Rioting, Looting and Murder

Europeans Burned to Death---Allenby Has Absolute Control in Egypt---Imperial Prime Minister Attacks "The Thunderer"---Another Strike in Berlin.

THE INDIAN RIOTING.
LAHORE, India, April 16. Further details of the rioting at the Registrar state that five Europeans were murdered. After looting the rioters poured oil over the Registrar and fired the bank building. The bodies of the victims in the National Bank were burned by the rioters. Manager Thompson of the Alliance Bank killed several of the rioters with his revolver before being overpowered. Everything of value in the Town Hall, including the official papers and records, were destroyed. The mission of the Punjab religious department was also burned. Several Europeans were being sheltered in a number of houses until calm prevailed last night. A lady doctor in the municipal hospital escaped by hiding in a closet and dressing in a native costume. The police behaved splendidly, saving a number of Europeans. Several troops with reinforcements from Lahore and Hüllindur finally quelled the disturbance.

SITUATION IN EGYPT.
LONDON, April 16. (Via Reuter's).—An official statement regarding the Egyptian situation made in the House of Commons this afternoon says that from the general point of view of the public security conditions are now satisfactory. No incidents of particular importance are reported from the provinces, although districts in the Delta interfere with railway and telegraph communication. The strike of government employees continues. The Government is endeavoring to settle the strike, and the moderate elements are apparently strongly opposed to its continuance, but agitators are working against a settlement. General Allenby's policy, under the powers vested in him, is to restore law and order, and normal conditions of life throughout the country.

WILL HOLD THE RHINE.
PARIS, April 16. The Council of Four decided yesterday that military occupation of the left bank of the Rhine shall continue for fifteen years. Newspapers say that at the first Allied forces would be used, but they would be withdrawn progressively in proportion as Germany met her financial obligations and then be replaced by French and Belgian soldiers. The Journal says that the Central Territorial Commission of the Peace Conference has decided the Teschen problem in favor of Bosnia against Poland.

LOYD GEORGE AND THE TIMES.
LONDON, April 16. (Via Reuter's).—Premier Lloyd George in the course of his speech in the House of Commons to-day, attacked in a sensational manner "the attitude of certain newspaper owners suffering from diseased vanity, to sow dissension between the Allies. The Times is a three-penny edition of the Daily Mail," he declared. "On the Continent the idea prevails that it is the semi-official organ of the Government. That shows how long old traditions take to die."

HANDLEY-PAGE FLIERS.
LONDON, April 16. (Via Reuter's).—Reuter's representative has had an interview with Major Brackley, D.S.O., one of the pilots who is about to attempt a transatlantic flight with the giant Handley-Page aeroplane now en route to Liverpool, dismantled and packed in crates. It is expected that the party which includes Admiral Mark Kerr, second pilot Minnor Gran, the well-known Arctic explorer, who is acting as navigator will be covered in and protected from the weather but the pilot and observer will be exposed, save for a thick glass screen. Each will wear clothing that can be instantly warmed by electricity. No boat is being carried, but a life-saving apparatus will be included in the equipment, while a special balloon controlled by compressed air can be let up to attract the attention of passing ships. An extra wireless set is provided in the tail by which signals for help can be sent should the machine come to grief, and the wireless cabin situated forward be submerged by the weight of the engine. One of the most serious considerations affecting the flight is the calculation of the drift, and a special instrument for that purpose is being carried, while smoke bombs also will be released to show the way the wind is blowing. Bearings will also be picked up from ships en route, and by a process of triangulation the exact position of the airplane can be ascertained. Ample supplies of food and drink, consisting of chocolate and meat, lozenges and Thermos flasks of cocoa will be provided. If possible a landing will be made at Hender Creek, Ireland, but in case of necessity the machine will alight in Ireland. The sixth Union Jack presented to the joint pilots a week ago by Princess Mary, will be flown from the aeroplane.

MARINE COLLISION.
LONDON, April 16. (Via Reuter's).—During bad weather in the Channel yesterday a serious collision occurred off Deal between the Dutch steamer Delta, bound from Philadelphia to Amsterdam, and the C. P. R. Co's steamer Mollifont. The Delta which had a cargo of flour sustained so much damage to her port bow that her after hold had to be flooded to prevent the water rushing through the hole. The Delta took the assistance of Deal boatmen, but the Mollifont with her stern badly twisted and leaking, proceeded slowly under her own steam. The Mollifont is expected to reach London docks this afternoon.

TO COPE WITH STRIKE.
WASHINGTON, April 16. Transports will be operated in and out of New York Harbor if it requires the entire United States Navy, it was stated officially to-day in connection with the plans of harbor workers to start a strike to-morrow with the announced intention of tying up traffic completely.

REPORTS VALUELESS.
LONDON, April 16. In the course of his remarks on the Russian situation Premier Lloyd George, referring to the report that Americans who had visited Russia, had brought back Peace, "if President Wilson attached any value to them they would have brought them before the Conference, and he certainly did not."

WANTS NATIONAL LEAGUE.
LONDON, April 16. Lord Robert Cecil, the British authority on a League of Nations, in the House of Commons to-day, said that he hoped the League would be a real League and not merely a League of the Allies to safeguard the future world peace. He added, "we want not only to secure justice or even security for those who engaged in this war, but to provide means for a general pacification of the world and to secure co-operation between all Nations." Lord Robert said it was impossible to exaggerate the economic situation in Europe. He wanted the indemnity question settled and the blockade lifted as soon as possible.

GENERAL STRIKE IN BERLIN.
BERLIN, April 16. A general strike has been proclaimed here. It is effective in most of the large works and on the tramways. The gas and electric systems however are operating.

THE PREMIER'S ADDRESS.
LONDON, April 16. "No intervention in Russia, no recognition of Bolshevism, and the fulfillment of his election promises, including these relating to the indemnity from the enemy powers and punishment of the former German Emperor. These were the outstanding features of the report which Premier Lloyd George brought from Paris, and delivered to the House of Commons to-day. Every member was in his seat and the galleries were packed with distinguished visitors, among them the Prince of Wales. When the Premier entered the Chamber with the cheers of the great crowd outside the Parliament grounds still ringing in his ears, he appeared fresh and in buoyant spirits. Though pausing at times to make humorous sallies to the various members. In the main the mood of the Premier was serious in conformity with the weighty subjects discussed, and the audience listened with profound attention to his lengthy speech with lasted almost an hour and a half. The Laborites vigorously applauded the Premier's announcement of non-intervention in Russia and non-recognition of the Bolshevik, but remained silent while the Conservatives cheered the statement that the Allies would continue to aid friendly elements which were fighting Bolshevism. At the conclusion of the Premier's speech, when members and those in the galleries were pouring out in quest of beleated lunches, William Adamson, leader of the Laborites' opposition in the House, rose and characterized the speech of the Prime Minister as eloquent but not satisfactory. Mr. Adamson's comment summed up the opinion of others among the audience and numerous elements among the public, whom the newspapers for the last few days had prepared for illuminating references in the speech concerning the peace terms formulated.

How Life Insurance Started.
A game of cards is said to have suggested the system of life insurance, now so universal.

A Flemish nobleman in the seventeenth century tried to divide equally the cash staked upon an interrupted game of chance. He was helped in his attempt by Pascal, a distinguished French mathematician, who solved the problem. In doing so, he also solved the "doctrine of probabilities," of laws governing insurance of all kinds.

The idea can be illustrated by the throwing of a dice, the chance of turning up an ace being one out of six. In a large number of throws, the chance is in the same proportion. From this Pascal laid down the proposition that results which have happened in a given number of observed cases will again happen in similar circumstances, provided the number be sufficient for the proper working of the law of average.

The life of a person is one of the greatest uncertainties, but the duration, or rate of mortality, of a large number of persons may be predicted with the greatest accuracy by comparison with the observed result among a sufficiently large number of persons of similar ages and occupations and subject to similar climatic influences.

Fads and Fashions.
A dress of all-over cyst embroidery is excellent for afternoon wear. Linen hats in mushroom shapes are popular for the 12-year-old girl. Evening wraps of metallic cloths are lined with several layers of chiffon. Black braid a third of a yard wide is used for the collar, cuffs and tunic border of a straight-lined serge.

SPRING CLEANING DANGERS
Every housekeeper knows how often little injuries are met with during "spring cleaning" time and how easily the sore place becomes infected with dust and germs. The danger of this lies in the fact that injuries—slight at first, if not attended to, may become inflamed, fester, cause great suffering and inconvenience, and frequently lead to blood-poisoning.
To safeguard yourself, apply Zam-Buk at once to all cuts, scratches, abrasions, burns and sores. This antiseptic balm immediately destroys all germs and prevents any danger of festering or blood-poisoning. Zam-Buk also ends pain and stops bleeding so quickly that no time need be lost by those who apply it as soon as an injury is sustained. Then the healing essences of Zam-Buk actually grow new skin, so that in a comparatively short time the wound is completely healed.
Zam-Buk is best for eczema, boils, pimples, rashes, ulcers and piles. All dealers, 50c. box.

To-Day's Messages.

LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH. LONDON, April 16. (Reuter's Despatch).—The House of Commons was crowded in anticipation of the Prime Minister's speech, and the Prince of Wales, paying his first visit to the Commons, took a seat over the clock, having as his neighbor in the diplomatic gallery, the American Ambassador. Premier Lloyd George was loudly cheered when he entered the Chamber shortly after half past twelve. The Premier at the outset emphasized the gigantic task of the Peace Conference. No previous Conference he said, has been confronted with problems of such variety, of such complexity, magnitude and gravity. The Congress of Vienna, which was the nearest approach to the present Conference occupied eleven months, and its problems were insignificant compared with those of the present Conference. He pointed out that ten new states had sprung into existence, some of them independent, some semi-independent, and some possibly protectorates, and the boundaries of all these must be indicated, if not actually defined. The boundaries of fourteen countries also must be recast. This gave some idea of the purely territorial difficulties, but there were other problems equally great and important, and equally affecting the peace of the world and human destiny, in each of which, if blunders were made, humanity might have to pay. Besides there were economic questions to be settled: also questions of international waterways, railways and aerodromes. The question of destinies he added, amidst laughter, was one not easy to settle even by telegraph. Next the Premier referred to international arrangements for labor, which never hitherto had been attempted. He paid a glowing tribute to services of Mr. Barbes, and to the assistance and help of Labor Members and the Trade Unionists. By which a great world scheme was adopted. There was also that great experiment on which hung the whole question of Peace, namely a Society of Nations. This of itself would occupy months while a blunder might precipitate universal war, with almost every nation on earth engaged. In considering these problems the Conference felt justified in taking some time (Cheers) It would have been imperative in some respects that they take more time but for that fact. That was why the League of Nations, instead of waiting time had saved time. They had to shorten and hasten their labors because while trying to build, they had seen in many lands the foundations of society crumbling into dust. No body of men, he said, had ever worked harder and more harmoniously or under greater difficulties. The journey was not at an act thoroughly unworthy of any great land. (Cheers) They only asked to be supplied with arms and the Premier did not regard that as the least departure from Great Britain's Fundamental Policy. Our policy was to prevent the forcible eruption of Bolshevism into Allied lands. Therefore we are organizing all forces in all countries, with territories bordering from the Baltic Sea to the Black Sea. If Bolshevism attacked any of our Allies, it would be our business to defend them. The world will not be passive as long as Russia is torn by Civil War. Our policy was to induce the warring parties in Russia to meet and discuss the establishment of a commonly acceptable authority, which the Allies could recognize as the Russian Government. The Government did not expect a solution, as there was even now promising signs, which according to reliable information indicated that while Bolshevist forces were apparently growing, the strength of Bolshevism itself was rapidly waning and breaking down before the relentless economic pressure. There were unmistakable signs that Russia was emerging, and when she was again sane and normal we would make peace with her. Referring to an interruption by John R. Clynes, Labor, the Premier said the Government had had no approaches at all from the Bolshevist Government (cheers). He had heard reports that others had had proposals, which they assumed to be authentic. These had never been submitted to the Peace Conference by any members of the Conference. Therefore the Conference had not considered them. Referring to the general peace terms, Mr. Lloyd George said that the representatives of the great powers had reached a complete understanding on the great fundamental questions affecting Peace with Germany. They will have formulated these demands and he hoped by the end of next week they will be presented. The Premier strongly denounced attempts to sow discord and distrust between the Allies. He said no one could have treated more sympathetically, the popular problems and special susceptibilities of Europe, with his long bitter memories of national conflict, than President Wilson (cheers). They had never forgotten the poignant fact that most of the war sufferings and sacrifices had been borne by heroic France. They had not forgotten that she was entitled to feel a sense of security against any repetition of attack, and all the ones that came before you we have come to unanimous conclusions, declared Mr. Lloyd George amid cheers. What has happened at the Vienna Congress showed the importance of unanimity. The Peace Conference has unanimously and unhesitatingly concluded that it would be a first class blunder to publish the Peace terms before they had been discussed with the enemy. No Peace Conference has ever given its proceedings so much publicity, but he would rather have a good Peace than a good press (Cheers). The Conference would take every action to prevent the premature publication of the terms, which would only encourage the enemy to resist. Mr. Lloyd George then declared that every pledge given by the Government had given had been incorporated in the Allied demands. The Govt had never receded one iota. They stood firm because they thought them just. We want a stern Peace, the Premier declared, because the occasion demands but it must be desired not to gratify vengeance but to vindicate justice. Every clause and term must be justified on that ground. Above all we want to protect the future against a repetition of the horrors of this war. I am going back to Paris if the House wants me to go (Loud Cheers). Who ever goes back with the conviction that the enemy must possess the full confidence of Parliament, as if Parliament would repudiate the treaty, then it would be repudiated. Therefore anyone goes to Paris, Parliament must feel at any rate that whoever is there will carry out the pledge to the utmost of his power and conviction. After denouncing newspaper attempts to sow dissension between the Allies, the Premier referred to the Continental menace of armaments. The forces of Germany, he said, would be reduced to an army just adequate to police her cities and protect her commerce. We must have a Europe without a dagger in every hand. The danger was not that there might be a recrudescence in Germany, because Germany would only, with difficulty, be able to raise eight thousand armed men to preserve order; but the danger was of the world going to pieces, with the gaunt spectacle of hunger stalking through the land. The Premier concluded by emphasizing that it was the duty of all statesmen, Parliament and guides of public opinion not to soil the triumph of right by indulging in angry passions, but to concentrate the sacrifices of millions to the permanent redemption of mankind from the scourge and agony of war. (Cheers)

DIVIDENDS. The magic word that gladdens the heart of every shareholder—the reason why you buy shares in oil, mining or industrial enterprises. And, if you were "only sure" that such and such a company would pay dividends, you would invest. You can be reasonably sure of any enterprise if you will only give it careful investigation and consideration. You shouldn't expect to get any more information than you already know from someone who knows no more about the business than you do, but by a logical process of reasoning, you must arrive at a satisfactory answer. For instance, in the engine business, if you have a fair knowledge of what a company can turn out, if you can get a fair knowledge of normal profit on each engine, if you figure the usual expenses incurred by building and selling—and YOU can do all this, if YOU set it before you—you must be satisfied that Champion Marine and Motor Works, Ltd.—the concern we are interested in just now—will pay YOU, if you invest NOW. Are Known in All Parts of Province. New Brunswick Lady Tells of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She says they are the best medicine for Lame Back and Aches All Persons Troubled With Weak Kidneys to Use Them. McGivney Junction, York Co., N.B., April 16th.—(Special).—From all over New Brunswick reports are coming telling of the continued popularity of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for all forms of kidney trouble. No place appears to be too small to furnish at least one person who is prepared to say that she owes her health to the great Canadian Kidney remedy. Miss Carrie E. Ferguson, a well-known resident here, is one of them. "I am happy to say that I found a great improvement in my health after using Dodd's Kidney Pills," Miss Ferguson states. "They are the best medicine I can find for lame back. I advise anyone who is troubled with weak kidneys to try them. I tell everyone that Dodd's Kidney Pills are good." Dodd's Kidney Pills have become a family remedy all over the province because people have tried them and found them good. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They help Rheumatism, Lumbago, Diabete, Lame Back, Heart Disease and urinary troubles because all of these are either Kidney Diseases or are caused by the kidneys failing to do their work.

Thursday's Topics. By FRED A. Seeing that there is no publication of the Evening Telegram to-morrow I have made my weekly comments a day earlier than usual. Political matters have quieted down a bit, but still in the Government camp there appears to be a lack of amity and comradeship, but the Hon. writer of diaries is not perturbed over what his non-union associates say or do in the matter. His flat has gone forth, styled by him as being irrevocable. By the way in mentioning the diary given to us in the 'organ' methinks there is a lot of jealousy and unjust criticism aimed at the noted author for his laudable attempts in helping to educate the undergrads of Newfoundland. Is it not perceptible that this diary was one of the chief means the President had of presenting his views to the voters' money. What chance is there to get that book from the President entitled: "Reflections on Beaumont Hamel," or some such name, if more praise is not showered upon the aspiring author, and possibly a Knighthood conferred for invaluable historical records. Some people certainly get money out of the chair. Last accounts give the Chairman of the Pension Board a salary of $2,400.00, and Mr. G. M. P. ordinary member, $2,000.00. The salaries are paid by the National Government, and yet the Nationalists regard the sad extravagance of the Government in the higher spheres as given, but I forgot—that was the cost of living went up and course there was no brown bread oatmeal patties in these days of "the money." May we not turn from the sphere and look at things more so far the committee appointed made no public announcements decision re a war memorial, it is necessary to consider different projects are acting upon, yet there is such a thing much delay. A plan formulated the memory of sacrifices is grand the desire for memorials stands a much better chance of completion than if the working is not until enthusiasm has subsided attention is absorbed by other contingencies which if not quite possible, and in connection with the Training College for officers appears to be in favor by and may the erection of such a thing be speedily started.

A Contrast.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Recently I had occasion to visit one of the finest and most luxurious hospitals in this country.

The lobby of this hospital is like the lobby of a beautiful hotel. Chinese rugs, shaded lights, an open fire, a library table pleasantly cluttered with books and magazines, deep cushioned arm chairs make a charming living room.

Sickness de Luxe.

The patients rooms, except for the light of the beds and the perfectly clean floors, might be the rooms in a modern hotel. The furniture is in the daintiest of colors, the windows are well chosen, the hangings, the same as in a private home, the little bedsteads and the cushions of the big arm chairs which stand by the open fire, or by the window whose wide frames a picture of a sunny day.

On the floor on which I visited were eight patients. The door consists of four nurses and a nurse. Besides these, three of eight patients maintained their special nurses.

This, I said to myself, is surely sickness de luxé.

All the Misery of a Battlefield.

For certain reasons I was obliged to spend an hour in the lobby and to get the time I picked up one of the books from the table. It was a sort of tale of the war—I read it through. One chapter pictured a battlefield after the battle had passed on. vividly described the misery and helplessness, and desolation and helplessness, and agony and courage and patience of these wounded men. The sentence told how after passing through such scenes as these the men came to realize the "incidental character of human life and suffering."

Here I sat in a costly monument to the exact opposite of the "premie" value of human life, the supreme effort to cushion and lessen the slightest human suffering.

What a contrast!

1. Contrast Not in Character But in Circumstance.

No, I am not going to say that it is wrong for us to do all we can to lessen the suffering of those we love. Hardly. Nor that there was an essential difference in character between those who lay in the soft white beds and those who lay on the battlefields. On the contrary. If the patients of the hospital had been on the field of battle I think the majority would have acted as those men did. And if instead pampered patients in a rich man's hospital, the majority would probably have accepted the pampering and been ready for more.

And that the marvelous thing about it all. We bear what we have to. We rise to the demands of our circumstances. No wonder Christ said what he did about the Needles' Eye.

Vindictive Wills.

A short time ago a provincial magistrate, after deluding his wife into the belief that she was his sole legatee, left her a shilling, and bequeathed seventy thousand pounds to others, including three thousand to a servant she had much reason to dislike.

After leaving the bulk of her property to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, a certain testatrix proceeds to be cruel to humans. Her will contains this remarkable passage: "As to my family, my sisters, nieces, nephews, brother-in-law, and cousin, nothing, nothing shall come to them from me, except a bag of sand to rub themselves with. None deserve even a good-by. I do not recognize a single one of them." What the sand was meant for, whether to cleanse their souls or their bodies, it is hard to say.

A man does not need to be married to want to have a slap at the women even from the grave. A bachelor, rich and old, when he died, voiced his detestation of the fair sex even in his will.

"I beg that my executors will see that I am buried where there are no women interred, either to the right or to the left of me. Should this be practicable in the ordinary course of things, I direct that they purchase three graves, and bury me in the middle one of the three leaving the two others unoccupied."

THE BIG PROBLEM.

He's a Hunkie or a Wop, he's a Dago or a Greek. And the language of our country is a tongue he cannot speak. He has sought the land of freedom for the dream is in his breast. And he's groping rather blindly for the things he knows are best. He's a power for good or evil, he will hate us or revere And become a friend or traitor from the way we treat him here.

He has heard about our country in a vague and hazy way. It's the land where men are happy and where little children play. But he's strange to all the customs that surround him now he's here And he misses much that's spoken, but he understands a sneer. He would like to do as we do, but he doesn't quite know how. And he'll never grow to like us, if we all neglect him now.

There's a mighty force within him if we only understood, We can spur it to our danger, or can mold it to our good; We can turn our backs upon him, or can make of him a friend, Who will come to speak our language and the flag we love defend. But it's not enough to pay him for the labor of his hand We must teach him all our customs till he learns to love our land.

He's a Hunkie or a Wop, he's a Dago or a Greek. But he's very busy thinking, though his thoughts he cannot speak. In the future he'll be something—that is true of every man— And the blame may be upon us if he's not American. So let's make of him a Yankee and let's treat him as a friend. And let's teach him love of freedom—it will pay us in the end.

A Young Wife.

"These apples are dirty," complained the young housekeeper. "Yes," admitted the farmer, "they are wind-falls, and that is why I sell them cheap." "You mean they've fallen from the trees but otherwise are all right?" the customer inquired, and then she bought them. Several days later she called the farmer's wife on the telephone. "I ordered the best cucumbers for pickling," she said sharply, "and you've sent me windfalls!" "Sent what?" gasped the farmer's wife. "Windfall cucumbers. I can tell; there's dirt on them!"

Where the Cinema Scores.

Though even superior people have ceased to sneer at "the pictures" most people would say that the cinema is inferior to the stage because there is no spoken conversation.

Yet the cinema beats the stage at telling a story.

A well-told story on the cinema ought to need few, if any, words. Every picture tells a story where the cinema is concerned. Where the stage depends upon awkward explanations and dragged on "asides" for the exploitation of which it has to bring most unlikely people into most unlikely places, like a sweep in a boudoir—the cinema easily compasses by shifting the scene in a moment of time.

In a play on the stage, with real flesh-and-blood actors, all the by-play, the things that happened yesterday, or round the corner, or anywhere else than in the midst of the scene-painter's scenery or domestic interest, have to be told by the actors in so many words.

In the cinema all these things are actually played before the camera, and the story is as complete as a novel, with all the sidelights and incidents complete, and, indeed, much of the atmosphere more vivid than any spoken or written word can make it. Thus a novel, which is often ruined when presented on the stage, is improved when presented on the film.

"Fishy" Pearls.

Pearls are not always the product of oysters. The imitation of these gems has been reduced to a fine art. Their manufacture embraces two processes—the making of a glass sphere, and filling it with a substance resembling the lustre of the pearl.

For some three hundred years mercury was used for the latter purpose, but in 1880 a substitute was found which was both harmless and more successful. This is made from the scales of a little white fish which abounds in certain French rivers. The fish are rubbed rather roughly in pure water in a large basin. The water is then drained carefully, and the residue allowed to settle. The fish are so small that 17,000 or 18,000 are required to furnish one pound of the essence of orient, as it is called.

A genuine pearl may be distinguished from an artificial one by various methods. First, the real gem is much heavier than the imitation. Again, the holes drilled through them are, in the first case, very small, and with a sharp edge; while in the others they are larger, and have a blunt edge.

The great resistance to heat of ordinary coal ash has suggested the use of this material for fire bricks in place of fire clay. It is claimed that in a new process, and several thousand experimental bricks already made, are being tested, both as a fireproof building material and as a furnace lining.

Milady's Boudoir.

THE BUSINESS GIRL'S CLOTHES. The business girl must be beautiful in herself, for a real business costume cannot be depended upon to add artifice to enhance the appearance. It is always unwise to select a street coat or tailored suit of ultra or obstructive style, for usually the business woman relies on the coat and very likely the whole suit, to last her more than one season.

Tailored suits this season suit the business woman to a T. They are smart, neat, a trifle severe and manly, yet gracefully dashing and becoming. Skirts are short and coats loose enough to be easily donned. Coat sleeves are long, going away with the bother and expense of long gloves.

No business woman of good sense would dream of appearing at the office in a velvet gown, but corduroy is quite appropriate. It is practical since it may be washed out and hung up to dry with no need of ironing afterwards. It is the ambition of every business woman to look prosperous, for success begets success. The business woman desires to look pretty, too, but the right kind of employer prefers prettiness suppressed into exquisitely neat comeliness, to prettiness flaunted in frills and furbelows in a busy office.

NOAH'S ARK.

It is hard to write a pocket of the verse that man enjoys when the house is full of racket, full of fifty kinds of noise. Oh, the boys and girls assemble in the shack wherein I dwell, making that old structure tremble while they whoop around and yell. Then I think of Father Noah and his cargo in the ark of his warthog and his boar, and his large man eating shark. I appreciate his feelings while he tried to do his chores, 'im the yappings and the squealings and the whinnys and roars. When he tried to give instructions to his helpers, Shem and Ham, some old bull was raising ructions, scrapping with the Southdown ram. It is strange that Father Noah found an hour in which to sleep while he steered his air cooled prop, o'er the wide and walling deep. For the horses all were neighing and he heard hyenas croon, and the mules were doubtless braying, all their voices out of tune; and the roosters did their crowing just as though they were on land, and the cows were bawling, loving, in a style to beat the band. Yet there is no record written that old Noah made a scene, ever when his leg was bitten by a mangy wolverine. And if he could do his choring with those critters all around, I have no excuse for roaring at a little vagrant sound.

OF COURSE, THAT SETTLES THE PENNANT RACE.

McGraw hasn't told anyone who this man is, but rumor has it that he's about as good as Ty Cobb. They claim this star nicked the Giants' bank roll for twenty thousand bucks a year in the contract he signed today!

Methodist College Prize Distribution.

The annual entertainment by the pupils of the Methodist College and Prize Giving took place last night. The spacious College Hall was filled by the parents and friends, and the programme tendered was most entertaining, the performers splendidly acquitting themselves. Gymnastics by the boys occupied a more than usually large place in the programme, and their clever work was heartily applauded. Principal Harrington briefly referred to the work of the College during last year, which he regarded as satisfactory. The total passes obtained in the C.H.E. examinations were 122, divided as follows: Senior A.A. 5, Junior A.A. 16, Intermediate 25, Preliminary 41, Primary 32. He then called upon the Hon. R. K. Bishop, Chairman of the College Board of Governors, to present the prizes.

The following were the C.H.E. prize and scholarship winners: Jubilee scholarship, Gertrude Gittleton; Intermediate Scholarship $20, Ben. Bowering, and Marjorie Johnston; Preliminary Scholarship, $20, Annie Hunter. College Scholarships and prizes were awarded as follows: Macpherson Associate Scholarships, $100, Louise Whiteway, 50, Helen Lodge; Macpherson Intermediate Scholarship, $50, Marjorie Johnston; Macpherson Scholarship, $50, Ben. Bowering; Arthur Pitts, Intermediate Scholarship, $18, Winnifred Baker; Boyd Scholarship, Preliminary, $12, Annie Hunter; Holloway Science Prize, $20, Ralph Hilliard; J. B. Mitchell Scholarship, $25, Grace Knight; Milligan Scholarship, $40, Katie House. In addition to book prizes won by pupils in the C. H. E. Exams, the following special prizes were presented, Mrs. Barker's Sewing prize, Rita Roberts; Mrs. Bell's prizes for the best pupils in the various grades were won by Emma Martin, George Roberts, Annie Hunter, Kathleen Baird, David Johnston and Ralph Barrett. Mr. Harrington also announced at the close of the programme that Mrs. A. Macpherson's prizes for best gymnasium work were won by Harry Mott (Primary), Chaney Currie (Preliminary) and Richard Diamond (Intermediate). Mr. Bishop in a few brief words congratulated the winners and encouraged those who had not been so fortunate to try harder this year. He also referred to the fact that like other institutions the effect of the war had been felt in the College work, and he expressed the belief that with the coming of peace, an all round improvement could be expected. The programme, which concluded with the National Anthem, was as follows: Chorus—"I would that my love"

Obituary.
MRS. WALTER MORRISEY.
Mrs. Bessie Morrisey, wife of Mr. Walter Morrisey, of the Reid Nfd. Co.'s audit department, fell asleep last night. The deceased was taken suddenly ill at 2 o'clock and an operation was performed in hopes of saving her life but at 9 o'clock or thereabouts she expired. Mrs. Morrisey was the eldest daughter of Mr. W. F. Kelly, painter. The funeral takes place to-morrow at 2.30 p.m. from her late residence, Patrick St. She leaves to mourn, husband, father, mother, brother and three children, to whom general sympathy is extended in their sad bereavement.
MINDARD'S LINIMENT CURES DIBBER-THERIA.

The Reason.

We have been asked to say that the reason why the last batch of returning Reservists was not accorded a formal reception on arrival here was because all the men comprising the detachment had been home previously and had participated in the function usually accorded them; hence it was thought superfluous to go through a similar performance on the occasion referred to.

Shipping Notes.

The Imprimus which took a cargo of fish from A. E. Hickman, Ltd., has arrived at Gadeloupe, French West Indies, all well.
The Madeline Constance, fish laden from Job Bros. for Brazil, is still harbored at Trepassay, ice conditions being unfavourable for sailing.
The Wellington has had repairs completed and is now being hurriedly re-loaded for market.
The S. S. Viking wired Bowring Bros. yesterday that she was on the way home; no seals.

Vessels Delayed.

The "June" on the way to market, fish laden from Baine Johnston & Co's is still detained at Trepassay.
The "Belle Scott" is also at Trepassay awaiting favourable conditions to get away to market.

"The Women on the Index."

The prologue of the play passes in the room of a French thief on Allen Street, New York. His wife has taken on the booty from the bank the night before. This girl was an innocent country miss whom he had married the year before in France. The police has traced the thief, upon the information of a Dr. Alden, which offers to save her if she will aid him in the detection. She hands over the money. The thief is found dead and she is accused of the murder; again the friendship of Dr. Alden and her own shrewdness save her. Later the girl returns to France, assumes another name, and the second act finds her the wife of a Washington statesman—on the point of being appointed as the American Ambassador to Great Britain. Just how this girl, formerly a foil for crooks, wins her way in high society, baffles a cunning spy and does a great service to her country, make of "The Woman on the Index" one of the greatest melo-dramatic offerings of the year. This play will soon be given by the Harkins Players at the Casino Theatre, and a rare treat is in store for all who see it. Seats now on sale at Chessman's.

HOSPITAL CASE.

A young woman named Benson, of Grate's Cove, entered the hospital yesterday for treatment.
DROWNING ACCIDENT.—Inspector General Hutchings received a message last evening from Constable Wells, of Heart's Content, stating that a drowning accident had occurred at New Perlican, the victim being Peter Burridge, of that place, who had lost his life while hunting birds on the ice. Burridge was 27 years of age and married.

The "Tiger's" Romance.

HOW CLEMENCEAU FOUND A BRIDE.

A young American girl was the heroine in a Clemenceau love romance, which took place in America.
As is well known, Clemenceau, a doctor by profession, and a Journalist on the side of liberty, went to the United States during the Civil War period: The Government of Napoleon III, which the young man despised and challenged, did not approve of youthful firebrands who on revolutionary anniversaries organized a parade of their fellow University students to march around the Place of the Bastille shouting, "Long Live
the Republic!"

Unhealthy Atmosphere.

That Clemenceau had done: he had also done two months in consequence.
Getting out he was permitted to finish his course and take his medical degree, after which, there are grounds for believing, it was intimated to him that the air of France under the Third Empire was likely not to agree with his constitution.

He went to New York, and eventually obtained a place as teacher of French. He fell in love with one of his pupils, Miss Mary E. Plummer, whom he married in the New York City Hall in 1869. Shortly after the marriage he took his bride to Europe.
They lived together more than twenty years.

Why You Put
Your Feet Up.

Tell Your Wife This When She Grumbles.

Every man knows that he rests
more easily with his feet on another chair, or on the mantelpiece, than merely sitting down.

The reason is not always realised,
yet it is very simple. The hardest piece of work the body does is the continual pumping of the blood. The blood vessels are narrow, and the force exerted is very great to keep the current flowing swiftly and evenly.

It is easier to keep a channel filled when it is upon the level than when it is on the slope. Water will flow itself on the level, but great power has to be exerted to bring it up from a deep well.

When a man is standing up, or when he is sitting down with his feet on the floor, the heart has to drag a considerable portion of the blood up the whole length of the legs. When a man's feet are on a chair a considerable strain upon the heart is relieved, therefore, lying down is, of course, better still. This is one of the many reasons why the heart beats more slowly when we are sleeping, for it hasn't so much work to do as when we are standing up or walking about.

NURSERY HYGIENE.

The nursery is the most important room in the house; therefore its hygiene must be above suspicion. Many parents fall into a fallacy regarding modern heating methods, and while admitting the comfort, cleanliness and convenience of the Gas Fire, call its suitability for nursery use into question on the grounds of hygiene.

This idea is wrong. The modern Gas Fire is more hygienic than the coal fire, has all its good points without its bad ones. The Gas Fire gives radiant heat and assists ventilation.
All the products of combustion are carried off by the flue connection to the chimney. There is no smoke, dust or ashes, and for a sick room
it is invaluable.

The modern ventilated Gas Fire produces radiant heat, a natural heat similar to that given by the sun, and adds hygiene to its many other advantages.

For particulars of the new Radiant
Fires, phone 97 or call at the Gas
Co.'s Showroom. apr10,60d,t

League of Nations or Ruin.

The draft agreement for the League of Nations was yesterday presented to Parliament. Its terms are well known and have been widely discus-ed. It represents an effort to avert war by perpetuating and extending the present great Alliance. The struggle against Hun militarism has cost the Allies 5,250,000 dead in battle and an expenditure of between 25,000 and 30,000 millions sterling. If they are to recover, they must be able to outreach in naval and military expenditure, and only the League of Nations can render this possible. The League is therefore a matter of vital concern to the Allied peoples. All their best hopes are bound up with its success. There are, certain problems which have still to be solved before the new League will work smoothly,
and it would be folly to overlook them. But it is equally foolish to exaggerate their difficulty.

The most important of these is the American fear that the League may involve some danger to the Monroe Doctrine. In actual fact the League will afford a fresh guarantee of that doctrine, which at the date of its origination had the warm sympathy of Canning and of British diplomacy. There is no reason why a provision giving the sanction of the League to the principles of Monroe should not be inserted in the final constitution. A second problem is raised by the wide indifference in race and in standard of life between States which are friendly and allied. This in the past has created difficulties between America and Australia on the one hand and Japan on the other. The third problem concerns the sacrifice of national independence that each of the partners to the League must make.
Experience in the case of the British Empire has shown the practical difficulties, and also the manner in which they can be overcome with good-will. If no one is willing to make this sacrifice, the world will have to look forward to a fresh era of armaments, furious international competition, and war, which will mean the suicide of civilisation.—Daily Mail.

The Bolshevik.

Once he preached it from the house
top, and he whispered it by stealth;
he wrote whole miles of stuff against the awful curse of wealth.
He shouted for the poor man, and he dragged the rich man down. He went for every king and queen who dared to wear a crown.
He clamoured for rebellion, and he said he'd head a band to exterminate the millionaires, and sweep them from the land.
He yelled against monopolists;
their power he would defy, and vowed he'd be an anarchist and blow them to the sky. He stormed, he fumed and fanted, till he made the rich men wince.
But his uncle left him money, and he hasn't shouted since!

Can Women
"Boss" Women?

"I'd rather work for a man any day—for half the money!" exclaimed a girl clerk the other day, when it was suggested that a woman might be put in control of her office. "If we get a she-boss here, I'm off!"
"The chief isn't likely to try that dodge again!" said somebody else.
"He proved with the other office that women can't boss!"
Everybody laughed; no one entered a protest. For it is true that in nine cases out of ten women cannot boss other women in business. Even if the tenth woman does make a brilliant exception—to the rest, at the same time she merely helps to prove the rule.
Why things should be so is hard to say; the reasons are many and varied, but there is no doubt that the women who boss are largely to blame.

Women who do boss are often TOO
"busy," and that is why women workers are instinctively on the defensive against having one of their own sex put in charge over them.

It is the same in all sorts and conditions of employment, which proves that it is a question of sex which deals with no one class of women. The manager of a big factory said that he had lately put women in place of certain chief foremen, but the experiment had not proved successful; the girls did not work so well or so happily
as when there were men in charge.
In the same way, the director of a firm which employs scores of women clerks remarked that he was glad the war had taught him the value of women workers, but his experience showed that the latter worked better under men bosses than under women.

Why women can't boss women is a mystery, but there the fact stands.
Ask any woman worker, any employer of labour, and you are pretty certain to be told the same, with glowing examples to support the statement.—Ex.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, March 24, 1919.
ROYAL GOLFERS.

As soon as he can spare the necessary time the Prince of Wales proposes to give more attention to golf than he has hitherto found possible. His Royal Highness is already a fair player, having received his initiation into the "royal and ancient" game on the private golf links adjacent to Windsor Castle. But there are several other members of the royal family who excel him at this pastime at the present time. The Princess Royal, in her younger days, was probably the best golfer the royal family has ever possessed, but she has played very little of recent years. Her eldest daughter, Princess Arthur of Connaught, is now the leading player among the royal ladies, and she plays some very good games indeed, as does her sister, Princess Mauve, while Prince Henry is perhaps the best player to-day among the children of the King and Queen. Curiously enough, the King has no great liking for the game, while the Queen frankly confesses that she scarcely knows one club from another. Among one of the most regular of the royal visitors to the links is Lady Patricia Ramsay (formerly Princess Patricia of Connaught).

RETRENCHMENT BEGINS.

The Ministry of Munitions until recently had in one large room 36 telephones, exactly one instrument for each typist. All the ladies had to do when they wished to make luncheon appointments with officers at the Air Ministry was to stretch out their hands and unhook the receivers. Now the powers that be have realized that 36 telephones are too many for one room, so they have cut them down to none at all. But the staff remains.

FRANCE AND GERMANY'S MERCHANT SHIPS.

According to a Paris newspaper we did not in this country restrict ourselves during the war to the construction of cargo vessels, but secretly built passenger vessels as well. British shipbuilders, who found the greatest difficulty in getting labor and materials, and British shipowners, who could not order liner tonnage at any price, will smile at the statement—provided they have a smile left after the years of "control" which they have endured. Passenger vessels were certainly launched, but only in order to get their berths for cargo vessels. A number of the launched vessels were also completed, but not for passenger services. In order to succeed, the French claim to an exceptional share of the German mercantile marine will have to be better founded than that.

BRITAIN'S MARGARINE WAR.

During the war margarine was sold at the controlled price of a shilling (25 cents) per pound. When control was removed some weeks ago price cutting commenced, although the commodity must still be made to standard specifications. The price has dropped penny by penny to eightpence (16 cents) per pound, and all the great margarine makers, including our biggest margarine maker, the Maypole Dairy Company, are advertising in all the papers that "ours is the best." To help the scheme the Maypole people took a large party of members of local food committees and pressmen down to Southall, just outside London, this week to visit what is the greatest margarine factory in the world. The buildings cover 66 acres and many hundreds of white-smocked men and women were at work. There is a mill of gravity conveyors for carrying the margarine from process to process and oil tank barges deliver materials right up to the factory premises from adjacent canals. What most impressed the visitors was the perfect cleanliness of the whole process. The margarine is never touched by hand, and all the pipes and drums through which it passes are completely sterilized every twelve hours. The coconut oil, which is the principal vegetable ingredient, passes through pipes to a revolving cylinder, where it mixes with artificially soured milk and is whisked into an emulsion. Then it passes through more pipes and pours like rain through perforated tubing on to the sides of huge brine-cooled drums, where it solidifies and is flaked off by knives to fall into the receiving tubs below. At this stage it looks most appetizing, all feathery flakes, but it is wheeled away to be kneaded, flavored, and colored with a coloring matter that before the war was Germany's secret and is now ours, and it is finally packed by girls in white overalls, who move about in cloaks over a floor constantly washed clean. In the well-equipped laboratory an expert staff, which includes a woman scientist from Manchester, is continually at work preparing sterilizing cultures, testing the milk from the company's own pastures and every batch of margarine turned out, and experimenting with a view to further improvements. The margarine industry is spreading its roots in England, and I believe that some of the Dutch manufacturers (who, by the way, were the original founders of this class of business—in fact, the Maypole sprang from the importing business of O. M. Monsted) are even setting up factories here.

NO BUFFER STATE IN RHINELAND.

No neutral barrier State is to be set up on the left bank of the Lower Rhine from Lorraine to Holland. The Allied statesmen have rejected that French plan, because any such State would vote itself back into Germany. Instead, the Rhenish Prussian territories and the Moselle Valley will be left to Germany, but no fortifications, garrisons, or military works will be permitted there. How long the Allied Armies of Occupation will stay there is not known. The inhabitants, who protected from Bolshevism by the presence of our troops, would not mind if the occupation continued throughout the period over which the indemnity payments are to extend. Bonar Law told the House of Commons the other night that he hoped those payments would continue for more than 25 years.

A REGIMENTAL COLOR DIFFICULTY.

In the past it has been customary for the victor's engagements in which regiments of the British army have been engaged to be emblazoned on their colors. It is pointed out, however, that many of the regiments have been engaged in so many battles during the past few years that it will be almost impossible to place a record of all these on the regimental colors, and the suggestion has been brought forward that an entirely new colour, making three in all, should now be granted to all regiments, in the Army List, and that this color should bear only those honors that have been won in the great war. It is further suggested that these new colors should be red in the case of the original Expeditionary Force—which includes representatives of almost every regiment—and blue for those that were sent out later. The matter is receiving the consideration of the War Office, but it is not likely that any decision will be arrived at until Sir Douglas Haig has taken over his new appointment. The King is taking the greatest interest in the matter, and if it be decided to have these new colors he hopes to be able to make personal presentation of them to those regiments with which he is more closely identified.

T.B.D. TURQUOISE'S RECORD.
The extraordinary performance of the destroyer Turquoise in making a speed of 33.6 knots in her trials is one of the marvels of the age, but some naval men hesitate to accept the performance quite at its face value. They point out that she was steaming with a light draught, carrying only 750 tons, not 1,000 tons, as she would when fully loaded. They also include in their survey the question of tide-tables and other factors which, if properly utilized, tend to exceptionally favorable results, and so on. The important point, however, is that the trials extended over four hours, and the 33.6 knots is the mean speed over the full trial. The Turquoise is, indeed, a credit to Messrs. Yarrow and the Clyde.

THE LONDON THEATRES.

Arrangements have been made to produce a number of new plays shortly, and London's first-nighters will have a busy time for eight weeks to come. The next Hippodrome revue will appear in a few days. On March 27th "Caesar's Wife," Somerset Maugham's new play, will be staged at the Royalty. The night before, Marie Lohr will be seen in "Victory," at the Globe, and Doris Keane will play Juliet at the Lyric. Another interesting venture will be Lillah McCarthy's production of a new Arnold Bennett play, "Fidelity," at the Kingsway. The dates for the last two productions have not yet been settled. A musical version of "Monsieur Beauchamp," after a trial run at Birmingham, will come to the Prince's Theatre, while the new Winter Garden Theatre (formerly the old "Mogul" in Drury Lane) will open shortly with "Our Little Wife."

CROSS GARTERING.

The continued shortening of women's dresses has as a contrast the continued lengthening of the shoe ribbons. For a woman of fashion to put on dance or house shoes is indeed becoming as much of a business as to lace a pair of high boots. Some go on lacing the satin shoes very nearly to the knees. For the unlaceler this mode is very much the reverse of pretty, the more so that the ribbons are stretched right across the front of the foot. White stockings with black shoes and ribbons are worn by the very daring only.

American Slang.

A book about America, by an Englishman, would not be complete if it did not have some reference to American slang! So we are not surprised to find on page 24 of Frank Dinnot's "The New America—a bright and vivacious little volume written by a newspaper correspondent—a list of typical American slang phrases with their English equivalents. Here it is, and doubtless many Canadian readers will be quite as much amused by the staid English expressions as English readers will be at the wholly unaccountable American phrases.

- AMERICAN.
- "Don't be fresh."
 - "Rubber neck."
 - "Foxy gink."
 - "Get wise to it."
 - "To jolly you along."
 - "Take a Brodie."
 - "Shoot me for a blond."
 - "Cut it out."
 - "The jinx have a hunch on me."
 - "Turn over; you've said a pageful."
 - "He's a bird and you want to watch him fly."
- ENGLISH.
- "Don't be cheeky."
 - "Stitch man."
 - "A sly person."
 - "Ascertain the facts."
 - "To chaff you."
 - "Take a chance." (From Steve Brodie, who dived from Brooklyn Bridge.)
 - "Let me for another."
 - "Stop that nonsense; get to business."
 - "Evil spirits haunt me."
 - "You've talked enough and too much."
 - "He's smart, keep your eye on him."

What Italy Fought For.

"A great deal has been said these days about the so-called Treaty of London or agreement of London," says an authority on Italian problems. "Let me make it clear: As I understand Italy, Italy wants no land, but Italy wants the liberation of those poor oppressed people who have been suffering for centuries. Of course, it was necessary at that time when the treaty was made to stipulate exactly what would become of those people, because in the early part of 1915 one of the Allies was Russia, under the dominion of the Czar. Russia had scheming ambitions to gain cognizance and dominance of the Balkans, and the people of Italy who were fighting to liberate those people did not desire to sacrifice her sons, to liberate them from the Hapsburgs and put them under the Romanoffs. That was the purpose of the agreement of London. Now, let us see what that agreement provided. That Trentino should be returned to Italy—and nobody disputes it. They are Italians by race, instincts, spirit, education, history and everything that goes to make a race. Trieste—of course Trieste is Italian—Istria and part of Dalmatia.

"A great deal has been said these days about the claims of Italy to Dalmatia. It is only a small strip around the city of Zara, and Zara, from the time that history records the fact, up to 1814, was either Roman or Venetian. And Zara was captured in 1814 by the Austrians, after a blockade by land and sea, which lasted five years, from 1809 to 1814.

"We, perhaps, in our busy lives in this country, get confused with the conflicting claims of the people of the Balkans. A good many of my friends and my colleagues find it difficult to distinguish between the Czecho-Slovaks and Jugo-Slavs. There is this great difference, that the Czecho-Slovaks fought with us and the Jugo-Slavs against us.

"And let us look at the history of Croatia. In 1848, when Hungary put up a gallant fight to liberate herself from the oppression of Austria and Austria was licked, it was the Russian and the Croatian who went to the aid of the Hapsburgs and subdued Hungary. In 1876, when Russia compromised with Austria-Hungary and called upon the Croatians to stand by. Croatia then again lined up with the Hapsburgs. And isn't it significant, when the claims of Italy have not yet been published, when there seems to be no real conflict of claims, we hear a cry come—from where? From the Croatians and Dalmatians that Italy wants to suppress them! My friends, it is nothing but the Hapsburg politics at work again.

"But I want to make this clear: That Italy is desirous of befriending and helping the newly-organized Jugo-Slav confederation. Why, it was Italy that received them in Rome in 1918. It was Italy that first recognized the aspirations of the Jugo-Slavs. At that conference, which was addressed by Orlando, the Prime Minister, there were representatives from Roumania, Serbia, Montenegro and Croatia, and Dalmatia. But those few men who were there from Dalmatia represented the progressive party of Croatia Slavonia and Dalmatia, the men who have been fighting an uphill fight for years and for centuries against the Hapsburg tribe.

Columbia

The first and last word in Grafonola perfection is "Columbia." Here's a fact impossible of contradiction, and we are proud to be the Newfoundland Agents of so world-famed a talking machine.

In all grades the "Columbia" ranks an easy first, but the new Cabinet Grafonolas are nothing short of remarkable. Their tone qualities capable of exquisite shading, their magnificent tone volume, capable of being subdued to a mere whisper of sound. In fine Mahogany their elegant design and beautiful workmanship place them beyond compare.

Columbia Cabinet Grafonolas in prices from $165.00 to $350.00 are always to be seen in our Showrooms. Let us show them to you.

Your Favourite Author, Rex Beach.

His latest book is Too Fat to Fight—A story of a fat man who made good. .75c.

The Winds of Chance.
Laughing Bill Hyde and other stories1.25

Partners is the story of the true meaning of its title75c.

The Crimsoning Gardening and other tales of adventure. Romantic adventures at flood time75c.

The Ne'er-do-well—For rush of action, for genuine and startling surprise, Rex Beach here outstrips himself75c.

The Auction Block—Her bright beauty was her danger and her parent's capital; yet out of the mire she rose, uplifting others75c.

The Iron Trail is a new vein in Beach's Alaskan Gold Mine, of humour and adventure75c.

The Net—An intensely thrilling tale in the sweeping, vigorous style for which Rex Beach is famous75c.

The Grand Fleet

1914-16.

ITS CREATION, DEVELOP-MENT AND WORK.

(By Admiral Viscount Jellicoe
of Scapa.)

This important volume gives Lord Jellicoe's personal narrative of his command of the Grand Fleet, from his appointment in August, 1914, until his relinquishment of the post two years later. The book deals with all the naval "affairs" of this period, including the Battle of Jutland; and therein, of course, is its greatest interest. With numerous illustrations, Maps and Charts.

$11.00; add 10c. if by mail.
