EUROPE RINGS WITH PRAISE OF SIR EDWARD

The British Minister Is Man Who Kept Off War

GOOD WORDS FOR GERMANY

Sir Wm. Ramsay Sees Strong Guarantee For Future Peace of Europe—The Women and The Bombs—Rumors of Minor Discussions in British Cabinet

(Times' Special Cable). London, May 9.—At Europe today rings with the praises of Sir Edward Grey, whose diplomatic skill and authority are recognized as the main factor in avoiding the scourge of a general European war.

RIGHT: MR. SIR EDWARD GREY

From Italy, which is planning to be Austria's war partner, there now comes noteworthy tributes to England's foreign minister. The Corriere della Sera, an Italian newspaper of the highest standing and widest circulation, describes him as "the guardian angel of the peace of Europe."

Sir William Ramsay in a notable Romanesque lecture at Oxford on Thursday outlined the possibilities of the concert of Europe which had now been maintained, peace being taken as a permanent fixture for in continental evolution. Certainly the exhibition of united strength given by the powers in conference in London which recent years have seen and makes hasty national aggressive war more difficult than ever before.

Scotland Yard regards Tuesday's attempted bomb outrage in St. Paul's as a "serious" matter. The police have been diligent in their search for the bomber, and it is believed that the man who was seen in the vicinity of the church at the time of the explosion is the same man who was seen in the vicinity of the church at the time of the explosion.

There are many rumors of minor discussions in the cabinet regarding the future of the League of Nations. It is believed that the government is leaning towards a policy of non-interference in the affairs of other nations, and that the League of Nations will be regarded as a purely advisory body.

Mr. Burns has announced his intention to resign from the cabinet. He has been in the cabinet for some time, and has done much to advance the interests of the country. His resignation is expected to be accepted by the government.

GIRL SWEEPED TO DEATH OVER FALLS

Tragic Death of Nineteen Year Old Beatrice Allen of Calais At Machias

Machias, May 10.—A tragic drowning accident—one of the most heart-rending here into Thursday afternoon, when Miss Beatrice Allen, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen of Calais, a student in the Washington Normal school, fell into the mill pond from a boom while crossing the river after school.

They had nearly gained the opposite shore and safety, when a plank, which had been nailed into the boom, broke and Miss Allen went into the water. The current was swift and it is believed that she could not reach her chum, rushed back across the boom calling at the top of her voice.

TAGGERS ARE WELL RECEIVED

Workers For The Kindergartens Find Citizens Generally Willing to Contribute

Workers for the Free Kindergartens were busy about the streets of the city today and their various efforts are expected to net a tidy sum for these institutions. The taggers, who are small girls and boys, and single and married women, were to be found in all sections of the city with their little money boxes and their bundles of tags. The amount realized last year by the kindergartens tag-day workers was a little more than $1,000, but more is needed this year, and it was hoped that today's campaign would be successful in this respect.

SENSATIONAL TIME AS THE GAG IS APPLIED

MR. BORDEN THEN AND NOW

Mr. Borden at an early hour this morning applied the gag in the parliament of Canada to enforce the policy of tribute as the naval policy of this country. Here as what Mr. Borden said about that policy in London on July 16, 1909, as reported by the London Times: "I am aware that some feeling has been created in the British Isles owing to the fact that Canada did not by resolution of the chamber of commerce vote in favour of the offer of one, two or three Dreadnoughts. I think the resolution in the form in which it was passed, while its terms might not upon the surface seem as significant at the moment as the offer of one or two Dreadnoughts would have been, laid down a permanent policy for the Dominion of Canada upon which both parties united and which would serve a more practical purpose than any such offer of Dreadnoughts. The effect of the resolution was to make any sacrifice necessary for the purpose of co-operating with the imperial navy in maintaining the integrity of the empire and its naval supremacy."

ALBERTA SEAT RESTS ON COURT DECISION

Edmonton, Alb., May 10.—Great public interest is shown in an application in the Alberta supreme court for a mandamus compelling John McKeen, returning officer in the electoral division of Clearwater to count five disputed ballots allowed by the courts of inquiry. Four of the five ballots are claimed by A. Williamson Taylor, Conservative candidate, to have been cast for him. Taylor was only one vote behind H. W. McKenney, Liberal, and the disposition of the seat depends on the decision of the court.

The Crisp, Tasty Toast

Food science has taught us that there is much body-building nutriment in the whole wheat grain which we do not get in white flour. The only question is how to make the whole wheat grain digestible. That problem has been solved in the making of

12 Tumors Removed Without an Operation

Dear Mrs. Currah.—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have some of the old symptoms, I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors of growth of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and I can not describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise E. Bette-ridge.

A QUICK RUN TO BOSTON. A quick trip from Salmon River, N. S., ended with the arrival of the British schooner Annie, Captain Donohoe at Boston on Thursday. She made the run in two days, having been favored with easterly breezes most of the way. The vessel had 16,000 feet of spruce piling, eighty dozen of eggs, three barrels and two bags of potatoes.

The Constitution of the United States recognizes civilized Indians as citizens, but the right to vote is conferred and regulated by the states. In Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, civilized Indians of legal age can vote; in Oklahoma they vote like whites; in North Dakota Indians who have two years severed their tribal relations; in Minnesota, after an examination by the courts, but in a few states Indians not taxed cannot vote.

Daily Hints For the Cook

MACARONI WITH HAM. Put in a buttered pudding dish boiled macaroni in layers, with minced ham. Season the ham with a little mustard or finely chopped onion. Beat one egg and mix with one cup of milk pour over all and bake in a quick oven for ten minutes. NEW ENGLAND PAN DOWDY. This recipe is more than 100 years old: Butter a baking kettle or some kind of iron kettle. Make a pie-crust, put in leaving a small piece at bottom without a crust. Slice or quarter some good apples, then a few strips of crust and some more apples if you can. Sweeten it with a large cup of maple syrup. A few slices of salt pork improves it and a little elder. Cover the whole with a pie-crust. Keep steam in by being well covered. Cook at least three hours over a slow fire and stir it. Maple syrup was used, but brown sugar or white sugar and a little molasses will preserve the old-fashioned flavor.

Editor Times-Star—

Sir—According to a statement in the Cotton Factory Times, published at Ashton Under Lyne, Lancashire, Eng., Mr. Cudlip, manager of the St. John cotton mill, is credited with the following remark:

"To the best of his knowledge no one in their employ had been asked to pay the head tax."

Why, I should like to ask, is an employer of the Canadian Cottons Ltd. or any other mill in this country, who employs men who vanish in the capital every year. But they cannot. Some time ago two girls started a law suit together in hanging pictures and they found that they had run short of money. The girls were told to go to the bank and get a loan, but they were refused. They then went to the bank and asked for a loan, but they were refused. They then went to the bank and asked for a loan, but they were refused.

MANY EACH YEAR LOST IN LONDON

Metropolis is Best Hiding Place In World

SOME NOTABLE CASES

Great City Where Neighbor Does Not Know Neighbor and Where Many People Disappear Day—Vain Searching

(James Sheriker in Weekly Express.)

"Penny," says Lodge, "all them smart police in London and can't trace a well-known man who's been missing nearly a fortnight. An' a millionaire too. It's vot I've always said—London's shamefully when they're on the test they're no better 'n we are in the country."

Poor old Lodge! It will be news to him and to many others that on the day that Joseph Wilberforce Martin disappeared in London somewhere about fifty other persons vanished also. A similar number were lost the day before, and a similar number the day after. But nothing appeared in the papers about them. London is great in everything, even in the number of the lost. The capital does not count and boast about its mysteries, else we should be more awed than ever at its immensity. It is so only when something of the grim fact that somewhere about 2000 people disappear every twelve months within the area looked after by Scotland Yard.

Hiding in London

Many of the missing persons turn up in a large number are lost to their friends and relatives for all time. London is the best place on earth for a man to hide. It is the most mysterious and most wonderful maze ever inhabited by man. To look in London for a friend who has disappeared is like looking for a needle in a haystack, or a diamond in a desert, or a pearl in the Pacific Ocean. One can live in London a life-time and travel about it and not know one-tenth of its people. Within the last twenty years quite twenty murders have been committed in London which have gone untraced. You may be quite sure that the murderers are alive, are in London. They are probably living very near to police stations, for it is a popular and a profitable belief among criminals that if you want to keep your name out of the papers you must pitch your tent close to the peg on which the bracelets hang.

The London detectives would be proud indeed if they could only halt and seize upon a man who vanishes in the capital every year. But they cannot. Some time ago two girls started a law suit together in hanging pictures and they found that they had run short of money. The girls were told to go to the bank and get a loan, but they were refused. They then went to the bank and asked for a loan, but they were refused. They then went to the bank and asked for a loan, but they were refused.

Vain also were the efforts to trace a girl who came up from the north of England to a northern suburb. It is known that she reached King's Cross safely, but there was no sign of her. Her husband has gone, and she has not been heard of since.

There was the young solicitor who left his chambers in the north of London for a morning last year and was never seen again. Everything humanly possible was done to trace him, but all in vain.

Old 'Emms'

I know an old lady who has been trying to find her missing husband for thirty years. She lives at Hammerhead in the capital, where neighbors, so far from being friendly, are terribly suspicious of one another, a charge of a murder of one another, a charge of a murder of one without being discovered. If London would only be a little less of a mystery city, a little of the countrywoman's friendly chat at the green-grocer's cart and the fishmonger's barrow over the garden do" habit on the stairs or over the garden fence, a little of the countrywoman's friendly chat at the green-grocer's cart and the fishmonger's barrow over the garden do" habit on the stairs or over the garden fence, a little of the countrywoman's friendly chat at the green-grocer's cart and the fishmonger's barrow over the garden do" habit on the stairs or over the garden fence.

If you want to acquaint yourself with the tragedy of London's lost go one morning to the river. Last night a paragraph appeared in the newspapers about the body of an unknown person having been taken from the Thames. It was conveyed to a mortuary. Look at the searcher—rich as well as poor, high as well as low, well dressed as well as ragged. They have all lost someone—a parent, brother, sister, son, daughter. As they creep into the mortuary you can see fear tracing the letters of his name across their countenances. They want to find the missing one, but not here. "Thank God!" an elderly lady says as she turns from the slab. Shivering in her agitation she enters her motor-car and is driven quickly away. But she will come tomorrow. A loved one is missing and she knows that the Thames has solved some of London's biggest mysteries.

A friend of mine, a private detective, is making quite a little fortune in London for no other reason than that it is a land of mystery and suspicion. Who ever heard of a countrywoman becoming suspicious of her husband to the extent of having him watched by a detective? But in London this is common, because the capital is a great showdowland with millions of hiding places and millions of bodies protected by the wrongdoer from the public eye. That young friend of yours who is flushed with ambition and means to come to town to make his fortune—if he should fall he need not feel ashamed a bit. If he wants to hide—well, London will find a corner for him. And nobody will ever find him until he wishes them to. London is as mysterious as she is great.

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE SPRING Do Not Use Harsh Purgatives—A Tonic is All You Need. Not exactly sick—but not feeling quite well. That is the way most people feel in the spring. Easily tired, appetite fickle, sometimes headaches, and a feeling of depression. Pimples or eruptions may appear on the skin, or there may be twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into more serious trouble. Do not dose yourself with purgatives, as so many people do, in the hope that you can put your blood right. Purgatives gallop through the system and weaken instead of giving strength. Every dose of this medicine makes new blood which cleans the skin, strengthens the appetite and makes tired, depressed men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Maude Bagg, Lumbert, Sask., says: "I can unhesitatingly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood-builder and tonic. I was very much run down when I began using the Pills and a few boxes fully restored my health. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

NEW PROGRAMME TODAY The Knickerbocker Tabloid Musical Comedy Company, which has been attracting large audiences to the Opera House this week will close its engagement this evening. The company will present an all new programme today. "Doctor Dippy" is a comedy with abundance of music and laughter.

They are a mild laxative that will regulate the stomach and bowels and will thus ward off sickness and will keep baby happy, healthy and strong. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER FACTORY FOR ST. JOHN Application is to be made at once for the incorporation of the Molson Company of Canada, capitalized at $300,000, and a factory, which will ultimately employ several hundred hands, will be erected at all probability at St. John. Arrangements have been completed by John Prosser, managing director, and Benjamin Horton, chairman of the Molson Company of Greenwald, London, who arrived in the city on Wednesday. L. B. Knight will be president of the company; L. C. Prosser, general manager; W. J. McAuley, secretary-treasurer; F. R. Taylor, legal adviser. The chairman, Mr. Horton, says the location of their factory depends upon the facility with which raw material can be secured, and St. John seems to offer the best opportunity. Messrs. Prosser and Horton left this morning for Boston to arrange for the organization of a company to carry on the business in the United States.

What The Playhouses Offer GOOD PROGRAMME AT THE UNIQUE The Unique Theatre is making a special effort to draw eyes to it, especially the tired house-cleaner and business man and is presenting an excellent class of pictures. The programme now being shown represents some of the best things being produced. Comedy is the strong element, two being on the bill. "The Two Widows" is a screaming farce, and "Fooling Fickle Father," a close second to the first, as it contains plenty of material for hearty laughter. The Littles Eyes is a sensational historical drama, while the coming of Bunbean, a pretty waltz story, adds much to the worth of the programme.

BONNIE SISTERS AT LYRIC Not for a long time has the Lyric Theatre presented such a pleasing attraction as the Bonnie Sisters now appearing there. These ladies have a vaudeville offering of refinement and talent and well merit the hearty applause they receive at each performance. They open the act in a neat song and dance, after which a pleasing serio comic number is exploited in "Whistling Jim," a rollicking song which requires the assistance of the audience to give it a desired swing. After this, one of the ladies displays her ability as a dancer, and this is one of the most pleasing numbers in the programme.

"Here Comes My Daddy," a New York song novelty, is then introduced and allows the performer scope to impersonate a chorus girl expecting the arrival of her "Daddy" after an absence of a day or two. The act is brought to a close by a very pretty dance by both ladies. Some beautiful costumes are worn, while the personality of both young ladies is decidedly pleasing. The offering is an well worth seeing. There are three pictures on the programme, a combination of comedy and drama. The little village of St. Martin d'Ordon, France, in the Yonne Department, which has a postoffice and a telegraph, has refused to have a telephone put in. "If the telephone be put in," says the village council, "we shall refuse to use it. When we are in a hurry we can use the telegraph."

The fact that Premier Borden has promised to introduce in the Dominion parliament a bill prohibiting the manufacture, importation or sale of cigarettes in Canada was given publicity at the convention of the Hôchelega County W. C. T. U. in Montreal yesterday. Six members of the crew of the steamer Teppier were burned to death last night by a fire which destroyed the vessel at Canoe Pass, B. C. The Miramichi Lumber Co. drive on the north branch of the Taux River, hung up and it is feared that the drive in the south branch will have to be abandoned. MORNING LOGALS The secretary of the Board of Trade has been conducting negotiations to arrange a trip of business men from Ontario and Quebec to St. John. The advertising and new industries committee met yesterday to make plans for an extensive advertising campaign. The council of the board decided yesterday to send a telegram to Hon. J. D. Hasen thanking him for the attention he had given the local delegation. The cases against Miles Carroll and John J. Keller were continued yesterday afternoon in the police court and were again postponed until Tuesday afternoon. The evidence of Dr. Travis, Edward McDonald, John Collins and Frederick Munro was taken. Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., and K. J. MacRae are appearing for the defendants. Detective Patrick Killen left last night for New York to bring back R. D. Isaacs wanted here in connection with real estate deals. L. C. Daigle, dairy superintendent was in the city last night and said that arrangements had been completed for the establishment of a central creamery in Madawaska county.

ULCERATED TOOTH BROUGHT DEATH Washington, May 10—Physicians are puzzled by the strange death of Edward Beverly Slater, a lawyer of Maryland and Virginia, who died here of an infection of the brain due to an ulcerated tooth. Mr. Slater, who was 50 years old entered a local hospital three months ago suffering from what appeared a minor ailment and one which it was expected would yield readily to medical and dental treatment. Despite all that could be done however, the infection spread from the jaw to the brain and death resulted.

When you ask for HERPicide FOR YOUR HAIR, DON'T BE TALKED OUT OF IT If you knew it, you would not willingly accept counterfeit money. Instead, you would probably raise a disturbance and seek some means of redress. Why, then, accept a preparation said to be "just as good as Newbro's Herpicide"? You know it is a counterfeit, an imitation of the real thing. You want "the original dandruff germ destroyer," Herpicide, and you can get it, too, if you insist. Redness is always possible in such an instance. The most effective method is to trade where you get what you ask for and no suggestions offered. With the elimination of the dandruff, the hair stops falling and is permitted to resume its natural growth and beauty. Such results follow the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. A counterfeit article is never "just as good." Applications may be obtained at all good barber shops and hair dressers. Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet on the care of the hair to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Newbro's Herpicide in 50c. and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. E. Clinton Brown, special agent.

LONDON MYSTERY OF 21 YEARS STILL UNSOLVED Banker Bridgeman Disappeared on Eve of Wedding—Another Woman is the Case? London, May 10—The 21-year-old mystery of the disappearance of William Robertson Liddell, a banker of 11, was solved by Miss Elizabeth Chapman, in whose favor he had made a will. Mr. Liddell drew $8,000 in bank notes from his private banking account and journeyed to London, where it is said, he met Miss Vining. It was said that he boarded Miss Vining's yacht Foresight and a year later a death notice appeared in the London newspapers saying he had died on the yacht as the result of an accident. Miss Vining had been described as a wealthy and eccentric dame. Numerous advertisements have appeared in the newspapers asking for proofs of Mr. Liddell's death, but have produced no replies. Miss Vining is said to be still living, but where is now seems to know. The heirs of Mr. Liddell are now seeking to prove his death in order to secure a life insurance of $10,000. The judge said it was becoming more evident that the banker's disappearance was connected with Miss Vining and the yacht Foresight. The hearing was adjourned.

LITTLE BOY KILLED ON WAY FROM THE CANDY STORE Saco, Me., May 10—Sheridan Armstrong 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Armstrong of Lincoln street was run over by a two-horse hitch driven by Maxine Hope, an expressman, and his head was crushed. He was taken to the Trull Hospital, where he died. Young Armstrong, who was visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Rose A. Cavanaugh in Hiddesford, went to a store after candy. While he was returning he ran under the wheels of the cart. It is said the expressman did not see him.

WHEN YOU ASK FOR HERPicide FOR YOUR HAIR, DON'T BE TALKED OUT OF IT If you knew it, you would not willingly accept counterfeit money. Instead, you would probably raise a disturbance and seek some means of redress. Why, then, accept a preparation said to be "just as good as Newbro's Herpicide"? You know it is a counterfeit, an imitation of the real thing. You want "the original dandruff germ destroyer," Herpicide, and you can get it, too, if you insist. Redness is always possible in such an instance. The most effective method is to trade where you get what you ask for and no suggestions offered. With the elimination of the dandruff, the hair stops falling and is permitted to resume its natural growth and beauty. Such results follow the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. A counterfeit article is never "just as good." Applications may be obtained at all good barber shops and hair dressers. Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet on the care of the hair to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Newbro's Herpicide in 50c. and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. E. Clinton Brown, special agent.

DEATH ATTENDS ON MCADAM FIRE Fire broke out at 1240 on May 3 at the two story building of Thomas Evans, at McAdam Junction, and occupied by Mr. Evans himself on the ground floor, and by Joseph Manship on the upper floor. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The C. P. R. shop fire brigades responded very promptly and rendered valuable assistance in saving the large dwelling annexed to the property destroyed. The total damage was about $2,000 with $1,200 insurance.

"CHUCK" CONNORS IS DEAD

New York, May 10-"Chuck" Connors is dead. The picturesque character of the old Bowery, best known, perhaps, as the "Mayor of Chinatown," died of heart disease today.

The secrets of Chinatown had been his for many years. His warring tongue declared a truce when the news of his death became known.

WILKIE SASKATCHEWAN

Is the Fastest Growing Town in Canada

The tables below illustrate at a glance the growth of Wilkie in the past few years:

POPULATION table with columns for year and population count.

ASSESSMENT table with columns for year and assessed value.

During the year 1912 over 70 residences, 14 business houses, School house, Churches and additions to the Round House were completed at a total cost of $293,800, thus equalling Canadian cities and towns with population ranging from 5,000 to 50,000.

WILKIE'S RAILWAYS

Built, Under Construction and Proposed

- C. P. R. Wilkie to Fort McMurray and Peace River
C. P. R. Wilkie to St. Paul and Chicago
C. P. R. Wilkie to Seattle via Calgary

Wilkie, Sask., Feb. 21st, 1913. The Canadian Pacific Railway are calling for tenders for the erection at this point of Engine and Boiler Shops at once. This means much for Wilkie as it only proves that the C. P. Ry. have a great plan for this town. This last call for tenders establishes beyond a doubt Wilkie's claim to being the largest railway divisional point between Winnipeg and the Coast.

The Winnipeg Free Press announced March 20th, 1913: That the Dominion Government would send their purchasing agent to Wilkie to locate the site for a New Post Office, and to erect Wilkie a Customs Port of Entry, at the earliest possible date. It is estimated the building will cost $40,000.00.

Lots purchased in Wilkie about 18 months ago for $600 are being held at the present time at $3,500 and upwards. These conditions existing without any boom. Wilkie values are increasing so rapidly that investors purchasing now are bound to receive large returns from their investments.

We have a limited number of inside lots in the original townsite within a few blocks of the Post Office, new school and industrial site which we are offering at a very low price and easy terms in order to introduce Wilkie investments in this district.

BICYCLE CASE IN COURT

Two boys aged eleven and twelve appeared before Magistrate Ritchie in the juvenile court this morning to answer the charge of stealing two bicycles, the property of Edward Watson and Robert Cochrane. The fathers of the two young lads appeared in court. One boy pleaded guilty and the other not guilty and on the advice of their parents, they elected to be tried before the magistrate without a jury. Several witnesses were heard and the case was postponed until next Saturday morning.

Fred S. Robinson said he borrowed a bicycle from Edward Watson and took it as far as the Y. M. C. A. building, where he left it outside. When he came out the wheel was gone. The next time he saw it was this morning in the guard room. He identified the bicycle.

Robert Cochrane was unable to appear on account of sickness but his father identified the other bicycle as his son's. Roy Putnam, from whom young Cochrane had bought the wheel, also identified it. Edward Watson told of lending the bicycle to Mr. Robinson last week.

BANKERS' TRIBUTE TO LATE MR. HAZEN

Resolutions Adopted By Clearing House Association of St. John at Meeting Yesterday

At a meeting of the Clearing House Association of the City of Saint John, held on Friday, the ninth day of May A. D. 1913, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to remove in the prime of his life Arthur P. Hazen, manager of the Branch of the Bank of British North America, at Montreal, Quebec, and until July of last year for twelve years manager of the Bank of British North America at Saint John, New Brunswick;

And whereas during the period that Mr. Hazen was manager of the bank at Saint John he acted as secretary of the Clearing House Association and so was brought into intimate contact with all of the members of the association, who had an opportunity to know and appreciate his qualities and the admirable manner in which he discharged his duties, both as secretary of the association and as manager of his bank, and fully realized his great ability, his sound judgment, his reliability, his kindness and his merit as a banker and a citizen;

And whereas the association are desirous of placing on record their recognition of the loss that has been sustained by the banking community of Canada and particularly of Saint John with whom he was for twenty years identified with the exception of a brief period;

Be it therefore resolved that the Clearing House Association of Saint John extend to his mother and the members of his family their sincere sympathy for the loss they have sustained, a loss not confined to them, but to the wide circle of friends, amongst whom none knew him better and could appreciate him more than those who have for many years labored with him. His high qualities as a gentleman, as a banker, and as a public spirited citizen will long be held in remembrance. The services which he was always ready to render to his associates, the kindly consideration that he always showed to those with whom he was brought in contact, his indefatigable energy, quickness and apprehension, genial character and eminent talent earned him the respect and affection of all. When questions of difficulty arose his advice and help were first sought and freely given and the association feel that their words can ill express the loss which they have sustained by the death of a friend but the public generally have sustained by his sudden death.

Be it further resolved that this resolution be entered upon the minutes of the association and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Hazen.

E. M. SHADBOLT,
Chairman.

F. J. SHREVE,
Secretary.

A MOTHER'S PLEA

St. John, May 8, 1913.

Sir:—In reading your paper most every night we read something about the white slave traffic, or the white plague. War is being waged against them, but I would like to ask the public what is being done to stop the awful curse of rum-selling? Of the white slave traffic is putting our daughters in danger, what is being done for our sons? I am sure a son should be as dear to a mother's heart as any daughter. The women of India used to throw their children beneath the wheels of the juggernaut as a sacrifice. To me that seems more merciful than what our children are put to. The sufferings of the Hindoo children are soon over, and their little souls are safe; but our children live to have their souls warped and seared and perhaps lost. Some of our women of this city, although their husbands drink, have come from refined homes. They have all the finer feelings of the true woman, and while he can never drag her down to his level, his influence is bound to have its effect sooner or later upon the children. Now a little effort on the part of our commissionaires and the temperance workers and the churches would soon abolish the bottle selling. I am not speaking for prohibition, let a working man get drunk on pay day if he wants to. If he had no bottles of whiskey he would sleep off his debauch. Then his wife could get a chance to go to church on Sunday. The little home would be quiet, where now she is compelled to listen to all sorts of vile talk—not a very pleasant childhood for the children to look back to when they grow to be men and women. I think the public will agree with me that it is no use to try and make the city beautiful by planting trees and flowers while there are over fifty dirty blotches upon it. We try to bring the children up to be good men, and now help us have as so that we can enjoy one day in the week, the Holy Sabbath.

Yours, THE MOTHER OF A FAMILY.

NEARLY BURST.

There was once a farmer named John Burst. He was one day acquainted of the fact that he was the father of triplets. Some time afterwards the curate paid John a visit, and asked after the children. "Are they all well?" he inquired. "Ay, ay, thankie, sir!" "And what are you having them named?" "They were christened a-Friday, six. Their name is—Herbert Wood Burst, Ellen May Burst, Charles Will Burst." "And the curate nearly 'did' burst."

Frank Johnston, of the North End, was knocked down by a horse in Adelaide street last evening. He was crossing the street when the horse struck him. He was shaken up but escaped serious injury.

Miss Jean Cowan, of Main street, will leave this evening for New York, where she will visit her brother for a few weeks.

SUDDEN DEATH AT LONG WHARF

Auguste Poirier Had Just Gone To Work

SALE OF THE VICTORIA

Much Interest in the Matter—North End Boy Succeeding on the Diamond—New Citizens—The Streets

The summons of death came suddenly this morning to Auguste Poirier, who about to begin his day's work at Long Wharf, as he checked in his employer's I. O. K. about the sheds there. He had come down for work a little before nine, but to his associates about the shed he had complained of not feeling well. Suddenly he collapsed and before medical aid could be procured he had passed away. Poirier, 29 years of age, was employed by Shediac, N. B. He came to this city about two or three years ago, and had since then, for the most part, been employed about the wharf front. Of late he had been with the I. O. K. as a checker. Very little is known of him by his fellow-employees at Long Wharf, but it is said that he has a wife residing in the States. He boarded at a house in the North End, and it is unlikely that an inquest will be held, as death was said to be due to heart trouble.

Much interest has been evinced about North End in the purchase of the river steamer Victoria by Frederick and St. John people, as the sale, it is said, brightens the prospects for an improved service along the main coast from Lunenburg to the capital. Thus far the steamer D. J. Purdy has been the only steamer in commission between Fredericton and St. John, and there was a great demand for better accommodation, since she could make a trip only once each day. It was realized that at least two steamers were required to handle the traffic, which, as regards freight particularly, has become very heavy. Placing the Victoria again in service will establish daily connections with the capital.

The "Vic" was built about sixteen years ago for the old Star Line Steamship Co. and has been one of the most satisfactory boats engaged in the river trade. The company which has bought her was organized by Messrs. J. G. Clement, of this city, and E. G. Hoban of Fredericton. The same company own the steamer Hamstead which is engaged in the "high seas" trade, and it is a likely prospect to put the Victoria on the route about June 1.

Many friends in North End will be pleased at learning that "Dinky" Daly, formerly of this city, and who won the laurels as a baseball artist this season by his playing with the last Lowell team in New England professional league. In a Boston Globe dispatch concerning a battle royal at New Bedford, between the Lewis, architect, and Talbert Farrington, accountant, who arrived in the city yesterday, have become much interested with the possibility for development and have decided to stay here rather than go farther west, as was their original plan. They are boarding in High street, North End, and after becoming settled will bring out their families to this city, and it is likely that they will be able to induce more English friends to come to this city to make their homes.

Although they had been in the city but a very few hours, two Englishmen, A. Lewis, architect, and Talbert Farrington, accountant, who arrived in the city yesterday, have become much interested with the possibility for development and have decided to stay here rather than go farther west, as was their original plan. They are boarding in High street, North End, and after becoming settled will bring out their families to this city, and it is likely that they will be able to induce more English friends to come to this city to make their homes.

Although they had decided to migrate to Canada, having heard of the wonderful opportunities to be found in the dominion, they had really not made up their mind as to what part they would go, other than to the "west" until they met George Gray of Main street, who was on a trip to the old country, from which he just returned a short time ago. He spoke of the chances and prospects in St. John, and as a result of his talk, they decided to come here to have a look around if nothing else. They were not in the city five hours until Mr. Farrington had secured a position with a Prince William street firm, and Mr. Lewis expects to be located in an office today.

Citizens of North End, for the most part, are very well pleased with the way in which the streets have been kept since the snow has gone off the ground, for there is noticed a marked improvement in the system employed and the attention paid to the work. While Main street, which is the principal thoroughfare, has been kept in very good condition, there has also been a fair share of attention accorded the residential streets on either side of Main and men from the street department have kept busy with the brush, cart and shovel, looking after them. There has been some complaint from about the lower end of Main street towards Paradise row concerning the mud there, but that is the only section where a discontent note comes.

Friends will sympathize with William O'Connor, of Cedar street, in the loss of his mother, Mrs. Mary O'Connor, whose death occurred in Brewer, Me., on Wednesday. He is now in Brewer to attend the funeral.

HORNUNG'S PEN IS BUSY AGAIN

More Stories in the "Raffles" Vein

CALLS THEM THE "CRIME DOCTOR"

He Came Near Being Killed in Villa Once Occupied by Lucullus—Sir A. Conan Doyle Cross-examines in Sherlock Fashion

(Times Special Correspondence) London, April 26.—There is at least one distinguished English sojourner in Italy who does not echo Browning's famous cry, "Oh, to be in England, now that April's here!" and that sojourner is R. W. Hornung, who gave us the engaging Raffles.

Hornung is in Rome and entirely content to be there, judging by a letter which he sent to his friend recently from him. He looks the Eternal City as a place for a literary man to work in. He says the air there acts in his case as a brain tonic. Hornung is now making rapid progress on a new series of short stories which he calls "The Crime Doctor," and which give promise of being the most striking of his work. He has done since "The Amateur Crackman." He has wintered in Italy for some years, usually staying until well into May and has done some of his best work there. He declares, in fact, that during his annual stay in or near Rome, he gets through more writing than in all the rest of the year.

His first abode in Italy was an ancient villa near Naples which once housed no less a person than that prince of gourmets, Lucullus, and thereby hangs a tale whose details might have been startling to the novelist's big army of readers. The Villa of Lucullus hung on the edge of a cliff 200 feet above the sea, and from its study window Hornung looked out into a green basin which once was the private theatre of the renowned Syrian, and here, inconspicuously enough, with the wonderful panorama of Vesuvius, Ischia, and Capri spread out before him, Hornung one day sat down and began the writing of "Raffles," whose name is now almost as well known as that of Sherlock Holmes, the creator of whom, by the bye, is Hornung's brother-in-law.

But "Raffles" came dawningly near to never being finished. Hornung had taken the Villa of Lucullus for six months, and willingly would have stayed on another six, but his wife was seized with an intense desire to leave the place, declaring that something would happen if he did not do so. Hornung finally consented, leaving about the middle of February, and at the end of April there was a landslide and half the villa fell into the sea. The house literally was cut in two all along the bedroom corridor, and had anyone wakened in the night on hearing the crash and thrown his door open, he would have stepped into space and fallen into the sea.

Both "Raffles" and Hornung's "Stingaree" are published in France, and the latter is taking a lot of interest in the adventures to reach their author made him laugh heartily. The book had been illustrated by a Gallic artist, and the draughtsman's conception of the hero proved highly entertaining especially his idea of the costume worn by Raffles while playing cricket. He is shown wearing a sweater, knee-breeches, and what look like football pads, and holding his cricket bat as if he were playing baseball instead of the British national game.

Hornung is taking a lot of interest in the Keats-Shelley Memorial House, and has arranged to give a lecture there. Since writing, last week, about the visit of William Burns and Victor Stansford to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, I have heard a story about the explorer's arrival in London which shows he is not second to the American detective in admiration of Doyle's great sleuth, "Sherlock Holmes." They say that when Stansford reached London a few weeks ago, one of his first inquiries was as to the exact whereabouts of Baker street. A friend indicated how he might get to this thoroughfare, and then asked why he was interested in it.

"Why," said Stansford, "because that was where Sherlock Holmes lived, of course." This was a bit surprising coming from a profound scientist. I wonder if Stansford told Sir Arthur that he had been to see where his detective had his shoe—or rather did not—for, as the undersigned, too, discovered to his sorrow, there isn't so much a number as 22B in Baker street.

Mentioning Sir Arthur reminds me that he was the defendant in a legal action this week, and utilized in court with great success, the methods of his great detective. The scene of this action was the Mark Cross police court at Tunbridge Wells, Sir Arthur having been summoned by a firm er named Hale who alleged that a collie dog belonging to the author had killed and worried some of his sheep.

Sir Arthur personally cross-examined the plaintiff, beginning as follows: "You are aware that within 200 or 300 yards of my house there is a fold of sheep?" "Yes," replied the farmer.

"Then," went on the novelist, "does it not strike you as being strange that my dog should pass this fold of sheep and go to a farm another mile or so to worry sheep?" "I don't know."

A farm boy named Hornby said that he got close to the dog while it was running among the sheep, and was sure, from marks on its face that it was the defendant's dog.

"How near did you get, my boy?" asked Sir Arthur.

"About ten yards." "It was running away as you approached?" "Yes." "The point is," continued Doyle, "that it is very difficult to see a patch on a dog's nose if it is running away from you. You have seen my dog since and know that it has a white spot on its nose?" "Yes." "Have you seen the other collie dogs in the village?" "No." "Then it is impossible for you to say for certain that mine was the dog worrying the sheep?" "Sir Arthur then told the bench that his dog was physically incapable of annoying sheep, and was of the gentlest type. It was, he said, a valuable and beautiful collie, and the playfellow of his children. Moreover, a veterinary surgeon said that the dog was suffering from faulty conformation of the jaw-bones, and would not be capable of killing a sheep. Convinced that it was a case of mistaken identity, the magistrates dismissed the action.

GEORGE DRISCOLL GETS TWO PLAYERS BY PARCEL POST

Little Tots Sent From New York to Montreal—Local Amateurs Give up Play for Present

George F. Driscoll, formerly of St. John now manager of the Orpheum Theatre, Montreal, was made the recipient this week of an unusual package, nothing less than the two juvenies who are taking part in "Solomy Jane," next week's production.

A messenger boy brought the children to the theatre, and had his book signed in the way outlined for the receipt of parcels. Suspended from a button on each of the children's dresses was a label marked "Parcel Post from New York to Geo. F. Driscoll, manager Orpheum Theatre, Montreal."

The children were "pocketed" from the Times Square, New York. They are ten and twelve years old respectively. William A. Brady has obtained the rights to a new play entitled "An Unpublished Scandal," by Sydney Rosenfeld, which he plans to bring to early production.

Smoking should certainly be allowed in theatres, says Sir Arthur. "A man is a smoking animal, and we are a smoking nation. The habit of smoking is not only injurious, nevertheless it obtains, and it is folly to ignore it. Of course the proposal will be received by many with a cry of horror. We shall hear a lot about the degradation drama, but where does the degradation come in? If I sit opposite a beautiful picture by Raphael with a pipe in my mouth I am not degrading the picture. Mr. Barry's charming playlets lose none of their charm by being performed in a theatre."

Frederick A. Wilton, before assuming the part of the Chinese strolcher in "The Daughter of Heaven," was the "Reverend" Mr. Wilton of the Church of the Divine Paternity, New York. He is twenty-five years old, and graduated from Harvard and Tufts divinity school. Here is Mr. Wilton's reason for his vocation from pulpit to stage.

Some people like to preach, to give other people advice. I don't. I believe I can do more effective work by delivering my sermons through the emotions. In our drama, but where does the degradation come in? If I sit opposite a beautiful picture by Raphael with a pipe in my mouth I am not degrading the picture. Mr. Barry's charming playlets lose none of their charm by being performed in a theatre.

Virginia Earle, who originated the role of "Molly Seamon" in "The Geisha," has been engaged to succeed Lina Abarnett in the star revival now current in New York.

Playwriting seems to be more a hobby than a profession of the French Society of Dramatic Authors. The members of the society number 400. But during the past two years about 100 of them have died, leaving only 300 to carry on the dramatic life of the community, comprising every work of prose and verse, staged throughout the country in the theatre and café concert.

The sudden death of Van Biese, the "celist," while on the stage playing in "The Broken Melody," in which he had appeared for the first time, recalls to the exchange many similar instances of actors who expired while in the act of demonstrating their greatest histrionic powers.

Sir Henry Irving died on the stage of an English theatre at the most intense moment of his interpretation of the character of "Thomas a Becket." He had part of the prelude dying lines, "Into my hands, oh, Lord! when the swift and really fatal end came."

That the man who is constantly clamoring for peace, who is quiet, and reserved in his nature, who very often produces a surprise when called upon is ably shown in the Kalem drama presented yesterday at the Gem Theatre, entitled "The Fighting Parson." It was a pretty story of a parson who, in the time of a war, with a tender vein of love predominating. Another fascinating playlet was the Vitagraph story "Out of the Storm," a forestal romance of modern times with the scenes laid near New York, and portraying the anguish of a fond mother whose child is ill and who finds a burglar in the house with her— the only one on whom she can call for aid.

You have to look all right to "Emma" even after you have passed muster with the stage door man, to get in to Helen Ware's dressing room. KALEM, VITAGRAPH AND SELIG PLAYERS AT THE GEM FOR THE WEEK END

That the man who is constantly clamoring for peace, who is quiet, and reserved in his nature, who very often produces a surprise when called upon is ably shown in the Kalem drama presented yesterday at the Gem Theatre, entitled "The Fighting Parson." It was a pretty story of a parson who, in the time of a war, with a tender vein of love predominating.

To the actor who is accustomed to playing in motion picture productions, it has become a very common occurrence to see himself as others see him when the playlet in which he has been rehearsing is thrown on the screen of a picture theatre, but it is rather unusual for an "outsider" to see the audience seem to "read" Shakespeare as the Gem Theatre this week. While in New York a few months ago he paid a visit to some friends among the "M. P." profession, and noticed that at one time a motion picture camera was pointed in his direction. He thought but little more of the incident, and was consequently very much surprised a few days ago when a picture was thrown on the screen in his own theatre and in it he was easily recognizable.

OUTCAULT, CARTOONIST, IN DRAWINGS FOR THE MOVIES

Buster Brown and Tige Get Into The Picture Films—News of The Players—A Look at a Company in Action

R. F. Outcault, comic supplement artist, visited the Essanay studio in Chicago, recently, and drew several pictures of Buster Brown and Tige, characters made popular by him. His work at the plant caused so much interest that Theodore W. Wharton, an Essanay producer, suggested that Outcault draw pictures especially for an Essanay release, which he did. So on May 20, the company will release Buster Brown and Tige, With Their Creator, R. F. Outcault.

A short time ago the Selig Company released a farce comedy entitled Sweeney and the Million. This proved so popular that a series of similar farces, all dealing with the experiences of the redoubtable Sweeney, will be produced. The second picture in the series has already been made, and the third picture has been written by Lillian Leighton. Miss Leighton is the versatile character comedienne of the Selig (Chicago) Company, and will appear in the various pictures of the series. John Lancaster will also be identified with the series, as he has been cast for the character of Sweeney.

Frank C. Griffin, who was directing for the Universal Company, left that company recently. As a scenario man, Mr. Griffin has written "Old Polka" Christmas, Blood Will Tell and The New Fire Chief, a comedy comedy, all released under the Imp brand.

The New York "Mirror" says: "William Bryan, whose varied career includes prize fighting, headlining in vaudeville theatres and writing acceptable material, is now leading his talents to motion pictures. He is located at St. John, Canada. Bryan's correct name is Will McNelly."

Malva Hamel, of the Edison studio, is laid up with a sprained kneecap. It happened while she was dancing. Marion Swayne, one of the Solax Company's leading women, sold programmes at the Screen Club hall to the amount of $88, said to be the record of the evening. The programmes sold for "paper only," Miss Swayne saw to it that most of the paper she received was decorated with 'V's and 'N's.

TYROL GUIDE MAY PROVE TO BE A CARUSO

August Hempelkopp, one time Tyrol guide in Suedgia, Austria, is now on his way to Chicago to take part in the annual songfest in that city. Up to two summers ago Hempelkopp was a guide in the Tyrol mountains. While conducting a party up the Schneepitz peak he met Miss Dorothy Armour, of Chicago. The young lady, who is an intrepid traveler, was spending the season in Austria and was struck by the beautiful clear and resonant voice of her guide in the pocket calls which are a part of the entertainment of guests.

EMPIRE NAVY PLUG CHEWING TOBACCO

What the Look-Out Says: "It's a great strain to have to watch so carefully. To steady my nerves, I always use Empire Navy Plug Chewing Tobacco, when up in the 'Crow's Nest.'"

AN ENTERTAINING LETTER FROM A. K. M.

Editor Times-Star: Sir,—Frequently in your dramatic columns you make reference to Miss Emily Stevens now winning laurels in "Man and Superman" playing in Chicago as being a daughter of Mr. W. S. Harkins. I do not know from where you get your information as to Miss Stevens being Mr. Harkins' daughter, but permit me to say that she is not Mr. Harkins' daughter, and my authority for saying so is not mutual friend himself. I would probably not have bothered you with this correction but for the fact that a number of people have questioned me about it. The truth is Miss Stevens had her debut as a little tot on the shoulders of Mr. Harkins, the play being, if I remember correctly, "The Golden Giant Mine," Mr. Harkins playing "Jack Mason," the gambler. Miss Stevens' father and mother were both members of Mr. Harkins company which at that time were playing in the Mechanics' Institute.

Miss Stevens' success only adds one more to such names as Wm. and Dustin Farnum, Robert McWade, Jr., Arthur Elliott, Franklin Ritchie, Bruce McKee, Wm. Courtleigh, Tom Wise, Joseph Kilkour, John Benny, George Deyo, Geo. Brennan, Clarence Handyside, Julia Arthur, Percy Haswell, Mary Hall, Mabel Eaton, Kate Dalgleish, and a host of others, all of whom have become "stars," or lead-

MANAGER TRIFTS OF THE GEM SURPRISED TO SEE HIMSELF IN PICTURE

For fun, "Mike's Brainstorm," a Selig comedy of the circus ring, struck a popular note, and there was much hearty laughter each time it was thrown on the screen. George Irving and the orchestra added to the well varied programme.

SENSATIONAL TIME AS THE GAG IS APPLIED

(Continued from page 1) Mr. Meighan of Manitoba arose to a point of order. He insisted that Premier Borden had the floor, and that he had been recognized by the speaker. Sir Wilfrid Laurier brushed this aside as trivial and, taking the new closure rule, argued that it said that the clauses of a bill had a right to the first consideration and did not say that nothing else could be offered for consideration. Mr. Borden had stated this in the afternoon, and Mr. Carvell's opportunity was now.

rights under these rules. We only want a fair and honest interpretation of the rules. Dr. Pugsley—"It is bad enough to have these rules applied fairly, but to have them applied otherwise is dishonorable and degrading to parliament."

Mr. Carvell and the Chairman Again Chairman Biondin started to rule, but was driven back to his seat by F. B. Carvell.

Mr. Carvell's Stout Defence Chairman Biondin rose from his seat and motioned the New Brunswick member down.

"Sit down, Mr. Chairman," shouted Mr. Carvell, and Chairman Biondin did so. "There are some things which should be said to you and I am the man with the sand to say them."

Liberal's Carry Point Dr. Pugsley stood forth so determinedly that Speaker Biondin sat down, and the member for St. John was heard above the din to say:

The Liberals by sheer force carried their point, and for an hour the rules were debated by Dr. Pugsley, Mr. Bovin, Dr. Beland, E. M. MacDonald, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier Borden and Arthur Meighan.

Then chairman Biondin declared that he gave the floor to Premier Borden and that Mr. Carvell could not move his amendment.

There were cries of "Gag," and "the Nationalist chairman" from the Liberal side, and roars of "order" from the government following.

Mr. Borden's motion that the chairman report the bill was made and put.

Mr. German of Welland, contended that a member had the right to move an amendment to this.

Again the Conservatives shouted "order," and the Liberals shouted "gag."

Mr. Meighan declared that Mr. German was wrong, and that the new rule did not permit of the proposed amendment.

Sir Wilfrid differed. "The new rule is intended to restrict freedom of speech and must be correctly interpreted."

Sir Wilfrid said that the authority of the new closure rule was exhausted when the closure carried in committee.

Mr. Borden—"I am willing to withdraw my motion and accord the member for Cape Breton the courtesy of offering his amendment providing there is no debate."

Sir Wilfrid—"We do not ask a courtesy of the prime minister. We ask for our rules. This thing has gone far enough. I desire to read you the rule and I intend to do so," he continued. He read it and argued from it while the house and chairman remained silent and listened to him.

"Shame on the prime minister," was shouted from the Liberal side. After some further argument, Chairman Biondin was allowed to rule, which he did against the opposition.

He started putting the motion, ignoring Dr. Pugsley who moved that, "the chairman leave the chair."

"That is a motion which is always allowed in order for the purpose of affording opportunity for discussion. You cannot ignore it," said Dr. Pugsley.

Chairman Biondin continued putting the question amid a deafening protest from the opposition, every man standing and shouting "gag" and "Nationalist chairman."

In the din the Conservatives rose to be counted by the clerk. This was done amid derisive cries, and when the clerk turned to the liberal side to count them they declined to vote, every man remaining in his seat.

The government side jeered at them and the Liberals replied with shouts of "gag."

Amid a tremendous din, Chairman Biondin turned to Speaker Sproule, who had taken the chair and handed him the naval bill from the committee where it has been fought so hard.

After a time a call came and speaker Sproule said—"The chairman of the committee of the whole reports to me that Bill 21 to grant naval aid has been considered in committee and reported without amendment."

There were government cheers and liberal cries of "Gag" and "No, no," which made five minutes' deafening confusion.

"Mr. Speaker, the chairman has made a false report, Sir, he had no right to declare the motion carried and ignore my motion that he leave the chair," said Dr. Pugsley.

Again there was an uproar and Hon. Frank Oliver stepped out of the first hull and, facing the speaker, deliberately said: "The prerogatives of this parliament have been usurped."

Speaker Sproule asked for order. "I appeal to gentlemen on both sides to assist in keeping order. No member has the right to reflect on the chair," he said to Dr. Pugsley.

"I repeat, Mr. Speaker, you have received a false report from the chairman," said Hon. Dr. Pugsley. Again the speaker asked for order.

"You ask us to preserve order. We ask you to preserve the rights of the minority in this chamber," said Hon. Geo. P. Graham. "The rules have been openly violated."

"Mr. Borden moves that the house adjourn," replied the speaker.

"Shame, shame," shouted the Liberals, Sir Wilfrid raising his voice and shouting "Shame" with his followers.

Amid these cries the mace went out with the speaker after it, and the naval bill as it was out of the committee stage.

Both sides remained in the chamber for ten minutes' singing and cheering.

The Liberals remained while the Conservatives fied out to Room 18, where they presented to Mrs. Borden a $5,000 electric automobile.

The third reading of the naval bill will be pressed by the government next week.

Never Did Rim-Cut

Here's the story of a tire which has set America talking because it set new standards in tire mileage and was the first and only tire to make freedom from skidding a realizable factor in motoring. This tire, which is patented by us, stands alone in the whole field of tiredom as the anti-skid without a rival for efficiency. It is the one tire in Canada which has a built-in tread. That exclusive feature alone saves Canadian motorists 30% of tire life

OTHER TIRES INEFFECTIVE Other so-called anti-skid tires just wiggle through the mud or over the asphalt—on chance. Each "button" or "wart" just pushes aside some of the grease for the next button to slide on. NO LOOSENED TREADS With Dunlop Traction Treads in service there is no "wave of rubber" being pushed ahead, as with other tires, because with Dunlop Traction Treads the tire runs along under pressure, each "V" expanding the maximum amount without touching the next "V". You see, there is a space between each "V" as big as the width of the "V" itself. This exclusive Dunlop Traction Tread feature prevents loosening of the tread, a defect in ordinary tires eating up 30 per cent of tire life.

Dunlop Traction Tread Straight Side Type

Most Envied Tire In All America

AIR-COOLED FEATURE The construction of Dunlop Traction Tread "V's" prevent heating of the tire tread when the car is going at high speed. It's a matter of common-sense that the greater you make the depth of your anti-skid corrugation the greater opportunity you afford for the free passage of cooling air. Dunlop Traction Tread anti-skidding feature is made larger than that on any other tire in the world, because the tread of the master tire is built into place. THE OLD WAY Other anti-skid tires merely possess a strip of rubber covered with "bumps," said strip being stuck onto the tire. You probably have noted with ordinary tires that all the "buttons," no matter their shape, are of one depth. This is because if the "buttons" of the stuck-on type of anti-skid were made big enough to really be effective they would air-fill in the process of manufacture and crumble away in first usage. COMFORT TO PASSENGERS With Dunlop-Traction Treads, no unevenness is felt by the passenger or driver. The deep, resilient rubber absorbs all shock, and removes altogether that consciousness of tire contact with the road, common to so-called anti-skids. Motorists tell us they notice how often different manufacturers have their cars equipped with Dunlop Traction Treads when they take the prospects out to demonstrate the comfortable riding qualities of the cars. EXIT TO SKIDDING That extra depth of rubber, an exclusive Dunlop Traction Tread feature, besides giving double tire life, absolutely ensures

The Dunlop Line consists of Tires for Automobile, Motor Truck, Motorcycle, Bicycle and Carriage, Rubber Belting, Packing, Hose, Heels, Mats, Tiling and General Rubber Specialties

PHOTOGRAPHY REVOLUTIONIZED BY NEW INVENTION Films, Plates and Dark Room Made Unnecessary New Camera Takes Finished Pictures in Two Minutes

Mr. Edmond F. Stratton, of New York City, has invented a camera that takes and completes pictures ready to see in two minutes. It does away with the expense of buying films or plates and the trouble, expense and delay of having them developed and pictures printed by a photographer. The camera has a fixed focus lens and there is no delicate focusing mechanism to get out of order or for you to learn to operate. This camera, which is called the Gordon Camera, is being manufactured by the Gordon Camera Company, of New York. As they are desirous of making it known in every locality, they are making a special offer to our readers. For a limited time upon receipt of $2.50 (and 90 cents additional to cover express charges, sensitized cards and developing powders) they will send you a regular $5 Model A Gordon Camera. The sensitized cards, which make pictures 2 1/2 x 3 1/2 inches, are wrapped for daylight loading, and the powders make the developing solution to be put into the developing tank, which is inside the camera. The camera itself is 2 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches and weighs 2 pounds 4 ounces. The cost of taking pictures with the Gordon camera is almost nothing in comparison to all other cameras. Extra sensitized cards can be bought for 112 cents each, and 10 cents worth of developer will develop over 40 pictures. The Gordon Company sells flash light lamps for 80 cents, which will enable you to take pictures at night in your own parlor, or out of doors. The operation of this new camera is so simple that any little boy or girl can easily take good pictures with it after reading the directions sent with each one. There is no customs duty to be paid as the Gordon Company will ship to you from their Canadian factory which is near Toronto. All orders and letters, however, must be sent to their office, which is at 1833 Stuyvesant Building, New York, N. Y. When ordering a camera under this special offer be sure to mention that you are a reader of the St. John Times and Star.

INVENTION TO MAKE AIRSHIPS STEADY

(Continued from page 12). The first difficulty with which the union finds itself confronted is the ever-increasing exodus of country girls to the city in search of employment. This difficulty it proposes to meet by getting in touch with local authorities in villages, securing their co-operation in the scheme, and having placed before the girls an uncolored picture of city life and its dangers. Should the call of the city, however, prove too strong, then the local authorities will put the girl in communication and look after her future welfare. Connections are also to be established between the union and employment bureaus, as well as societies and charitable institutions training young girls. The most interesting project of all, however, is the proposed formation of a league of good mistresses, who will cheerfully conform with the constitution of girls drawn up by the union in the interests of the servants. This constitution will, if given a fair chance, revolutionize the conditions of domestic service, rendering it genuine service instead of drudgery. Under its regulations all servants under twenty-five must reside in the same house as their mistresses. Sleeping quarters must be at least twenty-five cubic metres, possess direct ventilation, and the door must open inwardly. Sufficient articles for the making of her toilet must be provided, and once a month, if the mistress does not allow the servant to make personal use of the bathroom, she must provide the girl with a ticket for the public baths. Up till the age of twenty-four servants must be allowed nine hours sleep after that age eight hours, and one hour for cleaning apartment. Every week three hours shall be granted for the washing of clothing and the making of private purchases, while time must be allowed for the exercise of religious devotion. The carrying of heavy loads by young girls is forbidden, and special attention is to be given to their dietary. Sunday walks and an evening off every fortnight are also recommended by the union. In the scheme the question of wages seems to have been entirely overlooked, but it is evident that a mistress who accepts this "servants' charter" will also be generous in the matter of wages. M. Benazet, reporter of the War Budget, who has just returned from the theatre in the Balkans, makes an interesting statement in "La France Militaire," with regard to the use of reserves in war time. Says M. Benazet: "The generals, who like General Vassoff, took part in the siege of Adrianople, or under General Kutskoff, commanded at Chalala, formally declared, first, that it was 'criminal' to send into the firing line formations entirely composed of reserves; before they had undergone a period of training, which could not possibly be less than fifteen to twenty days. Secondly, that it was dangerous to reckon on utilizing at once in the firing line units containing a too considerable proportion of reserves, and, finally, that in the event of a new war they would wish to start only with active units incorporating a relatively small number of young reservists and men who had only recently done their term of active service. Wherever reserves formations were employed the Bulgarian generals are unanimous in saying that they did not replace the active troops. As for the Turks, the formations of Redif, even when fighting on the defensive, were the valuable points of the Ottoman line. As soon as one man gave way the whole gave way."

TO EUROPE FOR NEW SETTLERS
(Continued from page 12). Ghent this year cannot fail to see the Canadian exhibit and will receive literature which will do them good. Canada will win many of the thirty families next year—those who "raise" families of fifteen on five acres. In Vienna Another European exhibition at which Canada will be represented this year is the Adriatic exhibition in Vienna. The Austrian capital has a distinct preference for the Canadian flavor, and it was the Austrian government that requested the C. P. R. to prepare an exhibit in order to make known the benefits of the new service from Trieste to Canada. At the suggestion of the Austrian government the project of the C. P. R. pavilion was Mr. Keller who has designed the interiors of the new Austrian "Durchlaught" and who the exponent of the most modern ideas in domestic architecture. Mr. Keller has designed the interior on a motif which he took from the interior of the S. S. "Empress of Asia," but has adapted it to Austrian taste. The exhibit in this pavilion will be centred round four electrically driven models, one of which will show a C. P. R. steamer leaving the harbor of Trieste for Canada, the second showing the steamer entering the port of Quebec, the third showing a C. P. R. train

"My baby was nine months old had a lot of pimples come on his arms and legs which used to come to a head, then break and cause running sores. They were bright red spots, which itched and burned so badly that he would tear himself till he made them bleed and they were all like open wounds. They were on his face and arms so bad that he did not like to take him out. He could not sleep or rest anywhere. I tried several things at home and lots of different things people used to advise me, but he did not get a bit better. I bathed each place in warm water and Cuticura Soap and then I put some of the Cuticura Ointment on and bound them up in soft rags and he slept better that night than he had for three weeks, and he did not scratch himself once that night. I did that for three days, night and morning, when we noticed the sores were getting drier and healing, so I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and after a week and a few days there was not a blemish on him." PIMPLES ITCHED AND BURNED
On Arms and Legs, Caused Running Sores, Would Tear Himself Till They Bled, Like Open Wounds. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.
"My baby was nine months old had a lot of pimples come on his arms and legs which used to come to a head, then break and cause running sores. They were bright red spots, which itched and burned so badly that he would tear himself till he made them bleed and they were all like open wounds. They were on his face and arms so bad that he did not like to take him out. He could not sleep or rest anywhere. I tried several things at home and lots of different things people used to advise me, but he did not get a bit better. I bathed each place in warm water and Cuticura Soap and then I put some of the Cuticura Ointment on and bound them up in soft rags and he slept better that night than he had for three weeks, and he did not scratch himself once that night. I did that for three days, night and morning, when we noticed the sores were getting drier and healing, so I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and after a week and a few days there was not a blemish on him." (Signed) Mrs. F. West, Feb. 29, 1912. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with Complete Book, send post card to Post-Office Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. 320, Boston, U. S. A.

Buckner, Mo.—"For more than a year I suffered agonies from female troubles and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to the hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you just what I suffered with bearing down pains, backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my foot to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothered spells, felt dull and draggy all the time. I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation. "I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written her a year ago I would have been saved so much suffering, for today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house again and do every bit of my own work. Every one in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. INVENTION TO MAKE AIRSHIPS STEADY
(Continued from page 12). The first difficulty with which the union finds itself confronted is the ever-increasing exodus of country girls to the city in search of employment. This difficulty it proposes to meet by getting in touch with local authorities in villages, securing their co-operation in the scheme, and having placed before the girls an uncolored picture of city life and its dangers. Should the call of the city, however, prove too strong, then the local authorities will put the girl in communication and look after her future welfare. Connections are also to be established between the union and employment bureaus, as well as societies and charitable institutions training young girls. The most interesting project of all, however, is the proposed formation of a league of good mistresses, who will cheerfully conform with the constitution of girls drawn up by the union in the interests of the servants. This constitution will, if given a fair chance, revolutionize the conditions of domestic service, rendering it genuine service instead of drudgery. Under its regulations all servants under twenty-five must reside in the same house as their mistresses. Sleeping quarters must be at least twenty-five cubic metres, possess direct ventilation, and the door must open inwardly. Sufficient articles for the making of her toilet must be provided, and once a month, if the mistress does not allow the servant to make personal use of the bathroom, she must provide the girl with a ticket for the public baths. Up till the age of twenty-four servants must be allowed nine hours sleep after that age eight hours, and one hour for cleaning apartment. Every week three hours shall be granted for the washing of clothing and the making of private purchases, while time must be allowed for the exercise of religious devotion. The carrying of heavy loads by young girls is forbidden, and special attention is to be given to their dietary. Sunday walks and an evening off every fortnight are also recommended by the union. In the scheme the question of wages seems to have been entirely overlooked, but it is evident that a mistress who accepts this "servants' charter" will also be generous in the matter of wages. M. Benazet, reporter of the War Budget, who has just returned from the theatre in the Balkans, makes an interesting statement in "La France Militaire," with regard to the use of reserves in war time. Says M. Benazet: "The generals, who like General Vassoff, took part in the siege of Adrianople, or under General Kutskoff, commanded at Chalala, formally declared, first, that it was 'criminal' to send into the firing line formations entirely composed of reserves; before they had undergone a period of training, which could not possibly be less than fifteen to twenty days. Secondly, that it was dangerous to reckon on utilizing at once in the firing line units containing a too considerable proportion of reserves, and, finally, that in the event of a new war they would wish to start only with active units incorporating a relatively small number of young reservists and men who had only recently done their term of active service. Wherever reserves formations were employed the Bulgarian generals are unanimous in saying that they did not replace the active troops. As for the Turks, the formations of Redif, even when fighting on the defensive, were the valuable points of the Ottoman line. As soon as one man gave way the whole gave way."

LOOK YEARS YOUNGER! GRAY HAIR DARKENED BEAUTIFULLY WITH SAGE

Says Sage and Sulphur Will Stop Falling Hair and Cure Dandruff

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; removes every bit of dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggy and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's." While wash, gray, faded hair is not simple, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, after another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever. Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and it surely helps folks appear years younger.

THEY ARE TRULY MODERN MIRACLES

Hundreds of People Tell of Cases, Considered Hopeless, That Were Cured by "Fruit-a-tives," the Famous Fruit Medicine

Your Ailment is no Worse, Probably, Than Those of Many Men and Women Who Are Now Well, Vigorous and Happy

Is there an "if" in your mind about "Fruit-a-tives"? Do you wonder how it is possible for "Fruit-a-tives" to cure diseases so different, as Eczema and Kidney Trouble—Constipation and Gall Stones—Rheumatism and Biliousness—Stomach Trouble and Hay Fever?

The answer is simple. "Fruit-a-tives" acts on the three great eliminating, or blood purifying, organs—the bowels, kidneys and skin. It is the weakness or poor action of the bowels, kidneys or skin—or of all three—that causes the diseases mentioned above.

Eczema, Pimples and other Skin Eruptions, mean poisoned blood. Make the bowels, kidneys and skin active by taking "Fruit-a-tives," and they will purify the blood, so there will be nothing to poison the skin and cause disease.

Kidney Trouble, Rheumatism, Pain in the Back, Neuralgia, mean that the skin, kidneys and bowels are not ridding the system of waste matter, and too much uric acid is being formed in the blood. Take "Fruit-a-tives" to regulate bowels and skin, and the kidneys are relieved of their extra work, while no excess of uric acid is formed.

Constipation, Biliousness, Gall Stones mean, not enough bile to move the bowels and prevent solid masses forming in the Gall Bladder. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that acts directly on the liver and stimulates the liver to secrete more bile—thus regulating the bowels and preventing stones being formed in the gall bladder.

Stomach Trouble, Chronic Indigestion and Hay Fever are all due to constipation and nervousness, which "Fruit-a-tives" cures.

The above are only a few of the many diseases promptly relieved by "Fruit-a-tives." These tablets will cure any disease and every disease caused by any disturbance, weakness or defective action of Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

50c. a box, six for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent post-paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

REDMAN ADOPTS GET-RICH METHODS OF THE PALEFACE

Scores of Claims Sold to Gold Seekers, But Minus the Yellow Metal

Seattle, Wash., March 9—British Columbia Indians have unloaded upon Canadian and United States gold seekers scores of claims that do not contain even a trace of "color." It developed that a recent "stampede" to the Teslin country of British Columbia was engineered by redmen, who cleared many thousands of dollars through their trickery. John G. Johnson, one of the discoverers of gold in -one, and an Alaskan multi-millionaire, brought from the north today news that not a sign of gold had been found in the Silver Creek district, all of which was staked by Indians and sold to white men.

Another industry, in the shape of a stone crushing plant, is in course of organization in the city. The capital of the new concern, which will develop the David O'Connell property on the Marsh Road, is $25,000, of which about two-thirds has already been subscribed. It is understood that Col. J. L. McQuitty, David O'Connell, R. A. M. Skinner and several others are interested in the new company.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The executive committee of the National Council of women met yesterday in Montreal to clear up some of the business left by the convention. It was decided to co-operate in the Cartier celebration next year and a committee was appointed to deal with the subject of pensions to mothers. Arrangements were made for the election of nine delegates to the International Council which will be held in Rome next year.

The seven elected vice-presidents of the council were all re-elected, as follows: Lady Laurier, Ottawa; Mrs. R. L. Boden, Ottawa; Mrs. Sanford, Hamilton; Mrs. Robert Thomson, St. John; Mrs. Frost, Smith Falls; Lady Taylor, Hamilton, and Prof. Carrie Derick, Montreal. The only change in the provincial vice-presidents was the election of Mrs. Adam Shortt, of Ottawa, to succeed Mrs. Watkins, of Hamilton. The other provincial vice-presidents are: Nova Scotia: Mrs. Carmichael, New Glasgow; New Brunswick: Mrs. McLellan, St. John; Quebec: Madame Dandurand, Montreal; Manitoba: Mrs. McEwen, Brandon; Alberta: Mrs. O. G. Edwards, Meleod; British Columbia: Mrs. MacAulay, Vancouver; Saskatchewan: Province has yet failed to elect a vice-president.

MOUNT ALLISON

Of the $20,000 needed for Mount Allison University $17,000 has been subscribed and the $200,000 for the endowment fund is believed in sight. Dr. E. C. Borden who was in the city yesterday, said that raising the additional $30,000 for the science building would be a more difficult matter. He also said that a few thousands more have to be raised in St. John to make available the second sum of $5,000 promised by W. R. Tennant on condition that $45,000 was raised elsewhere.

Another new industry, in the shape of a stone crushing plant, is in course of organization in the city. "ELECTRICITY IS LIFE"

If you want to get up in the world to make your mark; if you want to be pointed at as a successful man; if you want to be a Man among men, you must be full of electricity—magnetism. Brooding over your mistakes—spending hours and hours regretting your past follies and mistakes—despairing of help will not add to your capital of nerve power—will not help you down the shadows and get you into the sunlight of happiness and success.

You aren't the only fellow after plums—the high places. Thousands are in the strife, and the prizes go to the wide-awake—the men of courage and energy. You have heard it said That Opportunity Knocks But Once in a Lifetime. Life is made of hurry and worry, hard knocks and excitement. The fact is she makes several calls, but she doesn't come with a brass band to wake you up. Nature carved you in the image of a man, a man you can be, as we can show you the way.

If you have fallen by the wayside, if you have succumbed to temptation and folly, if you have exhausted your vitality through excess, overwork or worry, use your God-given brains and judgment for a few moments. Take an inventory of yourself. Seek the truth. Study your weakness. Don't further wreck your nervous system and befuddle your brain with drugs, stimulants, but use the great wondrous power, ELECTRICITY, as we apply it with

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt I can point to hundreds of men today who came to me broken in health and spirit—absolute physical wrecks, hopeless, dependent, who followed my advice, used my Belt, regained their strength and vitality, and are now getting on in the world. I might say further that I think mine was a hard case to help, being troubled with sick headache and very bad pains in my head and not able to sleep more than half the night. I am pleased to say that after wearing your Belt for a while I slept better and my sick spells grew longer between. The current generated by the battery was fine and soothing and gave me good satisfaction in a great many ways. I remain, as ever, A. S. MACE, J. P., Newton, Kings Co., N. B. ATHLETIC Challenge Declined.

Oxford, Eng., May 9.—The athletic authorities of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge have declined the challenge from the Universities of Harvard and Yale for a track and field meet at the Harvard stadium in June this year.

No Intercollegiate Track Meet.

Glenshire.—There will be no intercollegiate track meet this season and it looks as if this important annual event, which college athletes in the maritime provinces was to be dropped permanently.

The change in the academic year at U. N. B.

which brought about an earlier opening of the Red and Black to continue in this branch of intercollegiate sports and Acadia and Mount A. have dropped the proposition which they had of having the two colleges compete.

U. N. B. students will have their regular "Varsity track meet," however.

in connection with the meeting of the Cambridge University and this event will take place this year on Tuesday, May 13th. Hal Murray is the captain and manager of this branch of sport at the University this year and he has made up a programme which includes two events open to school athletes, 220 yards dash and running broad jump, in which it is expected that there will be interesting contests between representatives of Fredericton High School and the Provincial Normal School.

The events open to the U. N. B. students will be:

100 yards dash 220 yards dash, 440 yards dash, mile run, 120 yards hurdles, half mile class relay race, pole vault, shot put, hammer throw, high jump, running broad jump and standing broad jump.

AQUATIC

West 45 Miles an Hour.

Brookville, Ont., May 9.—A new boat to serve as the representative of the Thousand Island Yacht Club in defending its title to the trophy in the Gold Cup Regatta Cup races at this Thousand Islands regatta, is expected to make 45 miles an hour in the 120-horse-power boat which will be equipped with 150 h.p. engines, which will be 100 more than the "P.D.Q." the winner of last year, carried 80 h.p. and six feet longer and eight inches wider, wider with the steering apparatus in the rear. The craft is of the hydroplane type, with a 30-inch keel.

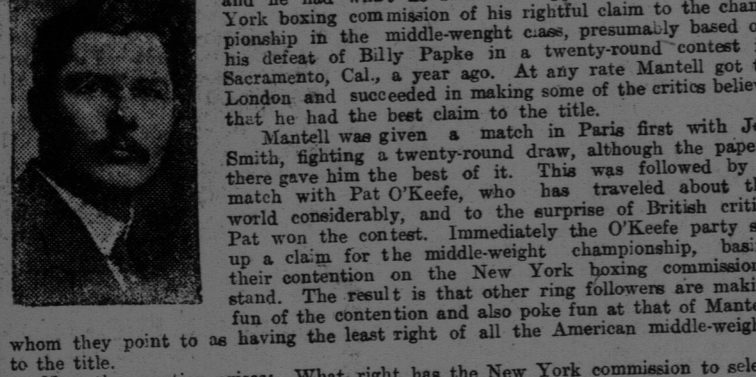

The "P.D.Q." that won last year's event because of its consistent action developed a speed of forty miles an hour in a try over a measured course. The new model must do better by five miles or it will probably be cast aside.

The races will be held on the last day in July and the first two in August. Every effort is being made to retain the gold cup for the islands for at least another year. It is hinted

Has New York Commission the Right to Select Champions?

By TOM ANDREWS

If reports of the New York boxing commission are true, Pat O'Keefe, one of the fairly good middle-weights of Great Britain, is champion of the world's class, that is having his work on recent performances and comparing it with what has done. It is simply another peculiar mix-up in the standing of boxers in the various classes.

Pat O'Keefe, one of the fairly good middle-weights of Great Britain, is champion of the world's class.

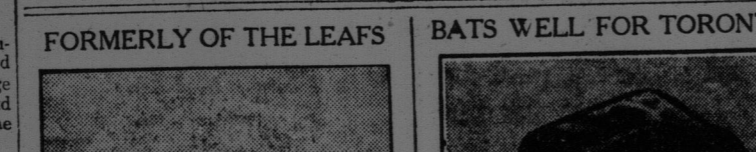

Recently Mantell went to England in search of matches and he had what he said were approvals from the New York boxing commission of his right claim to the championship in the middle-weight class, presumably based on his defeat of Billy Papke in a twenty-round contest in Sacramento, Cal., a year ago. At any rate Mantell got to London and succeeded in making some of the critics believe that he had the best claim to the title.

Mantell was given a match in Paris first with Jeff Smith, fighting a twenty-round draw, although the papers there gave him the best of it. This was followed by a match with Pat O'Keefe, who has traveled about the world considerably, and to the surprise of British critics up a claim for the middle-weight championship, basing their contention on the New York boxing commission's stand. The result is that other ring followers are making fun of the contention and also poke fun at that of Mantell, that he has the right of all the American middle-weighters whom they point to as having the right of all the American middle-weighters to the title.

Now the question arises: What right has the New York commission to select a man for champion in America, especially when there are no championship fights in the state of New York? It is a good thing for the boxing matches permissible in the state of New York to let that body adopt rules, etc., but to name a man to be champion and to let that body adopt rules, etc., but to name a man to be champion, that is another question and should be left open to the judgment of the people who follow the sport.

Mantell has absolutely no right to such an honor, for since he defeated Papke, which would not make him champion, he has lost battles to Jack Dillon (a real contender), Tommy Garigan, and Pat O'Keefe, and fought a draw with Jeff Smith. It is certainly a joke to foist a man like Mantell on the public as a champion. If he wants to get into the running for the honor he will have to do some winning and beat a few men like Jimmy Clabby, Eddie McGoorty and Frank Klase. When he can do that the fans will gladly proclaim him middle-weight champion. In the meantime the British critics will have to seek another man for champion besides Mantell, though Pat O'Keefe, although Pat may be as good as any of the 160-pounders over there just now.

HEALTH CONGRESS IN AUGUST

Great Men of the World to Gather in Discussion of Momentous Problems

The Fourth International Congress of School Hygiene to be held in Buffalo, August 25 to 30, will bring together many of the principal educators, health officers, doctors and surgeons of the world for a discussion of the primary laws of health and the best methods of teaching children such primary laws of health, that they may grow healthy and strong and live long and happy lives. Thousands of teachers from the United States, Canada, and foreign nations will attend this congress, the first of such congresses to be held on this side of the Atlantic ocean, that they may learn what they can from such discussions of a topic of vital importance to every human being, although the public and private schools have just begun to appreciate its importance as a subject they should teach.

Medicine Revolutionized

It is hardly half a century since the important discoveries of Pasteur were made known. Modern medicine has been revolutionized in the last quarter century by Pasteur's discoveries. The result is that the medical profession, the leading educators, and thoughtful citizens now realize that pure air, pure water, simple and pure food, and rest and recreation are God-given medicines of the greatest possible efficacy for preventing disease and promoting long, normal and happy lives. So important is it that teachers should properly present to children, at the proper age, simple and fundamental knowledge on this subject, that the children may establish the habit of life in the beginning in obedience to the natural laws of health, rather than in violation of any one of them, that such a gathering of the Fourth International Congress of School Hygiene are being held together for the very purpose of discussing the best methods of bringing this essential knowledge to every child, in either public or private schools.

The fourth international congress to discuss these subjects, from which we can see how very new is the thought upon this subject. This is the first international congress to be held this side of the Atlantic, from which we can see how clear, thorough, and thoughtful are the discussions on these topics by the master minds among physicians, surgeons and teachers. It is clear, therefore, that thousands of educators and teachers will avail themselves of the opportunity to visit Buffalo, which holds the honor of being the summer home of a meeting such discussions.

Of Prime Importance

It is singular that even the thoughtful minds of the world have been slow to perceive that good health is more important than grammar, or mathematics, or dead languages, or foreign languages, or even culture studies. The world is slowly beginning to perceive that habitual good health is the necessary foundation for all other physical or mental success. It is beginning to see more than that, and to realize that the absence of either physical or mental health usually means unhappiness and ultimate ruin of life plans. How essential it is, then, that every child should be carefully instructed in the simple laws of health, that it may know how to promote its health and how to avoid contagious and infectious diseases.

Properly instructed, such a child can lead a healthy, happy life, for a relatively small amount of money, notwithstanding all that is said about high cost of living; for pure food, pure water, and fresh air, after all, are relatively inexpensive things. Indeed, fresh air and pure water are the free gifts of nature, and an intelligent person is able to make such a choice. He, we, too, frequently conclude that every one understands them, whereas millions of immigrants and millions of people living at a distance from our intellectual centers have never had an opportunity to obtain instruction in them, or to understand them at all.

Tuberculosis still slays its hundreds of thousands and millions because even now so few people understand that the worst enemies of tuberculosis, and the greatest medicines for it, are fresh air and sufficient simple, nourishing food. So, too, tens of millions of people are more or less troubled with indigestion and other like ills that readily yield to sufficient walks in the open air, and to simple fresh air, exercise in connection with proper daily baths, and proper choice and use of foods. It is astonishing that so many intelligent people know so little of their health and happiness, and it is not astonishing that so many millions of our people, know nothing whatever about them. Why should they know about them? They have never had a chance to learn about them in school, or at home. But we must not permit the rising generation to grow up in ignorance of such matters. Instead, we must teach these matters, of such vital importance to their health and happiness, in public and private schools, because it is so seldom that the home possesses the requisite knowledge and ability to teach the child what the child should know, just when the child is old enough to know and apply such knowledge.

Another illustration will readily show the importance of this topic. For centuries and centuries ignorance has been even more fatal than vice in bringing about the ruin of innocent boys and girls. Just when and just how the requisite sex knowledge, at the basis of all happy homes, should be revealed to boys and girls, is a matter of the greatest importance. Those who have thought on the subject will know that such teaching should be committed only to men and women of the highest character, having a thorough knowledge of the subject, and of individual skill and as teachers; for otherwise blindness will be made that may be more costly to young lives than would be ignorance itself. Yet every minister, every doctor, and every lawyer knows of families that have been destroyed, at children that have been blind or crippled, and of innocent young lives that have been ruined because of ignorance and not because of vice. It is to be feared that if sex hygiene had been properly taught in the homes, or in the schools, at the proper age, and in the way and by the proper person, there would have been no such living tragedies to record.

It is rare that the low wages paid to millions of women cause their downfall. Instead, their ignorance gives a doorway to common temptations that they would not otherwise possess, and thus the underworld is fed in part by thousands of women who, if they were otherwise main street and pure. Then, too, every lawyer knows that the divorce court and the criminal court, the penitentiaries and the prisons, are too often made necessary because of ignorance, where proper sex knowledge, properly imparted at the right time, would have prevented human misery, misfortune, degradation, and generation. Ignorance, in the beginning, coupled with ignorance, leads to bad habits, that finally become chronic, and, therefore, vicious, and thus innocent ignorance in the beginning leads to chronic vice in the end.

When hundreds of degenerate and even vicious descendants can be traced to the ignorant mistake of a soldier boy, and hundreds of upright, moral descendants can also be traced to the intelligence, self-control and subsequent wise choice of the same soldier boy, so that we can see that taxpayers may be compelled to pay out hundreds of thousands of dollars, and even be forced to support the unfit, but fast increasing, unfit descendants in almshouses and prisons, in the one case, while the hundreds of moral and healthy descendants in the other are themselves a part of the tax-paying public that may be compelled to chronicle vice in the end.

to support the unfit descendants, we can see the importance of these problems in all self-governing countries. Without going farther by way of illustration, it is not perfectly clear that every student of the white slave or social evil, and every doctor who is seeking to improve the health of the community, and every teacher who is seeking to lay the foundation for a happy human life, and every citizen who is seconding the effort of each and all, should join hands to make this international congress a notable gathering of thousands of men and women of the very highest type, whose discussion and reflections will be most fruitful of good in the public and private schools.

golfing from; no one could take a club back as he does unless they had. He has a wonderful command of every club, except, perhaps, that instrument of torture men call a putter; but it requires more than that to make the master player.

Devices That Spoil The Game Unfortunately it is only to a limited extent that has applied to golf. In the blessed days of the "gutter" the problem was hardly pressing, but ever since the "new ball" matters have been knocking up for a crisis.

Vardon things it is only a matter of a few years before 400 yards will be the accepted length for a one shot hole. Manufacturers of clubs in their turn exhibit endless if misplaced ingenuity.

Vanishing Swing Everyone who played much golf in the summer of 1911 must remember how the game in those days consisted of little more than unnumbered lengths of the golf club and the niblick.

It is magnificent, but I do not believe it is golf. Such methods would have spelled disaster in the days of the "gutter," which correct swing was essential.

Possible Remedies It is also impossible to lay down any very stringent laws regulating material and so on. Excess would be frequent and difficult to detect.

They must start an agitation with definite aims, and no longer stand idly by and let this problem become more and more pressing.

Bodily Health Affects Character

Character, as well as success in life, depends very largely on the condition of the health. You cannot imagine a sufferer from indigestion being cheerful in disposition. Nor do you expect a person with exhausted nerves to be other than nervous, irritable, easily excited and short-tempered.

Doctors Use This For Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is no relation between the skin disease and the blood. The skin must be cured through the skin. The same must be washed out of the system as long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of the province are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of water-glycerin, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D. D. D. PRESCRIPTION for Eczema."
