A. F. OF L. CALLS ON U.S. GOVERNMENT TO START DISARMAMENT MOVE

Harding Is Urged To Call Conference of World Powers To Discuss Naval Armaments—Sinn Fein Element Presents Resolution Calling For Boycott On British-Made Goods.

Denver, Col., June 15 .- President Harding and Congress are urged to lead the way in bringing about world disarmament in a resolution presented today in the 41st annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

They are requested to call a conference of the powers of the world, "with the hope and in the belief that through such conference the billions now being expended in navy armaments may be saved to the taxpayers of the several countries."

"The whole world contemplates with horror," said the resolution, the possibility of a race for naval power between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, similar to that between Great Britain and Germany, which preceded the great war.

'Such a race is inconsistent with and must serve to postpone and prevent general disarmament, to which the American tabor movement stands committed."

FAIL TO SUPPORT SINN FEIN. Sinn Fein sympathizers today replied to the warning sounded yesterday by J. H. Thomas, British labor leader, that organized labor of the United States could not solve the frish question, by introducing resolutions demanding action on the part of the convention supporting the "Irish republic. Failing to get recognition in the resolution drasted by the commi tee appointed by a mass meeting of the Sinn Fein sympathizers, representatives of the "Irish republic" presented two resolutions demanding boycott of British-made goods and concerns in this country by United States workers.

The boycott resolutions, presented by T. J. Hind, secretary of the labor bureau of the American Com mission on Irish Independence, have caused the split among the Sim F ein faction to widen. They are reported to have been drawn by "high officials of the Irish republic," but they failed to get the support of the delegates who signed the resolution drafted by a committee of Sinn Fein sympathizers.

same time be comprehensive and cover the topic thoroughly from all angles, is an almost impossible feat, and I have been obliged to restrict my effort to a few words on some of the outstanding features of the present situation, and a few suggestions as to how some at least of the obstacles may be overcome or at any rate reduced in improvance. duced in importance.

Perhaps I might quote Australia as an example of a country which was for many years a good and growing market for various classes of Canadian produce and manufactures should not meet with a ready tures should not meet with a ready market.

South and Central America have suffered much the same experience as the West Indies and Cuba in that unteresting to the work of the listand, in which case there is no reason why some lines of Canadian produce and manufactures should not meet with a ready market.

Australia's imports.

During 1920, Australia's imports were extraordinarily heavy, due, in part, to the necessity for limiting her requirements during the war, and partially to the fact that orders in excess of actual requirements had been spread broadcast among manufacturers in England and the United States, then months behind in their output, in the hope that a certain proportion of these orders would be filled.

But with the lessening of industrial activity about a year ago manufacturers.

Australia's imports.

Imports divising to take delivery of goods, which have accumulated in vast quantities in many of the ports, and we fear will represent serious losses to the shippers and manufacturers.

Mexico, I am glad to say, provides a slightly brighter outlook, a very much lesser degree of inflation having occurred in that country, which at the present time is one of the very few on a gold basis, and with promise of a return to the stable government should offer a most promising field for Canadian exporters.

Under Normal Conditions.

Under normal conditions the Ausnegotiate good commercial paper drawn on Australian houses, and the practice of the Canadian banks was to discount such bills for their customers, forwarding them to their London benefits when the control of the cont where rediscounted through the Australian banks. Under the conditions which I have just described, however, the Canadian banks are unable to rediscount paper of this description, and their only means of disposing of it is to carry it until maturity, in which case they cannot be sure that even after the bills are paid by the drawees the Australian banks will be able to remit the funds.

funds to remit by draft on London in payment of the bill.

The Australian situation, as I have described it, applies to a greater or less extent to many of the other countries of the world, including the British Empire. New Zealand, South Africa and India. The situation is not at the moment as difficult as it was a few months ago, but whether it is a case of the bottom of the depression having been passed, or whether it is but a temporary recovery to be followed by perhaps a still more difficult time, it is hard to say.

So far as the United Kingdom and Continental Europe are concerned it is hardly necessary for me to describe the prevailing financial conditions, as you are all thoroughly familiar with them. As regards our immediate neighbors to the south, the same re-difficult one to deal with in a comparatively condensed form. It presents so many aspects that to prepare a paper which would be suitable for a gathering of this nature, and at the same time be comprehensive and cover the topic thoroughly from all angles.

saccessible. During the war and up till last year the British Government purchased the entire wool clip of the Commonwealth, and the whole of the exportable wheat surplus. Payment for these purchases was made in advance, and the funds were used to pay for imported goods, mainly from the United Kingdom and the United States.

Australia's Imports.

During 1920, Australia's Imports

South and Central America have suffered much the same experience as the West Indies and Cuba in that unteresting the war-time prosperity has been followed by the unavoidable effects of the subsequent drop in prices obtainable for natural products. In these countries the situation has not been imported by the action of numerous importance in cancelling orders and refusing to take delivery of goods, which have accumulated in vast quantities

But with the lessening of industrial activity about a year ago manufacturers hastily completed their foreign orders and the Australian importers found themselves committed to more than their requirements, while the London balance in the banks of the Australian banks rapidly became depleted, and a virtual breakdown in the exchange resulted.

You will remember that a moment ago I mentioned that payment for the bleted, and a virtual breakdown in the exchange resulted.

You will remember that a moment ago I mentioned that payment for the Imperial Government's purchases of wool and wheat had been made in advance—with the discontinuance of this system there was thus a period during which no money was coming in a period, say, from early in 1919, till after the marketing of the 1920 wheat crop and wool clip. The proceeds of the former are now coming to hand, and have to some extent relieved the situation, but owing to world-wide conditions last year's wool clip has not been disposed of, and the fact that, including the unsold portion of past clips, some 2,000,000 bales have been started across the border with the object of endouraging and assisting, financially and otherwise, the expansion of American overseas trade, but we have only to read the papers to see that in spite of the commendable enterprise shown by our neighbors, their exports are rapidly diminishing, and this fact, together with the speeches and papers which I mentioned a moment ago, shows clearly that there is no panacea for present conditions, and that we cannot hope for a return of prosperity in our export trade until our customers overseas have worked out their own salvation, and established themselves on a financial basis which will enable them to pay for their requirements.

More Cheerful.

I am afraid that with the excepgotiate bills drawn against goods shipped to the Commonwealth, and their Australian branches cannot undertake that in the case of bills sent them for collection the proceeds will be remitted promptly on payment.

Under Normal Conditions. Under normal conditions the Austemporary, should not make us downtralian banks were always prepared to hearted and give up in despair the at-after the bills are paid by the drawes the Australian banks will be able to remit the funds.

Difficuit Situation.

This situation is an exceedingly difficult one—Canadian bankers, as you know, have always adopted the policy of retaining an important percentage of their assets in liquid form, and I do not think that among my audience is any one who would be disposed to argue the wisdom of such a policy, a policy which has been vindicated time and time again by the successful manner in which Canadian banks have weathered the recurring perlods of depression, which are the experience of all countries, and particularly of young nations such as ours. Consequently, to discount Australian bills under the conditions I have described would be entirely contrary to the policy of liquidity which is the unfailing purpose of Canadian bankers, and the result is that a Canadian merchant, wishing to sell his goods in Australia, must be prepared, unless he can make some special arrangement, such as I shall refer to later, to wait for payment, not only until such time as the purchaser has paid for the goods, but until the Australian banks have accumulated in their London branches, through the sale of Australian produce, sufficient funds to remit by draft on London in payment of the bill.

The Australian situation, as I have described it, applies to a greater of the conditions I and so possible to many of the other leading Canadian banks operate foreign trade departments, which make a specialty of studying the world's markets, and collecting data for the goods, but until the Australian produce, sufficient funds to remit by draft on London in payment of the bill.

them. As regards our immediate neighbors to the south, the same remark applies.

West Indies.

Coming to the West Indies, which during the last few years have provided an ever growing market for Canadian produce and some lines of manufactured goods, we find that conditions at the moment are unsatisfactory. During the war, and up to the closing months of last year these colonies enjoyed exceptional prosper-

RESPECT FOR THE MIGHTY.

The sentimentals are still oozing sympathy for lovely murderers condemned to an instantaneous death by Gentle-minded people are naturally fascinated by the mad, bad, high-handed acts of gangsters who shed blood between cigarette puffs. It catches their breath to contemplate such heroes.

This is all very natural and eternally human. The feminine heart particularly gives a jump at the resounding manners of the hold-up artist, and among men a humorist rather enjoys the murderer's hardened grimace. Ordinary, common people, like the murderee, make one yawn, and their families are as uninteresting as their family album, but extraordinary, limelight gentlemen of the midnight road, smashing in bank doors and soft skulls with equal indifference, are a nine days' wonder. Practically everybody prefers the

It is the same with fiction as with reality. Take Shakespeare's Macbeth for example. Who cares a rap about old King Duncan, or his whole family? But Macbeth is a most interesting rascal, with a wife that must have been quite a vamp in her younger days and is still able to attract attention. We feel a sympthy with poor, struggling Macbeth when he says: "We've scotched the snake, not killed it"; we seem to be included in that "we." Macduff is like a sheriff, when he has Macbeth backed into a corner at the last, and we should like to pick up Macbeth in our motor and help him make a getaway. Oh, if a recent slayer could have caught a car that wasn't locked! Oh, if Richard III. could have caught a horse and kept his kingdom, too! We could forget about Clarence and those princes in the tower and the other victims who got in the way of Richard's high-powered motor now and then.

Consider the great sayings of high-powered villains. "Life's a walking shadow," observed Macbeth. "Nothing but trash in that book," said another as he threw the Bible out his window. Is it any wonder that the mob stands agog before these great men?

His description of the manners and customs of the Australian aborigines was replete with interest, and the account of his adventures among these cannibals was given so circumstantially and in such plausible detail that for a long! time no one doubted its authenticity.

Like the immortal Crusoe, Louis de Rougemont suffered shipwreck, the scene of this misfortune being on the north coast of Australia, at the part bounded by the Gulf of Carpenteria. In the article which appeared in The Advertiser, the writer places the whole blame on Lobo picnic, which is entirely wrong. At our first picnic meeting, held the 3rd of May, 1920, the date was set for the second Wednesday of June, and it was also decided then to hold our picnic on the second Wednesday of June each year in the future, regardless of the date. It being really a school picnic, the date suits the pupils, as it does not interfere with the exams. By doing this, over a year's notice was given to aid in eliminating any trouble with any other social event to come off in the neighborhood. An Excursion and an Alarm, As the only person who had yet discovered anything on the island, I was Also, I had a playfellow and companion for future walks; in lieu of Cuthbert answerable question which had lodged at the back of my mind like a crumb in the throat:

By what strange chance had the copra

the island? Since the discovery of Crusoe the former inhabit to the cabin in the clearing had been much in my thoughts. I had been dissatisfied with him from the beginning, first, because he was not a pirate, and, also, because he had left behind no relicemore fitting than a washtub. Not a locket, not a journal,

I had expressed these sentiments to Cuthbert Vane, who replied that in view of the wash-tub it was certain that the hermit of the island had not been a pirate, as he understood they never washed. I said neither did any orthodox hermit, to which Mr. Vane rejoined that he probably was not orthoday, but a Dissenter, He said Dissent-

THE SKIPPER SURELY

Having inquired of the Honorabla cuthbert and found that for an hour of two the boat would not be in requisition, I permitted the beautiful youth to understand that I would not decline an invitation to be rowed about the cove evploring with them. Under the great cliffs of the north shore of the bay had seen an object that excited my curiosity. It seemed to be the hull of small vessel, lying on the narrow strip of rocks and sand under the cliff. Now, wreckage anywhere fills me with sad and romantic thoughts, but on the of a desolate island even a barrel-hoor seems to suffer a sea-change into something rich and strange. And that even brisk pace side by side. many of the so-called Canadian men and women of letters were doing the bulk of their work under a foreign influence, and selling it on foreign markets. That Bliss Carmen had written the United States, and that Gilbert Parker could no longer be called a pure Canadian since he had become estab-lished for so many years in England.

"Why has Canada not a distinctive literature?" she questioned. No Distinctive Language.

And in answer, declared that in her opinion she believed Canada would opinion she believed Canada would have produced a literature of her own long ago had the Canadian people spoken and written in a language of their own. It was true that in that part of Canada which lay east of the Otawa River, where the language was French, a great literature had developed, so great that some of the writers were acknowledged by the French Academy as being among the 40 im-

How Do You Laugh?

Can you give me the physiology of laughter?

MISS L. H.

Answer.—Laughter is an automatic reaction of various muscle groups to various stimuli. We sneer with nose and eyes, grin with cheeks and ears, chuckle with diaphragm and throat. Derisive laughter is a chest reaction. Genuine joyful laughter is abdominal. It's a sad affliction, the futile abdomen. Genuine laughter increases intra-abdominal tension, and greatly improves general circulation and well-being. (Copyright National Newspaper Service) How Do You Laugh

HURONS LOST IN STORM OF ACES SET SCORING 24 HITS AND 17 RUNS

Calbert Takes Two Homers of Three Pounded Out-Londoners Fattened Averages Immensely.

SARNIA, June 14.-Buzz Wetzel's wrecking crew got to Winters in the sixth inning of today's game, the final of the series, and handed the Hurons the fanciest lacing they have received this year, burying the Piercemen under of 24 hits that cashed in for 17 runs, as compared to the 3 the Hurons grabbed off in the first stanza. Three home runs went over the fence, Hooker going the circuit unopposed once, and Calbert pushing two over the centre field fence. Had not Owen Kelly picked out the highest sign on the fence to hurdle, he would have been the fourth. Carmen was knicked nine hits. Hooker, who gathered in a perfet day at bat, grabbing off four of them. On the London outfit everybody hit with the exception of Malmquest.

They Grabbed Share, After seeting back the Cockneys in order in the first the Hurons went out and garnered three runs, Worley leading off with a double, scoring on Kelly's criple, the sacker in turn trotting home when Hooker pasted one over the fence. London got one run back in the second on a walk, a hit and an error, even ing up the count in the fourt with a home run, a double and a single. Calbert's second homer and seven consecutive singles in the sixth took all the interest out of the game, and added eight runs to the visitors' total, Hump sticking to his dugout and letting his pitcher take an unmerciful mauling before he sent Keifer in to stem the tide, which he accomplished Brooklyn in a so-so manager, holding the opposi-tion to eleven hits and eight runs while he toiled. The Tecs counted four wingo. one in the seventh, one in the eighth and one in the ninth. Carmen pitched a nice game after the first, but he was not compelled to show much stuff, in view of the mauling his teammates were handing out to the locals. Worley, at short, who gathered in ten assists in yesterday's game, again featured with his work in the short field.

BAY CITY, Mich., June 14.—Bay City made it two out of three from Brant-ford by winning Tuesday's game 4 to 3. Sensational fielding kept the Brants from scoring on at least three occasions, double plays cutting off certain runs. Koehler was the batting star with four hits in four trips. Truckey started on the mound for Bay City, but was relieved in the third with two men on bases and none out. Boothby, who succeeded him, while hit hard, kept the hits well scattered, and was never in serious trouble.

that it is fairly safe to assume it will be Toronto Scottish for Public Utilities $2,000, $1,000 to be paid when the Saturday.

There is one fact, aside from their playing ability which should help the local eleven, and that is the Scots have had some gruelling games in the cup series, and besides playing Davenport Albions last night, have Oshawa to dispose of Thursday evening. Public Utilities have had a good rest, and should jump into the preparatory workouts for the rest of the week with lots of zest. They are in splendid condition, and one of the factors that has contributed largely to their victorious march through the London and District schedule has been their ability to go a full 90 minutes without a halt.

Smith's Absence Felt.

That Jimmie Smith should have drawn a six-months' suspension in the summing up, Commissioner Landis says:

That Jimmie Smith should have drawn a six-months' suspension in the London and District with this important game on for his club is a much-regretted fact. Smith's presence on the Utilities' line would have aided their chances a great deal, as he was an excellent field general and resourceful. Representations were made to the council to have Smith reinstated for this game, but as only a month of the player's suspension had run, the council game, but as only a month of the player's suspension had run, the council game to another the application.

could not consider the application.

However, Utilities' line is strong all the way back to goal. Moore, a vicent acquisition, playing at inside left, has strengthened the Utilities' scoring machine considerably, and if the opposing defence hold off their attack, local fans will be certain of seeing the best football they've seen in a decade.

The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The backball The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The baseball team being away, Tecumseh* Park was fortunately available for this big match. Toronto or Hamilton might have got the match otherwise.

Secretary Sim of the London and District received word from Secretary Muir of the O. F. A. last night that Public Utilities would meet the winners of the Oshawa-Toronto Scottish in London at Tecumsen Park Saturday afternoon in the O. F. A. cup competitions.

This will be one of the biggest soccer events for London this season, and attendance records for soccer games will be broken on Saturday.

Public Utilities is given more than an even chance by those familiar with the best teams in the O. F. A. for this cup, which is the ticket to the Connaught Cup series and the Dominion honors last year, so that Ontario teams' chances in this play are definitely known from dope as recent as this. This fact stamps the Ontario Cup competitions with the fastest brand of soccer played throughout the Dominion.

Toronto Scottish number on their roster a lot of former British First Division players, and are conceded a win over Oshawa in easy fashion, so that it is fairly safe to assume it will be Toronto Scottish for Public Utilities $2,000, $1,000 to be paid when the player reported. # Backed By Men of Energy and Broad Vision

Back of Nukol is an army of energetic co-operators. Each is a unit in an institution which is founded upon broad vision and sound business

Each and every one knows that Nukol is not a theory. They know that it is a FACT. They know that Nukol is not a substitute for coal. They know that it is better and cheaper than coal; that it is an improved slate= less, clinkerless form of coal; that Nukol is made of fine quality anthracite screening pressed into briquettes by an oil binder.

They know that Nukol is manufactured by the only known successful briquetting process; and that this process is controlled exclusively by the Nukol Company. 65,000 broad visioners, energetic men in all walks of life, have invested their money in Nukol.

They helped to make possible the manufacture of 25,000 tons last winter. They helped to supply 3,300 homes last year in Toronto alone. And they made possible the shipping of 274 carloads of Nukol to outside points in Ontario.

Every good citizen of Ontario should know the coal situation of his province. Get the vital interesting facts regarding Ontario's coal problem. Learn the possibilities opened up by Nukol. Our literature will be sent to you gladly on request.

SUMMARY

The Company owns a water power in fee simple at Seven Falls on the St. Anne River, (the original grant for this power was made January 15, 1636) 35 miles from the City of Quebec, developed under a 410-foot head, with an installed capacity of 18,000 H.P., consisting of three units of 6,000 H.P. each, and the turbine for the fourth unit of the same capacity. (The generators and transformers for this unit will be installed when required, and when installed will then give a total capacity of 24.000 H.P.)

The Company has a 25-mile high-tension transmission line of 50,000 volts on galvanized steel towers set in concrete, from the plant at Seven Falls to Montmorency.

The Company has a contract with the Quebec Railway, Light and Power Company for 10,000 H.P. till September 1st, 1940. This power is delivered to the Quebec Railway, Light, Heat and Power Co. at Montmorency on the high voltage side of the step-down transformers.

Authorized

The net earnings from this contract alone, according to the report of Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., for the year 1921, were over $172,000, or equal to over twice the interest charges, after operating expenses and main-

The replacement value of this property has been estimated by Mr. J. M. Robertson, engineer, at $2,400,000, or $1,000,000 more than the outstanding

The Quebec Streams Commission have built one storag dam at Lac Brule, on the St. Anne River, and work ha commenced for the building of an additional storage dam, which will materially increase the minimum flow

The reports on the property by Mr. J. M. Robertson, of J. M. Robertson, Limited, together with the auditor's report, are on file at our office.

For International Trade

CANADA'S imports in the fiscal year of 1919-20 amounted to $1,064,516,169 and its exports to $1,286,658,709, a total trade of $2,351,174,878. In financing the many transactions that go to make up such a volume of business, banking experience and resources are of paramount importance.

The Bank of Montreal has been assisting the merchants of Canada in import and export trade for over 100 years. It has built up an international banking organization that offers exceptional facilities to those doing business with outside countries.

The Manager of any Branch of this Bank will be glad to have you discuss banking facilities with him or you may consult on any problem connected with international trade direct with the Foreign Department at the Head Office in Montreal, where complete statistical and other information is kept on file.

> Canadian firms engaged in Foreign Trade who contemplate sending representatives to Great Britain, France, South Africa, India, Australasia, China, Japan, or the West Indies, will find it to their advantage to commanicate with the Foreign Department at the Head

"It will be your duty to scrutinize closely every proposed estimate for controllable expenditure," his worsnip stated. "There is a very general finan-cial stringency throughout the country and although the crop prospects for the present year are good, the low prevail-ing prices suggest that we may be ap-proaching a season of what is known as hard times. In view of this, economy in every department of county agairs should be the watchword.

Dealing with the Port Stanley bridge question, the warden reported:

"As directed, a deputation from the county council waited on the minister of public works at Ottawa, with a view to having the county relieved of the maintenance of the Port Stanley bridge. The matter was thoroughly discussed. The minister stated that he did not know what right his department had to build highway bridges; that permission should have been received be fore the bridge was erected across the harbor. The estimates, as finally pass-ed, do not include any amount for taking over this bridge. It is just possible that the county's position in the past has been misunderstood and that some
