the way the cars connect at Dilton's corner, I thought there would be some improvement, but I am sorry to say that matters were worse at that junction yesterday than any day this season. It would appear that the conductors of the Seaside cars are instructed not to stop for passengers coming from the ferry.

Yesterday afternoon a party including ladies and children arrived at the corner from the ferry and were greatly surprised and annoyed to see the Sea Side car (not a crowded one) deliberately pass the corner, leaving them to walk to the park. If the Seaside car is being run in the interest of the public who in the world will it not transport people over the road they choose to take. The road cannot force people to come by the bridge now that the cars run to the end of the wharf. By changing the schedule five minutes this car would make a close connection with most of the ferry trips, and a fair connection with the balance, while now it connects with nothing. Of course, the conductors should be enlightened as to their duties at this point.

FOUR SERIOUSLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Overturned and Occupants Imprisoned Beneath It are Dragged for Twenty Feet. ANDOVER, Mass., June 6.—Four men were badly hurt, one seriously, by the overturning of a New York touring car numbered 2871, on Main street, as it was returning from Andover-Exeter baseball game tonight. While the men were reticent about giving their names, it is believed that the man most seriously injured is B. W. Hill, of Somerville, who was rendered unconscious and at first believed to have been killed. He recovered consciousness. A second member of the party is said to be Dr. Godding, of Somerville, who received injuries to his face and hands. I. M. Nutt, of New York had his face cut and ear lacerated and his right leg injured. The chauffeur, the fourth member of the party received a sprained leg. He refused to give his name. The automobile was returning down the hill on Main street from the ball game. A long line of automobiles was ahead and the chauffeur of the New York car attempted to get ahead by going by on the left. As the car struck the street, car rails which had just been watered, it skidded and the rear tire burst. The car was moving swiftly and was completely overturned, the men being imprisoned underneath and dragged along for twenty feet by the street. The automobile was wrecked.

WEDDINGS.

PATTERSON-COATS. A pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening, June 3rd, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Coates, 31 Summer street, when her daughter, Flora Bertha, was united in marriage to Wesley C. Patterson. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Crisp. The bride party entered the room to the strains of the wedding march rendered by Miss Bertha Worden. The bride was unattended and was becomingly attired in white silk organza with cretonnes of lace and intricate and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair fern. Numerous and valuable presents which they received testified to the high esteem in which the young couple were held, the bride being for some years associated with the teaching staff of the Province. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful set of milk fur. The young couple will reside at 61 Summer street.

MENZIES-ROBINSON.

NEWCASTLE, June 5.—A quiet wedding occurred on the 3rd instant at the residence of Councillor Edward Menzies, Strathcona, when his daughter, Miss A. A. Menzies, was united in marriage to Harold C. Robinson of North Esk. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. A. Brown, in the presence of members of the family and relatives of the contracting parties. The two-year old baby of Policeman Robert Menzies of Fairville, had a narrow escape from death last evening. The baby was in a carriage on the provincial hospital grounds and in charge of its oldest brother. The latter left his car for a few moments when the carriage started down the embankment towards the falls and was only prevented from going over into the water by the boy after a desperate chase caught it.

DUMA WOULD NOT VOTE FOR FOUR NEW BATTLESHIPS

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6.—The Duma tonight rejected the item in the naval budget appropriating $5,000,000 to lay the keels of four battleships during the current year.

This vote is tantamount to a vote of lack of confidence in the plans of the minister of marine and wholesale restrictions from this ministry are expected to follow. Premier Stolypin made his final effort to secure the naval appropriations. He brought the full weight of his personal influence and popularity in the effort but he acknowledged that he was speaking in a lost cause.

TWO THOUSAND FOR THE MAN WHO FLIES FIVE MILES

PARIS, June 5.—Aviation enthusiasts are taking an interest in the prize of $2,000 which has been founded by Rene Quinton for the first aeroplane which succeeds in flying for five minutes, with the motor of his machine stopped, at a height of at least fifty metres. Quinton claims that a man can accomplish this, as accomplished by a bird in soaring through the air without motion of the wings after the first impulsive motion.

BLOODHOUND TRACKING. The bloodhound does not necessarily follow blood. He hunts what is technically termed "the clean boot"—that is, the hound follows the trail of the hunted person without any advantageous aid, and it is the possession and gradual development of this particular quality which makes him so interesting a possession to the sportsman and renders bloodhound tracking a sport in which large parties can engage with all the pleasure of the chase.—Fry's Magazine.

VOLUNTEERS' DUTIES. British volunteers are subject to military law when training or attached to regular or militia, and when on actual military service. They cannot all the civil power, but, as a body, protect their armories, using their arms for that purpose. A GLIMPSE OF LIFE IN JAMAICA.

(Raymond Blathwayt in Black and White)

Apert from the natural beauties of a tropical land which press in upon the tourist on every side, a winter in Jamaica affords him a glimpse into Empire building generally and the governance of an important Crown Colony which is in itself unequalled and of the greatest possible interest. A veritable object lesson in Imperialism. For here, as it were, is the British Empire in a microcosm here reflected as in a mirror, he catches a faint, far-away resemblance to the mighty world around and beyond. It is England and the Empire, repeated here as throughout the whole world. It is so often repeated, in miniature and in detail.

year, under the presidency of the Governor, with the Privy Council in the beautiful old Colonial house known as Headquarters House; and of the personalities composing this Legislature and the manner in which they are open-minded and not a few are the men out of whose lips British has secured or manufactured some of her finest statesmen. They only require opportunity to prove their quality. Take the Colonial Secretary, for instance, Mr. Clarence Bourin, the bearer of a name long honored in West Indian history, and glance at his keen, capable face, with his manner of reticent and the teachings of Jowett and the best traditions of Balliol. Here you have a man—if he were not on the side of academic pedantry—who is in most respects the type of all that a servant of Empire should be: calm, judicial, with courage and with abundant sympathy and understanding.

And then there is the admirable band of men by whom the law and justice of the Colony is administered. But pre-eminence amongst all these officials and towering far above them indeed is the stately and yet simple and homely figure of the erstwhile North Country Wesleyan minister, who leaves today ecclesiastical rule in the West Indian Empire as His Grace the Archbishop of the West Indies, Dr. Enos Nuttall is a man of whom any community in any part of the world might well be proud. A fine ecclesiastic, autocratic, and yet wonderfully sympathetic, and a man of genius and unflinching piety, he yet is a finer statesman. The Archbishop of the West Indies is one of the greatest standing personalities I have ever met, and there are those, indeed, who maintain that wherever it may be that outwardly sits in the seat of government, he is the real ruler of the island. However this may be, he is a man whom all trust and in whose judgment every class of the community places its confidence.

ber of officials in various departments of the little State, a floating and ever-changing crowd of hurrying tourists, mainly American, and over the vast, restless, surging throng of keen-witted, merry-hearted, emotional and always unaccountably mysterious, and you have the human life of Jamaica before you, against which, in marked and piquant contrast, and in curious and striking difference, is outlined the distinguished figure of the famous Socialist Governor of the island, His Excellency, Sir Sydney Olivier, K. C. M. G.

His POPULARITY. And, however much one may differ from the governor in his social and political opinions, one is impressed—certainly can say so much for myself—by his absolute sincerity, his remarkable kindness of nature, and, above all, by his possession at all times and in all places, and in the presence of all sorts and conditions of men, of the courage of his own convictions.

Slightly cynical, a little pessimistic perhaps he is, nevertheless, the man of all others whom a fair-minded character would approach for help and sympathy in the hour of need or distress. And so far as I can gather, he is winning golden opinions on all sides, even from those from whom he differs. That is, of course, speaking of his administration generally. Every one acknowledges his remarkable ability, his sympathy and his obviously sincere desire to do the best for every side of the numerous and varied community over which he rules.

His plans and efforts with regard to the rebuilding of the earth-shaken city, his untiring devotion to the service of the State, his constant kindness have won him respect and admiration on all sides and particularly amongst the colored population.

But where he is apt to fall in the estimation of the colored population, the views of the island in regard to his views upon those vast and perplexing social problems of which he is disturbing the whole world more or less.

INTERESTING SCENE. Here he is in absolute and amusing opposition to the majority of a community which is composed almost entirely of Colonials of old-fashioned views and of many years descent in the island and of English Army officers and gentlemen, and in their somewhat thoughtless and frivolous outlook upon life. What else can you expect, and what blame can you attach to either side?

It was on the occasion of a lecture on the Empire, which I delivered in a great public hall, at which the Archbishop and the Archbishop were present, when the Governor moved in direct opposition to the views which I expressed, and in their somewhat thoughtless and frivolous outlook upon life. What else can you expect, and what blame can you attach to either side?

But pre-eminence amongst all these officials and towering far above them indeed is the stately and yet simple and homely figure of the erstwhile North Country Wesleyan minister, who leaves today ecclesiastical rule in the West Indian Empire as His Grace the Archbishop of the West Indies, Dr. Enos Nuttall is a man of whom any community in any part of the world might well be proud.

A fine ecclesiastic, autocratic, and yet wonderfully sympathetic, and a man of genius and unflinching piety, he yet is a finer statesman. The Archbishop of the West Indies is one of the greatest standing personalities I have ever met, and there are those, indeed, who maintain that wherever it may be that outwardly sits in the seat of government, he is the real ruler of the island. However this may be, he is a man whom all trust and in whose judgment every class of the community places its confidence.

A NOTED PRINCE WHO LIVES ON GAMBLERS

The rumor that Prince Albert, of Monaco, ruler of the little Principality which holds within its borders Monte Carlo, the world's greatest gambling den, is suffering from a serious body trouble, is confirmed by the fact that two mental specialists have been hurriedly summoned from Paris to give their opinion on the disorder from which the Prince has suffered for some time. His Highness recently stood on a sea voyage on his big yacht, but his doctor had to order his return on account of his condition. It is singular that this grave mental malady should have overtaken the ruler of the State which fattens on the gamblers or the wealthy who are rich at the expense of reckless men who in many cases go mad and seek suicide as the only relief from their misdeeds.

The Prince himself, derives his income from the Casino profits. He has leased the Monte Carlo tables to the Blanc syndicate and the contract is worth over $250,000 a year to him. Monte Carlo (and Monte Carlo to all intents and purposes Monaco) is the earth's most beautiful and alluring playhouse spot. Situated on the blue Mediterranean between the French and Italian frontiers, on one of the loveliest sites in the world, it nevertheless has a terrible tragedy. Many a ruined gambler who has taken his life in despair has been buried in the Casino's expense and the man who does not trouble to send in any bill to the relatives. All tragic occurrences the Monte Carlo directors do their best to hush up, for such grim advertisements are naturally not relished. Even when the news of a tragedy leaks out, the details rarely become known to the public.

THREE THOUSAND SUICIDES. It has been estimated that in the first fifteen years of Monte Carlo's existence 3,000 people committed suicide, as the direct result of losses sustained at the tables. The actual estimates kept, it is said, that after that period suicides went on at the rate of 200 a year. In the last year, however, there have occurred in a single day. Anyone interested in the subject will find nearly 100 names of suicides in the "Histoire des Crimes et Suicides," giving names where possible—names which are naturally not "unknowns"—and details. One record runs:—

An unknown man committed suicide in the Casino, leaving only a scrap of paper on which was written "Monaco will be the death of many others."

HONEYMOON TRAGEDY. The death is recorded of another man who after losing $35,000, wrote on a note pinned to the casino—"House of Perdition! Only fit to be burnt!"

The three following suicides occurred in the Casino—Harold Clarke, son of a distinguished San Francisco family, and a law student of New York, shot himself through the head in the Hotel Regina, Paris. He had just returned from Monte Carlo, where he lost all his money at the tables. Another man committed suicide in the Casino, a picture of dejection, and after sitting in the gardens for a while, taking a lady, who pulled out a revolver and shot himself through the head. Attendants quickly removed the body, and the police were aware of what had happened. Rudolf Ryder, a young Viennese gentleman, lost all his money at the tables, and in the evening lay down in front of a train at Villefranche and was cut to pieces.

In another case of a newly-married German couple had been traveling in Italy, partly for their honeymoon and partly on the husband's business. The latter collected $8,000 for his firm which he was taking back to Germany. They formed the unhappy project of paying a flying visit to the Riviera. They stayed at Nice. The young man, fearing he might be tempted to gamble in such a married couple from Lyons who were staying at Nice. The husband used to go across to Monte Carlo to risk a hour or two, the young wife thought. But apparently he risked all he possessed. One day he did not come back. He was found shot near the table. It was a clear case of suicide. The distressed young widow left the sunny Riviera overcome with grief.

Another honeymoon tragedy of a similar kind befell a young English and American couple who had been married at the tables. They committed suicide at Castellane on the very date that Mme. Gould and her husband murdered Mme. Emma Levin. Intentionally dramatic was the suicide of the well-known Hungarian painter, Julian Kardos, who lost huge sums of money at the tables. The Casino authorities, fearing a scandal, offered him $200 to leave the place, but he refused, and stayed on hoping to retrieve his losses. Another Hungarian staying at Nice, M. Kados $2,500 for a final effort. The painter regained hope, and began quietly enough, staking only small amounts. Losing after time he became more and more agitated. Then his last piece went and the broker man, taking a revolver from his pocket, placed the barrel in his mouth and fired. A terrible case followed. The lifeless body of the suicide fell across the lap of a French woman next to him, who fainted, and the screams of other women at the tables added to the confusion.

Attendants quickly removed the body, and within half an hour play was being carried on at the same table as though nothing untoward had happened. The irony of fate was well exemplified by an incident which occurred shortly afterwards. A wealthy gambler occupying the seat in which the dead man had made his bid for fortune won $100,000 in a single round. But the tragedy was not over. Tenth of the misery due to the Casino so many people are "broken" by the bank that it has been necessary to establish a relieving department in order to get rid of the ruined players, who might otherwise commit suicide. Every British officer, who lost every penny, was given a free P and O ticket to Calcutta and $200. The sums paid out by the Casino range from $25 to $2,000.

But in spite of this toll on the profits, the Casino has made millions out of the gamblers who try to break the bank. Its total receipts in one recent year came to $7,000,000, an increase of $300,000 on the year before. After every expense had been met, there remained close on $5,000,000 for distribution among the shareholders at the rate of $5 a share. This was equal to 70 per cent. on the original value of the shares. The matrimonial affairs of the Prince have been of the most unhappy description. In 1882 he married Lady Mary Douglas-Hamilton, and his son Louis by this marriage is the present heir-apparent. Lady Mary's life, however, was not particularly happy, and in 1889 the marriage was cancelled by special ordinance of the Pope. The divorced countess, Mrs. Stoyan, a Russian, a Hungarian nobleman, and the Prince in 1893 wedded the widow of the Duc de Richelieu, a Jewess, and the daughter of the present Prince of Heine. The duchess had been left a widow with two children when barely twenty-four years of age. She remained single for more than ten years, although the prince had long admired her.

A MARRIAGE DIFFICULTY. There was some little difficulty about the marriage, owing to the fact that the bride was not only not royal, but also not of noble birth; and it was only on his death-bed that Prince Charles, the father of the present Prince of Monaco, gave his consent to the union. The marriage at first proved an ideally happy one, and the Princess, who was very popular in her little principality, she transformed the dull and dreary palace into one of the most charming and up-to-date of residences. She also created a garden which was fair-like in its beauty on the top of the rock. Unhappily, the Princess's artistic and poetical tastes clashed with her husband's love of science and deep-sea exploration, and led to an estrangement which finally resulted in the marriage being annulled in May, 1901, only two years after the marriage had taken place. Since that time the Prince has remained unmarried.

It is stated that the Princess regarded the Casino as a great blot on the little principality, and before her marriage she met the Prince promise that he would not renew the contract with the notorious company which at present operates in the Casino. The contract does not expire until 1912.

SIGNED A CONTRACT FOR CHEAPER SCHOOL BOOKS. Hon. J. D. Hazen and Hon. J. K. Fleming provincial secretary, left on Saturday evening for Montreal to look into the question of disposing of the loan of $145,000 which will mature on August 15. Before leaving Mr. Fleming signed a contract with the Government of Ontario, for primers and readers up to the eighth grade to be supplied to the public schools of this province at a reduction of 40 per cent. on the old price.

The contract will run for three years. Another contract was signed with the same firm to supply scribes at a 40 per cent. reduction. No time was specified for the length of this contract.

On completion of the business in Montreal, the premier will proceed to Ottawa to interview the Dominion government with regard to the payment of the double subsidy on the Central Railway, which is due the province as against a bill of the I. C. R. for $4,000,000 for rail.

Hon. W. C. H. Gimmer, surveyor general, will leave for St. John's on Saturday evening. He will leave tomorrow for Madawaska to investigate certain reports, and expects to be in Fredericton on Thursday. Hon. John Morris, chief commissioner of public works, will leave for Madawaska the early part of this week, on a tour of inspection.

On a date yet to be arranged this month, Hon. Mr. Fleming will go to Compellion as a commissioner appointed to investigate the liquor licenses, the New Brunswick Temperance Federation having protested against the number that have been granted.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Devil's Auction. Chas. H. Yale's "Everlasting Devil's Auction" which has for twenty-five years held the confidence of the theatre-going public to the extent of annually resurrecting the "Standing Room Only" sign in all cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast, announces that the present season's introduction of this phenomenal show-piece will undoubtedly be the best that has yet been presented. It will appear at the Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday, June 3 and 4.

Screaming Burlesque at Nickel. The merry widow craze is still on everywhere, and today and tomorrow afternoon at the Nickel a hilarious burlesque on this musical fad will be shown in the 1,000 ft. picture entitled "The Merry Widow Waltz Craze," a film that has made more fun for North America than half the funniest comedians on the stage. The Nickel's orchestra will give the photo-comedy its appropriate setting. Besides this great feature, which is booked for two days only, there will be the extremely humorous and neighborly "Neighbors and a Drama of Emotional Interest." A Farwell's Devotion, Miss Alicia Wren, whose phenomenal success in "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" has made her so popular, will render another hit, "Top of the Mornin'," Bridget McEue, and Mr. Cairns' wonderfully rich baritone voice will be heard to particular advantage in the new sentimental comedy, "Sweetheart, Quebec and Ontario elects" returns at the Nickel tonight.

"We Are King." Mr. Edmund Carroll and his splendid company will appear in this city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the Opera house and will present Mr. Walker Whitehead's delightful comedy in three acts, "We Are King" by Lieut. Gordon Keen, author of "The Magic Melody," which will be seen in the dual role which Mr. Whitehead so successfully played for three seasons, and which it is reported, occupied Mr. Carroll a rare opportunity for the display of talent both along comedy and dramatic lines. From reports, this progressive actor has drawn a prize in selecting "We Are King" for the play season to have leaped at once into popular favor and compels the enthusiasm of theatre-goers wherever it is presented. The advance stories of the plot would point to a rather novel and interesting stage offering.

Mary Emerson. The week of June 15th at the Opera House will introduce an artist new to us, though one of much standing in the States. This is Miss Mary Emerson, who will be seen in two of her greatest successes, "His Majesty" and "The Maid and Will" the Wily, both of which were written for her. Samuel Lewis, who is in the city in Miss Emerson's interests, had many things to say of Miss Emerson's work and her career. Of an old family, Miss Emerson has a fine voice, and a dramatic and a histrionic career, though she at first studied singing, her voice being unusually good, and her mother believing she would like her daughter to sing well, and possibly follow the work further. It was, however, when Miss Emerson was studying in the opera of Rimeo and Juliet, that her instructor advised her to study for the dramatic stage. This she did, and it is interesting in passing to say that one of her performances that was splendidly received was in Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet, the most wonderful part, she thinks, that was ever written for a woman. Her dramatic career began with a season with Mr. Louis James, then followed two seasons with Mr. Richard Mansfield, certainly a successful start for a young girl still in her teens. Then came her starring tours, which have been more than successful.

Howard at Princess All Week and Price Lowered. Saturday's papers announced the engagement of Howard the great ventriloquist, at the Princess for four nights only, the price to be twenty-five cents. The management have made a change and retained the great performer for an entire week, and will in consequence make a change in the price, and this will be noted in the advertising columns, this great programme of the highest class vaudeville, and an increased programming of motion pictures will cost but ten cents. The result of this reduction in price will be that the Princess will be crowded every evening, as the reputation of Howard is now well established in this city, and the fact well known that next Monday week he will be the headliner at Hammerstein's big New York Theatre, which is a proof conclusive of his high standing in the entertainment world. The fact must be admitted that such a high class vaudeville attraction as Howard was never heard in the city at this price or probably never will be again. Howard will appear in the

AT THE GAME. A girl there was, and she saw the game. Even as you and I. And she called the players all by name. And she said, "He's burnt!" "What a stink!" "For shame!" And a great deal more just about the same. "Though no one could see why." "The laughs she laughed and the cheeks she chewed." And the jerks she jerked that day. And the way she sat on that chair and slaved. (We wished to heaven she'd been glued.) "Was marvellous in its way." She heard the cry, "Sit down in front!" Even as you and I. And her vocal cords did another stunt— She called the man who spoke a "stunt" (It's strange what a man can do and won't!)

Oh, the things we see and the things we hear. And the things that we have to feel. When fate for the grand stand brings us too near. A girl constructed extremely queer— Hat mesquines and half off. The game went on and the girl remarked. Even as you and I. But a soul of safety we'd sought and gained. For our souls already with crime we'd stained. We feared to stay lest that girl we braided. An impossible thing, by the by! Were deeds that were dirty done. When he bought the paper next day and read. What we could not see for that girl's red head— That the New York team had won. —New York Times.

THE JOKE WAS ON THE STUDENTS. When Dr. Nathan Lord was president of Dartmouth College he used to drive about in a dilapidated, old-fashioned contrivance. The students became tired of seeing the concern, and though Dr. Lord knew that this, being the old cab, one night a group of the young men hauled the thing out of the shed where it was kept, took it several miles down the road toward Lebanon and hid it in a spot where it was concealed by dense foliage. They were just about to depart, well satisfied with the treasure job, when the curtain which completely enveloped the front of the cab was suddenly pushed aside and the well-known face of President Lord appeared. "Now, gentlemen," he said, "you may draw me back again."

Gilson's Little Girl

By LULU JOHNSON.

(Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Papella.) "My little girl," Gilson called her to himself, and of all in the human...

Gilson's heart was troubled, though he tried to tell himself that all would be made smooth that night. But it was not made smooth. Metcalf did not appear until just in time...

The monthly ticket which she possessed was brand new and proclaimed her a recruit of the army of workers who daily took their places in the city's commercial field...

"Lost your train?" cried Metcalf. "That is a shame! The service on this road is a disgrace. There is not another train that stops at your station for over an hour!"

The old gentleman did not go on duty until five o'clock in the morning, but he was always there now at 8:27 standing by the exit gate...

"You did it on purpose," she accused smilingly as she laid a gentle hand on Gilson's sleeve. "And to think that I threaten to report you, you must have thought me a little cat."

McAVITY SHOWED HIMSELF A COMER. (Montreal Gazette.) OTTAWA, June 1.—Play was commenced in the morning and the first to take the courts were Capt. Foulkes, champion of Canada and holder of the international single honor, and Malcolm McAvity of St. John, N. B. This match resulted in a victory for Foulkes, the Ottawa man, Foulkes winning three straight sets, 6 to 2, 6 to 4 and 6 to 3. The game was rather one-sided, but McAvity proved himself a comer and at times compelled the champion to exert himself. In fact, Foulkes showed all his old time skill. McAvity took chances and also showed cleverness. "With more experience he will be unbeatable," remarked Capt. Foulkes, referring to McAvity after their match.

It was fortunate that there were only two men in the building at the time of the explosion. In a nearby building hundreds of men are at work. The cause is unknown.

CHEDABUCTO BAY LITERALLY ALIVE WITH MACKEREL

GLYSBORO, N. S., June 7.—Chedabucto Bay is literally alive with mackerel again today. It is thought to be fully twenty years since the fishermen have done so well as they have this season. One man took twenty-two hundred from his nets, another eighteen hundred from six nets, while some with large fleets out-topped as high as five and six thousand per boat. Besides the immense quantities there being sold fresh hundreds of barrels are being salted by the fishermen themselves, and if the run continues another day it is feared the supply of both barrels and salt will be exhausted, so great and unexpected is the demand. Many of the nets are completely sunk with the weight of fish and some of the fishermen are finding difficulty in locating them. It is doubtful if there was such mackerel fishing before in the history of Chedabucto Bay.

Speaking about drunken husbands, Magistrate Ritchie, in the police court this morning, said that there were a lot of no-goods in the city. "Why," he said, "only a short time ago a woman called on me and requested that I keep her drunken husband in jail, as he was only a nuisance to her, that while he was in jail it gave her an opportunity to work and earn enough money to support their five children."

On the Short Road, in the rear of the Church of England burying grounds, is a small encampment of Scotch spies. They are living in three tents pitched on the side of the road, and say they are awaiting the arrival of some horse. Their business is horse trading, but the leader of the band says that they do lots of work besides, principally stealing liquor. They expect to strike camp in a day or so and will take the road in the direction of Halifax.

THIBIDEAU DECLARES IT IS ALL UNTRUE

States That the Evidence Given Against Him Was False—Sent up for Trial.

Fred Thibideau, the ex-news agent, was sent up for trial by Magistrate Ritchie this morning, on the charge of stealing a news agent's box from the Union Depot. When asked if he had a statement to make the prisoner said that he knew nothing about stealing the box, that he was under the impression that a man with a dress suit case got articles on the train, was wrong, as it was a man with a satchel. The prisoner said he was selling things and did not know what he was doing. In reference to the baggage-master, who swore that the defendant stole a box, the prisoner said it was wrong, as the box he took at the time was his own, as he was then working for the news company. "These men on the train were always against us boys," said the prisoner. He said he did not remember the brakeman speaking to him, and said that Mr. Curry's statement that there was fruit in the stolen box was untrue. The value of the stock in the box stolen, Thibideau said, was about $25, and not the large amount stated in court. He said that the baggage-master claimed that he had been in Dorchester. That was not so, and that his brother was there and the blame was always put on the prisoner. The prisoner said he had a mother and father to keep, and he followed the sea for a living, and had been on the Pacific coast for three years.

SHOWER BATHS FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Miss Peter called on Mayor Bullock this morning and endeavored to enlist his support to a proposition to have shower baths installed in the various city schools for the use of the children. She submitted a plan which would be adopted, showing how little room would be required for a complete installation. The idea would be to give children who did not have reasonable bathing facilities at home a chance to get a good bath before or after school. The rooms could also be left open on Saturdays for the use of the children.

THREE MEN CHARGED WITH FIGHTING ON THE STREET

One Solitary Drunk in Police Court Says it is Easy to Get Liquor.

The police on Saturday made seven arrests. Of this number six were common drunks. Only one prisoner occupied the police court bench this morning, the others having gained their liberty Sunday morning on leaving deposits of $3 each with the chief of police, with the exception of Theophilus Marshall, who left $20 for fighting. The lone prisoner to face the magistrate this morning was James Kennedy, who was charged with being found intoxicated on Union street between 3 and 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The prisoner informed the court that he had purchased a square face of gin before seven o'clock on Saturday evening. In answer to the magistrate Kennedy said that he had not been working for six or eight weeks. The magistrate remarked: "You can't get work, but you can get rum."

"Yes," said Kennedy, "I can get rum where I could not get a loaf of bread." Kennedy said he had a job to go to tomorrow. The magistrate told the prisoner to telephone that he would not be to work as he had an engagement in jail. He was then remanded. Theophilus Marshall was charged with fighting on Millidge street. John Kelley and James Harley were also reported for being in the mix-up. Policeman Hamm, who made the report, of seeing Marshall and James Harley in a scuffle on Millidge street. Marshall had his arm around Harley's neck. Marshall informed the officer that John Kelley had struck him.

Marshall gave evidence that Kelley had struck him and afterwards, while on his way home, Harley made a rush at him on Millidge street. Harley, on the contrary, swore that he was taking Kelley home when Marshall made an attempt to strike Kelley, and when witness interfered Marshall tried to assault him, and had hold of him when the policeman arrived. The three were remanded on the charge of fighting, and the magistrate said it appeared to be one of those Saturday night brawls of the peace. Kelley went to jail, and the other two left deposits of $20 each to appear in the morning at 9:30 o'clock. It is said that Harley is not to blame for the disturbance.

BEAUREGARD OBJECTED TO BEING CALLED NAMES

An elderly gentleman called at the police court this morning and told Mr. Henderson that he wished to lay a complaint against a man, who had called him names on Charlotte street. Sergeant Campbell, he said, knew the man. "Well," said Mr. Henderson, to the visitor, "it has been a long time since we saw you in court. Where have you been?" "Oh, I've been in the hospital with a sprained back," said the old man. "Are you not Beauregard whom we used to know so well?" "Yes," said the complainant, "that's me, and that's why I'm here, to lay a complaint against the man for calling me 'Beauregard.'"

There was a laugh among those in court, and the magistrate asked if there was not some other name that was called, and the old man said "yes, they also called me 'handy foot.'"

"Well, that's bad," said his honor, "they should not have called you that, but as to 'Beauregard' why I could be complained of for calling you that myself, as I have done it often. You must have been called that many a time."
