

THE BATTLEGROUND IN GALICIA SHIFTS FROM THE DNEISTER TO THE RIVER SAN

LLOYD GEORGE A STORM CENTRE BUT THE BIGGEST FIGURE IN GREAT BRITAIN

Minister of Munitions Arouses Criticism He Also Has the Power to Generate Enthusiasm — British Press Still Blaming Late Government For too Much "Red Tape" — Letter from Colin McKay.

Special Staff Correspondence of The Standard
London, June 28.—Manifestations of the rampant individualism of the British people often take forms that might be considered treasonable in Canada. In spite of a Defence of the Realm Act, which puts the people under semi-martial law, the individualist spirit asserts itself in trenchant criticism of the government and everything else. When the coalition government was formed most of the big daily papers declared a truce, announcing their wholehearted support and would not indulge in any criticism except of a serious and helpful kind. But in a few days they were growling and grumbling because they were dissatisfied with some minor appointments made by the new ministry. Weekly papers, and Sunday papers with tremendous circulations, while urging that it was the duty of the nation to support the new ministry, proceeded to ironically criticize the disposition of portfolios: called it a ministry of politicians and theorists, and bluntly and even angrily expressed dissatisfaction that political considerations should have been allowed to drive Sir John Fisher from the Admiralty, and deprive the nation of the services of a seaman in whom it had the fullest confidence. John Bull, a weekly with an immense circulation, edited by an ex-M.P., published a satirical editorial, dealing with the new government under the caption "Out of the Frying Pan." On the first day the new government faced parliament an Irishman arose on the floor of the house and delivered a fierce attack on Premier Asquith, accusing him of a deliberate purpose to destroy the Liberal party and overthrow the British constitution by trying to run the country with a government which had not the sanction of the electorate. Apparently he was prepared to accuse the premier of more crimes, but the speaker compelled him to take his seat. (Continued on page 2.)

PREMIER SAILS FOR ENGLAND TOMORROW CRUSHED TO DEATH IN SHAFT OF COAL MINE

With Lady Borden Will Leave Today for New York—Gen. Hughes Leaves on Saturday

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, June 28.—Sir Robert Borden and Lady Borden accompanied by R. B. Bennett, M. P. for Calgary, and one of the premier's secretaries, Joseph Boyce, left Ottawa at 4 o'clock for New York whence they will sail for England on the Adriatic on Wednesday morning. The Prime Minister expects to be absent for from six to ten weeks. Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, will be acting Premier until the return of Sir George Foster who has been engaged on a speaking tour in New Brunswick for the past few weeks.

The Premier will be followed across by Major Gen. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, who in company with J.J. Carrick, his representative at the front will leave for England on Saturday next.

The visit of the Prime Minister will be partly for health and recuperative purposes. He will undoubtedly visit the front as did Sir Geo. Perley recently, the latter having the unique experience of listening to the Germans converse in their trenches 40 yards from where he himself was.

There will, however, be a considerable amount of business connected with the Prime Minister's visit. He will confer with his confidential adviser, Sir George Perley, acting high commissioner, on many topics of interest to the Dominion. He will also visit the camps of the Canadian troops and enquire of the home authorities as to the requirements in connection therewith, what is expected from Canada, etc.

The question of war orders placed in the Dominion will also be discussed at length. The question is a vexed one among the manufacturers of the east, and there appears to be considerable misapprehension and confusion especially in the matter of shells, the manufacturers claiming that while Great Britain is clamoring for millions of war Canadian factories eager to make shells are not receiving orders commensurate with their capacity.

The question of finance for Canada's prosecution of her part in the war will be another topic of discussion.

Westville, N. S., June 28.—Geo. M. Valentine and John H. MacDonald, employees of the Drummond Colliery, were instantly killed early tonight, and two others Stewart and Matatall, had a narrow escape from a similar fate. All belonged to the night shift and had only entered the mine a short time before the accident. The men were killed by rapidly descending cars in the main slope, both victims being terribly crushed. Both men were about thirty-five years of age and married.

Valentine leaves a widow, and MacDonald a widow and family of small children.

TWO COMMISSIONERS IN CANADA FOR THE SALVATION ARMY

Montreal, June 28.—The Salvation Army in Canada will have two commissioners on and after July 1st, one remaining at Toronto, with headquarters at Toronto, and the other for western Canada, with headquarters at Winnipeg. A statement to this effect was given out in Montreal tonight by Commissioner Lamb of the Salvation Army headquarters staff at London, who is the Salvation Army international secretary for Canada. Commissioner Richards, at present commissioner for the whole Dominion, will remain at Toronto, in charge of eastern Canada, which covers all territory east of Port William, as well as Newfoundland and the Bermudas. For western Canada a new territorial jurisdiction will be established, under Commissioner Charles Sowton, of the Salvation Army headquarters, London.

Commissioners Lamb and Sowton arrived in Montreal today on the steamship Gramplan.

Canada has already obtained and voted $150,000,000 of British money for war purposes. At the present rate of recruiting and equipping it is estimated that the latest appropriation of $100,000,000 will not suffice for the fiscal year and further heavy borrowings will have to be made.

Russians Making Stubborn Stand on the San to Keep Enemy Back From Warsaw

Berlin Reports Fall of Halicz in Galicia—Fierce Battle Raging Along the San—Grand Duke Re-organizes His Forces—New Cabinet Returns to Petrograd from the Front.

London, June 28.—Berlin reports the fall of the Galician town of Halicz, and says that the Austro-Germans have crossed the Dniester river, which means that the five days desperate rear-guard action by the Russians has ended in their retirement. However, the stubborn resistance of this flank of the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian armies, has undoubtedly enabled him to reform his lines along the River Bug, virtually without interference.

The River San now takes the place of the Dniester as the scene of a sanguinary battle in the Russian effort to prevent the investment of Warsaw. Petrograd admits the retirement of the Russians to the River Gniza Lipa, which is some eighty miles from the frontier, and falls into the Dniester at Halicz, but military experts do not expect heavy fighting along that river.

They express the opinion that the next serious battle probably will occur along the Zlota Lipa river, which runs parallel to the Gniza Lipa further eastward, where the Russians would be expected to make a stand.

These operations and plans, according to military men, confirm the theory that the Dniester front was merely covering for the northern army.

The re-organized Russian cabinet has returned to Petrograd after a field conference with the Emperor and Grand Duke Nicholas. The Russian press devotes considerable attention to the reconstruction of the cabinet, the evacuation of the Duma and the mobilization of industry for war purposes, one writer declaring that the pronouns "we" and "they," as applied to distinguish the government from the people, will now cease to exist.

Gen. Polivanoff, who has been designated as Minister of War, was assistant Minister of War during the re-organization of the army, following the Russo-Japanese war. He has the reputation of being an excellent soldier and organizer, and enjoys considerable popularity on account of his liberal views.

Through passes 5,000 feet in altitude the Italians have entered the Austrian territory south of Riva on the western side of Lake Garda. They are now within six miles of Riva, which is the only important town on this lake.

On the western front the only important action, according to the brief French report, consisted in the repulse of German attacks on the Calonne trench and near Metzeral. On the other hand, Berlin claims that the French attacks at all points were repulsed.

The Munitions Bill will not become a law until next Thursday, the committee stage having been postponed at the request of David Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, for further conference with the workers.

Several battalions still at Shorncliffe — Two of them running "Dry" Canteens.

London, June 28.—The statement appearing in the Canadian papers of June 12th to the effect that every regiment of the second division had been transferred to France is not supported by facts. The Montreal Gazette correspondent was at Shorncliffe on Sunday, and saw many battalions, and also conversed with the officers of the headquarters staff, none of whom entertain any idea of an immediate move.

CANADIANS HAVE NOT ONLY DONE ALL THAT WAS EXPECTED OF THEM, BUT MUCH MORE

London, June 28.—Major J. L. Newman, writing to an officer at Shorncliffe after the fight of June 15 and 16, in which the first and third battalions were particularly engaged, says:

"One 'opal box' wiped out eight men of my platoon. The third man following me was killed. It happened while coming up the communication trench, about fifty yards behind the fire trench. Captain Morrison, of the Engineers, was killed by his explosion, I thought my time had come. I felt as if I was in a vise, with my breath being squeezed out of me. I was stunned, but escaped without even a scratch. They shelled the devil out of us, and I saw some awful sights. Our front trench was full of killed and wounded, some torn to bits. It is wonderful how anyone emerged alive."

The description from British headquarters today of the recent actions is thus commented upon by the Evening Standard: "The Canadians have taken part in some of the most furious fighting of the war. They have not only done all that was expected of them, but much more. Their deeds of bravery would make an Iliad, which a Canadian poet may some day write."

A Declaration of War On Turkey by Italy is Imminent, Says Berlin

Berlin, via London, June 28.—The Italian newspapers are jubilant, says the Overseas News Agency, over the announcement that Italy is to participate in the operations against the Dardanelles by sending a fleet, under the Duke of the Abruzzi, to release the larger British warships for important work elsewhere.

A declaration of war by Turkey is said to be considered imminent, and the Rome newspapers are quoted as expressing the belief that Italy's action will signify a new era in the politics of the Orient.

MET MERELY TO ASQUITH SILENT ABOUT SOURCE OF HIS INFORMATION DISCUSS BALKAN SITUATION

Premier Refuses to Tell Who Was Authority for Statement that Allies Weren't Hampered by Lack of Munitions.

London, June 28.—Premier Asquith's authority for the statement in his speech at Newcastle, April 20, that neither Great Britain nor her allies was hampered by a lack of munitions was again demanded of the cabinet leader in the House of Commons this morning, and his refusal to give information on the subject was met with the assertion that his statement was "absolutely without foundation."

Sir Arthur B. Markham, Liberal member for the Mansfield division of Nottinghamshire, who raised the point and angrily charged the Premier with perverting the truth, attempted to heckle Mr. Asquith. Sir Arthur said the original statement cast a slur upon Field Marshal Sir John French, who was in no way responsible for it.

Mr. Asquith's only reply was that Sir Arthur Markham was raising just the sort of point which would be most undesirable for both the interests of the army and the campaign to raise a larger output of munitions, and when the Premier refused to be drawn further Sir Arthur blurted out: "Is it in the interests of the nation that the prime minister should make a statement which is absolutely without foundation?"

"Cries of 'shame' and protestations of 'its truth' led to brief excitement."

LARGE PART OF SECOND CANADIAN DIVISION IN ENGLAND YET

Several Battalions still at Shorncliffe — Two of them running "Dry" Canteens.

London, June 28.—The statement appearing in the Canadian papers of June 12th to the effect that every regiment of the second division had been transferred to France is not supported by facts. The Montreal Gazette correspondent was at Shorncliffe on Sunday, and saw many battalions, and also conversed with the officers of the headquarters staff, none of whom entertain any idea of an immediate move.

AN IMPORTANT COMMISSION WILL BE APPOINTED BY THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT

Premier Borden Recommends Naming of a Commission to Study Whole Question of Great Crops Production, Wider Markets and the Unemployment Problem.

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, June 28.—A Royal Commission is to be appointed by the government to investigate the question of increased agricultural production in the Dominion, together with the related questions of wider markets, further employment for the unemployed, etc.

The commission which is to be appointed at the recommendation of the Prime Minister, and in response to a request made by the congress of mayors which visited the capital some weeks ago, will be authorized to employ such scientific and professional assistance as its members may determine.

Its duration shall be undetermined, and it will make interim reports from time to time.

A minute of council has been issued outlining the reasons for the appointment of the commission and the questions which it is to consider. In connection with opportunities for increased agricultural production the following considerations are advanced:

1. Improved methods of production with a view to a better return to the producer.
2. Assisting this purpose by proper instruction and demonstration.
3. Increasing the acreage under production.
4. Attracting immigration of a type which would aid in increasing the large and permanent agricultural population.
5. Stimulating and encouraging co-operation among the producers.
6. Providing cold storage and abattoir facilities, diversified areas, etc., to produce varied products.

Of these problems the distribution of products in the home markets and the trade thus erected between the various provinces, the transport of products to our national ports from which they will eventually reach their destination abroad, and their transport to the destination abroad, are prominent.

Stimulate Canadian Industries.
The Prime Minister states that so far as is compatible with conditions it is in the public interest that before export the product should be converted through manufacture in Canada into the form in which it is to be consumed, thus stimulating industries subsidiary to agriculture.

"Important questions," says the minute of council, "as to marketing of our food products including consideration of the time which, and the methods by which this is accomplished, should receive consideration. The value of co-operative efforts among the producers and the importance of reducing the present great discrepancy between the price received by the producer and that paid by the consumer should not be overlooked." The cause for unemployment in the cities and the fact that many patented homeostats are not under cultivation are recommended for consideration.

Consideration should also be given, says the minute, to the question of colonization after the war, and of the encouragement of suitable immigration to the soil of Canada is also to be investigated.

"In this connection," says the minute of council, "enquiry should be made as to the means by which the federal government, whether upon its own sole initiative or in co-operation with provincial governments can best carry out an effective scheme of colonization."

The return of Canadian soldiers after the war and the immigration of soldiers from other nations, which engage the attention of the commission. Permanent improvement of highways as a means of cheapening cost of transportation will also be considered.

The approaching completion of the additional Transcontinental Railway says the minute "is a very important element in our transportation problem," the condition created by the existence of three trunk lines while much land is unopened and unsettled for lack of branch lines also invites the careful attention of the commission.

"As Canada has been and will be for many years a borrowing country requiring capital for extending and developing its agricultural and manufacturing industries, and as the securing of capital at reasonable rates of interest is essential for increased production and continued progress, this subject," says the minute "should also be taken into consideration."

It is to be observed that no proposal which would deter capital from seeking investment in this country or which would unfairly affect that already invested under established conditions would in the final result assist Canadian producers in any branch of industry.

"It seems reasonable," continues the minute, "that under the conditions which have developed during the past six months opportunities will arise for adding and extending our markets to the advantage not only of Canada, but of the countries and communities with which trade may thus be extended."

SEND WAR SUPPLIES TO THE ALLIES NOT ONE CASE OF GAS PRISONING FATAL, SAYS TORONTO DOCTOR

Toronto, June 28.—Dr. R. D. Rudolph of Toronto, a member of the University of Toronto medical staff, who arrived back in Toronto today from the town of Normandy, France, where No. 2 Canadian base hospital, of which he is an officer, is stationed, says that out of hundreds of cases of poisoning from gas handled by the hospital, none proved fatal. If the gas is chlorine, without admixture, and is inhaled in moderate quantities, a victim should be able to recover completely without after effects. Dr. Rudolph's hospital did not handle the most serious cases, but he stated that neighboring hospitals had very few deaths.

Out 35,000 loaded three-inch shrapnel shells for the British field artillery every day since last Monday. The Dupont Powder Company was also, it was said, delivering considerable shipments of raw explosives, and it was understood that the Stevens Arms Company, whose plant was bought by the Westinghouse Electric Company, for the purpose of turning out Lee-Metford rifles for the British army, was beginning to deliver guns for export.

NEW YORK, JUNE 28.—It was reported here today that several concerns making war supplies for the Allies had begun shipments nearly a month ahead of the schedule previously indicated.

Shrapnel shells and explosives have been going aboard vessel lying in Gravesend Bay, about three miles off shore, for about a week now. Every day huge lighters, flying a red flag, denoting that they carry explosives, may be seen going down New York harbor, and as they pass out of the Narrows and head over into Gravesend Bay, the waiting steamers also haul up red flags to warn all shipping to keep away. Sometimes as many as three lighters are lying around one vessel, discharging shells and cases of cordite, dynamite, or melinite, into the holds. The ammunition now being delivered, it was said, was to be sent straight to France.

The Bethlehem Steel Company was today reported to have been sending

French Soldier, Twice Buried Alive, Returns

Paul Gillot, who Served Nine Months Before Verdun, Back Home.

SAW MANY VICTIMS OF GERMAN OUTRAGES.

Inhuman methods of Kaiser's troops have spurred on determination of French to win, he says.

A mystic quality which caused the German front of steel to recoil before the French, and retreat from the Marne, has since proved imperious to the furious onslaught of the Teuton and which now is wearing down audaciously the defensive of the Kaiser's army along the Western front, may be observed in almost every soldier of the French republic. In none can it be more than a Paul Gillot, a private of infantry and a designer of note in Paris and in New York.

PRIVATE PAUL GILLOT. FRENCH INFANTRY.

Immediately upon the receipt here of news of war between Germany and France, Mr. Gillot obtained a leave of absence from Marcus & Co., jewelers, of No. 544 Fifth avenue, and saying adieu to his wife in their home in Hastings, left New York on August 15 last for France. Although not a tall man, Mr. Gillot was in robust health. A shadow of his former self he arrived here a few days ago, with an honorable discharge from the French military service due to illness contracted in the trenches before Verdun.

That which is being endured by the stalwart sons of the soil of France may be imagined from the wearing ordeal through which Mr. Gillot passed; the awful conditions under which he lived for nine long months and survived. Accustomed to the sedentary life of a designer of art jewelry and unbroken in the manner of warfare since when he was a youth in Paris, Mr. Gillot was cast with many other into the breach through which in the days of horror doubt for France it was feared, the German tide would flow.

Twice I was buried alive when two shells of heavy calibre exploded in the trench where I was on duty," said Mr. Gillot. He spoke of being buried alive as if it were the most ordinary occurrence in the life of a French soldier.

He suffered two great shocks during the time I was in France," he continued. "The first one was when I was buried in the debris of the first shell explosion, and the second was when I saw my wife for the first time since I left my home in Hastings. I had lost fifty-three pounds in weight and consequently was very weak when I was taken to a hospital at Carcasson in the south of France. The second day I was in the hospital my wife entered the room in the hospital where I lay. You can imagine my feelings."

Mr. Gillot told how the almost unbelievable atrocities of the German troops had lashed the soldiers of France to a fury of anger. Every man on the firing line before Verdun had hundreds of opportunities to observe the tactics of the Germans who sought at all times to strike terror into the hearts of the Frenchmen.

"Little did they know us," exclaimed the soldier-designer. "At first we gaped with incredulity when we saw French women and children herded in the forefront of the advancing columns when these brutes came forward

GERMAN LINE ITALIAN TROOPS TO DARDANELLES

Paris Hears Rome Has Severed Relations With Constantinople—Italian Gunners, With King Victor as a Spectator, Bombard Austrian Positions at Malborghetto.

Enemy claims attacks failed, however — Halicz captured by Germans and Gen. Von Linsingen's army controls crossings of the Dneister.

Berlin, June 28, via London.—The statement issued by the war office today says: "In the western part of Aronne the French attempted to capture positions they had lost. Notwithstanding the use of masses of artillery there the attack failed completely."

"In the Meuse Hills an infantry attack extending over a width of two kilometres (one and a quarter miles) on both sides of Detranche had the same result. After unusually large losses the enemy fled back into his positions. "In the Vosges our troops delivered a surprise attack on the defenders of a small hill east of Metzger. Fifty prisoners and one machine gun remain in our hands."

"We were especially successful in the southernmost parts of our battle-front against enemy aviators. In an aerial battle two enemy flying machines were shot down north of Schlucht Pass and at Gardemere. Two other aeroplanes were forced to descend by our artillery at Lariton, and at Rheinfelden on the Schwarze, in the Swiss territory."

"In the eastern theatre: "Russian attacks north and northeast of Przasnysz which were mainly directed against the new positions captured by us June 25 to 26 with heavy losses to our opponents. "In the southeastern theatre: "The town of Halicz was occupied by our troops and the Dneister river has been crossed and the army of Gen. Von Linsingen thereby succeeded in capturing or dominating all the crossings over this river on the entire front."

"After five days of heavy fighting further to the north our troops are pursuing the defeated enemy towards the Galla Lipa branch of the Dneister. "Since June 23rd the army of Gen. Von Linsingen has taken 6,470 Russian prisoners."

"Northeast of Lemberg we are approaching the Bug region. Further to the east, as far as the region of Gieszanow, the allied Teuton troops are progressing. They have made several thousands of Russians prisoners and have captured a number of cannon and machine guns."

"The membership swimming classes at the Y. M. C. A. still continue to prove popular. During the past few weeks the swimming instructor, H. O. Bonk, has been directing his attention to the seniors. Many are taking advantage of these excellent courses. The senior class night is on Monday, having been changed from Friday. The school boys and intermediates also have these special afternoons and evenings on Tuesdays and Thursdays."

"At the present time the members are looking forward to the two camps, the local camp at Robertson's Point and the maritime camp at Big Cove, Picotou Co., N. S. Special swimming and life saving instructions will be given at both camps by competent instructors."

"How One Paper Found Men Many other reports and letters appearing in reputable papers indicate that if the government has charge of the Labor Exchanges or employment bureaus, served a notice upon the Express to the effect that it would not be allowed to interfere with the functions of the Labor Exchanges. The Express published the notice, observing that before going to press it did not have the time to gather information which would justify a reply. Next day The Express stated that it could not criticize the Board of Trade notice from one point of view; it had learned that a ruling had been made that a worker in one munition factory might not go to another such factory without the permission of the Board of Trade labor exchanges. But it added that the aeroplane manufacturer had tried to get help through the official channels, and, having failed to do so, appealed to The Express. Then the editor adds: "There are many reasons why the Exchange failed and we succeeded, but they may be for the moment disregarded. We are concerned with results. The publicity of our columns found seven thousand applicants for

When Lloyd George spoke in Manchester on the need of war munitions he rather modified his previous statement that England was fighting Germany and drink, and that drink was the worst foe. The tenor of his Manchester speech was that the government was not getting the co-operation of the manufacturers and workers. This touched the nerves of the manufacturers, and many letters appeared in the press, the tenor of which was that if the late government had not obtained the co-operation it needed, it was the fault of official red tape and official dilatoriness. A committee of manufacturers in an important town declared that at the request of the government they stopped private work and made their shops ready to work on war orders. Six weeks passed, and no orders came, in spite of frequent applications. A united protest was then made, and the War Department promised orders. But another six weeks passed and their factories remained idle. Then they notified the war department that they could not wait longer and proposed to resume their private work. They brought a definite response; they were given orders which put them to work on war munitions. Another big manufacturer informed the press that he had been summoned to London by wire, had cooled his heels four hours in an antechamber, and then was coolly informed that the official who wanted to see him had gone out to tea. The manufacturer left his card with this written on it: "I have a big business to attend to. Next time you want me send a file of soldiers." And he left for home."

"The two hundred vacancies which the Board of Trade could not fill. That is proof enough that if the country is to be honed and swaddled in red tape the good development of the industrial machine and its maximum output cannot be achieved. It is urgently necessary that the country's factories shall turn out the greatest possible amount of munitions. If that is to be done the employers must be able to engage all the workers they need. Any agency that can help this is doing patriotic work. All this is beyond argument."

Some weekly papers, which certainly do not have any official connection with trades unions, bluntly stated that the ministers who seek to lay the onus of unpreparedness upon the slackness or drunkenness of the working class rather wish to cover up the late government's lack of foresight and organizing ability. The Herald, a labor weekly rather socialist in tone, adopts an attitude of more dignity and respectability. It says: "Trade unionists would be well advised to consult the engineering supplement of the Times for May 28. It contains some interesting statements about the production of munitions and the attitude of the men. After the orery dullness indicated in the government's statement, the special correspondents, it is a relief to come across a statement like this: 'It is true that there is a considerable amount of lost time—much more than usual—ascrutable to sickness on the part of the working people, but in this connection Mr. Faulkner's statement should be remembered that there is a continuous pressure upon the working class, which involves a physical strain if regular hours are kept.' Many thanks for recognition that the working classes are human."

"Lloyd George 'The Big Man' A good deal of criticism rages around the head of Lloyd George. In many ways he is the most outstanding figure in the new ministry—that is from the popular point of view. Certainly the new position he has been selected to fill is of prime importance; the great need for Britain and her Allies is an abundant supply of ammunition. That Lloyd George has from a business or technical point of view any special qualifications for his new position nobody would pretend. Some papers have roundly condemned Mr. Asquith because he did not go outside the narrow circle of politicians, and select a business man of recognized ability to fill the post of Minister of Munitions. At the same time a politician like Lloyd George may succeed in this post. Commenting on his new appointment an influential labor paper said, in effect: 'Of course the workers will remember Lloyd George's insult, and they might be expected to throw down tools. But fortunately they have more faith in their country than they have in their government. Lloyd George has a marvelous capacity for inspiring enthusiasm as well as indignation. He is certainly a man of great energy, and that he is honest according to his lights no one doubts. The workers have forgiven him a great deal, even his social reform legislation. And they will probably forget his insult, and do all that can be expected of them, though they feel in their hearts that a minister of the late government should be the last man to accuse them of slackness.'"

"No doubt Lloyd George will be able to get rid of the red tape which has stifled the particular branch of the department he has taken charge of,

ALLEGED MURDERERS OF GREEN ARE SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Preliminary hearing of Charlie Smith and Steve Darrah, at Woodstock, yesterday — Witness tells of hearing threat to kill Green.

Special to The Standard Woodstock, N. B., June 28.—The preliminary examination of Charlie Smith of Greenfield and Steve Darrah of Gordonsville for causing the death of Fred Green of Fielding, all of this county, commenced at two o'clock this afternoon in the court house before A. D. Holyoke, police magistrate. Several witnesses were heard and the magistrate sent the prisoners up for trial at the next Circuit Court, which meets the third Tuesday in October. The evidence of George Kenney showed while in a dispute Smith told Green that if the latter called him a liar again he would kill him before morning, while the evidence of Wilbur Smith proved that although Smith and Green were friendly enough to carry Darrah, who was hopelessly drunk, out of his hotel yard, Smith was in hiding most threatened to strike the witness with a bottle and said he could beat any man in Florenceville.

Mrs. Harry Stiles swore that after the three men were on the bridge she heard a splash of something falling in the water. J. C. Hartley, K. C. represented the crown, W. P. Jones, K. C. appeared for Smith and Darrah, C. J. Jones was stenographer. In company of Deputy Sheriff Armstrong the prisoners appeared and took seats by their counsel, Mr. Jones. The prisoners were neatly dressed, the taller of the two, Smith, being dressed in black with a slouch hat, and Darrah wore grey. They made a favorable impression and looked everything else but men who would be guilty of murder. Aaron Green sworn said he saw Fred living early in May. "On a Thursday early in May Fred, my son," he said, "went to Bristol. He had a bluish coat, on cotton underclothes, combination suit, black socks fastened by garters, he wore laced boots. In consequence of rumors I went to a man named Smith in Greenfield and made inquiries but got no information, went to West Florenceville and to the home of George Kinney and lives on the west side of the bridge, saw the little girl of Mrs. Kinney, got some information and later talked to Mrs. Kinney, went from there to Mr. Hopkins and saw the coat and shoe that my son had worn, and on the next day I saw Mr. Hopkins and from information I received from him I went to Fredericton, put up at the Waverley House and later went up river seven miles and found the body of Fred buried in a rough box, was positive it was my son."

Charles R. Green sworn said, I am a son of last witness, work out most of the time. My brother was older than me. I was with my father in Fredericton and was present when the remains were dug up, an positive the remains were Fred's. Mrs. Mabel Kinney sworn said, "On the night of 7th May, Smith came to my home to borrow a lantern to find his hat which was lost on the bridge. It was eleven o'clock and he and he was alone. He brought the lantern back a few minutes after Green came to the door with his face swollen and bleeding. Smith said not to let him in. Smith threatened to kill Green if

Red tape is a big thing in England, and it does not only mean official routine and circulation—that is from the Canadian point of view. We are a crude people no doubt. Sometimes we call a tip a bribe and a commission a graft. When Lord Kitchener became Minister of War he got rid of red tape in so far as the raising of armies was concerned. In raising his new armies he has done one man's work, a dozen ordinary men's work, so it would be silly to blame him for the fact that red tape has not been got rid of in other branches of the War Department. But there is a real struggle going on between official red tapeism and the critical spirit of the people; and the outcome of that struggle is quite as important as the outcome of the war. It should be a matter of great interest to Canadians. For if this Empire is to endure everything cannot be left to London officialdom except because of its own red tape. An influential English labor paper says: "The autonomy of the Dominions is but a mockery if they are compelled to war as the result of the decision of Britain alone. In the words of the Prime Minister of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, 'The common control of foreign policy is the essential corollary to cooperation in common defence.'"

Threatened to Kill Green To Mr. Hartley—"When Smith and Green left my place I went to bed and asleep. They came to my house shortly after ten o'clock. It might have been after twelve o'clock when the second visit was made. "Early in the evening I saw Green, Smith and Darrah. After I retired Smith came to the house, borrowed a lantern, returned it, and later Green followed in a few minutes. They were vandering. Green told Smith that he had hit him first. Smith replied that Green had hit him first. They wrangled and Darrah said that if Green called him a liar again, he would hit and kill him. Darrah shook hands with me, but I don't think Smith or Green did. "Mrs. Harry Stiles sworn said, "Friday night, May 7th, I was walking through the village, up to the garage. I saw three fellows going across the street, two fellows dragging the third. Almost twenty rods from the bridge, I heard a splash in the water. Could not distinguish any words. Mrs. Ross Taylor was with me. The three were strangers to me."

To Mr. Jones—"I would swear it was Friday night, but could not say whether May 7th or 14th, but could not recognize the prisoners as the men I saw. The splash was heard followed in a few minutes. I was at the time and got information who they were. "Wilbur Smith sworn said, "I saw the three men in the hotel yard before the pictures and after. I know Darrah personally and can identify Smith as the other man. Darrah was intoxicated, so was Smith. The other man was Green. Smf said he would beat me, and that he could beat any man in Florenceville. Darrah was serious through drink. When Smith came at me threatening to strike me with a bottle, Darrah and Green were further out on the bridge. "To Mr. Hartley—"When Smith came and wanted to stay all night, I suggested that he go to George Kinney and stay all night. "Alfred Adams sworn said, "I live at Florenceville, about three rods from Kinney's. On Saturday, May 8th, in crossing the bridge, I saw a coat, shoe and a broken bottle, the latter I threw on the bridge. Saw signs like blood soaked in the timber of the bridge. To Mr. Jones—"There is an opening in the bridge, but if a man kept under a three-foot railing he could walk off the bridge. "Messrs. Hopkins, Schriver and others gave evidence after which the prisoners were sent up to a higher court."

HAD DYSPESPIA So Bad Could Not Take a Drink of Water Without Suffering. Dyspepsia is one of the most difficult diseases of the stomach there is to cure. You eat too much. Drink too much. Use more than tobacco. You make the stomach work overtime. You make it perform more than it should be called on to do. The natural result is that it is going to rebel against the amount of work put on it. It is only a matter of a short time before dyspepsia follows. That old, forty year old remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, will cure the dyspepsia and will cure it to stay cured as we can prove by the thousands of testimonials we have received from time to time. Miss Sarah McRae, Newfield, Ont., writes: "I write to say that I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters, and have found it the best remedy I have ever used for dyspepsia. Two years ago I had stomach trouble so bad that I could not even take a drink of water without suffering. I took six bottles of B.B.B., and have been entirely cured, and can now eat anything without any bad after effects. Burdock Blood Bitters is an old and well tried remedy but on account of the many substitutes we would ask you to make sure that our name appears on both the label and wrapper as this preparation is manufactured only by The T. TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

A WISE POLICY.

The decision of the Borden Government to appoint a commission to conduct an exhaustive investigation into industrial and agricultural conditions in Canada, unemployment, its causes and remedy, etc., and kindred problems is a distinctly advanced step, such as could only come from an administration having at heart the best interests of the people over which it rules. The commission will be able to call in whatever expert assistance it requires and hold sessions when and where necessary, making interim reports to the government.

Canada has stood up well under the depression which has affected the world. Business has been better than in most other countries but there is no question that, as the result of the Empire war, this country will be called upon to face a new set of conditions; as has been properly said the world is in the melting pot and a new order of things will emerge from the testing fires. There will be in the future great markets for Canadian goods which were formerly practically closed to this country; there will be a greater demand than ever for Canadian foodstuffs and a government which, in preparation for that day, takes steps to ensure to the producer the greatest possible revenue and thereby brings to this country the largest return for the commodities we can offer, is a wise government.

These and other steps the Borden government hopes to be able to take after its commissioners have gone thoroughly into the conditions and arrived at conclusions as to the measures needed. Arrangements will be made for the dissemination of information as to up-to-date agricultural methods. As far as their resources permit, this is now done by the provincial governments in Canada but it is easy to see how much greater is the opportunity for Dominion action where the work need not be hampered by lack of funds. Altogether, marked benefits may be expected to result from the appointment of a commission such as Sir Robert Borden has in mind. If it gets to work with the least possible delay it should be able to accomplish much good in the way of preparing Canada to reap the greatest measure of profit from present conditions which, in the near future must work to her material advantage.

THE MANITOBA INVESTIGATION

The Royal Commission, appointed to probe the charges made by a representative of Manitoba Conservatives, to the effect that the Norris government now holds office in that province as the result of a deal with certain gentlemen interested in the suppression of the facts concerning the Winnipeg parliament buildings contracts, met in the Manitoba metropolis yesterday and organized. Mr. Fullerton, who preferred the charges, was present at the enquiry and expressed himself as satisfied with the personnel of the commission and pleased with the opportunity afforded him of proving his allegations.

What will come of the enquiry remains to be seen. In his charges Mr. Fullerton has made the definite statement that Premier Norris represented the provincial Liberals in the negotiations as the result of which the Liberal party came into office by acclamation, and certain members of that party received sums of money said to aggregate $50,000. For this price and the promise of office without contest the Liberals, it is alleged, agreed to withdraw the charges in connection with the Winnipeg parliament buildings and civil suits against Contractor Kelly were to be substituted. This deal fell through because the public would not stand for it and, unfortunately for the promoters, it had attracted considerable publicity.

Liberal newspapers have had many hard things to say regarding the government during whose term of office the Winnipeg parliament buildings contract was awarded. Mr. Fullerton's charges were laid, and, before there could be any possible means of knowing whether they were true, drew the indignation of the Liberal press. Undoubtedly the denials were for party purposes and influenced but few. Now that the facts of the case are to be disclosed the public will be in a better position to judge if the guilt in Manitoba has been all on one side, or whether the present premier has been willing to traffic in the good name of his province for price or position.

After the evidence has been brought out it will be time enough to fix the guilt. In the meantime it is to be hoped that the proceedings will be conducted with due regard to the rights and privileges of the accused as well as the accusers. If the Manitoba enquiry is to be a clearing house for partisan capital, it will represent but so much time and money wasted. If the evidence is fairly and freely adduced and presented for the purpose of serving the public good it cannot but have a beneficial effect.

THE PLIGHT OF SERBIA.

The burden of the European war has laid heavily upon the weaker peoples engaged in it. Serbia, Belgium and what was once Poland, have suffered greatly and their case is especially desperate for the reason that they lack the resource and recuperative ability of the stronger nations. Belgium's case, through widespread racialist of the hardships endured by that gallant people, and by the heroism of King Albert in making the soldiers' lot his own, has enlisted world wide sympathy. As a consequence the effort of charitable and philanthropic societies has been organized and set in motion for the purpose of alleviating the sufferings of the Belgians. Money and supplies have literally poured in Belgium and yet we are told the need is still urgent.

If this is the case of Belgium, where large measure of assistance has already been given, how much more does it apply to Serbia? The Serbian people were among the first to take up arms against the enemy and, consequently, the first to suffer. The Belgians, early in the campaign, had the assistance of British and French troops in meeting the hordes of armed men who crossed their boundaries to pluck and slay. Serbia had to rely on what aid Russia could give, and the Russians were kept too busy with their own plans to devote much attention to the hardy, stalwart mountaineers, who had already fought two wars and were on the verge of national exhaustion when the greatest of all conflicts opened.

Quite recently, however, attention has been directed to Serbia by tales of suffering and hardship. Not only has that unhappy country been trampled underfoot by a vicious and aggressive enemy but, owing to inadequate means with which to ensure sanitary precautions necessary in times such as the present, disease has claimed thousands of victims. Magazine writers tell of scenes and incidents in the overcrowded hospitals, of sick and wounded men for whom it was impossible to properly care, of women and children starving and homeless and the general turmoil of hardship in a ravaged and bloodsoaked country.

These recitals of horror, varying as to circumstance and locality, are unanimous in the tribute they pay to the uncompensated bravery of the Serbian people. Men and women alike are enduring hardship with a calm faith that their wrongs will be righted or avenged. The recompense that shall come to Serbia in reward for her services is a matter for future consideration, but measures can be taken at once to alleviate the suffering of Serbian men, women and children and any such plans should command the hearty co-operation of all. An effort is being made in this city to collect funds and goods for the Serbians. While there have been many demands upon philanthropic and patriotic citizens, none have more merit than an appeal in the interests of a people who have sustained the maximum of suffering with the minimum of assistance.

After a careful investigation of Mr. Carvell's former remarks about the German peril, we have come to the conclusion that he would never make a success of fortune telling at the County Fairs.—Toronto News.

How Germany Teaches Hate of the English

The following is a translation from the "Lille War Gazette," 3rd March, 1915, a weekly newspaper, issued by the Germans in Lille, in German:

FIRE.

(By Lieutenant-Colonel Kaden.)
As children many of us have played with it; some of us have seen an outbreak of fire. First a small tongue-like flame appears, it grows into a devastating fury of heat. We out here in the field have seen more than enough of it.

But there is also the fire of joy, of sacred enthusiasm; it arose from sacrificial altars, from mountain heights of Germany, and lit up the heavens at the time of solstices and whenever the home countries were in danger. This year fires of joy shall flare from the Bismarck Columns throughout the length and breadth of Germany, for on 1st April, just one hundred years ago, our country's greatest son was born. Let us celebrate this event in a manner deep, far-reaching and high, 'BLOOD AND IRON.'

Let every German, man or woman, young or old, find in his heart a Bismarck Column, a pillar of fire now in those days of storm and stress. Let this fire, kindled in every German breast, be a fire of joy, of holiest enthusiasm. But let it be terrible, un-fettered, let it carry horror and destruction! Call it HATE. Let no one come to you with "Love thy enemy!" We all have but one enemy, England! How long have we wooed her almost to the point of our own self-abasement. She would none of us, so leave to her the apostles of peace, the "No War" disciples. The time has passed when we would do homage to everything English—our cousins that were! "God punish England!" "May He punish her!" This is the greeting that now passes when Germans meet. The fire of this righteous hate is all aglow! You men of Germany, from East and West, forced to shed your blood in the defence of your home-land through England's infamous envy and hatred of Germany's progress, feed the flame that burns in your souls. We have but one war-cry, "GOD PUNISH ENGLAND!" His this to one another in the trenches, in the charge, hiss as it were the sound of licking flames.

Behold in every dead comrade a sacrifice forced from you by this accursed people. Take ten-fold vengeance for each hero's death!

You German people at home, feed this fire of hate!

You mothers, engrave this in the heart of the babe at your breast.

You thousands of teachers, to whom millions of German children look up with eyes and hearts, teach HATE! unquenchable HATE!

You homes of German learning pile up the fuel on this fire! Tell the nation that this hate is not un-German, that it is not poison for our people. Write in letters of fire the name of our bitterest enemy, You guardians of the truth, feed this sacred HATE!

You German fathers, lead your children up to the high hills of the home-land, at their feet our dear country bathed in sunshine. Your women and children shall starve; bestial, devilish conception, England wills it! Surely, all that is in you rises against such infamy! Listen to the ceaseless song of the German forest, behold the fruitful fields like rolling seas, then will your love for this wondrous land find the right words, HATE, unquenchable HATE, Germany above all!

Let it be inculcated in your children and it will grow like a land-slide, irresistible, from generation to generation.

You fathers, proclaim it aloud over the billowing fields, that the toiling peasant below may hear you, that the birds of the forest may fly away with the message; into all the land, that echoes from German cliffs tell it reverberating like the clanging of bells from tower to tower throughout the country-side: "HATE, HATE, the accursed English, HATE!"

You masters, carry the flame to your workshops; axe and hammer will fall the heavier when arms are nerved by this HATE.

You peasants, guard this flame, fan it awn in the hearts of your tollers, that the hand may rest heavy on the plough that throws up the soil of our homeland.

MR. SEIDENSTICKER OF ENGLISH STOCK ON MOTHER'S SIDE

Manager of Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., explains working of industry.

In acknowledging the vote of thanks tendered him at the Rotary Club yesterday afternoon Mr. Seidensticker, manager of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., broke away for a few moments from the technical nature of his talk and spoke in a more personal manner.

"I have appreciated more than I can say," said he, "the very kindly remarks which you have uttered today with respect to the industrial undertaking with which I am connected. There have been, as you know, certain criticisms both of our institution and of persons connected with it. Only your very friendly attitude impels me to say what I am about to say."

"The Atlantic Sugar Refineries is above all a purely Canadian institution. It is controlled and managed by men who have in their ordinary enterprises as Canadian citizens created such a credit as will be more than sufficient to refute all such criticisms. With respect to myself, if you are at all interested, may I say that at a time like the present, the name which I bear is one which is looked at with asstance. Yet my name is the only thing to which any possible criticism can be taken, and I am not responsible for that."

"I am an American citizen, born of American parents, and of pure English stock on my mother's side. I have no thoughts, no impulses, nor sentiment of any nature whatever which could find other than favor with any of you gentlemen here today. My whole feeling is as your own, and while I recognize that my name, a German name, is unfortunate at the present time I can assure you that it is not more than a name and may be disregarded. In our works there are employed a number of persons of German descent brought here by myself. This condition is readily understood. Certain branches of our work require a high class of technical skill. The history of sugar refining in the United States shows that it has been largely promoted by men of German descent, such as Havemeyer, Spreckles, Meyer and others. The German disposition, perhaps not so ambitious as others, seems to be suited to the requirements of this work, for certainly among persons of German descent are to be found some of the most skilled artisans. Another reason why the work is carried on in Scotland and there are to be found capable men. We have now in our plant quite a number of Scotch workers. This is the reason we have engaged these people in the United States. But I can assure you that there is every intention on the part of the owners of our business to conduct that business in such a manner as will win for it the warm support and sympathy of all the people of St. John."

INTERESTING TALK ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF SUGAR REFINING

Rotary Club Members hear address by Manager of the Local Refinery.

At the regular meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday the chief address was given by Mr. Seidensticker, manager of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries. Commissioner Wigmore was in the chair and the attendance was large. Brief remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Gunn, mission secretary of the Presbyterian church, who in the course of his remarks said that despite of the many calls for funds arising from the war the various activities of this church throughout Canada had been sustained during the past year even better than ever before.

Mr. Seidensticker touched on the gradual development of the sugar refining industry throughout the world explaining that the use of beet sugar had been due in a large measure to the necessities of France during the time of the Napoleonic wars, that country having been deprived of its supply of cane sugar through the activities of the British fleet. He traced also the rapid development of beet sugar by reason of the bonus system formerly in vogue, which, however, came to an end with the Brussels convention as promoted by Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, and the remarkable gains made in cane sugar production since the handicap was removed.

It was pointed out that the world's consumption of sugar is in the neighborhood of eighteen million tons annually, of which, perhaps, eight million tons annually, of which, perhaps, eight million tons is beet sugar. Of the total sum two million tons is produced in India and consumed at home.

Refiners as a rule prefer the cane sugar as the by-products are of value, whereas this is not the case with beet sugar. The cane is pressed by the planters and the sap evaporated to a syrup which is afterwards reduced to the raw sugar form in which it is shipped north to the refineries.

Mr. Seidensticker had with him numerous samples of sugar in its various stages, by the assistance of which he was able to explain more intelligently to his hearers the various processes through which it passes in the refineries. He gave a somewhat detailed description of this work tracing the progress of the sugar from the first washing to the melting, mechanical filtering, char refining, and boiling stages, followed by drying, sifting and packing. He expressed pleasure with the cordial reception which the trade generally had extended to the Atlantic Refineries and believed St. John would, as time passed, appreciate the value of this important industry.

A vote of thanks was moved by T. H. Estabrooke and seconded by H. Marr. Commissioner Wigmore in tendering this to the speaker reviewed briefly the history of the establishment of the refinery in St. John, from the first proposals of Mr. Durant to the completion of the present structures.

Women's Night.

It was women's night in the police station cells yesterday for the only arrests made up to a late hour were two women, both having a previous record at headquarters. The first to be locked up was Mary Ann Brookins. Brookins is Mary's present name, but a few years ago when she was a frequent visitor to the station cells she was then better known as Mary Ann Reid. Mary was picked up drunk by the police on the Westmorland Road. Last evening about eight o'clock Mabel Boyce was arrested on Charlotte street near the head of King for being drunk. Mabel's name a few months ago was Smith, but since that time she got married and now bears the name of Boyce. Mabel was warned a couple of times by the policeman to go home last evening, but instead she started to dance and sing, and when placed under arrest she fought the officer. Two other officers came to the assistance of the policeman and were forced to carry the woman through the King Square to the police station, followed by a large crowd.

THE OPEN DOOR POLICY MUST NOT BE ENDANGERED

Warning given to China and Japan by the United States Government

Peking, June 28.—Warning that the United States would not recognize any agreement between China and Japan which impaired American rights in China, or endangered the so-called "open door" policy, was conveyed to the governments of both China and Japan in an identical note from Washington, which was delivered about May 15. The notes were handed to the foreign offices of both countries a week after China had acceded to the demands contained in the Japanese ultimatum, insisting upon concessions from the former nation.

The United States note, in substance, is as follows: "In view of the negotiations which now are pending between the government of China and the government of Japan and of the agreements which have been reached a result thereof, the government of the United States has the honor to notify the government of the Chinese Republic that it cannot recognize any agreement or understanding which has been entered into, or which may be entered into, between the governments of China and Japan impairing the treaty rights in China, the political territorial integrity of the republic of China, or the international policy relative to China, commonly known as the open door policy. An identical note has been transmitted to the Japanese government."

Musical Comedy Drew Well and Was Highly Appreciated - A Good Show.

A crowded house greeted the Empire Musical Comedy Company at the Opera House last night when it made its initial appearance before a St. John audience.

IMPERIAL'S FEATURE GROTESQUE AND FUNNY

Banth and Rudd Present a Vaudeville Novelty of Rare Excellence.

The Imperial Theatre once again sprung a surprise on its patrons in the way of a vaudeville novelty. This time the absolute extreme of grotesqueness—a glimpse as it were of a Drury Lane Christmas pantomime—is given in Banth and Rudd, two purveyors of burlesque comedy.

Tomorrow night Thursday the Imperial has a particular titbit for its patrons in "The Goose Girl," a picture-ization of the dramatization of Harold McGrath's charming romance of middle-Europe.

When you get a pain in the back you may rest assured that it comes from derangement of the kidneys, for were there not something wrong with the kidneys the back should be strong and well.

Doan's Kidney Pills regulate the kidneys, and there is no further excuse for any kidney trouble to exist.

Mr. Adelard Cleroux, Eganville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for four years. They were so bad, I could not go ten steps for the pain they caused me."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c per box; 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CLIVENED WHERE OUR WOUNDED SOLDIERS ARE BEING CARED FOR

Tobacco will be greatly appreciated and Canadians at home are asked to remember the soldiers in the sick wards.

Toronto, June 28—Amongst the many hospitals, where our sick and wounded soldiers are being brought back to health, there is perhaps no institution which will appeal to Canadians more than the Duchess of Connaught hospital at Clivened, a beautiful country house, along the upper reaches of the Thames, which was given to the British war office by Waldorf Astor.

The following interesting description of this hospital is taken from a London paper. "What between the donors of the building and the Canadian Red Cross Society, this hospital is a model. The great height of the building and its glass roof insure the wards being flooded with light and air. The operating room is one of which any hospital might be proud."

The whole atmosphere is cheerful. There are beds in the wards where the signs of pain or of exhaustion are woefully patent. For the most part smiling faces greet one, and the men are laughing and talking in contentment as they sit knitting or smoking. Just outside on the terrace is a row of beds. Every man fit to come out spends some hours of the day out here where they may watch his stronger fellows playing bowls or football.

CLOSE RACING ON HUDSON YESTERDAY; CORNELL WON VARSITY BY EIGHT FEET

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28.—In a triangular battle of blades, unequalled in regatta history, Cornell won the Varsity four-mile race here late this afternoon, defeating Leland Stamford by eight feet. Trailing the Californians came Syracuse, exhausted by the struggle, but two lengths ahead of Columbia, which crew wrestled fourth place from Pennsylvania in the last mile of the premier feature regatta. Cornell's victory gave the Ithaca University and Coach Courtney an edge on the crews of the other four colleges entered, for the red and white junior eight had previously won today, adding to the game with Cornell, which was captured by the Syracuse first-year oarsmen. The thousands of regatta spectators were fairly on edge when the Varsity crews left the stake boats shortly after six o'clock for the long row down the Hudson which was to decide the championship of the association. There was not a minute's delay in the beginning of the thrills, for from the moment that the California oarsmen jumped into the lead until they aided across the finish but a few feet back of Cornell, the race was a continuous panorama of battling sweep swimmers and shifting shells. In the long drawn out struggle down the course all forecasts and expert predictions went astray. Crews selected to fight in the fore, wallowed in the wake of eights but considered to have a chance for first place. Standard combination, almost four thousand miles from home, with few, if any supporters, and only a few days' training on the Hudson, furnished the greatest upset of all. The official time was as follows: Cornell—20:36 5/8. Leland Stamford—29:37 4/8. Syracuse—29:43 5/8. Columbia—31:09. Penna.—31:10 1/8. Cornell won the junior Varsity oared two-mile race by two lengths, Pennsylvania second, Columbia third. Time—Cornell, 10:00 1/2. The Freshman race was won easily by Syracuse, while Cornell as easily took second place from Columbia. Pennsylvania finished last in an exhausted condition. Syracuse's time was 9:29 5/8.

BAKER HAS SENT ALONG NEW TERMS. Through a lawyer Home Run Baker has named new terms under which he says he will return to the Athletics. Baker wants Connie Mack to destroy a three years' contract which the big slugger signed in 1914. Baker says that he will sign another contract for this year calling for the same salary and that he will agree to play ball with the Athletics in 1915 if he plays ball at all. Mack declares that Baker is wasting his time; that he must live up to the contract which the Athletic club holds and that no concessions of any kind will be made to him. Baker has been scored severely by the Philadelphia critics for his refusal to help Mack. The Quaker City fans have scored on the home run king because they believe that he has been disloyal to them. But if Baker decides to put on a uniform without further delay, the National League umpires...

Austrian Seeks Police Aid
A young man, who is an Austrian and who is registered at police headquarters, where he reports regularly, told the police yesterday that he had been badly handled by a crowd of young fellows near the Marsh Bridge on Sunday. From what could be learned the Austrian is employed on the Courtenay Bay works. On Sunday the young man was attired in a new suit of clothes, which he says cost him two or three dollars. He was on his way from the city to Courtenay Bay when the boys called names after him, and then threw a number of bad eggs, the latter striking him and almost ruining his clothing. The Austrian feels that he can have the boys, who assaulted him, located and also says that he will call at the police court this morning to lay information against his assailants.

The first court martial for the 55th New Brunswick Battalion will take place today at Camp Sussex when two men, Privates McDonald and Pen-dieberry, will be tried for desertion. The officers of the regiment asked for a commission from Halifax to handle the case and Major Simmons, Captain Parker and Lieutenant McLeod were sent to Sussex to conduct the trial.

The usual drills and manoeuvres were carried out yesterday and "A" company, 8 to 1 in a fast game.

The buglers of the regiment have been got together and it is proposed to have a bugle band for the present at least but the officers are still of the opinion that some steps should be taken for the formation of a brass band. The regiment has the musicians but the instruments are lacking.

C. H. Sherwood was advanced to the position of corporal with the signalling section yesterday.

Glaborate preparations have been made for a grand field day Thursday. Sports of all kinds will be carried on by the men and a big day is expected.

NEW TENNIS COURTS FOR Y.M.C.A. MEMBERS

Will be Open probably on Dominion Day.

The senior members and ladies auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. are looking forward with pleasure to the opening of the two new tennis courts probably on Dominion Day, if the weather is favorable. The two courts are situated alongside of the association's building on the south side. The fact of them being near the centre of the city and also the accommodations, such as showers, swimming pool and dressing rooms, provided in the building, will tend to make the courts popular.

Although the courts were proposed by last year's athletic committee, it was not until this summer that work was started. Earth was hauled from the Oak Hall site on King street in order to level off the site and men have been engaged in fixing up the wire netting. One of the city's gasoline rollers is engaged in rolling the court facing the street, cinders have been used on top over which a light surface of clay will be placed to fill in the crevices and when rolled will form one complete mass.

The rainy weather has hindered the work considerably, but the association hopes to have one court in shape for this week. The club membership is limited to fifty.

HENNESSEY MUST SERVE OUT HIS TERM IN THE PENITENTIARY

Was ticket of leave man and failed to report to authorities — Has been charged with assault.

David Hennessey, a local man, who has been in jail for the last three months, will now go to Dorchester Penitentiary to serve three years, five months and nineteen days, being the balance of a term unserved by him.

About five years ago Hennessey was arrested on the charge of causing grievous bodily harm. He was adjudged guilty and sentenced to a term of five years in Dorchester. After being confined a little over a year he was allowed out on parole having the time of three years, five months and nineteen days still hanging over him. To keep clear of serving the remainder of his term Hennessey was obliged to report at police headquarters every month, and also to keep out of further trouble. In the afternoon of the 17th he was liable to be placed under arrest and be obliged to return to the prison to finish out his sentence.

Hennessey not only failed to report regularly to chief of police but was arrested for assaulting Policeman Gibbs.

It was on March 18th last that Hennessey was arrested again and charged with failing to report, and also for assaulting the policeman. After being remanded on several occasions he was on the 17th of this month sentenced to a term of three months in jail by the police magistrate for failing to report, and the sentence was to date back from the day that he was arrested, having been in jail for three months less two days, it would only give the prisoner a couple of days more to serve when he would, as he thought be free. It is said that although Policeman Gibbs gave evidence against the man on the assault charge at the time of the arrest, there was nothing done in this case.

According to the sentence delivered in the police court, Hennessey thought he should be given his freedom a week ago last Friday, and he was no doubt surprised at being kept in jail. It was no surprise, however, to the chief of police, for Hennessey was held on the order of Judge Forbes, and the chief had received instructions from Colonel Sherwood of the Department of Justice at Ottawa to have Hennessey detained in jail for failing to report regularly, a warrant was being sent to have him returned to Dorchester to serve out the remainder of his term.

The warrant arrived in St. John yesterday and in the afternoon it was presented to the police magistrate for his signature. Hennessey was taken into the police court, and was then committed. It is now only a matter of a couple of days when the man will be returned to Dorchester.

COLIN TAYLOR STILL MISSING

Paradise Row man has been away from home since February.

The whereabouts of Colin Taylor of 88 Paradise Row is causing his wife no little worry. Chief of Police Simpson is giving all kinds of assistance in an attempt to locate the man.

On February 17th last Colin Taylor left his home and since that date neither his wife nor the police have been able to learn anything about him. It was once stated that he was on a farm near Torryburn, but Mrs. Taylor stated that she made enquiries and learned that he had not been there, and she cannot find out if he had ever been seen since the day he left home.

He had been drinking rather heavily for about ten days before he went away and Mrs. Taylor fears that perhaps he might have lost his life in the harbor. There have been many suggestions offered to her, one that he had enlisted for the front under an assumed name; another that he shipped on a remount steamer for England, but as he left no word with her when he left her, and did not intimate that he was going away the woman is accordingly greatly worried over his absence. She has sought the assistance of the chief of police and the latter is sending a picture of the man and a full description of him to all centres, also to the recruiting stations throughout the country.

The last seen of Taylor in the city was when he was in company with a cousin named Friars, but after leaving Friars nothing more can be learned about the man.

Mrs. Taylor is a hard working woman, and when seen last evening she plainly showed the strain of worry over the disappearance of her husband. The last place that he was employed while in St. John was tending bar in a liquor saloon.

The description of Taylor as given by the police is as follows:—Age 24, height five feet eight inches; weight

GEORGE SMITH SUFFERING FROM SHELL WOUNDS

St. John soldier has concussion of the brain — Word received by his mother here.

Word has been received in this city that George Smith, who enlisted with the First Brigade at Calgary, has been wounded. This information has been received by his mother, Mrs. E. C. Smith, who resides at 100 Dorchester street. It is reported that he was wounded by a shell bursting near him while he was at the front and as a result he is now suffering from concussion of the brain.

Smith, who is well known in this city, was twenty-four years of age, and for a long time was employed by Dr. T. D. Walker. He afterwards was in the employ of the Royal Hotel. He later went to Calgary, where he became a member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. When the war started he was among the first to offer his services to his country and enlisted in the First Brigade.

Several letters have been received by his mother regarding his experiences on the firing line.

Mrs. Smith said last night that her son had been a member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police for the last five years and had done much important work for this organization. He has a brother in St. John, Bartlett Smith, who is at present living with his mother, at 100 Dorchester street.

The full details of the manner in which he was wounded have not yet been received here.

TWELVE-INCH MAIN IN CITY ROAD BURST

Repairs will be made early this morning, but residents were without water during night.

A leak in the twelve-inch water main in City Road at Gilbert's Lane last night caused the water to burst through a manhole and flood the street to a considerable extent. Workmen from the water and sewerage department went to work. The catch basin was pumped out but it was found that the street must be dug up in order to repair the break. The water had to be shut off in the pipe supplying City Road between Gilbert's Lane and Clyde street and the residents of the section will be without water until sometime this morning.

Commissioner Wigmore said last night that he anticipated no great delay in having the water turned on again.

FINE WEATHER COMING.

The weather man promises a continuance of the fair weather of yesterday and while the temperature was slightly lower than a few days ago there are indications that the mercury will reach a high mark before the end of the week.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 66 degrees while the minimum ran as low as 52 degrees. The warmest day of the season was on June 6, when the thermometer reached 74 degrees.

During the month of June the weather was the coolest for several years and up to the present time the rain fall has been six inches. It is expected, however, that the rainy season is about over and the barometer looks fair for clear weather for a while at least.
