CONSTANTINOPLE REIGNS AT CONSTANTINOPLE!

Turks and Germans Powerless to Prevent the Forcing of the Dardanelles.

BRITAIN TO BUY ALL SHIPMENTS ON WAY TO FOE

Supplies Consigned to Germany Will Be Held Up and Paid For.

WASHINGTON RELIEVED

President Wilson Considers New Orders as Precedent in International Affairs.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Great Britain is determined to starve out Germany, according to information received at the state department today. Orders-in-council, shortly to issue, will show that the Anglo-French plan of long-range blockade will result in the stopping of shipments of every sort of supplies to Germany. At the same time these orders-in-council will work so gravely to the disadvantage of American shippers as had been at first feared.

The orders-in-council will decree that the "long-range blockade" of Germany will differ from previous conceptions of a blockade of a belligerent power, in that ships bearing cargoes for Germany will not be seized and their hulls and cargoes confiscated, but will simply be held up and compelled to dispose of their cargoes for the benefit of the shipper at British or French ports, according to which nation makes the arrest of the vessel on the high seas.

Another phase of the orders will set forth the intentions of the allies with regard to mixed cargoes. Where ships are carrying cargoes destined in part to Germany and in part for one or more of the neutral nations, such as Denmark, Holland, Norway or Sweden, the portion destined for Germany will be removed from the ship and disposed of for the benefit of the captor nation, and the remainder will be permitted to proceed to its neutral destination.

What the effect of the stand taken by Great Britain and in turn of course by her allies will have upon the American position assumed in the notes to Germany and Great Britain dated Feb. 27, and which have not yet been made public in the United States is problematical. The orders are considered here as establishing a precedent in international affairs, "the long-range blockade" of Washington politicians claim, is in no sense the sort of a blockade which international law recognizes, and yet, on the other hand, the effects of its enforcement are by no means so drastic. Without exercising the powers of confiscation of the cargoes or ships which fall into the hands of the allies, the loss to the American must come entirely in the form of a loss of his super-added profits from disposing of his products.

Where the demand is highest and therefore in turn the prices are the highest. He will not be made to suffer either a loss of his property or an undue loss of his profits, for both France and Great Britain can find ample use for their vessels shall seize and will pay for them, it is understood, the reasonable market price.

This weekly event that is eagerly looked forward to by hundreds, for these things are just about half regular price to open till 10 tonight.

Is Der Tag Coming?

The Dardanelles Open Forever

Never again is the Dardanelles to be closed—it is to remain a highway for the nations hitherforth and for ever. Never again to be a secret passage, at best to the Turk and his un-European methods and his peculiar politics. The Queen Elizabeth and her consort are making a new people's highway. Constantinople is not any more to be an Asiatic slum in the historic country about the Mediterranean sea!

Waited Until They Were Ready

In ten days and the whole war situation suddenly shifted from the western land field and the eastern land field and centred in the Dardanelles, and the great allied fleet started in to batter down the Turkish forts, and to sweep clear a way to the Sea of Marmora.

Why didn't they start earlier? For many reasons: one that it was not yet time, that other things were due at other points; most of all because, probably, an enormous store of shells, of munitions, was needed, sufficient wherever to rain for days and weeks, if necessary, on the crowding forts on either shore. And so Kitchener is waiting for his store of shot and shell and bullets for his army now assembled in France; ammunition enough to rain on German lines for weeks until soldiers are killed in thousands or slip away to the fatherland in the darkness of the night. War these days is fought with quantity even more than with numbers!

The Mouse and the Elephant

We've been over-concerned with the little under-tonic beast; they are no longer a source of dread or concern when we read of the operations of the great super-dreadnought Queen Elizabeth. As the cow said, "A little rodent is peppy eating, but give me the big turnip for a real meal." The dreadnought has come back, and the 18-inch gun may be the next step forward as a world policeman!

The Gloom is Falling

Germany, Austria, Turkey, are being shrouded in gloom and foreboding. Where is the triumph that was promised, the captured capitals, the spoils of war sent home, the fines collected, the Goddags of victory, with determined men and spreading wings, the professional entry of the emperors and their generals, and the captive Englishers and Frenchers at the chariot wheels? And what about the thousand and thousand sons of the fatherland that will never come back to their woman-kind!

Still Mistress of the Seas

And the telegraph and cable lines. How Britain has been able to censor almost everything she wished to on almost every sea. No news got out about the situation in South Africa until the British Government was ready to give it out. A great American company may own most of the cables—on surveillance—but England works them as suits her purpose. To speak to all the world in a flash, to hold back from all the world, that will be the latest and greatest result of maritime supremacy.

Great Days at Hand

We are coming into great days, perhaps the days of all days, of our Empire. These times may be little if they do not extinguish the events of a century and more ago. Democracy and public rights and social uplift for the many may be had. A page of new history is to be written in a new and more impressive way.

NOTED FRENCH AVIATOR IS AWARDED MEDAL

Pegoud's Intrepidity in Attacking German Aeroplanes Gains High Honor.

Canadian Press Despatch.

PARIS, March 5, 10:50 p.m.—Official announcement is made that Adolphe Pegoud, the famous French aviator, has been awarded the military medal for services rendered the army during the war.

The announcement says that Pegoud on several occasions pursued enemy aeroplanes and on 2 at least attacked at a great height and caused the fall of a German machine. Soon afterwards he attacked two aeroplanes, causing the first to fall and the second to land.

Adolphe Pegoud first came into fame in 1913 as the originator of the feat of flying upside down in an aeroplane while making experiments for obtaining safety in the air.

RELEASE GRATIFYING.

Canadian Press Despatch.

PARIS, March 5, 5:50 p.m.—A despatch to The Toronto World from Geneva, Switzerland, says that Germany is forwarding to the Swiss frontier 50,000 internees, French civilians for repatriation. The correspondent adds that Germany is desirous of being relieved of these civilians as soon as the formalities of an exchange can be arranged.

OSSEWETZ HOLDS OUT

Terrific Slaughter of Austrians—Stanislaw is Reoccupied by Muscovites.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

PETROGRAD, March 5.—The German invasion or raid in force from East Prussia has finally been resolved into a number of isolated columns, with each of which Russian forces are adequately dealing. None of these enemy columns is advantageously placed, even apart from the all important problem of supply at this season of the year.

Beginning with what should have been the German left and passing southwards to what should have been their right, the position is as follows:

A German column is being held in the delta between the lakes and difficult country about Serey and Simo, in the Grodno region. The Russians are again advancing. The bombardment of the fortress of Ossewetz continues, but it has already demonstrated that the German 42 centimetre howitzers are less effective here than smaller guns requiring less elaborate preparations to ensure accurate fire. Attempts to invest Ossewetz have failed. The Russians caught a considerable body of the enemy 18 miles northwest of Lomza, on the west bank of the Boho River, where the Germans had entrenched themselves in a hilly country with their back to the river and the swamps beyond. Hand-to-hand fighting is in progress at this point.

Fighting on the Frontier.

The fighting has been especially severe on the German frontier between Chershele and Mlawka. As the Germans were never allowed to consolidate their fighting line, but were attacked during their preliminary movements in marching order, and as none of their isolated columns had any success and each is now fighting desperately to get away and losing more prisoners, than the Germans hitherto have yielded anywhere, it is quite evident that very little may turn their failure into a disaster. Strenuous efforts are being made at least to destroy the fortress of Ossewetz, that some trophy of this grandiose raid for political, not military, purposes may remain to preserve the face of the German commander-in-chief.

German Troops Inferior.

It is especially gratifying to note that precisely those corps on which the Germans pride themselves, namely, the 20th and 21st, have been the ones that suffered the most severely at the Russian hands. The boasted East Prussian 20th in particular, both before Przemyss and in the subsequent fighting, yielded more prisoners than is quite consistent with its vaunted quality. Compared with the heroic conduct of the Russian 20th Corps in its difficult retreat, fighting during ten days, even the best German corps seem nothing remarkable.

Enemy's Stupid Blunders.

On the main front of the Carpathians the story continues of appalling slaughter without any material changes as yet. The Austrian and Austro-German corps continue throwing their life away without hope against the Russian positions. Whole divisions of Austrians are reported to have been destroyed, and they are precisely those divisions which contain Austria's best troops, namely, the Hungarians. Stories about the possible reconquest of Galicia have amused us here. The famous flank attack in East Galicia meant nothing more than the weakening of the enemy's front, where strength was perhaps most needed, and as such was very welcome to Russia. It has now melted down into rear guard actions with the retreating enemy.

SNOW SAVES HUNGARY.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

BUDAPEST, March 5.—Great snowstorms are raging over the Carpathians and delaying operations. Wounded soldiers arrive from the front daily in hundreds, and from their physical appearance one can get some idea as to the terrible hardships they have to endure. One officer said that the Russians are attacking with five times the force of the Austrians.

ABE HARRIS OF TORONTO ARRESTED IN STRATFORD

Canadian Press Despatch.

STRATFORD, March 5.—Abe Harris of Toronto, wanted by the publishers of The Canadian Courier on a charge of fraudulently representing them, was recognized by Chief of Police Lamm today as he stepped into Police Magistrate O'Leary's office to solicit a subscription for the publication in question. He was promptly arrested by the police official and will be turned over to the Toronto authorities.

Canadian Press Despatch.

STRATFORD, March 5.—The Star publishes the following today about the arrival of 4000 more Canadian soldiers in England:

The first detachment of the second Canadian contingent to sail from Canada arrived yesterday at Liverpool and Queenstown. The steamship Misantha docked at Liverpool with a section of the force, while the steamships Megantic and Southland put into Queenstown.

Included in the units carried by these three vessels were the 23rd Westmount battalion, the 1st Battery Canadian Field Artillery, Montreal, the 32nd battalion of Winnipeg and the 30th battalion of Victoria.

Great accuracy was observed in connection with the sailing of this detachment across the Atlantic due to the blockade of the British Isles, announced by the Germans on Feb. 18, just four days prior to the sailing of the contingent. Every precaution was taken to prevent the enemy from learning the movements of the transports.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Arrangements have been completed in the middle west for the public flotation of a German loan. Circulars were received in Wall street announcing that the opening of hostilities, let it be known that it was opposed to the public offering in this country of the bonds and notes of the nations engaged in the conflict.

The announcement caused much surprise in a Wall street because this is the first attempt made by the agents of a belligerent government to float a public loan in the United States since the state department, shortly after the opening of hostilities, let it be known that it was opposed to the public offering in this country of the bonds and notes of the nations engaged in the conflict.

For this reason it is not expected that any New York bankers will act as agents for the sale of the German notes. With exchange on Germany now showing a depreciation of over 10 per cent, the new bonds can be bought at a liberal discount.

Material is Needed to Strengthen Islands in Sea of Marmora, But These Preparations Cannot Prove Effectual—Population of Constantinople Suffering and Hold Germans Responsible for Miseries.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

BUCHAREST, March 5.—(Delayed).—Consternation reigns at Constantinople. Turks and Germans realize they are powerless to prevent the allied fleet forcing the passage of the Dardanelles, and they are hastily dismantling some of the forts in the straits in order to secure material for strengthening places on the island in the Sea of Marmora, near the entrance to the Bosphorus, which is to be placed in a state of siege.

Everyone recognizes, however, that these military preparations at the last hour can in no sense prove effectual. It is well known too, that there is lack of munitions. The population already is suffering privations, and receiving insufficient rations, with bread made of a mixture of wheat and maize, and holds the Germans responsible for their miseries.

AGITATIONS ARE NUMEROUS.

Agitations conducted by Hadjis are growing numerous. Greek families hastily left Constantinople. Since yesterday more than fifty German officers traveling from Turkey to Berlin passed thru Bucharest. Roumania is following with the closest interest the allied action in the Dardanelles, and Russia's activities in Galicia. The government still refrains from making pronouncements, and has just introduced a bill for opening a credit of forty million dollars for the army. Generals who would this year pass into the reserve are being retained and already 1916 class recruits are being called up.

TRI-WEEKLY BOAT SERVICE TO FRANCE

By a Staff Reporter.

OTTAWA, March 5.—The British admiralty has established a tri-weekly steamship service between Canada and France for the conveyance of war supplies ordered by the British War Office for the British and French allied armies. Eighteen freight boats are in the service, which will be continued until the end of the year.

Immense supplies, consisting of food, clothing, transport vehicles, ammunition and horses are being purchased in Canada and the United States for the two armies, and great cargoes have been sent forward almost daily. From Aug. 20 to the close of navigation on the St. Lawrence, 190,000 tons of army supplies were sent to British and French ports, and during January 50,000 tons were shipped from St. John and Halifax.

Freight Congestion.

With the withdrawal of vessels from the regular British-Canadian service for war purposes, there has been a shortage of vessels to handle this special traffic, and the supplies have now reached such an enormous volume that the admiralty has felt warranted in establishing this regular service to carry these cargoes only.

Besides these eighteen cargo vessels, the colliers which bring coal from Great Britain to Halifax for the cruisers of the North Atlantic squadron will carry war supplies on their return journey to French ports. Shortly after the beginning of the war, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy was asked by the government for his advice as to the handling of these cargoes, and on his suggestion, A. H. Harris, special traffic representative of the C.P.R., was appointed in charge of the work. He is now officially known as director of overseas transport from Canada.

ROTTERDAM, March 5.—The crew of the steamer Thordis will be interested to hear according to German papers, that their ship was sunk by submarines and not vice-versa. General Von Bissing, German Governor of Belgium states among other things being done to make Belgium familiar with the German spirit that the proposal of Max Rethelhard to establish a theatre in Brussels or Antwerp is being considered.

LONDON, March 5.—The sinking of the German submarine U8 as officially announced today, makes the fourth of these vessels to be sunk by British warships since the beginning of the war, the others being the U35, the U18 and the one rammed by the destroyer and the one rammer on the Belgian coast. It is believed that a French destroyer also sank one and the captain of two British merchantmen are claiming the prizes offered for the first merchant captain to account for a hostile submarine.

The claim of the captain of the steamer collier Thordis, in connection with which the admiralty says he probably sank a submarine, is being disputed by the captain of the steamer Alekso, who says he previously sank one.

Admiralty Satisfied.

The admiralty's statement expressed the opinion that the claim of Captain Bell of the Thordis was borne out by injuries to the vessel's keel and propeller.

Submarine Vanished.

The statement of the French ministry of marine today was to the effect that a German submarine of the U2 type had been fired on by a French cruiser in the English Channel yesterday. The submarine plunged and no further trace of her was found.

The text of the announcement follows:

"During the day of March 4 a French warship belonging to the second light squadron cannonaded a German submarine of the U2 type in the English Channel. Three shots struck the under-keel boat, which then plumed and disappeared. No trace of her could be found."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The following document, which was served on The World yesterday, gives McCutcheon Bros' version of an item which appeared in this paper recently. The suggestion that the article in question "practically" charges McCutcheon Bros. with a violation of the criminal code, is, of course, their, and not The World's.

To The World Newspaper Company of Toronto, Limited, Toronto, Ontario, NOTICE OF ACTION. In the issue of your newspaper published on March 2nd, 1915, the following article appears: "ENGLISHWOMAN ASKS ABOUT MADE INVESTMENT OF $200,000. In firm, but not all paid in."

"Mrs. H. Sowler, London England, who made an investment of $200,000 with McCutcheon Bros. asking that they give her information relative to the position of the McCutcheons. The full $200,000 had not been paid in. McCutcheon Brothers claim that the statement in the above article that Mrs. H. Sowler had invested $200,000 with them, is not in accordance with the fact.

The fact is that Mrs. H. Sowler became associated with a syndicate formed in England for the purpose of purchasing from McCutcheon Brothers, Limited, a tract of land in the City of Moose Jaw, towards this syndicate she subscribed $5000, which was duly paid up as we are informed.

Subsequently this syndicate was incorporated into a joint stock company, known as "The Kingsbury Development Company, Limited," having its head office at Moose Jaw, which company took over the lands which were purchased by Mrs. Sowler from McCutcheon Brothers, and each of the members of the syndicate received shares in the company equivalent to the amount originally subscribed by them in the syndicate.

Mrs. Sowler also became associated with another syndicate formed in England for the purpose of purchasing from McCutcheon Bros. Limited, some Alberta lands, and she subscribed and paid in $1000 to this syndicate. Subsequently McCutcheon Brothers, Limited, conveyed certain lands situate in Calgary, in close proximity to the railway station, to C. G. Kidd, pending the formation of an incorporated company to take over the lands. This company has since been incorporated and Mrs. Sowler and the other members of the syndicate now hold these lands or the equivalent thereof in stock in the company.

McCutcheon Brothers have no knowledge of any other monetary transactions whatever with Mrs. Sowler and the above statement, made in your paper, that she had made an investment with them of $200,000, is absolutely untrue and a damage claim as it practically charges McCutcheon Brothers with a violation of the criminal code. This notice is given in pursuance of section 8 of the Libel and Slander Act, Chapter 71, Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914.

Dated at Toronto this 4th day of March, 1915. McCutcheon Bros., By Betty, Snow & Nesmith, their solicitors.

Barrett were allowed off on suspended sentence as restitution had been made, and as they were led astray by the real instigator. Now your article above referred to gives the impression that the boys committed another offence last Sunday, when as a matter of fact all three were in custody on Sunday. Detectives Croome had nothing to do with the case, notwithstanding your information. Detectives Mitchell and Croome handled the matter in January; I request you to print this letter in as prominent a place as your report of March 1. James F. Coughlin, Solicitor for John Smith and Frank Barrett.

In January last, Frank Kelley, F. Barrett and John Smith, were arrested by Detectives Mitchell and Croome on charges of stealing chateaux from worshippers in St. Michael's Cathedral. They were tried in the sessions on Feb. 26, and Kelley was sentenced to six months in jail. The other two were released pending the making of restitution, and a few days ago, when the money had been returned, they were allowed out on suspended sentence.

AN ERROR CORRECTED. Editor World: In this morning's paper, in an article under the heading "Storn Call Used in Latest Orders," you mention the Reliance Shoe Company. We wish you to correct this error, as the Reliance Shoe Company have not made any boots, and are in no way connected with the affair. We specialize exclusively in boys' boots, and our attention is departing from this, even for army contracts. Thanking you for your prompt attention, The Reliance Shoe Company, Limited, P. E. Rivett, manager.

CANADIANS TOOK GERMAN TRENCH? Dashing Attack Mentioned in Unofficial Despatch From Bethune.

VICTIMS OF SNIPERS Wounded Canadians Recount Experiences in Quest of Hidden Foe.

A dashing attack by Canadians on a German trench is reported to the Home Agency by a despatch from northern France. The Canadians are said to have lost one killed and one wounded, and to have inflicted considerable loss on the enemy.

Winnipeggers Under Fire. A C.A.P. London cable states that the "Little Black Devils" (a Winnipeg unit) have been giving the baptism of fire in the present war, and that two of their privates, Corporal Charles Smith and Private Welsh are now in the Shorncliffe Hospital, with compound fractures in the arm.

Shot by Sniper. The sniper was in a ruined house, and Private Welsh along with seven others were in the house and in the neighborhood, but they were forced to stop suddenly, as they came up against barbed wire entanglements. Placed there by the Germans, the soldier was dropped. Going back to the trenches the little party found one of their number missing, but they could not go out to look for him.

Canadians in Hospitals. The following Canadians are reported in hospitals: Netley - Private Nugent, 3rd Battalion; Bugler Sanderson, 1st Battalion; Unknown hospital on outbreak - Private Stronach, 1st Battalion; Sergeant Hamilton, 2nd Battalion; Rouse - Private Salisbury, Princess Pats; Boudry - Private Duchesnay, Princess Pats.

account of his being the head of the department. I am in favor of a thorough cleaning up of the department, and the appointment of a commission to put the fire department on a sound working basis. Each fireman in his own district should have a plan of the locality by street and 'key' in the details of the houses and streets in the district.

Always Opposed. Speaking of the civic car lines and the suggestion made some time ago at a meeting of the association to increase the fares to five cents, the alderman always has opposed it. One of the arguments put up for the increased fares is that the majority of people who use the lines are people who live in the Township of York, but if they step in the township, which after all is an imaginary line, between the city and a congested district immediately on the other side, they spend their money in the city," said the alderman.

Bathurst Street Line. President Macdonald stated that if cars were run down Bathurst street the city would receive twice the revenues they already receive on the St. Clair line. A count was made on Bathurst street of last year's earnings and down in one day recently, and it was found that 5200 people used that thoroughfare. A count was made of the fares they should give a transfer from St. Clair avenue line with ample time to make connection with the new Bloor street, Gerrard and other civic lines," he said.

The public library, lavatories and other topics were also briefly discussed.

To Gain Strength After La Grippe Use This Great Food Cure

"We cannot do much for La Grippe," the doctors tell you. "Stay in bed, keep warm and rest, take soft, nourishing foods, and you will gradually recover." Just now many thousands are suffering from this depressing and weakening ailment and its bad after-effects. In some cases where the system is in a run-down condition pneumonia develops, and there is not much hope of recovery. Many others who pass the critical stages of La Grippe find themselves so greatly weakened that they are months in regaining strength and vigor. It is to such that we want particularly to commend the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of building up the system and reconstructing the wasted cells and tissues. We recommend this food cure not only because we know that it contains restorative ingredients of incomparable value, but also because so many thousands of cases have come to our attention in which it has proven to be just what is needed to restore health and strength.

Miss Amy C. Davis, 301 Perth avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes: "After a severe attack of quincy and gripe my nervous system seemed to be completely run down. I had taken a good tonic, prescribed by my doctor, but still felt very nervous, would start up at the least sound, and was very irritable. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and after taking two boxes I felt so much improved that I continued to take four more, which completely restored my health. I cannot say too much for this great Nerve Food, and have recommended it to all my friends."

One advantage in using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the fact that it is not a mere stimulant to effect temporary relief, but a true tonic, which is both thorough and lasting in its upbuilding influence.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Unruly Meeting Over School Site. Mount Dennis Ratepayers Turned Down Trustees Proposal.

GRAFT CHARGES DENIED Majority Favor Rowntree Property Fronting on Keele Street.

Disorder, firmly quelled by AMI Smith, who occupied the chair, presided over the meeting of ratepayers of school section No. 23, Toronto, in Mount Dennis, when a motion to adopt the recommendation of the trustees of a school site on Yarrow road, Keele street property, was defeated by a substantial majority. Inspector A. Campbell accented the fact that further school accommodation might be provided with no unnecessary delay, and he said, "I risk making a prophecy that the rate will not be above 10 mills."

The legality of submitting sites to the meeting was questioned, and in Mr. Campbell's opinion, without notice they had no right to bring up other sites. It was ruled that on Yarrow road should be voted upon.

"That site was put before the ratepayers on a petition to which were appended 10 signatures," said J. A. Marshall. "I spoke at the meeting against the site, but gave way to the desire of those who signed the petition. Last December we went over the site and all were unanimous in regarding it a good site," said Trustee J. A. Marshall. "I don't see a word against it."

Only One Available. It was the only site available at the time, explained Mr. Marshall. "I then other sites had offered at the time," he said. "I gave my vote at the meeting on the understanding that I would speak in its favor."

"That's not true, sir," interrupted Mr. Barton. "At this point Inspector Campbell was heard to say that the meeting was a mere formality, and that the approval or disapproval of the ratepayers had no effect on the site. I am not in a position to declare on this particular site."

"It is legal to bring up the Rowntree site," said J. A. Marshall. "I say no, unless the resolution of the former meeting condemning it was rescinded," ruled the chairman. "I was one block west of Keele street, and the school site proposed was half a block south of Eglinton, and the Rowntree site was on the east side of the street, to raise $36,000, the trustees of the school, to be used for a school site."

Many Austrian Reverses

as great a force as a few weeks ago, and it has been almost impossible to get the ground almost their attacks. If the weather had not interfered with their movements the Russians in the centre would have penetrated by this time many miles into Hungary, he says. One day the Austrians left hundreds of dead in the snow by the Dukla Pass, and when in the morning they found their dead bodies in the snow during the night having buried them. In the spring during the time the snow melts many hundreds of such dead will be found in the valleys, especially around the Lator Eza River, where several snowmelters have revealed during the many battles that have been fought there the last two months.

SERIES OF REVERSES.

Canadian Press Despatch. PETROGRAD, March 5.—Via London, 2:22 a.m.—Advices received from Petrograd are to the effect that the Austro-German forces have met with a series of reverses as the hands of the Russians recently culminating in the recapture today of Stanislau, which was evacuated a fortnight ago.

Serious battles are reported in the Mazolobez pass in the Carpathians and the River San, where the Austrian advance is said to have been checked. In the vicinity of Salinka, midway of this line, two Austrian regiments are said to have been wiped out by the Russian machine guns. During the fighting on March 2 and 3, the Austrians charged the Russian lines repeatedly at times reaching the Russian trenches.

Losses Never Heavier. Austrian officers captured during the fighting are reported to have said that their losses never have been heavier.

At Lutovskio, just east of the San and 35 miles south of Premysl, on the night of March 2, the Austrians made four attacks on the Russians which are said to have been repulsed with heavy losses.

The surrender of Stanislau was preceded by a series of reverses, which on March 3 by heavy fighting, the Austrians having fortified Hadice, a short distance to the north, and also the valleys of the Lator Eza and Lator rivers. Here, it is asserted, the Russians captured a large number of guns and rapid drivers, many officers and men and a quantity of stores.

Russians Again in Bukovina.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. RICHMOND, March 5.—Heavy cannonading has been heard in the direction of Bojan Mihalovic and Cernowitz. Russian officers in Bukovina are reported to state that the recapture of Cernowitz by their troops is only a question of a few days. All traffic has been stopped at six o'clock in the evening has been reported.

SECOND ATTACK ON SUEZ CANAL?

Another Attempt May Soon Be Made by Djemel Pasha.

FRESH TROOPS MOVING

Artillery Was Buried in the Sands, Ready for an Advance.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. CAIRO, March 5.—Will the Turks make a second attack on Egypt and the Suez Canal? That is the question both civilians and the military are discussing here. The balance of opinion would appear to favor the belief that Djemel Pasha will make at least another attempt before giving the task up as hopeless. Many people believe his effort (July in February) was but a reconnaissance in force, and now that the winter has passed, what he has to face he will try again with all the strength he can muster. Reports speak of great bodies of troops in motion near the frontiers. It is added, half a dozen big guns are being brought along. These are mounted with complete tripods on wheels, and each is drawn by a span of twenty-four oxen. Some reports say that the army started off from Palestine with artillery and tanks may be gathered from this that artillery used in the fighting was sent off long before the war started. Others believe that long with the war with Turkey was declared German officers with the Turkish army in Syria sent forward artillery to be buried in sands ready for an advance across the desert.

FASHIONS FOR MEN.

A Demonstration of What is Correct For Men This Spring.

All that is written of style in dress does not apply solely and wholly to women. They continue to share in fashion literature. At the same time, the men are interested as the seasons come and go.

This thought will surely come to anyone who may visit the House of Hobblerin, Limited, 161 Yonge street and 9 West Richmond street, and see for himself the wide assortment of new fabrics in men's tailoring for the spring season now on exhibition.

Whether the choice be an English Scotch or Irish tweed, a black or blue serge, a Cheviot, an Oxford or Cambridge grey, or some other cloth, the range is of size to emphasize what the man suggests, that the men folk demand a good showing when they come to select a new suit.

The word "tailoring" is used by the House of Hobblerin, Limited, for the reason that they are tailors as distinct from dealers in men's clothing. They furnish the material and make all garments to the customer's own measure, cut by their own designers and cutters, and completed in their own large and sanitary workshops under careful supervision.

The correct things in design and pattern, and in style of make-up, are points all emphasized in the Hobblerin display for the coming Easter. With prices for suits ranging at $15, $20 and $25.

Eighteen Thousand Prisoners.

LONDON, March 5.—(147) The Petrograd correspondent of Reuters sends the following despatch: "It is announced that during the operations around Stanislau (Galicia) between Feb. 21 and March 3, the Russians made 183 officers and 15,000 men prisoners, and captured 6 guns, 52 machine guns, 519 horses and numerous trains."

Russians on Offensive.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, March 5.—(147) Except in the central Beukid Pass of the Carpathians, where the fierce Austrian attacks have moderated, the Russians are now on the offensive along the whole length of the extremely long line, from the Baltic Sea to the Roumanian border. Apparently they have definitely disposed of the German and Austrian attempts to outflank their two extreme wings and, having turned, are making slow but steady progress westward.

After retreating right back to the Dniester River, the Russians again have crossed into Bukovina and are officially reported to be back in Cernowitz, which military men say is extremely probable, as they have already captured Sedgora, a few miles to the northeast of the capital. Further to the east they are again in possession of Stanislau and have crossed the Lukva River, a forward step which, in the opinion of military experts, probably will compel the Austrians to evacuate Bukovina.

On Suburban Slopes.

In the Beukid, Tukholka and Useok Passes the Austro-Germans are in possession of strong positions whence they are continually attacking the Russians, while the latter are especially in the Dukla the Russians are on the Hungarian slopes, where the fighting has developed at times reaching the Russian trenches.

Russians are sending large reinforcements to this southern line.

In northern Poland the Russians are advancing slowly westward from the Niemen River and the Germans are fighting a rear guard action. Only at one point is the German attack being seriously frustrated, and that is near the railway from Lyck and there a good road across the marshes, but with their arms falling back on either side, they cannot remain long. British military experts say.

To the south, according to a Berlin despatch, the Germans have evacuated Marienaufer, which is right on the East Prussia border, northwest of Lomza, but further west, near Miawa, they are believed actually to have crossed the border after their defeat at Przasnysz. The Russians also show revived activity in central Poland, and have attacked the German east of Plock, and near Sieradec, southeast of Warsaw.

German Guns Captured.

A despatch to the Exchange Telegram Company from Przasnysz declares that, altogether, the Russians captured 13 guns and 15 Maxim's, with their own and 123 ammunition cases and one aeroplane.

The message adds that the Cernowitz, which is being held by the Russians, is being shelled by their guns. The attack of the Austrians is reported to be everywhere growing weaker.

FRENCH MADE GAIN OF THIRD OF MILE

Progress in Champagne Over Four Mile Front So Far Unchecked.

GERMANS REPULSED

Russian Guards Regiment Engaged at Mesnil, Met With Severe Losses.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. PARIS, March 5.—The French offensive in the Champagne region has increased in extent and importance. They are continuing to make progress on the front north of Souain, Meuil, and Beauséjour, and today they held four miles, a total of German lines representing a depth of about a third of a mile.

Particularly marked progress was made to the west of Perthes today, where trenches were captured and the French will advance to the north. The ground was gained north of Meuil, and several counter attacks were repulsed. In this fighting, which became violent, the remnants of the Prussian Guards engaged met with severe losses.

Some 100 prisoners were taken with a machine gun in the afternoon.

The fighting elsewhere has been confined to the repelling of several German attacks in the Convois woods north of Verdun, and in the forest of Le Preire, west of Pont-a-Mousson.

GOLD BARS STOLEN ON ATLANTIC LINER

LONDON, March 5.—The Scotland Yard detectives have not been notified formally of the loss of a large amount of gold from the American Liner New York on her last voyage to New York. But it is reported unofficially that the Liverpool police have begun an investigation into the alleged theft.

Representatives of Baring Brothers & Co. here are reticent about the matter, but while they decline to discuss the amount of gold coin or bullion involved, they admit having shipped gold to Kidder, Peabody & Co., of New York, and state it was placed in the safe deposit room aboard the New York at Liverpool.

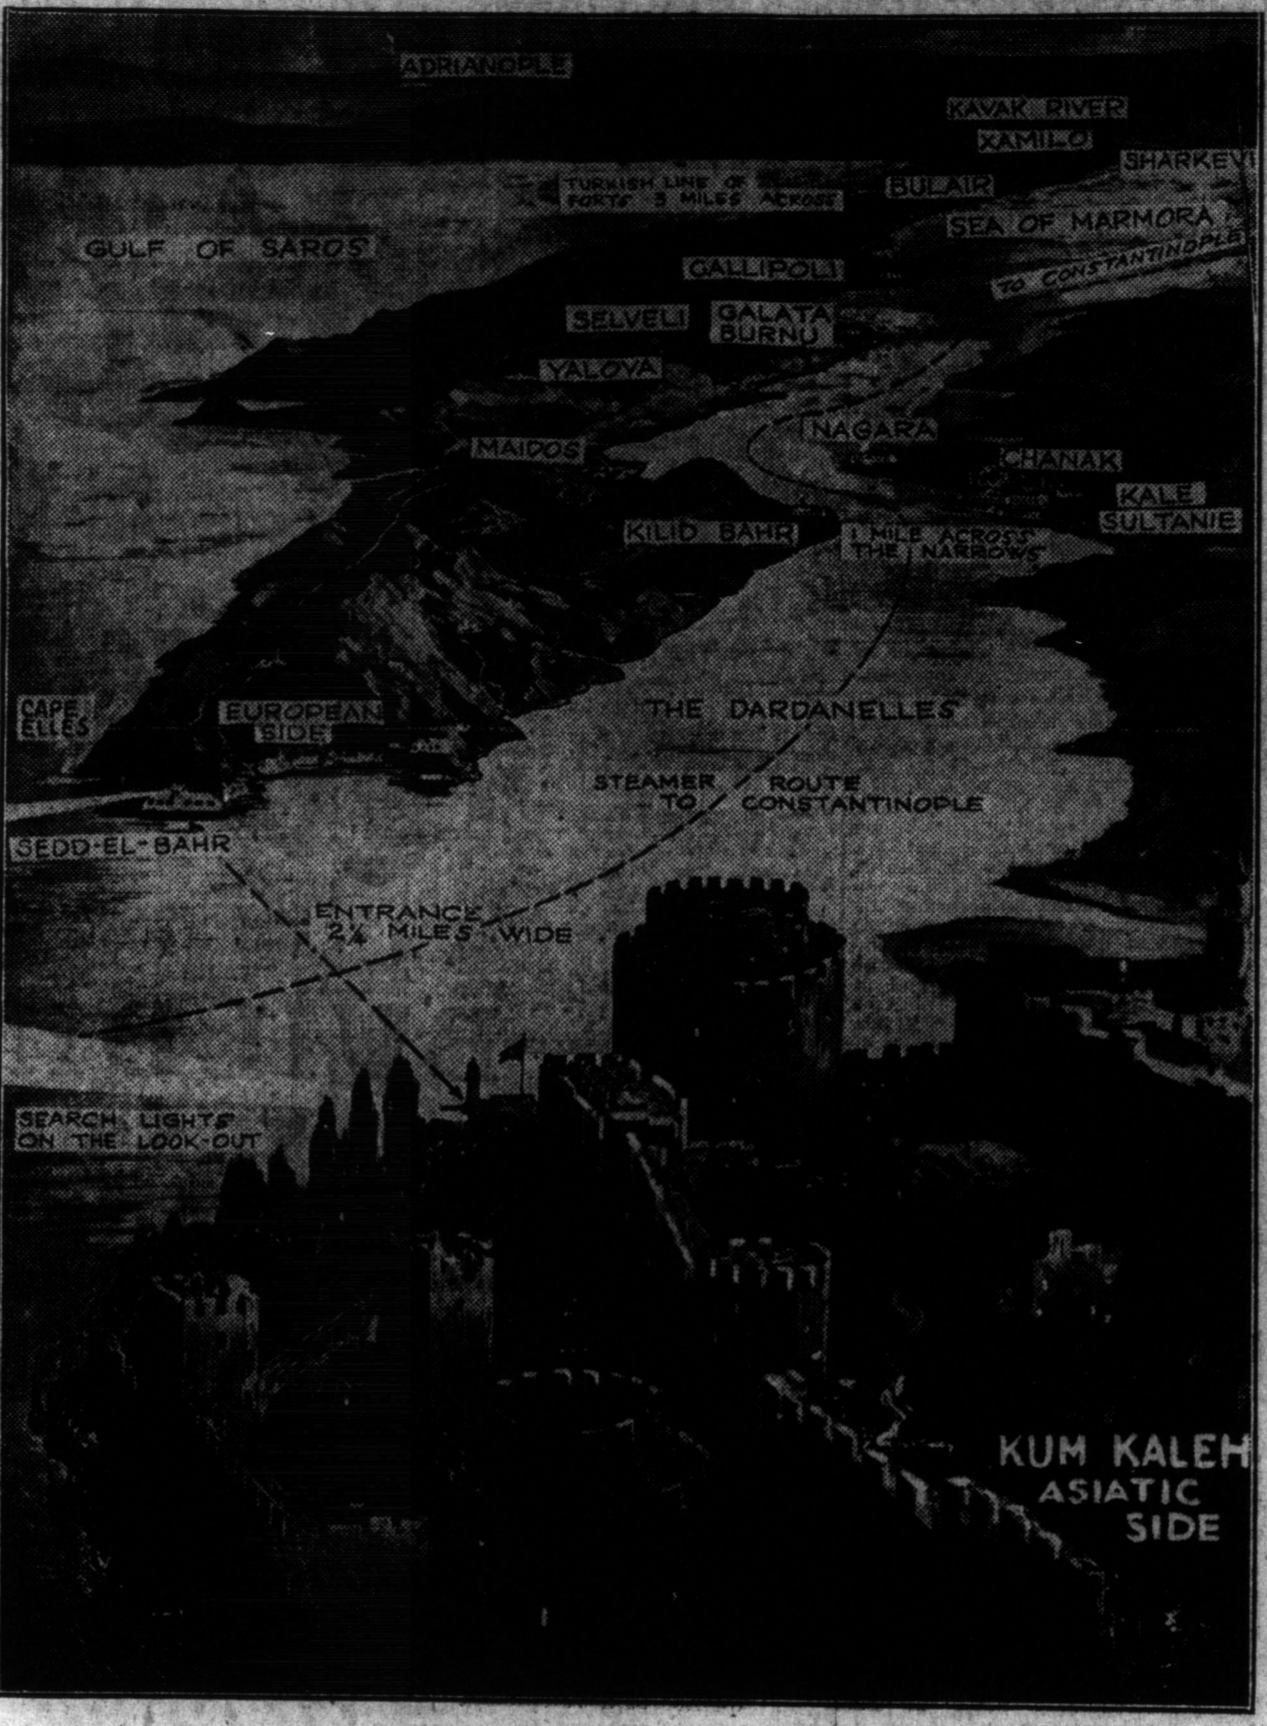

The London newspapers treat the affair very gingerly, give the amount missing as $250,000 and do not mention the names of the consignors, consignee or the ship.

PREMIER TAKES MONDAYS FOR GOVERNMENT DAYS

This action on the part of the government in taking Monday, which is private members' day, makes it begin to look as if the session would be a short one.

ADMIRAL MEUX TO SUCCEED JELICOE?

London Report Says Sir John Jellicoe Will Advise Sea Lords.

MEUX'S LONG SERVICE

Entered Navy Forty-Five Years Ago—Career Distinguished One.

The Telegram last night printed a London despatch stating that Sir John Jellicoe had been appointed admiral, and that Sir Hedworth Meux succeeded him as admiral of the home fleet.

While the announcement came as a surprise, it was still to be the belief that the sea lords considered Sir John Jellicoe could render more valuable service in an advisory capacity than as commander of the fleet during its enforced inactivity in the North Sea. Sir John was last commissioner of the admiralty, and controller of the navy in 1908-10, subsequently being appointed commander of the second squadron of the home fleet. When war with Germany broke out, he was given command of the home fleet.

Admiral Meux's Career. Admiral Meux, G.C.B., K.C.B., C.B., K.C.V.O., C.V.O., naval A.D.C. to the King, is the third son of the second Earl of Durham. He entered the navy in 1870, served in the bombardment of Alexandria and in the Egyptian war, 1882; became captain in 1889; was private secretary to the First Lord of the Admiralty, 1894-7; commanded the naval brigade at Ladysmith, in the South African war, commanded the royal yacht, 1901-3; was second in command of the Channel Fleet, 1903-4; and commanded the cruiser division of the Mediterranean Fleet, 1904-5; commanded the China station, 1908-10; and has been in command at Portsmouth since 1911. In 1909 he contested the Liberal interest, and in 1902 was made a commander of the Legion of Honor.

DO ALL POSSIBLE TO STOP TRAFFIC

HIGHEST PATRIOTISM

Curtailling of Liquor Trade Would Make Soldiers More Efficient.

N. W. Rowell, K.C., leader of the Ontario opposition, was given a round of applause as he came upon the platform at the Alliance Convention meeting at the Massey Hall last night. About 2500 were present.

Mr. Rowell said that it gave him very great pleasure to participate in the proceedings of the most momentous in human history of this time, and in addition to the war was the judgment which nations had passed against the liquor traffic.

There was a wonderful unanimity of opinion among the neutral powers that the cause for which Great Britain was fighting was the cause of liberty and humanity. But that unanimity was accompanied by the judgment of the military leaders that the liquor traffic impaired the efficiency of the soldier and sailor. It was, therefore, possible to curtail its influence.

Year of Encouragement. The year had been one of the greatest encouragement to all the workers, and whatever local arrangements there might be, they were a great confidence hereafter that they were on the winning side.

The London Times had declared that in abolishing the sale of vodka Russia was making a greater enemy than the Germans. "That was a fatal attack too, and not a slip-sag movement." (Applause.)

In conclusion, Mr. Rowell called upon the members of the alliance to "be relentless war upon the enemy until his power is forever wiped out."

Ven. Archbishop Lloyd, principal Emmanuel College, Saskatoon, Sask., presiding at the Dominion Council of the Alliance, gave a stirring patriotic vocal solo were given by Donald G. McEwen, and the Alexander Chalmers.

M'GINNITY DROPS OUT OF BASEBALL

Iron Man, Formerly of International League, Sells Interest in Tacoma Club.

Joe McGinnity, the Iron Man of baseball, and the famous discoverer of "Old Sal," is finally at home in his own town, as he was as popular as Mathewson today, and "Old Sal" was as well known as "Swallow."

He has disposed of his interest in the Tacoma, Wash., Club, and will leave for his home at the age of 41, he pitched in 48 games of ball finished 41 of them, and won 20. Truly an Iron Man to the last.

He has pitched over 20 years, 11 of them he played in the big leagues. All told he has won 415 games, and next to Cy Young has won more games than any other pitcher who ever lived. His greatest triumphs were achieved when he pitched for the Giants. In 1904 the Iron Man topped the pinnacle of his successes, pitching 48 games and winning 23 of them. In 1905 he pitched his best right arm thru 50 contests, and won 31 of them.

When He Won Title. It was in the former year, 1904, that he won the sobriquet of "Iron Man." During the month of August, in a drive for the pennant, he pitched and won three doubleheaders, one against Boston, one against Philadelphia, and one against Brooklyn.

McGinnity broke into the majors in 1899 as a member of the famous Baltimore National League team. Later he pitched with Brooklyn (and helped the club win the pennant). Then he came to New York in 1901. He obtained his release from the Giants in 1905 and became manager of the Newark Club in the International League. In 1912 he bought an interest in the Tacoma team in the Northwestern League.

At the age of one time this wonderful athlete imagined himself a failure as a ball player. In 1895 he was discovered by McGinnity under a few trees and discouraged that he quit the game and became a saloon keeper, and for four years did not play professional ball.

Soon Became Known. When Joe discovered and perfected "Old Sal" he soon became known as one of the great pitchers. It was his most effective ball, and better by the score were mowed down by him. In pitching this ball he held it as if in an underhand movement, so his fingers almost touched the earth as he pitched. It was aimed just below the batter's shoulders, so that starting from the ground it rose at least five feet and was going up when it reached him. At the same time the pitcher had twisted his wrist in a peculiar way, so that the ball also curved up. It was the nearest thing to an upcurve ever pitched. Batters struck under, and few then ever solved it. While most pitchers knew how McGinnity threw, few of them succeeded in doing as he did. Nor is there any more mystery about Mathewson's "fadeaway." Any pitcher can throw either—if he can control it—and if he knows when to use it. Control and brains were the only secrets of the two great pitchers.

BRITISH RUGBY FOOTBALL

The annual general meeting of the above club will be held at the Carleton Hotel on Wednesday next, March 10, at 8 o'clock. The annual financial statement will be presented and a number of important matters brought forward for discussion. In connection with the approaching Rugby season, the club hope for a full attendance of members, and any intending members will be heartily welcomed. Any information pertaining to the above club may be had by communicating with J. H. Thomas, secretary, 60 Gloucester street, city.

BASKETBALL

On Thursday night next West End seniors will make their final appearance before going to Hamilton to play off for the O.E.A. championship. Varsity will be the attraction in a city championship game, and the fans are assured of a fast exhibition of the indoor game, as the students were at their best a week ago, when they defeated Queen's in the intercollegiate series, and the West Enders are going great guns at the present time to win the O.E.A.

A preliminary game is being arranged, which will create a lot of local interest at the "Y." Charlie Day, for the Business Men, has challenged the House League teams to an all-star game.

Don't Overlook These Suits

Roman roads and Roman law have left a deep impress all over continental Europe. Both were established on a sound basis and the legal maxims current in Rome still are found in the text books of modern systems—among these is one "Caveat Emptor"—"let the buyer beware," or as it may be translated, "the buyer's eye is his market." And so it remains after all these long centuries.

Hickey's, 87 Yonge street, is a store that prides itself on adherence to this old world rule. It invites inspection all the time, because it believes and knows that a customer receives fair and courteous treatment he will return to buy. Meantime nothing will be lost by looking over Hickey's remarkable suits at $12.50. To the man who knows it is a matter of wonder why goods so superior in quality and finish could possibly be sold at the price.

TEMPERANCE CAUSE BEFORE GOVERNMENT

Large Deputation Received by Premier at Parliament Buildings. LEGISLATION COMING Premier Says It Will Not Be a Disappointment to the People.

Five hundred advocates of temperance representing the Ontario Alliance swarmed in a body thru the corridors of the parliament buildings yesterday, and gaining a hearing they pressed on the broad stone stairs, urged upon the premier and his cabinet the advisability of prohibiting the sale of liquor during the war.

Premier Hearst, who had been most kindly spoken of as a temperance man, assured the deputation of his whole-hearted sympathy with progress towards the elimination of the traffic. A great proportion had now been thrust upon them with little time for consideration. They all desired reform, but methods of attainment might differ.

Coming to the political aspect he referred to the charges which the Spence brothers had made concerning the alliance of the Conservative party with the liquor traffic, a charge untrue then as now.

Rev. Canon Greene introduced F. S. Spence as the first speaker. Mr. Spence assured that if one stroke of the pen could wipe out the liquor traffic the premier would be the readiest to wield it. He went on to praise the most popular statesman known to Ontario.

In reviewing the history of the agitation Mr. Spence said that a great wave of temperance sentiment was sweeping the world. Russia was quoted as an example, and Nova Scotia, where the temperance cause has surely Ontario desired to keep pace with the 16 states to the south which had gone dry.

The election had been fought between the two parties and men had remained Conservative because they were assured that the government would do better in temperance measures than the opposition. Conservatives now in the house had pledged themselves. Now they said they would do better in temperance measures than the opposition could raise no protest.

Legislation Coming. "If that was a victory for the temperance people it was a victory in spite of my friend, Mr. Spence," said the premier in comment. "Legislation is coming down which will not be disappointing to temperance people."

Ex-Mayor Geo. Less of Hamilton stated that none but the liquor dealers wanted the traffic. Did they come and offer a bribe of blood money? He could name men in his city who stood by the government only because of temperance hopes. He had been a Conservative as long as possible until the question disappeared and he was elected. Hon. W. J. Hawkins also tripped up Hon. H. Spence for the statement in convention that the government were setting their course on solid ground, coming from hotelkeepers only. It was wrong. A trained staff was in charge. The coming legislation would show the advanced position of the government.

Rev. A. S. Grant referred to the drastic move proposed. It was hard to shut the liquor traffic without warning. They wanted action, but they were reasonable men. The meeting closed with God Save the King.

I Never Want to Be Without Them

What Mrs. A. Averon Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Alberta Lady Feels it Her Duty to Tell Her Friends of the Benefit She Has Received From Dodd's Kidney Pills.

FALITH, Alberta, March 5.—(Special.) "I never want to be without Dodd's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. A. Averon, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of this place. "I am an old lady, sixty-eight years of age," Mrs. Averon continues, "and had kidney trouble for twenty years. My heart bothered me, my muscles would cramp and my back ached. Neuritis was added to my troubles. "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that have helped me and I cannot recommend them too highly. I feel it my duty to tell my friends what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for me." Dodd's Kidney Pills are the favorite remedy of the old folks. They cure the kidneys which are the first of the organs of the body to feel the strain of years. By curing the kidneys Dodd's Kidney Pills ensure pure blood and pure blood gives renewed energy all over the body. That's why the old folks say "Dodd's Kidney Pills make me feel young again."

VOTES FOR SOLDIERS SEEM NOT TO BE FEASIBLE. Practical Side of Scheme Presents Many Great Difficulties to Parliamentarians.

OTTAWA, March 5.—The question of giving votes to soldiers at the front, in the event of an election, occupied the attention of the committee on election laws this morning. While it was felt that the right of voting should be extended to every Canadian soldier under arms, the general opinion seemed to be that there was no practical method by which this could be arranged.

The question was raised as to whether it was proposed to give every soldier a vote irrespective of qualifications. "I have made enquiries at the military department," said Hon. Mr. Doherty, "and I find no record has been kept of the place where the men enlisted. The men who went to Valcartier were signed at Valcartier."

"That would give Mr. Casgrain, who represents that constituency, a very large vote," said Mr. Northrup. "Mr. Doherty stated that the enrollment lists gave place of birth and next of kin but nothing else. "We could give the vote to all those on the voters' list," suggested Mr. Glahorne.

"How could we get at them?" asked Mr. Northrup. "Some of them are in England, some in France, some in Belgium, some in Italy, and at the Dardanelles, and some may be dead or wounded. It seems impossible to do anything."

SOME BOUDOIR CAPS

Endless Variety Made of Dainty Material Being Chosen.

Among the attractions still in stock for Redfern's sale is a department of variegated neckwear in many styles, in the latest cut and at prices from 25 cents up. One collar in pleated net stands high at back, finishing with narrow black velvet band and small erose at throat.

Another very becoming type of collar is the "Debutante." This is fashioned from accordion-pleated lace, and silk tulle, standing high at the back and fastened about the throat with a narrow black velvet band, finished at the side with a small velvet rose in the wearer's favorite color.

Very high plain pleated ruffles are a fad. These circle the throat and fasten at the back. The ruffles are deep enough to turn softly from the face and are worn either under a high military collar, or with the military fronted coat. Smart ties are much in evidence, coming in plain black velvet of the cravat variety, the soft crepe of chine scarf, and conspicuous plaid affairs which are pronounced chic and quite "nobby."

Winter—and Haunting Fragrance from Those Street Sold Violets

By WINFRED BLACK
Copyright, 1915, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

THEY'RE in the market again, in the streets—the violets.

How sweet they make the air.

Yesterday I hurried down a crowded avenue. There were many women walking there, women with tired eyes, women with strange faces, women painted and women founced and furbelowed, and little weary women with haggard looks, and tired girls out of the shops.

And there were men there, too, hawk-eyed men, with eager faces, discouraged men with failure written all over them; sleek men, prosperous and snug—men and women—in a great city.

Suddenly it all faded—the hurrying street—and I was in the woods again, the little strip of woods that edged the little village where I lived before I knew what a great city looked like. And there were five of us together—the red-haired girl who was clever, and the black-haired girl who was kind, and the brown-haired girl who was always a little spiteful, and the easy-going, good-natured boy who was always following us—and I.

Wildflowers of the Woods.

And it was spring, and the ground was soggy under our feet, and the boy carried a stout knife and cut bark from the slippery elm, only we didn't call it elm—it was a woman grown before I knew that "slippery elm" had anything to do with an elm tree—and we hunted for blood root and sasaparilla. And all around us in the sheltered nooks where the snow had only melted yesterday they sprung, the wild flowers of the woods.

Erythronium and anemone and spring beauties—"painted ladies," we called the spring beauties sometimes. I'm glad I never learned their botanical names, and how many stamens and pistils they had, and what family they belong to.

And there was moss there, too. What's become of all the moss? We never see it anywhere nowadays, and we used to fill baskets with it, and think it was so pretty. And once in a while we found an Indian tobacco pipe, a tiny, tiny pipe, as white as ivory and as brittle; and then the good-natured boy broke it off and pretended to smoke it, and we all looked him and he pretended to "not mind" and chucked us. And we ran home at night, with wet feet and muddy shoes and mussed frocks, but, oh, the spring was in our hearts, and in our hands we held wild flowers from the woods.

These Violets Never Fade.

She's a Greek professor now, the red-headed girl who was clever, and the black-haired girl who was kind has stayed kind through all her troubles and her joys, and the brown-haired girl is sometimes a little spiteful still, but only on the surface, for if you are in real trouble she would walk the world around to help you.

And the good-natured, laughing boy laughed himself into a good deal of trouble and out of it again. He's still good-natured, and still a boy—and always will be. I wonder if his children go down into the woods to pick spring flowers.

And it all came back to me again today in the winter streets of a great city, just because a hawk-nosed man stopped and held before me a tray of purple wood violets.

"Here's rosemary, that's for remembrance," says poor Ophelia in the play. "I would give you some violets, but they withered when my father died."

All the other flowers fade and die.

All the others wither, the gorgeous blossoms from the hothouse, the splendid flowers from the conservatory, but, oh, they never really fade—the wild violets that grew in the spring woods long and long ago.

Diary of a Well-Dressed Girl

By SYLVIA GERARD

MAKING A FROCK FOR BOTH HOUSE AND STREET WEAR.

I WENT sauntering down town just after breakfast this morning, like the bear who came over the mountain to see what he could see.

I was in search of ideas to use when Mrs. Mathon comes to make my one-piece frocks. It is so hard to get something suitable for both house and street wear.

Aunt Kathryn sent me three dress patterns of silk. The prettiest piece is a chiton taffeta in a quaint striped design. The background is pale tan and the stripes are formed of tiny, rose-colored flowers.

The second pattern is a black and white checked taffeta, which every one seems to think will be one of the popular materials for spring wear, and the last is a natural colored shantung with a small flower design embroidered in tones of blue, green and red.

I think there is enough of this to make a three-piece costume.

The extreme edge of the skirt is trimmed with two gathered ruffles of the silk, and 12 inches above are three more other.

None of the skirts are so unbecomingly short as they have been this winter, and this skirt is the modish ankle length.

The frock is very plain, almost suggesting the calico or gingham dress of our great-aunts, but I like it and feel sure that my striped silk will be very attractive made in this manner.

Many of the skirts of the edge of the skirt or long tunic. The scallops are bound with bias folds of the material or trimmed with narrow pleated trills.

Many of the skirts are from three to six tiered and scallops seem to be favorite mode of trimming.

I am fascinated by the old-fashioned trimsings used—the flat bowknives in the ribbon and velvet, the appliqued flowers, the smoking, crows' embroidery and bands of corded shirring. I wish that I had a grandmother to teach me how to do the wonderful handwork with which they trimmed their frocks. Every smart frock at present boasts of its bit of handwork.

Old-Fashioned Frock of Striped Taffeta.

The shops were filled with lovely frocks and I sketched several of them. One in particular pleased my fancy, for it is a replica of the old-fashioned frocks one sees so often in family albums.

I'm going to use the idea to make my striped silk. The bodice of this frock is as simple as it can be. The neck is rounded and trimmed with a gathered frill of the silk, with a bowknit of black ribbon velvet in front.

The long, full sleeves are gathered in about the wrists to form frills, which fall over the hands.

A waist of black ribbon velvet, tied in a bow at the back, defines the normal waist line. From beneath this falls the full skirt, which is gathered about the waist.

The Good-Night Story

THE GLASS BALL : By Vernon Merry

MANY hundreds of years ago there lived a beautiful princess. One day she tossed the toy into the air she would run and catch it again, but one time she threw it too far and it fell into the water.

The princess tried in every way to recover the ball, but it was not to be found. Then she sat down and began to weep. Soon she heard a voice say, "Do not weep so sorrowfully, lovely princess. I will find the ball for you, if you will grant me one promise."

The princess looked about until she discovered that the voice came from a huge fish.

"Only give me back my glass ball and I'll promise anything," said the princess.

The fish disappeared and returned with the ball in his mouth.

The princess laughed and thanked the fish, who then said, "Come here tomorrow at noon and I'll tell you who I want you to be."

The next day the princess came to the stream on the very minute of noon and the fish was waiting.

"Eat a few leaves of the water-cress," he commanded, "and then jump into the stream. Do not be afraid, for the water will not harm you."

The princess did as she was told and found herself going down, down, down through the water. When she finally stopped she stood before a wonderful palace built of crystal and jewels.

"Now before we enter the castle, take the sharp stone lying there at your feet and cut off my head," said the fish.

Of course the princess did not want to do this, but the fish begged so hard that she finally cut off his head.

No sooner was the head severed than the fish turned into a handsome young prince.

"You have freed me from the enchantment of the Magician of the Mountain, who transformed me into a fish two years ago," he said. "We can be married at once, the feast is already spread in the banquet-hall, and my parents are waiting to welcome you."

So they entered the palace and the wedding was celebrated with great pomp and splendor.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN MATRIMONY

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

The Home Coming.

SO after an absence of several months in our lives which we were likely never to forget, Mary and I reached home.

"Is home a place or a feeling?" I asked to Mary as the train began to crawl through a landscape dotted with familiar landmarks.

"A feeling," said Mary promptly, "that leads to a place."

"I like that way of putting it," I said, and I was, in all honesty, a little surprised at the ready aptness of Mary's reply.

"I was—simply—myself," said Mary.

"To my surprise Mary colored, and with one of the pretty impulses that arouse the protective tenderness of all men, patted me with a curiously gentle caress, a caress that seemed a little maternal.

"I was—simply—myself," said Mary.

"You mean," I asked, "that you were comfortable and said what you thought?"

"I am fascinated by the old-fashioned trimsings used—the flat bowknives in the ribbon and velvet, the appliqued flowers, the smoking, crows' embroidery and bands of corded shirring. I wish that I had a grandmother to teach me how to do the wonderful handwork with which they trimmed their frocks. Every smart frock at present boasts of its bit of handwork."

Drink Plenty of Water If You Want Rosy Cheeks

By LUCREZIA BORI

HERE IS NO gain saying the allurements of a rosy cheeks, the beauty and youth. The only way to obtain naturally rosy cheeks is to build up the system so that perfect health is the result.

There must be a sufficient quantity of good red blood in the veins to food the surface under which will glow with life and beauty.

Take plenty of exercise and drink plenty of water if your skin is to be rosy cheeks. To say that a long walk and drinking three pints of water will make any woman beautiful would be an exaggeration, but to promise that it will be a wonderful aid in increasing good looks is a perfectly true statement.

Water properly taken will flush the complexion. In order to obtain quick results the water must not be taken with meals, for in this case it dilutes the gastric juices and causes indigestion, which usually results in pimples and other disfiguring blemishes on the skin.

Water Drinking Times.

Drink the water between meals, a glass at a time, sipping it slowly. Have the water cool, but not cold, as the latter reduces the temperature of the stomach to such an extent that digestion is impaired.

I have heard many business girls make the assertion that they get no opportunity to drink water during the day. But it is always possible to keep a glass of water on your desk where it can be easily reached. If you realized how beneficial the habit of water drinking is to the complexion, you would make it a rigid rule to drink three pints of water a day.

In order to obtain red cheeks the blood must be brought to the surface of the skin, and there are many methods of luring this flush of health.

A friend of mine always rubs her cheeks vigorously with a rubber wash cloth which slips over her hand and resembles a flesh brush. The flush remains for several hours.

If you have an absolutely colorless skin which no amount of exercise or water drinking will tinge with color.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are girls about 19 years of age. It seems as if we can never rest peace, if we ever do, after being out with them one evening they never ask to see us again, or if they do, it is only to tell us that we are not good looking, and do not interest them toward them. One Wednesday evening about a month ago we met two young men, and they were to call us up and make an appointment with us, but, as usual, they never called up. We have met them since then and they spoke quite nicely but walked on.

IRENE AND JEAN.

WHAT in the world is the matter with you girls? I can understand a girl who is in love with some particular man, and who grieves because he does not seem to care for her. She's foolish, but her folly is at least comprehensible.

You two don't want any particular man, you just want "fellows."

I don't wonder that sensible men don't want to have anything to do with you. They're afraid of you, and they have reason to be.

You're just the sort of girls who take the slightest courtesy for a declaration of love and want to make a man marry you if he happens to pick up your sleeve or to remark courteously that it is a pleasant evening.

Don't be so crazy for a "fellow," and the real fellow may take some real sort of interest in you.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest. Papers and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care of this office.

Why Woolen Underwear Breeds Shivers and Colds

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSBERG
A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

A FRENCH officer, wounded and in the Havre Hospital, says that the English and the Irish are the bravest fighting people in the world, but in the matter of woolen underwear they are more than molly-coddles. He might have added "also the Americans," and he would have been correct to the letter.

There can be no doubt that the fetic, duly encouraged by the woolen mills and clothing manufacturers, of more than bundling up the flesh is worse than idol-worshipping. Heat, instead of being kept within the human body, is thus dissipated into the surrounding air.

Heat is controlled in the human tissues by the food which enters the body and the muscular efforts which chemical energy explode "calories," or heat units, which accumulate. Heat leaves the body mostly by radiation from the skin. Seventy-three per cent of the heat dissipated goes from the skin and membranes in this fashion. The rest leaves in the waste-perpiration, respiration, etc.

When the surrounding air is nearly 100 degrees in the shade, perspiration increases, and we still lose little if any heat. The heat is thus mixed with the steam which is at nearly equal temperatures. At all other times we lose heat to the atmosphere. The lower the temperature the more we would lose if it were not for an automatic and mechanical adjustment which spontaneously takes place.

Each spot in the skin and elsewhere is supplied with arteries, veins and lymph vessels. Each of these channels has tiny muscles which are elastic. They shrink and dilate and in this fashion augment or reduce the supply of hot blood to the area concerned.

When the skin is heated either by the tropics or by a fire, the arteries and veins are broken up. The skin becomes flabby and inelastic. Heated blood is retained too long in the extremities.

The outcome of this is that a moderately warm room is too cold for such a skin. The skin holds too much heat. It is broken up. The skin becomes flabby and inelastic. Heated blood is retained too long in the extremities.

Often a shiver will then occur as nature strives, momentarily, to bring about a balance.

Answers to Health Questions.

M. P. R.—Q—What will cure me if talking in my sleep?

A—Overexertion, excitement, constipation or worry may cause this. You should retire earlier, obtain more rest during the day, have your room well ventilated, and drink plenty of fresh milk and water. Eat lots of green vegetables, fruit and cereals. Do not eat anything before retiring.

L. M.—Q—What can be used for frequent perspiration under the arms?

A—Nigral ointment, zinc oxide, glycerine and peroxide are all very good washes for frequent perspiration.

E. S. R.—Q—Is it possible to drink too much water?

A—You can hardly drink too much water. Three quarts a day is not too much.

J. R. H.—Q—Is there any cure for pyorrhea?

A—Have the teeth cleaned out, apply fluoride to the gums, and take increasing doses of iodine of potassium internally.

Dr. Hirsberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe, or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is of general interest letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirsberg, care of this office.

NOVELS IN A NUT-SHELL

Condensed by AUGUSTA SHELBY.

Jane Porter's "THADDEUS OF WARSAW."

THADDEUS, a young Polish nobleman, was the last of the descendants of John Sobieski, the famous king of Poland and conqueror of the Turks.

He was a youth of exceptional qualities; noble, brave, generous and much loved by all with whom he came in contact.

When he was 19 Poland was invaded by Russia and her allies, and he decided to join the army with his grandfather, Count Palatin of Masovia, and King Stanislaus to save his country from the enemy.

Before he departed upon the campaign his mother gave him a letter which reveals to him the name of his father, which, up until this time, he has never heard. It appeared that the Countess Sobieski, while in Italy, had secretly married a Mr. Sackville of England, who had mysteriously deserted her a few months later.

When the child Thaddeus was born his grandfather insisted that he should not be given the name of the faithless husband, but should bear the illustrious name of Sobieski.

Thaddeus and the count joined the Polish forces and were comrades of the great patriot, Kosciuszko, and all three won the admiration of the world for their feats of bravery in defence of their beleaguered country. But it was to no avail. The troops fought hard and gallantly, only to be routed, and in a severe conflict the old count was slain.

The heart-broken lad returned to Warsaw to defend his mother and her ancestral castle, but reached home only in time for her to die in his arms.

In the midst of his great grief he was forced to witness the burning of Warsaw and of the palace of the Sobieskis. Devastated Poland was divided among her enemies, and all the nobles were exiled.

The unhappy Thaddeus departed for England with a number of other Polish refugees, and lived there in obscurity, concealing his identity under the name of "Mr. Constantine."

Before He Departed His Mother Gave Him a Letter.

The new-found parent exerted every effort to make restitution for his years of neglect, and finally won the love of the forsaking Thaddeus.

Sir Robert gave Thaddeus estates of great value, and in the course of a few months he married the lovely Mary.

Thus the life of the proud, exiled Polish refugee ended happily.
