

TORONTO MERCHANTS HIT BY STRIKE OF TEAMSTERS

Predicted Great Trade Demoralization Will Result Unless Speedy Settlement Is Effected—Men Are Asking an Increase of Wages.

Toronto, April 17.—Some four hundred teamsters employed by the local railway cartage companies, which handle all the freight coming in and going out of the city, went out on strike yesterday for an increase of wages. Unless a speedy settlement is made the commerce of the city is likely to be seriously disorganized. The sheds of the big railway companies are crowded with merchandise awaiting delivery, and the action of the men will result in great financial loss to many merchants.

Want More Money.

For some time the men have been negotiating with the companies' representatives for an increase with no satisfactory result. At present the men are receiving from $47 to $50 per month. They asked for an increase of $10, but were willing to accept $5. The companies offered an advance of $2, which was refused; then they made it $3.

Not Organized.

At a meeting of the men in the railway yards on Tuesday night, after a ballot, this offer was also rejected by a vote of over 5 to 1. This decision was reported to the superintendents of the cartage companies. The men reported for work at 6:30 yesterday morning, when they were told no further advance would be offered. Thereupon they decided not to take their teams out. Although not organized and having no funds from which they could draw strike pay, they decided to quit work, with the result that only a score failed to respond.

BORDEN'S RUSSIAN RULE IS NOT FOR CANADIANS, SAYS LABOR MEMBER OF HOUSE

Ottawa, April 16.—Reinforced by direct messages from 171 labor organizations in Canada, representing some 80,000 artisans and mechanics, Mr. Alphonse Verville, the Labor member from Maisonneuve, served notice upon the Government in a spirited speech tonight that labor in Canada definitely declined to submit to arbitrary and unconstitutional gag methods not approved by the electors of the Dominion. "So strong is the feeling against this thing among the labor interests which I represent here," said Mr. Verville, "that they have lost all confidence in the present Government. Labor knows the hurt of arbitrary methods and dictatorship. It is exactly what labor will not stand for in the country. It is exactly what common-sense people of all classes will not stand for in Canada, and it is exactly what their representative in Parliament will not stand for."

Straight Talking. "You have my sympathy, Mr. Speaker," continued the member, "in your position. I imagine the position you are going to be in if they call on you to enforce this thing, especially in my case. I see the Premier and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, I want to play fair with them and tell them frankly what is going on in their ridings. If the Government does not bring on the election too quickly I am going down to the minster's constituency in St. John to meet the Labor men there, particularly the 1,200 longshoremen, to tell them exactly what transpired in this House last Wednesday, and how good and kind the minister from St. John was to take from me the right I had as their representative to make amendment to this iniquitous measure. I want to tell the Premier that I am accepting the same invitation from his riding of Halifax, and I shall tell the Labor men there the same story." (Conservative hoots.)

No Labor Gag. "All right, gentlemen," responded Mr. Verville; "that is my intention, and when I make up my mind I have not seen any of you stop me. And the men of those cities won't gag me. They won't put any closure in force. There will be no moving of the Premier or the Minister of Marine want to come there and move any amendments, they will be welcome." (Reverend Conservative hoots.)

"All right; hoot away," replied Mr. Verville, amid Liberal applause; "but remember this, you just try to apply it on me when I am talking. You will find that Russian rule is not for Canada."

Mr. Verville was succeeded by Mr. Lapointe, of Kamouraska, who continued the debate.

ASSESSMENT, LICENSE BILLS TOO MEAGRE TO BE USEFUL, LIBERAL LEADER POINTS OUT

Mr. Rowell Shows That Whitney's Tax Reform Measure Does Not Go Far Enough—Would Tax T. & N.O. Property the Same as Private Land.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 16.—On the second reading of the Government's belated measure to amend the assessment act on the principles laid down by the special assessment committee, which met last fall, Mr. Rowell delivered another broadside on the question of tax reform.

"The bill now before the House falls far short of meeting the needs of the people of this Province," said the Liberal leader, and Mr. J. C. Elliott (West Middlesex) expressed the fear that the Government's members on the assessment committee had knuckled down to the Prime Minister, a statement which Sir James said was insulting to the committee.

Too Much Omittted.

The bill was important, said Mr. Rowell, more for what it omitted than what it contained. It was to be regretted that the Government had delayed bringing in the bill. Its provisions were so important as to be worthy of full discussion. The measure did not touch the fundamental question argued before the committee last summer. The bill, he said, had been taken off improvements and increased on unoccupied lands. (Applause.) Continuing, Mr. Rowell chaffed the Provincial Secretary on the accuracy of the figures he had given in the House. He pointed out that the committee had not materialized. He thought also the views of Mr. W. K. McNaught (North Toronto) regarding the removal or lessening of the business tax would have been heeded. "The member for North Toronto has apparently been, I will not say silenced, but pacified."

Settlers Ignored.

Mr. Rowell, continuing, laid special emphasis on the necessity of relieving the settlers in the north from taxation on improvements. The farmer, stock-raiser and gardener should not be taxed for improvements. The Government should meet the demands of New Ontario in a progressive way.

Objection was taken to the way Sir James Whitney had drawn attention to one portion of it, ignoring the other points altogether. "The Premier knows the assessment committee's report," said Mr. Rowell, "and he also knows that Mr. Forman points out that it is desirable to encourage citizens to own their own homes. We have been impressing that upon the Government for the last two years."

A Meagre Measure.

Messrs. Elliott (West Middlesex) and Proudfoot (Centre Huron) followed Mr. Rowell, criticising the measure brought forward by the Government as meagre and totally inadequate.

On the second reading of the bill to amend the liquor license act the Opposition took a few more thrusts at the Government. "The Government led us to expect something great," observed Mr. Sam Clarke (Northumberland). "We thought they were going to produce something, but instead of doing that they have brought forth the greatest nothing (Laughter and applause). Apparently they have been working all these weeks with the object of producing a measure that would work the least disaster to the liquor interests, and the greatest block imaginable to the temperance people."

No Advance in Temperance.

Anyone who expected a substantial advance in temperance legislation would be disappointed with the measure before the House, was the criticism of the Opposition leader at the meagre bill. "Last session we heard from the Government about anti-treating. They were anti-treaters then they are retreaters now." (Laughter.) The amendments would not hurt the liquor trade, but would still hold the support in the trade to the Government. If the Government had been sincere in its desire it could have cut off hours of sale from the busy end of the day. No doubt the curtailment of the bottle trade over bars would have some good effect, but the change mattered for little, as the present law appeared to cover that point.

Mr. W. McDonald (Centre Bruce), declared that the Government had knowingly chosen the hours to cut off from the end of the day when there was practically no bar business. The treating was not done in the morning but at night.

A vigorous protest was made against the proposed extension of time to the Canadian Northern Railway to earn the land grant under the act of 1909.

In respect of its line from Port Arthur to Sarnia, near Sudbury. This land grant comprises 2,000,000 acres, and the time for extension is Dec. 31, the company wants more time. Mr. S. Clarke (West Northumberland) moved an amendment, that as the company had failed to carry out its undertaking it was reasonable for the province to impose further conditions. He wanted Ontario to share in the immigration effort of the company, and suggested that for the first five years 500 bona fide male settlers be brought in each year, and for the succeeding five years 1,000 male settlers, who shall fulfill the conditions of the free grants act.

Mr. Rowell declared that as the company had defaulted before, it was placed in a position to further participate in the grant, that Ontario should receive some better compensation in view of the changed conditions during the last five years.

The Northwest was being settled by the immigration efforts of the railway companies, why not Ontario?

the companies, including Mr. R. J. Fleming, general manager.

At the close of yesterday's session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, Toronto Railway stock was quoted at 145. The Toronto Power Company owns the stock of the Toronto Electric Light Company, acquiring it about two years ago at 135, after the city had turned it down at that price.

Today a special meeting of the city council will be held to consider the offer and authorize application to the Ontario Legislature to give the city power to accept the offer. Mayor Hocken said last night that the city could get a private bill through the Legislature this week authorizing the municipality to make the purchase.

AWARDED $1500 IN SUIT AGAINST CHIEF

Brantford Girl Sued Police Head for False Arrest and Assault.

SCORED BY THE JUDGE

Mr. Justice Latchford's Charge to the Jury Favored the Plaintiff.

Simcoe, April 16.—A jury at the Norfolk assizes this afternoon returned a verdict of $1,500 damages in favor of Gladys Meredith against Chief of Police Slemin, Detective Chapman and Constable Boylan, of the Brantford police, and Dr. E. C. Ashton, of the same city.

Miss Meredith, who is an English girl of 19, employed in a Brantford factory, sued for $10,000 for conspiracy, false arrest, and assault. The case was to have been tried at Brantford, but owing to the strong feeling manifested against the defendants, a change of venue was secured. Some time ago the body of an infant was found in the Grand River at Brantford, and the police thought perhaps Miss Meredith was the mother of the babe, and she was held for examination by the police and medical officer, while under no criminal charge.

Mr. Justice Latchford charged against the police, saying that he of the girl's story was substantiated by many witnesses. He advised the jury to consider very seriously that the girl was never out of sight of the police, and to ask themselves if this did not constitute an arrest.

Mr. Justice Latchford, following an objection to his charge by counsel for the defendants, divided his charge in two parts, the first dealing with the girl's story, and the second with the assault on the police, and assault against Dr. Ashton, the examining physician.

AMUSEMENTS

Marie Dressler Company Tonight.

At the Grand tonight, Marie Dressler, who was last seen in "Tillie's Nightmare," will appear in a new style of entertainment, said to be of her own designing. It consists of a series of one-act plays between which high-class vaudeville features are introduced. The chief of these plays is a burlesque on "Camille," participated in by Miss Dressler herself, while the role of the dashing and romantic Armand Duval will be played by Jefferson De Angelis. Mr. De Angelis himself will offer a sketch called "All at Sea," and Messrs. Macey Harlan and Daniel Jarrett, jun., have a one-act dramatic playlet, "The Outpost." In the dancing line Miss Dressler will present Weber and Wilson, Mlle. Prager, a premier toe-dancer, and exponent of the Spanish idea of terpsichore, Senorita Tencita.

"Bought and Paid For."

"Bought and Paid For," which comes to the Grand Friday and Saturday, is George Broadhurst's latest comedy-drama of real life. The striking features of originality in this play, however, are merely the incidents in the chain of cause and effect. The plot, which is the secret of the drama's success is quite another factor. This lies in the "comic relief" which is the main plot. It is even worthy of separate treatment in a plot all its own. The story is cleverly told and is based on the usual marital difficulties of George Broadhurst, the author, is a trained fun-builder, and the character of Jimmy Gilley, the self-satisfied shipping clerk, he has portrayed in the sub-plot of this production, is one of the surest triumphs in his long list of comedy character creations.

FANCIFUL NAMES FOR THE LONDON GOWNS

Dressmaker Uses "My Best Girl," "First Kiss" and Others.

London, April 17.—By giving her costumes fanciful names, a Hanover Square dressmaker is attracting great throngs to her showrooms.

Dainty frocks for debutantes were distinguished by quaint titles. "My best girl" was a delicate lace tussore clinging dress; "maiden's blush" was a dance dress in rose petal satin; "first kiss" was a calling suit in pink charmeuse, while "cutest little thing" was a delicate mauve pink crepe tussore with ivory lace.

Every evening corsage was slight and diaphanous. Most were of chiffon, with embroidered edges and long sleeves. A success was achieved by the Eldorado, a white satin dinner gown with a high black velvet belt from which long, wide streamers depended to form the train. Draperies are narrow at the feet and arms, with the waist in the natural position, but high in front and slightly overhanging by the bodice at the back and the hips. Solid V-shaped opening at the throat will characterize the fashions of tomorrow.

Much Furniture To Go Regardless of Cost

IN ORDER to accomplish this end we have gone through the entire stock of furniture and have taken all surplus stocks, odd lines and broken suites, and priced them regardless of cost or value. As our furniture stock consists of high-grade goods and curtains no cheaply made or inferior grades, it was a difficult matter to make a selection of what would be sacrificed. But besides the lines which have been reduced to about half price to insure a quick clearance, many other lines of good furniture which will have to be repeated when sold are also marked at good reductions. June is coming, and prospective housekeepers can save money now.

LONDON, THURSDAY, APRIL 17.
BELGIUM.

The revolt of the workers in little Belgium is likely to prove very interesting. Both sides are organized to a fine point, the Clericals in settled control of the Government, with labor units of their own and holding the peasants in line, the Radicals and Socialists holding the major bulk of the workmen and represented also in the parliamentary Opposition.

It does not exactly follow that because a general strike has failed in France and other countries it necessarily will in Belgium. While its success may be improbable, Belgium, with its seven and a half millions in 11,000 square miles, is almost rather a city than a country, the only city in the world larger than Greater London. City workers outnumber the farmers by ten to one; the farmers are largely suburban, market gardeners, dairy and poultry men. Everything there is very concentrated.

Belgium's life rests in her foreign trade, which is one-half that of the United States, though her population is but one-thirtieth. France and Sweden, where general strikes have been tried, are great agricultural regions; a stoppage of manufacturing and trade for any considerable time in Belgium will be a different matter.

Formerly the battleground of France, Austria, Holland, and Spain, blighted by centuries of the foreigner's rule, Belgium, famous in older times for the arts of both peace and war, had grown dull and spiritless. The evil days had their culmination in the campaign of Waterloo, when the Belgian contingent fled to their disgrace from Wellington's side. But since 1815 it has been another story. Unbroken peace has reigned over the scarred land, except for a little tumult in 1830, when it separated from Holland and under the guarantee of Great Britain entered upon its modern course as an independent kingdom.

Independence, representative government and peace have immensely prospered the people as a whole, though the mass of individuals fail to get their fair share of the wealth, Belgian capital has investments the world over. Physically, also, the race does not seem to have declined. A Belgian eight wrested the Henley honors from England for more than one season. Belgium may well, like Canada and the United States, celebrate the centenary of 1815. To the campaign of the Hundred Days have succeeded the Hundred Years of peace. We should like to take in Belgium with us in the rejoicing; it was at Ghent that our peace was made. If the present difficulties can be smoothed away by some reasonable concessions on the Belgian Government's part, 1915 should be a red letter year for the modern city-state, at last democratic and free after a century of recuperation from a long era of decay.

WHAT ELSE?

Some of the Conservative papers are criticizing the Toronto Globe because it charged the Hon. W. T. White with being in favor of a contribution policy instead of a Canadian navy, overlooking the fact that in his speech he said, "Personally, I am opposed to any policy of regular and periodical contributions." But, despite his personal preferences, what else is he in favor of except a contribution policy? A man must be judged by what he does, not by what he says. Mr. White supports Mr. Borden's policy. What is that? There can be very little question. Mr. Borden says Canada cannot undertake anything like a national naval policy for a generation or more. In other words, the contribution policy must continue during the probable period of Mr. Borden's public life; for even 25 years will bring him to the age of 85. Mr. White himself will be an aged patriarch by that time. Few of the present generation of public men will be alive in 25 years; none of them in 50 years.

Mr. Borden has been careful, since 1909, not to commit himself to any definite policy except that of contribution. Some of his prominent supporters in the House have declared in favor of it. The Nationalist wing of his party will hear of nothing else. It is true that some Conservatives profess to believe that in the future some time conditions may be favorable for a Canadian navy. They say that when our wealth and population have doubled, or trebled, perhaps we may be able to build and man ships; and it will be time enough then to try the experiment of a Canadian navy. If we understand Mr. White he is disposed to think that way himself. But these people are inconsistent. One of the arguments against a Canadian naval policy is that it would be a "separatist" policy. Will it be any less "separatist" in 25 or 50 years than it is now? If it is the truest imperialism today to have one imperial navy, will it be less so in the future? It matters little what the personal opinions of any man may be. If he supports the Borden contribution policy of today he commits himself to a permanent policy of that character. He may say he does not approve of it; that he is only supporting it till he can get something better. But if he wants something better he has the opportunity now. The policy upon which the Canadian Parliament was united in 1909 is as good today as it was then.

MR. HEARST TO THE RESCUE.

The probabilities are that President Wilson, in his efforts to reduce the tariff, and give the consumer a chance, will have to contend with the same kind of loyalty that the Liberals occasionally meet in Canada. There is a certain class of people who, whenever their pecuniary interests are in danger, wave the flag, and invoke the spirit of patriotism to fill their pockets. And they are almost as active in the United States as in Canada.

Mr. William Randolph Hearst, a wealthy journalist, who controls a large number of papers, and has had political ambitions for a good many years, comes out with a full-page, double-leaded proclamation, calling upon the people of the United States to take notice of the impending dangers which threaten to engulf the republic through the pernicious ideas of the President. Here are some of the indications:

Instead of sending a long message to Congress, as has been customary of late years, Mr. Wilson met Congress personally, and gave the members a short address. In this Mr. Hearst sees the first clear evidence that the President is imbued with the theories and tendencies of that ancient political party called Federalist. Readers of United States history will remember that in the days of Washington, and the early presidents, the Federalists were supposed to be aristocratically inclined, and to have leanings toward the British system of government. President Jefferson was the most prominent of the early politicians who were opposed to the Federalists. Apparently he and his friends were great admirers of the doctrines (though not the practices) of the French revolution—liberty, equality and fraternity among white people; blacks not included. Presidents had been in the habit of meeting Congress with a speech. That was too much like England; so Mr. Jefferson introduced a new method—that of writing a long message—which has been followed ever since. It has been thought by many that the real reason for this new practice was that Mr. Jefferson was no speechmaker, while he was an adept at writing state papers. But that is immaterial. Mr. Wilson has gone back to the methods of the Federalists, with their English ideas; and here is the thin end of the wedge to overturn Republican institutions.

Here are more indications: Mr. Wilson gained his degree of Doctor of Philosophy by an essay which contended frantically in the face of fact that the English parliamentary form of government was superior to the American congressional system. Mr. Wilson has unblushingly stated that "gets his information on world events from the columns of the London Weekly Times." Mr. Wilson is "an English free trader." No matter how he may try to disguise his views, he is fundamentally opposed to protection, and has adopted the political economy of a nation that is passing (England) and an age that is past.

All this shows the pro-British, and consequently anti-American ideas held by President Wilson. And a warning voice is raised by the disinterested Mr. Hearst against the tactics and principles of these modern Federalists who have failed in the realization that this country (the United States) is the greatest country in the world, and in the appreciation of the causes which have made it the greatest country in the world.

Mr. Hearst's proclamation is both amusing and interesting; amusing on account of its spread-eagleism, but interesting as indicating the policy that may be pursued by the opponents of moderate tariff taxation in the United States. Mr. Wilson is to be held up to public reprobation as pro-British in his views; as an admirer of English customs and English policies; and consequently a disloyal and dangerous man. It is an old-time dodge, by no means peculiar to our neighbors. We have had some experience of it ourselves. And we shall follow with some interest the course of events, to see if the people in the Republic are as gullible as Mr. Hearst would seem to think they are. Perhaps he is right in his estimate of his fellow-citizens. But it is also possible that they are shrewd enough to detect the real forces and influences that are behind this frantic flag-waving.

Depositors and shareholders of the Farmers' Bank are doubtless writing to Hon. Mr. Crothers to ask when he is going to pay that money back. But don't hurry Santa Claus up. Mr. Verville is only one member of Parliament, but he represents more than constituency. He represents and speaks boldly for a great party. He told Mr. Borden plainly what 171 labor organizations of Canada think of Russian rule.

Things are not looking so well for the militants. By the way, Mr. Marriott Watson, the novelist, suggests that they should rather be called the "malignants." That was the Roundheads' name for the Cavaliers. The militants are about as wantonly destructive as Rupert's men. What drink did, hysterics can do. Many of the militants also are aristocrats, who have taken to fighting for want of another trade. But their attacks hurt women as much as men, friends often more than foes. Burning a man's house down hurts "his daughters and his sisters, his cousins and his aunts," almost as much as him or the house. What they say about it might be more printable than his remarks, but not less emphatic in their dialect. The militants are enraging women, who lose by their pranks, even more than men.

"BILLINGS-GATE."

[London Daily News.]
The lord mayor recently paid an early morning visit to Billingsgate Market. He did not go in his mayoral robes, but wore a bowler hat, so that he should not be recognized. During the whole time he was there he never heard a profane word. Everywhere, too, he was met with a "By your leave, sir." He came to the conclusion that the good temper displayed in the carrying out of their arduous labor would have been a credit to any body of men.

CALLS US MEAN.

[Winnipeg Free Press.]
The London Free Press recently delivered itself of this emphatic declaration:
"It is sheer dishonesty for The Advertiser and its free trade contemporaries to talk of Dreadnought-building in Canada."

Whereupon the London Advertiser was mean enough to quote this statement from the Free Press under date of Oct. 15, 1909:
"Patriotism will gather closer about battleships built in Canada than about ships built in England. It may cost more to build the ships in this country, where the facilities are not yet complete, but it will probably prove to be money well spent."

Anyhow, the old notion of a hard and fast line between the young and the middle-aged, and between the middle-aged and the old, is false, and the new idea of companionship is sound. An Age of Encyclopedias

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

If I remember correctly, the encyclopedists of France, with Diderot at their head, were largely responsible for setting into play those intellectual forces which resulted at last in the grand flare-up of the French Revolution. From that day to this the makers of encyclopedias has never quite vanished from the earth. Today however, he has waxed great and mighty, and the product of his patient hand and statistical brain is going out into the furthest corners of the habitable globe. We are simply reeling in encyclopedias in these days—religious, financial, literary, industrial, general, from $150 ones down to those issued at the small cost of a shilling. I think I have already referred in this column to the new Everyman Encyclopedia that is just being put on the market; it is undoubtedly a marvel of the age for size, comprehensiveness, and cheapness. But the original firm to go into the shilling encyclopedia business was not that of Everyman Dent, but T. Nelson & Son, of London. They have not only issued a general encyclopedia at one shilling per volume, but are now following it up by what they call an "Encyclopedic Library." In this library there are included 500-paged shilling volumes, such as "Handbook of Music and Musicians," "A Dictionary of Dates," "A Bible Concordance," "An Encyclopedia of Ships and Shipping," "An Encyclopedic Year Book for 1912-13," etc. And more will follow in the course of time.

To single out one of these excellent books, let me mention "An Encyclopedia of Industrialism" as a candidate for special honor. If anything in the way of a modern encyclopedia can be said to be "up to the minute," surely it is this light, little, wine-colored 540-paged volume packed with bursting information on the varied phases of the complex and constantly changing industrial world in which we live. The first topic in the book is "Capital," and under the heading is discussed the scope and meaning of the terms, the functions and origin of capital, and the amount in use. At the close of a 47-page discussion, the writer gives an admirable list of books and essays which will guide the thirsty reader to more literature on the subject. I note that the author of this long article is Prof. Ashley, of the University of Birmingham, once professor of political economy in the University of London. He has stated that all the writers in this encyclopedia are authorities in the subjects of which they treat.

The second article in this encyclopedia is entitled "Industrial Combinations." In this section we can get all the facts in the disreputable history of trusts, from "The Billion Dollar Trust" down to the humblest monopoly or if our sympathies are in the opposite direction, we can read all about factory law, health insurance, women and children and the labor market, mode of production, strikes, labor and politics, new labor movements and immigration; and at the end of each full treatment of each special subject we find a splendid bibliography. Twenty years ago a volume written by such experts, and containing such carefully-written material, would have cost at least ten shillings, but in this new era of cheap books, you can secure quantities of these nothing, immaterial quantities of these books, most be sold to insure profits to the publishers, and I can imagine no form of popular education which is going to have a wider influence than just such encyclopedias as these of Nelson.

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS START HUNGER STRIKE

Declare They Will Not Eat Jail Fare of the City of Denver.

[Canadian Press.]

Denver, Col., April 17.—Sixty Industrial Workers of the World, who yesterday began a "hunger strike" in the city jail here, refused to eat breakfast today. When a trusty was sent to their cells with a supply of bread and water, the menu furnished by the city to the hundred or more uninvited guests from the Pacific coast, the militant sixty steadfastly refused to touch the fare. They announce that they will refuse all food until the city furnishes a better variety or until they become so weak from exhaustion that they will have to be removed to a hospital.

Another Slam at Japanese

[Canadian Press.]

Sacramento, Cal., April 17.—The California assembly passed yesterday by an almost unanimous vote a second bill aimed at the Japanese in the state. This time the fishermen, not the farmers, are attacked. The bill provides for an annual tax of $100 on market fishermen of a race ineligible to citizenship. Aliens of other races would be taxed $20 a year and citizens $10.

LONDON WOMEN BEAT PARTY OF MILITANTS

Boards Taken From Suffragettes Used in the Process.

London, April 17.—Suffragettes carrying sandwich boards advertising a militant meeting at Islington were attacked today by other women, who seized the boards and belabored the suffragettes with them. Hats were smashed and clothing torn. The suffragettes were being badly mauled when the police arrived and ordered the women to a place of safety, followed by a jeering mob.

KATHERINE LESLIES HOME TALK

DRY-CLEANING POINTERS.

Girls who wear white serge suits or frocks of some delicate color will be interested in hearing what an authority has to say on the subject of "home dry cleaning." "Every woman," she says, "knows the ruinous sums it costs each season to have her evening frocks, light suits, silk blouses, and other articles dry cleaned. When gasoline is possible as a renovator she may sometimes try the experiment of doing a little of her own cleaning, but it is seldom successful, and it is as hard to lose the odor of gasoline as it is to acquire the odor of sanctity. Also it is dangerous.

"Therefore the knowledge of some simple methods of dry cleaning, that can be done at home and that leave no trace of the process, would save many a precious dollar to the woman who is running to the limit of her allowance for dress. The materials required are a box of borax, a box of earth, block magnesia, boracic talcum powder, flour and borax, or even plain cornmeal. The first three can be bought by the ounce or pound from any chemist, and the others are all-

Simple Home Remedy

[By a Physician.]
Simple remedies often prove effective if used quickly and correctly. For instance, if you get a bit of dust, an eyelash or any sort of "stick" in your eye try this method: Turn the eye affected toward the nose as far as you can. Pull the eyelid down as far as you can over the eye. Then blow the opposite nostril hard. This will frequently carry the offending particle down through the eye duct into the nose. DO NOT rub the eye when there is something in it. That merely inflames the eyeball without effecting a remedy. If something lodges in the eye, this simple method will probably fail. It will then be necessary to secure proper treatment as soon as possible.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR THIRTYHOUSEWIVES

While the canary is moulting tie a piece of bacon fat in its cage. It is a tonic, and will improve its song. If corks are too large for a bottle soak them in boiling water for a few minutes. When soft they easily enter the bottle.

Before using a new iron saucepan grease it inside and out, and let it stand for 48 hours. Wash in hot water in which a large lump of cooking soda has been dissolved.

When washing blouses, handkerchiefs, etc., put a small lump oforris root into the rinsing water, and it will give them a delightful perfume of violets. This is much more lasting than if a sachet is placed amongst the clothes.

An excellent remedy for chapped hands is made by mixing equal parts of glycerine and whiskey. Rub the mixture in a bottle tightly corked, and rub a little on the hands every night, and they will always be soft and free from chaps.

When gas mantles get smoky and dirty the light becomes poor and the mantles are in many cases taken off and replaced. To remove all smoke and dirt from mantles, take a pinch of table salt and sprinkle it on the mantle. It will look as good as new.

To keep irons from rusting rub them with mutton fat, wrap in common brown paper, and put them away in a dry place. If they have become rusty, they may be made smooth and bright by putting some white sand on a smooth board and rubbing the iron over it several times.

A little milk added to baby's bath water will help to keep his skin soft and smooth, especially if the water used is hard. Use boiled water if rain water cannot be obtained. Hard water that is boiled for twenty minutes and has a little oatmeal or milk added to it will be beautifully soft.

Kitchen Cabinet Made at Home

Probably no truly domestic woman ever passes a kitchen cabinet, so perfect in its arrangements and so complete in details, without wishing she owned one, but the initial cost is most cases prohibitive, and she must do without. Doing without the patented cabinet, however, does not mean that a woman need do without the convenience, for with a little ingenuity and work and slight expense, she may achieve at home the same results.

Use Ordinary Table.
An ordinary kitchen table, but better yet, a pastry table with drawers, and a kneading board, serve as the foundation. If the ordinary table is used a shelf set under the top, about a foot from the floor, will serve admirably to hold two large glass jars, one for white and one for graham or entire wheat flour. In smaller canisters may be kept cornmeal and sugar, and there will be room also for the bread box, the series of shallow shelves built above the table against the wall, will hold any number of glass jars for dry groceries, spices, etc., and one may now purchase for 10 cents a piece glass jars with aluminum covers which will hold a week's supply of sugar or cereal. As many of these as can be afforded and as are required should be purchased and find their place on the shelves. Above these may be placed smaller jars for raisins, spices, etc., and all the ingredients needed for baking. The other shelves may hold mixing bowls, cups and the egg beater, can opener, mixing spoon and so forth. If the table top is covered with zinc, the cabinet will be complete, and ready to use, and will leave no longings for a more elaborate one.

Fruit Jars Will Do.
If one does not care to purchase the glass jars, fruit jars and jelly glasses may be used to hold the groceries. The little glass jars in which stick candy is sold, those used for patent medicines, and many similar purposes, may all be utilized, as they accumulate in the house, and serve the purpose admirably. The whole thing may be gotten up in an expensive or an inexpensive manner, but it is a saving upon the resources and ingenuity of the woman who has charge of the work.

There are said to be nearly 1,800,000 childless families in France today, while more than 2,000,000 have only one child. It is also said that over 1,500,000 men over 30 years of age are unmarried, while the number of unmarried women of the same age is even greater. Premier Briand, who made the above figures public through the League of the Mothers' and Fathers' Society, has made a thorough investigation of the subject.

When to Begin Housecleaning

BY CAROLINE COE.

CAROLINE COE.

Don't begin your regular spring housecleaning until it is time to put up your screens and right here let me make a little suggestion. Put up your screens even before you expect to keep your windows open. You will keep out many moths, bugs and flies which would trouble you if you waited until later days.

DON'T START YOUR SPRING HOUSECLEANING IN A HAPHAZARD MANNER. WITH NO KNOWLEDGE OF WHAT IS REALLY NECESSARY TO BE DONE AND NO IDEA WHETHER YOU ARE GOING TO BE ABLE TO DO THE THINGS YOU WANT TO DO.

The first things to look over are your sheets, pillow cases, towels and napkins. Sheets and tablecloths that have become a little thin in the corners may have a piece taken off from the side so that the wear will not come in the same place.

Tablecloths should be looked over carefully and all thin places darned. This can be done with the needle and some of the raveling of the cloth if you are expert with the needle or with iron thread on the sewing machine. Use one hundred thread or even finer if the linen is dainty, and make your stitches long, straight and even.

There is a sewing machine attachment that is very first will do the work nearly as well. If you find two very thin towels sew them together for the children's bathroom or in the kitchen, or make them into wash cloths.

Worn pillow cases are almost hopeless, except as dust rags, but if you are going to use them as dust cloths be sure that you hem them, as an unhemmed pillow case, especially if it is old, is easily torn and will not last half as long. Having put your table linen and bedding in order wash all blankets.

An Old-Fashioned Garden

Do you remember grandmother's garden and the prim little bouquets always carried home to mother after spending the day with her?

Grandmothers made their gardens with an eye to their permanent beauty, they lived in one place all their lives, and the gardens grew and enlarged with the home so grandmother put in perennials, knowing that if she did not see the blooms the first year the garden would be all the more beautiful the next.

Start so early in the year that a copy of the one grandmother planned? And if there is not space for the graveled walks nor the hedges to grow to reasonable size, you can fill your flower space with the old-time favorites.

Bleeding Hearts a Favorite.
Grandmother planned Columbine and bleeding hearts for her first blossoms, massing sweet william in long beds of pink and white flowers, with peonies, the huge double ones, scattered in the beds. She was careful to cover these plants in the fall with manure and did not disturb them in the spring as they start so early in the year that there is danger of breaking off the tender shoots.

The wonderful Oriental poppy is a perennial that blooms early and it must surely have a space in the old-fashioned garden.

Tall hollyhocks grew against grandmother's walls and filled the sunny corners where no delicate flowers were desired, for the hollyhock grows so luxuriously that it is apt to overrun the smaller plants if not carefully watched.

Spicy Odors.
Pinks, too, filled the garden with their spicy odor and the phlox was not neglected. These plants will live for years with hardly any attention though it is best to give them a heavy top dressing of manure every year and by lifting the plants every third year and digging in a large quantity of manure you will improve the size and quantity of the blossoms.

It is well in planting the flowers to make a careful selection so that you may have a succession of bloom and so that the colors of the flowers shall not clash with each other or with the house.

Be careful not to put the magenta flowers against the pink ones, for example, or to have on the porch climbing roses that will not harmonize with the red of the roof. No old-fashioned garden was complete unless it boasted a great showing of blue larkspur. Blue larkspur, campanulas, or bell flowers, the aconitums or monkshoods and the platycodons will make a beautiful combination of blue and white for the hot days of July and August when one wishes the garden to appear cool, and it is best to have the yellows and reds out of sight.

BIG SALE OF POWDER.
Money often does go up in smoke, but in New York the greater part of it is going up in face powder.

Seven and a half tons of this beauty dope is sold in New York City alone—day of the year—2,737 tons is a minimum estimate for the quantity used in 365 days; which means that it would require at least three trains of twenty-five cars each to supply the demand of the population of New York.

Practical Recipes

LEMON LAYER CAKE.

Three eggs, grated rind of one lemon, one teaspoonful of baking powder, three heaping tablespoonsful of flour, one and a half heaping tablespoonsful of butter, three heaping tablespoonsful of sugar, and lemon juice. Cream the butter and sugar, add the flour, mixed with the baking powder, then add the butter melted, taking care to stir it in very gently, but on no account beat it. Pour into three buttered squares, etc. Bake in a moderate oven, 15 minutes in a moderate oven. Before turning out allow the tins to stand two minutes. When cold spread each thickly over with lemon butter mixture; lay the rounds together, divide into twelve pieces, dust with confectioners' sugar.

CHAFING DISH COOKERY.

The chafing dish is undoubtedly a most convenient utensil for the man or woman who loves to entertain informally and many are the appetizing dishes that can be cooked in it by one who knows just how. It can be used either with or without the hot water pan, though it is safer and the viands are usually more tasty if cooked slowly over it, and there is no reason for ever dispensing with it unless one is greatly pressed for time.

To cook successfully in a chafing dish one should have the ingredients required for the recipe carefully prepared before they are brought to the table, the exact quantity of butter should be measured off, the fish or lobster should be cut into pieces, the oysters strained, the cheese cut into tiny squares, etc. To contain the uncooked food it is a good idea to have several

Splendid Weather For Opening Game at Detroit Today

[Canadian Press.] Detroit, April 17.—Splendid weather marked the opening of the 1913 American League baseball season in Detroit today. Detroit, with a "home out" and the hard-hitting Veach still suffering from the effects of a sprained ankle, faced St. Louis in a patched-up battle. But Manager Jennings looked for victory, as did Leader Stovall of the visiting club. Lake or Willet was expected to pitch for Detroit, with Stange behind the bat. Hamilton or Welman went to Youngstown, Ohio, tonight with Hans Wagner, who must undergo another operation on his sore knee. The game probably will be out of the game for a week.

INJUNCTION TO RESTRAIN NEW YORK ASSOCIATION

Maryland Organization Charges That It Is Illegal Combination. [Canadian Press.] New York, April 17.—Racing men were discussing today news of a temporary injunction against the Jockey Club and the National Hunt Association, their officers and members, to restrain them from exercising authority or jurisdiction of any kind over racing in any part of the United States except the State of New York. Both organizations are also restrained from interfering in any way with any horse, horse owner, race track owner, trainer or jockey participating in any meeting not sanctioned by the Jockey Club.

The order, the terms of which became known today, was obtained yesterday from the federal court by the Maryland State Fair Association. It is returnable April 25, when the defendants must show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent. The Maryland organization charges that the Jockey Club's influence over racing is virtually an illegal combination in restraint of trade.

John R. Thompson Secures Option on Hawthorne Race Track

[Canadian Press.] Chicago, April 17.—John R. Thompson, prominent as a Republican politician and businessman, yesterday obtained an option on the Hawthorne race track, just outside Chicago's city limits. The property, owned by the late John F. Fitzgerald, but a year ago it passed into the hands of Thomas Carey. The transaction is given added significance from the fact that simultaneous with a bill for a state racing commission was introduced in the Legislature at Springfield.

Mr. Thompson has shown in the past greater interest in harness horses than in the running end of the sport, but should have a bill for a state racing commission, chances are said to be more in favor of running races at the historic track.

HORSE TALK

Billy Burke has not made a hit with the horses, and only can get into their good graces by doing some winning. At Dillard, 2:03 1/4, that started in and won races last year, has been sold by Ed. Sunderland to Ohio parties for $6,000. It is understood that Dick McMahon will be the pilot of Vernon McKinney this year as occurs will ride behind Don Demore.

It is understood that Will Duffee will have a nomination in the M. and M. this year. He is to bring Honey Healey, 2:29 1/4, a sister to San Felipe, 2:03 1/4, east with him. The mare worked in 2:09 at Los Angeles last month, and there are rumors of another Sonoma Girl from out of the golden west.

The death is reported of the yearling colt by Justice Brooke out of Native Belle, one of the most valuable of the Dromore Farm youngsters. Empire City track, where the New York grand circuit meeting will be held, is to have a half-mile track, while the Californians are beating 2:10 every now and then.

The 2-year-old own brother to Miss Stofes has been sent by John H. Shults to Johnny Dickerson for training. They think the young fellow will do all right. One of the equine wonders of the day is a mare named "The Dutchman," bred to Joe Patchen II., 2:03 1/4. The foal should be somewhat of a pacer.

One of the likely foals of the year is by Gen. Wattle, 2:08 1/4, out of Brenda Yorks, 2:04 1/4, by Moko. As Brenda shifted to the trot in her last year, the turf this one is apt to incline to that gait.

MEAT INSPECTOR IS NEEDED AT FOREST

Physicians Declare That Much Now Offered for Sale Is Unfit.

A MEETING OF CITIZEN

To Discuss Matters Pertaining to the Town's General Public Health.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Forest, April 16.—At a fairly well attended public meeting, held under the auspices of the board of health, Dr. Pickering urged the importance of maintaining sanitary conditions throughout the town. He particularly mentioned the need of a proper inspection of meats sold in town. Forest, he said, is very fortunate in having an excellent supply of milk. The water supply is not good, and steps should be taken to give the people a better and purer supply. That no epidemic has as yet resulted was remarkable, as the danger undoubtedly exists.

Another matter that should interest the people is that of beautifying the town. It is naturally one of the finest in the country, and it could be greatly improved by united and energetic action by the citizens. A horticultural society could do much to improve conditions. The removal of old and useless fences, etc., would give many parts of the town a much better appearance. There are old buildings in town that should also be removed.

The Meat Situation. One matter it was proposed to deal with at once was the slaughterhouse now being used by the town butchers, and if it resulted in a higher price for meat the people would, no doubt, be willing to pay it. In fact, the town would get good meat, and it would be a good thing for the town. It was said that a too rigid regulation would drive out the butchers; in that case he (the speaker) would put in a meat business himself, and of health he would be sure to maintain. He would like to see a meat inspection act passed. Dr. Hubbard said that for some time the meat supply here has been unfit for use, although many have not known it. Good sanitation laws should be passed to improve the health of the people in recent years. He favored a strict inspection of meat. The beef association are doing better than the town board of health. Dr. Bentley spoke of the necessity of an active board of health, and especially an energetic medical health officer. The inspection of meat for export is now carried on results in the meat that is not fit for export being left for home consumption. The requirements of the health act in regard to reporting contagious diseases to the board of health by parents, teachers and physicians was pointed out. Towns, as well as houses, should have a regular cleaning up. Danger from unclean stables and other outbuildings, and from garbage of all kinds was explained. The water supply of a community, and the proper kind of wells were discussed, and of health he would be sure to maintain. He would like to see a meat inspection act passed. THE JUST AND THE UNJUST

By Vaughan Kester
The Prodigal Judge

They stopped at the fall to say good-bye to North, and were then driven rapidly to the station. The journey of about two hours seemed interminable, but they rarely spoke. Elizabeth did not change the position she had assumed when they took their seats. She leaned lightly against her father's broad shoulder, and her hands were clasped in her lap.

For weeks the situation had been absolutely pitiless. Their wrecked efforts were at the door of every hope, and if this mission failed, but it could not fail! All they had come to ask was the life of an innocent man, and surely the governor, unaffected by local prejudice, must realize John North's innocence.

It was two o'clock when they reached their destination, and as they left the car the general said:

"We will go to the hotel first. Either Judge Belknap will be there, or there will be some word for us."

At the hotel they found, not Belknap, but a letter which he had left. The governor was suffering from a slight indisposition and had made an appointment for him, and he would be expected. The general crossed the street with weary impatience.

"Well, see the governor at once. I'll call a carriage."

Five minutes later, when they left the hotel, Elizabeth asked:

"What did Judge Belknap say?"

"Nothing dear, nothing—the matter remains just as it was. The governor is expecting us."

"What do you think, father? This is our last hope. Oh, do you realize that?"

"It's going to be all right," her father assured her.

Then there was silence between them until they drew up before the governor's house.

Side by side they mounted the steps. The general's ring was answered by a man-servant, who took their cards after showing them to a small reception room. He returned after a moment to say that the governor was occupied and could not possibly see them. The general's face was blank. He had never considered it possible that the governor would refuse to see him and his convenience. Certainly there had been a time when no politician of his party in the state nor in the nation would have ventured this; but it was evident the last ten years had made a difference in his position. Elizabeth gazed up fearfully into her father's face. "What did this mean? Was it merely a subterfuge on the governor's part, or was it a refusal to interview?"

"Perhaps, after all, it would have been better had she remained at the hotel. Her father's thoughts were busy. "It's all right—be brave!" he whispered.

He turned to the servant. "Will you kindly learn for me if the governor will be at liberty?"

"Oh, he must see us," cried Elizabeth, the moment the servant was alone.

"Of course he must, and he will!" the general said.

But the governor's refusal to see them at once rankled within him. His sunburnt cheeks were a brick red, and there was an angry gleam in his eyes. The servant did not return, but in his stead came a dapper young fellow, the governor's private secretary, who bowed and said:

"General Herbert?" he asked inquiringly as he entered the room.

The general acknowledged his identity by an inclination of the head.

The governor will be most happy to see you at any time, but I am afraid I cannot tell him you will call there?" asked the secretary, and he glanced, not without sympathy and understanding, at Elizabeth.

"We will return at three," the general said.

"He regrets his inability to see you now," murmured the secretary, and again he permitted his glance to dwell on the girl's proud beauty.

He bowed them from the room and from the house. When the door closed on them Elizabeth turned swiftly to her father.

"He is cruel, heartless, to keep us in suspense! A word, a moment, might have meant so much to us," she sobbed.

A spasm of pain contracted her father's rugged features.

"He will see us; he is a busy man, with unending demands on his time, but we have his appointment. Be brave, dear, just a little longer," he said tenderly.

"I'll try to be, but there is only today and tomorrow left," she sobbed.

"Hush, you must not think of that!"

"I can think of nothing else."

How they lived those long hours the general never knew, but at last three o'clock came, and they were again at the governor's door. The secretary opened the door, and the servant who had admitted them earlier in the day.

"We have an appointment with the governor," said General Herbert briefly, pushing past the man, him you are here as soon as he comes in."

"He's out, then," and General Herbert wheeled round on him.

"Yes, but he's expected back any moment, sir."

"It will be all right," her father again assured Elizabeth, speaking with forced cheerfulness when they were alone.

Then, twenty minutes or so later, minutes that were infinitely precious, then a step sounded in the hall. It was the servant who entered the room, and he came to say that a message had that moment been received from the governor; he was detained at the capitol, and probably would not reach home before five o'clock.

"Does he say he will see us there?" asked the general.

"He didn't mention you, sir; perhaps he has forgotten, but I thought you'd like to know."

"Thank you." The general turned to his daughter. "I think we'd better go to the capitol."

The carriage was still at the door and they hurried to it. As they came to a stand before the capitol, General Herbert, without waiting for Elizabeth to sprang out, strode into the building and up the familiar stairs to the executive chambers. A colored janitor was sweeping the room.

"Who you want, boss?" he asked, stopping his work and leaning on the handle of his broom.

The governor—where is he?" demanded the general.

"You're too late, boss; he's done gone out."

A sense of futility and defeat almost overwhelmed the old general. He was

Neuralgic Condition of the Nerves

In this age of nervous disorders neuralgia is fearfully common. The first thought is of neuralgia in the head or splitting headache, but neuralgia may affect any part of the body in which there are sensitive nerves.

The teeth are often blamed and extracted in error, when the cause of the trouble is in the impoverished condition of the blood and the starved nervous system.

While neuralgic pains are usually sharp and shooting, and consequently difficult to locate, the seat of trouble is usually sore and tender under pressure.

Neuralgia is pain, and as such is the symptom of a disease—nervous exhaustion. The nerves must be restored before cure can possibly be effected.

In many cases neuralgia is easily curable by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The patient is thin and the blood needs tonic treatment to form new, rich blood.

The application of cloths rung from hot water will afford relief from the suffering, and the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a few weeks will completely overcome the neuralgic condition.

Powerful drugs are to be avoided, because of their injurious effect in further weakening the nervous system. The Nerve Food cures by building up the feeble, and needs tonic and for this reason is of lasting benefit.

RETAIL GROCERS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

Scale Inspection and Unpaid Bills Amongst Matters Under Discussion.

Toronto, April 17.—The first annual convention of the Ontario Retail Grocers' Association, which was opened yesterday in the King Edward Hotel, was featured by the exceptionally large number of members in attendance, representing all parts of the province.

They are here, as one of the members stated, not for the mere purpose of reunion, but to transact the important business confronting the association.

The outstanding feature of the business is probably the matter of "scale inspection."

Under the present provincial scale inspection act the grocers are demanded to pay a fee for the inspection of their weights and measures, which by the act is compulsory for certain definite periods. This inspection, however, as claimed by the grocers, is in the interests of the people, and therefore as no benefit is derived by them through it, the convention is expected to demand that the expenditure of this work.

A bill asking amendment to this act is consequently under preparation, and will be submitted to the Legislature.

Little opposition to this bill is anticipated by the Association, and it is also felt that it will serve as the first step to procure further co-operation from the Legislature.

The association believes there should be a law to prosecute the man who orders groceries but does not pay the bill.

High Cost of Living.

The retailers are unable to offer any suggestion as to how the high cost of living might be reduced. They maintain that the wholesaler is continually raising his prices, and are advanced the grocer is obliged to clip his profits, and the retailer claims that it is impossible to raise his price proportionately, and in such case he is injured rather than benefited by advanced prices. The high cost of living can to a certain extent, said the assistant secretary, Mr. William J. Bryans, be attributed to the expensive manner in which goods are put up. Elaborate bottles and expensive packages are of no use, but, on the other hand, tend to greatly increase the cost of living.

To give a specific example, he said, people will not buy pickles in bulk, but will buy those in bottles, paying a bigger price for the same identical article.

In the evening the association was entertained by the city of Toronto, who tendered a complimentary banquet. Controller Church acted as chairman in place of His Worship Mayor Hocken.

The sessions of the association will be resumed today.

"The Mind Reader," by Max Rittenberg.

A series of short stories on mental healing, which has been the subject of the book by Max Rittenberg, "The Mind Reader," by Max Rittenberg.

The theme of each story is unusual, and the method pursued by the doctor is in accordance with the latest knowledge of psychological phenomena. Each narrative is terse and well written, gripping the reader's attention from the time the book is taken up until it is laid down.

The climax of each story is in keeping with the character portrayed, and the book is above the average run of novels of a like nature. (Ball & Cockburn, Toronto.)

"Myles Calthrope, I. D. B."

"Myles Calthrope, I. D. B." (Illicit Diamond Buyer), a new novel by F. E. Mills-Young. This absorbing romance is staged in Africa.

The hero, Myles Calthrope, is arrested while on his way to Cape Town, carrying stolen diamonds, and is sentenced to three years penal servitude. When the term expires he returns, only to meet with cruel injustice from Joan, who, ignorant of the wretched part her brother has played, treats him with disdain.

Henry Farrant, at last caught in the toils, confesses his part in the miserable affair, in which an innocent man has paid the penalty. Henry is fatally injured in an accident, and his dying request to Joan is to seek out Myles and get his pardon and forgiveness. In the last chapter Joan and Myles decide to start life anew.

THAMESFORD.

Thamesford, April 17.—The Guild of St. Andrew's Church held a very successful social in the lecture room of the church, and a good program was given and lunch served to a large number, last evening.

John Freest lost a valuable horse lately, which was injured by a pig that broke out of a pen, and hurt the horse so that it died.

Mr. George Hamilton, who has been poorly for a few weeks, is somewhat improved.

Mr. William Quait has purchased the cottage occupied by Mr. Howard, and the coal business has been taken over by him, and will take possession on May 1.

Mr. Howard will move into the house vacated by Miss McWilliam.

Mr. George Weir, wife and family, of Medicine Hat, came to the former parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Weir, Allen street, recently. Although Mr. Weir likes the West, he would prefer living in Ontario, and will likely reside here in the future.

Mr. Noble Cowper is spending a few days with friends at Harrietsville.

CRUSHED BY CHIMNEY HELPING AT A FIRE

John Greenway Was So Badly Hurt That He May Not Recover.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, April 17.—Wm. Reid's brick house, on the third concession of Harwich Township, was completely destroyed by fire last night. John Greenway, a laborer, employed by M. J. Wilson, a neighbor, was assisting to fight the fire, when a huge brick chimney fell and struck him. He was rendered unconscious with a scalp wound on his head, and several of his fingers were torn off. He was carried to the home of Mr. Wilson, and is now in a dangerous condition and not expected to recover. The wind was blowing in a favorable direction and Mr. Reid's barns and outbuildings were saved.

WITHDRAWS AMENDMENT TO MOTOR VEHICLE ACT

Clause Requiring License for Every Driver Dropped for the Present.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 17.—The clause in Mr. Goodenough's bill to amend the motor vehicle act, requiring every driver to have a license, was withdrawn at the suggestion of Mr. Hanna, on the ground that the department was not in a position to take care of that branch of motor regulation at the present time.

While he thought the clause had merit and should stand, Mr. Goodenough said he expected the department would make arrangements so that next session this necessary item of legislation could be dealt with.

Housing Company Bonds.

An amendment was made to the housing bill in committee, by which the proposed guarantee of bonds could be made without the sanction of the province, but on a certificate from the provincial board of health. Mr. Hanna explained that the Government was loth to make such a departure, but the working of the act would be watched with care, and if the experiment did not produce satisfactory results amendments would have to be made.

Mr. Rowell thought some limit might be placed on the amount of bonds that could be issued by a housing company and upon which a municipality might be called to give a guarantee. It would be all right with a $500,000 enterprise, but if the bond issue was $2,000,000 it was more serious for the municipal guarantor.

WARDSVILLE BAND IS NOW 50 YEARS OLD

Semi-Centennial Was Celebrated by Big Concert in the Town Hall.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wardsville, April 17.—The Wardsville Reed and Brass Band celebrated its 50th anniversary of its organization on Monday evening in the town hall by a concert, which was enjoyed by an audience which completely filled the hall.

The Wardsville band is one of the oldest musical organizations in Western Ontario and was organized March 25, 1862, under the leadership of William O. Baker. Thomas Todd was the band's first secretary. The present members were D. Gibb, A. McLean, J. Palmer, Thomas Hall (now of Wardsville), Robert McLean and James Smith (both residents of Wardsville), Wm. Paris, Alex. Ward (still living just north of the village, and after whose family it was named), John Hattell, James McLean, John McCracken, Robert Morrison, Charles Vesley, John Wilson, George Wilson (now of Glenora), A. Corneille, John Jones.

A little later the following were added: George and Edmond Johns, E. T. Duffon (now of Stratford), Wm. Murphy and A. George.

For some time this band was the battalion band, and once did noble service for the King when at the time of the Fenian raids it headed a company of the Fenian forces to the north. Captain (now Lieutenant-Colonel) O'Malley.

The present band was organized in 1886 by E. P. Johns. At present it is sixteen members strong, and is under the capable leadership of Dr. H. Wilson. The president is Dr. H. A. Wilson, while the secretary is Wm. Minns.

The band was assisted in their concert by Miss Taylor, who rendered several pleasing readings; Miss B. Wilson, soloist; Miss McGregor and Mrs. Snell, piano duets, and the local quartette. The program closed with a laughable farce.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

Morrison, Ill., April 16.—The fifth attempt at suicide of Michael Sellers resulted today in his death, the destruction of the Whiteside County jail by fire, and the serious injury of Sheriff Frank Wahl, who was burned while trying to rescue Sellers. The other prisoners were taken out in safety.

Sellers was to have appeared in court today to answer to a criminal attack on a 16-year-old girl. Yesterday he attempted suicide four times but was thwarted by the sheriff in each instance. Wahl then placed the prisoner in a padded cell, but Sellers obtained some matches and set fire to the padding.

Drop in Price of Hogs Today

The feature of the local market today was the drop in the price of dressed hogs. Early in the day several loads sold for $12.50 to $12.75 per cwt., but as the day progressed a large number of hogs arrived with hogs, so that today's offerings exceeded those of any other day for several weeks. The buyers were not prepared for the supply, and the prices dropped to $11.90 in one sale. The average selling prices were $12 and $12.50 per cwt.

Owing to the keen demand and the fact that only 15 to 20 loads of hogs were offered today the price of hogs increased slightly. The extreme quotations were $11 and $13 per cwt., but the majority of the sales were made at $12.50.

Oats were in keen demand, and as there were only three loads on the market the price was $1.25 per bushel, while the other two offered $1.18 and $1.12 per cwt.

Eggs were brought in rather small quantities, but the price remained the same as quoted on Saturday, 18c per dozen by the crate, 19c per dozen in basket lots, and 20c in the retail trade. Butter was a tendency towards lower prices, but as the supply was small there were no changes.

LEAVES THE C. P. R.

Through the resignation of Mr. Thos.
Bell, better known as Tommy to his intimates associates, the assistant advertising agent of the C. P. R., the company will lose one of its popular officials. Mr. Bell, who is only 34 years of age, joined the C. P. R. eighteen years ago as a check boy in the telegraph office, and he now leaves the company to become manager for Western Canada of the A. McKim Advertising Company, with headquarters at Winnipeg. He left the C. P. R. for a few months in the early days to work for Evans & Johnson, insurance agents, but returned to the telegraph department of the C. P. R. as chief check boy at the Windsor street station. Subsequently he joined the advertising department under Mr. H. R. Charlton, who at that time was connected with the C. P. R. He started in here as office boy, and worked himself up to a junior clerkship, and afterwards became stenographer to Mr. George H.
Ham, the general publicity agent of the company. Shortly afterwards, Mr.
Bell became chief clerk of the advertising department, and in October last was elevated to the position of assistant advertising agent. He is a Montreal boy and will carry with him the warm good wishes of his numerous friends for a successful career in the West.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES MARK DEDICATION OF NEW HOME OF LONDON MASONS

The new home of the Masonic Order in London, the temple on Queen's avenue, was dedicated Wednesday afternoon, the building being opened by ceremonies of a most impressive nature. The attendance was large, a number of visiting brethren from the district being present.

Worshipful Bro. Gilbert and the officers of St. John's Lodge, No. 20, conducted the opening exercises, the ceremonies of dedication being performed by Most Worshipful the Grand Master Bro. Aubrey White, of Toronto, who was assisted by a number of grand lodge officers from other cities. The grand master made a brief address congratulating the local lodges on the splendid new temple, and expressed the hope that the order in this city would continue to grow and prosper.

The building was carefully inspected throughout by Right Worshipful Bro.
Banghart, W. Shafer, and Roger Miller.
It was found to comply fully with the requirements of the Masonic Order.

The officials who assisted Most Worshipful Bro. White in the dedication ceremonies were: Most Wor. Bro. Judge McWatt, Sarnia; Right Wor. Bro. Dr.
Percy Banghart, D. D. G. M., Dorchester; Right Wor. Bro. Rev. Mr. Kennawin, Stratford, grand chaplain; Right

G. N. Weekes, E. W. M. Block, W. H.
Gunn, and a number of others from St. Thomas, Hamilton, Sarnia, Woodstock, Ingersoll and other places.

Five Hundred Were Present.
At a reception given in the large auditorium in the evening, at which about five hundred Masons and their wives and friends were present, the grand master was made the recipient of a beautiful electric reading lamp.

NORTH END PROGRESSIVES ORGANIZE AT INAUGURAL MEETING IN HARDING HALL

At a meeting of the North End Progressive Association, held in Harding Hall, on Wednesday evening, plans for the complete organization of the association were discussed, and temporary officers elected at the meeting held on April 2 were elected for the year. The officers are: President, T. J.
Ashman; vice-president, Robert Fraser; secretary, I. E. Baillie; Stralton, and treasurer, I. E. Baillie.

President Ashman, in addressing the meeting, stated that the object of the organization was to bring the wrongs of the ratepayers in the northern part of the city before the council in order that some return for the taxes might be obtained. He suggested that a committee be appointed to attend each meeting of the council, so that the aldermen may be given the opinion of the residents of the North End when subjects pertaining to that section of the city are discussed.

Much-Needed Improvements

He mentioned several matters that needed immediate attention, among them being storm sewers, better roads and the street railway extension. In his opinion storm sewers are an absolute necessity, as the roads are in an impassable condition. As a result of the operations of the street railway company, the streets are in a deplorable condition. He suggested that the street in such shape that traffic has ceased.
There is no doubt that unless we take immediate and concentrated action for better roads that South London will have paved thoroughfares, while this section of the city will be wallowing in mud," was his comment.

"Progressive associations should not be necessary in a city like London," he continued, "but owing to the actions of past councils, such organizations are necessary to show the aldermen what should be done in the various sections of the city."

Bad Roads Attacked.
Mr. James McKenzie substantiated the statements of Mr. Ashman, and to show the difficulties that arise from the condition of the roads, stated he had to wait two weeks before he could get a load of hay delivered to his barn. "It is a disgrace to ask merchants to deliver goods while the roads are in the present shape, and unless some great change is made, the cost of living will be doubled. The roads in the main part of the city are all right, but the streets by which the city is entered by farmers are worse than bad."

It was decided for the present to hold the meetings every two weeks until more important matters are brought up for discussion. The meetings will be held on Friday evenings, and for the meanwhile there will be no membership fee charged.

A communication was read in which the association was asked to send a committee of three to the meeting of the council of the other Progressive Associations this evening, at which plans for the formation of a central body will be discussed. The secretary was instructed to notify the secretary of the committee that as the organization of the North End Association was not yet complete, they would send no representatives for the first meeting, but that later on they would appoint a committee.

Movement Is Under Way to Purchase and Fit-Up the Chalmers Block.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
St. Marys, April 17.—An agitation is on foot to try to have St. Marys citizens interested in purchasing the Chalmers Block, corner of Queen and Water streets, for a Y. M. C. A. hall.
The upper portion might be used for the hall and the ground floor, now to be rented out as stores, the whole rentals would be time pay for the whole block. The building and location are both good.

The Collegiate Institute Literary Society will give a public literary entertainment in the town hall this evening. Admission free.

St. Marys rock cement output is increasing rapidly, but cannot keep up with the demand. The company intends increasing the output of its present capacity, and the C. P. R.
Company are getting out plans for a bridge across the River Thames to reach the Cement Company's recently-acquired rock and clay properties of Hazel White and James Kellum on the west side of the River Thames. The number of employees at the plant is being increased daily.

The Thames Quarry Company are at present erecting a Water street, which will give their quarry a strong protective fence, so that vehicle traffic will be perfectly safe.

lodges in the city. It was accompanied by an address, in which the highest esteem of the grand master was fittingly expressed, and the hope voiced that the best precepts of Masonry would be fully upheld in the new temple as in the past. The address was read by Wor. Bro. W. H. Line, the man, and introduced the grand master, who delivered a splendid address on Masonry.

Splendid Decorations

The hall was tastefully decorated, shields bearing the names of the various lodges in the city being hung at intervals around the gallery. Between these were suspended wreaths of evergreens, while overhead the gallery was arched by myriads of colored electric lights.

The platform also was festooned by evergreen, and behind a bank of palms sat Tony Vita's orchestra of ten pieces, which discoursed sweet music for an enjoyable evening. Between these was a short musical program, consisting of numbers by the Masonic Male Quartette, comprising Messrs. Woodward, Willgoose, White and Sawyer; solo, Miss Edna Weston; duet, Messrs.
Sawyer and White, and a solo by Mr.
Ed Webster. Each of the numbers was artistically rendered. Miss Weston's solo, "A Valley of Laughter," being particularly well received. Mr. Webster's solo, "The Perfect Day," was also greatly enjoyed.

In the banqueting room below, supper was served at midnight beneath a canopy of red and white, giving to the room the effect of a spacious tent.
Shaded red lights cast a soft glow over the shimmer of beautiful women, the dancers filled in, and the scene was one of fairylike beauty.

Was Afraid COLD WOULD DEVELOP INTO Bronchitis.

Bronchitis begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty of breathing, and a wheezing sound comes from the lungs. There is also a raising of phlegm from the lungs, especially in the morning.
This is at first white, but later becomes of a greenish or yellowish color, and is occasionally streaked with blood.

On the first sign of a cold or cough take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and prevent it turning to bronchitis, for once bronchitis gets installed into the system
it is only a short step to Consumption.

Mrs. F. Saunders, Toronto, Ont., writes: "It is with great success I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.
My little girl had an awful cold which seemed to go to her throat and chest, and while she was sleeping one could distinctly hear her wheezing. I was afraid it would develop into Bronchitis, so as soon as my husband came home I sent him right away to get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. As soon as she took it she gave her a dose and continued to use it until she became quite better. We only used half a bottle. I will never be without it as I consider it invaluable."

Be sure you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. The price is 25c and 50c per bottle. Put up in a yellow wrapper, and three fine trees the trade mark.
