She had a strange, demented look that forbode the loss of reason. The condition of the poor child was pittable in the extreme. One day about the end of January last the father read of a case of little Ernest Duke, who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he secured a box from Mr. Brown, druggist, of Shelburne. They commenced the treatment by kiving the child three pills a day-one after each useal, and never a day-one after each meal, and never varied from that treatment to the end.

Before the first box had been used they noticed that the little girl's appetite was noticed that the little girl's appetite was improving, and by the time three boxes were used she had improved to a marvellous extent. In April last he child having fully recovered, no more pills were given her. Several months have passed since, then and there has been no relapse and no sign of a return of the terrible malady. The cure seems to be complete and no further medicine has been required. The parents state emphatically that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved the life of Williams' Pink Pills saved the life of their little girl.

A MOURNING HORSE.

At the funeral ceremonies of the late Mayor Carter H. Harrison, of Chicago, the horse with which the dead man had been most prominently identified in the eyes of the public of that city,

On that November day, when all Chicago stood sorrowful before the dramtic life, great crowds thronged the streets on every hand, From its stately place of represe where it had being place of repose where it had lain in state while the thousands of mourners filed in and out, taking their last look of the face which they had known so well, the coffined form embowered in flowers was carried out, surrounded by its distinguished band of bearers, into the open dr, under the soft sunlight, whose rays he had loved so well, and began the last journey.

On every hand, extending into every street where they might touch the great brocession, stood the common people, in whose hearts Carter Harrison had found so loving a home - for few men so held the great multitude near him as did he and watched, with sad faces and lowvoiced speech the sorrowful procession.

Plumes noddep and sable emblem was was draped on every hand. Windows held the sad signals, black fell from the summit of the tall buildings to the ground low; through the autumn air sounded the softening notes of sad dirge and slow strains of solemr music, and the march to the tomb began.

Following hard upon the hearse, with its head near to the ground, came the Rentuck thoroughbred, caparisoned in the trappings which had been a part of the almost military mayor. By his head marched the colored man who has had him in care for years, norse and man apparently filled with the burden of sortroy which lay about. As the procession tarted, and the riderless horse joined in the slow onward movement, this empty saddle and unridden horse appealed to every heart. On every hand sighs and oftimes tears were heard and seen, and the horse himself appeared conscious of the end part he was taking in the sad

It is so of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from hatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities Thich it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive rgans, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthmer of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in he treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption emedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nerv usness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical riod known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervin onic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will arry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and cura we is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its greatergizing properties will give them a new hold on life. Nervine Tonic. NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and warmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most for elicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human amily is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired diges ion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, eneral state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the esult. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the light kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments isappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all he power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the erst to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not conain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts or its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-

A friend of mine once placed a nicely stuffed cat upon her trunk and was looking at it with some amusement before packing it when Flurry, the pet of the family,

Instantly she noticed the strangthe room. She studies it awhile, but the unwelcome guest was suspiciously, aggravatingly quiet, and Flurry making up her mind that such a stupid thing couldn't be very brave, suddenly sprang upo the trunk and boxed and cuffed and scratched the enemy until they both rolled off the trunk upon the floor; th n she crept into her deamistress' lap a victorious but puzr

She had a strange, demented look that forbode the loss of reason. The condition of the poor child was pittable in the extreme. One day about the end of January last the father read of a case of little Ernest Duke, who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he secured a box from Mr. Brown, druggist, of Shelburne. They commenced the treatment by giving the child three pills a day-one after each meal, and never varied from that treatment to the end. Before the first box had been used they noticed that the little girl's appetite was improving, and by the time three boxes were used she had improved to a marvellous extent. In April last he child having fully recovered, no more pills were given her. Several months have passed since, then and there has been no relapse and no sign of a return of the terrible malady. EUROPE CHILLED. THE MERCURY PLAYING HIDE AND GO-

SERK WITH THE ZERO MARK.

London, January 4.—A blizzard prevails in England to-day. There is a beavy snowfall in the southern counties.

Newcastle, January 2nd, 1894. A severe gale is blowing in the channel. The weather in Austria and Hungary is bitterly cold. In Vienna last night the mercury registered ninteen degrees be-low the freezing point. The suffering among the poor is terrible. The Danube is frozen over from Vienna to Belgrade, Servia. At Trieste the cold is intensi-fied by a hurricane blowing from the north. Traffic cf all kirds is stopped and the streets are deserted. Despatches from the North sea and Baltic ports state that a furious storm is raging.

VIENNA, January 4.—Despatches received early in the evening from Trieste, said that the blizzard there is the worst storm that city has experienced for ten storm that city has experienced for ten-years. More than 50 accidents had been reported since noon. All traffic both by sea and land had been stopped early in the afternoon. The Italian vessel Seara had been rendered top heavy by the vast masses of ice in her rigging and on her decks. She capsized and her crew was saved only with the greatest diffi-culty. The steamer Grutz was weeked last night near Ancona on the Adviatio coast of Italy. The crew was saved. London, January 4.— At midnight the thermometer stood 19 degrees above zero, Fahr. It is much colder in the country. The snow continues.

A MOURNING HORSE.

At the funeral ceremonies of the late Mayor Carter H. Harrison, of Chicago, the horse with which the dead man had been most prominently identified in the eyes of the public of that city, was an important factor.

On that November day, when all Chicago stood sorrowful before the dramatic life, great crowds thronged the streets on every hand, From its stately place of repose where it had lain in state while the thousands of mourners filed in and out, taking their last look of the face which they had known so well, the coffined form embowered in flowers was carried out, surrounded by its distinguished band of bearers, into the open dr, under the soft sunlight, whose rays he had loved so well, and began the last journey.

On every hand, extending into every was an important factor.

On every hand, extending into every street where they might touch the great brocession, stood the common people, in whose hearts Carter Harrison had found so loving a home -for few men so held the great multitude near him as did he and watched, with sad faces and low-voiced speech the sorrowful procession. Plumes noddep and sable emblem was was draped on every hand. Windows held the sad signals, black fell from the aummit of the tall buildings to the ground low; through the autumn air sounded the softening notes of sad dirge and slow strains of solemmusic, and the march to the tomb began.

Following hard upon the hearse, with its head near to the ground, came the Kentuck thoroughbred, caparisoned in the trappings which had been a part of the almost military mayor. By his head marched the colored man who has had head near to the ground, came the apparently filled with the burden of sor-row which lay about. As the procession tarted, and the riderless horse joined in the slow onward movement, this empty addle and unridden horse appealed to every heart. On every hand sighs and oftimes tears were heard and seen, and the horse himself appeared cousci
