SOLDIERS WANT REPRESENTATION

Will Hold a Convention Early in January to Select a Candidate

The returned soldiers as a body are firm in the belief that they should have one of their number as a representative of their particular interests in Legislature. They have interviewed the government and requested that a bye-election be held before the next session and the returned men will be on hand with a candidate which they would hope to elect by acclamation. As near as can be learned "there will be no politics in it," which has of late been a popular and highly successful method of securing election.

No one can ever believe that any one born and bred in Carleton county exists who has not his very heart's blood tinged with party politics, and the mere fact that he served overseas is not a reason to believe that the returned soldier is no longer a party man. The task the returned men have on their hands is to select a candidate who will not be hailed as affiliated at present with the party he gave his support to before the war.

The Observer, without giving much thought to the matter, since it is so new, would say, at the outset that the voters should by all means give the soldiers a representative in the Legislature—but who is the candidate to be? There is the rub. Perhaps it will be Lt. Col. McVittie, who says he returned from the war purged of party politics.

Meeting Friday Night

Every citizen interested in the welfare of the town should remember that the mayor and councillors are asked to give accounts of their stewardship at a public meeting to be held tomorrow (Friday) evening in the Star theatre. Others will speak on behalf of new aspirants for civic honors. It is of prime importance that every rate-payer should attend this meeting.

Pastor Visits Old Home

Rev. and Mrs. Frank C. Rideout of Rockford, Ill., are spending the holidays with his brothers, Wilmot and Judson Rideout. Rev. Mr. Rideout preached to the United Baptist congregation on Sunday. Of him we quote from Maritime Baptist: Rev. Frank C. Rideout, Acadia, '09, shortly after the United States entered the war resigned his charge of the Second Baptist Church of Bridgeport, Conn., for chaplain service with the American army. He was for nearly a year in France, and since returning has been stationed with the 11th Field Artillery at Camp Grant, Ill. He expects soon to resume pastoral work, but expects first to spend a week or two in New Brunswick his native province. His friends will rejoice to meet him again, even though his visit may be of necessity a brief one. At present he is at Lower Southampton, visiting his twin sister, Mrs. W. S. Parent.

CANDIDATES IN CARLETON

Woodstock, Dec. 15—The farmers of Carleton county held an enthusiastic and well-attended convention here this afternoon and selected candidates to run in the next provincial election. Seven names were placed in nomination. Of these three were selected as follows:

Fred Smith, of Windsor; S. J. Burlock, Godorville, and Enoch Tracey, of Tracey Mills. In case of a bye-election being held in Carleton county Mr. Smith will be the farmer's candidate. There was some talk of having a returned soldier nominated but the convention decided otherwise. Of the three nominated Tracey is said to be a Liberal and the other two Conservatives. All the candidates come from the northern end of the county.

The convention was very interesting and was well attended, the farmers taking a keen interest in all the deliberations.

In town Saturday afternoon.

E. M. Howard and H. F. Steward were at Port Huron for a short time Saturday.

James McKeen passed through Andover Friday from Edmundston en route to his home in St. Stephen.

Hallie Howlett of Bairdville, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Howlett, was taken very suddenly ill last Tuesday and was conveyed to the Fisher Memorial Hospital where he was at once operated upon for appendicitis. Last reports were that the patient is doing as well as can be expected.

Frank Giberson of Arthurette was a business visitor in Andover Friday.

The friends of Mrs. B. W. Moot regret to hear that she still continues very ill.

Pringle Kelly arrived home Tuesday to spend a Xmas holiday with his family.

Operation for Appendicitis

Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Surgeon Falls, Ont., writes:—"My husband was treated for appendicitis and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation or even of a doctor as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

BAD FIRE ON MONDAY MORNING

Plummer & McLeod and Geo. W. Letson are the Losers

The most disastrous fire the town has had this year started in the meat store of Plummer & McLeod. The blaze, discovered by T. J. Hurley, who lives on the next lot, had made such headway that the whole interior of the store was a raging mass of flames before an alarm could be given and the result was a complete gutting of the wooden building, the destruction of a very fine stock of Christmas meats and poultry and of the stock of harness and harness-making outfit of George W. Letson, who occupied the second story.

The building was bought by Plummer & McLeod a few months ago for $1000 and carried $700 insurance. Their stock was also insured as was that of Mr. Letson.

Mr. Letson had about completed arrangements for disposing of his harness business to G. F. Sealey and the deal is still to go through. Mr. Sealey has rented the store of T. J. Hurley, who will retire from business for three months and Charles E. Shaw will be the practical workman in charge of the harness shop. The firemen, under the capable command of J. W. Montgomery, did their usual excellent service and saved a worse conflagration. Had there been a high wind blowing the Observer might not be here to report the holocaust as if the fire got beyond control its office would have been in the immediate line of its progression.

It is understood that Mr. Plummer has gone out of business and Mr. McLeod has been joined by his son. The new firm have leased the store of D. E. Morgan & Son and will take over the stock and do business under the firm name of J. M. & G. M. McLeod.

CAPTAIN ADAMS WAS TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Improvement so Remarkable After Taking Tanlac He Hardly Knows Himself

"For one whole year before I took Tanlac there was hardly a day that I didn't have a severe headache and hardly a night that I got over an hour or two sleep," said S. S. Adams, when he called at the Owl Drug Store in Vancouver, B.C. Mr. Adams served as Captain in the English Army, and at the time he made this statement he was registered at the St. Francis Hotel, 600 Cordova, west Vancouver. Mr. Adams further stated that he would leave for the Orient in a few days to accept a managing position with an English firm in Japan.

"For the past year," continued Mr. Adams, "I had gastritis in its very worst form, and gas would press against my heart and make it palpitate so bad that I would get dizzy and sometimes while I was eating I would get to feeling so dizzy that I would have to get up and leave the table without finishing. My appetite was almost completely gone and even the smell of food would sometimes turn my stomach and I had to be extremely careful about what I ate so as not to suffer from gas. My nerves were shattered and the least little noise out of the ordinary would upset me completely.

"I tried medicine after medicine but nothing would do me any good, and I was about to give up trying to find anything else when my attention was called to a testimonial in the paper about Tanlac. I decided to try it, and I want to say right here that it took me by surprise and that it is simply remarkable how I have been restored in health. I have a splendid appetite and no matter what or how much I eat I never suffer from stomach trouble in any form. My nerves are quite and steady, and I can sleep all night long. I am not troubled with headaches or dizzy spells any longer, and I feel so different in every way that I hardly know myself. I am leaving for the Orient in a few days and before I go I feel that it is my duty to make this statement and let the people know that Tanlac is a great thing and that it will do every bit of what they say it will."

Tanlac is sold in Hartland by Estey & Curtis Co., in Bristol by Dr. G. W. Somerville, in Centerville by Steven Gros, in Woodstock by E. W. Mair, in Benton by W. E. Porter, in River de Chute by Daniel B. Baird, and in Florenceville by A. B. Lovey and in Bath by Bath Drug Co.

Grand Falls Happenings

A shadow of gloom has been cast over our little town by the news of the terrible railway accident which happened Saturday near Brownville, Maine, in which one of our town boys lost his life—Emerson Hennigar, about 23 years of age, second son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hennigar. He was fireman on the train at the time of the accident and word was received by them Sunday that their son was among the dead. The Hennigar family came here from Nova Scotia about five years ago, and by their social, helpful spirit and genial manner quickly made themselves a place in the life of the community, especially in the Presbyterian church, of which they are members. Being musical, they helped in the choir and in many ways, and the church as well as the people of the town feel very deeply the sudden passing of the young man. He leaves his father and mother, three sisters and one brother to mourn.

Lieutenant George Wootton who would doubtless soon take measures to operate its whole railway system in New Brunswick by electric power.

In New Brunswick so far little has been done to develop water power, except for saw mills and grist mills. At Sprague Falls on the St. Croix River the St. Croix Paper Company of Maine has a plant which develops 15,200 horse power, and at Grand Falls on the St. Croix is another plant developing 8,000 horse power; both supply power to Maine towns.

At Salmon Falls on the St. Croix the St. Croix Cotton Company has a plant developing 2,000 horse power for the use of its mills. These are the only water plants of any importance in the province, though there are numerous water powers capable of developing anywhere from 10,000 to 50,000 horse power without storage dams. COPENHAGEN

CHEWING TOBACCO

Copenhagen is used differently from ordinary chewing tobacco. Take a small pinch, for a pinch, and put it between the lower lip and gum, in the center.

Afterwards you can increase the size of the pinch to suit the strength of the chew you desire.

Copenhagen is strong, because the tobacco of which it is made is not only an unusually expensive quality, being made of the best old, rich, high-grown tobacco.

It is a "rich pinch" gives a long, slow, steady, and pleasant smoke, but also one of the most satisfying and healthful.

HARTLAND, N. B., DEC. 25, 1919

CHRISTMAS

This is Christmas Day. The Observer wishes every one of its thousands of readers the merriest Christmas possible. May the old have comfort and cheer and the blessed youth of the land all merriment that is fit and good.

During its whole existence The Observer has each year urged its readers to make Christmas Day a day of forgiving and forgetting—forgetting all but the holy event that the day commemorates.

Let us unite today in forgiving our enemies. This is not a new message from The Observer: it was given in our first Christmas issue. Years have passed since then, and we have seen more of life and of grievances between man and man, between women, between neighbors, between lovers, between politicians, between employers and employees, between church congregations, even between little children—and we have come to know for a certainty that by far the most of the grievances are fancied and not real. There is a common ground to which we all can come to a happy understanding. Where Reason sits enthroned there is also room for Love, the fountain-head of which became incarnate centuries ago this day.

A Merry Christmas to every one of you.

Smuggling Booz

A boat came up the river the other evening after dusk with a sugar barrel filled with Canadian whiskey in long neckers aboard.

says the Bath Times. It made three stops at the north end and one at the gas house wharf and the contents of the sugar barrel was lowered considerably before Frank Decker received his allotment of twenty-three quarts which the deputy sheriff seized. It is said that the whiskey is obtained from a schooner that makes trips from Canadian ports and lies off the coast of Maine beyond the three-mile limit, so that it is beyond the reach of the law. When the weather is threatening or stormy, the schooner comes into a secluded harbor and rides there out of harm from the weather. Supplies are smuggled from her to whiskey peddlers in small boats who bring the liquor to various Maine cities and so relieve the drought at from $10 to $15 per relief.

Be Ready For Emergencies

The best way is to always keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house ready for emergencies. Then when croup, or cold come sudden they can be promptly cured before they have time to reach an acute and dangerous stage. To meet this requirement we have put the syrup up in family size bottles which contain nearly three times as much as the 50 cent bottle and sell at 60 cents.

Different Now, But Christmas Just the Same

By DeLyle F. Cass

In olden days they used to bring a bear's head smoking into the forest and drag the holly-grown Yule-log to the great fireplace with special ceremony.

And years afterwards the custom was for bands of swarthy roving boys to go from house to house on Christmas morning, standing grouped in the street and singing carols of joy to the mellow resonance of bells.

And in grandfather's time folks made up jolly, rollicking sleighing parties, where all muffled up snugly and let out the horses, with the iron runners gliding swiftly over the hard-packed snow.

But Mollie and I live in a little house in town, where the sanitary department keeps the streets swept clean of snow; where there are municipal rules against chopping down trees and no fireplaces in which to burn the logs, even if we had them; where the policeman on the beat probably would arrest the Christmas volunteers if they came around and woke up the neighbors by singing early in the morning.

Mollie and I just wake up the kids and let them tumble downstairs to see the tree we trimmed the night before, and then let them utter up the parlor, while she sits quietly on the top of my chair and I smoke, watching them as they go about the day afterwards.

But, let me tell you, friends, it's Christmas, just the same!

A CHRISTMAS SUPERSTITION

In the west of England it was once firmly believed that anyone who visited a cottage shed on Christmas eve would hear the beasts conversing. But such a visit was considered perilous—the irreverent eavesdropper being likely to hear words of ill omen, as in the legend of the farmer who heard his own comparing mournful notes of a certain hard day's work that lay before them in the future. "It is a long way up the hill to the churchyard, and our master is heavy," Brand speaks of a west country peasant who told him that he had himself seen cattle fill on their knees at the Holy Hour, and heard them utter a groan "like Christian creatures."

Unusual.
A curious case
Is Henry Gove.
He publicly admits
He means.

His Exhibit

"I heard the romantic young man you were interested in departed from his lady's presence inspired like a true knight."

"How was that?"

"Well, her father was booted and he was spurred."

CLEVER

"Jimmy, what are the advantages of living in the temperate zone?" asked the teacher at the close of the geography lesson.

"None," answered Jimmy, bluntly.

"Why, Jimmy?" expostulated the teacher. "You know we live in the temperate zone."

"Yes, I know," declared Jimmy. "An' it takes all father can earn to buy less in summer an' cost in winter."

A few weeks later Jimmy was going into the third grade, having successfully passed the holiday examinations, and his parting with his beloved teacher was painful.

"Oh, teacher!" he wailed, "I wish you knew enough to teach the third grade, so you could come along an' teach me next year."

Jimmy is getting along well in these days.

The Reason

"Nobody at weddings ever gives the bridegroom away."

"Of course not; you couldn't find anybody that much."

FEARED INVASION

Exciting Days in Western Ontario During Fenian Raids

Notwithstanding the bloodless character of the Fenian Raids, as compared with the terrible struggle that has just closed in Europe, there was really more excitement in Goderich and surrounding country in 1866 than there was in 1914. There was the chance that Goderich itself might be an objective of the invaders, and warlike preparations were made accordingly, says Wm. Swainfield in the Toronto Star Weekly.

For about six weeks after the commencement of hostilities in 1866 business of all kinds in Goderich and its surroundings was at a standstill. I well remember when I housed the bodies of Home Guard and night and day stamped up and down to the harbor, where trouble might first have been expected if the invaders reached our shores. The garrison consisted of an artillery company, a rifle company and an infantry company, and these were reinforced by the "fighting Irishmen" from Goderich, "bushmen" and the adjoining country.

The band bakery, opposite the present Park House, was taken over as the guard-room, and rifle pits were constructed along the lake bank, opposite the residence now occupied by G. M. Elliott. The pits had men stationed in them at all times, night and day. Down below on the docks barbed wire was utilized to make a "battery," and every precaution of defence was taken.

They were all ready to shoot, when the look-out, announced that a steamer had been sighted on the lake. Excitement prevailed, and the men of the garrison at the harbor and the riflemen on the bank were all headed for the harbor. On the same night, directly under the guns of the garrison, a ship from her masthead, was seen to indicate whether she was friend or foe, and with the utmost bravado she reached the inner basin.

Then, when another moment might have meant her destruction, she unfurled the American flag. It turned out to be the United States Government ship Michigan with Gen. Sherman aboard.

The posting of sentries along the lake bank was continued after this incident. I was with a company which had a post further around the lake bank than the present Hotel Sussex. One morning about day-break a groundhog or some such animal started a sentry as it moved along the bank, and the sentry shot it, alarming the rest of the sentries. At one time word that the enemy had left Chicago, en route to Goderich. At another time it was given out that a number of Fenians had left Port Huron for Goderich. The news was like wildfire. As I was acquainted with places along the lake shore where an attempt might be made to land, I started out in the night with John Campbell to warn the settlers along the lake shore. They in turn warned other residents along the Bayfield road. About this time horsemen from the militia had joined the company, as it marched along, his only weapon being a pitchfork.

Some of the people went through experiences like those of the refugees in Europe, and the few survivors of those times know how to feel for war sufferers. One man took his cow and his horse to the highlands of Colborne Township. Another man between Goderich and Bayfield made a supply of panes for his way out of "Fenian" raid, and took them with him to the safe shelter of a hollow log. One farmer buried his new stove, his most treasured possession, lest it be broken by the invaders. Many others buried their valuables.

Oxygen for Fenians.
At high levels, such as birdmen, nowadays often reach, air is so thin that the aviator literally "dies of his breath." He is in danger of collapse from this cause.

It was ascertained during the war, though not at first suspected, that many a sentry of the candidates who passed examination for the air service were really unable to fly at altitudes ordinarily required in the work they were required to perform. It was further determined that more than 60 per cent of them could not endure flight at extremely high levels. But on the other hand, the fact that the aviator literally "dies of his breath" was not a serious matter out of 100 passed candidates, were able to ascend to the greatest elevations without peril.

To help in solving this important problem an oxygen apparatus was developed, smaller than the kind used for mine-rescue work, but constructed on much the same principle. Equipped with this contrivance, and carrying a supply of liquid oxygen along with him, the aviator could skim along in safety through the upper reaches of the sky.

Yes, Could Tell Him.
A member of Parliament called another an ass in the sacred precincts of the House. Unparliamentary language being forbidden, the offending M.P. had to apologize and withdraw his statement. He didn't like doing it. "I withdraw," he said very stiffly, "but I maintain that the honorable member is an out of order." "How can I out of order?" asked the other man heatedly. "Probably a veterinary surgeon could tell you," was the retort.

Not So Bull for Fenians.
In Western Canada they are telling this story about the Prince of Wales. Some one was complimenting him upon the fact that he had set his own bachelor establishment in London.

"Yes," said the prince, "it's been quite dull at home in the great palace and the royal apartments, and I have been very lonely."

Could Not Sleep

Mr. Earnest Clark, Police Officer, 338 King St. Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For three years I suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness. I believe my condition was brought about by overwork. I had frequent headaches, neuralgic pains and twitching of nerves and muscles. I had indigestion, was short of breath and easily tired. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and seven boxes of this medicine cured me of all my symptoms. I am now feeling one hundred per cent better than I was, and have to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the good health I am now enjoying."

The Actress.
She started on a farewell tour, the tickets didn't sell. Cold facts are stubborn, to be sure, she didn't fare so well.

Beginning at the Bottom.
"Many a man has attained success by beginning at the bottom."
"That's what Three-Fingered Sam did," remarked Cactus Joe. "He had all the money in Crimison Gulch before we took notice that he was dealing out the bottom of the deck."

The Advantage.
"All freight trains should be vestibuled."
"Why so?"
"Because vestibules ought to make good hauls."

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Mrs. S. W. Burt returned on Monday from a two week's visit in Port Fairfield.

Miss Hanson of Fredericton has returned and resumed her duties as stenographer for the United Farmers Cooperative Co.

School closed on Wednesday last. No public examination was held as the teachers and pupils have been putting all their extra effort into preparation for the concert to be given in the Opera House here on Christmas night. There will be no change in the personnel of the teaching staff for the ensuing term.

L. H. Baldwin and Miss Kathleen O'Hara attended the meeting of the Carleton-Victoria Teachers Institute held in Woodstock on Thursday and Friday of last week.

The merchants report a bumper Christmas season's trade. Although the H. C. of L. has left its mark especially noticeable on gift stuff and Christmas necessities, the limitation of purchasers is not marked in the same proportion, as nearly all buyers have bulging pockets from sales made at the high market price of products.

Miss Mary Gallagher of the Model School Staff, Fredericton, and John Gallagher of the Fredericton Business College are spending the Christmas tide at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Gallagher.

Miss Vera Brown of the teaching staff of McGill University arrived home from Montreal last week for a vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Brown.

Miss Mary Harold student at the Provincial Normal School is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harold.

Charles Estabrooks, who has been spending the last two months in Montreal taking a course in the Molar Barber College, arrived home on Tuesday.

and discontent among a certain class of Mr. Caldwell's glibbie followers?

In an attempt to justify his criticism Mr. Caldwell in his letter asks "will anti-Bolshevik not admit that it is harder to raise money in 1919 than it was in either 1917 or 1918?" We have the Government's statement that the amount raised in the Victory Loan of 1919 surpasses that of any previous loan. The large corporations in many instances subscribing double the amount they did last year. Does this not rather disprove Mr. Caldwell's statement? If however, Mr. Caldwell means "was it not harder to get the small investor to subscribe in 1919?" then I readily agree with him. Why was it that the farmers of this country (particularly those of the parish of Brighton) did not heed the patriotic appeals as formerly and subscribe better to the Victory Loan of 1919? Does not the sentiment found throughout the rural districts explain the chief reason? Could not this sentiment be summed up as follows: "Let the profiteer and the wealthy class do the subscribing to the Victory Loan. We owe nothing to the Government. Why ask us to make further sacrifice?" It has been said that the radicals on one hand and the profiteers on the other are the chief cause of the prevailing unrest and discontent throughout the U.S. and Canada. What Carleton county lacks in profiteers it certainly makes up in radicals. In his letter Mr. Caldwell wholly evades the real issue brought forward in my previous letter but seeks by using innuendoes to belittle the truth and accuracy of the statements contained therein. Such a course cannot fail to be understood by the public.

Yours respectfully,
Anti-Bolshevik.
