Montreal Has Aeroplane in its Vicinity

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Montreal, July 19.—Although the city military authorities minimize the rumors that air craft have been spotted in the vicinity of Montreal reports continue to come from various outlying points insisting that the airships have been seen repeatedly. Judge Choquet, whose summer home is at Rigaud, said yesterday that he had seen two air craft hovering about in the proximity of a near-by factory. From Mississquoi County had come previous reports of strange aeroplanes seen at night and Montreal South, on Thursday evening, reported an aeroplane evidently searching the shipping in the harbor.

Mayor Boyer, of Rigaud, corroborates the report given by Judge Choquet with regard to the mysterious flyers. For several evenings, he states, one or more aeroplanes have been seen floating high above the lake near the mountains and near the Rigaud factory. He states that on each occasion the air craft departed in the direction of the frontier.

The first time the aeroplane was seen orders were given at the Rigaud factory that all lights be extinguished. Every precaution is being taken to protect the place from possible attack.

SEEN LAST NIGHT
Montreal, July 18.—The nightly appearance of the aeroplane which has been hovering over Montreal for the past week did not fail last night. At 9:20 o'clock it was seen over St. Laurent, going southwest, and then turned in the direction of Lachine. The plane was flying very low and could easily be distinguished by the thousands who were in the hum of the motor and looked skywards.

Hundreds of automobile parties were on their way home and stopped to get a good look at it. The plane carried no searchlight, or at least it was not lighted, but it had a light beside the pilot which shone on the wings and made the whole shape of the plane stand out plainly.

WOMEN RALLIED

And Under Mrs. Pankhurst Offer Services

London, July 19.—Fifty thousand women of Britain gathered yesterday on the Victoria Embankment and paraded through the streets with banners flying to demonstrate their enthusiastic desire to be enlisted in the service of the country. There was a remarkable scene when the Minister of Munitions, Hon. David Lloyd-George, accompanied by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragist leader, appeared on a platform overlooking the embankment along which the procession made its way.

Mr. Lloyd George had previously received a deputation, headed by Mrs. Pankhurst, who said it was a crime for men to be doing work which could be performed by women.

DARK CLOUDS IN EAST
In response to loud cries for a speech, the Minister said that the Government intended to utilize the services of everyone prepared to assist and declared that victory eventually would be won. There were dark clouds looming in the East, but he looked to the indomitable courage of Russia to meet this hurricane. The clouds would scatter and the hurricane would disperse, and Russia would emerge once more formidable and ready, to help greatly the democratic countries in the west achieve a great victory for the freedom of Europe.

WILL CATCH THE FOE
The people of Britain said the Minister, were panting to help. They had painted twelve months behind to catch the foe, who had been prepared for years, but they would catch him yet.

The conclusion of the Minister's patriotic demonstration. Hats and speerch was the signal for a great flag waving enthusiastically, while the bands played the national anthem.

Despite a drizzling rain it is estimated that 5,000 marchers, led by Mrs. Pankhurst, were in the ranks, which contained many titled women, and included Lady Colebrook, Lady Knollys and Mrs. Waldorf Astor. The main body was made up of groups representing France, Russia, Japan, Serbia and Poland in national costumes.

"WOMEN WILL SERVE BRITAIN"

Thousands of banners were borne in the procession, and a hundred bands played stirring music. Some of the inscriptions on the banners read: "Shells Made by a Wife May Save a Husband's Life," "Women Will Serve German Women," "Women Will Save Britain." The Minister of munitions told the deputation of women that something like 50,000 women already were working at various factories in the production of munitions. It was not a question of competition between male and female labor, he said, but of getting men and women to work together to help the country through the worst crisis it ever had experienced.

The first thing, continued Mr. Lloyd George, was to get an adequate supply of machinery and tools, and the Government was assuming the control of all machine and tool-making establishments in the country. Women who came forward to serve must give their whole time. There must be real national organization for all women who were prepared to take up munition work.

NO "SWEATED" LABOR

Secondly, added the Minister, there must be a sufficient number of women trained to direct and instruct others. In regard to wages women would be paid the same piece rate as men, and all establishments would be under Government control, while the Government would see that there was no "sweated" labor. Without women, he declared, victory would be tardy, and victory which carried meant victory "whose footprints were footprints of blood."

In Stricken Ypres—Last Inhabitants are Taken Out

Ypres, Belgium, July 16—The last tenacious inhabitants of Ypres were dragged from their underground refuges and taken by force to places of safety; the cellars themselves had ceased to afford protection from the continual pounding of the German shells. The town to-day looks like an unearched imitation of Pompeii; not one of its 12,000 houses is intact and not a dozen of those that remain partly erect are repairable. The ancient pride of Flanders, if it ever rises from its ruins must be entirely rebuilt from the foundations. Of the famous Hall which several weeks ago still showed a semblance of resistance, there remains nothing but a single little tower standing out against the sky like a gigantic finger raised in protest. The only part of the walls remaining is a battered breached remnant on the side of the "Grand Palace." Only here and there is it possible by close inspection to discover any traces of the details of its former architectural beauty.

There were ten thousand people here several weeks ago, and it was still possible to enjoy a cup of tea at the cafe on the "Grand Place," while contemplating the agonizing "Halles"; to-day the only living creatures that remain are two cats sticking to the debris of their homes in the Rue de Thourout. No one knows what they live on and the British soldiers have been unable to capture them.

The dead silence that has fallen here is broken only by the occasional shell that struts up the ruins, by the German guns firing over the town at Poperinghe, and by the musketry and machine gun fire from the trenches close by to the south. The silence is oppressive toward dusk when the artillery fire becomes desultory.

Protected by the ruins, one may approach so close to the first line as to get a vivid auricular impression of what is going on in the trenches. The "Fang, Fang, Fang" of the rifles with intervals of the "Fang-a-pang-a-pang-a-pang" of the machine guns, more intermittent as night falls, and then comes from the trenches the surprising contrast of the refrain, "It's a long way to Tipperary" with the accompaniment of a piano that the Tommies dug out of the ruins and requisitioned for evening diversion.

The final destruction of Ypres followed the attack with asphyxiating gas. It is the common belief in Belgium that the wiping out of the town was a premeditated revenge for the failure of the effort to occupy it. Shells intended for the British lines or for the batteries in the rear might easily stray into the town, but they say, the aim of the Germans is good enough not to waste in that way the thousands of tons of ammunition required to reduce the place to a stone heap, and the only military importance to this is that the Germans are to the battle front. Counting the shots that went wide of any structure, it is estimated that more than a hundred thousand of different calibres were spent on Ypres. Thousands more were expended in the gas attack along the route from Ypres to Furnes by which the allies were expected to send reinforcements. All along the road for a few miles, deep funnel shaped holes, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other and often full in the centre, still show how seriously the operation was organized. One of them lies directly in front of an enclosed plot of ground covered with field flowers above which the fourteen crosses. Here were buried the remains of a detachment of British troops that were sought out by one of the sixteen inch German shells while resting in an abandoned cottage on the edge of

The eventual restoration of Ypres raises conflicting views, all of which originate from sentiment, for the town had long ago lost all commercial importance. The attachment of the inhabitants to the soil calls for restoration, but to this is opposed the feeling that Ypres must remain a monument to the suffering of Flanders. If the town is rebuilt, say many of those who loved it for its traditions, let it be farther along the banks of the Yser, while the ruins of the ancient town remain enclosed with monumental walls for the world to see in ages to come.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS MARRYING IN SCORES.

London, July 17.—Canada's onrush to the fighting line as the answer of the Empire's call has left its mark not alone on the Germans, but has been felt all over England, and particularly in London.

London girls are being carried off as wives by the dozen by these stalwart sons of the west, who have come from the new world to redress the wrongs of the old.

At one hotel which is just removed from the centre of gaiety in the city, and which has been popular with the men of Canada, who have come to London on leave, fourteen of the waitresses have given up their places during the past six months, and in each case the reason was the same. Each one of these girls married a Canadian.

In the Lyons restaurants which dot the whole city of London, havoc has been caused by the Canadian onrush, and some of these places are running short-handed now as a result.

GOT MOTHER ENTHUSED.
London cannot understand the causes which lead to this remarkable state of affairs—that is, the majority of Londoners cannot; but there is one who has told the writer all about it, and she at least believes she knows. This is Mrs. L. Goddard, who lived with her four daughters in a cosy little flat just off Leicester square. Three of her daughters have married Canadians and the fourth is engaged to another man of that contingent.

Mrs. Goddard told about the quick romances which had culminated in this epidemic of matrimony, while her face was wreathed in smiles.

"I'm sure they will all be happy," she said, "and if I were a younger woman there should be five in the family and not four. You see, they are so different from our men. They are not ashamed to love a girl and to tell her so and they are all gentlemen. I love them all myself, so I know why my daughters love them, and they all have been married with my consent."

WHAT THE SERGEANT DID
There is humor, too, in some of the rapid marriages that have been arranged. Take, for instance, the case of a Canadian sergeant who met in London one of two sisters who were

THE SITUATION

The big German drive is proceeding against the Russians with marked severity both North and South, and the position of affairs just now from the standpoint of Grand Duke Nicholas is far from reassuring. There has been some speculation in view of recent events as to why the Kaiserites in the first place permitted such marked advances upon the part of the Russian troops. One answer is that they undoubtedly at the inception underestimated the number of the Czar's troops which could be available in view of the lack of transportation facilities.

In the second place it is not at all unlikely that Emperor William and his associates were not at all averse to letting the Austrians see how badly they would fare without German aid and direction—that much more of a hold upon them and their allegiance to the end. Meanwhile the Russians have not come to the end of their tether yet, not by several months' majority.

Turkey is evidently in bad shape both with regard to threatened lack of ammunition and in respect to a growing unrest among the populace. The Turk is a great fatalist and it gets into his head that the Dardanelles are to be taken that notion will have a far reaching effect.

The Italians are still engaged in very stubborn fighting. They have very difficult ground to fight over and in addition physical difficulties have been added by every possible method of defence known to modern warfare.

It wasn't the fault of a German submarine that another Cunarder, with Americans among the passengers, failed to meet the fate of the Lusitania. The indications would seem to be getting stronger that Germany would rather have Uncle Sam against her than otherwise.

Those were solemn and deeply-inspiring meetings which took place on Sunday with reference to the securing of more recruits. The City and County have done well so far, none better for the men contributed by them who have gone or are going to the front, number up to date some eleven hundred. In addition to this some hundreds have offered who, mainly for some slight defect, could not pass the stiff medical examination.

Still more are needed, and it is not alone a privilege, but an absolute duty, for those who are fit to offer themselves.

The first, and still the greatest crime perpetrated by Germany, was the cold-blooded over-running of Belgium, the ignoring of a solemn treaty obligation, as a "scrap of paper," the wanton destruction of property, the murder of innocent citizens, the dishonoring of women and girls, not even excepting the nuns in convents, the mutilation of mere children, and all the rest of the blood-curdling list. In the words of Kipling, used during a recent speech:

"Whatever has been dealt out to Belgium, will be our fate, ten-fold, if we fail to subdue the Germans."

He was speaking to an English audience at the time, but the word "our" includes, Canada, and Australia, and New Zealand and South Africa, and all the rest of the overseas dominions, who have come to the help of the Allies.

Add to what has been done to King Albert and his subjects, hundred monstrous deeds in Poland, Serbia and the north of France, the sinking of the Lusitania, the air raids with women and children as victims in connection with English undefended coast towns, the diabolical use of poisonous gases, and all the rest of it, and a sum total of unmitigated savagery is presented which is enough to make even the sluggish blood of the aged rise to the boiling point.

How much more so, then, the blood of the young men whose prime privilege it is at this hour to be able to offer their services on behalf of all that liberty and freedom and humanity hold most dear.

Let such carefully consider the tre-

TERRITORY LOST TO GERMANY.

An official announcement recently made by Hon. Bonar Law, Secretary of the Colonies, was that since the commencement of the war Germany had lost 450,000 square miles of colonial possessions.

A few comparisons will serve to bring home more clearly the extent of this area.

Table with 2 columns: Territory, Square Miles. Includes United Kingdom (120,651), Italy (110,623), Germany (208,780), France (207,100).

So that what Germany has lost up to date in the respect named constitutes an area only 197,154 square miles less than the four countries named.

On the other hand Germany seized and still holds the bulk of Belgian territory of 11,300 square miles, and also many more square miles in Northern France.

No doubt the Kaiser and his advisers have taken the Empire losses as quietly as they have on the basis that when they dictate terms of peace their recovery, with more added, will be an easy matter. However, said terms will not be dictated by them, but by the Allies. They might as well make up their minds that they have said goodbye to German South-West Africa and all the rest for ever.

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

Next to the war, there is nothing of more importance just now than the crop outlook and by the same token, it also holds a very important place in that regard.

"The Census and Statistics" office has just issued a final report upon the field area for 1915 and conditions from which the following extracts are taken:

Table with 2 columns: Crop, Area (acres). Includes Wheat (12,986,400), Oats (10,061,500), Hay and Clover (7,997,000), Buckwheat (354,400), Flax Seed (1,183,000), Corn for husking (256,000), Corn for fodder (317,000), Potatoes (475,900).

It will be seen that the average was very well maintained considering the increased wheat area.

Expressed numerically the condition of the principal grain crops continues to be excellent. To wheat, rye, barley and oats are all assigned points exceeding 90 per cent. of a standard of 100 as representing a full crop. Assuming that conditions up to the time of harvest be fairly normal the indications at the end of June are for yields per acre in excess of the average of the six years 1908 to 1914 by 16 p.c. for fall wheat, 5.5 p.c. for spring wheat; 8.3 p.c. for all wheat; 7.5 p.c. for rye; 3.7 p.c. for barley and 3.6 p.c. for oats. Not since the present Canadian crop reporting system was instituted in 1908 have the grain crops at the end of June presented so favorable an appearance, and this fact, coupled with the large increase in the areas sown causes the outlook to be highly promising.

It is estimated from the report of correspondents that the numbers of farm live stock in Canada at June 30 were as follows: Horses 2,996,099; milch cows 2,666,846; other cattle 3,939,155; all cattle 6,666,001; sheep 2,038,662; swine 3,111,900. As compared with 1914 these figures represent increases of 48,351 horses, 35,624 other cattle and 29,184 all cattle, but decreases of 6,440 milch cows, 19,383 sheep and 322,361 swine.

NOTES AND COMMENT. Young man; it is up to you. Among those overhead things which have come to grief since the war started, are those castles in the air built by Kaiser Bill.

General Joffre has been telling the people of Alsace that they are French and that French they shall remain. Sure thing.

German bankers have frankly told the Kaiser that the country is approaching financial ruin. The moral bankruptcy of the outfit was established a long time back.

Mrs. Pankhurst, as the head of a deputation offering the war services of 50,000 women, presented a far better spectacle than when authorizing the destruction of property at home. She is a very clever woman all right, and now she has her military tactics in the right channel.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissues, and leads to consumption.

FROM CORP. LITTLE

Official advices still were being awaited to-day as to the circumstances of the German submarine attack on the British steamer Orduna, carrying a score of Americans. The fact that the liner carried no munitions or contraband, leads officials here to believe that the position of the United States as outlined in its previous notes has been considerably strengthened.

Only Solution State Owned Coal Mines

London, July 19.—Reports from the South Wales coal field indicate no progress in negotiations for the settlement of the strike, but an effort will be made at the cabinet meeting to-day to find some means of speedily solving the labor problem. It is generally believed in the mining districts, however, that no satisfactory way out of the present difficulties exists on the part of the government unless the government takes over the mines and operates them during the period of the war.

One of the first things the miners demand is the withdrawal of the proclamation which brings them under the provisions of the munitions bill. They resent the idea of working under coercion and insist they will not consent to it at any price.

It is known that representatives of the government who are conversant with the spirit of the miners take a gloomy view of the present situation, but if the proclamation is withdrawn and the miners are allowed to work for the state on satisfactory terms, the idea of private agrardgement would thus be eliminated.

The mine owners are alarmed at the great expense to which they are being put, in addition to their loss of profits. The daily expense is estimated at $100,000.

The suggestion is made by Thomas Richard, member of parliament and general secretary to the South Wales Miners Federation that the men be allowed to go back to work on their own terms, negotiations for a settlement to be resumed while work is proceeding.

ADD COAL STRIKE RAY OF HOPE

London, July 19.—It is understood that new proposals have been advanced which are likely to constitute a bridge whereon both sides can meet. "In making my protest to Washington, I shall proceed along these lines, combining with the protest a report of the attack as I saw it."

Whether the submarine hid behind an American ship—the barque Normandy, from Gulfport, Miss.—was a point upon which passengers held varying opinion. A small sailing ship with two American flags painted on her side was sighted ahead shortly before the attack. Capt. Taylor, suspicious of the craft, changed his course. Soon thereafter the torpedo was sighted.

THIS LOOKS BETTER

London, July 19.—David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, has at last taken a hand in the South Wales coal strike, and announces his intention of going to Cardiff to-night to have a talk with the men. This announcement was made shortly after it became known that new proposals had been advanced which apparently offered good prospects of settling the strike.

UNCLE SAM'S WORRIES

London, July 19.—The Morning Post Budapest correspondent says the Austro-Hungarian Government contemplates following up its note to the American Government with a scheme for the mobilization of American Austrians and Hungarians of whom there are 6,000,000 in the United States so as to interfere with the manufacture of war munitions.

passed over as it carried us through the beautiful Muskoka Lake district, the fame of which is already known to everyone. At North Bay our train was taken over by the Ontario Government Railway System and travel on its line as far as Cochrane. On the way to Cochrane the line runs through the Timagami lake district, the second edition of the beautiful lake district of Ontario. To those that desire nature undisturbed, unbroken forest, a labyrinth of islands, inlets and channels stretching north, south-east and west, "Timagami" will supply it all within a short distance of Toronto.

On we rush through the silver laden land of Cobalt, on to New Liskeard, where we entered the famous lake belt of Northern Ontario. As the train speeds along we see on both sides cultivated patches of the settlers, the piles of spruce ready for the mill, and government roads running back as far as eye could see. This all in a country thought to be barren some fifteen years ago. Our train pulled into Cochrane sharp on time at 4.25 Wednesday afternoon, where we first see the far-famed continental railway, Cochrane is largely a railway town, very pleasantly situated on a small lake, and had the appearance of a very prosperous place. Here our train was taken over by the Dominion Government railway service, an extra-large intercolonial engine supplying the motive power. Mr. H. Laird, the divisional superintendent, joined the party at this point, and your representative was more than pleased to find that Mr. Laird was a City of Brantford boy, and a cousin of Mr. J. E. Baker and Miss Fair. We spent many an enjoyable hour on the trip discussing Brantford people. Mr. Laird was chock full of interesting information of this north country, and was very enthusiastic over the future prospects of this section. The clay belt stretches along the railway line for 250 miles from Spirit Lake in Quebec to Ames in Ontario, 170 miles west of Cochrane, the land being wonderfully suitable for mixed farming and was already growing spring wheat, oats and vegetables. To the pleasure seeker, the country is a paradise, as all kinds of game can be found in the woods and fish in the waters.

On the train leaving Cochrane, it was speedily ascertained that it was no empty boast that the road-bed was one of the best in America, the train moved along at express speed as smoothly as if on the main line of the C. T. R., and the grade at no point was over 4-10 of one per cent, with curves practically eliminated. The result was that the passengers could sleep without the slightest discomfort, and felt as safe as if traveling on old established lines. The next point of interest to be reached was MacPherson, where some 1,200 of the enemy are interned, and they were expecting 130 more the next day. Large tracks of land could be seen which had been cleared up by the prisoners, and while the soldiers were somewhat tired of the job and wished to go to the front, yet they knew they were doing their "bit" for the Empire. After passing Armstrong, the "Nibigami" district, meaning "country of lakes," is reached, and extends 300 miles to Breton. If anything could be imagined as more beautiful and picturesque than the Muskoka Lakes, then it is the Nibigami Lakes district. Moose, caribou, red deer and black bear roam through the whole region, while the railway line threads and curves its way in, out and around the lake shores, giving a glimpse every now and again to refresh the eye of the traveller of some falls or rapids. We hurry on through this beautiful scenery and finally reach the city of Winnipeg after a run of 42 hours. Here we enter the handsome Union Station which would be a credit to a city far larger than Winnipeg. The party was met on the platform by F. P. Brady, Esq., general superintendent of Government railways and the civic representatives.

After friendly greetings the visitors were driven around the city and shown all points of interest including the famous or rather infamous government buildings, also the civic park system which is exceptionally fine consisting of one of 280 acres within five miles of the heart of the city where you can see live buffalo, red deer, beavers and other animals, there being also miles of beautiful drives throughout the park. We were informed that there was another larger park, owned by the city, Brantford need not have the slightest fears all the way. Let us plan your trip and furnish folders and full particulars. B. H. GERMANY CARES NOTHING FOR STATES PROTEST. So Thinks British Press in Reviewing Attack on the Orduna.

The Daily Graphic, in an editorial, says: "This latter outrage may help convince the American people that the German government attaches no more weight to President Wilson's speeches than to any other scrap of paper."

The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial, says: "We have in this incident confession by the enemy that in spite of all protests from neutral countries and judgment of the court of inquiry into the Lusitania disaster and the attack by a German submarine on the Cunard Line Steamer Orduna, characterized the latter as proving that Germany cares nothing for the American protests against Germany's submarine warfare."

over. The duty is upon them. To the women present, the speaker asked that they also do their duty and tell their men to go and enlist. If they did this, conscription would not be necessary. At this juncture rain started to fall and stopped further speaking. The meeting broke up with "God Save the King" by the Salvation Army Band.

AT ST. JUDE'S CHURCH

Yesterday morning about forty-five recruits of the Dragoons paraded to St. Jude's church and heard an eloquent and inspiring sermon from the Rev. Mr. Woodcock. The soldiers occupied the centre pews of the church and a large congregation assembled, drawn in spite of the heat the edifice was well filled and all enjoyed the splendid address of the preacher.

Using the words found in Luke: 14, 26, and Matthew 23, 24, the preacher acknowledged the privilege conferred upon him by being allowed to speak to soldiers upon such an occasion. When the soldiers went away a few months ago the question was in everybody's mind, how would they act when the great question and challenge: "What are you going to do? Will they add glory and distinction to Canada and to England or would we be sorry they were ever there? The great moment came and our men were not found wanting. How they tingled as we read the story of their heroism. Our race has not gone back. To-day we are breeding heroes.

This war has gone on for a year, and it will go on much longer, maybe years. Hence comes to each one of us the great question and challenge: "What are you going to do? Will these precious lives already lost be sacrificed for nothing? Or will we, as true Britons go on and on until we achieve triumph and victory."

Such a text as read this morning, said the speaker, fits a great crisis in our lives and great epochs in our existence. If you enter my service, say Christ, I will invite you to a great decision. I demand all or nothing. He who hesitates between the love of mothers, or father, or sister, or love of home and domestic ties, and between the life I call you to, Christ asks that when one follows Him one must surrender to Him body and soul. Compared with the great consuming love Christ asks His followers to give to him, other emotions appear almost weak and childish. In times of old many men knew what the words of this text meant. It came home to them. St. Francis of Assisi, for instance, knew. To-day many a young man knows what it means. "The call of duty comes from one side and the call of home on the other. He hears the call and in the words of the text is a true disciple."

So the country's call to-day is the call of God. A man who goes forth to fight, fights God's enemies and enemies of the human race, because the enemies are made up of men who lay down their lives for reaction and regression to mediæval times. The great principles under which our enemies fight are at enmity with the principles of God and of progress.

We are fighting for something more than mere material ends; we are fighting for our souls. We are fighting for absolute honor and integrity, and those qualities are dearer than anything else in the world. The great challenge comes to us to fight, to go and save the whole human race from a regression and a retrogression into barbarism. But is killing consistent with Christianity? Is a question that rises in the mind of many. Yes, it is. We talk of the horrors of war. There are worse things than the horrors of war. By not fighting because we hate war because of its horrors we sacrifice something everlasting and eternal, the things which are not transitory but which endure for ever. When we think of the horrors of war, let us think of that. Let us think of the words of Christ: "What profit is it to a man (or a nation) to lose his soul."

Is it not worth while? Look at Belgium, bleeding and prostrate. Does not the sun of Belgium shine more vitally bright than ever before in its long history? Why did she resist the Germans? Look at the material gain she would have had, had she allowed the Teuton hosts to march through her lands. Why did she not take the offer? Because she valued the chastity of her soul above the gains to her commerce. She would not become the accomplice of a thief, a marauder and murderer. The blood of Belgium is cemented the new foundations of international integrity. She did in her death what she never did in her life. In the days to come because she scorned to lose her soul, she will be the glory of all mankind.

That is the position which we must take. Our loyalty never failed at a great crisis, and will not fail now. We, like Belgium, are fighting for these great immutable and everlasting principles which are the soul of a nation—which constitute the Kingdom of God upon the earth.

At Paris

"I am commissioned by Colonel Logie, the camp commandant at Niagara, to come before you and say that the great need now is men, men, and more men." So spoke Captain, the Rev. Mr. Gilmore, at the recruiting service held in Paris, Sunday afternoon, and these words are the keynote of the whole of the afternoon's proceedings. Capt. Gilmore, who is a regimental chaplain at Niigara, is a magnificent speaker, and his splendid address was received with earnest seriousness, and his words will bear fruit in deep reflection and in increased offers.

The recruiting service was held in the park on Charlotte street, and several hundred people gathered to hear the speakers. Each man who spoke was listened to intently; there was little playing to the galleries by the speakers, and consequently little applause from the audience. But the cogent reasons why this war should be won, and the great need of men to come forward—was realized by all, and the realization showed itself in the quiet and earnest manner in which each word was heard.

The meeting, presided over by Mayor Patterson, opened with song and prayer. A double quartette from the Presbyterian church rendered a hymn in excellent style. Mr. J. H. Fisher, M. P., made a brief address, recounting the good record of Brant County in the past, and paying tribute to the splendid work of the women.

The Rev. Mr. Woodcock stated that in these times only one thing was important, and that was to bring this war to a triumphant and victorious conclusion. Nothing, else mattered but that. Such a state of affairs was a challenge to all our men, and if Germany won we would go back 2000 years, because the German people had become imbued with a fearful and awful philosophy. Even if we could not fight, we all—men, women and children—could do something. Let us then neglect not our duty, for what we stood for was the integrity of treaties, international good will and all those things of eternal value which made the soul of a nation.

"Men, men, and more men," was the keynote of Captain Gilmore's address, struck in the first sentence. We had learned much in the last year. When the war began we knew Germany was a nation which broke its word; now we knew it as a nation which stopped at nothing. The sinking of the Lusitania, that awful deed, showed what it was capable of. The people of Canada had heard much of the importance of equipment and munitions, but he was there to speak to them of the need of men. He knew Howard are in camp together. The picture on the post card depicts the Kaiser on horseback in a state of fear to the point of collapsing, because he has just heard that the 36th is coming.

DRAGOONS GET FIFTEEN. Fifteen more men have been added to the Dragoons strength, and at this rate the full quota of men will be enlisted by the middle of the week. The recruiting meetings have shown their value already in the increased number of candidates. One of the recruits is a Russian and three are Irish. Following is the list: GEORGE HARRY, 19 Wellington Street, 24 years of age. Single Russian.

EUGENE WALTERS, Paris, 18 years old; single; Canadian. GEORGE ALDRIDGE, Bright, 24 years old; single; Canadian. GEORGE DICKIE, 49 Church St., 19 years old; single; Canadian. BRUCE STIPE, 56 Nelson St., 19 years old; single; Canadian. CHAS. WILKINS, 32 Darling St.,

39 years old; single; English. WM. BEACH, 187 Murray Street, 29 years old; married; English. WM. FERN, 120 Spring St., 24 years old; married; English. W. HASTINGS, Paris, 19 years old; single; English. J. MORRIS, Paris, 19 years old; single; Irish. H. SIMONS, Paris, 21 years old; single; Canadian. B. YOUDEL, Paris, 19 years old; single; Canadian. J. BLANEY, Paris, 22 years old; single; Irish. J. M. MCGOWAN, Mt. Pleasant, Single; Scotch. WM. MORRISON, 19 Vaughan St., 35 years old; married; Irish.

The tent service this morning was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Saunders.

At Burford

The Methodist church at Burford was crowded last Sunday night to hear the appeal for recruits for more men for the war. Capt. Woodcock of Oakville and Capt. Gilmore, chaplains of the 25th Dragoons, and Colonel M. F. Muir, of Brantford, gave very enthusiastic addresses.

Capt. Woodcock told the audience that the time had now come when the crisis had been reached. The British Empire was in greater danger than ever in past history. The soldiers of the Empire were fighting for that highest ideal, the soul of the Empire. Take away the soul of the Empire and the nation was gone. Men were needed and the sacrifice must be made.

Captain Gilmore said Canada must put her shoulders to the wheel and help along the great cause of humanity. The "thin red line" was holding the enemy in Flanders, but if that line was broken the result would be very serious, our liberty and freedom would disappear under the yoke of the foreign foe.

Col. Muir surveyed the part that Burford had played in past years when the nation was threatened, as in the years of 1812, 1837, 1885 and during the Boer war, Burford had done nobly then, and he was sure she would still do her full duty now.

GRACE CHURCH. Yesterday morning the Dufferin Rifles' recruits marched to Grace church and heard the Rev. Patterson-Smyth preach a sermon to soldiers. The sermon was a magnificent effort and was accounted among the very finest ever heard in Brantford. Mr. Patterson-Smyth is quite evidently ranking equally with his distinguished father, who is considered one of the most eloquent pulpiter orators in Canada.

DUFFS GET TWO. Two more men passed the doctor at the armories Saturday night. They are: ROY ARTHUR PEARCE, 18 years old, Paris, Canadian. HAROLD HARTLEY, 18 years old, Paris, English. All is in readiness for the big band concert to-night in aid of recruiting.

E. B. Crompton & Co. LIMITED. The House of Quality Good Value. HOW ABOUT THE NEW SPORT HATS. Just Arrived—the Season's Latest. The concert will be held on Jubilee Terrace and the whole city is invited. The band will give a splendid selection of patriotic and popular airs. There will be no speeches to-night, but there may be some, later on in the week. This morning Captain Cutcliffe was in receipt of a post card from Sgt. Maj. Oxtoby from Shorncliffe, England. All are well and a number of Brantford officers, including Col. Howard are in camp together. The picture on the post card depicts the Kaiser on horseback in a state of fear to the point of collapsing, because he has just heard that the 36th is coming.

EMINENT MEN ON BRITAIN'S NEW BOARD. List of Names Famous World-Wide for Their Works. Eminent men and inventors have been appointed to assist Admiral Lord Fisher, who was recently selected as chairman of the invention board, the duties of which will be to co-ordinate and encourage scientific work in relation to the requirements of the navy. The board will consist of a central committee and a number of consultants who will advise the main committee on questions referred to them. The central committee will be composed of Admiral Fisher, Sir Joseph John Thomson, Cavendish Professor of experimental physics at Cambridge University; Sir Charles A. Parsons, an expert on turbines and George T. Deily, chairman of the Royal Technical College at Glasgow.

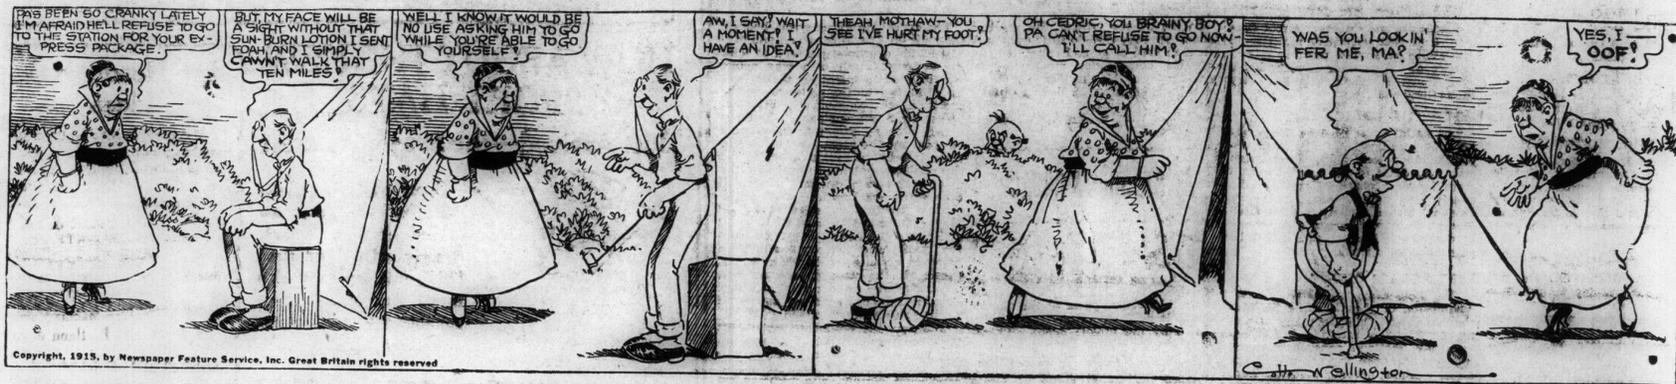

VIEW OF THE GREAT SAYVILLE WIRELESS STATION. Under United States government supervision the great wireless station of the Atlantic Communication Company, at Sayville, Long Island, is now a more closely guarded plant than at any time since the beginning of the European war. The suspicious secrecy and mystery that has prevailed about the grounds and which has been assumed by the majority of the men employed in the plant has been only heightened now that United States Navy officers are in complete charge. Every man has been enjoined to strictest secrecy, and any inquiry concerning the operation of the plant is met with an abrupt refusal. Not only are five guards—bluejackets of the navy—maintained throughout the night, but every approach is guarded in the daytime, principally the entering road that leads from the highway into the offices of the plant. Despite the fact that the station is supposed to be owned by the Atlantic Communication Company, the word "Telefunken" appears in enormous letters on the only sign on the place that would identify the ownership.

BRANT'S BREAK EVEN AT LONDON SATURDAY

LAMY'S ONE-HANDED CATCH ROBS BRANTS OF A DOUBLE VICTORY—CLOSE WON HIS GAME BY 6-1, AND THE SECOND WAS LOST BY A 6-5 SCORE.

London Free Press: Only a spectacular one-handed catch in the outfield by Lamy stood between the Brantford team on Saturday and another two-fold victory over the lamented Tecumseh when 3 Brants occupied the bases, and Mike Mullin drove out what looked like a three ply hit. As it was the locals were pushed to hold the score to 6 to 5 in the second game, while the hard-hitting Red Legs annexed the early pastime by 6 to 1.

The visiting team wound up a most successful trip on the road winning five games out of eight, as compared with two out of eleven by the tilters, who were at home for four of the seven.

bases were filled when Reidy was hit. Hartwell scored on Eckstein's single, while Whitcraft's hit sent Lamy and Reidy across and McEvoy's drive accounted for Eckstein and Whitcraft scoring the fourth and fifth tallies.

In the third Lamy started with a single and Reidy walked. Eckstein advanced both runners on a bunt and Whitcraft's sacrifice fly enabled Lamy to score the run which later won the ball game. One more single by Whitcraft was all the locals could do off Warner while his batsmen got busy.

DRIVE MULLINA TO SHELTER

In the fifth inning Mullina, the new London hurler, who was going like a real find, found that he could not leave the ball past the Brants, so retired with three men on bases after five hits netted the Brants three runs. Graham who relieved him, faced Mullin, and what he did to the third ball Graham offered was as real a base hit as they made them, but Lamy's little leather covered paw nipped a regular clean-up wallop.

In the sixth Fried who did considerable base hitting for a little fellow in this series, singled with one out. Dunn who caught the game and had walked on two previous occasions, got free transportation again. Dunlop doubled and both the runners scored. Cooper, who proved one of the best hitters in a pinch during the series however, struck out, leaving Dunlop on second with the run which would have tied things up. Only two men faced Graham in the seventh and the thought of winning a ball game.

BARRY TO REPLACE M'EVROY

As London's First Base Guardian—A Good First Sacker.

Hardly a day passes but what Manager Reising does not make some change in the tail-end London Canadian League Club. Saturday saw McEvoy released, and Barry, secured from the Brantford club, to play first base. Barry played in the Brantford series here and made a good showing although he was given the sun field to look after by Manager Warner. He played first base for the Bay City South Michigan League Club. He possesses a good arm and his timely hitting aided the Brants to a number of victories. Manager Reising was angling for Comstock, who is long on utility roles, but Manager Warner would not let the former Michigan State leaguer get away from him, so Barry was released to the London club.

Catcher Laross, who was to have reported here in London on Saturday, had not arrived at a late hour.

Junior City League

The Tecumseh's journey to Guelph this week for a four game series, and one of the games may be played at Galt, where a game was postponed on account of rain the week before last.

The Junior Eagle Place Stars met their first defeat, when in a game of ball at Agricultural park on Saturday afternoon last the Waterloo apprentices won by the score of 7 to 6. It was the Stars first defeat, they having won 18 straights this season. The game was fast throughout, O'Connor having it over on Walters in the twirling; several double plays were pulled off by the "Wa Was." The batteries for the apprentices were P. O'Connor and W. Wiley; for the Stars J. Walters and A. Cammell.

TIGERS DEFEATED

The Junior Stars defeated the Parkdale Tigers in a junior city league game on Saturday afternoon, 17 to 11. Leonard pitched good ball for the winners, while Haines for Parkdale was hit hard. Batteries: Stars, Leonard and Walters; Parkdale, Haines and Stewart.

CIRCUIT CLIPPINGS

This is what the Herald says of Hernandez, the Hams new Cuban outfielder:

Danny Hernandez is a tower of strength to the Hams. A few of the more important "stunts" he has pulled in joining the local ranks have been:

Broke in at Brantford on Saturday. Had four hits in eight attempts, and stole three bases.

Made a sensational catch and an equally remarkable peg to the plate from left field in Monday's game against Cockneys.

Played at shortfield in McGroarty's absence on Wednesday in the double bill. Robbed Lacroix of what looked like a sure hit by a great stop back of second base, engineered a double play, and handled a total of 13 chances with one error.

Was back in left field yesterday, where he accepted two chances, and had one hit in two attempts. Poled out the only extra base hit of the game.

EVERS CLAIMS THAT HIS SAYINGS ABOUT LEAGUE RACE WERE MISAPPLIED

Boston Mass. July 19.—Remarks alleged to have been made from the side lines by Capt. Evers of the Boston Braves during last Tuesday's baseball game with the St. Louis Cardinals, are to be the subject of the investigation which President Tener will make here to-day according to an announcement from New York.

The Braves' captain, taking exception to Umpire Rigler, who declared Bob Bescher safe at the plate on a close play, was quoted in a newspaper as having shouted:

"They're trying to get the crowds out; they've ordered a close race; leave them alone boys; they're only following instructions!"

Evers later expressed indignation because his remarks had been interpreted as a claim that the National league race was fixed." He said:

"I claim no such thing. I've been in baseball long enough to know better. To be sure, I might have said anything on the ball field. When an unpure hands you one like Rigler did at the home plate when you say will invariably be the result of hard fighting and anything you can get away with goes. Nobody living could fix a race like the one in the National league just now. It's the greatest ever and we all have a chance."

"There is absolutely no truth in the story that Capt. Evers said that the National league race was fixed," declared Manager Stallings of the Braves. "I have personally made a thorough investigation of the report and find it to be false. Johnny Evers has been with me two years and a straighter and more honorable player cannot be found."

Evers has devoted the best years of his life to organized baseball and it is absurd to suppose that he would attempt to tear it down. A few years ago he had an opportunity to jump to the outlaws. Instead he stayed by the organized ball and is now, as ever, one of its most loyal members."

LAWN TENNIS

St. Thomas Times: "Tennis has lost the reputation of being a pink-tea, lace-trimmed-in-the-sleeve, dead-old-Aisy sort of affair, and has come to be recognized as spirited, red-blooded, fast. People thought its chief ingredient was milk-and-water: now they know it is ginger." So says Louis Graces in an article entitled "The Rise of Tennis," announced for the August Century, the general theme of which is said to be the startling increase in popularity of a game formerly enjoyed only by a few.

How economic changes have contributed to this development, tennis being a commonplace game in a day of crowded cities and rising land values, how the National Championship contest has been shifted from Newport to New York, what are the relative merits of turf and dirt in courts, who are the chief heroes of contemporary tennis, why California is turning out an almost abnormal number of good players, are among the questions to be discussed in an article which will be very fully illustrated and which will assert that the old fashioned, non-aggressive style of play is in no danger of falling into disrepute despite the somewhat bellicose methods now in vogue.

St. Thomas Times: "Tennis has lost the reputation of being a pink-tea, lace-trimmed-in-the-sleeve, dead-old-Aisy sort of affair, and has come to be recognized as spirited, red-blooded, fast. People thought its chief ingredient was milk-and-water: now they know it is ginger." So says Louis Graces in an article entitled "The Rise of Tennis," announced for the August Century, the general theme of which is said to be the startling increase in popularity of a game formerly enjoyed only by a few.

How economic changes have contributed to this development, tennis being a commonplace game in a day of crowded cities and rising land values, how the National Championship contest has been shifted from Newport to New York, what are the relative merits of turf and dirt in courts, who are the chief heroes of contemporary tennis, why California is turning out an almost abnormal number of good players, are among the questions to be discussed in an article which will be very fully illustrated and which will assert that the old fashioned, non-aggressive style of play is in no danger of falling into disrepute despite the somewhat bellicose methods now in vogue.

Famous Men In Days of View

Premier Salandra of Italy attained to this office about a year ago, succeeding Giolitti, who had ruled Italy for upwards of fifteen years. Salandra was formerly a newspaper man and is a forceful writer and an effective speaker. The present Italian Premier is the first Italian to come from the south of the kingdom, having been born at Troja, the hottest town in Southern Italy. He is regarded as the ablest man in Italy, being an excellent lawyer, an able writer and a student of finance.

Major John Long of Montreal, has been appointed senior Major and Adjutant of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, one of the regiments in Colonel Smart's brigade. Major Long is an old soldier who has seen a great deal of service both in England and in Canada. During the past ten months he has done a lot of work in organizing various battalions for guard work and home defence. He has already left to join his men at Valcartier, as it is expected that they will all shortly go overseas.

Lord Suffield, who has just been appointed commander of the Yeoman of the Guard, is known in Canada as he was A.D.C. to the late Marquis of Lorne when the latter acted as Governor-General of Canada. Suffield also served on the staff of three Viceroy of India, was attached to the household of Queen Victoria, and also went through the Boer War with the Scotch Guards, retiring with the rank of Colonel. As Commander of the Yeoman of the Guard he receives a salary of six thousand dollars a year and a number of perquisites. He succeeds the Earl of Craven.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. J. Stewart has been transferred from the Divisional Staff to the Permanent Staff. Ever since the war broke out, Lieutenant-Colonel Stewart has been looking after the transportation of Canadian troops and his work was done so effectively that he won promotion and now has been transferred to the permanent ranks. He has been connected with the Canadian Militia for the past 39 years, serving in turn with the infantry, the artillery, the army service corps, and then on the Divisional Staff. He is regarded as one of the most efficient officers in the country.

Mr. Hector McInnes, K.C., who has been elected president of the Trust Company in succession to Mr. R. E. Harris, is a "Blue Nose" who has stayed in his own province and risen to prominence. Mr. McInnes was born at Picton and educated at Dalhousie University. He was called to the Bar in 1888. He has practised his profession in Halifax. He is not only prominent in legal circles, but is a director of a number of important corporations, including the Bank of Nova Scotia, the Eastern Trust Company and Nova Scotia Car Works. As his name would indicate, Mr. McInnes is Scotch and a Presbyterian, but instead of following the example of most people of that nationality and faith, he is a Conservative instead of a Liberal.

Mr. Aubrey White, Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario, whose death has just taken place, was one of the best known foresters on the continent. The late Mr. White was born in Ireland in 1845, but came to Canada as a young lad of seventeen, and engaged in the lumber business in Muskoka. His lumbering experience brought him in touch with the Crown Lands Department, and he became a Crown Lands Agent, later entered the Forestry Department of the Ontario Government, where he eventually became Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests. He was an expert on the Canadian Forestry Association, and recognized throughout the continent as an authority on forestry problems and conservation matters. Mr. White was also a prominent Free Mason.

Mr. Alexandre Millerand, the French Minister of War, has a tremendous task on his hands, but he is still handling the situation in an admirable manner. Millerand is a lawyer by profession, and was known to hold strong socialistic sentiments, but once in power he became a safe and moderate statesman, and developed remarkable organizing ability. He has represented the same constituency in Paris for 25 years, a somewhat remarkable record for a country where frequent changes in the order of the day. The French Minister of War has been called "the political father of military aviation." He has made a special study of aviation and became convinced that an air fleet was a necessary arm of the service, and consequently built up the very efficient fleet of aeroplanes that France possesses at the present time. At the time of the Paris Exposition in 1900, the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria bestowed upon Millerand the title of Baron, but as he never used the title during times of peace he is not likely to use it hereafter.

Giuseppe Garibaldi, the great Italian liberator and national hero, was born at Nizza in 1807, a French subject of the great Napoleon. His family, however, were pure Italian, his father being a prosperous merchant and ship owner. To-day the name of Garibaldi and the deeds he accomplished for Italy are the rallying cries possessed by the Italian army. Garibaldi went on board his father's ships as a boy of fifteen and spent ten years at sea, advancing to a captaincy. As a young man of twenty-seven he took part in a revolution in which Mezzina was the leading spirit, but it failed and Garibaldi fled the country with a price on his head. He finally escaped to Brazil where he became an adventurer and took part in many wars waged by that country with her neighbors. Here he gathered around him a band of Italians which formed the nucleus of the army which afterwards liberated Italy. In 1848 he returned to Italy with his soldiers and cast in his lot with the Italian party who were seeking to free the country from the rule of Austria. That effort failed and Garibaldi fled to the United States, returned to Italy in 1850 and on this occasion was successful and freed Italy from the yoke of the Austrians and saw the country united under an Italian king.

The Royal Academy of Music has just benefited under a will to the tune of £25,000—a windfall that will surely gladden the heart of its devoted and talented principal, Sir Alexander Mackenzie. Few people have done more for music than Sir Alexander, if only by reason of his unremitting labors on behalf of the "R.A.M." If you want to hear his praises sung ask an Academy pupil to tell you how he worked to get that fine building in Marylebone.

The late Dr. W. H. Cummings, whose death is announced, was a man of such tremendous energy almost to the very end, that it was difficult to believe that he was 84, that he was in the choir of St. Paul's in 1837, and that he took part in the first performance in London of Mendelssohn's "Elijah." At an age when most men think of retiring, when in many professions they are compelled to retire, he undertook the arduous duties of principal of the Guildhall School of Music, and worked with tremendous enthusiasm in that post until five years ago. He also found time to give in for a good deal of musical, literary and research work.

Dr. Cummings was known only to musical people until some few years ago, when he was defendant in a libel action which lasted many days and caused much stir. It was in connection with voice production, about which it must be allowed, he knew nearly all there was to know, as for a long time he held the position of chief tenor vocalist of the day, mainly in the field of oratorio. With his death an interesting link is broken with the music of the Victorians.

Bertha Krupp, or as she is known since her marriage Frau Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, is now in the strict sense of the word entitled to a place in the "Men in the Day's News," but as she has been doing a man's work some allowance must be made. When her father died many years ago she was put in charge of the great Krupp works at Essen, and managed the thousands of employees as effectively as did her father. A half dozen years ago she married von Bohlen und Halbach, a German officer who has to a certain extent assumed the responsibilities of the plant although Bertha still keeps an eye on the organization. In addition the firm had ten thousand miners in its collieries and twenty-seven thousand employees in rolling mills, ship building plants and other industries in connection with their establishment. It is now said that the Krupp plant is employing one hundred and fifteen thousand men. Frau Krupp von Bohlen had just died.

Brigadier General George Nugent, who has fallen in action, was for years editor of the Household Brigade Magazine. He wrote practically the whole of it, except the official news, which, as he said, he let the Commander-in-Chief invent. Nugent's skills were highly appreciated by a small and select circle, for they usually dragged in men and women under their pet names.

His full and detailed description "of the 1897 Jubilee" resolved itself into a discussion between two commanding officers' wives in a St. James street club window as to whether "that man Nugent was safe on a horse in such a crowd," and "where on earth did he get that tunic." Nugent was the life and soul of the old Guards' pantomimes at Wellington Barracks. He both wrote them and acted in them, his local and topical allusions being always very much to the point.

LONDON MINISTER

Says He Will Aim to Be a Male Man.

London, Ont. July 19—"I believe you have a right to expect your pastor to be a man—a male man," said Rev. H. S. Dougal, new minister of Askin street church, Sunday morning in a sermon which included an outline of his own policy and his ambitions for the congregation during the pastoral term just begun.

"When the time comes," he continued, "that the ladies of this church say, 'he is just too sweet for anything,' he is just lovely, and look for him with some pink tea. I will know I have fallen from manhood's noblest estate, and become somewhat of a mollicodde. I would like to be a man's man, and I am assured that I will be a woman's man, too, in very real sense of the term. I want you to feel in me the touch of masculinity and strength, and if you like, occasionally, the touch of authority and command. I hope you will respect me and I pray God in all that respect there will not be one of you that will soon come to think of me that you can come to my door and ring my bell and expect a handshake as cordial as I can make it."

THE CHURCH'S AIMS
Dr. Dougal said that while the church's great purpose was to give a "manifestation of Jesus," full pews and a good financial statement were worthy of being sought after. He believed the church could be filled without sensationalism, without the pulpit becoming a literary bazaar, a purveyor of social vaudeville or a political club. He referred specially to the importance of helping the young people, and to the value of missionary work, congratulating the congregation on its givings of nearly $3,000 to the missionary cause last year.

BECKER NOW NEAR THE DEATH CHAIR

He Will Probably Die Last of
All, As He Dies
Up Well.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Ossining, N. Y., July 19.-State prison officials virtually have completed the arrangements for the execution on July 28 of Charles Becker, formerly police lieutenant of New York city, for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Warner Osborne will send out invitations to-morrow to nineteen men, including New York county officials, physicians and newspapermen, selected by him to witness the electrocution. The warden, who is opposed to capital punishment will not be present when Becker is put to death. He has notified Deputy Warden Johnson that he would be out of town on the day of the execution, and Mr. Johnson will be in charge.

CRESWELL HAS BEEN GIVEN HIS RELEASE

Manager "Slab" Warner stated this morning pitcher Creswell had been handed his ring sheets, which means his release. This brings the strength of the Brants down to twelve again, as Grove Barry was released in London. The Brants could certainly stand an additional pitcher, because there has been so many double-headers of late, and only four on the Brant twirling staff. They are all good, but no pitcher can ever hope to play every two or three days with any kind of success.

To-day's game opens the series of four with the at present, leaders of the league. A double-header will be played on Wednesday afternoon and a right royal scrap it will likely be.
The Brants are determined to better their present position and the Hams are equally determined to stay on top.
They will have to do some playing though when they come up against the crew Warner now has. They will be lucky if they break even, playing against the only team that Shag is afraid of. No one can gain any fact that the lanky manager is scared of the Brants. He proved by his own actions during the last series in Ortowa that he was, when he kept pitcher Ryerson out of the game.

But to come back to Creswell. Until lately he was not a poor pitcher by any means. He has pitched himself out of some bad holes while playing behind the diamond, and he has won some stiff games abroad. Perhaps a rest a week or two would fix up his old arm again.

HOME GUARDS'
RIFLE RANGE
OPENS WELL

Many Bulls Scored and Members Need More Rifles

The Home Guard Rifle Club have every reason to be congratulated at their new rifle range, which was opened by Mr. Tunnell of Mohawk Institute on Saturday afternoon.

The range is situated at the foot of Colborne street on the Workman property and is a fine example of the method of marking is perfect. Nothing has been wanting in the members making preparations for comfort and safety.

A club house has also been given.
In opening the range, Mr. Tunnell wished the club every success and made a suggestion that anything that he could do to help the club to further their good work, he would be most nappy to do so.

Quite a number were out to try their luck to secure the first possible, but all failed owing to the heavy wind and glaring sun that prevailed during the afternoon. Twenty-four and twenty-three were the order of the day, which speaks well for high scoring during the season.

The rifle club possesses two splendid Webes, but are somewhat handicapped in using them, there not being enough for the membership. Appeals are being made to get subscriptions to overcome this difficulty. Anyone who would care to give assistance in this regard should communicate with Mr. J. R. Cornelius, treasurer, or any member of the club.

These splendid ranges will be open on Mondays at 6.45 p.m. and Wednesdays and Saturdays from 2 till 8 p.m.
The purpose of the club is to encourage anyone to learn the art of rifle shooting. The Home Guards have every reason to be proud of their existence, they have certainly stimulated many to join not only the military units here, but also the overseas forces. Besides this, many of the prominent marksmen in the local units to-day had their first lesson in shooting at the first possible, the rifle club eyes in this splendid organization.
