$3.50 Goodyear Welt

There are just two prices you should pay for your shoes—$3.50 and $5.00. Slater Shoes are sold at these two prices Each price represents the best shoe possible to produce by the two best practical me hods, Goodyear welt (machine made) and hand made throughout. 90 per cent of the thiest shoes in America are made by machinery—an expert only can tell the difference. Hand work is slower and more costly. We use the same uniformly perfect stock in our $3.50 shoes as we do in our $5.00 styles. They are both made on the same lasts. We charge more for one than we do for the other, because a hand made shoe costs more to produce We stake our reputation that Slater Shoes are the best value for the money possible to procure. They are "honest all " through" and sold on a positive guarantee-Your money's worth or your money back. Our shoe catalogue is the most beautiful ever published. It's free. Shows some of our many styles, tells how to order by mail.

Slater Shoe Dressing

If you will but use this dressing on your shoes, they will always look better and last longer. It acts as a preservative as well as a polish. It is as good for women's and children's shoes as for men's. It cleans, preserves, and polishes. Costs 25 cts. a bottle. Slater Rubbers to fit all shapes of Shoes, $1.00 a pair.

TRAFFICKING IN SENATORSHIPS.

H. Cook Indignantly Spurns the "Offer" for a Seat in the Upper House on Those Terms.

Owen Sound, Ont., Oct. 12 .- At the | bare-faced acts of corruption. opening of the meeting of the Liberal campaign in North Grey, Dr. E. H. Horsey, the Liberal candidate, spoke at Annan, when he was opposed by Mr. H. G. Tucker. During Mr. Tucker's address reference was made to the manifesto of Mr. H. H. Cook, and in reply Dr. Horsey claimed that Mr. Cook had left the party because he had been

Mr. Tucker afterwards telephone Mr. Cook and learned from him that the reason why he had left his party was that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other members of the cabinet, through an agent, who was sent specially to Toronto, to interview Mr. Cook, offerfered Mr. Cook a senatorship, and stated that lowing to his long and useful career in the Liberal party he would receive it upon payment of $10,-000. Mr. Cook refused the position under the circumstances, and stated hat he would do all in his power to oust those who were guilty of such

Dr. Horsey also stated that he had been approached by Mr. Cook and requested to use his influence in get ting Mr. Cook a senatorship. Mr. Cook telegraphed Mr. Tucker, in reply to a telephone message, the following words :-"Re your question, I never asked Dr. Horsey to assist me in getting a senatorship. I have no confidence in the man, and know he had no influence. I was an applicant for a senatorship, but when it was offered to me the price was too high.-(Signed)-H. H. Cook." Last night, at North Keppel, Dr. Horsey denied that Mr. Cook had ever named any members of the cabinet, and as a result of a conversation over the 'phone to-day, Mr. Cook telegraphed Mr. Tucker in the following words :-

"Price demanded from me for a sen atorship was $10,000.-(Signed)-H. H. Cook."

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

The Ministerialists Have Gained 34 Seats to the Opposition's Thirty-Two.

Reduced Majoritles of Sir Wm. V Harcourt and Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman.

London, Oct. 12.—The results of yes terday's elections, given out the morning, give the Unionists four galus and the Liberals three, their respective totals of gains being 34 and 32.

The total number of members of Parliament elected is 625, as follows:-Ministerialists, 383; Opposition, 242.

The Hon. F. W. Lambton, the suc cessful Unionist candidate in the south-east division of Durham, who ousted Mr. J. Richardson, Liberal, the sitting member, is a brother of Captain Lambton. of the British cruiser Powerful, the hero of the relief of Powerful, the hero of the reflet of Ladysmith.

Perhaps the most striking of the Unionist successes to-day was in the Walthamstow division of Essex, where Mr. D. J. Morgan, Conservative, converted a minority of 300 into a Conservative majority of 2,465, ousting Mr. Samuel Woods, Liberal, a labor representative, who worked in the mines in his youth. The fact that Sir William Vernon

The fact that Sir William Vernon Harcourt, like Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, was re-elected with a largely diminished majority, is regarded by the Ministerialists as virtually a victory for them.

The only other result announced this evening is the re-election of Mr. R. C. Monroe-Ferguson, Liberal, in Leithburghs, where he defeated E. T. Salvesen, Liberal-Unionist.

The party gains are not changed.

It is a comedy drama of America and England, possessing a well conceived plot of deep human interest, the pathos of which is offset by a rollicking comedy part in the hands of Mr. Geo/F. Hall, an actor of much humor and versatility, and Miss Frankie St. John in dances and coon songs. Two very clever little girls, Gracie Russell and Ethel Taliafero, also enlivened the performance in pretty children's parts. The play was one of the best so far put on this season."

Ex . President Kruger's Plans Outlined by One of His

of Powers to Prevent Application of Republic's Individuality.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 12. — P. Louter Wessels, special commissioner of the South African Republics to the United States, yesterday received a letter from Secretary De Bruyn, of the Boer envoys, now in Holland, con-taining the first reliable and definite information of the plans of ex-President Kruger that has been made pub-The letter states that ex-President Kruger will leave Delagoa Bay on the Netherlands warship Gelderland early in October. He will be taken to Holland, where the envoys are awaiting him. In regard to the intimation in British newspapers that English warships might be sent in pursuit, Mr. Wessels said that any such action by Great Britain would be accepted by the Netherlands as a direct declaration of war, and the little Dutch nation would act accordingly. Ex-President Kruger bears a commission from the Boer Republics, but exactly what it is, not even the envoys of the Boers know. They suppose, however, that he will endeavor to secure intervention by one or all of the European powers to the end that the individuality of the Republics shall not be annihilated. Mr. Wessels, in his interview, stated that the representations of large numbers of Boer immigrating to America weer unfounded. He said:—"You need not be surprised if there is a rebellion of the whole of South Africa before the year is out. The only reason the Capel Colonists did not join us at the outset was because they had no arms and neither they nor we expected war and were unprepared."

BAD BOYHOOD DAYS.

A. E. Peliette Recounts One of His Youthful Recapades with a Comrade and Police Officer.

"The boys of Chatham in the seventies were not any better than they are to-day, but in those days we used to have a decidedly better time," said 'A. E. Pelette the other days in Hall's cafe, as he reflectively knocked the ashes from his pipe and smiled with a faraway look.

"Once upon a time," continued Mr. Pelette, "which, to be more explicit, was 25 years ago I, a boyl of 13 and Will Mitchell, now of Bowling Green, Kentucky, were sitting on the dock at the rear of Smith's tannery, fishing, Will Mitchell is a brother of James Mitchell, Park street, and Will and I were inseparable chums. At James Mitchell, Park street, and Will and I were inseparable chums. At this time we had been playing truant from school for a good month. My father had issue instructions to Sergeant Brown, the only police officer in those days, to arrest us both on sight. He couldn't catch us, however, but he finally located us one afternoon on the dock of Smith's tannery, which is next to the police station. He had us located first, and the Sergeant was on the dock before we knew it. 'Ah, my boys, I have you now,' was the first intimation we had of his presence.

"We were between the river and the majesty of the law. Mitchell grasped the situation at once. As the police officer reached for him, he sang out, 'Pelette, if you can't swim you're caught this time,' and dropped into the river and swam across to what is now Tecumseh Park, then the what is now Tecumseh Park, then the old barracks ground. Sergeant Brown then came after me. I disappeared into the water. Below the dock was a pipe by which the tannery sent its refuse into the river. Unseen by Brown I made my way up the pipe and struck out for home. Brown stood on the dock for a while puzzled. Then, thinking I had been drowned, he went and secured grappling hooks and a crowd and began a search for me. On the market I met Mush Faber, who worked for Green, the confectioner. Mush was going over the river and seeing the crowd searching for my body, went down. When he learned who they were looking for, told about seeing me on the market, and the crowd dispersed. Mitchell, who all this time had been enjoying the fun from the opposite bank, thought it about time for him to go too, and he wended his way homeward."

THE NORTHWAY COMPANY, LIMITED

The Planet S. STEPHENSON Proprietor.

THE PRICE OF AN OFFICE.

The open letter of H. H. Cook, ex-M. P., Liberal candidate for East Simcoe at the last election, in which he arraigns and repudiates the present leaders of the Liberal party, with whom he has been so long associated and has become ashamed, has been previously alluded to by The Planet. A serious sequel to the same came by wire from Owen Sound last night.

It has been advanced by the Globe, and the Globelets of the party followed the lead taken, that Mr. Cook's position was the result of his having sought and been refused the position of senator. But there was no attempt to dispute or answer the charges made.

However, the statement regarding the senatorship was made yesterday at a public meeting in Owen Sound, and, on its being communicated to Mr. Cook, that gentleman at once replied that it was true that he had sought a senatorship, but refused it on being told that it had to be purchased at a money price! The price demanded from Mr. Cook for this Government favor was Ten Thousand Dollars! He regarded it as too high, and declined the office. When subsequently questioned on the subject Mr. Cook reiterated that he refused the senatorship that was put at his disposal by the Laurier Government because the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars was demanded from him as a condition.

Mr. Cook must be in a position to make good this charge, which is of a graver character than any that his letter specifies. If his assertion can be substantiated to the satisfaction of the electorate, this one reason in itself will justify them in rising in their might to hurl from power the corrupt charlatans and rogues who so debase it.

THE OUTLOOK.

A year ago the old Liberal who edits Events (Ottawa) was cock-sure that the Liberal party would sweep the country in the general election. But within a year things have happened which have entire'y changed his opinion, and he now thinks the other way. That he is a keen observer is evident to all who have read Events, and that he is not prejudiced in favor of the Conservative party has been made amp! manifest in every issue of Events. This old Liberal says:

"The Conservatives are inspiring a confidence in their success, which means a lot at the polls, while the government seems content to figure out what the good times will do for it. There is no denying that the good times will help it greatly, but something more than that is needed. It has a lot of things to defend, and abuse of the Conservative past is no defense of the Liberal present. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's government is not by any means as strong as it was two years ago. It reached the summit of its popularity during the Queen's jubilee, but since then it has been falling steadily in the public estimation. Scandalafter scandal has been cropping up, until the government, has such a load of shady transactions to shoulder that it is hard to see how it can win out in the race. In the west there is very little hope for it. Mr. Sifton is looked upon as a doomed man in his own constituency, where Hon. Hugh John Macdonald opposes him. Indeed the only really popular Liberal seems to be Mr. Richardson, M.P. for Lisgar, and he deserves every bit of popularity he has.

"But even the west is not the worst field for the Liberals. Ontario is going to give the government a surprise this time. The vote that left the Conservative in 1896 on the school question will be back into line this time, and will give the opposition a majority and a good one. In Quebec, too, the government is going to lose some seats. It may not lose a great many, but as it cannot afford to lose any at all, the few it will lose will be disastrous. I have had information from a number of points in the province, and I am convinced that the opposition has a fairz fighting chance even in Quebec. It must not be forgotten that Quebec is the province that never does what it is expected of it. In 1896 it was reasonably expected that it would support the government of Sir Charles Tupper, but instead it gave that administration its death blow. So in the coming contest the unexpected may happen, and Laurier, Tarte and company may find themselves out in the cold."

We may, perhaps, have mentional it before, but there is yet time for Ald. Stephens to surrender his politi-cal aspirations in a graceful manner,

"No Eye Like the Master's Eye,"

Heart Trouble—"I had heart trouble for a number of years and different medicines failed to benefit me. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and three bottles completely and perfectly cured me." Mrs. C. A. Flink, Wallace Bridge, N. S.

A Safeguard—"As a had lost five children with diphtheria I gave my remaining two children Hood's Sarsaparilla as they were subject to throat trouble and were no very strong. They are now healthier and stronger and have not since had a cold." Mrs. W. H. FLECKER, Pembroke, Ont. Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

ANNOTHER OUTSPOKEN LIBERAL

The Vankleek Hill Review, an oldtime Liberal journal, speaks of the present men in power in the following plain Anglo-Saxon style. We commend its comments to those who value principle rather than profession.

The Review says:The present editor of the Review in the campaign of 1896 used what-ever little influence he had to elect the present Government.

We believed that the Conservative leaders prior to that date had squandered the people's money and played them false. They were corrupt, and practiced corruption to keep themselves in power. They were not the men who should have the Government of this country in their hands.

Honest men voted them out. The present Liberal Government was elected on a definitely stated platform which met the views of honest men in both political parties, They made great promises.

No party ever started out with better prospects or had a better chance to carry out its promises than the Liberal party did in 1896.

They had a big majority in the House and the country was on the eve of the brightest commercial period in his history.

The leaders appeared to go mad with delight upon assuming office and forgot entirely the professed principles upon which they were elected. The men who elected them have not forgotten those principles, and they still stand by those principles.

No wonder the Gleaner or any other honest Liberal paper or supporter would feel disgusted and disappointed with the failure of the leaders to act honestly, as they were elected or expected to do.

The Review, as an independent Liberal paper, has repeatedly protested against the mistakes of the leaders. We do so again, and in this we are not .alone in this constituency. During the past month scores of old-time Liberals here have stated positively that they would use neither their influence nor their votes to return their party to power with its present false leaders.

One leading Liberal went so far as to state that he would certainly vote against the party at the first opportunity. What the country wants is honest government, no matter what the name of it is.

Now, what next? Is there anything too sacred for trafficking in by the late government?

And now it appears that the Tarte-Laurier government has been trafficking in senatorships.

It is unfortunate for Tarte, Laurier & Co. that they did not allow their proposed senatorial deal with Mir Cook to rest in oblivion.

The fact that the learned editor of the St. Catharines Star is still laboriously engaged in the thankless task of proving that the generally accepted idea of the earth's rotundity is false, furnishes additional proof as to the correctness of the theory of the influence of environment. FIGHTING AGAINST MISFORTUNE

The Great Need of Those Getting Old Is to Have Jesus Abide With Them-Ail the Troubles of Earth Will End in the Felicities of Heaven.

Washington, Oct. 7 .- In this ser mon Dr. Talmage discourses upon the invitation given to Christ to stay overnight in the oriental village and makes some consolatory suggestions. The text is Luke xxiv, 29, "Abic with us, for it is toward evening." Two villagers, having concluded their errand in Jerusalem, have starttheir errand in Jerusalem, have on their way to Emmaus, the place of their residence. They go with a sad heart. Jesus, who had been their heart. admiration and their joy, had basely massacred and entombed. with sad face and broken heart they pass on their way a stranger accosts them. They tell him their anxieties and bitterness of soul. He in turn talks to them, mightily expounding the Scriptures. He throws over them the fascination of intelli-gent conversation. They forget the time and notice not the objects they pass and before they are aware have come up in front of their house. They before the entrance and attempt to persuade the stranger to tarry with them. They press us him their hospitalities. Night upon coming on, and he may meet a prowling wild beast or be obliged to lie unsheltered from the dew. He can-not go much farther now. Why not stop there and continue their pleasant conversation? They take him by the arm, and they insist upon his coming in, addressing him in the words "Abide with us, for it is toward evening." The lamps are light-ed, the table is spread, pleasant socialities are enkindled. They rejoice in the presence of the strange guest. He asks a blessing upon the bread they and he hands a piece to each Suddenly and with overwhelming power the thought flashes upon the stounded people—it is the Lord! And as they sit in breathless wonder, looking upon the resurrected body of Jesus he vanished. The interview ended. He was gone.

With many of us it is a bright sunshiny day of prosperity. There is not a cloud in the sky, not a leaf rustling in the forest. No chill in the air. But we cannot expect all this He is not an intelligent man who expects perpetual daylight The sun will after awhile of joy. near the horizon. The shadows will lengthen. While I speak many of us stand in the very hour described in "For it is toward evening." The request of the text is ap-propriate for some in every communi-For with them it is toward the evening of old age. They have pass-ed the meridian of life. They are sometimes startled to think how old They do not, however, like others to remark upon it. If others suggest their approximation toward venerable appearance, they say, "Why, I'm not so old after all." They do indeed notice that they cannot lift quite as much as once. They cannot walk quite so fast. They cannot read quite so well without spec tacles. They cannot so easily recov-er from a cough or any occasional ailment. They have lost their taste for merriment. They are surprised at the quick passage of the year. They say that it only seems but a little while ago that they were boys. They are going a little down hill. There is something in their health, something in their vision, something in their walk, something in their changing associations, something above, something beneath, something within to remind them that it is toward

The great want of all such is to have Jesus abide with them. It is a dismal thing to be getting old without the rejuvenating influence of re-ligion. When we stop on the down grade of life and see that it dips to the verge of the cold river, we want to behold some one near who will help us across. When the sight loses its power to glance and gather up, we need the faith that can illumine. When we feel the failure of the ear, we need the clear tones of that voice which in olden times broke up the silence of the deaf with cadences of mercy. When the axmen of death hew down whole forests of strength and beauty around us and we are left in solitude, we need the dove of divine mercy to sing in our branches. When the shadows begin to fall and we feel that the day is far spent, we need most of all to supplicate beneficient Jesus in the prayer of the villagers, "Abide with us, for it is toward evening."

The request of the text is an appropriate exclamation for all those who are approaching the gloomy hour of temptation. There is nothing easier than to be good natured when everything pleases or to be humble when there is nothing to puff us up or forgiving when we have not been assailed or honest when we have no inducement to fraud. But you have felt the grapple of some temptation.
Your nature at some time quaked and groaned under the infernal force.
You felt that the devil was after You felt that the devil was after you. You saw your Christian graces retreating. You feared that you would fail in the awful wrestle with sin and be thrown into the dust. The gloom thickened. The first indications of the night were seen. In all the trembling of your soul, in all the infernal suggestions of satan, in all the surging up of tumultuous pasinfernal suggestions of satan, in all the surging up of tumultuous passions and excitements, you felt with awful emphasis that it was toward evening. In the tempted hour you need to ask Jesus to abide with you. You can beat back the monster that would devour. You can unhorse the sin that would ride you down. You can sharpen that battleax with which you split the head of the helmeted abomination. Who helped Paul shake the brazen gated heart of Felix? Who acted like a good sailor when all the crew howled in the Mediterraneau shipwreck? Who helped the martyrs to be firm when one word of recantawithes of the stake and put out the kindling fire? When the night of the soul came on and all the denizens of darkness came riding upon the winds of perdition, who gave strength to the soul? Who gave calmness to the heart? Who broke the spell of infernal enchantment? He who heard the request of the villagers, "Abide with us, for it is toward evening." One of the forts of France was attacked and the outworks were taken before night. The besieging army lay down, thinking that there was but little to do in the morning and that the soldiery in the morning and that the source, in the fort could be easily made to sur-render. But during the night, through a back stairs, they escaped into the country. In the morning the besieging army sprang upon the battlements, but found that their prey was gone. So when we are assaulted by temptation, there is always some secret stair by which we might get off. God will not al-low us to be tempted above what we are able, but with every temptation will bring a way of escape that we may be able to bear it.

The prayer of the text is approsorrow. The greatest folly that ever grew on this planet is the tendency to borrow trouble. But there are times when approaching sorrow is so evident that we need to be making especial preparations for its One of your children has coming. lately become a favorite. The of that child strikes deeper into the heart than the cry of all the others. You think more about it. You give it more attention not because it is any more of a treasure than, the others, but because it is becoming There is something in the frail. cheek, in the eye and in the walk that makes you quite sure that the leaves of the flower are going to te scattered. The utmost nursing and medical attendance are ineffectual. The pulse becomes feeble, the complexion lighter, the step weaker, the laugh fainter. No more romping for that one through hall and parlor. The nursery is darkened by an approaching calamity. The heart feels with mournful anticipation that the sun is going down. Night speeds on. It is toward evening. You have long rejoiced in the care of a mother. You have done every-thing to make her last days happy. You have run with quick feet to wait upon her every want. Her presence has been a perpetual blessing in the household. But the fruit gatherers are looking wistfully at that tree. Her soul is ripe for heaven. The gates are ready to flash open for her entrance. But your soul sinks at the thought of separation. You cannot bear to think that soon you will be called to take last look at that face which from the first hour has looked upon you with affection unchangeable. But you see that life is being ebbed and the grave will soon hide her from sight. You sit quiet. You feel heavy hearted. The light is fading from the sky, the air is chill. It is toward evening. You had a considerable estate and felt independent. In five minutes on one fair balance sheet you could see just how you stood with the world. But there came complications; some-thing that you imagined impossible happened. The best friend you had happen proved traitor to your interests. sudden crash of national misfortune prostrated your credit. think of the anguish of teiling your friends that you are not worth a dollar. You know not how you will ever bring your children home from school. You wonder how you will stand the selling of your library or the moving into a plainer house The misfortunes of life have accurumated. You wonder what makes the sky so dark. It is toward evening. dark. It is toward evening.

Oh, then, for Jesus to abide with us! He sweetens the cup. He ex-tracts the thorn. He wipes the tear He hushes the tempest. He soothes the soul that flies to him for shelter. Let the night swoop and the Euroclydon toss the sea. Let the thunders roll. Soon all will be well Christ in the ship to soothe his triends. Christ on the sea to ston friends. Christ on the sea to stop its tumult. Christ in the grave to scatter the darkness. Christ in heavens to lead the way. Blessed all such. His arms will enclose them, his grace comfort them, his light cheer them, his sacrifice free them, his glory enchant them. If earthly estake wings, he will be an incorruptible treasure. If friends die, he will be their resurrection. Standing with us in the morning of our jo; and in the nooday of our prosperity, he will not forsake us when the luster has faded and it is toward even-

Listen to Paul's battle shout with misfortune. Hark to mounting Latimer's fire song. Look at the glory that hath reft the dungeon and filled the earth and heavens with the crash of the falling manacles of despotism. And then look at those who have tried to cure themselves by human prescriptions, attempting to hea angrene with patch of court plaster and to stop the plague of dying empires with the quackery of earthly wisdom. Nothing can speak peace to the soul, nothing can unstrap our crushing burdens, nothing can overome our spiritual foes, nothing car open our eyes to see the surrounding horses and chariots of salvation and fill all the mountains, but the voice and command of him who stopped one night at Emmaus.

to us all from the fact that we are nearing the evening of death. I have heard it said that we ought to live as though each moment were to be our last. I do not believe that theory. As far as preparation is concerned, we ought always to be ready. But we cannot always be thinking of death, for we have duties in life that demand our attention. He who fills up his life with thoughts of death is far from being the highest etyle of Christian. I knew a man who used often to say at night, "I wish I might die before morning!" He is now an infidel. But there are times when we can and ought give ourselves to the contemplation of that solemn moment when to the soul time ends and eternity begins We must go through that one pass. There is no roundabout way, no by-path, no circuitous route. Die we must, and it will be to us a shamefel occurrence or a time of admirable behaviour. Our friends may stretch out their hands to keep us back, but imploration on their part can hinder us. They might offer large retainers, but death would not take the fee. The breath will fail, and the close, and the heart will stop. You may hang the couch with gorgeous tapestry, but what does death care for bed curtains? You may hang the room with the finest works of art but what does death care for pictures? You may fill the house with the wailings of a widowhood and orphanage -- does death mind

This ought not to be a depressing Who wants to live here forever? The world has always treated well, and every day I feel less and less like scolding and complaining, but yet I would not want to make this my eternal residence. love to watch the clouds and bathe my soul in the blue sea of heaven, but I expect when the firmament is rolled away as a scroll to see a newer heaven, grander, higher and more glorious. You ought to be willing to exchange your body that has headaches and sideaches and weaknesses innumerable, that limps with the stone bruise or festers with the thorn or flames on the funeral pyre of fevers, for an incorruptible body and an eye that blinks not before the jasper gates and the great white throne. But between that and this there is an hour about which no man should be reckless or foolhardy. I doubt not your courage, but I tell you that you will want something etter than a strong arm, a good aim and a trusty sword when you come to your last battle. You will need a better robe than any of you have in your wardrobe to keep you warm in that place. Circumstances do not make so much difference. It may be a bright day when you push off from the planet or it may be dark night and while the owl is hooting from the forest. I know not the time; I know not the mode, but the days of our life are being subtracted away, and we shall come down to the time when we have but ten days left, then nine days, then eight days, then seven days, six days, five days, four days three days, two days, one day. Then hours, three hours, two hours, one hour. Then only minutes left, five minutes, four minutes, three minutes, two minutes, one minute. Then only seconds left, four seconds, three sec onds, two seconds, one second. Gone The chapter of life ended! The book closed! The pulses at rest! The feet through with the journey! The hands closed from all work. No word on the lips. No breath in the nostrils. Hair combed back to lie undisheveled Hair combed back to lie undisheveled by any human hands. The muscles still. The nerves still. The lungs still. The tongue still. All still. You might put the stethoscope to breast and hear no sound. You might put a speaking trumpet to the ear, but you could not wake the deafness. No motion. No throb. No life. Still!

Still!
On earth with many of you the evening is the happiest part of the 24 hours. You gather about the stand. You talk and laugh and sing. You recount the day. You plan for the morrow. You have games and repartees. Amid all the toil of the day that is the goal for which you run, and as you take out your watch or look at the descending sun you

Women can keep secrets. They often keep secret for a long time the fact that they are suffering from drains, inflammation, ulcer-ation, or female weakness, But they can't keep the se-cret very long, because the hollow eyes, cheeks that have lost their freshness, and the irritability which comes the irritability which comes from sorely tried nerves, all conspire to publish the story of suffering. The usual motive for such secrecy, dread of indelicate questions and offensive examinations, is removed by Dr. Pierce's methods. Diseases of the womanity organs are perfectly cured by the control of the Pierce's methods. Diseases of the womanly organs are perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Sick women can consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter free.

"Your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,' writes Mrs. C. N. Anderson, of Rockbridge Baths, Rockbridge Co., Va., "is a Godsend to weak and sickly women, restoring good health without subjecting their weak nerves to the shock of an examination. I was all run down in health; could not work but a short time without resting. Was very nervous and had a very poor appetite. I decided to write to Dr. Pierce and state my case, and am thankful that I did, for I received a favorable reply. I took six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and one vial of 'Pelleta,' and I can now work as well as I could before I was taken sick. I think Dr. Pierce's medicine the best in the world for sick and nervous women."

thrill with the thoughts that it is toward evening. So death comes to the disciple! What if the sun of life is about to set? Jesus is the day-spring from on high; the perpetual morning of every ransomed spirit. What if the darkness comes? Jesus is the light of the world and of heaven. What though this earthly house does crumble? Jesus has prepared a house of many mansions. Jesus is the anchor that always holds. Jesus is the light that is never eclipsed. Jesus is the fountain that is never exhausted. Jesus is the evening star, hung up amid the gloom of the gathering night.

You are almost through with the abuse and backbiting of enemies. They will call you no more by evil names. Your good deeds will not longer be misinterpreted or your honor filched. The troubles of earth will end in the felicities of heaven! Toward evening! The bereavements of earth will soon be lifted! You will not much longer stand pouring your grief in the tomb like Rachel weeping for her children or David mourning for Absalom. Broken hearts bound up. Wounds healed. Tears wiped way. Sorrows terminated. No more sounding of the dead march! To ward evening. Death will come, sweet as slumber to the eyelids of the babe, as full rations to a starvausted workman. The sky will take on its sunset glow, every cloud a fire the forests transfigured; delicate mist climbing the air. Your friends announce it; your pulses will beat it; your joys will ring it; your lips will whisper it: "Toward evening.

Relative Importance of Letters.

To those who have never considered the subject it might appear that ach letter is of equal importance in the formation of words, but the rel ative proportions required in the English language are these: A, 85; b, 16; c, 30; d, 44; e, 120; f, 25; g, 17; h, 64; i, 80; j, 4; k, 8; l, 40; m, 30; n, 80; o, 80; p, 17; q, 5; r, 62; s, 80; t, 90; u, 34; v, 12; w, 20; x, y, 20; z, 2. It is this knowledge of how frequently one letter is used compared with others that enables ryptogram readers to unravel so many mysteries.

WHY INDIANS PAINT.

in Apache Legend That Accounts for a Strange Custom of the Red Men.

"Why do Indians paint their faces?" I have asked that question of tandreds of red men, and have reserved but one answer. Of all the ribes that I have visited but one has I legend accounting for the hideous fecorations that are to be seen on the hoes of Indians under all ceremonial formations.

"I was sitting at a camp fire in a village of Jacarilla Apaches one night listening to the stories and legends that were being told, when I propounded the old question again, hardly expecting even the usual expression of ignorance that hides so many of the thoughts of the Indians. To my surprise, however, I received the answer that I least expected. An old fellow who had sat all the evening listening to the stories without thanging his attitude grunted and statightened up as he heard the question. Proceeding with all due solemnity, he told the following legend: "Long ago, when men were weak and animals were big and strong, a shief of the red men who lived in these mountains went out to get a seer, for his people were hungry. After walking all day he saw a deer and that at it, but the arrow was turned that at it, but the arrow was turned that a mountain lion. meet at the Lodge room on Sunday af-ternoon at two o'clock, for the pur-pose of attending the funeral of the widow of our late Brother Charles

When the lion felt the sting of the arrow he jumped up and bounded after the man, who ran for life. He was almost exchausted, and, when he felt his being shown at prices current for the past month. Butter and eggs were both scarce, the former at 22c a 1b., Mrs. Mary Ferguson died at her home, Zone, on Wednesday last, aged 83 years, and was buried on Friday. The big bear heard the call and saw that to save the man he had to act quickly, so he scratched his foot and sprinkled his blood over

"'Now, you know, no animal will eat of the bear or taste of his blood. So when the lion reached the man he smelled the blood and turned away, but as he did so his foot scraped the face of the man, leaving the marks of his claws on the bloody face. When the man found that he was uninjured he was so thankful that he left the public school for a number of years.

The Lyceum Course of high-class concerts which Mgr. Calrins, of the Grand Opera House has arranged for the current season, was to open with "The Fadettes," ladies orchestra of Boston, on Nov. 7th. Ever since the elections were announced for that date, Mgr. Cairins has been endeavoring to effect a change of might, and blood to dry on his face and never washed it at all, but left it until it peeled off. Where the claws of the lion scraped it off there were marks that turned brown in the sun, and where the blood stayed on it was lighter. You know, all men paint their faces that way with blood and hunt or go to war."-St. Louis > he Atmosphere of Mars. Prof. Edward S. Holden, of the Lick Observatory, has made another savage attack upon Astronomer Percival Lowell's theory of the canals and gar-dens of Mars. The Mount Hamilton poserver does not deal with the Flagstaff (Arizona) observations at all, but bases his new argument entirely upon the observations of the spectrum of Mars by his fellow-stargazer, Prof. Campbell. As a result of this, Prot. Holden declares that Mars pos only the very thinnest, if any, atmos-phere. Prof. Campbell has been unable to detect any difference undir similar conditions between the spectrum of Mars and that of the moon. Hence, the deduction is inferred that Mars has no more atmosphere than the moon, which has no atmosphere at all, or, at all events, only an indefinitely thin envelope.

Solar lightels modified by the gases of any planetary atmosphere through which it passes. That Mars' spectrum should be like the moon's, simply the cambined solar and terrestrial spectra certainty lends plausibility to spectra certainty lends plausibility to the assertion of Prof. Holden that the atmosphere, the snow melting, the snowy canals, and, above all, the cargen-breathing inhabitants of Mans, are more chimeras. As Prof. Holden insists, it seems probable that "no atmosphere one-fourth as extensive as our own would certainly have been detected, and very probably an atmosphere much less extensive than the the control of the second of the Himalayas." However, the evidence of these spectroscopic reheast as thin as the or peaks of the Himalayas." However, the evidence of these spectroscopic results must not be too fully accepted mill the real mature of certain other sotable peculiarities of Mars—principally the bright "prominences" of mountains of Mars, at the terminator of the planet—shall have been define thely determined.

ionest Liberals Will Assist in Electing H.m.Bitter Opposition from Tarte, Laurier & Co.

James Clancy, the coming member for Bothwell, was in the Maple City to-day. Mr. Clancy is earnestly engaged in the work of the campaign and is meeting with exceptional encouragement and success.

A most determined effort is being made by the Government to defeat the sitting member, who is recognized as one of the ablest and most energetic forces in the ranks of the Liberale Conservatives. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is billed to invade the constituency in an endeavor to stay the increasing local popularity and esteem in which Mr. Clancy is held and no effort will be spared to encompass his defeat.

The constituency, however, is thoroughly organized on Mr. Clancy's behalf, and much enthusiasm is resulting from his candidature. Last evening he attended a meeting in his interests at Dawn—a strong Liberal stronghold—which was largely attended and very successful. These meetings will be continued as often as possible and gatherings in the Liberal-Conservative interests will be held at Charteris' schoolhouse Tuesday next, at Thorncliffe on Wednesday and at Oakdale on Thursday.

Mr. Clancy is sanguine of success. "I believe we will win," he said in a brief interview with The Planet, "and I believe, too, that our victory will be largely owing to our honest and straightforward Liberal friends, who see that the Government has betrayed their principles and broken their pledges. A number of prominent Liberals in our constituency have informed me to this effect, while I have yet to find one Conservative who is not heartily with us in this fight."

TAYLORS CHANGE TAILOR!

The T. H. Taylor Company have secured Mr. S. S. Williston, of Ridgetown, to take charge of their tailoring department. Mr. Williston is a man of long experience and keen judgment. For 10 years he was head of the tailoring establishment of Hagerman & Juli, at Ridgetown, and during his regime the suits of that firm were noted. is regime the suits of that firm were noted for their style, cut and finish. The services of Mr Williston have been secured to take charge of and superintend the work in the tailor establishment run in connection with their Woollen Mills. Mr. Williston is also attention will be paid in future to that branch.

In the future the public will receive the best of attention and may rest sure that their clothes, when purchased from the T. H. Taylor Company, will fit correctly, and be cut in the latest style. Every care and attention will be given to the construction of every suit purchased, and the T. H. Taylor Company feel confident that they have secured a man who will give the best of satisfaction.

THE NEW PAVEMENT.

The board of works met yesterday afternoon, with all the members present. They refused to accept the pavement already completed from Queen St. to the Fifth St. bridge. The sand used was too coarse and the cement didn't get down in the cracks between the bricks. The contractors acknowledge that the work was faulty and are just as anxious as the board of works to have it right, as the former have to give a bond good for five years. The contractors have sent away for the best German cement to use in slushing and will further fix the pavement. The work will be completed in a couple of weeks and there will be no happier man in Chatham than the chairman of the board of works.

There passed away on Thursday, at her residence on Selkirk street, Mrs. Symantha Poile, the widow of the late Charles Poile, in her 60th year. The deceased lady was born in the Maple City, and always made her home here. There are three surviving sons—John, Harold and Dudley; and the daughters are Flora, Susie, Lena and Jennie. Two brothers of Mrs. Poile—T. A. Blackburn, of North Branch, Mich., and Charles Blackburn, of Northville, Mich.—are here, attending the funeral, while Mrs. Henry Dunn, of this city, is a sister. The funeral will take place to-morrow from the rome to Maple Leaf cemetery.

THE RIGHT THING.

New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapid ly Coming to the Front.

For several years Eucalyptol, Guaia-col and Hydrastin have been recogniz-ed as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately and only very recent-ly an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark Kouse, Troy, N. Y., says: When I run up against anything that is good It like to tell people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50 cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and I am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing.

Mr. George J. Casanova, of hotel Griffon, West 9th street, New York City, writes: I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims that they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless benefit as they contain no opiate, cocaine, or any poisonous drug.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50 cents for full sized package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form

A CITY BATTALION!

Such, the Militia Demands, Shall be the Character of the 24th.

It was the desire of Major Rankin and all who were anxious to have a battalion re-established here, that it should be formed of one or two companies at Chatham, and two at other points in the county.

When Major Rankin appeared before the county council a year ago last June, the idea was to have the regiment composed of soldiers from the county and city, half from each.

After interviewing the minister of regiment and the result is that two militia, however, it was found impossible to re-organize in this way, unless the regiment went to camp ever year that it was held. The members of the regiment from the city could not leave their employment and go to London, and the only way out of the difficulty was suggested by the minister himself. That was to by the manuster missiat. That we have a purely city corps, with permission granted young men from the surrounding country to join, since if it became a regular city regiment it would not have to attend camp at all and the corps could drill after business hours. Major Rankin, who is the comand-ing officer in charge, left the matter of two captains from the county with the minister of militia, However, on consulting Lieut.-Col. Holmes, of London, he strongly recommended that all the officers should be from the city, and also the men, but that any young men from the country who lived within easy distance of the city and could attend drill after work-ing hours, should be permitted to en-gone, the young man kept his eyes blankly fixed on the door, with a vague impression that he was suffering from an attack of nightmare; for it seemed impossible that anything so preposterously ugly as that dwarf could exist out of one. A deep groan from the landlord, however, convinced him that it was no disagreeable midnight vision, but a brawny reality; and turning to that individual, he found him gasping, in the last degree of terror behind the counter.

The Face Behind the Mask.

"Now, who in the name of all the demons out of hades may that ugly abortion be?" inquired Sir Norman,
"O Lord, he merciful; it's Caliban; and the only wonder is he did not leave you a bleeding corpse at his

"I should like to see him try it. Perhaps he would have found that is a game two can play at. Where does he come from and who is he?" The landlord looked over the counter and placed a very pale and startled face close to Sir Norman's. "That's just what I wanted to tell you, sir, but I was afraid to speak before him. I think he lives up in that same old ruin you were inquiring about — at least, he is often seen hanging around there; but people are too much afraid of him to ask him any questions. Ah, sir, it's a strange place, that ruin, and there be strange stories afloat about it," said the man, with a portentous shake of the head. 'What are they?'' inquired Sir Nornan. "I should particularly like to

"Well, sir, for one thing, some folks say it is haunted, on account of the queer lights and noises about it sometimes; but again, there be other folks, sir, that say the ghosts are alive, and that he' -nodding toward the door — "is a sort of ringleader among them."

"And who are they that cut up such cantraps in the old place, 'Lord only knows, sir. I'm sure I don't. I never go near it myself; but there are others who have, and some of them tell of the most beautiful lady, all in white, with long, black hair, who walks on the battlements moonlight nights."

"A beautiful lady, all in white, with long, black hair! Why, that description applies to Leoline exactly." And Sir Norman gave a violent start and arose to proceed to the place directly.

"Don't you go near it, sir," said the host warningly. "Others have gone, as he told you, and never come back, for these be dreadful times, and they please. Between the plague and their wickedness, the Lord only knows what will become of

"If I should return here for my horse in an hour or two, I suppose I can get him?" said Sir Norman, as he turned towards the door.

"It's likely you can, sir, if I'm mot dead by that time," said the land-lord, as he sank back again, groaning dismally, with his chin between his hands.

The night was profoundly dark; but Sir Norman knew the road and ruin well, and, drawing his sword, walk-ed resolutely on. The distance be-tween it and the ruin was trifling, and in less than ten minutes it loomed up before him, a mass of deeper black in the blackness. No white vision floated on the broken battlemeots this night, as Sir Norman looked wistfully up at them; but neither was there any ungainly

 For fully ten minutes after he was I warf, with two-edged sword, guard ing the ruined entrance; and Sir Norman passed unmolested in. He sought the spiral staircase which La Masque had spoken of, and, passing carefully from one ancient chamber to another, stumbling over piles of rubbish and stones as he went in, reached it at last. Descending gingerly its tortuous steepness he found as he trod them, his ear was greeted by the sound of faint and far-off mu-sic. Proceeding further through the chinks in the broken asked: sic. Proceeding further, he heard distinctly, mingled with it a mur-mur of voices and laughter, and flags, he perceived a few faint rays of light. Remembering the directions of La Masque, and feeling intensely curious, he cautiously knelt down and examined the loose flagstones un til he found one he could raise; pushed it partly aside, and lying flat on the stones, with his face to the aperature, Sir Norman beheld a most wondrous sight.

"Love is like a dizziness," says the old song. Love is something else—it is the most selfish feeling in existence. Of course I don't allude to the fraternal or the family, or any other such nonsensical old-fashioned trash that artless people still believe in, but to the real genuine article that=Adam felt for Eve when be first saw her, and which all who read this-above the innocent and unsusceptible age of 12-have exper-And the fancy and the reality are so much alike that they amount to about the same thing. The former, perhaps, may be a little short-lived; but it is just as disagreeable a sensation while it lasts as its more enduring sister. Love is said to be blind, and it also has a very injurious effect on the eyesight of its victims-an affect that neither spectacles nor oculists can aid in the slightest degree, making them see, whether sleeping or walking, but one object and that alone.

I don't know whether these were Mr. Malcolm Ormiston's thoughts, as he leaned against the doorway, and folded his arms across his chest to await the shining of his day star. In fact, I am pretty sure they were not; young gentlemen, as a general thing, not being any more given to profound moralizing in the reign of His Most Gracious Majesty, Charles II., than they are at the present day; but I do know that no sooner was his bosom friend and crony, Sir Norman Kingsley, out of sight, than he forgot him as teetotally as if he had never known that distinguished individual. His many and deep afflictions, his love, his angu provocations; his beautiful, tantilizing, and mysterious lady-love; his errand and its probable consequences, all were forgotten; and Ormiston thought of nothing or nobody in the world but himself and La Masque! La Masque! that was the theme on which his thoughts ran, with wild variations of alternate hope and fear variations of alternate hope and fear, like every other love since the world began, and love was first an institution. "As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be," truly, truly it is an odd and wonderful thing. An you and I may thank our stars, dear readers, that we are hearts on our sleeves for such a bloodthirsty daw to peck at. miston's flame was longer-lived than Sir Norman's; he had been in love a great deal too sensible to wear our whole month, and had it badly, and was now at the very crisis of a mal-ady. Why did she conceal her face —would she ever disclose it—would she listen to him—would she ever love him? feverishly asked Passion; and Common Sense (or what little of that useful commodity he had left), answered — probably be-cause she was eccentric—possible she would disclose it for the same reason that he had only to try and make her listen; and as to her loving him, why Common Sense owned he had her

was extant in his time, but the spirit of it certainly, was, and Ormiston determined to prove it. He wanted to see La Masque and try his fate once again; and see her he would if he had to stay there as a sort of an ornamental prop to the house for a week. He knew he might as well look for a needle in a haystack as his whimsical beloved through the streets of London—dis-mal and dark now as the streets of Luxor and Tadmor in Egypt; and he wisely resolved to spare himself and his Spanish leathern boots the trial of a one-handed game of "hide-and-go-to-seek." Wisdom, like virtue, is its own reward; and scarcely had he came to this laudable conclusion, when, by the feeble glimmer of the house lamps, he saw a figure that made his heart bound, flitting through the night gloom toward him. He would have known that figure on the sands of Sahara, in an Indian jungle, or an American forest—a tall, slight, supple figure, bending and springing like a bow of steel, queenly and regal as that of a young em-nress. It was draned in a lone

He had seen her a score ful—face. He had seen her a score of times in that very dress, flitting like a dark graceful ghost through the city streets, and the sight sent his heart plunging against his side like an inward sledge hammer. hammer. Madame, I was so frightened that I don't know where I fled to, and I could scarcely make up my mind to come back at all. I did feel dreadfully sorry for her, poor thing; but you know, Madame Masque, I could do nothing for her, and I should not have come back, only I was afraid of you. "You did wrong, Prudence," said La Masque, sternly, or at least as sternly as so sweet a voice could speak; "you did very wrong to leave her in such a way. You should have come to me at once, and told me

"But, madame, I was frightened!" "Bah! You are nothing but a coward. Come into this doorway, and tell me all about it."

Ormiston drew back as the twain approached, and entered the deep portals of La Masque's own doorway. He could see them both by the aforesaid faint lamplight, and he noticed that La Masque's companion was a wrinkled old woman that would not trouble the parce of mind of the nost jealous lover in Christendom. Perhaps it was not just the thing to hover aloof and listen; but he could not for the life of him help it; and stand and listen he accordingly did. Who knew but this conversation might throw light on the dark mystery he was anxious to see through, and could his ears have run into needle-points to hear them bet-ter, he would have had the operation then and there performed. There was a moment's silence after the two en-tered the portal, during which La Masque stood, tall, dark, and commanding, motionless as a marble column; and the little withered old specimen of humanity beside her stood gazing up at her with something between fear and fascination. "Do you know what has become of your charge, Prudence?" asked the vibrating voice of La Masque, at last. "How could I, madame? You dared not go back. Perhaps she is there still." "Perhaps she is not. Do you suppose that sharp shricks of yours was inheard? No; she was found; and what do you suppose has become of old woman looked up and The seemed to read in the dark stern fig-ure, and the deep solemn voice, the fatal truth. She wrung her hands with a sort of cry.

"Oh, I know, I know; they have put her in the dead-cart and buried her in the plague-pit. Oh, my dear sweet young mistress."
"H you had stayed by your dear, sweet young mistress, instead of running screaming away as you did, it might not have happened," said La Masque, in a tone between derision and contempt. 'Madame,' sobbed the old woman who was crying, "she was dying of the plague, and how could I help it? They would have buried her in spite of me.

"She was not dead; there was your mistake. She was as much alive as you or I at this moment."
"Madame, I left her dead," the woman positively. "Prudence, you did no such thing, you left her fainting, and in that state she was found and carried to the plague-pit." The old weman stood silent for moment, with a face of intence horror, and then she clasped both hands with a wild ery.

"O my God! And they buried her alive-buried her alive in that dread ful plague-pit." La Masque, leaning against a pillar, stood unmoved; and her voice, she spoke, was as coldly sweet as modern ice cream.

"Not exactly. She was not buried at all, as I happen to know. But when did you discover that she had the plague, and how could she possi

THE STORY OF MRS. AGNES FORAN OF HALIFAX.;

Following Inflammation of the Lungs a severe Cough Set in and Her Doc tor said her Case was Hopeless-Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have restored her Health.

From the Recorder, Halifax, N. S. Mrs. Agnes Foran, who resides at No. 21, Agrico's street, Halifax, N. S. tells a wonderful story of her complete restoration to health, after a protracted and distressing period of extreme illness, and she attributes her present happy condition, under Providence, to the marvellous qualities of Dr. Williams 'Pink Pills. When Mrs. Foran was called upon by a representative of the Acadien Recorder, who stated his mission, she corder, who stated his mission, she cordially welcomed him to her pleasant home, where, in the presence of her mother and sister, she freely told the story of her sickness and recov-ery. She said: "A few years ago I suffered a severe attack of infjammasurfered a severe attack of inflamma-tion of the lungs, and was attended by one of the best physicians in the city. I pulled through but was left a complete wreck, so that I could not do any work, suffering all the not do any work, suffering all the time from palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, and a ringing sound in my head. I also had a distressing cough, and for months I never knew what it was to have a good night's rest. For two years my life was a perfect misery to me and under the doctor's orders I took amplified in the land was nauseated with emulsion till I was nauseated with the sight of it, but all to no pur-pose. My life was despaired of by all my friends who were assured by the doctor that my case was beyond the reach of human skill. I was vis-ited by the clergy of my church and ited by the clergy of my church and Sisters of Charity, who were very kind and sympathetic and looked upon me as one whose earthly race was about run. I experimented with all sorts of remedies for my cough, but without avail. My druggists at last advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Being fairly discouraged, nevertheless I was persuaded to make the trial, when to the surprise and joy of myself, family and friends. I began to get better, and by the time I had taken seven or eight boxes I. I had taken seven or eight boxes I was as well as you see me now," and she laughingly added, "I think you will admit that I do not look much like a sick woman." Her mother, who had been listening to the tale of her daughter's long illness, added: "It just seems like a dream to us all that we once despaired of her life, when we now see her the pink of health."

Mrs. Foran said that when on a visit to England about a year ago she contracted a heavy cold and was threatened with a return of her couch but she at once got some of cough, but she at once got some of the pills, and by the time she had reached New York she was as well as ever again. she related a number as ever again. she related a number of instances in which she had advised persons suffering from chronic complaints, to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and always with the best results. She mentioned particularly a niece of hers living in Boston who a niece of hers living in Boston who was run down and in a wretched condition of health, but was now a healthy young woman who owed the fact to the use of the pills. When the reporter was taking his leave Mrs. Foran said: "I am, very glad to have the opportunity to testify what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me and you can say that I shall never cease to sound their praises, and I bless the good Lord that they were placed in my way at a time were placed in my way at a time when I had not the hope that I

A puny child is always an anxiety to the parents. There seems generally no reason why the little one should be weak when it is so well fed. But the fact is that it does not matter how much food the child takes if the stomach cannot extract the nourishment from it. No benefit can be derived from just eating. That is the condition of many a sickly child. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are not doing their work, and the body is really starving. It is little use to give fish foods, like cod liver oil or emulsions, in such a case, because these also have to be digested; they might lighten the stomach's labor but they don't strengthen it. Strength is what the stomach needs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach, nourishes strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and increases the action of the blood-making glands. It is su-perior to every other preparation for children's use, on account of its body. building qualities, and also because it is pleasant to the taste and contain alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are valuable aid when the bowels are ir regular. too late in summer. When trees are to be set out in the fall, they should be ordered from the nursery in good season. About the only sure plan for destroy ing the white grub among the straw perry plants is to go along the rows and if a plant is seen that is beginning to wilt dig close to the plant until the grub is found and kill it.

When the conditions will admit, Austrawberry plants, but there is nothing gained unless the soil is in such condi ture to start a good growth.

The objection to cultivating in the orchard or among the small fruits now is that late cultivation tends to pro mote a late growth, often continuing so late that the new growth of wood does not have time to ripen before cold, freezing weather sets in.—St. Louis Re-

A lady writing from a town in New Brunswick to the proprietors of Diamond Dyes, says:

"Please find enclosed Express Money Order for six packets of Diamond Dyes, colors as mentioned below. I have been a user of Diamond Dyes, for over five years, and they have given me entire satisfaction. A few weeks ago our merchaptiwas out of, a color I wanted in the Diamond Dyes, and strongly recommended another make I wanted in the Diamond Dyes, and strongly recommended another make he was selling. I bought the packet with many doubts as to their worth. I made an effort to dye an old cream colored opera shawl with the new dye. The ghastly result almost drove me mad. There was not a semblance of any decided color. Now I am obliged to dye it brack, and will do the work with the Diamond Dyes. No more poor muddy dyes for me while I can send to you for the reliable Diamond Dyes."

Report of the Empress Dowager's Death So Regarded.

The Edict of October 1st is Now Con

Barlin, Oct. 12.—The proposal of the Russian Government that, in case of protracted divergence of views regarding equitable indemnities, this matter might be commended to the consideration of the international court of arbitration at the Hague is regarded as the most important development in the Chinese situation. Nothing was known publicly in Europe concerning it prior to the publication of President McKinley's answer to the note of M. Delcasse. Most of the papers comment unsympathetically upon the suggestion. Germany looks upon the report of the death of the Empress Dowager as a new Chinese intrigue. It is supposed that she intends to disappear temporarily in order to escape responsibility for the misdeeds of high officials, and, perhaps, to prepare another anti-foreign movement. A high official of the Foreign Office asserted to-day that a telegram had been sent to the Chinese Government demanding direct information as to whether the Empress Dowager is dead. No reply has been received, and the Foreign Office draws the conclusion that the Chinese Government is not kept informed as to the plans of the Sze-Hsian. The German Foreign Office is not satisfied with the list of culpables supplied by the Chinese Government. "The list is notoriously incomplete," said an influential official to-day, "as it omats at least a score of prominent persons who were active leaders in the massacres of foreigners." This is borne out by all the legations, and by the consular reports from China. It is also borne out by Mr. Conger's statement. Germany, however, is not disposed to insist upon the punishment of all the guilty. by Mr. Conger's statement. Germany, however, is not disposed to insist upon the punishment of all the guilty. What she demands is that an example be made of persons of high rank, in order to show the Chinese, strikingly, and convincingly, that the powers have enforced the Chinese expiation for misdeeds and to teach a wholesome and lasting lesson—the lesson that the lives and property of foreigners must be safe in China.

ORDERED NOT TO OPPOSE.

London, Oct. 13.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to the Times from Pekin, under date of Oct. 11, says:—"The Chinese officials declare that stringent orders have been sent to provincial officials is the Recent Army Promotions Pri vate Wilson, of this City, was Honored.

Writes An Interesting Letter to Major Rankin from South Afri:a.

Major J. B. Rankin this morning receives the following interesting letter from Corporal H. Burrell, of this city, who is with the First Canadian Contingent in PRETORIA, Transvaal, Sept. 6, 1900.

Dear Major:—Just a few lines to let you know I am still alive, and doing my duty. Well, I thought last autumn I would be home from Africa before Sept., 1900; but I have no doubt the Regiment will be home on or about the 20th of October. For the past 20 days we have been chasing DeWet, but failed to get him. We marched 243 miles during the 20 days. We had reveille twice one day—one at 1:30 a. m., and marched till 2 p m and halted and had dinner. Then we had our supper and retired for the night, all thinking we would have a good night's sleep; but about 9 o'clock the order came that we were to move off at 12—mid night. So we had reveille at 10:30 and moved off at twelve o'clock. We marched DEAR MAJOR: -Just a few lines to let you moved off at twelve o'clock. We marched 20 miles before we had any breakfast. We 20 miles before we had any breakfast. We were supposed to reach a certain place, but General Ridley was a little too late in crossing the drift, and DeWet got away. So, we had a long march for nothing.

Well, Major, I am proud to say in this letter that there have been some promotions in our company, and A. R. Wilson has been promoted from the ranks to Lieut. Componal. Well. I think I will close for this time, Well, I think I will close for this time noping to hear from you soon.

tinds to keep trade within the Empire—helps to cement it. Now, the finest teas in the world are grown in Ceylon and India; that is, so far as flayor is concerned. And, as regards healthful properties, they are in finitely superior to either Japan or China teas. The green teas made by the planters of Ceylon or India have not one trace of coloring or adulteration, whereas the teas of Japan and China are more or less doctored—especially the Japan teas, in which there is so much Prussian blue, used for coloring. Ceylon and India are now producing the most delicious green teas that have ever been offered in the world. They are absolutely free from coloring, are similar to Japan tea in flavor, but infinitely more delicious, and, being very much stronger, it is quite as economical. GOOD NEWS FOR OUR READERS Who have scrofula taints in their blood, and who has not? Scrofula in all its forms is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood. This disease, which frequently appears in children, is greatly to be dreaded. It is most likely to affect the glands of the neck, which become enlarged, cruptions appear on the head and face, and the eyes are frequently affected. Upon its first appearance, perhaps in slight cruptions or pimples, scrofula should be entirely eradicated from the system by a thorough course of Hood's Sarsaparilla to prevent all the painful and sickening consequences of running scrofula sores which drain the system, sap the strength and make existence utterly wretched. GOOD NEWS FOR OUR READERS
