THE TUCKER MURDER.

THE PRELIMINARY TRIAL.

LOOKS HARD FOR TWO WOMEN.

The examination of Annie L. Canovan began Friday. S. B. Appleby appears for the Crown, and Wendall P. Jones for the prisoner.

Mrs. Mary Tucker was the first witness. For some time past Minnie had been taking some kind of medicine, which she mixed with her tea. When she (witness) asked her what it was she was taking, she was told to mind her own business. Deceased had made threats about doing away with herself. Canovan was working at a neighbor's, and his wife had been at Tucker's for a couple of days. She only visited them two or three times in the past six months. That morning the prisoner and deceased seemed to be on very good terms. It was only from hearsay that she learned that there was bad feeling between them, and that the prisoner was jealous of deceased's relation to her husband. Deceased was very bright and well in the early morning. She was sorry to say that it was impossible to believe anything that she said. Witness was out when the deceased was taken ill. When she came in she (deceased) was in convulsions. She called old man Tucker to call the neighbors, and when he could not do it she sent the prisoner to notify Canovan, who was at Mrs. Brewer's. She did not know how deceased came to her death. "I was not God," remarked the prisoner, "nor a witch." The prisoner threw the cup from which deceased had been drinking into the stove, being afraid that the baby would get it. She did everything she could after death, washed the body and sent to Glassville for a coffin. She knew of deceased going to Bath on Saturday. She said she had some bills to pay. She came back, bringing some molasses and other things and a pair of shoes for the baby.

Dr. Ross of Florenceville was on the stand for a long time. He made a post-mortem, assisted by Drs. Somerville, Welch and Cumming. There was no sign of chronic disease. The stomach was taken out and sent away. Deceased was pregnant about two months. To Mr. Appleby he said that there was nothing in the appearance of deceased to lead one to believe that she died from natural causes.

After lunch the next witness was Dr. Cummings, the coroner in the case. He said: The house consisted of one room, about 12 by 16. Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Canovan said that deceased died suddenly. She had been mixing some dose and after drinking that, died. Mrs. Tucker went to a trunk and brought out a tin box, saying it contained the same stuff that Minnie had been drinking. Witness here produced the box. He meant to take that and the stomach to St. John for analysis.

Caroline Brewer—I live in Glassville. The Tuckers live between two and three miles from my home. The deceased was the same as one of our family. She made it her home at my place for the past six years. On the 19th she came to my house and stayed till the 25th. She had been to Martin's where the father of her child was. She went to her father's about one o'clock on snow shoes, saying that she wanted to see if her father had any wood. Deceased came to my place about a week before Christmas crying. I asked what was the matter. She said Annie had threatened to poison her and her husband. I said, "Minnie, keep Annie from you." The next time she was at my house she said she had a quarrel with her sister. Next time I saw her she was dead. Mrs. Canovan asked me if there was anything the matter with Minnie when she left the house. I said no. I knew of jealousy between the prisoner and deceased. Minnie was to have been married in two months to a neighbor, John Rowley.

To Mr. Jones, deceased said that Mrs. Canovan told her to her face she would poison her.

Dr. Somerville said: I recognize the prisoner, whom I first saw on the 22nd of January. She came to the door and asked if I was home. My wife let her in and she followed her into the house. I was at dinner. I went to my office in about ten minutes. She came in and asked for some poison for foxes, saying she had three or four dozen hens and had lost all but three or four by foxes. She said she was living alone with a little boy, her husband having gone to the woods. I don't remember whether she asked particularly for strychnine. I advised her to keep it out of the way, and warned her about children. I gave her a drachm of strychnine. She paid me forty cents for it. Then she put it in her pocket and drew out a package and showed me a powder. I told her she had better burn it up or throw it away. The bottle I gave her was in the original package.

To Mr. Jones—Strychnine is sold in my vicinity for poisoning foxes, and I was not surprised at it being called for. There were several calls for it before I got it in. She gave me her name as Mrs. Canovan.

When Patrick Conovan was put on the stand defendant's counsel objected to his giving evidence unless he clearly understood that he was not compelled to.

The magistrate decided to take the evidence, noting Mr. Jones objection.

Witness said: The prisoner is my wife. We were married five years ago and live about two miles from the Tucker place in the house of Carralls. I lived with Mrs. Tucker all last winter, and then went on a farm of my own. After that I went to my father's and lived. I have been on good terms with Mr. and Mrs. Tucker. Never knew of them quarrelling with my wife. Saw a good deal of Minnie Tucker. She and my wife did not get along any too well. Whenever she would come to us they would be bad friends afterwards. I don't know the cause of the trouble. Heard my wife was jealous of her sister Minnie used to come to my house and visit. She charged me and Minnie with being too intimate one time the fall. I never thought that my wife would do her sister any harm.

On the day Minnie died my wife came and called to me from the field where she was on snow shoes. The dead girl was lying on the floor. Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Canovan both said she was going to die. All I heard her say was "cursed be the day." I got a horse and took the old woman to Nat Cummings. I did not suspect poisoning until after the death, then suspected and thought I was in some danger myself.

aturday morning old man Tucker was placed on the stand and his story seemed straightforward and honest. He evidently is the best of the lot. He said Annie could not have bought poison for foxes as she had no hens. He believed Minnie died of poison, and believed Annie and her mother knew all about it. The old man is too old to work and it would be a true Christian act if a proper home were provided for him.

Mrs. Tucker was arraigned yesterday and James Tucker and Mrs. Carroll testified. The case looks very hard for both Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Canovan. Today they will be committed for trial in April. The testimony was very bad against the women.

We find in the Methodist Young People's Paper Onward the following eminently true expression about the Canadian Press. We agree with Onward in saying that the Press of Canada, taken for all in all, is as high-toned as that of any Country in the world. Our readers will have no difficulty in recognizing the Montreal Witness as the paper especially referred to.

"Nowhere, we think, is there a press of higher moral tone than that of our beloved country. It possesses, we think, the unique distinction of having a leading journal in its largest city which for over fifty years has been a moral crusader, a champion of reform. In all that time it has not published one liquor, or tobacco, or theatrical advertisement. At the sacrifice of much money it has stood true to its high principle, and stands foursquare, a tower of strength, against all the winds that blow."

T. C. B. Milberry then took the stand and said in Hartland they had received the best reception they ever got. He advised the Hartland people to get the three members in a corner and make them promise a bridge. He gave excellent pointers on butter-making, which will be published complete later. He said Hartland could support a cheese factory and buttery in fine style. He knew a man who was going to start a first class flour mill in this county. After Mr. Milberry, Col. McCrae spoke very interestingly and at length on "Farm Life" and as a story teller he is a genius. Also of this address will an account be given next week.

J. T. A. Dibblee, M. P. P. said he stood as strong for the Bridge as ever; that he had a genuine personal interest in it, and renewed his pledges with regard to getting an appropriation.

C. L. Smith, M. P. P., in his frank open manner said there was no question that interested him so much as the Hartland Bridge.

H. H. McCain, M. P. P. said no man could be more interested in a Bridge than he.

Mr. Labillois thanked the Band and the Choir for their services and was proud of the demonstration and knew it was not altogether on account of the Bridge. He then spoke eloquently on the unity of all Canadians, no matter of what origin.

J. K. Fleming called to the stand said the meeting had been of good interest to him, and should certainly be profitable. He said the M. P. P.'s didn't half know how bad a Bridge was wanted, but he appreciated their heart felt devotion, and hoped they would not die until the Bridge was built.

E. M. Shaw, lately returned from a tour to the Pacific Coast, spoke interestingly of his trip.

After the meeting the speakers and a large number of citizens adjourned to the Riverside where an oyster stew was enjoyed. Here a very enjoyable hour was spent, but owing to the visitors having to drive to Woodstock it was cut short. Chas. Rideout of the Band gave one of his highly interesting negro stump speeches which was well applauded. A toast was drunk to the Queen when the company left the tables. In the hall of the hotel T. C. B. Milberry gave a song, the band played, and rousings cheers were given Mr. Labillois, the band and the visiting members, then the affair was ended.

The other day, Myer's auctioneer, whom we have called "a joker," among his other tricks offer a genuine $5 bill for sale. The bid $1.25 and he could get no higher. He hardly knew what to think of the crowd, and shot a streak of fun at them, for the bill was freely examined, and found to be genuine but there was still "a scare" of some sort. Try that trick again, sonny, bet you'll lose.—Amherst Press.

Shattered Nerves.

The Most Prevalent Trouble Of The Century

It Attacks People of Both Sexes and All Ages—A Complete Breakdown Follows Unless Prompt Measures For Relief Are Taken.

From the Newmarket Era.

Probably the most prevalent trouble on this continent today is nervous prostration. How frequently we hear this term and yet how few appear to realize its full deadly import. Nervous prostration is to be found among people of all walks in life, and among children as well as adults. Among young people it is often the result of our high pressure system of education. Among those of more mature years it may be due to the cares of business, or to overwork, or worries in the home. But whatever the cause the inevitable result is a breaking down both mentally and physically unless prompt measures are taken to stay the ravages of the disease and restore the shattered nerve forces to their normal condition. One such sufferer who has regained health gives her experience for the benefit of those less fortunate. Miss Edith Draper who resides with her parents at Belhaven, Ont., is a young lady who is very popular among her circle of acquaintances and they all rejoice at her restoration to health. To a reporter who called upon her she gave the following particulars concerning her illness and cure. "You know," said the young lady, "how ill I was last winter when my friends feared I was going into a decline. In the early part of the winter both father and mother were attacked with la grippe, and I had to look after them as well as attend to the household work. The strain was more than I could stand, and the result was I fell ill. The doctor who was called in said my trouble was nervous prostration and that it would take considerable time for me to recover. Under his care I was after a short while able to leave my room and go about the house, but my nerves did not seem to regain their strength. My limbs would twitch as though I had St. Vitus' dance, I was subject to headaches, had a very poor appetite and was so weak that I could scarcely go about. I had been advised to try Pink Pills and one day spoke to the doctor about them, and he said he believed they would do me good. I got three boxes, and by the time I had used them I felt they were helping me and I got a further supply. By the time I had taken six boxes I was feeling stronger and better than I had for years. All the twitching in my limbs had disappeared and my nerves seemed as strong as ever they had been. I still took the pills for a little while longer to make certain that the cure was complete, and since the day I discontinued them I have not felt the slightest return of the trouble. I feel that my present excellent health is due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I am glad to be able to recommend them to any one whose nerves are in a shattered condition.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic medicine. By their use the blood is renewed, and the nerves made strong and vigorous, and in this way disease is driven from the system. As a spring medicine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. If feeling languid or "out-of-sorts" a box or two will restore you to vigorous activity. Ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and take nothing else.

EARLY CLOSING.

AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR.

DEAR EDITOR—Not having a whisper from the exponent of that early closing movement which caused such indignation in the hearts of a few by the fearless manner in which the writer expressed his views on the subject, sparing none. It struck me (as an editor you should know everything) that you could enlighten the community as to when the early closing hour will be put in force, or will it ever be in force? Is there any specific cause why it should not be enforced? Or do you know, (probably you do) the reason why it is not in force?

I think you stated in your paper at the time of the agitation that after Xmas minority had promised without fail to sign an agreement closing the stores at 8 p. m. This promise is not yet fulfilled and the indications are that it will never be. Neither was it intended to be fulfilled, so much for promises, but we expected more of the minority. We have come to the conclusion that the minority—no I mean the clerks in the stores, have no souls and therefore have no right to attend the meetings now being held in the village. It would have been a Christian act we think for the merchants to close their places of business and grant a little freedom of action to their employees, which would have been helpful to all, and especially as we feel they need some little grace to carry them through their daily toil, which, not being laborious is somewhat monotonous. Possibly Mr. Editor you may be able to throw some light on this side question, and if you have a view at all give it to us hard, and you may hear from us again.

TAX PAYER.

[To "Tax Payer" we can say that we do not know when the early closing scheme will go in force, or that it ever will. We really do not know any reason why it should not go in force; and we cannot undertake to explain why it has never been. We did state some time ago that all merchants would agree to early closing immediately after Christmas. This we published on the very best authority, getting the word from the merchants themselves. It certainly would be a fine thing if all merchants would follow the example set this week by Shaw & Dibblee—Editor.]

RAISING THE BLOCKADE.

Those who saw the break of the blockade on the Fredericton branch at Waasig say it was one of the grandest sights imaginable, but that a serious accident was narrowly averted. The drift was an immense one, as it was at least as long as five cars and as high as the windows. In this a train was stalled for about thirty hours. A plow with two engines was sent into this drift, but it stuck fast. The engines and plow were dug out and taken fully a mile down the track. Then the throttles were thrown wide and under a full head of steam they raced at the drift, the half dozen imprisoned passengers, the train hands and the few local inhabitants standing a respectable distance to watch it. There was a thud as the plow struck the snow, and then the plow and engines were buried out of sight in a whirlwind of snow that rose fully fifty feet in the air. The spectators watched the brilliant spectacle with interest, and when the snow settled down they saw the blockade was raised and that their train had narrowly escaped destruction, for the engineers had not been able to stop the plow, so terrible was its speed, until the nose of the plow was within a few inches of the stalled train.

Allison murdered Mrs. Orr out of revenge, having been refused permission to go on an excursion to Niagara Falls. The murder was committed while Mrs. Orr was in the act of milking her cows she being shot down and afterwards struck with an axe. The body was buried in a field a short distance from the farm house.

FARM PRODUCE UNDER A TRAIN.

The railway whistle—who has not heard its piercing shriek?—was invented because of the destruction of a load of eggs. The first railways in England crossed many country roads, and the engineer had no way of giving warning of his approach except by blowing a tin horn. One day, in the year 1833 a farmer was crossing the railway track on one of the country roads, with a load of eggs and butter. Just as he reached the track a train approached. The engineman blew his horn lustily, but it was too late. Eighty dozen eggs and fifty pounds of butter were smashed into an indistinguishable mass. The railway company had to pay for the butter, eggs, horse and wagon, and naturally tried to avoid such accidents in the future. George Stephenson was appealed to, and the next day had a contrivance which, when attached to the engine boiler and the steam turned on, gave out a loud shrill sound. This contrivance developed into the locomotive whistle.

S. S. CONVENTION.

BRIGHTON PARISH S. S. CONVENTION MEETS AT WINDSOR.

A good representation of the S. S. workers of this Parish assembled in the Union Church at Windsor Centre on Monday afternoon last. The Field Secretary of the Provincial Association Rev. A. Lucas, was in attendance and of course his presence was of very practical value to the Convention. The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises led by the president John Barnett. After which the regular business was proceeded with. The president read the names of S. Hayden Shaw, A. W. Estabrooks and James Faulkner as nominating committee.

Reports of delegates was then called for. Mrs. Bruce Brown responded for the R. B. School of Lower Brighton. Their hour of meeting had been changed from afternoon to morning so as to have both the teaching and preaching service in the first part of the day. The interest was maintained by the workers although owing to the condition of the roads in their locality the attendance in the classes was not as good as formerly. This however was natural and no cause for discouragement. It had been thought advisable also to discontinue for a time the meeting of the Normal Class.

Hartland Union School J. T. G. Carr reported a slight depletion in numbers by the organization of a new school in the village. The Union school had enrolled 75 members with an average attendance of about 45. The difficulty in their school was not in securing the attendance of the classes but rather of the teachers. Mr. Carr also reported the organization since last convention of a Normal Class which was fortunate in possessing a teacher whose qualifications for the position were exceptional. Mr. A. A. Rideout, the teacher referred to, was one of the few in Carleton Co. who had written for and obtained the N. B. S. S. A's Diploma.

The Baptist school of Hartland was reported by Mr. C. J. Connolly. Their school had been in existence but a short time. The interest manifested and the progress made in that time was most encouraging. They had enrolled 65 members with an average attendance of 48. They had divided their school into seven classes. W. D. Keith had been recently appointed superintendent.

S. Hayden Shaw responded for the R. B. school of Hartland. The enrollment in January of this year was 98 with an average attendance during that month of 65. This school was perceptibly stronger for a Normal Class of 20 members taught by Mrs. Tracey. There were nine classes in the school with a Home Class. The president then called the attention of the convention to the fact that this school was the oldest in the County, being in existence about 70 years.

The Union school, Lower Windsor, was represented by T. H. Belyea. Their number was small but the interest good. Their school could be kept open but 9 months in the year. They had an average attendance of 25.

In the Windsor Centre (Union) school there were 5 classes and an average attendance of 60 members. The financial and spiritual conditions were reported to be excellent. The Union School at East Windsor was reported to be an excellent working school—not large in numbers but they took hold of the Bible study enthusiastically. Henry London was the superintendent.

Owing probably to the bad condition of the roads some of the schools in the parish had sent no delegates, they were Carlisle, Mainstream, Cloverdale and Upper Brighton. Information was given concerning these schools by those present who possessed it. The president announced that the next number on the program was an address by the Field Secretary, who said that he was glad no subject had been assigned him as it left him free to address them on the reports of delegates to which he had just listened. He then proceeded to outline his talk on the blackboard which included the school, the teacher, S. S. extension, house to house visitation, home department, all of which were means to the great end for which the Sunday School existed—the winning of souls.

Rev. Mr. Corbett who was present was then called upon to address the convention. His subject was "The necessity of Home Study of the Lesson." This address was necessarily abbreviated and compressed because of the short time at his disposal, as he was under the necessity of returning to Hartland in time for a 7 o'clock meeting, but it was truly "multum in parvo". The box was then passed for question slips which were to be answered at the evening session, and the meeting adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session opened with a devotional service of 20 minutes led by Rev. A. Lucas. The minutes of the afternoon session were then read and approved. The question box was opened and questions answered by the Field Secretary. The nominating committee then submitted their report. For President, John Barnett; Vice Pres., James Faulkner; Sect., Geo. Shaw; Executive Com., Mrs. G. C. Watson, S. Hayden Shaw, A. A. Belyea and W. D. Keith, all of which were elected by the convention. The feature of the evening session was a Normal Lesson taught by Mr. Lucas. Subject: "Five factors in the preparation of the World for the Advent of Christ."

After some remarks by President Barnett on Financial matters and prayer by the secretary the last session of a very profitable convention was closed.

A TRUE STORY.

Some years ago a little Welsh boy, stole out of the poor-house of his native village and ran across the country.

He was a pauper, that is, he was fed, clothed and educated by the district, the people being taxed to pay for it all.

There is no disgrace in honest poverty, but in that country to be brought up in a poor-house is almost as bad as being reared in a jail.

The boy was ambitious, he had a soul above his surroundings. He wanted to be something more than a farm hand, working like a slave for twenty-five cents a week and his board, and yet that was his destiny unless he ran away.

He slept under a hedge, and the next morning sawed some wood in payment for his breakfast.

Day after day he did the same kind of thing, earning each meal by the performance of some work.

Each day he got farther away from the hated poor-house, and nearer the coast.

At last he reached a seaport and tried to get a position on board a vessel, sailing, he cared not where. But he was so thin, and pale, and looked so delicate, that no one would employ him.

Then he risked all. He crawled aboard a freight steamer bound for New Orleans, hid himself in a coal bunk and for three days laid there nearly dead with starvation, sea sickness and dust.

He was discovered and dragged on deck. A whipping with a rope end and hard work for the remainder of the passage, were his punishments.

When the ship reached New Orleans he feared he might be sent to prison, so he sought safety in flight.

For weeks he picked up a precarious living, and at last had enough money to enable him to buy a shoeblack's outfit.

Thirty years later, a great crowd assembled to welcome a man to England, a man who had become the friend of kings, a man everyone believed worthy of the highest honor.

A prince was the first to shake him by the hand and bid him welcome.

This man had discovered and explored lands where white men had not trod before.

He had added to the world's knowledge and had achieved the greatest renown.

The queen invited him to dine with her, dignitaries of the church sounded his praises, and ladies of high degree sought his company.

Success followed success, and he became the husband of a beautiful lady, rich, honored and respected.

He entered Parliament and was listened to by the greatest statesmen of the great empire of Great Britain.

And this man with honors heaped upon him, was the same who in his boyhood's days had been the poor-house pauper, the stowaway, the shoe-black of New Orleans, and now the honored friend of kings and princes.

He had discarded his own name, and taken that of the benefactor whose boots he blacked in New Orleans, and who had taken a fancy to the lad.

His name, as it appears on the page of history, will immortalize that benefactor, for Henry M. Stanley, the explorer, owes everything to him.

His strangely eventful life proves that nothing is impossible to those who are ready to seize on opportunities, and dare to ascend, no matter what obstacles may be on the hill of life.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

A Pedlar Sent to Prison for Representing an Imitation Pill to be the Same as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—A Far Reaching Decision.

MONTREAL, Jan. 24., 1898.—A case of more than ordinary interest to the public came before Judge Lafontaine here today, the fact being as follows: For some time past one H. E. Migner has been going about peddling a pill which he represented as being the same as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. placed the matter in the hands of Detective Haynes, of the Canadian secret service, who soon had collected sufficient evidence to warrant the arrest of Migner on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. Meantime Migner had left Montreal, going to St. John N. B. On his arrival in that city he was at once placed under arrest and an official sent to bring him back here. He was brought before Judge Lafontaine this morning on two charges, and pleaded guilty of both. It was pointed out that his offence was a grave one and left him liable to a lengthy term of imprisonment. The counsel for the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. stated that his clients did not wish to press for severe punishment at this time; they only wished to establish the fact that representing an imitation pill to be the same as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was a crime which left the perpetrator liable to a lengthy imprisonment. On one charge the judge then imposed a sentence of ten days, with the option of a fine of ten dollars, and in the other case a sentence of two days jail without the option of a fine.

This decision is likely to have a far-reaching effect, as it seems to establish the principle that substitutes and those who sell imitations representing them to be "the same as" Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, are liable under the criminal code, which is in force all over the Dominion, and it will no doubt, to a considerable extent, put an end to this nefarious business, as it is evident from the fact that the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. went to the expense of bringing this man back from so great a distance as St. John, that they intend sparing no expense to protect both the public and themselves in such cases.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

Old Aunt Dinah was a colored woman with a remarkably strong voice who would sing and cry "glory" with such vigor as to be heard above all the rest of the congregation, but she was of an unpleasantly "singing" disposition. It was the custom at the missionary meeting which she attended to take up the collection during the singing of the hymn "Fly abroad, thou mighty gospel" in the midst of which Aunt Dinah always threw back her head, closed her eyes and sang away at the top of her lungs until the plate had been passed. The collector, who was an old man of plain speech, observed this habit, and one evening when he came to her seat he surveyed her rapt countenance and then said bluntly, "Look a-heah Aunt Dinah, what's de good ob you' a-singin an a-singin 'Fly abroad, thou mighty gospel,' ef yo' doan' gib nuffin to make her fly?"—Exchange.

Many people say the "Sunbeam" Blend Tea that Keswick sells is the best they ever used.

WANTED:—A smart active agent to canvass Victoria Co. in the interest of the ADVERTISER. Address, Fred H. Stevens, Hartland N. B.

A. Thornton is erecting a building opposite Carr's store, to be used as a sample room for the convenience of guests of the Riverside Hotel.

Hartland pays higher prices for produce than Woodstock does, according to the market reports published in the local papers. In Hartland oats bring three cents a bushel more than they do in Woodstock.

The ADVERTISER wants an intelligent and newsy reporter in each of the following places; Centreville, Bath, Florenceville, Wicklow, Avondale, Jacksonville, Knowlesville, Glassville, Andover, Perth Grand Falls, Fort Fairfield, etc. We pay our correspondents Write for terms.

The attention of the ADVERTISER has been called to the difference in prices of produce in Woodstock and in Hartland. Hartland's prices are the higher. The most noticeable difference is in oats, Hartland paying 2 to 3 cents more than Woodstock buyers. "Comparisons are odious" but the farmer who trade at Hartland ought not to think so.

During the past year there has been considerable agitation for Hartland's incorporation. The place is rapidly forging ahead and is becoming of much commercial importance. Already it stands second as an export station north of St. John; every week at this season of the year sees several cars going out from here. We understand several new buildings are to be erected this summer. The growth of the place demands a more vigorous municipal government than can be got from the county council. The streets are a disgrace and the sidewalks are worse. Local affairs need the toning up all along the line that a local board of councillors could give. It is to be regretted that at the present session of the legislature no action is to be taken.—Telegraph.

FRIENDLY ENCOURAGEMENT.

MR. EDITOR:—I have been a reader of your lively little paper since it first saw the light of day, and it was with much interest and pleasure that I watched its progress in the path of prosperity and enterprise. Starting as it did almost at the same time that Hartland began its career of prosperity it has kept abreast of the times, until now it has all the dignity of an enterprising, wideawake country newspaper; and, judging from the increased advertising patronage it enjoys, and the prompt manner in which it deals with matters of vital importance to the welfare of Hartland and the county of Carleton, it is only a question of a very short time when it will rank with newspapers of larger size. Indeed the country weekly newspaper contains more really interesting reading matter than many of the great dailies of large cities do in seven days.

One pleasing feature of the ADVERTISER is the prominence it gives to agricultural topics. In fact it might be made the nucleus of a first class agricultural newspaper. There is no subject to my mind, of more importance to the prosperity of our province than that of agriculture. It is the basis of a country's wealth, the most useful of the useful arts. Although not a farmer myself, I have always taken the keenest interest in all matters relating to the developing of the agricultural resources of our country. Our farmers are highly favored with a healthy climate, fertile soil and good markets, and with the increased facilities they now have for the rapid transportation of their produce and the advantages afforded them by an ever expanding and rapidly increasing domestic and export trade, there is no reason why the New Brunswick farmer may not rank with the leading agriculturalists of America. Since the denunciation by England of the German and Belgian treaties and the obtaining to Canada of preferential trade, the outlook for a large traffic in agricultural products with the mother country and other portions of the Empire is very encouraging. The larger the export trade the larger the demands for home consumption, and this ought to stimulate the farmer to put forth his best efforts to increase the quality and quantity of what he raises, and to find out and study the best methods of producing the best results.

The encouragement which the government has given to Dairying, has stimulated this industry to a great extent, as is evidenced by the large number of butter and cheese factories in operation in the Province and the prospective ones to be established in the near future, as well as in the increased interest taken by enterprising farmers in this industry.

In conclusion I wish the ADVERTISER every success, feeling assured that it will meet with the encouragement and patronage which it so well merits.

GRAND FALLS WILL BOOM.

Engineer C. L. B. Miles of Andover, N. B., was in town Saturday, in company with James Hayes of Caribou. Mr. Miles has very recently completed a survey for water power at Grand Falls for a company headed by Mr. Hayes, who has a local charter for putting in works. The survey made by another company resulted in a plan for a sort of a canal from the upper to the lower basin, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile. The Miles survey takes the water right at the head of the falls, and swings around near the old grist mill, a distance of only 300 feet. More than 100,000 h. p. can be developed at this point. It is proposed to begin early in the spring to put in electric works which can furnish power for any quantity of milling or manufacturing purpose. We look for lively times at Grand Falls this year.—Caribou Republican.

Five years ago the little daughter of Mrs. Turton of Moose Mountain, Manitoba, disappeared and could not be traced and the mother's efforts to locate her were futile, until recently Rev. Mr. Sproule of Pierre, N. D., who had heard of the case, found a white child in possession of a wandering tribe of Indians. He had the child photographed on receiving the picture Mrs. Turton and her neighbors at once recognized it as her daughter. The girl, who is now 9 years of age, is on her way to Winnipeg.

Amid all the conjectures as to why Carleton County oats are quoted in St. John six cents lower than Ontario oats it might not come amiss to make the following note: H. M. & H. P. Stevens have a mashing mill in Somerville. They have brought to them oats of every description. One man brought to them 20 bushels of grain (?) which he called oats, but which contained every weed indigenous to this climate, and besides from this lot of "grain" Messrs Stevens took out one heaping half bushel of gravel, or by weight 10 per cent. As stones of this kind have no commercial value it ought not be surprising that Carleton Co. oats are low.

How a Woman May Retain Beauty.

True beauty rests on plain living and high thinking, on blood, bearing and fraims. It is in one sense a relative thing. To dip far into philosophy on the subject is not necessary. Beauty means harmony, balance, the mental fire of sensibility, as well as bodily attractiveness. Banish fretting, trivial perturbation, scowling, whining, wailing, excessive laughter and pointless smiling.

In the first place, health is all important. Flesh texture and tint, for example, depend upon it. A complexion lacking luster, plumpness and elasticity, shows a lack somewhere in the vital or nutritive system. A mild diet, gentle temperature, even digestion, open air exercise, sleep and a tranquil mind pertain to good looks. Mistakes in diet begin usually in childhood. Often a girl sits down to a potato and pickles, several cups of strong tea, pies, cakes, ices and fiery condiments. If meat be on the bill of fare, there is a chance that it has been spoiled in the cooking.

As a result, when the girl is 20 her eyes are dull, teeth yellow, gums pale, lips wan, flesh flaccid and skin unyielding. Recourse is had to padding, face washes, stains and belladonna. The habits of life are unaltered. Before there can be an improvement a change must be made and firmly persisted in. The diet, while generous, must be temperate. Peppared soups, stews, game, pates, ragouts and spices are not good for the complexion. What is termed the epicurean woman will have before she is 30 a blotched face and flabby flesh. Women of nervous and sanguine temperament should restrict themselves to a diet of eggs, milk, bread, fruit, light broths, etc. Pure water should be the daily beverage.

A great deal of beauty at low cost can be obtained through the plentiful use of rainwater, sunlight and open air exercise. Frequent bathing is a healthful luxury. Bodily exercise should be carried on temperately, its aim being facile muscles, supple joints and pliant limbs—in a word, physical beauty.—Science Siftings.

A Japanese tearoom may be made by covering the walls, two-thirds up, with matting, topped by a narrow shelf entirely around the room. Above the shelf fill in with Japanese prints of coarse fabric nicely decorated. Cover the ceiling with Japanese paper crossed with bamboo. Suspend several Japanese lanterns. Cover the floor with matting harmonizing with the wall. Dainty bamboo chairs and bamboo stools should be placed here and there. On a table in the center of the room have a tea set. A service can be purchased from any of the larger Japanese stores. Cover the windows with the Japanese slit curtains, inside of which put Japanese silk curtains daintily festooned. Dark blue or red may be the prevailing color of the room. If you select red, have the table and chairs black.—Ladies' Home Journal

Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills Loose the Shackles of Constipation and Stomach Disorders.

In summing up the causes of human misery it will be found that by far the greatest sources of disease originate in derangement of the Stomach and Bowel. People will abuse their stomachs and neglect the calls of nature till they bring on themselves her vengeance. To go back to nature's paths, to have the Stomach and Bowels once more fulfilling their function properly, to clear the system of all the results and consequences of poison accumulating and circulating in the Blood is the work of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Live Pills.

Mr. Thos. Miller, Lucknow, Ont., says that he was afflicted with Stomach Trouble and Constipation for about 20 years, during which time he tried almost everything he heard of, but to no purpose. Mr. H. Day, the popular druggist, sent him a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The first dose he took did him good, and they have proved so effectual in his case that he recommends them to all those afflicted as he was.

These Pills may be had of all Dealers at 25 CENTS A BOX.

NOT SO FUNNY.

In a Pullman car on a English railway recently, says an exchange, a wag-gish young man, noticing an elderly gentleman trying to put on a light dust-coat went to his assistance. While thus engaged the young man observed a good-sized whiskey-flask protruding from one of the old gentleman's pockets, and thought it a good opportunity for a joke. Having helped the stranger on with his coat, therefore, he pulled out the flask and said:
 'Will you take a drink?'
 The old man did not recognise the bottle, and drawing himself up, remarked rather severely:
 'No, sir: I never drink.'
 'It won't hurt you,' insisted the wag; 'its the best.'
 'Young man,' said the old gentleman speaking loud enough for all in the carriage to hear, 'if you persist in drinking whiskey you will be a ruined man at forty. It is the curse of the land. When I was a boy my mother died, and the last thing she did was to call me to her bedside, and say 'John, promise me that you will never touch a drop of liquor.'
 'Oh, well, in that case,' said the joker 'I must drink it myself,' whereupon, suiting the action to the words, he pulled out the cork and took a good drink. A moment later he dropped the bottle with an exclamation which certainly did not sound like a blessing, and yelled, 'Ugh! ugh! My mouth's allraw!'
 Then it was that the old gentleman discovered his loss, and to the amusement of the other passengers, said:
 'Ah, young man, you will be careful before you take another man's property again. I am Doctor——, and that bottle contained some quinine and iron for one of my patients.'
 The young man got out at the next station.

WEST SIDE NOTES.

As the West Side is a growing and prosperous section of Carleton Co, we consider that it should be regularly represented in your Roundabout column and if this is printed we will take it for granted you are of the same opinion, and we will write again.
 Severe colds have been trumps here for sometime. Henry K York is at present laid up with a cold. Mrs S T Sipprell is fast recovering from a severe sickness.
 Ruel W Shaw had a serious siege with Congestion, but he is on his horse' again.
 This has been a season of accidents for West Siders. Mrs R W Shaw is just done nursing a broken arm, while R A Rideout is about to discard a cane which he has been obliged to use for some time on account of an injured ankle.
 Several citizens of the West Side are talking of going to the Pacific Coast in the spring Is this a symptom of Klondike fever?
 Say! we wonder if every section of the country is possessed of so many Krokinole kranks as is the West Side? For our part we wrefere Whist, for it is 'Such a lovely Game.'
 Miss Bertie DeWitt was calling on friends in Somerville last Monday.
 J Alec Lowrey, who formerly held down the position of clerk in Bowser's store at Victoria, was in the town last week renewing old acquaintances. Alec is now located in Houlton.
 The 'Victoria Short Notice Band' made a trip to P. mbroke on Wednesday evening.

 Charles E Gallupe, of Somerville, has returned from Smyrna where he has been employed for some months.

FRED H. STEVENS, - Editor & Publisher
HARTLAND, Carleton Co., N. B.

P. O. Box, 17.

It is the ADVERTISER's good fortune to be able to bring out a new poet—a brand new Canadian genius. His production appears elsewhere in this issue, and is entitled "A True Woman." Very evidently Mr. R. Ernest Linwood is a very young man, or is singularly deluded. It is not the intention of the ADVERTISER to poke fun at the young bard's venture, for should we try a thousand years we could not produce anything so like a poem; besides our supply of sentimentalism suddenly ran low soon as we fairly entered into journalism. Notwithstanding all we would like to criticize Mr. Linwood's poem in a friendly yet frank manner.

In the second stanza the author depicts a radiant moon sailing across a "sparkling starlit sky." This is visionary; never in all his life has Mr. Linwood gazed on such a scene: comparatively few stars come out on moonlight nights.

The third stanza had better been omitted for the sake of the lady's reputation; or for fear her husband might see this issue of the ADVERTISER and seek out and annihilate our young genius. The next two stanzas are much the same. The seventh makes the title of the poem an incongruity. Although she broke her plighted troth, which, by the way, was not lightly given, the poor credulous author still calls her "a true woman." In the next stanza the poet has the audacity to say her marrying another was a sad mistake. Better let her and her husband make that avowal.

Away down in the eleventh verse the bard takes it again for granted that his idol's marriage was a mistake. Yea, he takes it for granted that she, too, has "an aching heart to carry now and ever."

We have already given too much space to this critique, and for the sake of the author's feelings must admit we have dealt with the negative side of the poem. But we trust our criticism will not serve to blight Mr. Linwood's aspirations. The truth is we shall be glad to hear again from him. But let us advise him "A true woman" delights not so much in sentimentalism as in good common every day common sense and sand. This is also true in the case of newspaper men and the reading public.

* * *

One year ago today the ADVERTISER made its bow to the public, craving the good graces of the people. The first voyage across the "journalistic sea" has been fairly calm, so much so that it is with little hesitancy that we prepare for another. The ADVERTISER was launched with much trepidation for it was by no means certain that the venture would be a success. But we must thank the people of Hartland and Carleton County for this very generous support. While doing this we wish to impress the people with the fact that at the commencement of another year we need their support really more than ever. We trust we shall get it. Many subscriptions fall due this week and a prompt payment is desired.

A TRUE WOMAN.

The halcyon days of yore, love
Will they ever come again!
Our hearts then beat as one, love,
As we walked hand in hand.

The moon rode high and radiant,
In a sparkling starlit sky;
We viewed the scene so beautiful,
With a happy, blissful sigh.

You were coy and hard to win, love,
But my ardor found a way;
Your cheek pressed close to mine, love
And I feel it still today.

My heart beat high with happiness,
The future gay and bright,
As you pledged me your troth, love,
'Neath moonbeams sparkling light.

I pressed you to my heart, sweet love,
And vows were fondly given;
That bound our hearts together, love,
Which were registered in Heaven.

I have wandered far and near, love,
But never have come to me;
The blissful days we spent, love,
Down by the boundless sea.

For since—another you have wed'
And my heart is sad and lone;
As I recall the happy day,
When you were all my own.

It was all a sad mistake, love,
The parting 'twixt thee and me;
For you were all that life held dear,
And I your affinity.

But since that time has fled and gone,
I now most love to dream
Of the day and hour when last we met,
And parted by the stream.

Your kisses I still seem to feel,
And here you tearfully say;
"God bless, and keep you from all harm,
While roaming life's rough way"

Was it wise dear heart to break the tie?
That bound us two together?
And cause us each an aching heart
To carry now and ever?

Only He who rules the starry dome,
And fills all space below,
Can read the throbbings of my heart,
My misery, pain and woe.

Each hour I pray for grace, love,
Should I chance to cross your way,
To remember that another man,
Calls you his wife today.

But this so hard will be, love,
Since the vows up there in Heaven,
Made by us one blissful eve,
By neither was lightly given.

Farewell, farewell, my own sweetheart,
Though on earth we meet no more;
I, at last with love may greet thee,
On that bright, celestial shore.

R. ERNEST LINWOOD.

The Most Prominent are Fashionable.

Dispepsia or Indigestion has become a fashionable disease. There are very few individuals who have not at various times experienced the miserable feeling caused by defective digestion. No pen can describe the keen suffering of the body, and the agony and anguish of mind endured by the Dyspeptic. Dr La Londe, of 236 Pine Ave. Montreal, says, "When I ever run across chronic cases of Dispepsia I always prescribe Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and my patients generally have quick relief."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

A BRIEF RESUME OF DOINGS AT THE CAPITOL.

The House was formally opened on Thursday, 3rd, and the affair was brilliant.

To investigate all subsidies granted to the Drummond County Railway Company, and all the circumstances connected with them, is the policy of the government. Sir Wilfrid Laurier gives notice of a motion to appoint a select committee of the House to make the investigation.

The government has refused to grant the application of the Chignecto Marine Railway Co. for extension of time for the completion of work.

The debate on the address took place on Friday and Sir Charles Tupper spoke four hours in reply, and in reply to him Sir Wilfrid spoke at length.

Since the foregoing the Yukon Railway has been heatedly discussed by the House principally by Foster and Blair.

The plebiscite question is agitating the minds of the temperance people in Ottawa and elsewhere. The Dominion Alliance have sent a strong deputation to present their claims to the Government.

On Monday the debate on the address was lengthily discussed by Foster, Sir Hibbert Tupper and others.

Regarding the Yukon Railway the following are the terms of the contract. The subsidy was twenty-five thousand acres a mile and the distance a hundred and fifty miles. These lands were to be selected in blocks of six miles by three and no fewer than eight were to be selected together, making the whole block twenty-four miles in length. This block consisted of four sections belonging to the company and four to the government, alternately. They reserve all miner's claims and streams and water courses named in the contract were exempt from selection. The reason they gave twenty-five thousand acres a mile as a subsidy was because they could not get the contractors to take less. Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann demanded more, but the government got them down to twenty-five thousand acres a mile. What was five or ten thousand acres in that immense territory?

BOTH ARE ACCUSED.

Both Annie L. Canovan and Mary Tucker, her mother, have been committed for trial at next Circuit Court for the murder of Minnie Tucker. Mr. Jones asked for a postponement till the stomach was analyzed, but Magistrate Dibblee held there was sufficient evidence advanced to hold both for trial.

Where Specialists Failed Dr. Chase Cured Catarrh.

James Spence, Clachan, Ont., writes:—"I had been a sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years. It became chronic and I had given up hopes of ever being cured when advised by a friend to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I at once started and am pleased to state three boxes effected a complete cure, and I heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from Catarrh."

WHEAT RAISING.

A meeting of the Woodstock Dairy Association was held in Cedar Hall School House on Monday evening. Vice President Perkins occupied the chair. The members showed their appreciation of the Co-Operative Farmer, by renewing their subscriptions for another year. An interesting discussion on wheat growing took place. Mr. I. E. Slipp's experience in wheat raising is about as follows:—In 1895 he sowed 3 lbs. of wheat and raised 1 bus. Again he sowed 6 bus. on 2½ acres of good clean land and harvested 100 bus. of good wheat, and from 4 bus. sowing he raised 85 and again from 10 bus. he got 170 bus. He raised wheat until the price of flour dropped, when he thought it paid better to buy flour. Wheat should be sown as early in spring as the ground could be worked. High land was better than intervale. Wheat should average at least 30 bus. per acre. The members generally were favorable to raising more wheat. The following resolution moved by Lee Raymond and seconded by I. E. Slipp, was carried:—That in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable and would be profitable for the farmers of this province, to raise a much larger quantity of wheat than heretofore. Also, Resolved, that to give a bonus for the growing of wheat or towards the erection of flouring mills would be an unjustifiable expenditure of public money.—Dispatch.

THE F. B. DENOMINATION,
TO THE EDITOR OF THE ADVERTISER.

A communication in the St. John Telegraph of Jan. 25, and copied by you, and headed "While known as 'Orserites' they demand that the name 'Free Baptist' be taken away from that Denomination and bestowed on 'Them'" is somewhat misleading. I am interested in the Free Baptist Denomination and can give facts as few others can. I have in my possession the Church Book of the first church ever organized in Hartland which is nearly 54 years ago. I was present at its organization. Rev. G. W. Orser was chosen pastor and remained such until July, 1874. I became a member of the church in 1857, and acted as clerk until July 1874. The church was incorporated in 1854 as the Free Christian Baptist Church. In July 1874 I reported the church to the 2nd District meeting. A motion was passed censuring the report, and a committee was sent to visit the church. Rev. G. W. Orser, pastor, was present and a number of others. A demand was made of the church, signed by some professors of religion, members of the church, and some wicked men, that the church get some other than G. W. Orser as pastor and that the meeting house be deeded to the Conference. The committee sanctioned the demand but the church would not consent. The church had at that time 38 members. The committee organized a church of seven members, the two that made the demand and five others, leaving 36 homeless, and the church they scattered was the only one G. W. Orser was a member of, and according to their rules, although pastor of a number of churches he had no right to preach in any Free Christian Baptist church from that time.

In October 1894 he asked to withdraw from the denomination. They allowed him to, and notified the churches that he had no right to preach or administer ordinances after his dismissal. Some of the F. C. B. people wanted the school houses closed against him, and the meeting-house at the place he lived and helped to build and which he owned.

Large numbers in different places wanted him to organize a denomination and he decided to do so. He settled on "The Free Baptist Denomination" as the name for it. He asked advice of two lawyers and they told him it would not interfere with the title of any other church. Consequently on November 23, 1874, he organized the Free Baptist Church at Carlisle with a membership of over 40; and in a few days he organized another at Hartland with a membership of over 20; and in December organized one at Lower Wakefield, which soon numbered over 100 members. In July, 1875, there were established eight or ten churches and we established our first Free Baptist Conference at East Florenceville, and organized the Free Baptist Denomination. We also organized a church of 44 members at that place.

Today our churches number over 50 with about 2000 members; 14 ministers; and three licentiates. In the past year we have baptized and added to our churches nearly as many as the F. C. B. church has.

We do not want the Free Christian Baptist Conference's name, but the name we have a right to, and which we expect to get—the "Free Baptist Denomination."

Is your town booming out there in the mining districts, Slicks?

I should say so. It's more wonderful than magic. I pitched my tent in a hole in the ground one evening, and when I waked up I was in the cellar of a union depot.
