PROFITABLE BEEF PRODUCTION
 (Experimental Farm, Nappan.)

The results obtained at the Experimental Farm at Nappan in feeding good stockers, heavy fed vs. good stockers, light fed, were as follows.

Eight steers were selected, in such condition that they could be classed as good stockers. These were dehorned and fed a preparatory ration for a few weeks previous to starting the test, in order to get them accustomed to their feed and surroundings, then divided into two lots of four each. The four heavy fed, or Lot 1, were given 50 per cent more roots and meal than were the four light fed, or Lot 2. Number of days in test 95; total weight at the beginning for Lot 1, heavy fed, 4573 pounds; at finish, 5295 pounds, an increase of 722 pounds. For Lot 2, light fed, at beginning 4206 pounds, at finish 4880 pounds, an increase of 674 pounds.

The original purchase price was 6.25 cents per pound, live weight. The selling price was 8.1 cents per pound. The gross profit for Lot 1 was $143.09; for Lot 2, $132.40. The total cost of feed for Lot 1 for 93 days was $99.16; for Lot 2, $75.29, leaving a net profit for Lot 1 of $43.93, or a profit per steer of $10.98; for Lot 2, a net profit of $27.11, or per steer $14.28, a difference of $3.30 per steer in favour of the light fed.

The average profit per steer for three years, over and above the cost of feed at market prices, was for Lot 1, $16.06; for Lot 2, $18.05, a difference of $1.99 per steer in favour of the light fed.

The average cost for three years to fatten a pound of beef was 9.57 cents in the case of heavy fed and 9.57 cents for the light fed. The ration fed to Lot 1 at the beginning of the period was 60 pounds roots, 6 pounds meal, 1 pound molasses. At the finish 40 pounds roots, 16.5 pounds meal, 2 pounds molasses. For Lot 2 at the beginning 40 pounds roots, 4 pounds meal and 1 pound molasses; at the finish 30 pounds roots, 11 pounds meal and 2 pounds molasses. The meal mixture was made up of 200 pounds of ground oats and barley (equal parts by weight), 200 of bran, 50 of oilcake, 50 of cotton seed.

The meal mixture cost $1.50 per hundred-weight; roots were valued at $2.00 per ton; hay at $8.00 per ton; and molasses cost 20 cents per gallon.

It will be noted that the greater profits were realized for the lighter fed steers. Similarly the light fed good butchers, as per results given in Series One, gave the greater profits, but a greater difference was noted in the good butchers, light fed, than in the above instance, which would naturally be expected because the former are too advanced to make the same profitable use of the food consumed as would the latter. Nevertheless there appears to be a profitable limit in the amount fed, even to good stockers, as the above test verifies, as it also does, that good profits can be realized by the proper finishing of good beef.

Why Coal is not Coming.
 A correspondent of the Kingston Daily Standard writes that paper on the coal situation as follows:—The public has been informed through several sources that there is plenty of hard coal in the United States ready for shipment to Canada, and therefore people need not be anxious concerning next winter's supply. If there be lots of coal as stated why is it not coming in? Is the question heard asked on the streets every day, I will give an answer as briefly as possible which I received from one who is an authority in the matter. At present there is a number of Canadian coal vessels, some belonging to Kingston, lying at American ports waiting for cargoes. The delay it appears is caused by an order issued by the American Government to the effect that no coal will leave the country unless an affidavit is filed showing at what price the coal will be sold to consumers. It is desired to control the retail price and for this reason: The miners get so much per ton for output. If they hear that Canadian coal sells at exorbitant rates they will immediately demand an output rate commensurate with the retail price, and if the demand be not granted a strike will ensue. Therefore until the Canadian boats furnish the American Government with the retail price of the coal they will likely have no carrying to do. It is therefore up to the Canadian Association to strike a reasonable price for each city and let the coal come in; either that, or the Canadian Government should investigate.

How Canada is Insured for Life and Fire.
 Interesting figures as to Canada's total fire insurance policies have been compiled, showing that a total of $3,531,000,000 was in force in 1915, of which some $682,780,000 was in Canadian companies, and $1,828,000,000 in British. In the same year, a total of over $14,000,000 was paid out for the losses.

In life insurance matters we are less patriotic. U. S. insurance companies in 1915 had more policies in Canada than Canadian and British combined, but Canadian companies led in the amount in force, showing that the policies placed by the local companies were larger than those from the U.S.

Of the total of close to 1,950,000 policies in force, only 620,000 were Canadian, and close to 1,300,000 were American, but of the total of $1,311,000,000 in force, Canada had $829,970,000 while the U.S. only had $423,556,000.

The Logical Reply.
 At a fancy-dress ball for children, says an exchange, a policeman stationed at the door was instructed not to admit any adults.

An excited woman came running up to the door and demanded admission.

"I'm sorry, mum," replied the policeman, "but no children any more in the children."

"But my child is dressed as a butterfly," exclaimed the woman, "and has forgotten her wings!"

"Can't help it," replied the policeman; orders is orders. You'll have to let her go as a caterpillar.

Mail Only Once in Ten Years.
 The announcement that the British Post Office propose to dispatch a mail to Tristan d'Acunha has caused considerable interest, for it is ten years since a mail was sent from this country. "The mail will be sent out to South Georgia by a whaler, and from there will be sent on to Tristan d'Acunha by a sailing ship," a Post Office official says. "I don't suppose the people there have the slightest knowledge of the great war. We understand that a company is about to exploit the island, and we hope that it will be possible in the future to send mails about once or twice a year." The island lies midway between South America and the Cape of Good Hope, and ten years ago the population was seventy-five.

 Awarded a Silver Medal by the King of Italy.
HELPED MESSINA REFUGEES.

The Mother of Two Sons, the Duchess of Aosta is One of the Chief Inspectors of Italian Red Cross and Personally Nursed Sick Soldiers.

The King of Italy has awarded the silver medal for military valor to the Duchess Helene of Aosta, whose husband is a lieutenant general in the Italian army. Although a daughter of the Bourbon-Orleans house, the duchess is a Bourbon-Orleans princess, having been born at Twickenham and married at Kingston-on-Thames. She is noted both for her beauty and her intelligence. She has been associated with the Italian Red Cross on the battlefield in two wars and in the terrible Messina earthquake.

The military medal goes to her not only for her bravery in caring for wounded soldiers under fire, but for nursing those suffering from cholera since the beginning of the Italian campaign against Austria. She has been active in Red Cross work in the present war since Italian troops took the field and now is one of the chief inspectors of the organization in Italy and a wonderfully energetic worker who permits nothing to interfere with her war duties.

The Duchess Helene saw active service in 1911, when she went to Tripoli with Italian troops and took charge of the Red Cross units there. She was also one of the first to carry aid to the sufferers of the Messina disaster and stayed among the refugees until all had been provided for.

The duchess is the daughter of the Count of Paris, head of the Bourbon-Orleans family, whose secretary she was as a girl. She was married in 1895. Her elder son, the Duke of Apulia, was only seventeen years old when the war began and was a student at a military school. He enlisted as a private soldier and won his corporal's stripes on the battlefield.

Her second son, the Duke of Spoleto, is only fifteen and frequently accompanies her to the front when she goes to inspect hospitals.

Blarney Stones.
 One cupful sugar, one-half cupful butter, one cupful milk, one and one-half cupfuls flour, one cupful chopped walnuts, one cupful chopped raisins, one-half cupful sour milk, two eggs, one-quarter teaspoonful cloves, one teaspoonful cinnamon, one-quarter teaspoonful nutmeg, one teaspoonful soda and one teaspoonful vanilla. Cream butter and sugar, add eggs, milk and extract, stir into dry ingredients and beat thoroughly. Drop by spoonful on to greased pan and bake a delicate brown.

Soldier Blue to Replace Navy.
 Soldier blue is seen just now so often that it seems probable this softer, more becoming shade may in time wholly supersede the dark marine tone. Partly because of dye shortage, partly because anything remotely resembling military dress is almost sure of success, this color is being used a great deal and a very pleasant change it makes. Organza blouses trimmed with fine white lace collars and cuffs, silk dresses and street suits are all to be found of soldier blue.

Graham Muffins.
 Graham muffins made with baking powder. One cupful graham flour, one cupful of flour, one-quarter cupful sugar, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one teaspoonful salt, one cupful milk, one egg well beaten, one tablespoonful melted butter. Sift together thoroughly the flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Add gradually the milk, egg and butter. Bake in hot buttered gem pans twenty-five minutes.

Spring Blouses.
 Batiste and cotton voile are well represented for waists. Plain colored linens and white ground linens with fancy stripes in color are used. For solid colors copenhagen, rose, olive, wistaria, gold and champagne hold the lead.

Stand Taken by Sweden Has Proved Puzzling To Allied Governments

ONE of the most difficult problems confronting the student of current events throughout the world today, is how to reach any just estimate as to the real attitude of Sweden towards the war, and the exact position in that country. Sweden was amongst the first countries, on the outbreak of the present world struggle, to declare her neutrality, and she has affirmed it and reaffirmed it, officially and unofficially, at intervals, ever since. Nevertheless, her attitude has always contained an element of doubt. The outbreak of the war, two and a half years ago, found her actively and openly engaged in preparing herself against a possible attack from Russia. The "Russian peril" was a phrase to conjure with, throughout the length and breadth of the country, and it was the subject of a vigorous propaganda under the leadership of such men as Sven Hedin. As a consequence, when war broke out, it was held by many that Sweden already stood committed to the support of the Central Powers.

Sweden withstood the first rush of demand, as it were, and proclaimed her neutrality, but from the beginning of the war she has been characterized on a vigorous propaganda. Sven Hedin devoted to it all his energy, visited the German front, wrote a book full of praise of German aims and methods, and, although even he was heard, on occasion, to advocate the maintenance of Swedish neutrality, his activities were a pillar of strength to the "Activists," as the party in favor of intervention on the side of the Central Powers came to be known. Recently, very little has been heard of the Activists. The outside world had, in fact, gained the impression that Sweden's foreign policy had become "stated, fixed, and settled," and that no deviation from it was to be expected. Then came the resignation of the Hammarskjold Cabinet, "a business government," as Sir Gilbert Murray described it about a year ago, and this was followed, within a few days, by the formation of an exclusively Conservative Ministry, with M. Carl Swartz as Prime Minister. It is not very long ago that the Socialists, comprising one of the strongest parties in Sweden, were protesting against the "pro-German attitude of the King and the Queen," and, today, both the Liberal and the Socialist press are loud in protest against the new Ministry, in the formation of which the Social Democrats refused to take any part.

It is not easy to gauge the significance of these developments. The Swartz Ministry, like its predecessor, has declared the necessity of Sweden maintaining her neutrality. Their foremost task, M. Swartz said, would be strictly to pursue the logical, impartial neutrality carried on by their predecessors. There, for the moment, the matter rests; but the element of doubt remains, more strongly pronounced, perhaps, than ever. The recent action of the German pirates in sinking Swedish vessels laden with grain may have affected King Gustav unfavorably in his feelings towards the Kaiser. The Stockholm papers have spoken with no uncertain voice, but the monarch remains silent.

War Champion Tennis Player.

Lieut. Robert Powell, of Victoria, B. C., late of the 48th Battalion, tennis singles champion of British Columbia for several years, was killed in action in France April 28. Mr. Powell was an attorney, and was private secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia from 1900 to 1904. He founded the North Pacific Lawn Tennis Association in 1904. The next year he won the tennis championship of Scotland. In 1908 Powell was the champion of the Canadian tennis team which competed in the Olympic games in England, and represented Canada in the Davis Cup games in Chicago in 1913.

Music and Animals.

The influence of music on animals was once tested by a violinist in a menagerie. The effect was greatest on a puma, which became much excited when quick time was played, but was calmed by slower measures. Wolves showed an appreciative interest, lions and hyenas were terrified, leopards were unconcerned, and monkeys stared in wonder at the performer.

French Women Get the Vote

FRANCE is to grant suffrage to its women. Female electors twenty-eight or more years of age will have a voice in municipal elections in cities of the first and second class on or before July 15 of this year.

This is a stupendous reform, both from the European and Latin perspective. It is positively assured through a substantial majority in both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate and is to be granted in gratitude and recognition of the devotion and sacrifice of the women of the nation to the cause of France during the war.

Details surrounding these facts were disclosed in a joint interview with Mesdames Schlumberger and Seigfried, presidents, respectively, of the French Union for Suffrage for Women and the National Council of French Women. This in substance is what they said:

"We are about to experience very presently, in late June or early July, a success in seeking votes for women that will be unique in the world history of this reform," said Madame Schlumberger. "Under restricted conditions our sex is to receive the vote and our nation to be the first in Europe to grant this justice to its women."

"So far as the world generally is concerned, this information will be as lightning from a clear sky. For aside from those directly interested, the question of suffrage for the women of France has been a sealed book to other nations. Twenty years ago in France it was the butt of jest and ridicule and a favorite theme with cartoonists. Ten years ago it had here and there a partisan among men in and out of official life and virtually none among women, save perhaps 10,000 members of our two associations. Six months before the war sympathy with the project had increased perhaps 10 per cent. among French people of both sexes. Eighteen months after the war's beginning both the nation and the world had fully recognized the patriotism and devotion displayed by the women of France, and suffrage for our sex found its partisans doubled, although a strong majority against votes for women remained."

"Now, thirty-odd months after the beginning of hostilities and, as it were, spontaneously following a great wave of admiration, gratitude, and appreciation due to the role played by women in these trying times, suffrage for French women, without a fight, won its first victory, and finds the majority in and out of official life in favor of making it in some form a law of the nation. From this sentiment has come the concrete proposition that is to become a law. A canvass of members in both houses of Parliament denotes that the bill about to be presented by Alexander Varenne, Minister of the Interior, awaits only legalized formality to become incorporated in the laws of France. It proposes, and we have accepted, as the entering wedge that the vote shall be given to women of twenty-eight years of age and over and in manners of municipal election only in gratitude for the services rendered the nation by its women during the war."

"We frankly want universal suffrage without restriction upon the basis of justice and equity, but we are willing and glad to take in restricted form at the outset a feminine right to vote, believing it will only be a question of time, and little time relatively at that, when the women of France will be free to vote upon all matters."

"How long have you had an active organization working for suffrage?" was asked.

"For about ten years," replied Madame Schlumberger, "eighty active groups of Suffrage for Women Societies have existed in France, to which women in all walks of life were attached. We have worked quietly and persistently within our own land, so much so that, aside from official relation with the international association in the United States, little has been heard of our efforts beyond our frontiers. We were working upon lines that we felt would end in success, but we realized that success was far off. Now, through the war, it is coming to us in a modified form. We welcome it in the gratitude it expresses, as well as in partial justice to a just cause."

The Use of Opium.

Opium is the dried juice of the white poppy, a flower that grows in many parts of Asia. A few days after the flowers have fallen off the plants men go through the fields in the afternoon and make little cuts in the poppy-head. Out of these cuts a milky juice oozes, which dries into a brown sticky paste. Every morning the men go through the fields again and scrape off this paste, which they put into jars. Later on it is made into half-pound balls and then packed for shipment. In China it is usually used for smoking, either with tobacco or pure. In America and in Europe it is used chiefly for making laudanum and paregoric. Opium quiets the nerves and allays pain, and for that reason is a valuable drug, but it should never be touched except as ordered or used by a physician.

Wedding Presents.

Wedding-presents in Hungary are only given to poor couples to help them to get their home together. The girl friends of the bride show attention by making cakes of various kinds to be partaken of at the marriage feast. There is no wedding-cake, as we understand it, but each guest receives a kind of sweet cake of the substance of cracknel biscuits, made in the form of a ring about ten inches in diameter.

FARM AND LIVE STOCK

FEEDING EWES IN WINTER.

Grain Ration Necessary to Secure Best Results at Lambing Time.

Large lamb losses are due to improper care of ewes previous to lambing. The feeding practice followed at the Pennsylvania State college is as follows:

Ewes are bred during September and October, insuring February and March lambs. The latter part of November ewes are taken off pasture and placed in winter quarters. During the first month they receive as much clover or alfalfa hay as they will consume with two and one-half to three pounds of corn silage or roots daily to each animal, in addition to hay. About Jan. 1 ewes receive a limited grain ration varying from one-fourth to one-half pound per day, depending on their condition.

The Oxford Down sheep is a double cross, being made up of the Hampshire ewe, a cross bred animal, with the Cotswold ram. It is the largest of this class of sheep. It produces an excellent mutton carcass, and, as the fleece is worsted wool and weighs seven pounds on an average, it is a profitable breed. The sheep shown is an Oxford.

Ewes receiving a grain ration before lambing always produce more milk for lambs. The grain mixture used at State College farm consists of five parts of shelled corn, three parts of oats, two parts of wheat bran and one part of oilmeal.

After lambs are born the ewe will not consume as much roughage feed. More grain is then necessary to give a milk flow sufficient for the best growth of the lamb. The grain mixture should be increased, therefore, one-half pound or more daily per ewe, depending on her condition and also upon the number of lambs she is raising.

Next to proper feeding, exercise is considered the most important factor in keeping ewes in good condition for lambing. Exercise lots should be well drained to prevent sore feet. It is well to allow ewes to range on pasture during the winter, since exercise gives strength and enables them to produce lambs with less effort and of a stronger, more vigorous type.

FERTILIZING WHEAT.

For Spring Application Acid Phosphate is Recommended.

For wheatfields not fertilized last fall nor manured during the winter, the Ohio experiment station recommends for application in early spring, on nearly all soils that have been under long cultivation, from 200 to 300 pounds of acid phosphate to the acre. Nitrate of soda has paid for itself in some experimental field tests, but the present cost of potassium prohibits its use this year.

In the station's fertility tests 100 pounds of acid phosphate have produced increase in the yields of corn, oats, wheat and hay worth more than $4 at ordinary farm prices. Nitrate of soda alone has been unprofitable, but its addition to acid phosphate has paid well on Wooster soil although barely sufficient to justify its use at Strongsville, Germantown and Carpenter substations. These materials may easily be sown by hand in the spring before growth starts and are soluble in the soil for the use of plants. Because of the limited response of wheat to potassium and because of its high price this year the experiment station advises against the use of this element for the present wheat crop and urges farmers to preserve all barnyard manure carefully to supply the necessary potassium.

THE MONTREAL CONFERENCE

The Montreal Conference statistical secretary reported that 5017 members and adherents of the conference had gone to the front.
Rev. Daniel Mick, Montreal, was appointed assistant secretary, Rev. Joseph Pinel, Danville, statistical secretary, and Rev. G. W. Smith, Moulinette, journal secretary.
Rev. C. J. L. Bates was tendered a very hearty welcome when he presented the report of the church in Japan. He outlined the work he has been engaged on for the past 14 years, laying particular emphasis on the leadership political, industrial, agricultural and educational—mentioning the influence exerted in Korea, Mongolia, Manchuria and the Hawaiian Islands and urged that the influence of Christianity in the East in its supreme spiritualistic force be brought to bear on the people of Japan where they had 246 self supporting churches and in Kobe where there were enrolled 1280 students. Mr. Bates spoke of the work he is to take up on his return to Japan next year, when he will assume the leadership of the Central Tabernacle, an institution that ministers to the spiritual needs of the 3500 students of college grade now attending the Imperial University, which the speaker declared was equal in standing to the Yale or Johns Hopkins Universities.
The Missionary Committee recommended the adoption of the Missionary Board objective of $800,000 for missions this year. The Montreal Conference share of this amount will be $91,900, an increase of $18,400.

LANARK AND RENFREW PRESBYTERY

A pro-nata meeting of the Presbytery of Lanark and Renfrew was held in St. Andrew's Church here, on Friday last, to receive and deal with certain petitions coming up to the Presbytery from the session and other members of St. Andrew's Church, Renfrew. The meeting was convened at about 11 o'clock by the Moderator, Rev. E. B. Horne, M.A., of Renfrew. After devotional exercises Rev. J. J. Mond's was elected moderator pro tem.
The conduct of the moderator and clerk in calling the meeting was sustained, the business to come before Presbytery was outlined. There were two appeals to Presbytery, and two petitions to be considered.
The first appeal, presented by four members of session, was an appeal to Presbytery against the ruling of the moderator of the Session of St. Andrew's Church, Renfrew. At a previous meeting of Session to that at which the case came up, Mr. J. H. Walford was dismissed from the session, until such time that he expressed sorrow for his conduct. At a subsequent meeting of session a petition from certain members of the congregation praying to have Mr. Walford re-instated was presented. Inasmuch as it involved a question already dispatched by the session, it was pointed out by the Moderator that it could not come up again in that way, and at that time, as a motion to reconsider a decision of the session cannot be entertained at any subsequent time, unless notice of such motion has been given at a previous sederunt. A motion to reconsider can only be made and seconded by members who voted in the majority. As none of these requirements were fulfilled, the Moderator ruled that the matter could not then come up. Against this ruling the appeal was made. At the meeting of session, the appellants being dissatisfied with the ruling of the chair, wished to appeal to the session against the moderator. The Moderator in this request stated that the question of sustaining the ruling of the chair, was to be referred to Presbytery. In this appeal, the conduct of the Moderator was upheld.
The second appeal was touching the legality, or illegality of the action of the session. The appellants were asking the Presbytery to declare the dismissal of Mr. Walford illegal. The appellants were heard, as well as other members of the session, who upheld the action of the session. The hour for adjournment came before Presbytery had time to deliberate upon the appeal.
This appeal, as well as Mr. Walford's petition to the Presbytery to declare his dismissal null, void and of none effect, will come up for discussion at an adjourned meeting of Presbytery to be held in St. Andrew's Church, Carleton Place, on Tuesday, June 19th, at 10.30 a.m. At that meeting the Presbytery is also asked to take cognizance of all matters relating to the condition of affairs in the session at Renfrew.

THIN-BLOODED MEN AND WOMEN

Need the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.
Thin-blooded people do not remain so from choice but from indifference, in some cases from despair. People who are languid, with palpitation of the heart, some difficulty in breathing and a tendency to be easily tired are suffering from thin blood. They need only the resolution to take the right treatment and stick to it until cured. The remedy that can be relied upon is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. With every dose they make new blood, and new blood means health and strength. The red cheeks, good appetite, increased weight and strength that follow the use of these pills prove their great value to thin-blooded people. Here is an example: Mrs. J. McDonald, Jr., Hay, Ont., says: "I honestly believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life. Some years ago I had anaemia, and as I did not realize the seriousness of the trouble I soon became a complete wreck. I got so weak I could hardly walk. I neither ate nor slept well, and could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. At times I had an almost unbearable pain in my back and would have to remain in bed. I suffered almost constantly from a dull headache, and when sweeping if I would stoop to pick up anything I would get so dizzy that I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. At times my heart would beat so fast that I would have a smothering sensation. My eyes were sunken and my hands and limbs would be swollen in the mornings. I tried several kinds of medicine without benefit and my friends thought I would not recover. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before long could see and feel that they were helping me. I gladly continued the use of the pills until I was completely cured and I cannot say enough in their praise, and I strongly recommend them to all run down girls and women."
You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
