the wheat surplus of the four leading exporting countries showed a loss of 435, 300,000 bushels, lifted the market today for a brief period, but the rest of the time prices were weak, largely on account of indifferent cables. Final trades count of indifferent cables. Final trades ranged from ½ to ½ c under last night. Corn closed ½ to ¼ c down, oats ½ c off to a shade up, and provisions at 5 c o27½ c decline. Although the alleged remarkable cutting down of export possibilities was stated to have revolutionized the wheat attention transferring the ized the wheat situation, transferring the outlook from one of plenty to one of probable scarcity, the buils who gave out the figure: did not succeed in arous-ing much enthusiasm. General com-mission house selling and profit-taking seemed to form an insurmountable bar-rier. The temper of the trade has been given a bearish turn by disappointing foreign dispatches right at the start, not-withstanding a previous exhibit of strength on this side of the Atlantic, Liverpool paying more heed to pressing $7.
Argentine offers and to lack of consumptive demand. Besides, weather conditions were favorable in the United States winter crop belt, and there was no improvement here in respect to cash The net result was an easy one in the end, with prices almost at he bottom point of the session. Bethe bottom point of the session. Between the opening and the close May fluctuated from $1 00% to $1 01, and finished at $1 00½, a loss of ½c net. Heavy profit-taking wiped out an advance in corn. The setback was in part owing to talk of a record-breaking crop in Argentina. May varied from 68½ to 50% c. Cash grades were in only fair demand. Oats eased off with other grain. There was a firm undertone, however, attributed more to the paucity of offerings than to any buying. Outside limits touched for May were 52% c to 52½ c and 53% c. with last sales at 52% c to 52½ c and 53% c. with last sales at 52% c to 52½ c, just ½c drop from 24 hours ago. A large run of hogs- pulled down provisions. Offers were rather free on the part of longs and packers. When the last gong struck, pork was 25c to 27½ c off, lard down, 5c to 15c, and ribs decreased in cost 5c to 7½ c.

Pastor of Cooke's Church Fears Loss of Individuality. Toronto, Feb. 26 .- Dr. Andrew Tay lor, D. D., preaching to a capacity congregation in Cooke's Church, Quee street, last evening, placed himself on record as being opposed to church

"If this union be formulated," said Dr. Taylor, "It will cost us the loss of a great name which bears upon it the Christian progression and persecution The Presbyterian Church is the only witnessing church for Christ which united with that of any other denom ination, will lose this distinction and become merely a working church The end proposed would mean the loss of our inspiration and, although we would save the evil of waste in church work, is this consideration worth the loss of our individuality? Discussing the :tatement of Dr. Miligan that the churches should unite against the Roman Catholics, the speaker said he was tired of the recent avalanche of sermons against that sect, and heartily wished that they were over. "To unite against the Church of Rome should be of no con sideration," said he, 'as the Presby terians were united against them strongly enough as it was. ### THE OTTAWA CRISIS.

It is useless for the Government newspapers any longer to assert that the stories of division and rebellion in mere fiction. Everybody knows better. Scarcely a week has passed since Mr. Borden took office in which he been in hot water. He has been time and again on the edge of His Government lives from day to day, from hand to mouth, on the sufferance of the Nationalists. On the navy question it is in a quandary. so compromised is Mr. Borden, so bound hand and foot by his association with Mr. Bourassa in the last On the Manitoba-Keewatin Mr. Bourassa's man Friday, Mr. Armand Lavergne, has been at Ottawa for days holding the club over the Premier's head. Now the master himself appears at the capital, having first awed the Premier by a telegram of warning which caused the postponement of his motion to consider the Manitoba boundary. It is clear that if the Premier does not concede Mr. Bourassa's claims for separate schools in Manitoban Keewatin, a Nationalist mutiny is threatened.

This is no comfortable position for Mr. Borden. It is, however, the Nemesis of his own policy. He tied himself up with those people, did any thing to get elected, and now he must either resign or go on tendering Nationalist advice on everything to the King's representative in Canada

His open announcement that he is in the field for the Republican nomination causes no surprise. Everyone had read his mind in his speeches and articles for months past. His acknowl edgment merely quickens the pace of the campaign. He will, of course, add greatly to its spectacular interest. The feud in the Republican ranks is growing in bitterness. There will a crescendo of excitement until the party convention in June. Whether Taft or Roosevelt gets the nomination, it is not likely that the breach will be healed before the election. The prosnects of Democratic success are greatly brightened.

Roosevelt's tactics are obvious. La Follette's retirement has made it easier for him to put himself at the head of the Progressives or insurgent Republicans. He has practically adopted La Follette's plaftorm, going even so far as to advocate, though somewhat vaguely, the recall of judges "as a last resort." He has flouted Taft's attitude toward the trust problem, and emphasized other points of difference.

The President has no intention of being elbowed aside by the former president. His fighting blood is up. In | night?" his Lincoln Day speech, he called the advocates of the recall "political emotionalists, or neurotics," a drive at the Progressives which they will not forget. This drew from Medill McCormick, former owner of the Chicago Tribune, and head of the Roosevelt national committee in Washington, the following bitter reply:

"The Administration has embarked upon a policy of political 'suicide' and murder'-murder if possible and suicide if necessary. In its effort to discredit the friends of Mr. Roosevelt it has sought to destroy the Republicans who favor his candidacy, and has cast its lot with the moribund reactionary leaders of the Republican party, at the risk of losing the support of the great mass of Progressive voters throughout the coun-

The war in the bosom of the Republican party gives the Democrats an opportunity they have not had for twenty years. With a safe man like Woodrow Wilson as their candidate, they would face a divided enemy with every hope of success.

BACK TO THE LAND. The following is extracted from an article in the Canadian Courier on "Leaving the Dear Old Farm":

"On Wednesday, Feb. 7, on a homestead in the township of East Wawanosh, county of Huron, there was a family gathering to celebrate the lden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John gnew. Nine sons and daughtersre present, all raised on this dear d Wawanosh farm, There was Dr. ar by; Robert Agnew, dentist, from

Alberta; Dr. William Agnew, Dayton, Ohio; James Agnew, dentist, Dayton, of butter, four eggs and six slices Ohio; Dr. John Agnew, Crestline, Ohio; Miss Hannah Agnew and Miss Millicent Agnew, nurses, Philadel-phia; one daughter living at home, and another married to a neighboring farmer. Doesn't this explain some of the movement from the farm? The boys and girls are being educated off the farm. If these boys, magnificent specimens of Canadian manhood as I know them to be, had been educated as scientific farmers, rather than as doctors and dentists, the population of Huron County had been larger and its agricultural production greater." Huron County has been with Bruce one of the great losers in the last decade. But other counties have lost just as badly, so far as farm population goes, while Huron and Bruce have no large towns to make up a showing. What the Courier says is perfectly true. Everybody knows several families like that of the Agnews, probably some that have altogether migrated from Ontario, whereas one-third of the Wawanosh family are still at or near home to cheer their parents' old age.

There can be no doubt that our system of education is largely responsible for the drift from the farm. Of course it is a world-wide movement and has engaged the attention of political economists in all countries. The multiplication of machinery and the love of social and artistic pleasures have much to do with it. But in those countries where education has lagged, the movement is less decided. The rural population of Russia, Austro-Hungary, India, etc., has kept in- of date almost before the paint is creasing. Hence the great increase in their agricultural production as compared with other countries. Great as are the benefits conferred upon more advanced nations by the modern school system, it has its incidental defects which ought to be remedied.

The one great object of education should be to enable the citizen to get the most solid satisfaction out of his life and work, through being of the greatest use to others, and at present the farm wants men. We need to readjust the balance in our education. Industrial training is coming in for the children of the towns, and agricultural bent should be given to the rural curriculum.

All skip diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters.

This is due to the unrivalled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the im-

SYMPATHY.

[By Cynthia Grey.]
I have received no less than three appealing letters in the last week from young single women who are the main support of their families and whose mothers have nothing in sympathy with them.

One young woman asks me why she cannot enlist the respect of her mother, much less the sympathy and encouragement. She says: "I would love my mother if she would let me do so." Imagine the pathos of such a condition

A mother is the most important personage in the world. Of course, we all realize that many women are mothers who do not appreciate or even desire the dignity.

Some girls grow up to womanhood and are obliged to find some one outside of their homes who has a tender, sympathetic heart for their troubles. It's a great pity that women bring children into the world and yet have not enough intelligence. have not enough intelligence to command their respect by love alone.

To compel their children to understand that the first and sincerest friend, under all conditions is mother, no matter what she has had to bear, she will, if a true mother, always show a leving appearance to her children. There are women so superior that their children never know or see them otherwise than happy. Those children reverence and respect the It is strange, but mothers, as a rule, get more pleasure from their sons than they get from their daughters. I have generally judged boys all through my life by their attitude toward their mothers. If a boy is well bred, surely his mother is responsible, and a girl can see at once whether he has had correct bringing up by the attentions which he pays to her and her mother. You rarely see a boy fear to talk candidly with his sweetheart's mother if he has a nice mother of his own. Hence the responsibility of judgment of such mothers.

Mistakes occur during the period of from 7 to 17 years of age. the children are beginning to observe. And from that day mother should be-the children are beginning to observe. And from that day mother should begin to be their best friend. Impressions are stamped indelibly at that tender age, and the woman who will let her children see her own petty weaknesses then will lose their respect forever after.

Unfortunately, I have no cure or hilp to offer the girls who feel the estrangement of their mothers, but I will console them by showing them the way to prevent the same condition existing with their own future offspring.

A glorious gift is a fine mother, and I feel a great pity for the girls who have grown into womenhood without one. have grown into womanhood without one Remember: Be worthy by unselfishdignity.

ALD. BLANDFORD MADE CHAIRMAN

Special Committee on Street Railway Held a Meeting on Saturday.

DEPUTATION PRESENT

Matter of Extension Taken Up and Deputation From the North End Was Heard.

At the first meeting of the special street railway committee on Saturday was decided, on the suggestion of Ald. Bennett, to ask the Dominion railway commission, whether or not they would allow a level crossing over the C. P. R. at either Wellington or Adelaide streets, to provide accommodation for the north end. The whole question of better street car service was discussed at some length, but nothing was decided. The north end residents were asked to place their views on extensions in writing, so that they may be before the committee when final settlement of the matter was made. The first business transacted was the election of a chairman for the committee. Several nominations were made, but finally Ald. Blandford was persuaded to take the chair.

Deputation Present. A large deputation from the north end was present, and it was agreed to hear what they had to say. Mr. W. Walker was the first spokesman, and he pointed out the needs of the north end. Every portion of the city was provided with street railway accommodation but the north end. There was district seven-eighths of a mile square without a car line at all, and he thought it time that the needs of that section of the city were attended to. He did not think that a line running up Quebec street to the C. P. R. depot, which was in the county, should come before their lines. His proposal to satisfy the north end would be to extend a line from either Wellington or Richmond streets along Victoria to William street, and down William street to Oxford, and then south across the C. P. R. by either William or Adelaide streets, connecting with the Belt Line at Central

A Subway.

"I think a subway, as proposed, would be rather expensive, too expensive in fact," said Mr. Walker. 'I think interswitching would be allowed, and the expense would be very little. The cross-town line is a necessary thing, and will have to come some time.'

Mr. W. Ashman explained that the north end had waited a long time for street railway accommodation. They had paid taxes some of them for twenty years, and were not as well situated as people who lived at Pottersburg, Broughdale and other sub-

"The returns from increased assessment and the development of the north end will soon pay for any expense the city might incur," said Mr. Geoghegan.

Mr. King pointed out that for better service throughout the city it would be necessary to double-track Horton street, from Wellington Richmond, Hamilton road, from Mamelon to Rectory, and York street, from Ridout to Wortley road. "The Dominion railway commission will not allow a level crossing at either Adelaide or William streets. It is dangerous, and It is practically certain that the commission would not allow it." "What is the difference between constructing another switch, and allowing the cars to run over Richmond street?" asked Mr. Ashman. "They have to come down on the level in any event. I think the commission would grant such a request."

No Change in Line.

A suggestion was made that the Oxford street line be transferred east of Maitland street, but some of the delegates made objection to that. "Put your ideas in writing," explained Ald. Richter. "We have heard what you want, but it would be better to have in writing what you desire."

The north end citizens agreed to this and withdrew A short conference followed on street railway matters in general. Ald. Rose pointed out that a better service was needed in the south and north ends particularly, to which Mr. King agreed. The latter pointed out that it would be an casy matter to put on more cars and operate them, if the strips of track sug gested were double-tracked. "The company should put down the strip on Horton street at its own ex-

A Level Crossing.

Ald. Bennett thought it advisable to have the opinion of the Dominion railway commission as to whether or not they would allow a level crossing at either Adelaide or William streets. He moved that this opinion be secured, and the committee agreed with him. In the meantime the matter will stand until an answer is received, and the committee will receive suggestions from the north end citizens.

Those present at the meeting were Ald. Blandofrd chairman, Ald. Richter, Bennett, Spittal, Johnston, Coles, Moore, Rose, Robinson, City Engineer Wright, and Secretary S. Baker.

"FLYING SQUADRON" DID SPLENDID WORK

Police Were at Jail in Jig Time When Call Came for

The development of London's "Flying Squadron" was amply demonstrated Saturday, when the police responded to the call for assistance from the county jail, when O'Brien and La Motte met with a certain degree of success in attempting to secure freedom on the eve of their trials. The alarm given by Miss Harris, the matron at the jail, was received by bhone at the Carling street station by Sergt. McDonald, who was on duty at the time. P. C. Patrick Riches, who was also in the station, loaded up with Patrol Driver Arthur L. Venner, and galloping around to the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, picked up P. C. John Creene, who was stationed at that point.

Galloped to the Jail. Making their way down the street to the jail at a mad gallop, the officers found that the men had not yet gained their freedom, Riches and Venner investigated exits that might have afforded freedom to the thugs, while Creene rushed downstairs and into the southeast exercise yard. He was followed by Riches, and the pair found their men returning to the jail door. after a futile attempt to break through the big gates in the south wall. O'Brien threw up his hands to offer battle, but was grabbed by Creene, who threw his arm about in a trick-hold, rendering the man helpless. He continued to struggle, however, and only ceased when he was slugged between the shoulders with the officer's baton. Lamotte was more easily handled, and cautioned the officers and turnkeys not to grow excited.

Din't Like the Gun. He also persisted in his efforts to keep from in front of a revolver carried by Turnkey Sproule.

In entering the building the men vere led through a steel door which is oung on pivots in the centre, O'Brien was kept constantly covered by Sproule and showed his uneasiness by protesting vigorously.

"Be careful of that gun, old man, he is said to have told the turnkey. You're nervous, and it may go off." O'Brien and LaMotte were taken to a secure cell and stripped of their clothing. Everything was again searched to make certain that they had no tools or weapons in their possession, but nothing was found.

CORRESPONDENCE

ADV. CORRESPONDENCE. Unfair Competition.

To the Editor of The Advertiser. Permit me a little space in your paper for the following remark.

I notice from an advertisement that the City of London has opened up a sales department and are selling electrical fixtures and specialties. As understand it is for the object of making more money for the city. There cannot be any other reason because it cannot be the accommodation for the public, as the public could get the same articles in the stores of London; and if the question is of adding a certain income to the city, why not open up a drygoods epartment, grocery department, etc.? The question I wish to ask is where de we come in, who are paying taxes to the city for operating the same business. Of course the city can afford to sell goods at a better price because they are not paying any business taxes at all, while we who are paying taxes to the city, keeping employees, paying rent and having all kinds of expenses, will have to compete with the city at a loss.

London, Feb. 24. The Springbank Car Service.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I would like through the columns of your valuable paper to bring to notice of the people—the power behind the throne—the exceedingly courteous and generaus conduct of the London street railway officials in the recent

The 5:15 Springbank car left London between 7 and 8 o'clock with a dozen or more passengers, to whom the ticket-box was speedily passed, and, assured that they would reach their desination the same day, deposited their nickel therein. They never reached Woodland, for one after the other the uses burned out. The conductor, for whom too much praise cannot be said waded through the snowdrifts and telephoned to the city for assistance. This arrived about 10 o'clock in the shape of a snowplow, and the car and those of the passengers who had not tried to walk to Byron were taken back to London and there requested to spend the night with their friends, that the car would not return to Springbank that night, also that the line would not be opened until the city lines were open. One of the pas-sengers, who at the time of writing (Friday) is still in the city awaiting the convenience of the railway and bearing her own expenses, would like to know whether the street railway is not bound by the same rules as the railroad companies, i.e., to bear the necessary expenses of those pas-sengers who through the inability or through their unwillingness to make the effort (as in this case had the snowplow been sent shead no one doubts but that the car could have gone through) until such time as they do take the passengers to their destination. Four of the passengers on the car walked from London back to their nome through the storm. Three ladies I know are still in the city.

Another thing that should take a little attention of the people, or those in power, is the station waitingroom (?) provided by this company at their Springbank terminal. Another thing that requires mending is the manners of some of the officials of whom inquirles were made about the opening of the line, who seemed to consider it a huge joke that ladies should suffer the inconvenience of routing out friends at 1:30 a.m., and being detained from the homes for two days.

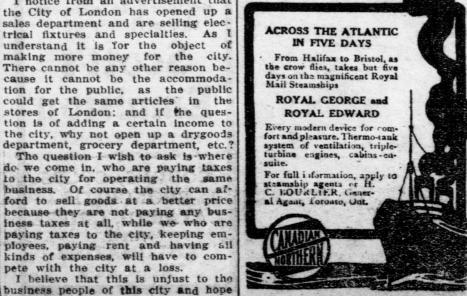

The passengers consider the conduct of the motorman and conductor on this car all that could be desired. A PASSENGER. London, Feb. 23.

Mr. Ahearn was appointed to meet the baseball people and offer them all the weekdays and choice of half the Saturdays, and two holidays from May 1 to Aug. 31, on the basis of 10 per cent of gate admissions. Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Canadian League baseball will hold forth at Lansdowne Park this summer. Though it has not been generally known, the venue of organized ball in the capital was in abeyance over the inability of the board of clide which was entitled to rent this park for athletic purposes. Last week, at a meeting of the board, it was decided this matter should come under the association's affairs. The first meeting of the meeting of the exhibition was held yesterday, when the award was finally made to the baseball people. THE FIRST HALF. On commencing play the Red Wing was called on to make many stops, which he did in fine style. Once in a while Butterfield or Jupp would break away, but they were well looked after by Gooch and Sidley, and what got past this great defence pair was ably handled by Laird. The Paddlers kept banging away at Orillia's citiadel, "Mock" McKenzie finally beating Cook on a nice shot from in front of the net. This was the only scoring done in the first half, and the players of both teams received with great pleasure the sound of the gong for the resting period, as the strenuous playing completely exhausted them.

THE SECOND HALF. resuming play Orillia continued On resuming play Orilla continued their defensive game, as was prevalent in the first half, but the Canoe Club boys were simply buzzing around them like hornets, and McKenzie was right on the job to bat in a rebound before Cook could think of clearing. Dopp made it No. 3 a few minutes later on a beautiful side shot, and Romeril, taking the puck from the face-off, beat Cook on a high shot from almost centre ice. This latter goal rather discouraged Cook, who had been playing a stellar game all evening, and a few minutes later he let a very approximate well by which Donn shot from one roll in which Dopp shot from Cook, in goal, and Butterfield, at rover, were also good, the latter giving some grand exhibitions of stick-handling despite the sticky condition of the ice. McNab played rather a good game at cover, but marred his usefulness by his frequent trips to the penalty box.

PADDLERS GOOD IN SPOTS. The Canoe Club team only showed their usual class at times, but at that every man played a good game. Laird, in goal, had not an awful lot to do, but what he did he did well, and the two that got in were utter impossibilities. Sidley and Gooch played a grand defence game, the former doing some nice rushhim picked, and he was subject to all kinds of abuse when he went into the enemy's territory, which was greatly responsible for McNab's many penalties. The other two that departed from Detroit are catchers, Bradley Wilson Kocher and John J. Onslow. Five newspaper representatives completed the party.

It was intended to leave the city one minute after the noon hour yesterday. This would have brought the party into Cincinnati late last night and assured them of connections with the Queen and Crescent train which leaves Cincinnati this morning. Mr. Lavergne arrived in Ottawa week, immediately upon learning the announcement of Premier Borden that he would move the House into con sideration of the Manitoba boundary extension at Friday's sitting. It was proposed by the Government at that time to leave the school question severely alone, transferring the responsibility for dealing with it to the Manitoba Government. On receipt o the news of Mr. Borden's announce ment, Mr. Bourassa, who was in Quebec, is reported by his followers to have sent a long and emphat telegram, demanding that the Premier's programme be abandoned, and the matter should not brought before the House until the coming week, a mandate which was evidently obeyed, since Mr. Borden disappointed the crowded galleries by making no allusion to the subject promised Ambassador Lavergne. The Nationalist leader was unable at that time to visit Ottawa himself being engaged at the Quebec Legis-laturt with the Ultramontane issues he has raised in connection with Mr Justice Charbonneau's judgment in the Hebert case. ### Eloquent Sermon Preached by the Pastor of New St. James' Church.

Rev. T. H. Mitchell, of New St. James' Presbyterian Church, was the preacher in the First Methodist Church Sunday evening, taking for his text a portion of the 46th verse of the first chapter of John, "Come and see." He told the story of Philip seeking out Nathaniel, and telling him of the Messiah who had come. The lat ter could not believe that any good thing could come out of Nazareth, but came to Jesus and was convinced. The progress of science during the past 300 years was due altogether to the process of induction. The same is true of religion. If a man does not believe in foreign missions, let him go and see. He would be convinced of their great power, as the commitsupporters of the Government, and if tee of businessmen were not many necessary to put the pistol to the years ago. Nathaniel has a creed, and that creed was that nothing good could come out of Samaria. Philip's plea is not for a creed, but for Christ. The church today is getting away from creeds, and back to Christ. Rev. Mr. Mitchell strongly advocated church union. The outer, exterso prevalent in home fields, when

Chancellor A. L. McCrimmon of McMaster University in Talbot Street Church.

Chancellor A. L. McCrimmon, of McMaster University, conducted anniversary services morning and evening in Talbot Street Baptist Church on Sunday. In the morning he spoke on "The Gospel of Christ." The gospel is needed today as it has always been needed, he pointed out. If there were no need for the church's functions there would be no need for Christ in the world. Blasphemies, sensuality, obscenities and sin darken the heathen world.

Touching on the power of the gospel of Jesus Christ in the building of national life, Chancellor McCrimmon said that the great organizing force

BECK BILL A SWEEPING ONE

Latest Measure Is Calculated to Cover Heat Franchise Matters.

SITUATION IN LONDON

Offer May Be Made by the City to Purchase Rights of Helena Costumo Company Franchise.

The latest Beck bill referring to Niagara power is rather more sweeping than was first anticipated, and may have an important bearing on the franchise of the Helena Costume Com-A clause is inserted giving the commissioners the right to take over heating franchises, and rights to sell electricity such as enjoyed by the ompany here. It is understood that the local situation had much to do with framing the proposed legislation although a somewhat similar state of affairs ex-

It is possible, although none of those interested in the matter would admit it, that an offer would be made to the Helena Costume Company to purchase their franchise rights, both for heating and lighting. The city would then go into the heating business on its own account, using the surplus power to correct the peak load. The difficulty of supplying customers who want direct current would also be solved by this process, and altogether it is thought power and increase their earnings. A Sweeping Measure.

"The Beck bill gives the hydraelectric commission the right to take service. over heating plants, such as the Helena Costume Company," a gentleman in close touch with the hydroelectric commission informed The 108 108 108 1 Advertiser. "Heating by steam is becoming a most important matter, and and in other places, and it is proposed to give the hydro-electric commission control of this, so that municipalities may, without any great expense, prevent extensive franchises for heating teing secured. It is quite possible that the city may make overtures to the Helena Company for the purchase of their plant, but that is a development of the future. The bill is very sweeping indeed." Much interest is being taken in the announcement, and it is expected that something definite will be an-

A Presentation.

The staff of the Huron and Erie Loan and Savings Company presented Miss H. T. McCallum with a handsome travelling bag on the occasion of her leaving the employ of that company after a service of thirteen years. Leg Fractured.

Willie Bowen, aged 9, who resides at 101 Wellington road, had his leg fractured this afternoon while playing on the ice at the Grand avenue school. He was rushed to Victoria Hospital Phipps.

A Franchise Talk. It is probable that the conference to be held Monday night between the board of workse, No. 3 committee and the water commissioners, relative to the Helena Costume Company and the Greene-Swift heating franchises, will be called off. Chairman Pocock, of the commission, will be out of the city, and other members find it impossible to attend.

Camp Wages. An order issued by Col. Hodgins states that all city corps which go under canvas this year will be allowed pay for whatever time is put in in addition to the pay authorized for the usual twelve day's training. The total amount of pay is, however, limited to 16 days. The Sixth Field Battery will go into camp from June 5 to 20.

Meeting Postponed. The curling games, which were to have been played in St. Thomas tonight between five rinks from the Thistles and the St. Thomas rinks for the McDonald-Emslie trophy have been postponed until Wednesday evening. The local men have to make 37 points to win, as the other team has a lead of 36. One of the greatest contests of the season is looked for. "The Other Man." "The Other Man" was the subject of Rev. W. H. A. Claris' morning sermon in the Southern Congregational Church on Sunday. His text was John xxi., 21, "Lord, what shall this man do?" "Don't look over your shoulder." "Don't look over your shoulder," said Mr. Claris, "to see what the other man is doing. Pray for him, love him, but don't let his action affect your ork and your sincere labor for God. At 70 years of age, Mrs. Catherine McLellan, wife of Neil McLellar, formerly of Mount Carmel, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Jas. Burgess, 136 Sydenham street, on Sunday. The deceased is survived by that Patrick O'Brien, alias William her husband, two sons, John and Alexander, Mount Carmel Township, and five daughters, Mrs. Sadlier, of Talbot street; Mrs. Burgess, of Sydenham street; Mrs. John McFalls, of Lucan; Mrs. Teeple, of McGillivray and Miss Bella McLellan at home. The funeral will be held on Wednesday from 136 Sydenham street to the G T. R. station at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made at Nairn Cemetery. Death of James Lucas.

James Lucas, aged 55 years, died at his residence, 110 Langarth street, on Sunday. The deceased was born in visiting with Mrs. L.
