OZŒNA.

Ozena is the professional or technical name given to an advanced form of eatarrh in which ulceration has eaten through the membrane lining of the mose to the cartilage of the bone. Any case of catarrh may end in ozene, but it most frequently occurs in those who are naturally scrofulous. The discharge takes place through the nostrils or abrough the throat, and is generally of a yellowish or greenish yellow color, frenquently tinged with blood, and himost always attended by an offensive smell. In the language of Dr. Wood, of Philadelphia, 'the disease is one of the most obdurate and disagreeable which the physicians has to encounter. In bad cases the breath of the patient becomes so revolting as to issolate him from society, and to render him an object of disgust even to himself."

In some instances pieces of bone become separated and though off, leaving deep, unhealthy ulcers, which secrete a blood matter, and are extremely difficult to heal.

After Ozena has continued some time the sense of smell usually becomes impaired and often lost.

Deafness is one of its most common consequences, and results from its extension through the custachain tubes to the internal ear.

Pains in the head and over the frontal sinuses, imprring memory, and even insanity, frequently spring from its extension to the brain.

The greatest danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs. In most cases of pulmonary disease catarrh is present in some degree, and in many instances it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are ced form of eatarrh in which uld stances it causes a large share of the patient's comfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which liable te spring from scrofulous catarrh or Ozanshere are others which, if less dangerous, are su ciently unpleasant. It occasions great unhaping to thousands of both sexes, by isolating them a preventing their settlement in life. An offens running from the nose, with foul breath, is about a great a calamity as can befall young people. The Flood of Vile Prints that Fill the Bookston

-Where the Blame Should be Attached. A few days ago The World called atten tion to the flood of nasty publications which are exhibited in the windows of nearly every bookstore—great and smallin the city. WHO IS TO BLAME.

The postal authorities are therefore solely resposible for the circulation in the city of the proscribed prints from London, Eng., and the collector of customs at Niagara falls for the ones from New York. The instructions from Ottawa are very plain and are in black and white, and as long as these gentlemen of the public service allow them to pass through their hands so long will the Toronto News company, or other news companies, handle them. The profits are said to be large and their circulation is rapidly on the increase. It would be well if the embryo society for the suppression of vice would take hold of the matter and call the attention of Commissioner of Customs Johnston to the state of affairs existing in the province. RICHARD III.

An Immense House at the Grand-Mr. Keene's Conception of the Crafty Gloster.
Seldom has the Grand opera house held such an immense audience as filled its walls last night to witness Mr, Thos. W. Keene in Colley Cibber's "acting version" of Richard III. The eclat of the drama-loving public were there, and the theatre before the curtain rose up presented an appearance well calculated to cheer the manaof keen expectancy was stamped, which tound vent in a good deal of division of opinion at the finale. Mr. Keene has a very clear conception of the erafty and subtle Gloster, and his audience was never not a little disappointment in the tragic effect of his voice, which during some of not awake them to a realization of the land in Dakota. Lloyd as Buckingham was very fair. The Duke of York by the petite Gussie Learock was applauded to the echo and must have filled the little one with great expectation of her future prospect as an actress. Miss Georgia Tyler as Queen Elizabeth, Miss Octavia Allen as Duchess of York and Miss Gertrude Johnson as Lady Anne were all acceptable, while the of York and Miss Gertrude Joinson as Lady Anne were all acceptable, while the balance of the support was fair. The mounting of the piece was very creditable, and the costumes were magnificent, and particularly Mr. Keene's. To night Richelieu will be presented.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 28, 1882.

OFF THE TRACK Our Montreal contemporary, "Canada

First," runs entirely off the track in the "Commercial union with the United States would give Carada a market of 52,000,000 of people, right alongside of her borders, without any custom house or other restriction to prevent the freest commercial intercouse. Practically for all business proposes we would be one grand people. purposes we would be one grand people, extending our operations from Mexico to the North Pole, without transhipment of cars. Property in Canada would immediately increase 100 per cent. Our cities and towns would be dotted with manufactures to keep at home, the population now tures to keep at home the population now seeking employment across the lines. Our farmers would receive for their produce the duty now paid at the frontiers on every bushel of grain and head of cattle exported to the United States, and which amounts to millions of dollars. Politically we would remain as we are with our local and federal governments. Every business man understands that commercial union means prosperity to our people."

Canada would be extinguished as a nation, she would be sat upon, squelched out. Her nationality, what there is of it, would disappear; and, instead of realizing the idea "Canada first," it would be "Canada last"-Canada of no account at all. By what kind of logic does our contemporary reach the suicidal conclusion above expressed? Why, the thing proposed is name. Annex Canada commercially to the States, and then for any journal after that A more remarkable case of a public journal and so committing argumentative suicide, is seldom to be observed.

As has before been shown in these col umns, the talk about more factories in the merest bosh. The Americans have factories enough of their own, and to imagine that we can sell manufactured goods to the people of New York, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania is utter nonsense. That seems to be about the best word for it. But we could sell to the people of the western states, it may be said. How much would we sell, even to them, with all the manufacturing states of the north before us in possession of the field, and of all the advantages. These states we have before represented as barrier states, standing in the way and preventing our selling to any of the rest. That is the light view to take of them: they are barrier states, over which we cannot pass with any goods we can make. It may be proposed that we might sell in Iowa and Wisconsin, but New York and Massachusetts would beat us there too. We could no more self goods in Davenport or Milwaukee than in New Boston, for the reason that New York and Boston would be there ahead cf us, with all the advantages on their side. The supposed market of fifty millions is an utter delu. sion, we would be dealing only with the border states, and we could not sell them manufactured goods of any kind.

But we could sell our lumber and produce over there, could we not? Certainly we could; and, if that will content you, then you may be partly in the right. If we were willing to see manufactures totally crushed out in Canada, we might get the American market for our lumber and produce in exchange. But that would not be a "Canada First" business for us, by any means. It would be putting Canada back in her progress some considerable portion of a century. After a year or two, our manufactures would be gone, the farmers would lose the home market they had before, and The commercial union proposed is the very antithesis of the "Canada First" idea: it means Canada subjected, extinguished, and handed over to the Great Republic. Surely this is not our destiny.

Thousands of people are leaving this province for Manitoba and the Northwest. therefore, say some, Ontario is being bled to build up the new country. Not only do the people go, but they take their means with them, in the shape of cash and goods and chattels, therefore Ontario must be take a more serious view than at present of the exodus. But we have a firm belief that you will not be able to find a single deserted farm to back up the theory that Ontario's annual production from the soil is falling off a cent's worth because of people going The truth of the matter, as anybody who knows anything of this country ought to understand, is simply this-that Ontario is now throwing off a part of her natural increase of population. Say that in a certain district; there were ten years ago one thousand families, all farmers, with an average of three boys in each family, and each family occupying on the average one hundred acres. That district might now spare some five hundred young men, say one from every other house, to go to Manitoba, and still have enough men left to cultivate all the farms, on our present system. Our people will not have their land cut up in strips of two rods wide to be devided among ever so many children and grand-children, as with the French in Lower Canada. Anything under a hundred agree. still have enough men left to cultivate all not so. Canada. Anything under a hundred acres will scarcely pass with us for a "farm."

To buy a farm now, in any of the old settled districts of Ontario, for cash one of two or three boys, would cost some eight, ten or twelve thousand dollars.

Very few have so much money, so some of the boys must "go west." Twenty, thirty are forty ware and contentedly. It may be out of woman's province to rule, but surely a choice should be hers as to who will govern thirty, or forty years ago, a bush lot her. Unrighteous men may place could be obtained for a few hundred dollars unrighteous men in power. These may ex now a few thousands would have to be paid for the same place. The old man's one hundred acres positively will not make a farm for each one of three boys, it is not even enough for two, and hence all this going west. Quite recently our land-seek owners were all moins to the States were the world sail three and there would be now a few thousands would have to be ers were all going to the States, now the rush is in great part turned to our own northwestern country. That is the chief difference. If these people were not going to Manitoba they would be going to Ne-It would be a poor "Canada first" policy, braska or Dakota. Meantime it would throw considerable light on this question if some one would publish the exact localities, giving in each case lot, concession, township and county, of Ontario farms left vacant and uncultivated because of their former occupiers having gone to Manitoba. CANADA'S EXPORT OF WHEAT.

The imports of wheat and flour into Canada for the last six months of 1881 were 2,298,120 bushels wheat and 90,100 almost a contradiction in terms of its own. barrels flour, and the exports for the corresponding period, 4,898,155 bushels the net export 2,600,035 bushels wheat and 219,018 barrels flour, and reducing the United States first, and Canada nowhere. latter to bushels we get a total net export of 3,549,113, an advance of over four hunstrangling its own great professed principle, | dred thousand bushels on the corresponding period of the previous year.

These figures prove conclusively that Canada now raises more wheat than she consumes and that with every year here-Canada as a result of commercial union is after she will have an increasing quantity for export. And the wheat fields of the Norwest have yet to be opened.

MR. GOLDWIN SMITH. How He Regards the Action of St. George's Society—The Way the Globe Tried to Damage

46 CLARGES STREET, LONDON.

FEBRUARY 8. 1882. My DEAR SIR, -I have received the Toronto journals sent by you with the report of the annual meeting of the St.

George's society. I am very sorry of course that the motion, for the withdrawal of which I had so earnestly pleaded in the interest of peace, should have been pressed to a division and that my name should again have been associated against my will with a sense of discord in the society, the harmony of which it is alike my duty and my desire as one of its members to promote.

Some allowance, however, ought to be made, and I doubt not will be made by the generous feeling of Canadian society, for a certain overflow of zeal on the part of those who believed themselves to be contending against the use of social persecution for the suppression of freedom of

It is to be hoped that the day is not fer distant when associations of a sectional character, whatever may have been their services in the past, will be merged, with all the special sentiments which they foster, in something thoroughly Canadian and equally embracing afl who own that name. I notice that in the Globe report my letter to Mr. Piddington is suppressed, obviously because it contained an expression of my feelings towards the mother country which was likely to set me right in the eyes of my fellow-citizens. It is by these acts, which every honorable journalist will condemn, that my character has been systematically traduced and blackened.

and chattels, therefore Ontario must be losing heavily by the process. That some Ontario people have been pretty well "bled" by Northwestern leeches is conceeded; many a hundred dollars value, But we do not take the despairing view that the movement to the Northwest is losing for Ontario, for all that.

We propose a question in this matter. Show us some townships, anywhere in this province, from which a hundred families, all farmers, have the moved to the Northwest. Then take us the loss and so the content of the northwest is the content of the Northwest. Then take us the loss and so the content of the Northwest. J. T. going on in our city on the question of the social evil, has brought very prominently forward the fact that men make the laws, and make them to suit themselves. While this remains the case, it ought to be a careful study to them that they are at least just, and justly administered. The recent letters and reports in some of the papers and the views taken by some at the social improved the so rulers and governors in the land. Men would call it tyranny, and there would be civil (f) war, it they were deprived of their right of choice in their lawgivers. Woman also should be free—enfranchised—have the power, if she wishes to exercise it, of choosing the rulers of the city and country in which she lives. If such were the case, many changes and improvements would be brought about. But see the result now, of no power to vote. Women have no power or vote by which to alter the law and obtain the franchise. It must be done through the means of and by the help of men who are large-hearted and liberal-minded enough to see the wrong under which women labor and from which they cannot free themselves, if men will they shall be bound. I appeal to all men if such a state of matters is right or just. Is it doing as they would be done by 2

We meet should not be looked on as either slaves or fools, for as a rule, they are neither, but sensible, quick-sighted, valuable companions. As such their place is alongside of men and their privileges should be equal to help in the world's work; of too much use to be heedlessly trampled on or carelessly thrown aside. Such ideas as some that have been promulgated through the papers on this social question, will clearly point out to women that they have no time to lose, but that they must rouse themselves that they may gain some means, not only for self-protection, but for means, not only for self-protection, but for the better protection of their weaker, more unfortunate and suffering fellow-women.

THE TOWN OF SYDNEY.

To THE WORLD:—We notice in your issue of this morning a letter from Mr. John Watson of Ayr, in reference to a statement contained in our advertisement of the town of Sidney, that he was about to of the town of Sidney, that he was about to start a branch of his agricultural works there, which, while probably strictly correct from Mr. Watson's present knowledge of the facts, is yet calculated to convey to the public the impression that we have been attempting to mislead them. Mr. Watson while not denying the truth of our statement, says:

In reference to the truth of the above I would simply say that I am not aware of any such arrangement. It is perhaps true that my general manager in Manitoba may be about to establish an agency there for the sale of my manufactures.

manager in Manitoba may be about to establish an agency there for the sale of my manufactures.

We do not know what arrangements Mr.

Watson has with his general manager in Manitoba, but from the above we would infer that he, the manager, has it in his power to locate branches of Mr. Watson's because whereaver he may deem proper. business whereever he may deem proper.

In regard to our statement the facts are simply these: Mr. Watson's agent in Manitoba, forseeing that the town of Sidney was, from its situation and surrounding bound to become an important trade centre, made an agreement with the former proprietors of that property to establish a branch of Mr. Watson's business in that place. The pre-sent proprietors bought the property with this agreement distinctly before them, and they had no doubt of Mr. Watson's man-aggre' shility to fulfil the agreement into agers' ability to fulfil the agreement into which he had entered. In conclusion, we can only say that we have no desire to mislead the public in any way in reference to the town of Sidney. We ask intending purchasers to make the being fully convinced that it has sufficient merit of its own to make it a good invest-ment. PEARSON BROS., Agents.

THE LOCAL HOUSE.

Railway Freights—A Dead Law-Railway and

A good deal of private business was done by the legislature yesterday. A discussion took place on a motion for returns of orders in council with respect to railway tariff rates, from which it appeared that under certain clauses, which are in both the Dominion and provincial railway acts, nothing has ever been done by the government to regulate railway tariffs.

Several bills were introduced by private members to amend the municipal and as-were taking new roads across railways they should pay for them. Certain clauses about remunerating railways for land taken in crossing their track and reimbursing them for the costs of re-pairs to roads were much discussed but no amendments were made. The bill was re-

The house then adjourned.

RAILWAY BILSS.

Three Measures Before the Legislative Com tee Yesterday.

The first bill considered by the railway

The first bill considered by the railway committee yesterday was one to amend the acts respecting the St. Mary's, Credit Valley, and Huron railway company, which empowers the company to extend their line to Goderich and to Seaforth, and from the latter place to some point on Lake Huron, and make several minor amendments in their charter. The clause authorizing municipalities to issue debentures to run for a period not exceeding 31 years was amended by limiting the time to 20 years. The section providing that the general law in regard to bonuses shall not apply to minicipalities aiding the railway was struck out. The bill was reported as amended.

The bill was reported as amended.

The bill incerporating the Toronto High park and western tramway company, which was referred back from the house to the committee, was reconsidered. The 4th section, locating the line, was amended by expressly prohibiting the use of steam power, and by providing that the company should not have the right to use any motive power other than horse-power without the consent of the municipalities through which the road passed. A provision was also inserted that the company should not have the right to lay tracks along the highways unless authorized by by-laws of the counties of York and Peel. The gauge was fixed at 4 feet 8½ inches, and it was provided that the company should use flat tram rails to be approved of by the county engineer of the county of York. The bill was then reported.

ed that the company should use he rails to be approved of by the county engineer of the county of York. The bill was then reported.

The Western counties railway, the principal sections of which had previously been agreed to, was taken up. The usual bended clauses were substituted for those in the bill. The clause relating to construction by sections was amended by providing that the sections should be not less than ten miles in length. The section empowering the directors to construct the line by contract was amended by making a two-third majority of the shareholders necessary to validate any contract. Some other amendments were made, and the bill reported.

The committee will finish its business today.

As is well known to every one familiar with the manners and customs of India, the rich and fertile valley of Ragbag becomes a sterile plain at the southern extremity of the mountain of Bundlewigig—which gives its name to the ancient city lying at its base—and it was on a journey to this place in the memorable year of 193 that I became a participator in the event to be related.

I had been commissioned by the British government as the bearer of dispatches to the governor of Dampoorole, and leaving England in the inclement month of June I arrived in Delhi at 7:30 p.m. There I "SEVENTY YEARS IN INDIA," ETC.

Mr. Mowat introduced two bills one to amend the act relating to fire insurance policies, and to provide for the restitution of stolen goods.

A number of bills were read a third time and among them the evidence act.

Mr. Crishton moved for copies of orders in council relating to railway traffic rates and paid a very small proportion of the same in the official gazette. He said that stockholders expended compared to the amount of municipal and provincial bonuses. Municipal bonuses had been given to seure competition, and as soon as the road had been completed as amalgamation had taken place with the road to be competed with.
