Grand Opportunity For Farmers and Horse Owners.

Owing to the wastages of war, scarcity in the horse supply is in prospect for years to come.

The farmer was never presented with a better chance for turning his mares to good account, alike to himself and to the country.

There is little outlay until the foal is weaned. The mare can continue to do her allotted share on the land, and for many years the demand for an animal serviceable either for draught or carriage purposes will be greater than ever.

For the embodiment of quality and

Stella Mordaunt: The Cruise of the "Kingfisher."

CHAPTER XXIX.

Stella gravely assented, and Nita tossed over the sheet music and began to repeat the words. They seemed absurdly silly to Stella, and Nita's deep, grave voice as she repeated the lines made them sound all the more foolish. But presently, having committed them to memory, she went to the piano and began to sing, and lo! the foolish words were no longer foolish, but full of meaning and point—which means that Nita was an artist and knew how to phrase.

"No wonder you are famous!" said Stella, admiringly. "Who would have thought that such silly words could be made to sound so funny? No one could help laughing."

"No; they laugh enough," said Nita, indifferently. "Listen to this."

She sang another; then, at the conclusion, rose and danced. She was a tall and graceful woman, and she danced naturally and easily, and with an abandon which had all the fascination and none of the suggestiveness of the ordinary skirt-dancer.

Stella clapped her hands, unconsciously giving the most flattering expression to her admiration.

"Oh, I wish I could see you to-night!" she said.

Nita smiled.

"You can't to-night; but some night you may," she said. "We'll see. Now I've got to go to rehearsal. There are some books by your elbow, and here is the bell. If I don't come back—and I may be kept—I'll tell the girl to bring you up some meals. And mind: you are not to hop about while I'm gone."

She did not come back during the day, and Stella spent the time trying to read; but the book lay face downwards nearly all the time, and her mind was harassed by her speculation as to what the Lisles were thinking of her, and whether Lord Lisle was searching for her. At every foot-fall on the stairs, she dreaded lest the door should open and he should appear. The hours dragged away slowly, and as the clock struck twelve, Nita came in.

She looked pale and weary. There were faint traces of the grease, paint and powder on her face; but they did not hide the dark shadows under her eyes.

"You shouldn't have sat up," she said.

Her voice sounded hoarse and strained.

Stella rose and limped to the fire, where she had kept some soup hot; but Nita gently forced her back on the sofa.

Count Ten! Bad Cold Relieved Figure Three Hours---Cold Cured.

Never a Failure With Catarrhazone; it Cures Completely. Don't sniffle and sneeze with a nasty cold. Kill it at once by "Catarrhazone." It's the surest thing on colds ever known; simply knocks them out in no time. The medicated vapor of CATARRHAZONE spreads through all parts of the breathing organs, and its beneficial action is felt instantly. Doesn't matter whether the cold is in the head, chest or lungs, Catarrhazone will reach it and cure it quickly.

Easy to use—you bet it is—not a single drop to take because you simply breathe in the most healing and soothing of piney vapors that come from the wonderful Catarrhazone Inhaler.

"It's good of you; but I couldn't eat it. I'm past it, as they say."

"Have you had a successful night?" asked Stella. "You look tired, poor thing!"

"I am rather tired. Oh, yes! It has been very successful. They turned money away, and we are going to stay on."

"I'm glad!" exclaimed Stella. "So am I," said Nita, "for I should have stayed on here in any case until you could move."

"Oh, but—"

Nita smiled.

"It's foolish of me; but I've taken a fancy to you, my dear," she said, as she sank into a chair wearily and slowly took off her hat and jacket.

"I sha'n't let you go until you are quite well and strong, and then—why, then it rests with you, if we part. Yes, we made a hit to-night. That new song and dance went like wild fire; manager said it was the best thing I've done, and that it would be sure to catch on in London. How lonely you must have been all day! I couldn't come back; we were rehearsing and rehearsing a stupid 'sketch' the manager was so sweet on. He was delighted, the house was full. Some of the swells of the neighbourhood had taken seats. They didn't come themselves, of course; but they sent some of their servants—the upper servants, I suppose. Yes, it was a big success."

She said all this in a weary, mechanical way, and sat staring at the fire as if she had something on her mind.

"You ought to be very proud," said Stella, admiringly.

Nita turned her head slowly.

"Yes, I suppose I ought. But something has happened to upset me," she said, absently. "There was a man there I knew. I've met him in London several times; he has come behind the scenes where I have been playing, and waited for me at the stage door, you know; or, rather, you don't know," she broke off with a short laugh. "I thought I'd given him the slip and got rid of him; but, by a strange chance, he's turned up down here, and—and—he won't be shaken off."

"Do—do you mean that—that—" faltering Stella.

Nita nodded.

"Yes, he's in love with me, and wants me to marry him."

Stella started uneasily.

"But—but you are married already!" she said.

Nita laughed.

"So I've told him a dozen times; but it hasn't any effect. He says that he'll go on to Klondike and find out whether my husband is alive or—dead—if I'll promise to marry him, if I'm free."

Stella tried to grasp this.

"He must care for you very much," she said in a low tone.

"Yes; I'm afraid he does. And the worst of it is, he isn't one of the foolish young idiots that hang about the stage door and take the same stalls night after night, but a steady, middle-aged man. And then there's something about him, a cool, calm way, that makes it difficult to get rid of him."

"Do you know him, anything about him?" asked Stella, intensely interested in this new incident in this strange woman's life.

Nita shook her head.

"Nothing much. His name is Workley. He has been abroad. I think he is well off; indeed, he told me to-night that he had suddenly come into the way of making a large sum of money. He didn't say how. But there! my experience of matrimony is too bitter a one to let me

"I can cheerfully testify that Catarrhazone is simply a magical cure for colds," writes P. F. Clement, of Augusta. "For days last winter my head was completely filled up with cold. My eyes ran water, I sneezed and coughed constantly. I took many medicines. I was sick of the sight of them. Finally, I tried Catarrhazone. Its effect was magical. It soothed the inflamed membranes, stopped the sneezing, and cured in no time. I never met anything to kill a cold like Catarrhazone."

Ever Feel "Dopy" After Meals?

At times we all feel dull and heavy. Just one thing to do—relax the bowels and cleanse the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Unclean matter is flushed out, the liver is toned, blood is purified, and at once you feel better. Good health and jovial spirits are quickly found in this celebrated medicine. Enormous benefits follow the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills in every case; they are very mild, very prompt and guaranteed by the makers. even think of anything he said."

Stella leant forward and stroked the wealth of dark hair which had escaped from its bonds and now poured like a torrent over Nita's shoulders.

"Don't be angry," she said; "but—but, Nita, suppose, only suppose that you have been unjust to your husband. Isn't it possible, just possible that he may be returning to you, even at this moment? You can't tell."

Nita rose, a faint flush showing through the powder and paint.

"Don't!" she said sharply, as if Stella's words had stabbed her. "I isn't possible. He has gone forever. I sha'n't see him again. But don't be afraid—I see what is passing through your mind. There is no man living who could tempt me to barter my freedom for a wife's chains. Come; it's time you were in bed."

CHAPTER XXX.

The day Stella spent in solitary reflection at Nita's lodgings, was an eventful one for Mary Hatherley. She woke with a presentiment of coming trouble; but she tried to drive it from her, and to look forward to the visit of the Lisles and Stella, and she put on her hat and strolled down the avenue to meet them. As she reached the lodge gate, Cecilia rode through alone.

"Why, where are Lord Lisle and Miss Mordaunt?" asked Mary, with some misgiving, for Cecilia looked agitated and anxious, and her eyes were red as if she had been crying. She slipped from her saddle and kissed Mary.

"Oh, Mary, we are in such trouble! She has gone!"

"She—gone! Do you mean Miss Mordaunt?" asked Mary, in amazement.

Stella started uneasily.

"But—but you are married already!" she said.

Nita laughed.

"So I've told him a dozen times; but it hasn't any effect. He says that he'll go on to Klondike and find out whether my husband is alive or—dead—if I'll promise to marry him, if I'm free."

felt wretchedly ungrateful, that sooner or later she would have consented to marry him against her will?"

"How clearly you see it all, Molly!" said Cecilia, with tearful admiration. "Where did you get such knowledge Mary, with a rather sad smile. "After of the human heart, dear?"

"From studying my own," said all, we women always act alike. Yes, I should have fled, and so would you, dear! But I am so sorry! Tell Lord Lisle that I think all the more highly of her for going as she did."

"I must try and think so, too; but Molly, if you saw him! He tries to be up, but I can see how badly he is hurt; and I—well, I shall miss her terribly! Do you think she has gone to London?"

"Yes; where else could she go?"

"She wanted to go back to the island—the place where she had lived. She implored us to take her back there; but we didn't know where it was. If only we could learn that she was safe and sound!"

"Miss Mordaunt seemed quite capable of taking care of herself," said Mary, thoughtfully—"I mean, that she seemed spirited and courageous; quite different to most of us. You mustn't worry yourself, Cecilia. As for poor Lord Lisle, he will not be able to help it. How sad life is! How full of disappointments and shattered hopes!"

"Isn't it? Cecil will be glad that you agree with him that we should not try and follow her. And now I am going straight back, dear. I don't like leaving him for even a few hours."

But Mary would not let her go until she had rested. As they went towards the house, Lord Hatherley came out to meet them, and Mary saw Cecilia start.

"Yes, isn't he changed?" she said in a low voice, and with a suppressed sigh. Cecilia could scarcely conceal her concern at the alteration in her old friend, though, at sight of her, he tried to assume something of his old brightness.

Cecilia drank a glass of milk, then remounted, and rode off. As she reached the road, she met Ralph the carl. He looked up at her with a bold stare, after the manner of his kind, and Cecilia, as she turned her head away, wondered who he could be.

Ralph walked up to the Manor and overtook Mary as she was returning to the house. She had been pondering over Stella's flight, as his footstep and voice sounded behind her.

"Good-morning, Lady Mary! Is Mr. Hatherley in?" he said, with the peculiar mixture of boldness and nervousness which marked his manner when he addressed her.

"Yes," she replied. "Father is in his library."

"I'll go to him then," said Ralph. "There's a small matter of business."

Mary turned to him quickly.

LONDON, June 7. General attack on Turkish trenches in southern area of the Gallipoli peninsula took place on the 3rd of June, supported by the fleet. Considerable advance was made at many points, but owing to heavy barbed wire entanglements at one point, which prevented the advance, a considerable portion of the captured trench was subsequently abandoned.

The French Government report continued severe fighting near Arras. German attacks were repulsed with considerable gains at various points. South of the Alsne two successive lines of trenches and enemy positions were captured with 200 prisoners and three guns.

Zeppelin raid occurred on the southeast coast of England on Friday night and again on last night. The latter caused two deaths. Persons were killed and 40 injured.

Zeppelin shed near Brussels was destroyed and set on fire by our aircraft last night. The flames reached a height of 10,000 feet. It is unknown whether there was a Zeppelin inside.

British airman bombed a Zeppelin between Ghent and Brussels, which was destroyed and fell burning to the ground. The force of the explosion scattered the British attacking monoplane and caused the pilot to descend in enemy country, but he returned to his machine and returned to the ground.

A GERMAN VERSION. BERLIN, June 7. On the night of June 4 and 5, a German naval dirigible attacked the fortified mouth of the Humber coast, the naval port of Harwich in Essex, and Harbor establishments at Harwich. They were conspicuously successful. Many bombs were dropped and there was a large number of explosions. One particularly violent explosion was that of a gas tank which was hit. Bombs were dropped on a railroad depot. The German airships were shot at vigorously on land and by ships. They were not hurt and returned safely.

FRENCH REPORT. PARIS, June 7. (Official.) An attack by us southeast of Hebr-tern has been completely successful. We carried by assault two enemy lines at Tont Vent farm, taking 400 wounded prisoners, of whom seven were officers, and capturing some machine guns, the number of which has not yet been established. Several hundred bodies of German dead were found on the ground.

KITCHENER'S APPEAL. LONDON, June 7. All the new Ministers of the British Coalition Cabinet appeared in the front bench of the Commons this afternoon. Asquith, Bonar Law and others were cheered by the whole House. Asquith announced that the response to Kitchener's appeal for 300,000 recruits was satisfactory. The full announcement of the Government's policy regarding recruiting would be made later, he said.

ENGLAND AND ITALY. LONDON, June 7. Alluding to the intervention of Italy, the Premier said that during half a century there has never been a shadow of discord between the two nations. We regard her as one custodian of the free traditions of Europe. We warmly grasp the hand of Italy, and welcome her gallant soldiers and sailors as fellow-comrades in the struggle on which the liberty of the world depends.

IN THE PARLIAMENT. LONDON, June 7. Fredk. G. Kellaway, Liberal, asked whether the Government has the power of stopping the campaign of the group of newspapers which endeavored to prevent men from joining the Army by refusing to publish Kitchener's appeal for more men and violently attacking its conditions; whether the Government is aware that these attacks came from the same source as did recent attacks on Kitchener. Tennant, the Under-Secretary of War, replied that the action of these journals had stimulated the response to Kitchener's appeal, and he believed the men required would be rapidly available. Tennant's answer was greeted with cheers.

Kellaway asked an assurance from the Coalition Government that this malignant press will not be able to continue its attacks on the leaders of the nation. Tennant said he thought this action was not necessary. Home Secretary Simon moved the second reading of the bill, establishing the Ministry of Munitions, and explained that the new Department would concern itself with the supply of munitions, but that the fighting departments would determine the nature, extent and urgency of their needs. The Home Secretary said that the army wanted as many shells as organized industry was capable of producing as quickly as possible. Lord Robert Cecil made his first appearance in the Commons as spokesman for the Foreign Office, today. Replying to the question whether Britain had sent to China and Japan a note similar to the American note, and the Chinese-Japanese treaty, Lord Robert said that both the Japanese and Chinese Governments were aware of the views of His Majesty's government on the subject. The Munitions Bill evoked some opposition.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK.

LONDON, June 7. A despatch from Aberdeen says that the British steamer Star of the West, was sunk by a German submarine. A trawler brought the crew into Aberdeen.

TRAWLER ARCTIC SUNK. LONDON, June 7. The trawler Arctic was sunk in the North Sea by a German submarine. Five members of the crew were rescued, and four were lost from shell fire from the submarine.

GERMAN STEAMER REPORTED DESTROYED. LONDON, June 7. The German armed steamer Hermann Von Wissmann, has been destroyed near Sphinx Haven, according to a statement given out this evening by the British Official Press Bureau. The Von Wissmann was destroyed by shell fire by a British naval force. The steamer had been lying on Lake Nyassa in southeast Africa, since her disablement by the Nyassaland steamer Gwendolyn, last August. Sphinx Haven is in German territory, on the eastern shore of Lake Nyassa, was bombarded, and captured on May 30th, and the Germans driven out with considerable loss by a bayonet charge. The only British casualty was one man slightly wounded.

Far-Flung Battlefields.

The capture of Spinxhaven serves to point to the far-flung and many battlefields on which our countrymen are operating. Spinxhaven is a German port on the east coast of Lake Nyassa in German East Africa, right in the heart of Africa. Yesterday we learned that Amara on the river Tigris, some miles above the confluence of the Euphrates and the Tigris, had been surrendered to the British. This shows that the British now control the lower reaches of the Tigris and Euphrates, which flow into the Persian Gulf. This is a serious blow to the Turks and to the Germans, who were aiming to control, commercially, the basin of these rivers which is the seat of the most ancient civilizations we read of in the Bible. A little time ago we read of the capture of the capital of German South West Africa, Windhoek, and the site of one of the great wireless stations by which Germany directed her marauding navy. Gradually, but surely, her colonies are falling from her, and though the Kaiser may busy up his subjects with the hope that the fight for the colonies will be settled on the battlefields of Europe, the Allies are determined that the decision of these battlefields shall eventuate in favour of the Allies and not of the Kaiser. It may be of interest to recapitulate the fall of the German colonies since the outbreak in August last. The Pacific possessions on the south are held by our fellow colonists of Australia and New Zealand. The Kaiser Wilhelmland, Bismarck Archipelago, Marshall Islands, Solomon Islands, Caroline Islands, Marianas Islands, and Samoa Islands, Kiauchau, the German possession in China, is held by the Japanese. Africa, the principal German towns in Togoland, Camerons and South-West Africa are held either by us or the French, and we have made certain inroads on the frontier of German East Africa. All these places have been the sites of battlefields of the British or French, mainly of the former, and so far as Germany is concerned, her position is hopeless in these places. She cannot send no aid to them, as she has lost communication by the sea, and with the Navies of Britain, France and Italy riding free, she cannot hope to regain it. In addition to these, the British have mighty forces at work in the Dardanelles and are sitting tight on the Suez Canal. All this in addition to the great army on the western front in France and Belgium. This is a remarkable showing for a nation with but a small army less than a year ago.

Boy Scouts' Concert.

The Concert given at the Methodist College Hall, last night, in aid of the Boy Scout movement, was largely attended, amongst those present being His Excellency the Governor, Lady Davidson, Miss Davidson, and Capt. Goodridge, A.D.C. The programme, which was under the direction of Mr. H. Gordon Christie, S.R., A.M., was as follows:—

Part I.

- Song—"Pipes of Pan," Arcadian;
- Miss J. Strang;
- Song—Selected, Mr. F. J. King;
- Violin Solo—Miss Sybil Johnson;
- Song—"I'll Make a Man of You," Herman Finch, Miss Nellie Job;
- Piano Solo—Waltz, "Brilliant," Moskowsky, Miss Lucille Ladley;
- Song—"England's Call," Wilfred Sanderson, Mr. F. M. Ruggles;
- Song—"Villia" Song from "Merry Widow" Lehr, Miss Dorothy Johnson.

Part II.

- Song—"Land of Hope and Glory," Eigar, Mr. H. T. Courtney;
- Recitation—Selected, Miss Curtis;
- Song—(a) "My Laddie," Thayer; (b) "Will of the Wisp" Sposs, Miss Elsie Herder;
- Recitation—Selected, Mr. T. H. O'Neill;
- Scout Scene—"The Attack" Troop.

Mr. Christie and the different performers deserve to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment, which we understand was also a financial success.

To-Day's Fire.

At 10.23 a.m. to-day an alarm of fire from Box 337, summoned the Central and Western Companies to the residence of Mr. John Moyst, Cornwall Avenue. The fire which was confined to the interior of the building had its origin in a closet on the second floor where a large quantity of clothes was kept. The firemen were on the scene promptly and directing a stream of water on the blaze soon had the fire under control, but not before the contents of the closet was completely destroyed. The damage done to the adjoining room by water was also extensive. The "all out" signal sounded at 10.45 a.m.

Reids' Boats.

The Argyle left St. Kyrans at 5 a.m. to-day, going west. The Bruce left Port aux Basques at 12.10 a.m. to-day. The Clyde is at Valleyfield. The Dundee left Salvage at 4.20 a.m. to-day. The Ethie is due at Carboner to-day. The Glencoe is due at Placentia at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Home is at Valleyfield. The Kyle arrived at Port aux Basques at 7.55 a.m. to-day. The Meigie arrived at Humbermouth at 11.45 a.m. to-day.

Here and There.

LOCAL ARRIVES.—The local from Carboner via Broad Cove, arrived in the city at 12.40 p.m. to-day.

KYLE ARRIVES.—The S.S. Kyle arrived at Port aux Basques at 7.55 a.m. to-day, bringing only one passenger in saloon, Mr. H. W. Moulton.

WEATHER.—It is fine all over the line of railway to-day, with a light Southwesterly wind prevailing. The temperature ranges from 40 to 65 above.

AT NORTH SYDNEY.—Messrs. Job Bros. & Co., Ltd., received word that the s.s. Beothic arrived at North Sydney last evening. She is due to arrive here on Friday.

The members of the four City Methodist Choirs are requested to meet for practice to-night, at 7.45, in Gower St. Sunday School Room.—1 STEPHANO IN DENSE FOG.—The Red Cross liner Stephano is due to arrive here this afternoon at 4. Messrs. Harvey & Co., had a wireless message from Captain Smith, saying that the ship passed Cape Race at 10 a.m., was steaming slowly in dense fog, and would probably dock about 4 p.m., as mentioned.

SUPREME COURT.—The case of Margaret Snow vs. Enoch Falk for breach of promise of marriage, will come up for hearing before Mr. Justice Johnson in the Supreme Court on Monday, June 14th, at 11 a.m. A special jury will be empanelled. F. A. Mews represents the plaintiff, and Furlong, K.C., is for the defendant.

BANKING SCHRS. HOWE WITH GOOD FARES.—The following vessels have just arrived at Garnish from the Gulf codfishery: Verberna, with 120 qts.; Annie Cluett, 230 qts.; Margaret Bartlett, 250 qts.; Ester Nellie, 190 qts. They all report fish plentiful. After landing their catches these vessels will outfit for the Grand Banks summer voyage.

YANKEE CAUGHT VIOLATING BAIT LAW.—Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, Deputy Minister of Customs, received a message to-day informing him that Captain Wadding, of the American schooner Atlantic, was before the Magistrate at Bonne Bay, charged with a violation of our Bait Act. The Captain pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $75 and costs.

MEIGIE BACK.—The S.S. Meigie, Captain Goobie, arrived at Humbermouth at 11.45 a.m. to-day and reports to the Reid Nfd. Co., as follows: "Had great difficulty in landing people on Labrador side, returning harbored at Blanc Sablon and Donna Eglise. These vessels will outfit for a proberance on account of heavy ice, crossed Sunday to Point Riche through 20 miles of ice in that direction."

WAS INSANE.—The unfortunate man Walsh, who strayed away and was found last night wandering in the vicinity of Cape Spear, as alluded to in another column, was examined this morning by Dr. Cowperthwaite, pronounced insane and conveyed forthwith to the Lunatic Asylum. The patient, who is a cooper by trade, had been out of work for a considerable time and this caused his mind to become unbalanced.

GRANDMOTHER AND GRANDSON.—The attention of the Magistrate's Court was occupied the greater part of this forenoon in the hearing of the case between an 86-year-old woman of the Southside, the plaintiff, and her grandson, the defendant, the former summoning the latter for non-support. The Judge and the lawyers for the parties effected an amicable settlement. The case was brought about owing to a mix-up over property.

MODERN ARTILLERY.—Broad Arrow:—This is a war primarily of guns and munitions, and it is perhaps not too much to say that had the artillery preparations of the Allies been made on the same scale as were those of our enemies, the Germans would hardly have scored their initial successes, and that the war might now have been very much nearer its close than it is. We cannot make the excuse that the employment of only a few of guns of really large calibre has come upon us as anything in the nature of a surprise; the war in South Africa should have prepared us for the developments which have come about in the size of the ordnance now taken into the field; but there can be small doubt that not only were we and our Allies caught napping when this war began, but that we were quite unprepared for the size and power of the guns which the Germans have employed.

A quantity of quicklime put into a damp cupboard for a few days will absorb the dampness.

Coffey Defeats Flynn.

The Pueblo Fireman Threw up the Sponge in the Ninth Round with the Dublin Giant. New York, May 31.—Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant, stopped Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman in the ninth round of their ten round bout at the Brighton Beach race track to-night. Their man badly beaten, and bleeding from the nose and mouth, but still on his feet, Flynn's seconds threw the sponge into the ring in the middle of the ninth round. From the seventh round Flynn had been fighting gamely with one hand his left hanging limply.

Coffey outboxed Flynn in every round. He used a left jab with effect and had Flynn bleeding freely in the third round. A volley of rights to the jaw almost knocked Flynn out in the sixth.

In the early rounds Flynn directed his attack at Coffey's body. In the seventh it was noticed that Flynn was not using his left hand. He continued his efforts with the right rushing and swinging wildly for a chance blow. In the eighth Coffey rained blow after blow upon the helpless fireman. Flynn was saved from a knockout in the middle of the ninth round when his seconds, realizing his condition, threw the sponge into the ring.

A Pert Reply.

A story told of Sir John Fisher and Lord Charles Berosford when both were stationed in the Mediterranean will bear repeating. A competition had been held at Malta for a prize annually presented by Sir John. It is known as the Malta cup, and having so far always been won by a crew belonging to the Admiral's flagship, it was fully expected by Sir John that this record would be maintained. On this particular occasion, however, a crew of the Ramilies, commanded by Lord Charles Berosford, carried it off instead. A day or two later the fleet was practicing manoeuvres and Admiral Fisher, whose reputation as a stern disciplinarian is well known, was dissatisfied with the performance of the Ramilies. He signalled accordingly to its commander the message, "Explain your reason for being late in executing manoeuvre." Without a moment's delay the answer came, "We are towing the Malta cup."

H.M.S. Lion's Escape.

An interesting sidelight upon the North Sea battle is supplied in a statement made to a correspondent by an officer of H. M. S. Indomitable, which played a prominent part in the action. After the Lion, which led the attack had been struck by a shell and was forced to drop out of the fighting line, an urgent message was dispatched by Sir David Beatty to Chatnam calling for tugs to be sent out immediately to the rescue of the disabled flagship to the harbor. The message was (as the admiral intended it should be) intercepted by German submarines operating in the region between the British squadron and the East Coast. The enemy submarines ignorant of the ruse practiced upon them, took up a position on the line of retreat to Chatnam, and patiently awaited the arrival of the crippled Lion with the intention of giving it its coup de grace. In the meantime the Lion was taken in tow by the Indomitable and steered a widely divergent course, which brought it safely into port many miles from Chatnam. The sight of the tugs returning without the Lion at the end of their tow lines no doubt gave rise to the German legends about the loss of a British ship in the action.

TEUTONS ENCROACHING

If Germans transferred their East to West as proposed, it would hold sufficient men to hold the front to continue the offensive against the Austrians along the Carpathians. The forces which had been into surrender are being sent Eastward, and according to the man and Austrian officials, conditions are at once put on a footing hardly more than of a Russian frontier. The troops swept through Stryk to a further East until they are beyond that town they are in a position which is perilous. Further North the miles East of Przemysl to the city of Lemberg is duplicating Przemysl. The Germans are the offensive in the Baltic. Their official statement crossing the River by dam, east of Libau.

THE LONDON BOMBING

A despatch received from London shows the Germans have been North-east East of London. Authorities expect that the raid on the Zeppelin airship base at Brno, where the Zeppelins make a determined and fighting and heavy losses, sides occurred north of Brno, where the French were ordered to nibble their way forward. The Zeppelins were trusted with the British. It is reported that the Zeppelins in England aroused the British to extraordinary vigilance. BURNING ZEPPELIN REPORT

The Daily Telegraph correspondent gives the following details of the burning of the Zeppelin airship base at Brno. Lieutenant Warneford was his attack on the Zeppelin French aeroplane. The Zeppelin pursued the Zeppelin airship, harassing it with machine guns. The Zeppelin use bombs did not become Zeppelin was committed to his speed, as it was a great Hangar near Ghent. Warneford was immediately killed. The Zeppelin was yet seen in Belgium, along the coast.

TEUTONS ENCIRCLING LEMBERG.

LONDON, To-day. If Germans transferred troops from East to West as reported, they have held sufficient men on the Eastern front to continue without relaxation the offensive that carried them and the Austrians almost across Galicia. The forces which pinched Przemysl into surrender are battling their way Eastward, and according to both German and Austrian official communications are at one point Southeast hardly more than 60 miles from the Russian frontier. The troops which swept through Stry have continued further East until they are 30 miles beyond that town equally beyond the Lemberg position which appears perilous. Further North they are 18 miles East of Przemysl, so that roughly speaking the encircling movement of Lemberg is duplicating that of Przemysl. The Germans are also on the offensive in the Baltic Provinces. Their official statement records crossing the River Windau, Southeast of Libau.

THE LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch received in London tonight says a telegram from Riga shows the Germans active North and Northeast East of Libau. Military authorities expect heavy fighting at Mostyck, where the Russians will make a determined stand. Hard fighting and heavy losses on both sides occurred notably in North Aras, where the French seem determined to nibble their way forward and continue East but the contests hardly are more than trench warfare contrasted with the fighting in Galicia. It is reported that Zeppelin raids on England aroused the British airmen to extraordinarily vigorous action. The raid on the Zeppelin shed near Brussels and the bringing down of the Zeppelin with its crew near Ghent were carried out about the same time. Italy since she has thrown her troops in the field and her navy on the side of the Allies has been taken into the financial circle of nations warring against Germany. At a recent meeting of the British Chancellor of the Exchequer and the Italian Minister of the Treasury, an agreement was reached to pool resources just as Britain, France and Russia previously agreed.

BURNING ZEPPELIN DROPPED ON CONVENT.

LONDON, To-day. The Daily Telegraph's Rotterdam correspondent gives the following additional details of the destruction of the Zeppelin airship near Ghent. Sub-Lieutenant Warnford was assisted in his attack on the Zeppelin by a French aeroplane. The aeroplanes pursued the Zeppelin a long distance, harassing it with rifle fire, while the German craft replied with rifles and machine guns. The opportunity to use bombs did not come until the Zeppelin was compelled to decrease her speed, as it was approaching the Hangar near Ghent. Warnford's bombs were immediately effective. Unhappily the airship crashed down on the Grand Beguinage de Sainte Elizabeth, one of the best known nunneries in Belgium which is situated in the suburbs at St. Almand. The burning mass fired the building over which it dropped. These buildings were filled with nuns and 700 Belgian women and children refugees. Terrible scenes followed. A man bent on rescue, leaped from a window with a child in his arms. Both were killed. The Zeppelin was the largest yet seen in Belgium and was returning from an expedition along the Belgian coast.

Staff says on the 7th our destroyer flotilla bombarded Montone for the third time. Three batteries in position near Duino Castle opened a well sustained fire against our destroyers which turning their guns upon batteries reduced one to silence and set the castle on fire. Our destroyers returned undamaged. The preceding night our dirigibles executed another raid on Pola, dropping several bombs which exploded at points of a military nature.

CONSTANTINOPLE IN DIRE STRAITS.

PARIS, To-day. All information reaching here from Constantinople, says a correspondent at Athens, agree in representing the situation of the city as almost desperate. The Young Turks are in dire straits here are only being upheld by the insistence and ceaseless efforts of the German Ambassador and Enver Pasha, War Minister. Medical supplies in the city have been exhausted and lack of coal has forced many flour mills and the waterworks which supply the city with drinking water to shut down.

TEUTONS TALKING PEACE.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. The Cologne correspondent of the Td says a report is current that Austria-Germany will shortly announce their conditions of peace in which emphasis will be given to the declaration that the German Allies are not engaged in a war of conquest but seek only to secure the security of their territories.

NAVAL CHIEF DEAD.

PARIS, To-day. Admiral Aubert, Chief of the General Staff of the French Navy, is dead.

STREAM CHOKED WITH DEAD.

LONDON, To-day. The fiercest fighting of the war as far as the Baltic Provinces of Russia are concerned, occurred a few days ago in the battle for the mastery of the Dubysa River, according to a Petrograd correspondent. The River changed hands five times in one day and at nightfall the stream was completely choked with bodies of thousands of dead, so that a plank road-way for the artillery was laid by the victorious Russians across the solid bridge of bodies.

ITALIAN SUCCESS CONTINUES.

ROME, To-day. The Italian troops are proceeding methodically to take possession of most important positions all along the frontier, according to a statement issued at headquarters.

SCHOONER TORPEDOED.

LONDON, To-day. Four members of the crew of the Russian schooner Adolf, sunk by a German submarine, have arrived in Leith. They report that no warning was given them by the submarine.

RUSSIANS ORGANIZING AMMUNITION FACTORIES.

LONDON, To-day. The Times Petrograd correspondent describes how the Russian authorities are organizing every possible industry for the production of ammunition and running factories day and night with three shifts of men, and engaging every available specialist and additional student of the Technical Colleges.

NORWEGIANS TORPEDOED.

LONDON, To-day. The Norwegian steamers Trudvang and Superb were sunk by German submarines.

DROWNED BY SEA WOLVES.

LONDON, To-day. The Belgian steamer Memalor was sent to the bottom by a German torpedo near the North Foreland. Out of 23 persons only six were saved.

FOUR SUBMARINES NETTED.

NEW YORK, To-day. Four German submarines were captured in the Firth of Tay, on the west coast of Scotland, in a recent raid, according to officers of the liner Cameronia, which arrived from Glasgow to-day. These undersea craft made a raid up the Firth and passed under the Tay bridge and were caught on their return in nets spread by port authorities.

ROUMANIA MOBILIZES.

BUCHAREST, To-day. Roumania's first step toward entering the conflict was taken yesterday, when the King signed the initial mobilization order. No doubt remains in the minds of any one here that it had definitely decided to join the Allies in the war against Germany and Austria.

THE POPE AND PEACE CONGRESS.

ROME, To-day. The Giornale D Italia states the Vatican intends to propose a Peace Congress, the Pope presiding with full powers. The report states the Pope's plan for Congress is supported by Austria and several neutral powers.

MORE SOLDIERS LANDED.

ATHENS, To-day. Reports to-day from Mitylene say the Allies continue to land fresh troops at the Dardanelles. The Allied fleet, it was said, resumed bombardment of Turkish positions on Saturday.

SUBMARINE SUNK.

PARIS, To-day. A submarine believed to be of Austrian nationality has been sunk at the Western entrance to the Dardanelles says a despatch from Mitylene to-day.

Equal parts of beeswax and turpentine rubbed on dull floors will brighten them.

TUESDAY, June 8, '15.

Those who suffer from the effects of bright sunshine should use Cream of Lilies, the unequalled remover and preventive of sunburn, tan, irritated skin and kindred summer troubles. A single application at night after a day of exposure to the sun will usually make the skin smooth and white again; in any case it will greatly soothe and entirely relieve the unpleasant burning sensation. If you wish to enjoy summer to the full, do not leave Cream of Lilies out of consideration. Price 25c. a pot.

Do you want some good, well grown and hardy Cauliflower Plants. They have some choice ones at Grove Hill—Early Dwarf, King of Cauliflowers, and Purify. You may leave your order with us for delivery. Price $1 a hundred.

CONSTANTINE'S ILLNESS CRITICAL.

ROME, To-day. A despatch from Athens says the condition of King Constantine of Greece suddenly has become very grave.

STEAMER ASHORE.

HALIFAX, N.S., To-day. The Plant liner A. W. Perry, Capt. Ellis, from Boston to Halifax, ran ashore this morning in a thick fog at the mouth of Halifax Harbor. The passengers, forty-two, were taken off. It is hoped that the vessel will be refloated.

DEVOTION OF SOLDIERS SAVED A BRITISH OFFICER.

London, May 29.—Lieut. Hellyer, of the 4th East Yorks Territorials, who is now in a hospital at Boulogne, owes his life to the devotion of his men in the ranks, who kept him from bleeding to death by taking turns in holding an artery. The officer's left arm was blown off by a shell, and his right arm badly injured. The main artery of the severed arm was exposed. But one of his men pinched it with his fingers. When the man's hand tired, another took his place in holding the artery. No surgical aid was available, and for three days Lieut. Hellyer lay in the bottom of the trench with only this primitive aid from his soldiers, between him and death.

ANNIVERSARY TO-MORROW.

To-morrow, June 9th, will be the anniversary of the great fire which swept St. John's in 1846, and also the anniversary of the "Ninth of June Gale" of more recent years.

Trying to Like People.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"I just can't like her," said Molly, the little stenographer lady. "I know I ought to but I can't."
"Nonsense," said the authorman's wife, "you've got a prejudice against her."
"No, I haven't, honest," said Molly, "I know she's awfully clever and all that and she's pleasant to me when we meet, and I've tried to like her, but I can't."
"Of course you could if you really tried," retorted the authorman's wife. "You could like anyone if you tried."
"How about it, reader friends?"
"With which do you agree, the authorman's wife or Molly?"
"Can You Make Yourself Like People?"
"Can you like people by trying or is liking something beyond our power to coerce?"
"Myself, I am inclined to agree with Molly that all the trying in the world can't produce any genuine liking. It is meant that everyone in the world should like everyone else? I don't believe it is.
"We may love everyone in the broad sense of loving them as brother human beings whose well being and happiness we desire, but that's quite another thing from liking them as individual personalities whose friendship and companionship we enjoy.
"There are certain colors that do not harmonize. One color kills another. It is not the fault of either color and no power on earth can make such colors like each other.
"It seems to me that personalities of similar reactions. There may be personalities, each perfectly good in itself, which simply do not harmonize with each other. One antagonizes the other. There can be no harmony between the colors, no liking between the individuals. And it is the deep forces of nature which are acting in both cases.

"Now do not misunderstand me. I do not mean that one should foster and cherish one's antagonisms. Nor should one think that every dislike is an instinctive and unconquerable antagonism. Many times what we think are constitutional dislikes really come from lack of knowledge or understanding of the object.
"And even when, after honest and prolonged effort one cannot overcome a dislike, one need not indulge it. You may not be able to like a person, but you can keep from announcing that fact to the world. You can treat him with all courtesy, you can try to see his good points and to keep your antagonism from prejudicing your judgment of his acts.
"Liking we cannot impose upon ourselves; justice we can.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Question.—"An Interested Letter Friend" wants to know, "if there is any way to overcome stage fright. I have been a reader in a small way for years and yet I still suffer acutely from fear, just before and sometimes during my performance."
Answer.—I don't know of any sure way. Try to think that after all your performance is not so important to others as it seems to you, take deep breathes and don't hurry yourself about beginning. Pauses often give dignity to a performance and a chance to get hold of himself to the performer. Exert all your will and try to treat yourself as if you were another person. Say to yourself sternly, "You can do this and it's all nonsense to make such a fuss about it."

Fads and Fashions.

Sleeves are growing larger. Smocked nightgowns are among the latest.
The blouses of net are delightfully dainty.
Just now the fashion is for bordered volles.
The sailor hat is the most favored hat this summer.
Flouncings of lace are important on semiformal gowns.
Some of the new dresses are 12 yards wide at the hem.
The new bathing suits follow the lines of the new dresses.
Striped voile and batiste are a good summer combination.
Finish the bottom of the full skirt with one row of puffing.
The latest bolero sleeve seems to be cut in one with the bolero.
The Eton collar of sheer organdy is a feature of the new blouses.
Hat brims are of various sizes, but they are increasing in size.
Multicolored picot edges to white ribbons are among the prettiest.
Parisiennes are embroidering their handkerchiefs with soldiers.
White crochet ball fringe appears on both hats and summer gowns.
Nothing has ever replaced the knitted golf coat for golf players.
Sashes with flower-appliqued ends are among the prettiest novelties.
Long transparent sleeves are mostly favored for lingerie frocks.
The short-waisted dress is especially becoming to the young girl.
Dead-white hats trimmed with white flowers or fruit are in vogue.
Unless the garment is strictly tailored, the hem should not be plain.
Flat-titled bonnets on china silk are used to trim striped voile frocks.
With frocks of checked silk separate coats of dark silk are extremely chic.
The laced, morgen-age bodices are so picturesque they are still in favor.

The Italian Army.

Col. A. M. Murray, C.B., writing in the London Daily News, gives us some additional statistics concerning the strength and equipment of the Italian Army. The approximate war strength is set down as follows:—
Officers 41,622
Active Army (with colors). 289,910
Reserve 638,970
Mobile Militia 299,596
Territorial Militia 1,889,659
Total War Strength 3,159,836
This total includes upwards of 1,200,000 fully trained soldiers, who have been through the ranks, with perhaps another 800,000 partially trained men, the remaining million being completely untrained men.
The organization for putting the above numbers of men into the field is as follows: The fully trained men are organized in four armies, each army consisting of three corps, one cavalry division, and a number of troops for the lines of communication.
The twelve corps are recruited and organized on a territorial basis, each corps having its allotted area.
The Italian army corps, which is larger than that in other European armies, is composed of two active army divisions, with thirty guns each, one mobile militia division, brought up to strength from the Territorial Militia, one regiment of Bersaglieri, or light infantry, one cavalry regiment, one field artillery regiment of six batteries (Corps Artillery), and other technical and administrative units. The strength of the corps amounts to 50,000 men, with 8,400 horses, and 126 guns, and this gives each of the four armies a strength of 150,000 men, 25,200 horses, and 378 guns, with the addition of a cavalry division of 4,200 sabres.
The first-line Italian army, therefore, which could be put into the field seven days after mobilization was ordered amounts to 600,000 men, 108,800 horses, 1,512 guns, and 16,200 sabres. But these cadres only absorb half the fully trained men called out on mobilization; duplicate corps will consequently be formed to take the place of the twelve first-line corps as soon as they have been despatched to their concentration rendezvous. It is believed that sufficient guns have now been provided for these twelve duplicate corps, but it is unlikely that more than two cavalry divisions could be formed in addition to the four divisions with the first-line armies. These duplicate corps would be ready to take the field three or four weeks after the concentration of the first twelve corps.
The above calculations show that within a few weeks after the declaration of war Italy can place in the field a force of 1,200,000 men (twenty-four corps), and would still have 1,800,000 men of fighting age left at the depots after the field armies had been despatched to the front.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.
There was a very good attendance last night at the cosy little house, the pictures are some of the very best ever shown, and little Miss Dot Marshall received great applause for her patriotic song, "Come on, Tommy." The little house in the West End is just the place to spend an evening, delightfully clean, cool and well ventilated.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS
Often the baby is fussy in his coach when put there to sleep. Have you as comfortable a foundation for when he goes to sleep at night? Is the coach cushion free from wrinkles? After he has been made comfortable if he then cries and fusses, see if his clothes are wrinkled up under the arms or are his feet uncovered or cold.

One can not go far wrong when following the old rule of head cool and feet warm, also do not jiggle him up and down, rock him to and fro, or shake the coach from side to side. How would you like some giant to pick you up and do all these things to you when you were feeling nauseated or a little upset? And really half the time all the baby wants is to be made warm and "comfy" and above all, to be let alone.

Hr. Grace Note

Miss Maud Dart went to water on Saturday to attend the 21st anniversary yesterday.
The volunteers who were here on their friends left for St. John by this morning's train. A large number of citizens were at the station to see them off.
Another of our old citizens who had been in poor circumstances for a time, died on Saturday under conditions that are said to be satisfactory, yet but will make enquiries, reports are correct, let blame where it rightly belongs. The old man was buried yesterday. C.C.C. thoughtfully attended the funeral.

A fine horse belonging to Mr. Arthur Parsons, perished on Saturday last week. The animal was suffering from colic and everything possible was done for it, but all to no avail. The loss is a heavy one to the owner of the animal.
A number of people went to Island yesterday by steamer, and worked.

The C.C.C. band paraded the streets on the King's Birthday, June 7, and played some very appropriate airs. Their rendition of "Tiger" was very much admired.

Centenary of St. John's Methodism.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Sir,—In the month of December last, I appealed through the press for photographs, or other portraits, of any Methodist minister who had laboured in St. John's during the last hundred years, and helped in the establishment of Methodism here.

Permit me now to thank the many ladies and gentlemen of different denominations, throughout the Colony, and Canada, as well as from England, who have promptly and generously responded. I have received considerably over a hundred portraits, in excellent condition, and now only require eight more to complete the list. If, therefore, any of your readers can lend the committee, portraits of the following 8 ministers, they will confer a favour by doing so:—

John Cubitt (1816), afterwards Editor of the Methodist Book Room, London. Ninian Barr (1816). John Bell (1818). William Wilson (1820), afterwards author of "Newfoundland and its Missionaries." Thomas Hickson (1824). Thomas Hopkins (1831).
 George Ellidge (1830), and John Smithies (1834) who left here for mission work in Australia. I give the dates of their arrival here so as to prevent confusion. Search is being made in England and Canada, at my request, so that I don't despair of getting most of them. But I wish friends in Newfoundland would again search through their old albums and scrap-books. All these men were famous in their day and greatly beloved. There should yet be portraits of some of them in existence. It would be a pity not to have our "Centenary" booklet complete!
 Any portrait, in any style of engraving, or a dagueratype, no matter how faded would do, if the portrait be there correct, singly, or in a group.

I may state here, that the Centenary Celebration is fixed for Sunday, June 20th, and Monday, 21st. Appropriate sermons will be preached at every Sunday service in all the pulpits of city Methodism by special preachers. Suitable addresses will be given at the Sunday Schools in the afternoon.

On Monday evening, 21st, a mass meeting of all the city churches will be held at Gower Street Church when the Rev. Dr. Bond, of Halifax, will deliver the Centennial oration, and His Excellency the Governor will publicly unveil a Brass Tablet in the Church to commemorate the One Hundred Anniversary of the introduction of Methodism into St. John's, Nfld.

Thanking you, on behalf of the Committee, for space.

I am, yours truly,
 J. W. NICHOLS,
 Secretary.

Missing Man Found.

A man named Walsh of Pleasant Street who is believed to be suffering from mental aberration and who had been missing since last Sunday was found in the vicinity of Cape Spear shortly before last midnight. The man had been trouting with his nephew in the vicinity of Kilbride on Sunday morning and having strayed from his nephew had wandered over the hills in the direction of Cape Spear. A phone message to the police informed them of his whereabouts and Detective Tobin was despatched to the scene where he located him, and brought him to the station last night.

All Night in the Woods

On Sunday afternoon a little girl left her home on Battery Road, without acquainting anyone where she was going. Not putting in an appearance up to when darkness set in, her absence naturally caused her parents much anxiety. Search parties set out at midnight to look for the missing girl. Signal Hill, Quill Hill and other neighbouring places were scoured, without success, and not until yesterday at noon was she discovered in Bennett's Grove. She had spent the previous night in the woods but could not give a clear explanation as to her absence.

Amusements.

GREAT IRISH ACT AT ROSSLEY'S.

There was a splendid house at the reliable theatrical place of amusement as Rossley's is recognized. Mr.
 Ballard Brown and Miss Madge Locke are great favourites with the St.
 John's public because they are first class artists. The pictures, too, need no boasting they are good. On Monday next the potted pantomime: "Little Bo Peep and Boy Blue," and if the public only knew half the time, trouble and expense to get a production of this kind together they would be surprised. There will be a farm yard scene that will be a delight to witness, a transformation scene the like has never been seen here before.
 The Rossley's have always lots of original ideas, and are certainly the pioneers of amusement in St. John's city.

"THE IDENTIFICATION."

The great Kalem feature "The Identification" that the Crescent Picture Palace is showing to-day is a masterpiece of photography and acting. Helen Holmes who was especially engaged by the Kalem Company to play in this work gives a marvelous representation and is supported by a bevy of noted stars. "Broncho Billy—Outlaw" is a very strong western drama with G. M. Anderson the favorite cowboy actor. The comedies in to-day's bill are very fine and cause roars of laughter. Mr. Del-Monico's song: "There's a little spark of love still burning" delighted the audiences yesterday and will be repeated to-day. If you want to see a good picture programme and hear a good song go to the Crescent to-day and you'll not be disappointed.

LIFE'S CRUCIBLE.

This beautiful drama by the Selig players, attracted large audiences to the British Theatre yesterday afternoon and last night. The story is an absorbing one and teaches a great moral lesson. Another feature of the splendid programme at this popular theatre was the grand two-reel feature "The Livid Flame" by the Bio-graph players. "Broncho Billy," "The Vagabond" and the comedy "Hogan's Alley," completed one of the best shows seen since the opening of the theatre. The programme will be repeated this afternoon and night. Miss Keeping will preside at the piano and Mr. Arthur Priestman Cameron will be heard in favorite comedy numbers.

AMBUSHED.

The production of this thrilling picture at the Casino last night attracted a large number of people who thoroughly enjoyed the many stirring incidents that surrounded this masterpiece. The heroic efforts of Mitchell in pursuit of the lost heiress are realistically told; the defeat of the villains in their endeavors to murder Mabel wins the applause of the audience. The story is so absorbing and interesting right through that there is not one dull moment. It will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night. No ardent lover of adventure or romance should miss seeing this excellent picture. The enjoyment and pleasure which one will derive from witnessing this splendid production will amply repay him.

OUR MUTUAL GIRL REPEATED TO-DAY.

The presentation of "Our Mutual Girl" attracted a large audience to the Nickel Theatre last evening. The film showed the dainty Margaret at a fortune-teller's and also locked on the tower of a signal station. "The Cripple," which is in two reels, is a beautiful social drama which delighted all. The other films were in keeping with the excellent pictures always shown at the Nickel. Tomorrow there will be a holiday bill, which includes another episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery." Of course you are going to see it; every one is. There will be popular singing and high class music by the grand orchestra.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Miss Maud Butt went to Freshwater on Saturday to attend the Methodist anniversary yesterday.

The volunteers who were here to see their friends left for St. John's by this morning's train. A large number of citizens were at the station to see them off.

Another of our old citizens who had been in poor circumstances for a long time, died on Saturday under conditions that are said to be sad. We have not been able to get particulars yet but will make enquiries, and if reports are correct, let blame rest where it rightly belongs. The poor old man was buried yesterday. The C.C.C. thoughtfully attended the funeral.

A fine horse belonging to cabman
 Arthur Parsons, perished one night last week. The animal was suffering from colic and everything possible was done for it, but all to no avail. The loss is a heavy one to the owner of the animal.

A number of people went to Bell Island yesterday by steamer, seeking work.

The C.C.C. band paraded the streets on the King's Birthday, June 3rd, and played some very appropriate airs. Their rendition of "Tipperary" was very much admired.

ALEXANDER POPE born 1688. The celebrated English poet and translator of Homer. He was the son of a London draper, and early showed great poetic gifts. In 1711 he published his famous "Essay on Criticism." His finest work is his "Essay on Man."

SIR JOHN MILLAIS born 1829. At one time the most prominent of the English pre-Raphaelite School of Painters, but soon cast himself free from its mannerisms and began the production of a long series of famous pictures, becoming the most popular artist of the day. His "Bubbles" bought by Pears, has been spread all over the world.

DOUGLAS JERROLD died 1857, aged 54. Dramatist and humorist, who enjoyed a long career of success by his contributions to Punch.

CHARLES READE born 1814. Some put him in the very first rank of novelists. His works have done much to reform many abuses in England. "The Cloister and the Hearth" is one of the finest novels in the language. Great deeds from meanest springs may take their course, And smallest virtues from a mighty source.

The many friends of Miss Alice Lillie, daughter of Mr. R. McD. Lillie, of this city, will be pleased to hear that she is gaining much prominence in her chosen profession at New York. Miss Lillie graduated at the General Hospital this city after which she went to New York and took a post-graduate course at the General Memorial Hospital there and also at the Eye and Ear Infirmary. That she is meeting with success is evidenced by the fact that her services are much sought after by prominent persons. The Telegram congratulates Miss Lillie and wishes her a continuance of success in her chosen sphere.

Our Volunteers.

The total number of volunteers enrolled to date is 1,822, the following having enlisted with the Reserve Force yesterday:—

Frank Harnett, Seldom Come By, M. Tucker, Broad Cove, R. Walsh, Bonne Bay, George Hawkins, Willingate, Albert Adey, Clarendville.

Yesterday morning was spent principally at drill indoors, and in the afternoon the men of No. 5 Platoon were inoculated. The outpost volunteers were given four days leave yesterday and some of them left for their homes by the evening train; others will go out to-day.

The members of George St. Methodist Choir will meet the members city Methodist Choirs in Gower St. Church this evening at 7.45 for special practice.—11

Inquest into Death of Reservist Jos. Benoit.

On Wednesday, May 5th, Dr. Hardman, Coroner of Ramsgate, England, held an official inquest into the circumstances associated with the death of Joseph Benoit, of Cape St. George, seaman of the Mtd. Royal Naval Reserve, who had been serving on the steam-drifter "Loyal Star," at the time of the accident, already referred to in the Telegram. Joseph Benoit was killed on Tuesday, May 4th, and the enquiry was held on the following day at the Royal Hotel, Ramsgate.

Seven witnesses were examined, including John Benoit, cousin of the deceased who was serving on the same ship and was with Joseph Benoit at the time of the accident. Sub-Lieutenant Lewis, who was in charge of the boat explained that in order to save a ship from striking a mine, rifles would be fired. He said that their boat carried three such rifles and added that any seaman might be expected to handle them. He understood that John Benoit was cleaning a rifle when the accident occurred. He left the two boys John and Joseph on watch at 12.30 in the afternoon, rifles in hand. He was called out some time afterwards, he found the deceased shot. The other boy seemed very excited about it. He had noticed that they were fast friends and had been great friends before joining the navy. Capt. Grace and William Horne, the mate of the "Loyal Star" were next examined. The latter had noticed that the boys had been great friends. He had also noticed how the death of Joseph Benoit had affected his companion. He was greatly excited and told the commander that he had the rifle on his knee when it became discharged accidentally. The other witnesses gave similar evidence and all stated that the lads were always great friends. John Benoit stated that he was an ordinary seaman on the "Loyal Star" and the deceased had been boys together at Cape St. George and were both 18 years of age. They enlisted together and were always great friends. At the time of the accident he was on watch and the deceased was with him for company. He was sitting with the rifle on his knee and the deceased was standing at his left. He did not think it was loaded, and did not know what made it go off. The boat was rolling and he had to move to keep his balance. He did not think his clothing touched the trigger. The Coroner said that if they accepted one part of the evidence of Benoit, they must accept the rest. His superior officers had believed his story. The accident pointed to carelessness but in dealing with boys 18 under new conditions allowances had to be made. He regretted that this young life given always great friends of his country should be lost in such a manner. After a brief deliberation the jury returned a verdict of "Misadventure."

Total Prohibition In Sight.

The Prime Minister has made his promise and introduced into the House of Assembly a Bill providing for the total prohibition of the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors to take effect on January 1st, 1917, provided that a plebiscite is held during the coming autumn, 40 per cent of the registered voters favor the measure. The central authority is to be created and shall have power to import, manufacture and sell spirits for medicinal and sacramental purposes. For the last named, clergymen also may import wines. Druggists and doctors are to be licensed to sell spirits for medicinal purposes, but must give account monthly to the central authority, who in turn shall report annually to the Legislature. Penalties ranging from $10 to $500, or in default, imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, are to be levied on any violation of the Act. If the holding of a plebiscite, 1916, has been voted and the time of the plebiscite is to be not later than December 1st, 1915.

So far as we can judge, the Bill as amended in Committee is all right and, if put into effect, should effectually remove the liquor curse. The only question is, can 25,000 voters be influenced to go to the polls next fall and vote "yes"? And that is a serious question. It means a large vote than supported the Government in present in power. Any temporary supporter who expects an easy victory

90 per cent is lost

It is a startling statement that of all the money paid by a leading life company to beneficiaries in seven years, 90% of it had been spent or lost. Yet that was proved by a careful investigation to be the case.

THE CANADA LIFE WILL PREVENT THIS LOSS.

Through our Continuous Monthly Income policy your beneficiary will have absolute certainty of an income of, say, $50. monthly, which cannot be tampered with by foolish or designing advisers.

This income is guaranteed for at least 20 years, so that should the beneficiary—presumably the wife—die, it will continue till the youngest child is of age.

Private R. Higgins Wounded.

FURKS BURN TO DEATH SIX DUBLIN FUSILIERS WHO HAD BEEN WOUNDED.

New York, June 1.—London papers received here state that wounded men in the hospitals of Cairo and Alexandria tell horrible tales of Turkish atrocities. The most terrible are those recounted by some Dublin Fusiliers who saw the burning to death of six of their wounded comrades by the Turks. An Australian, now in Cairo, who was a Turkish prisoner for four hours, had his eyes gouged out. Many British were found mutilated. Some were hanging by their hands from trees.

A tale of a life and death struggle between an Australian and a Turk on the top of the cliff at Sari Bair is old. Closely matched at the first encounter, they knocked the rifles from each others hands. Without attempting to regain his weapon the Australian flew at the Turk in the hope of throwing him over the cliff. Drawing near to the edge of the cliff the Colonial tried to thrust the Turk over, but the latter clung to the Australian and both went clattering down into the sea. There the Australian got the better of his man. Clutching him by the throat, he held the Turk under the water, until he was drowned. The Australian, severely injured, is in hospital.

URGENT CONTRABAND RUNNERS SHOULD BE SHOT BY ITALY.

Milan, Italy, via Paris, June 2.—The Milan Secolo, in its issue of yesterday, urges the Italian authorities to take drastic measures against, and even to shoot, those persons who are found guilty of speculating with contraband in favor of Germany and Austria. Such men are smugglers, the paper says, but at this time smugglers are no better than traitors and spies.

The Secolo calls attention to the fact that as there is at present no state of war between Italy and Germany, certain products may still be exported from Italy into Germany, which means that these conditions be changed.

TWO FOOLISH EXCUSES.

Neither of the two chief arguments or apologies put forth in defense of the sinking of the Lusitania is in accordance with the law or the facts, and it is surprising that intelligent Americans should be deluded by them. The first is that Great Britain has disregarded international obligations just as much as Germany; the second is that the Lusitania was a naval cruiser, and that therefore those on board were not entitled to claim the protection which would have been due to them had she been a peaceful merchantman. That there is any similarity between the British and the German attitude toward the rules of civilized warfare it is impossible to maintain.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A UNION OF NEUTRALS.

The suggestion that the President ask neutral nations to join in a protest against Germany's barbarous methods of warfare, is worth serious consideration. It could not replace our own separate action. The definite case before our own Government will have to be dealt with itself. But there might be great ultimate good in such a union of the other nations. It would look ahead to the final expansion which the world will yet have to make on all these questions of savagery in war.—New York Evening Post.

THE SUBMARINE'S FUTURE.

Undoubtedly the submarine has been one of the big sensations of the war. It has inflicted great material damage, and its moral influence on the various peoples engaged in hostilities has been considerable. Some have rushed to the conclusion that no other agency will ever be able to war against the submarine in its own element; that is immunitly from attack is to be a permanent thing, and that therefore the submarine is destined to rule the seas. As a matter of fact, it will be rather surprising if the close of the present conflict does not find aircraft started on the way toward successful warfare on the submarine. Since long before the dawn of history birds of certain kinds have lived on fishes, the latter paying with their lives for their temerity in venturing close to the surface of the water. Will not the same story eventually be told of the submarine and the airship?—Cincinnati Times-Star.

German Diplomacy's Great Downfall.

New York Herald.—Italy formally has declared war and the Austrian and German ambassadors at Rome have been handed their passports. It is the final and crowning failure of German diplomacy and affords another insight into the singular state of mind into which national self-conceit can throw a country. Everywhere double-dealing and everywhere an indication that Germany felt she was dealing with a collection of international sharpers and skulkers. The downfall of Von Buelow appropriately follows that of Dernburg. Von Buelow was handed his passports. Why isn't Dernburg sent packing?

All First Class Druggists Sell Salvia Hair Tonic

SALVIA destroys dandruff in ten days. The roots of the hair are so nourished and fed that a new crop of hair springs up, to the amazement and delight of the user. The hair is made soft and fluffy. Like all American preparations SALVIA is daintily perfumed. It is hard to find an actress who does not use SALVIA continually.

Germans Now Using Incendiary Bullets.

Rotterdam, June 1.—Reports from Antwerp say that the Germans are now experimenting at Hoboken with a new form of machine gun. This is said to fire incendiary bullets, which will inflict fatal wounds in every case. The Germans are sending enormous supplies of machine guns to the front. At Thiel alone there arrived last week over 600.

THE IDLERS.

Men labor against the hames, and sweat till their old and gray, supporting the stalled dames who idle their years away. We've bred up a futile race of women who have no care, except for enamel face, or sea-green shade of hair, who always are richly gowned and wearing imported lilies, who carry their poodles round, preferring the pups to kids. And husbands exhaust their frames, and strain till their journey's done, supporting the stalled dames, who never have toiled or spun. We're placed in this world to work, to harvest our crop of prunes; Jehovah abhors the shirk, in gown or in trousers. The loafers in gems or silk are bad as the fragrant vags, who pilfer and beg and bibe, and die in their rancid rags. The loafers at bridge whist games, the loafers at purple teas, the hand-painted stalled dames, are chains on the workers' knees. The women who cook and sew, the women who manage homes, who have no desire to grow green hair on enameled domes, how noble and good they seem, how wholesome and sane their aim, compared with that human scream, the brass-mounted stall-fed dame!

SEEING AMERICA FIRST—GLACIER PARK.

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Swash"
A few years ago when it became evident that America was losing much money because of its inability to compete with Switzerland in large and handy glaciers, enterprising explorers went up into Montana and discovered the largest flock of handy and convenient glaciers in the world. The government has since then appropriated this region and has made a park out of it. A government park does not consist of flower beds, an automobile procession and some sparrow cops. It consists of a wild and extensive state of nature. Glacier Park is about 40 miles square covered with mountains in an entirely free and untamed state and profusely decorated with glaciers of a superior quality. Wonderful lakes nestle between the mountains and wild animals of many sorts not usually seen outside of cages enjoy themselves here. In few places can the tourist gaze upon such lonely wastes of bare, gaunt peaks and mountain heights covered with eternal snow. Glacier Park is hundreds of miles from the nearest metropolis and a thousand miles from the very busy haunts of man. But it is only thirty minutes from a room with bath and other modern conveniences. When the government formed the park it built fine roads all through it, erected comfortable hotels and turned loose large numbers of automobiles and motor boats. The tourist can travel for a week soaking his soul in the wildest grandeur and soaking his carcass by night in hot water in a white enamel bath tub. The glaciers in this great park are not domesticated like those of Switzerland. Women and children cannot trip merrily over them throwing stones into the cravasses and buying souvenir cards, edelweiss, carved wooden bears, milk chocolate and toy alpin-stocks by the carload at their feet. They can examine them at close range, however, in their primeval grandeur and while the chauffeur is repairing a busted tire they can wander, off into the woods and shake hands with a bear who is tamer than a European hotel keeper in the act of collecting a bill with extras. It is also worthy of note that these are about the only tipless glaciers in the world. This fact alone should bring armies of admirers to them when the information has been spread far enough. One does not have to slip Uncle Sam a dime in his large moist palm for reviewing his wonders. Revers of tucked and ruffled net are seen inside the revers of long silk coats. Make your dance frock with the skirt of net and the bodice of cherry red taffeta.

Total Prohibition In Sight.

The Prime Minister has made good his promise and introduced into the House of Assembly a Bill providing for the total prohibition of the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors to take effect on January 1st, 1917, provided that, when a plebiscite is held during the coming autumn, 40 per cent. of the registered voters favor the measure. A central authority is to be created who shall have power to import wines and spirits for manufacturing, medicinal and sacramental purposes. For the last named, clergymen also may import wines. Druggists and doctors are to be licensed to sell spirits for medicinal purposes, but must give an account monthly to the central authority, who in turn shall report annually to the Legislature. Penalties ranging from $10 to $500, or, in default, imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, are to follow any violation of the Act. For the holding of a plebiscite, $30,000 has been voted and the time of the plebiscite is to be not later than Dec. 1st, 1915. So far as we can judge, the Bill as amended in Committee is all right; and, if put into effect, should effectually remove the liquor curse. The only question is, can 25,000 voters be influenced to vote to the polls next fall and vote "yes"? And that is a serious question. It means a larger vote than supported the Government at present in power. Any temperance supporter who expects an easy victory had better become disillusioned forthwith. We must not suppose that our adversary the devil has lost his interest in the business, or his desire to resist the coming of the Kingdom of Christ in Newfoundland; and he will find agents to do his bidding. We must not suppose that "the trade" will accept defeat without an effort, or that many who indulge in the intoxicating cup will all at once become partakers of the self-sacrificing spirit of Jesus Christ and support temperance reform. Mr. Morine indeed strongly maintained that 40 per cent. is altogether too rigid a condition, and places an unreasonable demand upon temperance people who have personally nothing to gain by their services to the public in this matter; and moved, in amendment, that the question be decided by a majority of those voting. Upon this motion being declared lost, Mr. Coaker moved that the standard be 33 1/3 per cent. instead of 40—a very reasonable modification, which, we regret to say, was also lost on a party vote. It is, of course, only fair to add that the Government had to deal with differences of opinion in their own ranks; and 40 per cent. having been decided upon as a compromise, no amendment was entertained. It affords too an opportunity for the first time in history of testing prohibition sentiment in Newfoundland, and places a very great temperance victory before the people as a goal toward which to labor. And while fully recognizing the tremendous forces arrayed against us and the all but insuperable difficulties to be overcome, we must not forget the forces that may be arrayed on our side. If we may judge from the zeal manifested by representatives of the F.P.U. in the Legislature, it is not too much to hope that the cause of temperance will have the full support of that powerful organization. The Grand Lodge of the Loyal Orange Association also has shown an interest and zeal in this question calculated to inspire hope and confidence that valuable assistance will come from that very influential body. The Methodist Conference too may be depended upon to fight to the last man in favor of a principle which has long been adopted as the goal of the Methodist Church. And in the other churches also there will be found a multitude of men who will give their great measure their hearty support. And then we may count upon the prayers and sympathy of all good women who long for the time when mothers and wives will cease to weep and grieve over drunken sons and husbands and homes made hells upon earth through drink. But, above all there is a holy God who hates sin and loves righteousness, whose abiding curse rests upon a traffic that is sending redeemed souls to hell by the thousand and is one of the greatest hindrances to the extension of His Kingdom in the world, and whose strong arm is ever on the side of right. "If God be for us who can be against us?"—Methodist Monthly Greeting.

London, May 26.—Sir Henry Rider Haggard, novelist and farmer, writes to the London Times, suggesting that a Minister of Food Supplies be appointed to deal with the problem growing out of the scarcity and dearth of meat and other eatables, which is largely due to England's dependence on imported food supplies. "If the war continues two years, or even another year," he says, "there will be great trouble in Great Britain, where the population is not accustomed to economize, food having always been so cheap. Indeed, owing to the abundance of public money in circulation, more than usual is being spent upon what we eat and drink. If Germany can fulfil her threats and largely increase the number of submarines, it is obvious that we still are in danger, if not of starvation, at least, of a great scarcity to which other circumstances will contribute. "I therefore suggest that steps be taken without delay to mitigate this formidable possibility. A new Minister should be appointed forthwith with powers to deal with these special problems now, when the Government is being remoulded.
