Russia Gives Notice That Japan Will Not Be Allowed to Occupy Corea.

French Courts Award Justin McCarthy the Custody of the Irish Funds in a Paris Bank,

The Eastern War Cloud.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 3 -The Government has served notice upon the Government at Tokio that Russia will not permit Japan to occupy Corea.

Afloat Again.

LONDON, July 3.-The steamer Vena, which was reported ashore on Stroma Island, off the northern coast of Scotland, was towed off last evening after having Jersey. discharged 200 tons of cargo.

Gladstone in Goggles.

Gladstone, the former wearing blue goggles, accompanied by Miss Helen Gladstone and Mr. Geo. Armisted, left Dollis Hill yesterday for Mr. Armisted's estate, Black Craig Castle, Scotland.

At Last.

PARIS, July 3 .- The court to-day pronounced judgment in the matter of the Irish National Parliamentary funds deposited here, ordering the bank of deposit, Munro's company, to immediately deliver the money to Justin McCarthy.

Royalty Visits Mackay.

LONDON, July 3 .- Mrs. Mackay entertained Princess Louise, Marchioness of Lorne, at Carlton House terrace. Many notable artists took part. Princess Colonna is in Italy and it is said will endeavor to obtain a divorce there. Her children are kept safely in England.

The Cattle Restriction.

London, July 3 .-- In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Herbert Gardiner, President of the Board of Agriculture, said he would shortly arnounce his decision as to the result of the examination conducted by himself, Major Saunderson and Sir Henry James in regard to continuing the restriction against American cattle.

Farrar's Impeachment of Modern Luxury.

London, July 3. - Archdeacon Farrar has been striking with great freedom against the rich. He bitterly complains "that while money is forthcoming in superfluous thousands for mere luxuries of ostentation, it can hardly be wrung for the amelioration of human miseries and the salvation of human souls." The other week, as he instanced, "thousands of pounds changed hands in the brainless excitement of betting and gambling" on the Derby; while he noted as another illustration of the poverty of the times that at an art sale £3,500 was gladly and emulously given on one afterroon last week for mandarin vases, ormolu clocks and marqueterie commodes." And all this munificence is being flaunted in the face of the people while money cannot be obtained for the care of the sick and the dying and the support of charitable institutions.

Gladstone in Retirement.

LONDON, July 3 .- A parliamentary representative gives a very touching account of the way in which Mr. Gladstone passes the greater part of his day. He will not be allowed to read or use his eyes for another month, and he has to sit all day with his eyes closed and with dark spectacles. Meanwhile he is read to by relays of friends, who take each other's place and give Mr. Gladstone some remarkably varied samples of reading. One day, for instance, a lady friend read to the ex-Premier a novel, and she was followed by George Russell, the under-secretary for the Home Office. Mr. Russell asked Mr. Gladstone what he preferred. The ex-Premier replied: "Read me the second Eneid." Mr. Russell read 600 lines, the old man stopping him now and then for comment, or to ask the reader to pause while he himself took up the recitation with some remembered lines. It is a pathetic reminiscence, for the second Æneid has always been a great favorite with Mr. Gladstone, and he used it copiously in the far-away historic encounters with Mr. Disraeli.

PARIS, Ont., July 3 .- About 2 a.m. today the large brick Dumfries Street Presbyterian Church, situated near the town hall, was discovered to be on fire, and inside of an hour the church, in spite of every effort, was a total loss. Organs, music books, silver communion service were all destroyed. It was very unfortunate it happened just at present as the church would have been vacated in two months. The $35,000 Presbyterian Church is nearly completed. The fire was first noticed from the cellar, evidently the work of an incendiary. Insurance $5,000.

> By Mr. Shirley, of New York-Came Over as a Bicycle Agent-A Supposed Cousin of Mr. T. R. Parker.

Mr. Amos Shirley, the New York gentleman who is looking after the affairs of the late H. H. Thomson, arrived here at an early hour this morning. His arrival clears up the mystery surrounding Thomson's identity. Mr. Shirley is not a lawyer as has been stated but is the New York agent of the New Howe bicycle manufactured in Glasgow. It appears that Thomson was a traveling agent of the same company and this is how they came to be acquainted. Mr. Shirley is an Englishman and feels the shock of Thomson's death and the attendant sad circumstances very keenly. He was seen by an ADVER-TISER reporter this morning and gave the following particulars of the young man.

"Thomson called on me when he first anded in New York," said he. "He represented the same firm as I and came out equipped with £10,000 worth of bicycles and a power of attorney to do as he pleased. He impressed me very much as a remarkably able young man and I formed quite a liking to him.' "It has been said that Thomson was not what he claimed to be," said the reporter. "In justice to him it would be well to state just who he is." "Well," answered Mr. Shirley, "all I know is that he is highly respectably connected and belongs to a wealthy family in

"Is it so that his father and brothers own and control a steamship line?" "No, I don't think so. His father is dead. The firm was the late John Thomson & Son, ship brokers and insurance agents, Glasgow." "Then Mr. Thomson was not one of the firm ?" "No; he simply represented the New Howe Company. Mr. Shirley was told that it had been set forth as a reason for the deed that Thomson's people objected to the match. "How could they know about it when they did not even know where he was?" asked Mr. Shirley. "Why didn't he write Bonnie Boy also started. Time, 3:00. to his mother? Why didn't he write to his brother? Why didn't he write to the New

"Do you think the shortness of funds had anything to do with it?" "He could have had any money he wanted by writing for it. I can't understand why Chicago Judge, by J. Northgrave, 2; he did not write. He came to New York Tommy May, by W. Hilts, 3; Bay Billy, he did not write. He came to New York on April 12 and stayed a few days. He left a valise at the hotel where he was stopping in New York and said he would go to London, Ont., and return is a few days. That was the last I have seen or heard of him. His people cabled after that saying they did not know where he was. I could only tell them that he left in April for London, Ont. He was then well supplied with money.' "While I was in the undertaking estabishment this morning I met Mr. Thos. R. Parker, C. P. R. ticket agent here, and he appears to be a cousin of the young man. He will be buried from Mr. Parker's house this afternoon." Mr. Shirley said further that he would wait and be present at the inquest tomorrow night and gain what additional particulars he could. Since he arrived this morning he has cabled to Thomson's brother, telling him that it appeared to be a case of double suicide. Mr. Shirley was requested by cable to come to London and attend the obsequies, get particulars, and bring away any personal effects. Mr. Thomas R. Parker, who appears to he a cousin of deceased, was not aware of the existing relationship until last evening. He suspected it then, and Mr. Shirley's arrival strengthened the belief and warranted the burial from Mr. Parker's house this afternoon. The burial took place at Mount Pleasant cometery and was private. Rev. J. W. Annis officiated. It was the wish of Mr. Shirley, the McKechnies and Mr. Parker that the funeral should be allow me to correct an item that appeared in Tuesday evening's issue of your paper in regard to the Hyde Park-Byron game of ball. The correct score was 18 to 17 in favor of Hyde Park. The circumstances were as follows: In the last half of the ninth, with Byron to bat, two men out and a runner on third base, the score was 18 to 17 in Hyde Park's favor. The tunner on third base ran home on the hit of the third man out, which run should not be scored, a rule that the smallest schoolboy knows. Byron, ignorant of the rules, insisted that this run should be scored, thereby making the score 18 to 18. A Cabinet Council Called and U. S Troops Ordered to Chicago-Bloodshed at Uniontown. Pa.

COSTING A PILE OF MONEY. CHICAGO, July 3.—If the strike is of long duration it will make a big hole in Uncle Sam's exchequer. Up to 10 o'clock last night nearly 15,000 deputy marshals had been sworn in at the Government bureau. They receive $2 50 per day and board, in addition each man upon receiving his badge of office is furnished with a $4 revolver and $1 worth of ammunition. There are also expenses for vehicles, telegrams and other items.

STRIKERS ENCOURAGED. President Debs of the American Railway Union says of the Pullman boycott, that advices from all parts are very encouraging, and points that showed weak ness at first are now out to a man.

THE NICKEL PLATE TIED UP. CHICAGO, Ill., July 3 .- All the engineers firemen, brakemen and trackmen on the Chicago end of the Nickel Plate Railroad stopped work simultaneously and without warning to-day, leaving things in a desperate state of confusion. FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 3 .- The Nickle Plate's freight business is at a standstill, and an east-bound passenger train was stopped at Stoney Island. West-bound passengers are moving, but the company does not expect to get equipment east after reaching Chicago. The road does not handle Pullman coaches, but the general boycott order will be respected by em-

The Wabash is doing no business here whatever.

LEADERS ARRESTED. President Debs of the American Railroad Union has been served with a subpæna to appear at court during the August term to answer the bill.

At Cincinnati Edward F. Pheland, leader of the railway strike, was arrested to-day at the instance of the Cincinnati and Southern Railway Company's receiver. Samuel Filton, charging him with interfering with the management of the railway by ordering its employes to leave its service with intent to injure the traffic. BATTLE CREEK STRIKERS CONTROL THE RAILWAY. LANSING, Mich., July 3 .- Gov. Rich early this morning received a message from Sheriff Walkinshaw, at Battle Creek, announcing that strikers had full control of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railroad at Battle Creek and refuse to let trains pass. gineering, Mechanical Engineering, The message said: "I may have to call on you for troops, but will try and open the blockade with 40 deputies." Gov. Rich ordered the First Regiment to assemble at the armories and be ready to proceed to Battle Creek at a moment's notice. DETROIT, Mich., July 3 .- At noon to-day Col. Snyder, commanding the Twenty-third Regiment, United States army, stationed at Fort Wayne, received a telegram from Gen. Miles instructing him to hold two companies under marching orders and in immediate readiness to take the field. UNITED STATES TROOPS ORDERED TO CHICAGO.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.—Attorney-General Olney, Secretary Lamont and Gen. Schofield are in conference with the President at the White House on the railway strike situation. Col. Lamont went to the War Department after the Cabinet meeting and made public this statement: "The United States marshals, the United States districtattorney and the United States judges having certified to the President that in their judgment it is impracticable to otherwise execute the orders of the court, the troops under command of Col. Crofton at Fort Sheridan, consisting of eight companies of infantry, two troops of cavalry and a battery of light artillery have been ordered to Chicago to enforce the observance of the laws of the United States." These orders were telegraphed at 3:30 p.m. to Col. Martin, the adjutant-general, at Gen. Miles' headquarters in Chicago. TEN TRAINS STALLED AT BATTLE CREEK. BATTLE CREEK, Mich., July 3.—No attempt has been made to get out any more of the Grand Trunk trains since the morning. Everything is as quiet as Sunday here. Most of the strikers are at home. Ten trains are now here and another is expected from Chicago in a short time. An official of the C. and G. T. declares that enough men will be on the grounds in a day or two to take care of all the business,

THE SITUATION AT PORT HURON.

PORT HURON, Mich., July 3 .- From 300 to 500 employes of the Chicago and Grand Trunk went out at midnight. Men are joining the A. R. U. every hour. J. C. Spence, A. R. U. organizer, addressed a public meeting at Fort Gratiot for two hours, urging everyone to join the A. R. U. A rising vote was taken and the resolution not to move a wheel on the C. and G. T. was adopted, while the entire audience arose and cheered. The A. R. U. leaders are taking in everybody that is in any way connected with rail-way work. The firemen have gone out to a man. The situation is about the same as in Battle Creek. The engineers won't go out without the union firemen. The conductors will refuse to take the trains with B. of L. men at the engines. 'The members of the Conductors' Union will never consent to go out to help along this strike unless ordered to do so by their own officers," said a con-ductor. "We do not like the class of men that are allowed to join the American Railway Union. Many of them are not in any way connected with the railroads. The conductors have been treated squarely by the Chicago and Grand Trunk. It is this taking everybody on regardless of whether they are union men or not that weakens this cause." The Detroit division of the Grand Trunk is not affected. Several passengers for the west are delayed at this point.

WINDSOR FEELS THE EFFECT. WINDSOR, July 3.—The effect of the Pullman strike reached Windsor last night, and although the Canadian trainmen have not struck nor are likely to, yet many of them find themselves thrown out of work. ONE ROAD LOSES $200,000 A DAY.

Freight trains are tied up all along the route between Pittsburg and Chicago. At Grand Rapids, Mich., the strike is beginning to be seriously felt. The stock of Chicago dressed meat and other meats will run out soon and hotels have only one day's stock. At Pine Bluff, Ark., 1,800 employes of the Cotton Belt Railway struck to-day. The road will be completely tied up. A meat famine is threatened in Northern New England on account of the strike in the West. BLOODSHED. UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 3.-To-day a crowd of strikers chased G. H. Phillips and Fred Wyane, two deputy sheriffs from Kyle, all over town. They took refuge in the Pennsylvania Railroad depot. The crowd followed and the deputies drew their revolvers. A riot ensued in which William Fallon was shot through the arm, Martin

Schemley slightly wounded, while a number suffered broken heads. The police offected several arrests. A WARNING. CHICAGO, July 3 .- "We are making every effort to prevent trouble on the 4th, said President Debs to-day. "We are warning our people everywhere to exercise the greatest care to avoid any conflict with the companies on that day. There will be, by general consent, a sort of truce, and the effect will be to let our differences lie over for 48 hours, while we observe the national holiday. If there is any trouble it will not be of our seeking." THE SITUATION. CHICAGO, Ill., July 3.—The action of the Government in determining to authorize the employment of United States troops for the purpose of enforcing the enjoining order issued yesterday by Judges Wood and Grosscup, and a well defined indication that both sides are not only willing but anxious to arrive at a pacific understanding, were the principal features of the strike situation to day.

The predictions made last night that the eve of the country's natal day would witness the beginning of the end were not destined to be fulfilled. There were no signs of weakening on the part of the striking element.

The general managers, on the other hand, maintained the same attitude of firm determination that has characterized every move of the association from the beginning of the trouble. The gravity of the situation so far as it relates to the great mass of the public was increased to-day by the action of the management of the Northwestern road on temporarily striking from its pay rolls nearly 1,000 employes who have been in a state of enforced idleness since the strike was extended to that system. Ice is short, the food supply scant, and a fuel famine is also imminent. The supply of soft coal is nearly exhausted, and a score of big industrial establishments will be under the necessity of shutting on Saturday, if not before.

A detachment of the Fifteenth Regiment, United States regulars, from Fort Sheridan, Col. Croft commanding, arrived at the Northwestern station at 11:45.

More Trouble.

MINERS DISSATISFIED.

Dispatches from Ironwood, Mich., and Punxsutaway, Pa., indicate serious trouble among the miners, who say the terms of compromise are not carried out. At the former place the militia were called on, shots were exchanged and a miner was fatally injured. NORMAL SCHOOL EXAMS.

The matter was referred to Ald. T Jones, O'Meara and Coo to report.

NUMBER ONE COMMITTEE. No. 1 committee recommended for payment $9,207 14, as follows: Printing, $200 15; telegrams, $3 02; salaries, $3 652 50; streets, etc., $2,857 93; sewers, $539 38; city parks, $168 36; City Hall, $228 40; artificial stone walks, $700; fire department, $848 40; street watering, $9. In the matter of balance of school moneys of school section No. 2 of the township of Westminster the committee had arrived at a basis of settlement, which they submitted for approval. Re the appointment of a tax collector to succeed J. K. Clare, Ald. Coo moved that another collector be not appointed and the treasurer be instructed to do the work. Ald. Parnell and Ald. Judd favored the idea, but did not think it advisable at this stage of the year's work. The clause was adopted and the work of appointing another collector taken up.

The vote resulted as follows: Frank Barnard..... A bylaw was then prepared authorizing

Mr. McCoubrey to act. On the second reading Ald. Parnell moved that the name of George Laing be inserted instead of Mr. McCoubrey. Lost on the following division:

Jones, Wm. Heaman, Scarrow, Nutkins, Parnell, F. J. Fitzgerald-8. Nays-Taylor, Pritchard, Coo, Thomas Jones, Carrothers, James Fitzgerald, Garratt, Dreaney, Juid, Shaw and Mayor Essery-11. The bylaw was then adopted.

MOTIONS. Ald. Pritchard pressed his motion to dismiss the assistant engineer. He said he did so on economical grounds, and had nothing whatever against Mr. Ironside personally. Ald. J. W. Jones seconded.

As the time mentioned in the notice of motion was the second week in July, and as the matter had not been introduced at the last meeting, it was ruled out of order. The council sustained the mayor and Ald.

Pritchard renewed his notice of motion. 'I am going to stick to this thing if it takes all the year," said he. Miss Bugier's taxes were then ordered to be remitted on motion of Ald. Scarrow and

Ald. Parnell gave notice of motion arking for a report on ways and means of collecting taxes.

BYLAWS. A money bylaw authorizing the berrow. other than salutary consequences. Coughs, ng a specialty. Te ephone numbers: office, ling of $180,000 was carried.

The bylaw to authorize the issue of sores succumb to its action.

$20,000 in 30 years debentures was then read. The city solicitor stated that the time had been changed to 20 years instead of 30 to conform with the law governing the same. He also stated that it was necessary for the council before acting finally to obtain a requisition from the Free Library Board for the sum. The bylaw also provided for building purposes only, and did not cover the purchase of books. Instead of being read for the second time the bylaw was referred to No. 1 committee to have this matter remedied.

The bylaw regulating the speed of bicycles in public parks and limiting it to five miles an hour was read. Ald. Carrothers and Coo moved that ten be inserted instead of five. Lost. The bylaw was then adopted, and bicyclists may now walk around the park, because they will fall off their machines at five miles an hour.

The bylaw to authorize the building of Beaconsfield avenue at a width of 50 feet instead of 66 feet was read for the first Then a clause was moved to restrain property-owners on the streets from buildng within ten feet on each side of the way. There being doubt of the legality of the matter, the bylaw was referred back to committee. Three bylaws for levying rates to pay for local improvements were adopted. Ad-

INSURING THE SCHOOLS.

A Total of $140,000 To Be Placed on July 8.

Large Increase in the Average Attendance at the Collegiate Institute-Six Teachers to Go to the Normal

The Board of Education met last night, and for a long time wrestled with the question of who should get the $100,000 insurance which is to be renewed on July 3. It was brought up through the reading of the report of No. 2 committee by Chairman Blackwell, which recommended that the duty of renewing be left with the board. During the past three years Mr. A. Macpherson has held the whole amount, and had paid out lesses amounting to about $4,000. Several applications were received from local agents, each of whom claimed a right to a portion of the board's business. Mr. Blackwell favored the division, while others wanted it to go into one agent's hands. After the $100,000 had been talked over for some time Mr. Stevenson desired the canceling of the policies, amounting to $40,000, which expire in the near future, in order that every policy would run concurrently. This was agreed to, and Mr. Macpherson will get $70,000. Mr. Alexander's report for No. 1 committee recommended that the application of Treasurer Pope for a change in the method of paying the teachers be granted. Another clause advised that the application of Principal Reynolds for an increase of salary be laid over. This brought out a motion by Trustee Turner that an increase be given, but it was ruled out of order, and the report was adopted.

Mr. Alexander asked what No. 2 committee has done in reference to a statement sented the council's petition for better of the property controlled by the board. He thought the committee was negligent in the matter.

Chairman Blackwell reported progress in the matter. He was decidedly opposed to No. 1 committee laying out work for No. 2. Experts would have to be engaged at great

Miss McKenzie, superintendent of kindergartens, recommended that the $15 granted to assistants for material be paid to Miss Grace Johnston, who has been assistant at Rectory street during the past year. city. No. 1. The applications of Misses L. E. Hicks and E. Dillabaugh for positions on the teaching staff were referred to No. 1. Misses Edith McMechan, Kate Colouhoup, Jennie J. Walton, Lizzie Williams and Annie Adcock applied for permission to attend the Normal School. Granted. Principal Merchant's monthly report showed an increase in the average attendance over June, 1892, of 102. The total number on the roll was 551, the average number present being 448.

A communication from Wm. Bryant relating to the cleaning of furnaces was sent to No. 2 with power. Chairman MacRobert stated that Sheriff

Cameron, one of the judges in the banner competition at the demonstration, had intimated that it would have pleased him were two prizes given, as the Simcoe and separate schools wereso evenly matched. No action will be taken.

Mr. Anderson moved a reconsideration of his plan for the payment of school janitors. Lost. He then raised a point of order, stating that at the present rate of payment the board would be $490 in arrears. The audit committee will report.

Motions were then made: By Trustee Blackwell-That the cottage on the Quebec street school grounds be given rent free, but that no repairs be made at the expense of the board. Carried.

By Mr. Jeffrey-That No. 1 call for tenders for coal. Carried. By Mr. Jeffrey-That the principals report the number of pupils not promoted at the recent exams, and the cause of failure; also that no pupils be put back to a lower form after having once passed.

Carried. Present: Chairman MacRobert, Trustees Blackwell, Logan, Powell, Dr. Campbell, Wilkins, Greenless, Murphy, Griffin, Jeffrev, Turner, Anderson, Stevenson, Martin. Sanders, Dr. Wilson, Principal Merchant, Inspector Carson and Secretary McElheran.

OBLIGATORY VOTING.

In the course of his Dominion Day sermon, Rev. W. J. Clark took ground in favor of obligatory voting. In his opinion. the trust of the franchise is given to be exercised, and the citizen who does not do his whole duty by going to the polls and voting for the best candidate offering should in some way or other be made to feel that he had fallen short of his citizenship. This view should meet with general well as a privilege, and if it is exercised as such much of the expense and corruption attending elections would be done away with. Who can deny that if there had been obligatory voting in the recent Ontario elections the trouble and expense of "bringing out the vote" would not have been enormously minimized? The leaders in the political parties should be the first to voting adventurers to refuse to go to the tax is strongly favored in other parts of

SOME WHOLESALE DENUNCIA-TIONS.

The Hamilton Templar seems about as busy in assuring the public that other prohibition workers are unworthy and unreliable as it is in constantly impressing its | in the House of Representatives it is readers with the fact that it is "the foremost prohibition journal in Canada." The Christian Guardian, now the oldest temperance and religious journal of Canada, has been over and over again denounced as coming far short of its duty, and this significant inquiry is made: "Can such an editor (as Rev. Dr. Dewart) claim to be a guardian of the country's best interest?" It lays bare the cloven foot of the political partisan under the garb of the pretended Christian temperance advocate. The men who have honestly believed the assurances of the Mowat Government for prohibition are characterized as "the numberless gullible jackasses which stand ready to swallow whatever is thrown to them." Joseph Tait, ex-M.P.P., who has been known and respected as an honest Prohibibitionist for 30 years or more, has been over and over again characterized as too unreliable to be worthy of a prohibition elector's support. Mr. W. H. Orr, who has grown gray in the prohibition work, having been in the harness years before his traducer was in the ranks at all, is characterized as "recklessly untruthful" in his writings on the prohibition question. Messrs, J. J. McLaren, Q.C., and F. S. Spence, to whom thousands have looked with confidence for years past, have been repeatedly shown up in the same columns as "mere partisans first," masquerading under prohibition colors, so as to conceal their real intentions. Many hundreds of leading temperance men in Hamilton voted for and helped elect the Hon. Mr. Gibson, a member of the Mowat Government, who is pledged to prohibition along with his chief, in preference to seeing the election of a man who openly declared against temperance, and said he did not want any prohibition support; and such are referred to as "a few temperance men who for various reasons stultify themselves." This kind of tirade has been going on for some time against a large number of conscientious and intelligent people who fail to see eye to eye with the editor.

One thing, however, the Templar reader has been all the time confidently assured of, and that is that though all other men should forsake prohibition for party, yet will not the Templar and Mr. Marter, M. P.P.-both pure types of genuine advanced prohibitionists! Whether this style of persuading with a club all and sundry who may have opinions of their own will greatly promote prohibition success may be well adjournment of the House of Commons. questioned. It may be regarded "with There should be a law against the holding perfect equanimity" by a well self-satisfied ournal, but it has proved painfully disgust-

> IMPORTANT TARIFF QUESTIONS SETTLED IN THE UNITED STATES AND YET TO SETTLE.

The amended United States Tariff Bil passed the Senate yesterday, and now goes back to the House of Representatives for concurrence. It is expected that the measure will be brought before the ways and means committee of the House this week, when the manner of handling the amendments of the senators will be agreed upon. While it is conceded that the feeling is him should be the controlling power, and strongly in favor of the Wilson Bill minus the "protectionist" encroachments of the Senate, it is believed by many that Chairman Wilson will urge a conciliatory attitude. Mr. Wilson will not, however, readily agree to some of the reactionary amendments, and it may be some time therefore before the measure is finally crystallized into law. The bill will be sent to a joint conference of the House and the Senate without any effort to secure agreement in whole or in part in the House, which is an indication of how strongly the majority in the more popular chamber feel on the question of the increased taxation demanded by the Senate.

One important division of the measure the senators agreed to, and that was the abrogation of the so-called reciprocity treaties, with the exception of that relating to Hawaii. The McKinley Bill provided for these treaties, but most illogically left out Canada. As it has turned out, reciprocity is of little value to a highly "protective" nation, and the new tariff bill provides for the abrogating of these treaties with South American countries.

Despite the most strenuous efforts on the part of the Democratic Senator Hill and his allies, the income tax feature of the new tariff measure has been sustained. A general tax on incomes would never have been indorsed. It would have been most unpopular, but the tax provided for by this act only applies to incomes over $4,000 a year. This fact reconciles the masses to the tax, as it is felt the any man who receives a clear income of $4,000 a year and over can with perfect ease pay the 2 per cent tax imposed. Besides it is argued that the tax on imports benefits the rich at the expense of the poor, and that the income tax on the rich is only a needed balance. It is enacted that this tax shall be collected from Jan. 1 next till Jan. 1, 1900, and that, while the salaries of the United States President and United States judges are to be liable for taxation, the incomes of State, county and municipal officers are to be exempted. This exemption is not warranted. Men who receive acceptance. The franchise is a duty as steady income from the sources named are often better able to pay their taxes than those engaged in commercial or industrial pursuits. The reason for the strong opposition to the tax on incomes over $4,000. headed by Senator Hill, lies in the fact that New York and the Eastern States surrounding it furnishes by far the greater portion of the millionaires and other rich men of the country, and they scarcely indorse obligatory voting, for it would save relish this burden, which is especially them an enormous amount of trouble and adapted for their broad shoulders, but the expense, and render it out of the power of division in the Senate proved that the new cratic senators voted for Senator Hill's motion to dispense with the income tax sections of the bill, no fewer than 10 Republicans, out of a possible 37, voted with the three Populists in favor of the tax, which will be retained in the bill, as favored by a large majority. There are strong doubts as to whether the tax of 40 cents per ton on iron ores and on bituminous coal will be agreed to by the House of Representatives. If it is not, and these commodities are put upon the free list, then so much the better for Canada. But in any case, the people of the United States seem to be more anxious to have the rate of taxation, no matter what it is, quickly settled than to have a prolonged struggle over details. They are wearied waiting for the official announcement of what the tariff will be, and are hopeful, as we on this side of the lines are, that when the bill is finally made law the times will improve with resulting benefit to the United States people and those who interchange commodities with them.

AN ASSASSIN MUST DIE.

Prendergast, the assassin of Mayor Harrison, Chicago, will be hanged. For months his lawyers have been engaged trying to make believe that he was insane when he committed the foul deed, but neither judge nor jury have taken stock in their arguments. Prendergast knew what he was doing when he killed Mr. Harrison, just as Guiteau was cognizant of the crime that he committed when he assassinated President Garfield. Cranks have no more right to pardon on the ground of insanity than have ordinary citizens.

LANDLORDS AND OTHER

CREDITORS. Those who have had bitter experience complain that under the present law regarding bankruptcy, the landlord of premises in which an insolvent lives or does business is unduly favored at the expense of the other creditors. The landlord is allowed 100 cents on the dollar of his claim, no matter how the other creditors come out. Thus, in a recent insolvency. the landlord did not collect his rent for nearly two years. Then the tenant failed. The total assets were less than $5,500, but the landlord was able to take every cent of his rent, amounting to over $1,300. It is very properly claimed that there should be some limit to the amount of rent which a landlord should collect under such circumstances, so that all creditors may have an equitable share in the assets of the insolvent. Under the present law, the landlord is given a decided advantage.

ELECTION ECHOES.

Count Makes Changes in Majorities.

The official count in the West Elgin election was made on Saturday. The only change from the figures previously published was in polling subdivision No. 11, St. Thomas, the vote being 137 for McColl instead of 138. This reduces his majority in the city to 281 and increases Mr. Macnish's total majority to 171, the total vote being 2,680 and 2,851. In East Eigin Mr. Bowers' majority is Returning Officer Sheriff Paxton, of Whithy, made the official count Tuesday, making the majority on ballots cast in Ontario South for Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, over those for Robt. Miller 321. The vote was the largest ever polled in the riding.

THERE are some very curious statistics in a summary of "The Tourists' Church Guide," which reaches us "with Lord Halifax's compliments." The number of Anglican churches in England and Wales has almost doubled since 1882, and is now 5,957. Of these about half are free. At 250 incense is used; at 406 there is a daily celebration of the Holy Eucharist; the muchdiscussed "Eastward position" is adopted at no fewer than 5,037; "Eucharistic vestments" are worn at 1,370, and altar lights are employed during the sacrament of the Eucharist at 2,707.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and got so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but laid with them half open. About this time, at the earnest request of friends, I started using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, the Cuticura bill was not more than five dollars. ENGLAND'S NEW SPORT. The warm weather and the cry for something new are responsible for the inauguration of the gymkhana, a form of amuse-ment popular in India, but little known in western countries. The venture was launched the other day, and lovers of sport are crazy over it. The most amusing event on the programme was a custom race; seated on side saddles and attired in dresses of the gayest colors and the most startling cut. five gentlemen went round the course, which included a bushed hurdle. Two ballet girls (both men) covered their ponies quarters with their voluminous skirts, a Dolly Varden and Baby in bed-gown and sun bonnet and raced for the fence, and Charley's Aunt brought up the rear. Another feature of the day was the obstacle race, in which a variety of objects likely to put ponies off were arranged roncourse. The one that attracted people most was the series of paper screens through which the ponies had to force their way. The head to tail race and the handkerchief dash were mirth-provoking features. In the former men rode at lively speed with their faces toward the horses' tails, and in the latter a rider dropped a lady's handkerchief on the ground, then at the gallop picked it up without leaving his

But, on the other hand, the race was run on the 6th, with the result (as a writer in the News of the World points out) that the Psalms appointed for evensong on Derby day contained the following admonition: "A horse is counted a vain thing to save a man; neither shall he deliver a man by his great strength." A sufficient intimation to some minds, perhaps, that the Government must not expect to win anything politically on these horses was not due to over-exertion, but to excessive quantities of stimulants dministered during the race. The owners indorse this theory and claim that the winning horse, being as good as ever, supports them in their contention. It is not stated wherein, as far as human principles are concerned, the difference lies between killing a horse with overdoses of alcoholic stimulants and riding him to death. The result is the same, and in either case cruelty has been practiced, and its perpetrators should be punished, is the opinion of the Horseman. There are times when the importance of his mission warrants a rider in forcing his herse beyond his capabilities, but racing over a distance of ground so great that horses must be killed to succeed in traversing it is a wretched mockery of sport which public sentiment will not tolerate.

There were four starters in the 2:12 class for pacers. The first heat was a very exciting contest between Vitello and Charlie Ford and both were whipping hard in the stretch. Vitello won the heat, with Ford close up. The Hamlin mare was a poor fourth. The four were bunched nearly all the way in the second heat and all whipping coming to the wire. The Rochester horse won the heat by a length in 2:133, and repeated the act in the third heat, but in much slower time.

THE POOR ENCLISHMAN.

His Butler and Footman are Subject to a Tax.

The Happy Canadian Farmer.

The Liberal party are constantly pointing to England as a country where the people enjoy the blessings of tree trade and are not taxed. We give place to the following from Temple Bar, an independent English journal, which shows just what real taxes mean. Birth is taxed, marriage is taxed, death is taxed; we are taxed for our butler if we are prosperous enough to keep one; we are taxed for our footmen, our groom; the carriage we keep is taxed; the omnibus we ride in is taxed; the railway train we travel by is taxed; the house dog is taxed; everything we drink-wine, tea, coffee is taxed; light is taxed: the linen we sleep on is taxed; the tobacco we smoke is taxed; the Christmas plum-pudding is taxed; our anti-bilious pills are taxed; we have local rates, poor rates, county council rates, vestry rates, water rates; men, women and children are all taxed, householders, lodgers, married and single in some form or other."-[Belleville

Intelligencer. The Canadian farmer is clearly at an advantage on some points. His butler, grooms and footmen are not taxed, but that is the sole exception. In one form or another, though under different names and classifications, the taxes enumerated in the -and many more besides. To compare the taxation of England with that of Canada is presuming that the population of this country are too ignorant to notice a fundamental difference. The taxes of England go into the public purse and are used for the purposes of the nation; the taxes paid in the shape of increased prices by the Canadian consumer do not go into the treasury, but into the pockets of the combines and monopolists. Still, it will be of great comfort to the average Manitoba farmer to know that, although he is taxed on everything he uses and wears, and that these taxes do not go to the treasury, but to swell the profits of his eastern providers, he at any rate pays no tax on his butler and footmen. He may have a major domo or a groom of the chambers, as well as a butler and footmen, and not pay tax on any of them. We fear, however, that this is the limit of his exemption. On his coachman's wig he must pay duty, on the liveries for his footmen, on the powder for their hair, their silk stockings and pumps tax is levied, and his wife's carriage shares the commen lot, Whether his dog is taxed depends on where he lives, but if he keeps an omnibus or especially a private railway train he does not scape, as the Intelligencer seems to think for a great part of the material and the tools for manufacturing it are taxed. His light is very heavily taxed, his plumpudding, his linen, and even his anti-bilious pills spoken of. So much so indeed that lew farmers, lumberers or miners can afford to take more than a box at a time. Thus while everything in England that is taxed for public revenue is also taxed in Canada, though not for public revenue only, there is a catalogue of 21 pages enumerating articles most of which are free in England, on which the Canadian consumer pays duty varying from 20 to 100 per cent, Convenient as it is to have a butler or footman, the conditions of the Northwest are such that many farmers would willingly discharge these domestics if by doing so

The Cornwall Canal Jobbery In dorsed by 38 Majority.

Mr. Edgar Introduces His Arraignment of Sir Adolphe Caron and Sir Hector Langevin in Connection With the Tory Corruption Fund.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.) OTTAWA, July 3 .- On the motion for the the third reading of the bill providing for the payment to Quebec Province of the North Shore Railway subsidy of 1884, Mr. Laurier objected that no security was taken for the application of the sum. He also pointed out that the Quebec Legislature had passed two different statutes, one in 1886 and one in 1894, each statute making a different appropriation of the principal sum. He, therefore, moved that the bill be amended so as to provide that the money shall be paid according to the provisions of the the redemption of the loan of 1874. Sir John Thompson held that the particular application of the money was a matter of provincial concern only, and that the Legislature could in 1894 alter the legislation of 1886. The amendment was lost on a division. On a motion to concur in the Cornwall Canal vote taken in committee of supply, Mr. Laurier moved an amendment, reciting the history of the recent contracts on this canal, and declaring that the action of the Department of Railways and Canals in canceling a contract approved by Parliament and substituting other works without the sanction of Parliament was unconstitutional and dangerous to public interest; that the action of the department in canceling the contract awarded to the Gilbert Bros. for sections 5 and 6 of the Cornwall Canal, when the expenditure of $125,000 paid Gilbert Bros. for work done was thereby rendered perfectly useless, and when a further sum of $30,000 was paid to Gilbert Bros. for damages for the refusal of the department to carry out tion of his colleagues? In 1891, with lofty their contract, has inflicted upon the ratepayers a loss of over $150,000 and that the action of the department in letting without tender contracts for the construction of dams at Sheik's Island at a cost of $384,000, openly and deliberately violated the law of the land, and that the whole course of the Government in this matter deserves the severest censure of this House. On a division this motion was rejected by 47 yeas to 85 nays. In committee on the Northwest Act, on the clause providing that the Legislative Assembly may appoint four of their number as a committee to advise the lieutenantgovernor, Hon. David Mills, of Bothwell, could not see why full provincial powers were not accorded to territories. He failed to see if the lieutenant-governor disregarded the advice of his advisers what the House, it appears that large portions of Sir John Thompson said that in such an event the Assembly would apply to the Federal authority to instruct the lieutenant-governor to carry out their will. The clause was adopted and the bill reported. It stands for the third reading. The irrigation bill was read a third time; also the bill respecting the common school

The bill granting additional salary to the judge who discharged the duties of chief ustice of the Superior Court of Quebec, if he resided at Montreal, was advanced a stage after a declaration from Mr. Brodeur that the bill was directed against Judge Jette becoming chief justice.

On motion to go into committee of supply Mr. Edgar brought forward his motion against Sir Adolphe Caron and Sir Hector Langevin in connection with the corruption out of which was formed the Conservative fund for the general elections of 1887. Large sums of money were contributed by Larkin, Connolly & Co., to Thomas Mcfund. It was pointed out that this money was used to influence the electors and that in the McGreevy-Connolly trial this argument instead of being accepted in extenuation of the offense of which they were convicted, was pronounced by the presiding judges, Mr. Justice Rose, as untenable. The jury were not told who the 'noblemen" were referred to at the trial, who benefited by this corruption and conreceived $55,000 for political purposes and expended exclusively for the Conservative party. The sum was much larger, but Mr. Edgar took this sum because it was admitted under oath.

Dealing with other contributions to what he called "this reptile fund," Mr. Edgar quoted the evidence before the Caron commission to show that Sir Adolphe Caron admitted under oath that he had received $25,000 from the late Senator Ross "in dirty bank notes," which he handed over to Thomas McGreevy for election expenses. At the same time every dollar of $262,000 of subsidies to the Lake St. John Railway Company was payable to Senator Ross. The whole record failed to show a single disinterested contributor. Before the commission Thomas McGreevy swore that he honored the drafts on this fund drawn by Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron. He himself and these two leaders were a committee of three controlling the fund, so that Langevin and Caron were equally involved and equally responsible.

Mr. Edgar produced fac similes of a arge number of these orders on the fund, signed by Sir Adolphe and Sir Hector.
These orders covered twenty separate was in total ignorance of any money being paid out of this fund for his own benefit. Mr. Edgar, however, produced a document signed by Sir Hector himself, asking Mr. McGreevy to hear his agent, P. E. Pannetton, who went to ask for nearly $3,000. Mr. Edgar read from sworn statements of election expenses made according to law by the financial agents of the two Ministers. Sir Adolphe's sworn election expenses in 1887 amounted to $904, yet he got $5,100. Sir Hector's sworn legal expenses were a few dollars more, leaving for Three Rivers $12,232 for corrupt purposes. Sir Hector Langevin swore positively that he did not know of any money paid out of this fund for any constituency, yet the amount sent to his own constituency was at the rate of $20 for every vote polled for Sir Hector in he election of 1887. The sworn evidence also shows that no money was paid out of the fund until the committee of three-Langevin, Caron and McGreevy-agreed together. Mr. Edgar produced 30 orders signed by Sir Hector Langevin all drawn upon the fund of which he professed ignorance. Quebec act of 1886 into the fund created for

There were also numerous orders signed by Sir Adolphe Caron, who admitted signing them. The whole fund was divided among the constituencies as decided by the committee of three. They professed to have closed their eyes to the foul sources of supply for this money, but Sir Adolphe had admitted under oath that he had himself raked in $25,000 and turned it into the general fund. Thirty-five thousand dollars was given to Sir Hector Langevin's personal organ, Le Monde.

Mr. Edgar dwelt on the close relations between Thos. McGreevy and Sir Hector Langevin. Mr. Edgar grew eloquently indignant towards the close of his indictment. The only men before the Carleton county jury were McGreevy and Connolly, but, as the presiding judge said: "Others of high standing may be equally guilty, and it might be right to have them brought to the bar of justice and their punishment awarded if guilty, but with that the jury had nothing to do." These words, Mr. Edgar declared, formed an invitation to Parliament. Would the Minister of Justice direct the prosecuprofessions of virtue, the Minister of Justice declared that every offender, high or low, would be punished. He had nevertheless stayed his hand to save a colleague and save his party. He was sueing the Connollys civilly for certain sums, but he knew that at least $20,000 of that sum was traced directly into the hands of his colleagues and spent for his own and their benefit. This question, Mr. Edgar argued, was now before the House with new light. In 1891 Sir Hector Langevin had denied all knowledge of this fund, and it was now clear that he had not spoken the truth. He therefore moved in amendment.

"That from the public trial and conviction of Thomas McGreevy and N. K. Connolly for conspiracy to defraud, and from evidence and papers already before the result would be. Would the Assembly the moneys which were found upon said choose other advisers, or would the lieu nant-governor give in? the moneys which were found upon said trial to have been criminally received by the said Thomas McGreevy from Government contractors, were so received by him for the purpose of being expended in elections in the interest of the Conservative party, and for distribution by Sir Hector Langevin, M.P., and Sir Adolphe Caron, M.P., for the election of themselves and of other supporters of the Government at the general elections held in February, 1887; that it further appears that large portions of the said moneys, together with other large sums collected by Sir Adolphe Caron from those interested in Governmental railway subsidies, were expended and distributed by Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron in lavish and illegal amounts, to assist in the election of themselves and of other supporters of the Government in the district of Quebec at the general elections of 1887; that the said Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron were then and are now members of this House and on the roll of her Majesty's privy councilors for Canada, and the said Sir Adolphe Caron is a Cabinet Minister Greevy as treasurer of the Conservative and Postmaster-General. That in the opinion of this House the said Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron are Sir Hector Langevin on rising to reply was greeted with prolonged cheering from spiracy, but it was now plain who were the the Ministerialists, the Premier leading beneficiaries. Mr. Edgar quoted McGreevy's off. Sir Hector said he had been tried evidence in 1891 where he admitted having once and it was not loyal to try a man a second time. If he had not spoken the truth in 1891 it was because his memory failed. If money was paid out in his behalf in Three Rivers it was without his knowledge. He did not know that contractors contributed to that fund. Mc-Greevy never told him. He still believed that everything had been legal and that the expenses incurred had been necessary. Sir Hector spoke at some little length, but simply denied everything in toto.

Sir Adolphe Caron made a vigorous and eloquent defense. The charges, he said, were old and made by a man notorious for connection with the Northern Railway scandal. They consisted of insinuations, and he preferred an open fight. They had been condemned at every election. (Opposition cries of "No, no; it was money did it.") Such small attacks as these would not destroy the Government. What he had done he would do again, because he had done nothing wrong beyond helping poor candidates running for the House of Commons. Continuing, the Postmaster-General said: "I state on my honor to-night that I do not even now know that Larkin, Connolly & Co. contributed a cent to the general funds. They may have so contributed. If we had to-day a fair redistribution of seats in Quebec it would put an end to the necessity of getting up political funds such as we did."

This last statement was greeted with derisive laughter by the Opposition. Sir Adolphe said it was not surprising that Senator Ross, a friend of his, gave him $25,000, and it passed through his hands for legitimate help of his friends. Sir Adolphe was cheered on sitting down. After Messrs. Charlton and Mulock had spoken in sp port of the amendment a division was taken, resulting in 65 yeas to 102 nays. The attendance was larger than during any division since the budget. During the debate nearly all the delegates to the Colonial Conference were interested auditors in the speaker's gallery, where also was noticed Rev. Principal Grant, of

COMMERCIAL.

Local Market. Reported by A. M. Hamilton & Son. Wednesday, July 4. The amount of trade done in this market during the week just closed, although small, compares favorably with the same week last year, being considerably better, the bulk of the increase in deliveries being hay, oats and The offerings of wheat fell off considerably, in all probability being caused by the unsatis-factory appearance of quite a large percentage factory appearance of quite a large percentage of the growing crop.

Oats have a good appearance throughout this section, and we believe this fact and the high prices are the principal factors causing the unexpected good receipts.

There was almost nothing done in any other kind of grain, there being no receipts.

In the provisior trade the only alteration in values or volunts of receipts occurred in butter. A good many neople are now selling their milk to the factories in order to lighten work during the harvest season. The result has been an advance of about 2 cents per pound has been an advance of about 2 cents per pound all around. In eggs there has been no change, receipts keep up well and the demand is good. Wool was active and in good demand, all kinds of good quality bringing lose per lb. Hides, tallow and skins show little or no change either in price or trade.

Seasenable vegetables and fruits were plentiful and steady.
Old potatoes sold at 80c to $1 per bag and new at 25c to 35c per peck.
Meats steady, supply good, demand firm.
Hay quiet, sold at $8 to $5 50.

-A correspondent asserts that in the reports of the Dominion Day school celebration the names of some of the most attractive queens and maids of honor were overlooked. Little Queen Hazel Gillean, in a gaily decorated donkey cart, kindly furnished by Mr. Saunders, Maitland street, was attended by Rena and Ella Turner, Ethel McKillep and Milie McLean as maids of honor, with four pages in uniform. They were followed by Miss Lucy, daughter of Ald. J. Garratt, with her maids of honor-Ethel MacRobert, Gertrude Taylor, Florence Carson, Willa Taylor, Florence Rowland-in a cab drawn by a span of white horses. This part of the procession

The school is in a very flourishing state, so much so that they will be compelled to build a new school room in order to accommodate the largely increased number of scholars. Mr. D. A. McDermid, the superintendent, is ably assisted by a capable staff of officers and teachers, who take a deep interest in their work, and to this no doubt a large share of the success attending this school is attributable.

The Biddulph Shooting Case. The inquest on the death of Wm. Cain, of the Roman line, Biddulph, was held at Lucan yesterday before Dr. Hossack, coroner of that village, and the result is that Edward Bowers is in jail here and will in all probability have to answer to a charge of murder. The inquest was begun in the forenoon and taking evidence occupied till late in the evening. Thomas and Nathan Bennett, who were in Bowers' house at the time the shot was fired; John Bennett, whom Bowers claimed he was protecting, and James Cain, John Cain and James Bennett were examined. Their statements were on the same line as given last Saturday. Dr. Sutton, of Clandeboye, conducted the postas the cause of death, the organs being in a generally healthy condition. The jury, with Mr. Abbott (Lucan) as foreman, deliberated an hour and a half before they brought in a verdict that Cain came to his death from a shot fired in a reckless manner by Edward Bowers. Mr. James Magee represented the crown, and Mr. John M. McEvoy watched the interests of

DEATH OF SERGT.-MAJOR GRAY

An Esteemed Old Citizen-Demise of Joseph Hewitt, Aged 92, and Mrs. Clement, Aged 69.

The veterans of the early Canadian regiments are slowly passing away, and the latest death to be recorded is that of James Gray, of this city, late sergeant-major of the R. C. R. Mr. Gray was born in Thurso, Caithness-shire, Scotland in 1818, and at the age of 18 commenced a military career in which he conducted himself as only a true soldier would, and for which he received words of praise both from the officers in Britain and Canada as well. The first regiment in which Mr. Gray enlisted was Seventy-ninth Cameron Highland-This noted corps he entered when but 18 years of age, and after serving twelve years with credit to himself and satisfaction to his officers Mr. Gray was transferred to the Royal Canadian Rifles. In this country he served the balance of his 25 years, being stationed among other places in Kingston and Montreal. In 1858 the rank of sergeant-major was conferred upon Rosa, 12 years old had a thigh bone thrown Mr. Gray and four years later he secured his discharge, after 25 years and 4 months of active service. As Camp, No. 25, Canadian Order Woodmen an instance of the many praiseworthy letters received by deceased the following is given, dated 1856, and read among the regimental orders of the Rifles: "The commanding officer has had the pleasure of receiving a letter from the adjutant-general of militia, written by the desire of the Governor-General, 10 and 12 only, and the library till 3. "Adjutant-General." In 1862 Mr. Gray settled in London, together with his wife, to whom he was married in Gibraltar. At the opening of Hellmuth College he was messenger, which position he maintained for nine years, and on his leaving was given a commendatory letter by the late Bishop Cronyn. The Mechanics' Institute was opened in 1874 and the deceased was appointed librarian, which position he filled up to the time of his death. Mr. Gray was a life-long temperance advocate, a true Reformer and an esteemed member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Three sons and three daughters and a widow are left to mourn the loss of a loving father and husband. The sons are James, William and David, and the daughters Mrs. A. B. Emery, Mary and Sarah, all residing in London. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Joseph Hewitt died yesterday at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. M. A. V. Samwell, 642 York street, at the ripe age of 92 years. Mr. Hewitt was a native of the county of Waterloo, and followed the occupation of a farmer during the greater portion of his life. Eight years ago he removed to this city, where he has since continuously resided. Mrs. Hewitt, to whom he was married 64 years ago, still survives him. A family of four sons and three daughters are scattered throughout the Province.

Mrs. Clement, an old resident of this city, died last night at her home, Duchess avenue, at the age of 69 years. Deceased was a native of the Island of Jersey. She leaves a son, Edward, of this city, and Mrs. Bailey, of Ogden, Utah.

THE MILITIA IN STRIKES.

(Springfield, Mass., Republican.) The tendency to use soldiers against strikers grows stronger every year, and the logical enect of such use is to destroy the power of the strike, and the strike, as all admit is an economic atrocity; but, on the other hand, the frequent use of soldiers in labor troubles is depiorable in a free republic, and while the strike may be an economic atrocity, it is the only forceful weapon wage-earners have, under the present industrial organization, for use against employers who may try to depress their economic condition. If we admit that the strike is doomed to annihilation, as it seems to be, are we prepared to grant to the wage-earners something in its place? If we are optimistic, we must be content with the faith that the forces now working so mysteriously will lead to a higher industrial state where there will be no strikes, and where the militia's chief function will not be that of suppresing them.

"Why don't you say what is in your mind?" she cries, her head well upheld. "Why are you hiding things? Why don't you say at once that you are furious because I was playing hide-and-seek with Larry! Why shouldn't I play hide-and-seek with him and the boys? I've played it all my life up to this, and nobody was ever angry with me before. As for Larry, he is as good as my brother—"

"Better, no doubt," says Trefusis, misinderstanding her purposely.
"You know what I mean!" stamping her foot. "He is the same to me as if he were my brother. Why shouldn't he be?" "You have already two," says Trefusis.

"But I assure you I do not grudge you another. What I do grudge is that I have come here at an unfortunate time, and so spoiled your amusement.' "You have not spoiled it."

"Judging by your face—"
"My face?" She colors hotly. "I was blightly taken aback, certainly, because, as I have said, I know you do not like me to "Enjoy yourself?" suggests Trefusis, coldly. "Is that the view you take of it—of me? It is not a correct one: I so desire your enjoyment that I shall go now. I half promised to call at the rectory, so perhaps when my visit there is at an end you will be able to receive me to-to-

"Ah? I knew you were angry," says Terry, contemptuously. "And all because There is so much truth in the accusation that Trefusis makes her no answer for a moment. Then, Do you think I have no cause to be jealous?" he asks, calmly. She stares at him. Then something like laughter grows in her pretty eyes, chasing

"Oh! Jealous!" says she. "Fancy you being jealous!" She looks and evidently is amused, though in a somewhat supercilious style. "You do not give me credit, for even so much feeling," says Trefusis, regarding her curiously. What does she think about curiously. What does she think about him? What are her thoughts? Perhaps there are no thoughts at all. "Yet," says he. "I can feel, now and again."

He takes a step nearer to her, to where she is leaning on the old gate, idly, and per-haps a little deflantly, swinging herself to "I feel that if I were anything to you in the world, you would occasionally wear something I had given you."

It has been a sore point with him. To do nim justice, he is one of the most generous men alive, and this his allusion to the gifts he has bestowed, nay, rather, heaped upon her, must not be taken in a wrong sense. The sense with him, indeed, at this moment, is one of injustice. If she has accepted him, why will she not acknowledge her bondage?

He lifts her hand, looks at it, and drops "You will not even wear your engagement ring," says he. "The commonest courtesies of society demand that, however distasteful to her"-he draws his breath sharply-"a girl's future husband may be. still, she wears his ring."

"I am not in society," says Terry, softly, feverishly. She gives a little glance round her, as if hoping that the heavens above will be kind and send her a protection—in other words, a chance of escape from this most embarrassing conversation.

"As for the ring, it is lovely," she says, hurriedly. "I'm quite sure I told you how lovely I think it. But I am not accustomed to rings, and—it is heavy!" "Heavy!" His face has hardened. "It weighs on you? Perhaps your engagement | things until after they are dead.

weighs on you too!" "You mean—" says she, quickly, so quickly that he dares not go on. Dares not? He wonders at himself; but if he should go on, what would she say next? And could he dare that? He despises himself utterly, as he makes his next remark. 'Let me get you a lighter one, then," he

And, as usual, weakness is its own re-Terry makes an impatient move-

"Why should I wear rings at all?" says she. I don't want them. They don't suit me, nor my dresses, nor the boys, nor any-thing else belonging to me. We are so poor, the boys and I."

have. You shall," he goes on slowly, steadily, "have all that I have."

"Oh, money!" says the girl, with extra-ordinary contempt, seeing shat all her life she has been bereft of it. "I hate money!" Trefusis turns and takes a step backward and forward. What does she mean now? What does it all mean? Had she made a mistake when she said her heart was free? Even now he cannot believe that she has says he, quietly, but in an icy tone. He had always told himself he would not coerce her in any way. "When first I asked you to marry me, you—

Ah !" Terry breaks in with a slight but sloquent gesture. She looks at him as if he had struck her. "You remember that, what I said to you that day? You will remember it always! Always!" She stops as if thinking. "Even after we are married," says she, in a tone so low as to be

Almost unheard, "you will remember it!"
Trefusis stands silent. Those words, "after we are married," are still ringing in his ears. They are like fire running through his veins. She still thinks, then, of that 'sweet consummation" as possible? Why, here is hope still, in spite of all evil prognostications!

"Don't misjudge me more than you can help," says he.

"I don't misjudge you at all," is the careless answer. "I understand you perfectly.
You are very good to me, very kind, very"—with a pause—"generous. But"—she quite startles him by the way she flashes round upon him now, her eyes brilliant, her color deepening—what puzzles me is, why you deepening-what puzzles me is, why you want to marry me!

For a moment Trefusis worries his brain for an answer. The real answer seems so inadequate. Yet, after a prolonged examination of his powers of reply, he comes "Because I love you," he says, simply. There is nothing loverlike, however, in his tone. He has answered truly, honestly, out with a distinct sense of injustice. Terry frowns. She makes a little impatient gesture that has disbelief in it.

"Queer. This is the first time you have said so," says she, with a little elevation of her shoulders that mean many things.

She turns from him, and, leaning on the gate, with her back deliberately turned to him, stands tapping her foot impatiently against the ground. Why doesn't he go and pay his visit to the rector? Her act is distinctly discourteous.

strange hope, goes quickly to her, catches her, turns her round with a swift force, and kisses her!

She shakes herself free, draws back, and looks at him with parted lips and flaming eyes. His caresses hitherto have been so few and far between, so expected, so touched with the coldness of routine, that the strange impetuous kiss has shaken her. She makes a little inarticulate gesture, as if to push him from her.

"Go! go!" says she, with a faint violence. "I can't bear it!"

"As you will!" He leaves her at once. His face is hidden from her by the crimson fuchsias that he passes on his rapid way, yet she has a faint remembrance of it as white-whiter than it ought to be.

CHAPTER X. "Oh Terry, how lovely you look!" says Mrs. Adare, coming into the room she has assigned Terry for to-night, the night of her

"Do I?" Terry asks, naively, advancing towards her cousin, and looking at her with anxious eyes. Lovely is such a big word. But do I look presentable-nice-like other at Moose Read, Me. MONTREAL, July 3 .- T. G. Shaughnessy, vice-president of the C. P. R., says that from Superintendent Zimmerman's report of the accident near Moose Head yesterday on the C. P. R. there is not the slightest doubt but that the sleepers were placed across the rails on the trestle and spiked down by some miscreant. An active investigation is proceeding. The passengers for Montreal from St. John, that left there Sunday night only got here at 10 o'clock this morning owing to the delay at the break in the trestle. They came in the firstclass and sleeper that escaped going down.

The express messenger, Shoefelt, had to be carried to the carriage en route for the Albion Hotel. He is badly bruised about the body. He was in the front car on the wrecked train, and beyond the crash re-

KEEP COOL.

Oh, never mind how hot it is; Just wear a pleasant, smiling phiz;

Keep cool.

Don't fret, and fuss, and kick, and stew,
As if the joys of life were few.

This weather's good enough for you;

Keep cool.

It ought to be hot in July;

Keep cool.

Of course, you know the reason why; Keep cool.

The corn and things have got to grow;
Warm weather helps them on, you know;
The universe must have a show;
Keep cool.

Just take things easy for a while;

Keep cool.

Don't try to put on too much style;

Keep cool.

Wear outing shirts, if you're a man;
If not, do just the best you can.

You'll find this is the wisest plan;
